ECONOMIC WAR IS RESULT OF RUHR INVASION

Confiscate German Coal Consigned For Use In Interior Of Country

(By United News)
Essen, Jan. 18—France and Germany, pitted against each other in one of the bitterest economic battles in history, have embarked in a policy of attrition.

France on the one hand by threats promises and drastic action is attempting to force Germany to submit to her Ruhr policy—the production of coal to be applied to reparations debt on which Germany defaulted. On the other hand the government of Chancellor Cuno, rich industrialists, and in many cases labor, have joined hands to make France's adventure an economic failure. According to the German view point, if France can be prevented from taking any real money out of Ruhr, the cost of an army of occupation will so burden the taxpayers of France who already labor under the strain of supporting an enormous budget, that public opinion will demand the withdrawal of invaders.

France and Germany Thursday dug in for the economic war. These were the significant happenings of 24 hours as gathered by the United News:

1. Confiscation of coal on cars and barges in the Rhineland. This fuel was routed to the interior of Germany but French military authorities ordered the shipmen to be diverted to the allies. This movement was not productive of large gains because the shipments for the most parts were very small, taking into consideration the large amounts of coal that must be seized by France to make her experiment profitable.

2. Fritz Thyssen, coal baron, and six other Ruhr industrialists were summoned to appear before a military tribunal on trial on charges growing out of their refusal to deliver coal to the allies.

It is anticipated that heavy fines will be the punishment because the French are keen enough to know that jail sentences would make popular heroes out of the capitalists in the minds of their employees.

3. Decision of French authorities to place a custom cordon around the occupied territory.

4. A warning by the Berlin government, which was received by General Degoutte the French commander in chief, who is stationed at general headquarters at Dusseldorf, that further invasion of Germany would perhaps result in clash between Polish and German armed forces who are in the vicinity of Munster. The French gave an almost immediate answer to this despite the fact it was reported that the French were advancing toward Munster. Gen. Degoutte had it known that military occupation had been completed. It is believed he is saving the occupation of that city for one of the additional "penalties" he has threatened.

Government officials who are familiar with the cables that Baldwin sent to London urging the negotiation between the British debt funding commission and American officials in Washington declare that the chancellor is convinced of the fairness of the proposals set forward by the President Harding administration.

Germans Celebrate Birthday By Plan To Oppose French

(By United News)
Berlin, Jan. 19—The German nation celebrated the fifty-second anniversary of the founding of the German empire Thursday by mapping out a course of opposition to the French invasion of the Ruhr. Chancellor Cuno sent a formal note to Paris and Brussels protesting against the French violation of a 50 kilometer neutral zone established by the treaty of Versailles.

The government plan to enter a formal protest with the allies against the threatened seizure of state forests on the right bank of the Rhine by French and Belgians.

It has become known that Cuno intends to discontinue clearing house payments to France and Belgium.

Passive resistance to French occupation will continue it was stated. There will be no attempt to commit acts of sabotage on transportation of Ruhr because freedom of movement of supplies considered vital to Germany's own welfare.

"BIG TEN" ALUMNI WILL DINE TODAY

Banquet At Hotel Astor To Be Occasion of Plans for "Get-Together"

The first annual banquet of the New York Association of Western Conference colleges is to be held tonight at the Hotel Astor. The association is composed of alumni of all universities in the Big Ten conference. The plan is to promote a more personal contact between those who have received their training and education in the atmosphere of the Western conference colleges. The association plans frequent "get-togethers" and spreads.

Announcement of the banquet tonight was received yesterday by George H. Gallup, editor of the Daily Iowan, in the form of a letter from the University of Michigan club.

The letter explained that the movement to form a New York association of the conference colleges comprising Chicago, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Northwestern, Ohio, Purdue and Wisconsin, has been under discussion for several years, and the banquet to be held in January is the result of a meeting held late last winter of representatives of the above schools. It is proposed to form an organization, adopt a constitution, and elect officers at this meeting. Subsequent developments will largely depend on this initial effort.

NEW RULING FOR PH. D. CANDIDATES

Faculty of Graduate College Adopts System of Examinations

The faculty of the graduate college adopted certain new rules affecting the candidacy for the degree of doctor of philosophy at a meeting held Tuesday afternoon. A system of preliminary or qualifying examinations was established as expressed in the following resolutions:

1. At least one academic year before the degree is to be conferred, a qualifying examinations, which shall at least in part written, shall be prepared and given to each candidate by a committee of five appointed by the dean of the graduate college. At the option of the committee, this examination, if successfully passed, may be regarded as the final written examination.

2. If fitness to pursue further graduate work has been considered, at the candidates' request, and favorably reported upon by the committee in charge of his examination for the master's degree, the candidate for the doctor's degree shall be excused from further qualifying examination. The first clause in this resolution is in conformity with the practice of other large universities. The second one introduces a new feature, that is the provision that the master's examination may be used as a qualifying examination where the student so desires and the department approves. This has the advantage of allowing the student to pass the examination earlier than the regular qualifying examination is given and devoting himself with greater freedom to his investigation for a period of two years. The committee examining for the masters' degree will then serve a double function, acting also as a qualifying committee. Only students who rank high in this examination can expect to have it approved as a qualifying examination. If a student fails in the qualifying examination, he may have one more trial, but not before a lapse of six months.

LONG BATTLE AGAINST DRUG HABIT IS LOST

Star Ill Six Weeks; Recently Reported On Road To Recovery

(By United News)
Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 18—Wallace Reid, premier motion picture star, died at the Banksea sanatorium here at 1:40 Thursday afternoon, at the end of a long fight to rid himself of the drug habit.

The terrific strain of Wallie's valiant fight against the habit broke him down and finally ended his life, according to physicians.

Wallie, ill more than 6 weeks, was believed to have been on the way to recovery. He had broken himself of the habit, and it was expected that he would soon return to the screen.

Mrs. Dorothy Davenport Reid, the film star's wife, was at the bedside when death came, as was her small son, William Wallace Reid Jr., aged 6, and their adopted daughter, Betty, aged 3.

Mrs. Reid, who has been spending the major portion of every 24 hours for several weeks at her husband's bedside was in a state of collapse.

With her aid, doctors had said Wallie would fight his way back to a clean life and an honorable resumption of his screen career.

It was Mrs. Reid who, when rumors were flying thick and fast, courageously faced the world and admitted that her famous husband had been in the clutch of narcotics, but had stopped the habit at risk of his life and was winning the fight to come back. The first hint of his condition came last October when he was struck with temporary blindness due to the lights, aggravated by the nervous condition he was in at that time. He then determined to make his last stand against the narcotic octopus. Taking Teddy Hayes, Jack Dempsey's trainer with him, he went out into the hills and there despite terrific tortures to nerve and muscle stopped the "dope" habit.

He and Hayes remained in the open for nearly a month.

Although at the end of the time he declared he no longer had any craving for dope, he did not regain health and finally became worse at last submitting to a three day examination by leading physicians of the country who were unable to diagnose his illness.

The examination so exhausted him that he was taken to the Dr. Blessing sanatorium and later to the Doctor Banksea sanatorium.

His disease was a sort of disentry which wrecked the fibres of his body. At the time of his death he only weighed 135 pounds. Formerly he had weighed over 200.

Wallie never knew that the world had learned of the torturing secret he had guarded for years and which at one time nearly blackmailed thousands of dollars from him according to his wife. He still imagined that only his few intimate friends knew he had been a user of dope, but was supremely happy that he had at last rid himself of its coils. Reid was born in Missouri 32 years ago and was one of the most popular actors in the game.

Photographer Picks Sorority Porch As Hawkeye Feature

Flash light pictures of the front and back porches of the various sorority houses in Iowa City may form a feature of the 1924 Hawkeye. These pictures, however, are not taken by the Hawkeye staff or under its direction. Wednesday, Stephen Wollman A3 of Council Bluffs, editor in chief of the 1924 Hawkeye, received an anonymous letter in which the writer stated his intention of taking the pictures mentioned above, and he requested that the pictures be handed to the feature editor.

A flash such as might be used in photography startled the members of one of the sororities on North Clinton street Wednesday night. As yet no pictures have been received by the Hawkeye office and Wollman has no clue as to the identity of the ambitious would-be contributor. The members of sorority decline to state any of the details involving the flash or to give any idea as to the probable subject of the picture.

Organizations From All Churches Entertained February 16 At Gym

A grand get-together social for all University students will be held at the women's gymnasium Saturday, February 16, by the leading student religious organizations on the campus. The list of organizations which will assist in the entertainment and in the presentation of the program includes the following young people's societies: Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church, Epworth League of the Methodist church, Baptist Young People's Union of the Baptist church, Young People's Religious Union of the Unitarian church, Newman club representing the Catholic students, Congregational Guild of the Congregational church, Morrison club of the Episcopal church, Lutheran League of the English Lutheran church, Senior Endeavor of the Christian church and the Young Men's Christian association.

The credit for the originating of the idea of the gathering and entertainment is given to the social committee of the Y. M. C. A., of which Randolph B. Mann Cm4 of Calumet is chairman. Other organizations were consulted with the result that each organization appointed one of its members as a representative to serve on the general committee which will assume the responsibility for the success of the event. In the majority of the cases each society will be represented by its president.

This general committee has been subdivided into three groups or minor committees, each one of which will have definite charge of some feature of the function. The first committee, consisting of representatives of four societies, includes the Epworth League, Morrison Club, Baptist Young People's Union and the Newman Club. This committee will furnish a part of the evening's program which consists of features tending to promote better acquaintance among those present and will add to the general enjoyment of the occasion.

The second committee will be composed of three who will represent the Christian Endeavor, Congregational Guild and Senior Endeavor. They will have charge of that part of the program which is of a formal nature such as music, readings and the like.

The committee on refreshments and checking of wraps will represent the Lutheran League and the Young People's Religious Union.

The social committee of the Y. M. C. A. will have charge of the affair as a whole and every thing will be done under its supervision. Mr. Mann chairman of the committee, extends an invitation to all University students. He says: "The purpose of the social is to promote acquaintance among the students of the University and further friendly intercourse between the religious organizations on the campus. While the entertainment is given primarily for the benefit of the members of the societies, any University student is cordially invited to attend."

Student members of the campus organizations who will be members of the various committees are: Epworth League—Edward F. Volter A4 of Sigourney; Congregational Guild—Robert H. ISSUE IOWA LAW BULLETIN TUESDAY

Professors Horack and Bordwell Write Leading Articles

The second quarterly issue, volume eight, of the Iowa Law Bulletin will be ready for distribution on January 29. Three articles pertaining to law, and of major importance to students and practicing lawyers throughout the state, will be featured. The first of these articles is a brief entitled "Character Qualifications and Disbarment Proceedings." Prof. H. Claude Horack, of the college of law, is the author of the brief. Prof. Percy Bordwell, also of the college of law, contributes an article, the title of which is, "An Eighteenth Century deed."

The third outstanding feature of the bulletin is "A Treatment of Declaratory Judgments," by James H. Torrey, who is at present an active member of the Scranton, Penn., bar association. The article, as it will appear in the bulletin, will be a written summary of a speech given recently by Mr. Torrey before the Pennsylvania Bar association. Professor Millard Breckenridge, editor in charge of the bulletin, has been in correspondence with Mr. Torrey for that week and it was because of his desire to use Mr. Torrey's article that the publication of the bulletin has been delayed until this later date.

The remainder of the bulletin will consist of notes and comments on recent decisions. These notes are written by second and third year law students and under the supervision of faculty members. Among the decisions and articles commented on will be the following: Unstamped Paper as Pertains to Negotiable and Promissory Notes; Separate Judgments in Actions Against Joint Tort Feasors; Share Tenancies and Partnerships and Validity of New Estates and Inheritances.

Professor Breckenridge stated that 1,500 copies of the bulletin will be available for distribution. All members of the Iowa State Bar association are entitled to receive the bulletin free of charge. A subscription price of two dollars for the four issues is asked from lawyers outside of the state. The Iowa Law Bulletin has a nation-wide circulation among libraries.

VARSITY DRILLS AGAINST OHIO STATE'S PLAYS

Blair, Forward On Ohio Team Considered One of the Best Shots In Big Ten

In preparation for the game with Ohio State tomorrow, Coach Sam Barry sent the varsity basketball team through a long defensive drill against Ohio State plays last night. The freshman team took the offensive and attempted to work the ball down the floor through the varsity defense. The preps had the Buckeye offense down in good shape, but they were unable to break through the varsity.

There was considerably more fight in the first team's play last night than was shown in previous night's practices. The men seem to have recovered from the effects of the hard game with Michigan. The varsity stopped practically every attempt of the freshmen, and the only shots that they allowed the preps were from far out near the jumping circle.

On offense, however, the varsity was still slow. They failed to break enough, and missed many close baskets. Their work, however was a vast improvement over their offensive work of the previous night, and will probably be back to the standards shown in the Michigan game by the time that the Buckeye arrive. Bob Burgitt, whose last second shot, won the game against Michigan, was not out last night, and Ted Swenson worked in his place on the varsity. Burgitt was resting up today and should be in shape by Saturday.

The Ohio State team that comes here Saturday is a team that has had exceptionally hard luck in its first two conference games. They lost their game to Illinois in an overtime period, and lost their second game to Northwestern in two overtime periods. In this last game they lost the services of Dudley, one of their best forwards. In his place, however, they will probably use Hoge Workman. Workman reported for practice this week and will be a dangerous man as soon as he gets in condition.

Most of the men on the Buckeye team are big fellows. Their center, one of their forwards, and one of their guards, are six footers. Not only are they tall, but they are also fairly fast. Blair, forward, is one of the best shots in the conference. He shoots from any place on the floor, and usually sinks them. He made six goals against Illinois, and four against Northwestern.

Phi Deltas Down Xi Psi Phis 14-9; Parkin Hurts Knee

Phi Delta Theta remains tied for first in section 4 of the interfraternity basketball league by defeating the Xi Psi Phis last night 14-9. Boyles played a good floor game as well as making four baskets. Parkin, quarterback on the football team last fall, twisted his knee and was taken out.

In the second game Phi Kappa Psi defeated Phi Delta Chi 27 to 12. Howrey and Boysen had good team work at forward and were well supported by the rest of the team. This team has not been defeated yet and tops section 2.

Phi Delta Theta—Scantlebury and Cass, forwards; Boyles, center; Parkin and Hargseimer, guards. Xi Psi Phi—Smith and Darrah, forwards; Kiel, center; Kadesky and Griffith, guards. Substitutions—Littig for Parkin. Field goals—Kiel 3, Kadesky 1, Scantlebury 1, Cass 2, Boyles 4. Free throws—Griffith 1 out of 4, Scantlebury 0 out of 2. Referee—Gibbs.

Phi Kappa Psi—Boysen and Howrey, forwards; Romey, center; Larrabee and Nagle, guards. Phi Delta Chi—Bailey and Sexton, forwards; Van Beek, center; Marshall and Olsen, guards. Substitutions—Grant for Larrabee, Shoemaker for Van Beek. Field goals—Boysen 4, Howrey 3, Romey 2, Larrabee 2, Bailey 1, Sexton 4, Marshall 1. Free throws—Larrabee 5 out of 5, Bailey 0 out of two. Referee—Fohwein.

State Historical Society Acquires Library of Rich

The library of the late Joseph W. Rich has recently come into the possession of the State Historical society. The books are being classified and placed on the shelves of the society in its rooms on the third floor of the liberal arts building. Besides many books of a general character, the collection contains hundreds of volumes relative to the history of Iowa and the United States. Mr. Rich who for many years was a patron of educational and historical interests in the state, died at his home in Iowa City in 1920. Born in New York, he came to Iowa in early life. During the Civil War he served as a private in Company E of the 12th Iowa infantry and saw action in the battle of Shiloh.

From 1867 to 1870, he was a student of the State University of Iowa. For sixteen years he was the editor of the "Vinton Eagle." From 1886 to 1892 he was a member of the board of regents of the University of Iowa. In 1892 he became librarian of the University and served in this capacity until 1898. As a member of the board of curators of the State Historical society of Iowa he served from 1903 to 1920.

His historical interest was chiefly in Civil war history. His most notable contribution was a book on "The Battle of Shiloh," which at the time of its publication was pronounced by historical and military critics to be the best published account of that battle.

Graduate of Iowa Is Now Assistant Museum Curator

Mr. Russell Hendee, a graduate of this University, was recently appointed as assistant curator of mammals and birds at the Colorado museum of natural history at Denver, Colorado.

Mr. Hendee came to the University of Iowa for the express purpose of taking museum work and graduated from that department last June, although at that time he was in northern Alaska with Mr. A. M. Bailey, also a graduate of this university, collecting specimens for the Colorado museum. Mr. Bailey graduated here in museum work and is now curator of the museum at Denver.

Mr. Hendee and Mr. Bailey spent eighteen months in northern Alaska collecting specimens of the life of that region. Prof. Homer R. Dill, director of the vertebrate museum, made arrangements with these men and the Colorado museum to have them collect specimens for him while there. It is these specimens, birds collected and shipped here by these two men, that will be exhibited in the Alaskan scene now being prepared for the University museum by Professor Dill and his class in museum work.

"The far reaching results from this work is well demonstrated by those who have gone out from this department to different museums' remarked Professor Dill. "They have demonstrated their interest by sending finely prepared specimens for the museum and by extending help in our various expeditions."

Among the recent collections is a case of cast snakes and other reptiles including specimens of the diamond-back rattler from Mexico and a small group of Gila monsters. These have been reproduced in a natural habitat of cactus. "It is an excellent example of a new method of reproducing reptiles without the use of their skin in the finished specimen," explained Professor Dill.

200 Landladies Discuss Problems At Tea Yesterday

Two hundred landladies of University students attended the tea given yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the liberal arts drawing room by the Women's association. Mrs. Adelaide L. Burge, acting dean of women, discussed the housing situation with the landladies. Assisting in receiving with the executive council of the association were Mrs. Adelaide L. Burge, Mrs. Nellie S. Aurner and Miss Clara Daley.

Verda James A3 of Boone, vice-president of the association and social committee chairman, explained the relation of the organization and asked that co-operation be extended between the council and the guests.

"The landladies are all interested in accommodating University women. The attendance at the meeting was splendid, and the interest shown in the housing problem is encouraging," says Mrs. Burge.

Beatrice Gates A4 of Pierre, S. Dak., gave two vocal solos and Ruth Vetter A2 of Grant gave a reading.

THIRD SORORITY RELAY CARNIVAL ON FEBRUARY 10

Kappa Kappa Gammas Need One More Win To Hold Trophy Permanently

Letters and entry blanks were sent out yesterday to the various sororities and fraternities on the campus for the third annual Relay Carnival to be held the afternoon of February 10. The first year the relays were held there were 357 entries but with the added success of two years undertaking the entry list should be larger than the previous years. Included in the list of invitations are the Quadrangle organizations and Currier hall groups. Track coach George Bresnahan wishes it understood that the relay carnival is not limited to sororities and fraternities. "I would like to have any group that has an organization enter in this meet. I want this to be an all-university contest and the more groups entered the greater the interest."

The first meet of this kind was held out doors and although successful, was not as attractive as the indoor affair of last winter. The completion of the new armory made it possible to hold the meet indoors. This year's event should be more interesting than the previous ones. The track has been thoroughly worked over and is faster than before. The Kappa Kappa Gammas have won the cup for two years and only need to win this time to retain permanent possession of the trophy.

The sorority relay is a medley race in which four men compete each running a different distance. The first man runs four laps, the second two, the third one, and the fourth six. The medley race is very popular as it displays the abilities of sprinters, middle, distance men, and those who travel the longer distances. There will be sixteen captains selected each by a different sorority. These men will pick the various runners they want on their team. The coaches have rated the sixteen according to their rating on the regular track squad. The poorest man is given first and allowed first choice, and so on, until all have been chosen.

In the inter-fraternity relay each team is made up of six men each running one lap. It is planned to have heats run for each of the three groups, Quadrangle, Military, and Fraternity.

SMOKING ON THE CAMPUS

With the approach of spring comes the annual question of abolishing smoking on the campus. Last fall at a meeting of one hundred representative men it was suggested that the Y. M. C. A. inaugurate a movement with this object in view. Y. M. C. A. officials have sounded out student opinion on the question and have found that although a majority of students favor abolishing campus smoking, they are not sufficiently disturbed over it to take the initiative in seeing such a ruling enforced.

Smoking on the campus is forbidden by a number of universities. At these institutions students consider it in the light of a tradition and not as something which is intrinsically wrong. Smoking has of late years become so general that any objection on this point would carry little weight with either the faculty or student body.

An unsightly pile of cigarette butts at the entrance of college buildings is rather disagreeable. Every one will agree that students should take pride in keeping the campus clean. It is a question which students must answer for it can not be enforced without their cooperation.

THREE YEARS OF PROHIBITION

National Prohibition, now three years old, is still a gigantic experiment and it may take another three years before the country can safely pronounce it a success or demonstrate it to be a failure.

It was thought by the dries that once Prohibition became the law of the land the struggle would be over and that opposition would die out as people accustomed themselves to the new order of things. Such has been the case but the opponents, while not so numerous nor so widespread, have finally resolved themselves into a persistent body bent upon fighting the dries with every weapon at hand.

The advantages of the Eighteenth Amendment can not be overestimated. Crime and poverty have been decreased, savings increased, interest in education advanced, and general health conditions bettered. On the other hand, the wets have decried the loss of one of the three so-called inalienable rights of "life liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

The Volstead act has become a very real political issue and it cannot escape becoming a much bigger one. Organized labor has demanded light wines and beer. Sam Gompers has taken up the fight. The Democratic state platform of New York demanded light wines and beer and the party won out at the polls so overwhelming that the Republican opposition was completely squelched. Just what part the wet plank played in the victory is a matter of conjecture. That it was a very large part is certain.

In New Jersey the wet campaign of the Democrats swept everything before it. In the North the wet idea is fast becoming a Democratic issue and its strength lies largely in the fact that it faces no solid opposition with Republican voters.

CONTEMPORARY OPINION

(New York Herald)

ACROSS THE LIBYAN DESERT

Another expedition for the exploration of the Sahara is soon to leave the Mediterranean coast at Sollum and will attempt to cross the Libyan desert, as the eastern part of the Sahara is called. The expedition was planned some time ago and was to start later this year, but the success of the French in crossing the western Sahara has advanced the date of its departure. It is organized with the approval and support of the Egyptian Government and will be headed by Ahmed Hassanein Bey, who accompanied Mrs. Rosita Forbes two years ago in her Libyan explorations.

Except for its northern part the Libyan desert is an entirely unexplored region. Even this part has never been properly surveyed. Many of the names which appear upon maps and charts are known only by hearsay. The German explorer Friedrich Rohlfs and Mrs. Forbes both reached Kufir, about 600 miles from the Mediterranean, crossing the desert from there to Egypt, and a French military expedition traversed the southern part of the desert from Tibesti to Wadai, about 300 miles. In the region between these lines of northern and southern explorations the desert reigns supreme. Few regions are less known to the explorer or the scientist.

The object of Hassanein's expedition is described as scientific. He hopes to remain in the desert at least six months. It is unfortunate that both of the other explorers brought back with them comparatively few scientific data; Rohlfs lost most of the notes of his journey and Mrs. Forbes had no scientific instruments for definitely fixing the location of places on the route she traveled. As Hassanein knows the language and customs of the desert people it is believed he will escape the inconveniences these two explorers suffered as well as the perils they encountered.

Hassanein will also endeavor to discover the extent of the influence of the Senussi movement. To this day it is not known if this very remarkable movement has for its purpose the establishment of a mysterious Moslem secret organization or of a new Islamic sect similar to the Wahabis. The Senussi made considerable trouble for the French along the southern border of the desert; they fought in the Tripolitan war against the Italians and in the world war they aided the Turks. They are unquestionably a power in northern Africa, and what their political alignment will be now that they are reported to have broken with the Turks is a matter of considerable importance to Egypt and European nations having Mediterranean colonial possessions.

The Sounding Board

SPRING IS HERE!

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 18.—(Special to the Sounding Board)—The first canoe of the season was seen in South Clinton street this afternoon about 3 o'clock. The occupants, a young man and a fair co-ed, were enjoying themselves immensely as they floated lazily around the bend into Washington street. The water is still a trifle muddy, but Mayor Harvat has promised to see that it is clarified. A large crowd gathered on the (Johnson County) bank to see the first real sign of spring.

We enjoyed very much the performance of "The Famous Mrs. Fair" at the University theatre the other evening. Only one thing puzzled us: How did Mr. Dehner manage to mop up on Mr. Hand so thoroughly that the latter required an ambulance?

LAFOLLETTE OR LAFAYETTE?

(Story in the Iowan)

"The occasion of his appearance at Iowa was the Interstate Oratorical Contest. . . This event which was as important to the students of '79 as the Yale game to those of today, took place on May 7, 1779. . . Mr. LaFollette was then a young man of twenty or thereabouts."

WARNING TO STUDENTS

A meeting of the landladies of Iowa City was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Members of a certain sorority, dissatisfied with the work of local photographers, persuaded an amateur to take a flashlight at the chapter house, in which they were snapped in characteristic poses.

An Eastern saloonkeeper who didn't "know his stuff" served customers with bar polish instead of "white mule". And shortly afterward they crossed the bar.

Mason City billiard fans are certainly in luck. Jake Schafer, former world's champion at 18.2 balkline, and Kinrey Matsuyama, the Japanese boy wonder, will appear there in an exhibition match, it is announced.

Aroused by a tendency to lay the blame for wild escapades on members of the theatrical profession, Flo Ziegfeld is taking finger prints of his Follies girls.

This is not, we imagine, an effort to get anything on them.

SEVENTEEN.

JANUARY WEATHER VARIABLE

A great variety of weather has been the lot of Iowa City for the past week and widely fluctuating temperature marks have been registered, according to Prof. John J. Reilly, official government weather observer. Maximum and minimum temperatures for the past week follows: January 11, 20 and 25; 12, 12 and 36; 13, 14 and 34; 14, 32 and 39; 15, 25 and 40; 16, 19 and 38; 17, 18 and 36.

Precipitation has been exceedingly slight. Traces, four-hundredths and five-hundredths of an inch, is all that has been reported.

LIEURANCE TO GIVE CONCERT FEBRUARY 1

Famous Composer Will Be Assisted By Soprano and Flutist

An evening of Indian music presented by Thurlow Lieurance, composer-pianist, and his wife, Edna Wooley Lieurance, soprano, in the natural science auditorium on Thursday, February 1, will be the next event in the University concert course sponsored by the music department. Mr. George Tack, flutist, will have a part in the program and will play real Indian flutes.

Indian costumes and settings will add to the charm of the program. An Indian teepee will form the background for the performance and Mrs. Lieurance will wear several authentic Indian costumes as she sings.

Mr. Lieurance will read Indian legends as well as play some of his own original Indian compositions. He will then present music based on these melodies, assisted by his wife and by Mr. Tack, the flutist.

Mr. Thurlow Lieurance was born in Oskaloosa, Iowa and has spent a great deal of his life among the various tribes of North American Indians studying their music and customs. The material obtained from his study has been recorded at the Smithsonian Institute. Mr. Lieurance is acknowledged to be one of the foremost authorities on the American Indian.

Many of Mr. Lieurance's compositions are well known in this country. The particular favorite is "By the Waters of Minnetonka" which appears very often on concert programs, and will probably be sung by Mrs. Lieurance in Iowa City.

HAWKEYE SALE TO OPEN FEBRUARY 13

Book To Cost $4.75 If Paid In Five Day Subscription Campaign

The sales campaign for the 1924 Hawkeye, University year book, will start on Tuesday, February 13, continue for five days, and come to a close Saturday night, February 18. The charge for the 1924 book, if payment is made in full at the time the subscription is taken will be $4.75. The regular price of five dollars will remain for those who only make the required two dollar deposit. Those who are conducting the sales campaign will send representatives to all fraternity and sorority houses in addition to maintaining subscription booths on the campus.

"Such a short drive is a new adventure and will require the co-operation of the entire student body to make it a success, was the statement made by Booker Smith A3 of Fairfield present business manager of the book. He added, "Those who wish books must be ready to sign up the first time they are asked as five days is a very short time for such an undertaking."

An entirely new plan has been decided upon for the selection of the women in the representative women section of this year's publication. It is expected to create a great deal of interest, according to Smith. The details of this plan will be announced within a few days.

At present there are five positions open on the business staff. Anyone who feels that they are capable for this position should call at Close hall room 201, this afternoon.

The payment of the page space for campus organizations must be paid before February 1 or the copy will be rejected. Smith urges that the treasurers of the various organizations should look after this matter at once.

University Nurse To Teach Course In Washington, D. C.

Miss Margaret S. Belyea, chief nurse at the psychopathic hospital and instructor in the University school of nursing has left Iowa City for Washington D. C. where she is to give course in neuro-psychiatric nursing at St. Elizabeth's hospital. The course is to be given to a group of graduate nurses to prepare them for duty in hospitals for disabled soldiers and sailors. Miss Belyea is a specialist in this branch of nursing, having served in several of the largest hospitals in the east.

Miss Belyea has been granted a temporary leave of absence from the University for a sufficient length of time to complete the course of instruction in Washington, which will occupy twelve weeks, the course being divided into two periods of six weeks each. The demonstrative work will be carried on in the wards of St. Elizabeth's hospital. In addition to this practical part of the work classes will be instructed in the theory of psychiatric nursing. St. Elizabeth's hospital is the government's hospital for soldiers and sailors. Miss Belyea's place will be filled by Miss Floy Younkin, assistant chief nurse at the psychopathic hospital during her absence.

CONCENTRATION AIDS CONCISENESS TO PASS SEMESTER EXAMINATIONS

Monday, January 22, semester examinations in all of the colleges of the University will begin and continue throughout the week. This is not only a time of worry and loss of sleep for the student, but for the instructor as well. Instructors claim that they do not give these examinations for the purpose of creating a feeling of terror, some students imagine, but merely to cover the work of the semester and to get a better idea of the students who are entitled to pass and those who are not.

If certain rules and theories are carried out in taking these examinations, no student need worry, if he has grasped pretty well what has been assigned him during the semester or reviewed the subject before taking the examination, and it can be safely said that it will not be a difficult task for anyone to pass an examination in any course in the University.

In writing an examination the same principles can be carried out as those followed in writing a newspaper article. The most important facts should be stated first and then discussed more fully later. More words and more paper do not demand the highest grade. A whole page may be written without stating a single fact in connection with the question.

When an examination is begun it is well to merely sit about fifteen or twenty minutes and read all of the questions in order to analyze them and think how they can best be answered.

A few notes jotted down of ten help. A definite space of time should be apportioned to each question.

After writing actually starts it is the best policy to answer the easiest questions or the ones known first. More questions can be answered in this way. Plain writing helps the instructor in correcting the paper. If one is calm and collected the semester examinations will not be such hard things to take.

Some of the brilliant students on the campus were interviewed on their plan for passing examinations.

One stated that she never looked at her text book but just read her notes over till she knew them. She also stated that in her estimation organization was the key note in writing a perfect paper.

Another stated that she never studied just before the exam. She studied just as hard as she could and then proceeded to forget all about it. In this way her mind was clear before the examination.

One man interviewed said that he was going to hire a first rate hypnotist and have him hypnotize him before each examination. In this way his subconscious mind would function and it would be no trick at all to pass in every subject.

Continued mild weather during the past week has nearly ruined the Fitzgerald rink for skating.

Rare Privilege To See "The Book of Job" Mabie States

Professor Mabie considers it the greatest good fortune that the theatre secured a performance of "The Book of Job" for its patrons. New York, Boston, Indianapolis, St. Louis and cities of that class have heretofore been the only ones to secure such engagements.

"The Book of Job" produced and presented by Stuart Walker of port-manteau fame, and to be seen at the Englert, under the auspices of the University Theatre, in matinee and evening performance, Monday, February 5, is meeting with widespread recognition among many of the church and dramatic groups of the town and University.

The seat sale which opens Jan. 25 is in charge of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. Tickets may now be purchased at their respective offices and everyone will be given an opportunity to buy when the formal seat sale opens.

These organizations are urging attendance of the Job production, based on expressions of highest interest from ministers of many denominations from cities when the play has been presented. In many instances Sunday Schools have formed into units and attended in a body; seats have been sold in blocks of twenty or more to clubs and dramatic organizations. A more thorough knowledge of the Book is being acquired in anticipation of seeing the dramatization.

"The Book of Job" is not a play or a theatrical performance in the accepted sense of the word, but it is a drama of man's soul, and Stuart Walker presents it with a reverence and beauty and a method new to the theatre. The text used will be the words of the Old Testament unaltered. The full significance of this great drama is made clear by its presentation, with wonderful lighting and ancient Hebrew music. This presentation of "The Book of Job" is the highest achievement of Stuart Walker in the theatre, and comes as the climax of his brilliant career as a producer.

STUDENTS VOTE IN POPULARITY CONTEST

Reality rather than rumor, and facts rather than mysterious hints mark the announcement of the staging of the Daily Barometer Popularity Contest, to be held at the Oregon Agricultural College. Voting will be made at student body meetings on that day and ballots will be given out at the doors, marked during the progress of the meeting and balloted upon leaving. The contest is open to everyone, including freshman or senior, mucker or "home ec" aristocrat. Campaigning is permissible, provided it is not carried on during the voting, and the candidate getting the most votes will win. That is to say, the winner does not necessarily need to get a majority over the total of his or her competitors. Candidates will be judged on the following:

- Women
- Prettiest Co-ed
- Best Co-ed Dancer
- Most Popular Girl
- Men
- Handsomest Man
- Best Dancer
- Meanest Man
- Most Ardent Woman Hater
- Best Sport

Voting will be held at student body meeting Wednesday. No candidates will be nominated. Both men and women may vote for men and women. Winners will be announced in Thursday's Barometer. Ballots will be given out at student body meeting. Do not clip Barometer.
