CONSERVATISM IS KEYNOTE OF MEN'S STYLES

Flashy Young to Be Passed This Spring, Is Decree of Fashions

Spring styles for college men will be less more to the conservative, is the opinion of Iowa City dressmakers, who are all ranging their new lines from the eastern markets.

The Norfolk suits have become a decided favorite as well as the three-button and double-breasted styles of the past season.

Hats will be of rugged materials, with gray, tan and the newer shades of green predominating. Narrow bows and narrow crowns hold their own. Men's accessories, such as ties, neckties, will follow the general trend of conservatism, the shoes bearing toward solid colors.

Nothing new or startling will come from the East, but fashion claims that the college year of 1923 will lack more conservative and less flashy than the college men of 1922.

The stationery which is to be used with the Iowa Memorial Union campaign will itself tell the story of one of the largest buildings in our city.

The building is the tallest in the university campus, and the name given to it is a long one. It has been called the "Big Store" and the "Big Bookstore." It is also known as the "Big City Center for Science and Industry." It is poised to become the center of activity for the university community.

Foundation Day to Benefit State-Wide Initiative

Foundation day exercises will be held in the Iowa Memorial Union. These exercises will be the same as those held in previous years. The exercises will be conducted by the University president and the vice-president. The exercises will be held in the Union's auditorium.

Foundation day is expected to be a great success. It is anticipated that the exercises will be attended by a large number of people.

tion to the French. President reslues has now spread from the Ruhr to Baden, the German state to which the French have seized the two towns as part of the German government in cancelling the Paris-St.alingrad express trains. The inhabitants of the state are refusing to comply with any orders of the French military.

According to German officials the French seized the towns in spite the north and south Germany and in the Ruhr area, Bamberg and Bamberg which are all Catholic states, with France. The French however denied vehemently these charges.

The shortage of paper and food in the Ruhr caused by the enforce-

PREVENTION—NOT CURES

It is a significant fact that during recent centuries there has been no satisfactory improvement in the physique of man. Yet there has been remarkable progress in the science of medicine. We seem to be trying to cure every physical ailment, not to prevent them.

The best way to get disease is to have the body in such a condition that disease cannot readily enter. All disease cannot be prevented in this manner, but any of them can be limited to the extent that they will not be serious. Much progress has been made in medical science, yet we are not healthier than the people of hundreds of years ago. We can control the spread of some dangerous diseases, but the many minor ailments we have, more or less, depend on this advancement.

We need more protection in the body and less outside. We need to build up physical systems and prevent disease, and not require cures. If our program had been the present treatment of disease, in a few years our body will have very little protection and we will have no medicine alone to combat disease before they prove fatal.

LIBRARY INEFFICIENCY

To the Editor:

There are two kinds of inefficiency: one results from a failure to use the other factors, and the other is an attitude of "I can't care."

This latter case seems to be the reason for the apparent inefficiency now in use at the central desk of the University library.

WEIGHT CLASS UPSET

The average temperature for the high temperatures

According to Professor John F. Stegman, Michigan's weatherman for this district, there has been only one January since 1914 and that of the January of the year 1914, as warm as the January of the year 1914. For the month of January, the mean maximum, or the average high mark was 35 inches, and the low temperature, or the average low mark was 21 degrees. The average temperature for all degrees and the precipitation during the month was 1.06 inches. The mean maximum temperatures for the month of January was 2.8 degrees and was the same in the years 1914, 1918, and 1926. But the nights were not as warm as they have been this month. The mean maximum was 15 degrees in 1916, 18 degrees in 1924 and 19 in 1920. The lowest temperature of all time was on the 18th of January, when the temperature was below zero. The present month of January was as regards precipitation, the second month of the year 1923.

The following table shows the high temperatures for the month.

In the past, however, some have been established at least one convenient spot on the campus but with the completion of the new structures and its excellent lecture halls, lecture rooms, laboratories, etc., it will all go along in facilitating the work and advantages of the chemistry department.

The bulging dome on the library is worth emulating. It marks the way to bulging pockets.

Don’t take our word for it. Ask none of the old guard, the men who have gone out before you to sell their books. Some have sold them for more than others. Why? Just ask. But, you may say, books are not the only thing. You’re right.

Still, they help.
