GERMANS DEFY ORDER TO KEEP OUT OF RUHR

Knollin, 1922 Track Captain of Wisconsin, Weeps Over Loss of Aptos

Albert Knollin, captain of the Wisconsin track team last spring, was on hand yesterday at the University of Notre Dame in South Bend, Ind., for the explanation of the German gas attack which took place there.

Knollin was one of the best high jumpers on the team and was expected to become an outstanding star in the track meets which are scheduled to take place here at the University of Notre Dame before the end of the semester.

He said that his last visit to the University of Notre Dame was in 1922 when he was a member of the track team.

NEW DRESSES
Selected Especially for the University Miss

Individual styles distinctly youthful—appealing because of their charming grandeur manner.
Bouffant skirts fall below a tight bodice; berdine collared in old lace, quickly old fashioned yet elegantly new fashioned. Old fashioned, new sleeves and the employ, most of the new trimmings newly applied give a character to these frocks that are certain to win the approval of the particular miss.
See them soon.

History Professors Edit Book on Modern European Civilization

A new book, entitled "Women's and Feminism European University," by Prof. H. G. Rosen and Prof. C. E. Foltin, both of the University of Chicago, has recently been edited by the two authors.

The book contains four sections, each one dealing with a different aspect of the subject. The first section, "Women's and Feminism in European University," covers the historical development of women's education in Europe, from ancient times to the present day. The second section, "Women's and Feminism in European University," focuses on the role of women in European society, including their contributions to science, art, and culture. The third section, "Women's and Feminism in European University," examines the impact of European women's movements on modern society, and the fourth section, "Women's and Feminism in European University," looks at the future of women's education in Europe.

The book is divided into four parts, each part containing a series of essays on a particular topic. The essays are written by leading experts in the field, and cover a wide range of issues, from the historical background of women's education to the latest developments in the field. The book is intended for a wide audience, including students, researchers, and anyone interested in the history of women's education in Europe.

The Engineering of a Curling Iron

What sort of engineering is it that makes a study of the needs and the interests of women and creates products to satisfy them? Does it seem, that in practice, at least this sort of thing is different from your average engineering job? It takes a bit of both and integrates them in a new and broader way; but its big job is that of making more living—fully living—readily available.

It is, in every aspect, a thing worth doing, whether it concerns itself with the development of new products, or the expansion of the thousands of products in between.

This is truly the day of the engineer. His judgments and his engine are sought out in almost every phase of living. Engineering is making the business of housekeeping. Its methods are being applied to merchandising, to distribution, to the wrapping of bundles and the packing of boxes, to the lighting of streets and of hundreds of things that a few years back, were strictly "out-of-thumbs." By the time you are out west in the world, there will be more men and women than there are only a few of them left.

Whatever is worth doing is worth doing well. Engineering, engineering effort dignifies.--H. G. Wells. Whether it puts more usefulness into transformers or curling irons or turbines does not matter. The thing that counts is the work, the constructive, creative service that is going on for the last benefit of mankind.
One of the greatest motion picture stars, Douglas Fairbanks, has just made an appearance in the Strand Theatre. His film, "The Three Musketeers," was a hit with the audience. Fairbanks is known for his dramatic abilities and his way with a sword. The film is a classic and is still enjoyed today.

Another popular film playing in the Strand is "Easy Street," a film starring Charlie Chaplin. Chaplin's distinctive walking style and ability to tell a story through his slapstick humor has entertained audiences for decades. "Easy Street" is a wonderful example of Chaplin's talent.

In addition to these films, there are other notable movies playing in the Strand. "The Great Dictator," a film starring Charlie Chaplin and directed by his brother Stan, is a must-see. The film is a satirical look at the Nazi regime and has become a classic of its genre.

Other films playing in the Strand include "The Thief of Bagdad," a swashbuckling adventure that has been a favorite of moviegoers for years. "The Adventures of Robin Hood," starring Errol Flynn, is another classic film that is playing in the Strand. Flynn's portrayal of the titular character is a highlight of the film.

The Strand Theatre is a great place to see some of the best films ever made. Whether you are a fan of silent films or modern classics, the Strand has something for everyone.

At Last

They are Here!

Those of you who have been so patiently waiting for our "Little Bit from East" to get here, will finally be joining in knowing that we have just received a big shipment of this easy and just in time for Valentine's day.

Remember we don't charge a cent for wrapping or mailing.

If New Englander needs a good Valentine's Day present, let it be one of fancy dress, the questiion now is to be turned into a musical incident and become the subject of all the ordinary for the Saint Valentine's freak.

Of course, if the occasion is to be a dance, the theme, so it is usually said, so there is always a little theme which has been dissolved which can turn into a funny dress costume. A flirty group of gowns or garters can be viewed out at the hips and ribbons hanging from the decorated highest, expanding red paper hats.

Hearts of different sizes may be patched together and Halls in any combination, choosing spots or here places.

A white dress may be fixed up in the most singular shape of a dress and tinted. By putting closing to the hearts and covering the green with these, the effect is quite stunning. One can make a pretty bodice by cutting sundresses in convex shape, putting in with silver or gold and applying little waxes made of various colored sealing waxes. Again, the Christmas tree decorations may come in handy, for by making varnished Christmas tree ornaments and letting them dip upon the silver or glass, one can get the jeweled affect.

The Old-fashioned Girl

St. Valentine's Day always seems to call for the old-fashioned girl with powdered wig and bonnet-cutter curls. One need only add a little here and there, a coquettish phrase of verse, a dainty expression of surprise, and the young lady of olden days will be re-created.

In these days when flappers may be seen on every door dressed in pantaloons, one might be inclined to call on some of the old-fashioned ideas of other days. The old-fashioned flapper girl with the curly ruffled skirt and the double shaded yarns and dressings with a素养 of a "High School Girl" would indeed be a sight and one feel sure that any girl who attempted to be up to find hers-elf the belle of the ball.

But one forgets there are no ballasts at the balls these days, for the modern girls don't wait for boys to adopt tent bails, but chic ways and great patterns for themselves.

Nevertheless, the same affairs of the heart will exist today as did in grand parents' time. - But the Saint Valentine's Day dance for is not a Saint Valentine's day and every little flapper should try to meet the requirements for the Saint Valentine's dance.

In this flapper age, the girl who forgets that she is a 1920 flapper or Saint Valentine's eve and advent after her bust by the conventional one for the ordinary for the Saint Valentine's freak.
