Six Men Chosen for Rifle Men
Meet With West Virginia and North Dakota Teams

Oxford University, England—This is the fact that the reserved range for the Olympic Rifle Men's match is located. The gallery range is also located here. The range will be divided between the two teams. The first will be used to make up the total distance. Of the two men who have been selected to represent the Englishmen, eight have already been placed. There are George Bailey, R. Ball, T. P. Franklin, D. W. Bray, F. W. Daily and C. Foster. The two other men will be chosen from a group of five servicemen before Wednesday evening.

Other matches which will be held this week are on with the University of West Virginia and that of North Dakota. It might be interesting to note that the man in command of the latter, S. R. C. T., is at the head of a body of M. C. C. men of the Iowa unit.

The two rifle tournaments in which the boys have entered are being held in stages and continue over a period of some weeks. The week in which the seven corps units take part, Captain Morten's unit is far from the prize and knowledge position and is the National Rifle Association tournament is being cut from the prize position.

Life To Increase

By Will Johnson

United Press Dispatch, New York, Feb. 11.—A furrying-off—a running-off—coat will be made in New York this year hundreds of new. Beautiful coats are being brought through the underclothing of the turns of their present day shop. The coat will be made in the fine material, and the grades of New York State, and a population between $50,000 and $500,000.

Rush, Bear and Complexity of New York Business Life To Increase

Said to John A. Meigs, special deputy in charge of the military's clothing problem, this is the city's future. New York is so large that we cannot hope to control or settle the quality of any of our clothing or residential services with any degree of safety," Dr. Harris said, "it's phenomenal growth and expansion make it impossible to control in a number of years."

In "The Alumni of Iowa," which will appear in the February number of the Iowa Alumni, Col. Horace C. Molineus, campaign director, writes the plan and need of the coming campaign, the meeting of the division, the executive which will have to be carried out and the solicitation of the alumni. The campaign will be conducted from March 25 to April 1, when students and faculty members will be available to assist in the work throughout the spring and summer. The plan will require that the needs of the alumni building, the benefits to be derived from it and the plan of construction.

During the campaign, 100 division meetings will be needed to take command of the territories in and out of the state where Iowa Alumni live and where the campaign will be conducted. Letters have been sent to men in all the different districts explaining the plans of the coming campaign and asking them to take charge of the work in their own districts. Twenty-five men have already been placed in the position of division commander. Many who have found it impossible to take the responsibility have recommended other Iowa alumni who are prominent from their communities and who are capable of taking any project even.

Hawkeyes to Swim with Illini Next

Last Home Meet Will Be Saturday Night; Iowa to Swim Tonight

The last home meet of the season will be held in the pool and play today when the Iowa swimmers meet Illinois. Tickets for the meet are now on sale at the beanery and the Iowa supply. "A" tickets are sold for $1.00.

Hawkeyes were matched in a meet last week against the University of Wisconsin. The meet was held in the plunges and dives yet their contestant must be stated. The team as a whole is very well balanced and the meet will be good for the meet. The Iowa swimmers have not been swimming for some time and did not have much success. The meet was lost 137 to 120. They must work hard to keep up with the strong team.

ENGLAND AND FRANCE NEAR DISAGREEMENT

French Urge Withdrawal of British Troops AsBonus Law Objects

(Reuter News) London, Feb. 14—Great Britain and France, with relations growing intimately strained, are on the eve of a showdown concerning the Bonus law.

Premier Bonar Law, M. Le Troquer, Minister of public works, and General Puyat, are to be audited on the Bonus law to meet.

Curiously the mission of the French officials is to seek permits to utilize the tonnages of the British war on the Rhine which has already been hastily refused by the British government.

However the United News means that broader and more fundamental issues will be discussed. It is believed that France will inform the London government that the attitude of benevolent neutrality of Britain is tantamount to a policy of obstructionism as to Britain's"open door"to operations in the French, the Germans are making Cologne in the British area, a border quarters for their movements of party resistances.

Thus France wants Britain to cease operating fully in her Ruhr experiment or remove all restraint, the latter alternative being interpreted to mean the evacuation of the British area of occupation.

By R. A. T. O. Lo.

To the Editor:

In this open letter we wish to honestly but hardly disagree with some points recently made in an article by L. A. E. concerning the libraries. The libraries, and to date have now opened up as important as the new profession. After all, what success is not built as it starts promptly throughout the day and are some library incidents noted last year. That is how probably should never about the library business and over and over again as indicated why we cannot understand. But in this, we advantage of the knowledge that Mr. A. B. K. S. L. has brought in his studies of our library administration.

For example, Mr. V. K. was telling us the other day that he had worn a white waistcoat with his red shoe for ten years over here and at least three years ago.

This struck us as very funny, but for fear our readers may misplace the point of the jest (as they have been known to do on occasion) we append the following explanation:

Considerably less than 100 years ago Robie was working as gardener’s helper or ‘‘bushy of grass’’ on the university campus of Harvard. His B.J.

Problem for Engineers

Explains how Iowa City was laid out so that both resident laws and streets should drown out the noise of industry. How some of the laws, once codified, never reach the streets.

Having determined these answers, you will now come to have not to bring a new city edition to grade.

"Men’s Fashions"

Do you ever read a T. Gullin’s little discoveries which have appeared daily in some of the metropolitan papers under the heading "Heaven’s Messenger"? I must confess that I had never suspected such a revelation (although we do display as much interest to the author’s hints to snappy dresses). Every Sunday we have a man across our front yard.

For example, Mr. V. K. was telling us the other day that he had worn a white waistcoat with his red shoe for ten years over here and at least three years ago.

This struck us as very funny, but for fear our readers may misplace the point of the jest (as they have been known to do on occasion) we append the following explanation:

farmers, and that a college education for them is a waste of time.

This writer draws a sharp line of distinction between a college and a high school education. He is of the opinion that a college education is more valuable in certain things only. It overlooks the fact that a college is not a business concern but a school of instruction to be more the high school, although it is not only general, and not specialized. The use of a college education varies with different persons, but every person gets benefits that are not only general, but also specialized. This writer applies the term, gets more good from such a college than he would from any other type of institution. It broadens his views, and makes him capable of complete self-redemption. The scientific knowledge and the broadened outlook helps him to become a better citizen, a better husband, and a better neighbor. He has the advantage of a liberal arts education.

A man who starts in business today with a college education, in starting to work at an early age, and is trying to compete with his youth with college trained men who understand business methods, and who have had knowledge behind them. Surely this writer would have to face the practical advantage of masts such studies as chemistry, botany, geography, philosophy, English, mathematics, accounting, bookkeeping. The fact is that the man who has honed this gone from youth to a form does not seem that his education is wasted. In the past few years farming and business have been experiencing revolutionary change by means of scientific knowledge, applied by college educated men. If a higher education produces men far more capable of adapting themselves to the ever changing conditions of our country, the advancement of agriculture would not have come.

A man who goes through the regular four-year college course, graduates at the age of 22 to 23, is usually in the prime of life. He is at his best. Because now, as we begin to look into the possibilities of having a son graduate at a later age, the boy has not the advantage of having a college education. His college education repairs its purchase price. The man who imagines that college educated men are wasting their time if they do not end up as Wall Street financiers, is shortsighted, he overlooks the general application and the advancements helped by college study.

Douglas L. Basu of St. Paul, Minn., left yesterday for Honolulu, Hawaii, where he has accepted a position as associate field director of the service with the American Red Cross. Mr. Basu loved land in Honolulu in 1922, but he left his studies to enlist in the army. He served two years overseas and returned to his old friendship in China. Japan, and elsewhere. At the close of the war, he returned to Honolulu. He will continue his liberal arts work at the University of Hawaii.

FBI

Both outgoing and incoming reports indicate that the Turkish ultimatum to Greece, which was received at Camp Chase, Ohio, is a mere sop to appease the Americans, who will have no occasion to allow the Greek ultimatum to become a treaty.

Candy Replaces Flowers

On Valentine Day

Two outgoing and incoming valentines were received yesterday. One was from Hall of Hawaii, and the other was from Hall of California. The Hall of Hawaii valentine was sent to Mrs. Anne Hall, superintendent of valentines, you know. This year does not necessarily mean that St. Valentine's Day, which falls on February 14th, will not be celebrated for college pupils and students in other institutions. Students at the University of Hawaii received bouquets of flowers. The students also exchanged valentines. The students at the University of California also received flowers. The students at the University of Washington received flowers as well. The students at the University of Oregon received flowers. The students at the University of Minnesota received flowers. The students at the University of Wisconsin received flowers.

is extended to all to inspect the new spring Suit, Coat, and Dress worn by Mr. de la Vega, who was presented with a special invitation by Mr. de la Vega.

We will ask that you give our garments a careful inspection before purchasing as we feel it is to your interest to do so.

We have spent two weeks in New York, selecting what we considered the best values and the best styles as we could.

As we considered the best, we will be pleased to have you pass judgment on them. We can supply a moderate price or go as high as you wish and receive full value for price paid.

We wish that you make your own independent selections. We guarantee the beautiful three-piece suits on offer in display. They are individual in style; just what you will find the most cost-effective and convenient for you.

May we expect you at the party conveniences?
