Germany Plans To Test "Keep Out" Command

INTRODUCE BILL TO APPROPRIATE IOWA $450,000

Measure for $1,600,000 For Buildings At Ames And Iowa Considered

The first gun for the acquisition of the $2,225,000 gift from the Rockefeller foundation was fired when a bill was introduced in the Iowa state senate and house late yesterday asking for a single appropriation of $1,600,000 for new buildings at the State University of Iowa and the Iowa State College at Ames. This includes the $450,000 a year required to be spent on a new medical school at Iowa City in order to insure the University a gift from the Rockefeller foundation.

Increase in amounts asked for support and maintenance for the three colleges totals more than a million dollars for two years and would be divided as follows: for the State University, $525,000; for the State college, $479,000; for the State Teachers college, $69,000. In a statement from the office of the state board of education, it is pointed out that these increases are made necessary by the fact that the attendance at the three state schools has increased 3,000 in the course of the last biennium.

It will be recalled that the Rockefeller board would give the money to the medical school providing the Iowa institution furnished a like amount. This would involve a yearly expenditure of $450,000. Under this plan it would be possible for the medical school to carry out their extensive plans for the new medical plant across the river. If the bill is passed the money from the foundation board is immediately available and work can be started as soon as the materials can be obtained. The acceptance of the gift would mean that a delay of several years would be avoided in the completion of the project.

Iowa people will watch with interest the action of the state legislature on the acceptance of the $2,225,000. The consensus of opinion of many of the business and professional men of the state is for acknowledging the gift. It is hoped that quick action will be had in putting the bill through.

SET DATES FOR DEBATE TRYOUTS

Iowa's Women Debaters Will Meet Washington University Team

The date for the tryouts for the women's interscholastic debate with Washington University of St. Louis will be determined at the meeting of women's forsenic council to be held Friday. Lists of questions are being prepared by both universities, from which the question to be debated will be chosen.

Several literary societies have made it compulsory for every member to try out. All will have seven or eight representatives in the preliminary. A number of non-literary society women have signified their intention of going out for a place on one of the two Iowa teams which will be chosen.

Iowa is meeting a university which she has never met before in debated, and will use untried debaters, since those who have represented Iowa in previous years have graduated.

DR. HENRY MORROW, IOWA GRADUATE, DIES

Private funeral services for Dr. Henry Morrow, graduate of the college of dentistry, will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the family residence, 609 South Summit street, with the local American Legion Post in charge. Dr. Morrow died Tuesday morning after a brief illness of pneumonia.

Dr. Morrow, who was the son of Colonel and Mrs. Henry Morrow, was born in Iowa City, October 25, 1873. He was a graduate from the university and formerly practiced his chosen profession with the late Dr. W. S. Hereford. Dr. Morrow enlisted in 1917 and served overseas with the 89th Division.

Dr. Morrow was a member of Beta Theta Pi, and Xi Psi Phi fraternities. He was an active legionaire and a leader in civic movements.

HAWKEYE SALES GROW YESTERDAY

Extra Copies Not Available At Time Of Delivery In Spring

The sales of the Hawkeye took a jump yesterday, which was the second day of the campaign. On Tuesday the student body seemed uninformed, and most of the effort of the solicitors was spent in presenting the issue. Yesterday students were prepared to sign on the "dotted line." The military classes and college of engineering have responded well.

Those wishing 1924 Hawkeyes will have to order them at this time as none will be available in the spring when the books will be delivered. The order for the covers of the volume and also for the art work on the border of the pages will have to be placed next week. No extra copies will be ordered so the number subscribed for at that time will be the number printed and delivered.

The posters around the campus that are being used as advertisements are samples of the divisions pages of the book. "University", classes of the different colleges, "Iowa Life" pictorial presentation of scenes about the campus, "Organizations", "Activities", "Athletics", and "Hawkeye Humor", the feature section, will be the six divisions of the annual.

These posters display the most elaborate art work attempted by a college publication. Last year "The Badger", Wisconsin annual, was a record breaker for art work. Their divisions were a four color combination, and the illustrations pasted onto the borders, whereas the Hawkeye this year feature a six color combination that is printed on the same paper as the border.

The percentage of the student body that have so far subscribed is hard to estimate as the same students are solicited in several places. For example one third of the men in the military training classes yesterday ordered their books at the meeting of the classes. Many of the two thirds, however, had purchased their copies at other places. Reports of the solicitors are not extensive enough to give an accurate estimate of the number sold to date.

COMMERCE STUDENTS INTERVIEW MANAGER

Junior and senior students in the college of commerce had the opportunity of interviewing J. E. Franz, assistant sales manager of the National Cash Register company in regard to positions with that company. Mr. Franz arrived in Iowa City yesterday morning and will be here until ten o'clock this morning at the Jefferson Hotel.

BADGERS BEAT WOLVERINES IN CLOSE CONTEST

Starless Michigan Team Plays Great Game In 18 to 15 Defeat

CONFERENCE STANDING
	P.	W.	L.	Pct.
Iowa	8	8	0	1.000
Wisconsin	6	5	1	.833
Michigan	7	5	2	.714
Purdue	6	4	2	.714
Illinois	7	4	3	.571
Indiana	4	2	2	.500
Chicago	7	2	5	.286
Northwestern	7	5	2	.286
Ohio State	8	1	7	.125
Minnesota	6	0	6	.000

(By United News) Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 14—Michigan, riddled by sickness and inability, lost to the Wisconsin basketball team tonight by a score 18 to 15, but only after a long and bitter fight.

The Wolverines started the game without the services of either regular forward, but were able by sheer fight to end the half tied with the Badgers 8 to 8.

Haggerty, Michigan forward, left his sick bed, and entered the game in the second half.

Long shots by Gage and Spooner, and exceptionally strong defensive work by Williams turned the tide in the second half and eliminated Michigan from the conference race.

Michigan's defeat, although it raises the standing of Wisconsin, aids Iowa in her dash toward the conference championship. Iowa defeated the Wolverines when their team was strong, Wisconsin does it when two of their best men are out.

Wisconsin has another game with Purdue, the team that defeated the Badgers in their first game. The Badgers also have another game with Indiana, and they will find that the present Indiana team is nothing like the one that they were able to defeat by a close score at the beginning of the season. It is likely that the Badgers will lose at least two more games, although they have a good chance of winning from Purdue at Madison. They also must meet Michigan at Madison, and with Haggerty back in shape the Wolverines will probably win.

Iowa has only four games left. Three of these are hard ones, the two with Indiana, and the return game with Michigan, but at the best the Hawkeyes should not lose more than one, if they lose any of them. Iowa's chances for a conference basketball title have never been better.

Y. W. Nominating Committee Holds Weekly Meetings

The Y. W. C. A. nominating committee for next year's officers is holding weekly meetings before the election which will be held the first week in March. President, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and undergraduate representative are all elected by ballot. Heads of departments are appointed by the committee.

The nominating committee is composed of Mrs. Catherine Hamilton Devine, A4 of Pasadena, Cal., Irene Boughton A4 of Sioux City, Louise Jerrel A4 of Okaloosa, Helen Paterson A4 of West Branch, Salome Fisher A3 of Iowa City, and Jane Coventry A4 of Des Moines.

TWO MINISTERS SENT TO RUHR IN TEST CASE

Departure Kept In Secret; Will Disclose Identity On Arrival

(By United News) Berlin, Feb. 14—Germany is to test the order of the French that ministers of the Reich government cannot enter the Ruhr.

In defiance of the French decree, two cabinet members are to leave late tonight for the occupied territory.

Although the names of the two were not made public, the United News understands that one is Herr Severing, Prussian minister, and the other Doctor Walter Luther, the food administrator.

Although the departure is guarded as a secret, the ministers when once in the forbidden territory do not intend to keep in hiding.

If the ministers are arrested, as threatened by General Degoutte, interesting consequences are promised by the government of Chancellor Cuno.

SCHEMATOGRAPH INSTALLED HERE

New Machine Will Correct Posture At Women's Gymnasium

Do you walk with a slump? Do you think your round shoulders are stylish, and give you a 'distinguished' appearance? Do you drag one foot after the other in a slovenly haphazard fashion? The women's corrective gymnasium department will correct you if you don't watch out, and incidentally the schematograph.

The schematograph for recording the outlines has recently been installed in the women's gymnasium. In appearance this instrument is much like a camera with a focusing lens. It has an arrangement of mirrors by which an image is thrown upon a sheet of clear glass which is superimposed by a sheet of thin tracing paper.

The pupil stands about 10 feet distant against a dark background and in a bright light. The operator stands behind a black cloth thrown over the top of the sere and head. The image thrown on the tracing paper is then outlined with a soft pencil. In a short time quite a knack is acquired in holding the hand steady and in making the drawing or "schematogram" quickly and accurately.

The apparatus is useful for the purpose of making routine measurements of large groups of individuals as in a college. By this means a record of the posture can be added to the physical register of each student. Again, as a means of arousing interest in the individual and as stimulus to effort toward improvement, this invention has been found excellent. The student can be given as a guide, a duplicate copy which can be made in a moment, with indications or markings thereon, showing where improvements are desirable.

The women's gymnasium department has had this machine since last summer but only recently has had it installed. The outfit and the cost of setting up the apparatus totals over $100.

ALLEN PAYS VISIT TO FRENCH GENERAL

(By United News) Dusseldorf, Feb. 14—Major General Henry T. Allan, commander of the American army of occupation which has returned to the United States, made a farewell visit today to General Degoutte, the French commander in chief. General Allen is to leave for America soon.

MOTT WILL HEAD SCENARIO CONTEST

Laemmle Scholarship Contest Recognized By English Department

The Laemmle Scholarship contest offering a prize of $1000 for the best scenario written by an undergraduate, has been recognized by the English department, and Prof. Frank L. Mott instructor in English, has been designated by Prof. Hardin Craig to take charge of the contest at this University. The prize is offered by Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Picture Corporation in a movement for better motion pictures. Mr. Laemmle believes that the improvement will extend over a long period of years, and for this reason college and university students have been invited to justify the assumption that they are the representative members of the younger generation.

Scenarios are to be typewritten in short story form, in the briefest and simplest manner possible. The process of arranging the continuities and working scripts will be taken care of by the scenario department of the film company. The award will be paid in equal amount during the period that the winner is in school, except in the case of a senior when the entire sum will be paid over. All scenarios must be forwarded not later than May 15, 1923 and as all the scenarios from one school have to be sent in one package, it will be necessary to place them in the hands of Prof. Mott before that date.

Complete rules of the contest have already been published in an earlier issue of the Daily Iowan, and Prof. Mott will gladly give any additional information that he may receive from the company to those who are interested in the contest. Mention of the contest will be made in the short story writing classes and perhaps in some other classes in the English department.

COLD SNAP WILL PASS SOON-REILLY

February Weather Has Colder Temperature Than January

Even with the thermometer registering 7 degrees below Tuesday night Prof. H. F. Reilly, Iowa City government weather forecaster, predicted late yesterday afternoon that it would be still colder Wednesday night but warmer this afternoon and with a gradually climbing thermometer out of the recent cold wave.

Tuesday night's temperature was the third below zero mark of the month. February 3, recorded 10 degrees below, February 4 10 degrees below. The thermometer was not below zero at any time during January.

The drop Tuesday night was noticeable. The highest mark of that day was 33 degrees above. The drop from this point to 7 below was quite exceptional, says Professor Reilly. Mr. Reilly predicts that the present wave, which is characteristic of such cold snap, will soon pass, and will be followed by warmer weather.

ART SETTINGS IN PLAY SCORE GREAT TRIUMPH

"Merchant of Venice" Goes Over To Crowd In First Night's Presentation

With a great display of enthusiasm the large audience that filled the natural science auditorium last night kept the principal characters of "The Merchant of Venice" before the final curtain for four encores. The interest of the spectators was evident from the opening curtain and mounted steadily until the final scene of the famous Shakespearean play.

The play will be repeated tonight. The scenes and settings were a triumph in Shakespearean art. The effects were gained entirely by use of draperies in velvets and a backdrop of silver cloth with a lining of lavender silk. The lighting effects are the most elaborate ever used for a University Theatre production, the soft amber glow being carried out in contrasting glows of white and blue lights.

Real Italian furniture was used in furnishing Portia's home in Belmont and sets designed and carried out by the class in stage production gave the desired effects in the street scenes of Venice.

The acting even in the most difficult passages of the comedy gave the effect of absolute sincerity and genuine ability. The most critical of Shakespearean students could hardly fail to find all he seeks in the rendering of the famous, and immortal speeches of Portia and the Jew, Shylock. In settings, acting and genuine beauty of the whole this production of the Merchant of Venice must have been as the author himself imagined it.

In keeping with the whole illusion of old Shakespearean settings and acting were the programs, the first page of which was a facsimile of the title-page of the first folio of the play ever printed. Dated in the year 1600, it is in the genuine old-fashioned type of that day.

German Professors In Financial Need At Present Time

German professors are in a serious financial condition Professor Charles Bundy Wilson, head of the German department concludes from the many letters he receives, he said yesterday. Several great scholars write that their manuscripts are unpublished because of lack of funds. Even those professors who have previously published authoritative works and certain heads of schools find the situation difficult.

A large number of German educators are anxious to come to America to study the school systems but find similar financial handicaps. Dr. G. Adolf Rein of the University of Hamburg writes that in the spring he will travel in this country to study the administrative system of our schools with reference to historical studies in particular.

Through Columbia University at New York City, German professors are scheduled to lecture in this country. This service has been somewhat limited since the war. Most scholars, according to general opinion are uninterested in the war and are anxious for the reestablishment of former conditions.

The Ottendorf Memorial Scholarship offered through the New York University, New York City, provided for an income of $800 with an additional $100 for books.

Whitby Program

An impromptu program was given by Whitby literary society last evening at Close hall. The program consisted of the following numbers: Several piano selections from Chopin by Veria Walters A4 of Tipton; a reading, "Football," by Dorothy Chapmann A2 of Bonaparte; a reading, "The Laundry Girl," by Lois McAdow A2 of Webster City; a group of piano selections by Jessie M. Shirley A4 of Minburn.

SIX MEN CHOSEN FOR RIFLE MEET

Meets With West Virginia And North Dakota Are Events Of Week End

Kept running at all times of the day by marksmen firing against Oxford, West Virginia and North Dakota, the Iowa rifle gallery in the New Armory resembles a very busy place this week. On Thursday all other firing will be curtailed in order to allow the Iowa rifle team to fire their first international meet,—that with Oxford University, England. Due to the fact that the required range for the match is seventy-five feet and the gallery range in the Armory is only fifty feet, the assembly room will have to be used to make up the total distance. Of the ten men who are to fire against the Englishmen, eight have already been picked. These are: George Fabricius, R. Ballard, J. F. Phillips, D. W. Bray, R. C. Woods, Theo. Hartman, F. W. DeKlotz and P. Custer. The two other men will be chosen from a group of five sometime before Wednesday evening.

Other matches which will be fired this week-end are matches with the University of West Virginia and that of North Dakota. It might be interesting to note that the man in command of the R. O. T. C. unit at West Virginia is a brother of Col. M. C. Mumma of the Iowa unit.

The two rifle tournaments in which the Iowa teams are entered are being fired in stages and continue over a period of some weeks. This week in the seventh corps area tournament, Captain Martin's men are firing from the prone and kneeling positions and in the National Rifle Association tournament are firing from the prone position.

limited number of years and then we shall see a new city unlike the New York of the present day"

And here is the Baedaker's guide for New York of a hundred years hence as compiled by the commissioner himself:

Population—25,000. In 200 years, 45,000,000.

Battery to Fourteenth street—Storage and provision warehouses.

Fourteenth to Forty-second street—Manufacturing and wholesale buildings.

Fifty-ninth to 110th street—De luxe shopping district, Fifth avenue and the streets adjacent to Central park being the ultra fashionable shopping thoroughfares.

One Hundred and Tenth street—Additional shopping district. Many bridges will cross the Hudson in this area.

Residential—All of Westchester, all of Long Island and up to the state of Connecticut. There will be many concrete drawbridges over the East River leading into Long Island.

NAME SPEAKERS FOR UNIVERSITY FOUNDATION DAY

Jessup, Kuehnle And Wade To Appear On Birthday Program

Lieut-Gov. John Hammill, Mr. Carl F. Kuehnle, Judge Martin J. Wade, and Pres. Walter A. Jessup are the speakers for Iowa's seventy-sixth anniversary celebration announced yesterday by Prof. Forest C. Ensign chairman of the committee in charge of Foundation Day.

The University of Iowa will celebrate its seventy-sixth birthday on February 25 by a program in the afternoon at the men's gymnasium. The men's Glee Club will sing and the University band will play.

Judge William S. Kenyon has expressed the hope that he may be here to speak, said Professor Ensign. Lieutenant-governor John Hammill of Brit graduated from the college of law here in 1897. Carl F. Kuehnle B. A. '81, L. L. B. '82, M. A. '84 is a resident of Dennison and is a prominent alumnus of the University. He is best known in connection with the annual dinner which he and William O. Finkbine of Des Moines give for the leaders of campus organizations. Judge Martin J. Wade LL. B. '86 is a judge of the United States district court in Iowa, and lives in Iowa City.

Campus organizations will be asked to name their delegates to the Foundation Day exercises this week. Three to five delegates will represent every University and civic organization. These delegates will be given tickets for reserved seats. The general public will be admitted inasmuch as the capacity of the gymnasium permits.

Illini Registration Passes 7000 Mark; Shows Increase

GOTHAM BORDERS WILL BE CHANGED

Rush, Roar and Complexity Of New York Business Life To Increase

BY WILL JOHNSON
United News Staff Correspondent.

New York, Feb. 13.—A fairland of engineering—that will be New York one hundred years from now.

Innumerable bridges, express traffic hurtling through the subterranean tubes of their own, present day skyscrapers in the financial district converted into storehouses, the greater city stretching out into the 123-mile area of Long Island and on throughout Westchester county of New York state, and a population somewhere between 25,000,000 and 45,000,000.

According to Dr. John A. Harris, special deputy police commissioner of New York, in direct charge of the city's traffic problem, this is the city's future.

"New York is so large that we cannot hope to centralize or settle its activities or any of its commercial or residential sections with any degree of safety," Dr. Harris said. "It's phenomenal growth and expansion in a conservatively short period of time will be repeated within a

STUDENT DRIVE FOR IOWA UNION LAUNCHED SOON

Alumni Campaign Carried on During Spring Vacation By Commanders

The Iowa Memorial Union campaign among the students and members of the faculty in the University will be conducted between March 10 and 25 in order that to be completed before the students go home to spend the spring vacation. The campaign among the alumni out side of Iowa City will be conducted between March 29 and April 3, when students and faculty members will be available to assist in the work throughout the state, and will be able to explain the need of the Union building, the benefits to be derived from it and the plan of construction.

During the campaign, 166 division commanders will be needed to take command of the territories in and out of the state where Iowa Alumni live and where the campaign will be conducted. Letters have been sent to men in all the different districts explaining the plan of the coming campaign and asking them to take charge of the work in their own division. Twenty-six men have already accepted the position of division commander. Many who have found it impossible to take the responsibility have recommended other Iowa alumni who are prominent men in their communities and who are capable of making any project a success.

In "To the Alumni of Iowa", which will appear in the February number of the Iowa Alumnus, Col. Morton C. Mumma, campaign director, outlines the plan and need of the coming campaign, the meeting of the division commanders which will be vision commanders which will be held February 25 at the seventy-sixth founders day celebration, and the amount which he expects each to pledge. In the article he mentions the hospitals at the University, the schools and colleges which make up the University and the athletic teams and makes a plea to the alumni for their loyal support.

Personal letters have been sent out to all alumni of the University, and it has been suggested that local meetings be held at which well known speakers could aid in organizing the different groups.

HAWKEYES TO SWIM WITH ILLINI NEXT

Last Home Meet Will Be Saturday Night; Teams Seem To Be Well Matched

The last home meet of the season will be held in the men's pool Saturday night when the Iowa swimmers meet Illinois. Tickets for the meet are now on sale at Whetstone's and the Iowa Supply. "I" books are not good for the meet.

Bane and McCullough are still out on account of sickness. Bane will in all probability be unable to be out for the remainder of the season. McCullough is improving and will probably be able to compete in the meet although he will not be in the best condition. This will be a serious handicap for him as Bowen, the Illinois diver, is rated as one of the best in the conference. Last year Bowen took fourth at the conference meet. In the meet with Purdue last Saturday in which Illinois defeated Purdue 51 to 18, Bowen was given a rating of 106 in the dives which is almost a perfect score. McCullough was given a rating of 103 in the Northwestern meet. This should prove a close race between the two men.

This is the first time that Illinois has met Iowa in any aquatic sport. Comparative scores and times show that both teams are evenly matched. Although Illinois seems to be strongest in the plunges and dives yet their team as a whole is very well balanced being weak in no one event.

The Iowa swimmers have been having a hard workout since the Northwestern meet and are in much better shape than they were at that time. Gage, who swam last Saturday in the relay and dashes is fast getting into shape and should give a good account of himself.

The meet will start at 7:30 p. m., and will last until about 9 o'clock. Tickets will be sold at the door of the pool room. All seats are reserved. As usual only five hundred tickets will be sold on account of the limited seating capacity of the pool room.

Iowa Athletes Invited To Enter Handball Contest

All registered athletes residing in the state of Nebraska, Iowa, North Dakota and South Dakota are invited to participate in the handball championships of the amateur athletic union of the United States to be held under the auspices of Creighton University at Omaha, Nebraska, Friday and Saturday, March 23 and 24.

All contestants in the championships must be registered. Registration may be arranged with G. P. Wendell, chairman, registration committee of the mid-western association of the A. A. U., care of the Omaha Athletic club at Omaha. The fee for registration is 25 cents.

The fee for entry in each event will be 50 cents for each person. The entries will not be accepted unless accompanied by the fee, and likewise, the registration number of the contestant must be stated. The closing date for the entries is March 16, and none will be accepted after this time. The entries close with A. A. Schabinger, director of athletics at Creighton university.

Regulation solid gold and sterling silver mid-western amateur athletic union die medals will be awarded for the winners and runner-ups in both the singles and doubles events.

Entry blanks and other information may be obtained for those at Iowa university who are interested in the championships by applying at the men's gymnasium. G. T. Bresnahan, University of Iowa track coach, is a member of the handball championship committee.

HAWKEYE MATMEN TO MEET BADGERS

James Closely Matched With Templin, Wisconsin's Captain

When the Iowa wrestlers tangle with the Wisconsin team at Madison on February 24, two evenly matched teams will fight it out for the right to stay in the conference race. Iowa defeated Minnesota by a score of 25 to 4, while the Badgers were victors over the same team by a score of 24 to 8.

Probably the most interesting bout of the evening will be the one between James, Iowa's light-heavyweight, and Templin, captain of the Wisconsin team. James is one of the best wrestlers on the Hawkeye squad. He is a careful worker, and is rarely out of position. He worked out the other night with Coach Mike Howard and forced the big Dane all during the practice. Templin has won all of his matches this year.

In their matches against the Minnesota 175 pounder, the only matches which can be used to judge by, Templin threw Cantanzare in :11 James pinned the same man in :11-20 but the hold was said to have been illegal, and the Hawkeye wrestler was given only a decision. It is said that the Minnesota man gave up, but that the referee forgot to tell the judges. Both James and Templin seem evenly matched, and the one who wins should go far in the conference meet.

Heldt seems to have the advantage over Beiberstein of Wisconsin. Heldt threw his opponent in a little over two minutes; while the best of the Wisconsin heavyweight could do was to get a decision. The bout for 158 pound honors between Thom and Heuer should be another hard scrap. Heuer threw his Gopher opponent, while Thom only got a decision. Thom was behind most of the time and should have gotten falls several times.

Honors in the 145 pound class will probably go to the Badgers whose wrestler in that weight fought Brown of Minnesota to a draw. Brown won credit for a fall when Jacobsen of Iowa was forced to withdraw because of strained shoulder muscles. Peterson, Iowa's new man has been improving rapidly and with a little more experience will probably put up a good fight.

The Minnesota 135 pound wrestler threw Wisconsin's representative in :08. Lane, Hawkeye wrestler, threw the Minnesota man in approximately the same time, indicating apparently that Iowa should win that class. The same is more or less true of the 125 pound division. Gugisberg of Iowa threw the Minnesota man, while Wisconsin's featherweight won only a decision.

In the batonweight class however, a different situation faces Iowa. Wisconsin has a little Jap, Suzuki, who threw his opponent in a few seconds less time than did Pfeffer. This little Jap was used in the place of Phelps, regular 115 pounder who was unable to wrestle. Either one of these men have a good chance against Pfeffer.

The results of the meet will probably depend upon the amount of luck that goes to either team. Both squads will be in fine shape, as each has two weeks in which to prepare. Wisconsin is particularly anxious to see Templin win, as they are expecting to carry the Badger colors far in the conference meet. He must win from James if he expects to get in the meet.

New Palimpsest Has Interesting Tales Of Old Iowa Days

The February Palimpsest, a magazine published monthly by the State Historical Society of Iowa, is being mailed today. The Palimpsest, which is edited by John Ely Briggs, of the department of political science, is devoted to Iowa history, with the view of deciphering and reconstructing the stories of the past.

The Palimpsest this month contains three articles of much interest, "A Confederate Spy" by Bruce E. Mahan, "Ventures in Wheat" by J. M. P. Burrows, and the "Comment" by the editor, Professor Briggs.

The first article is an unusually interesting story of the experiences of a confederate spy, John Y. Beall who at one time sought and received refuge in the old Chew mansion at Cascadeville while recovering from a wound received from Union soldiers.

He was on his way to Canada to help in the execution of a campaign planned for the breaking down of the Union morale. The article tells of his recovery and his subsequent adventures, until his final capture, trial and hanging.

The second article, "Ventures in Wheat", is adapted for the Palimpsest from J. M. P. Burrows, "Fifty Years in Iowa", and relates in detail the speculation of the firm Burrows and Prettyman in 1845 at Davenport. It tells of the collapse in prices after the U. S. declared war on Mexico, the advance when the scare was over, and of other fluctuations, caused by the events of that period, ending with the final bankruptcy of Burrows and Prettyman, as a result of the fall of Sebastopol, and the end of the war in Europe.

The last article, "The Materials of History" by the editor, depicts the way in which a historian has to select and fit together small facts and incidents, to construct finally a connected story.

French Urge Withdrawal of British Troops As Bonar Law Objects

(By United News)
London, Feb. 14—Great Britain and France, with relations growing increasingly strained, are on the eve of a showdown concerning the Ruhr occupation.

Emissaries of Premier Poincare, M. Le Troquer, Minister of public works, and General Payot, are to confer with Premier Bonar Law tomorrow.

Ostensibly the mission of the French officials is to seek permission to utilize the railroads of the British zone on the Rhine which has already been bluntly refused by the British government.

However, the United News learns, that broader and more fundamental issues will be discussed. It is believed that France will inform the London government that the attitude of benevolent neutrality of Britain is tantamount to a policy of obstruction inasmuch as according to the French, the Germans are making Cologne in the British area, a headquarters for their campaign of passive resistance.

Thus France wants Britain to cooperate fully in her Ruhr experiment or remove all restraint, the latter alternative being interpreted to mean the evacuation of the British army of occupation.

Withdrawal of British soldiery, Premier Bonar Law has warned, would mean the breaking of the last thread that now holds the entente.

The Lloyd Georgian and Asquithian liberals in the House of Commons have agreed on a united front in opposition to the address made by King George at the opening of Parliament today.

School of Music Presents Students In Recital Feb. 16

The University School of Music will present a number of its students in recital Friday, February 16, at 4 o'clock, in the liberal arts assembly room. An interesting program will be given including piano, violin, vocal, and cello selections. Past recitals have been so popular that the recital hall in the school of music proved quite inadequate to seat all who attended, and so this program and those of the future will be given in the liberal arts assembly room. No admission is charged and all interested in music are invited. The program for the recital tomorrow afternoon is as follows: Fantasia d minor by Mozart, Delia Larson; "Berceuse" from "Jocelyn" by Godard; Walter Potter; Prelude, op 28 no 15 by Chopin, Helen Criley; Polonaise, a major by Chopin, Lela Wolfe; "O Would That My Love" by Mendelssohn, Esther Dyke and Mary Brown; first Movement from Sonata op 10 no 1 by Beethoven, Dorothy Holdoegel; "Melodie" by Massenet, Lydia Pless; March of the Dwarfs by Grieg, Lillian Thompson; "Cannonetta" by Schuett, Alberta Huff; "Country Gardens" by Grainger, Alice Weeber; "Il mio ben quando verra" by Paisiello, Helen Orcutt; "The Lark" by Clinka-Balakirew, Edith Ellswood; "By the Sea" by Schubert-Liszt, Marie Gerlits; "My Heart at They Sweet Voice" from "Samson and Dalila" by Saint-Saens, son.

Martha Althaus; Third movement from Sonata op 31 no 3 by Beethoven Ethelyn Rehmet; Allegro from Concerto, no 7 by de Beriot, John William Scott; First Movement from Sonata op 53 by Beethoven, Jessie Culver; "Black Roses" by Sibelius, and "Rain" by Curran, Florence Kings; Fantasia, c minor by Mozart, Florence Henry; Scherzo, f sharp major by D'Albert, Doloras Johnson.

MORE TO BE DONE

"Do you not see that so long as society says a woman has not brains enough to be a lawyer, a doctor, or a minister, but has ample brains to be a teacher, that every man of you who condescends to teach school, tacitly acknowledges, before all Israel and the sun, that he hasn't any more brains than a woman!" interrupted Susan B. Anthony eighty years ago at a New York teacher's convention, when the debate as to why teachers were not as respected as other professional men grew aimless. Those were her first words in defense of women's rights. They were both pointed and sarcastic, and for the next fifty years she fought a campaign for equal suffrage with words equally to the point. Today, on the one hundred and third, anniversary of her birth, the woman who respects her own recently acquired rights under the nineteenth amendment, should remember this pioneer suffragist.

It was Susan B. Anthony who was arrested in 1872 for casting her vote for president. The court fined her for illegal voting; the fine has never been paid. Until her death in 1906 she fought her uphill campaign for equal rights for women with a logic that men could not answer and an earnestness that carried conviction. She has made the title, reformer, a subject for honor, not caricature.

Even now that the suffrage is guaranteed to women by the nineteenth amendment to the constitution, Susan B. Anthony's indomitable spirit, were she alive today, would not rest content until equal legal and economic rights had been gained as well. This woman, school teacher, abolitionist, temperance worker, suffragist, has set movements into action that are not yet ended. There is still plenty of poppycock about woman's physical and mental inferiority, her divinely ordered submission to man. Its most dangerous lingering place is not in the minds of men, but in the minds of women themselves, who tamely believe and suffer under these medieval masculinities. Some of Susan B. Anthony's insistence, and belief, and proof of her own equality is still needed among the women of today.

USELESS EDUCATIONS?

"American colleges need, not more students, but better students," a recent editorial in the Chicago American declared. The writer in his bigotry stated that many persons now in college will not get enough benefit from their educations to repay them for the sacrifice of time and money. He begins by saying that some people always have been farmers, and always will be farmers, and that a college education for them is a waste of money.

This writer draws a sharp line of distinction between a college and a high school education. He seems to view a college as a place to specialize in certain things only. He overlooks the fact that a liberal arts course is broader and more inclusive than a high school course, although it is only general, and not specialized. The value of a college education varies with different persons, but everyone gets benefits that outweigh the time spent. A farmer, as this writer applies the term, gets more good from such a course than any other class of men. It broadens his views, and makes him capable of complete self-realization. The scientific knowledge and the broadened outlook help him to become, not a country rustic, but a country gentleman, and to raise the cultural stage of his profession.

A man who starts out in business today without a college education, is starting out, usually, at an immature age, and is trying to compete in his youth with college trained men who understand methods better, and who have scientific knowledge behind them. Surely this writer would not dispute the practical advantage of such studies as chemistry, botany, geology, philosophy, English, mathematics, accounting, book-keeping, and similar work! The mere fact that the man who has mastered them goes from college to a farm does not mean that his education is wasted. In the past few years farming and such industries have been practically revolutionized by means of scientific knowledge, applied by college educated men. If a higher education had been denied them, much of this advancement would not have come.

A man or woman who goes through the regular four-year college course, graduates at the age of 21 or 22 usually, the proper age to begin fighting one's own battles, completely equipped. This four year period has not been wasted, for it is a part of his growing-up, his preparation for standing alone. And it makes no difference what a man intends to do, his college education amply repays its purchase price. The man who imagines that college students are wasting their time if they do not end up as Wall Street financiers, is shortsighted, he overlooks the general application and the advancements incited by college study.

The Sounding Board

PROBLEM FOR ENGINEERS

Explain how Iowa City was laid out so that both resident lots and streets should drain onto the sidewalks.

How come that the water, once collected, never runs off, but stays there until it freezes?

Having determined these answers, you will know exactly how not to bring a new city addition to grade.

"MEN'S FASHIONS"

Do you ever read A. T. Gallico's little dissertations which are published daily in some of the metropolitan papers under the above heading? We must confess to perusing them occasionally (although we disclaim any intent to profit by the author's hints to snappy dressers). Every once in a while we run across something amusing. For example:

"Mr. Valentino was telling me the other day that he had worn a white waistcoat with his dinner coat for ten years over here, and at least three years on the other side."

This struck us as very funny, but for fear our readers may miss the point of the jest (as they have been known to do on occasion) we append the following explanation:

Considerably less than ten years ago Rodolf was working as gardener's helper or 'handy man' on the country estate of Cornelius N. Bliss Jr.

SPORTS NOTE

Notre Dame awarded only 28 football letters this year.

No wonder time seems to drag; no wonder the weeks seem so long. "Feb. 12-26 Will Be Observed by Banks as Thrift Week," according to a headline in the Iowan.

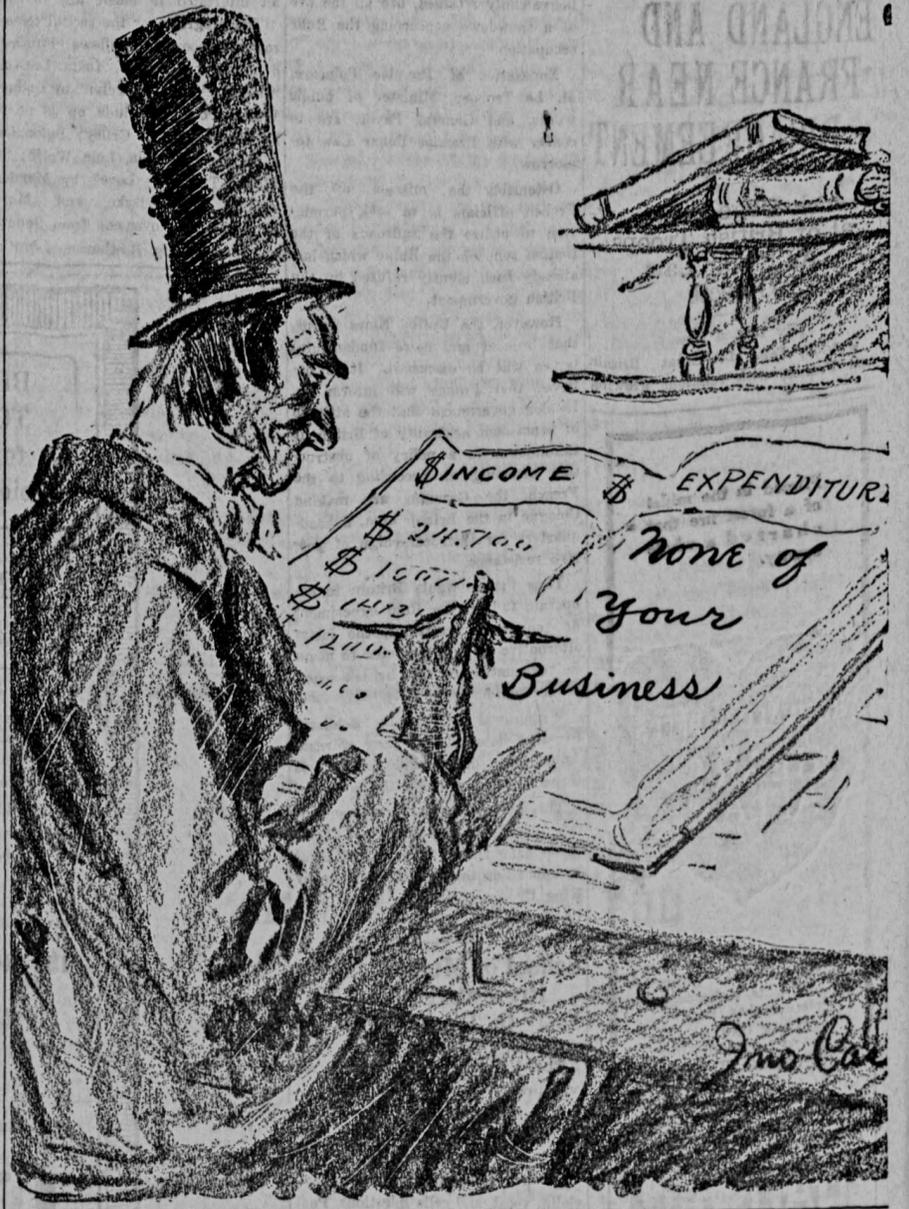

While we consider the above a rather good example of head-writing art, we should not place it in the same class with this gem:

"200 W. A. A. Women Will Be Repeated Tonight at Englert Theatre."

The success of our venture into the valentine business (as evidenced by the fact that so far no one has tried to shoot us) has encouraged us to prepare an illustrated article which we modestly claim to be unique. It should be of interest to every undergraduate and many faculty members. The cut for the illustration is now at the engravers' and should be ready for publication before the end of the week.

The price of the Iowan will nevertheless remain 3 cents.

SEVENTEEN.

OUR LIBRARY

By a Librarian

To the Editor:

In this open letter we wish to kindly but firmly disagree with some remarks recently made in these columns by L. A. S. concerning the librarians, and to show how he has opened up an all important question. After all, his remarks were not so rabid as they at first appeared to be. Everything may have gone wrong throughout the day, and some library incident seemed the last straw. That same night he probably growled about the boarding house menu and groaned over the class room methods of some "dry-as-dust" professor. (Since we are human, we can understand.) But, in this, we acknowledge the foresight of L. A. S.; he has brought before us some phases of our library situation.

We are quite certain that even L. A. S. would agree that the librarians are the vital force in the reading room. Their place, as that of any public servant, is no easy niche to fill. They must answer peculiar questions; they must tactfully refuse to permit a student to carry off a general reference book, and they must take innumerable steps to find out whether a book is out or has been lost. These are some of the absurd questions which have been put to librarians: "May I get the old Norse story of the Bay Wolf?" Our instructor asked us to read Darwin's Oranges and Peaches; I want a play by Shakespeare; please get me the big red book I used last night." To be sure, these requests are more amusing and less trying than are other minor problems. Some instructor may have assigned a special lesson; there is but one copy of the book; in order to pick out leading questions, the instructor has had the book at his office; he has forgotten to return the book to the library. It is almost impossible, under the circumstances, to make the students believe that the librarians, for unknown reasons, are not willfully secluding the book. When there are but a few copies of an important or interesting volume, they are often out, and some of them never get back. The librarian, in order to know whether the book called for is in, must take the number slip; go to the stacks and search through the shelves; if he cannot find the book, he must return and go through the filed cards. To repeat these steps of search dozens of times a day for impatient and hurried students quite naturally might result in the tired expression about which L. A. S. remarked.

The prevailing library conditions would clog any plan of efficiency. If your stack's permit allows you to go behind the scenes, you will see how the book shelves rise tier upon tier to the ceiling. To get a book from the upper shelves, a librarian must climb a tall ladder and perch precariously near the top; he must manipulate a light with one hand and extricate the book with the other. Quite often, the unshelved books on the window ledges must be consulted before the desired copy is found. The growing number of university students does not find a comparative increase in the group of librarians to meet the situation. Around examination and vacation times, the book demand on the librarians is so great that the assistants find little or no time in which to shelve books. Down in the narrow and dark catacombs under the general reading room, the conditions are even more trying and time taking. What if the student at the desk does have to wait a few minutes; the librarian probably is having no easy search in the quest for the book that can not be found. In these statements, we are not making a plea principally for the librarians; they are their own defense; but we are trying to make clear some of our library conditions.

There is nothing, at present, which this university needs so much as a well-equipped, separate building to house our library. The present location is in borrowed rooms loaned to the library through the courtesy of administrative officers of the Natural Science building. Think what the suspension of library activity for one week would mean in the work of the average university student. And yet, the library is functioning under cramped and hampered circumstances. During general study hours a student finds it almost impossible to locate an occupied seat. Research students have no special nook in which to work as they have in most universities. Departmental libraries and special collections which should be united in one place are located in different buildings over the campus. There are hundreds of valuable books, at present which can be of no use to students and instructors, packed in out of the way places because of the lack of shelf space. In these and in other ways our library is being kept from its proper expansion and from its privilege of service. Since our library is so vital to student life and to research existence, it is time for us to speak out and to tell of its urgent necessities, and to work for its fullest development.

Former A. T. O. Lot To Be Sold; House Probably Rebuilt

The property upon which the Alpha Tau Omega house, destroyed by fire in December, was situated is to be sold probably was announced by W. E. Schneider, Iowa City business man and owner of the Clinton Street property, today. What remains of the house is being rapidly cleared away. The foundation will be left standing and the cellar will not be filled up, because the prospective buyer will doubtless build upon the lot in the near future.

Ever since the fire which left them without a home, the majority of A. T. O. men have been living in rented rooms around town. Those of them who are members of professional fraternities have gone to their houses and a few are living in rented rooms around town. Those of them who are members of professional fraternities have gone to their houses and a few are living at the Triangle Club.

The A. T. O's are planning to build in the spring.

FORMER UNIVERSITY MAN PRACTICING IN ARIZONA

Norman L. Wicks of Davenport, Iowa, has recently been admitted to practice before the bar of the Arizona Supreme Court.

Mr. Wicks is a graduate of St. Ambrose College, attending the University of Iowa in 1918, and received his LL. B. at the University of Arizona last month. He is a nephew of Mrs. A. J. Darner of Iowa City.

NAME SLIPS FOR HOP ARE DRAWN

All Freshmen Girls Are Invited To Leap; Uperclass Women Arrange Programs

Names of freshmen women may be drawn again today at the entrance to liberal arts classroom by upperclass women who will act as escorts to the Co-Ed hop. The dance, sponsored by Women's Association and the Y. W. C. A., will be given at Varsity Hall, February 17, from 2:30 to 5 p. m. This affair will replace the regular Saturday afternoon dance for both men and women. Varsity orchestra will play for the dancing.

Any freshman woman whose name is not drawn and who does not receive a special invitation is welcome to attend. More than three hundred name slips have been prepared.

"One aim of the party is to help freshmen women become better acquainted," says Jessie Phillips A2 of Iowa City, chairman for the Y. W. C. A. "All upperclass women are asked to co-operate with both organizations to make the party a success."

After the upperclass woman has drawn a name, registered, and received two dance programs, she is expected to make definite arrangements as to time and place of meeting. The upperclass student is also responsible for filling the dance programs.

"No trades for the seventh dance" is the announcement of Geneva Pillars A4 of Iowa City, committee chairman. "This is to be a feature dance and a prize will be given to the winning couple."

Valentine decorations will be used and refreshments served. The chaperons for the afternoon are Miss see webster for chaperons—intel. op. Alvilda Buck, general Y. W. C. A. secretary, and Miss Bessie Joiner. The committee in charge of arrangements is composed of Verda James A3 of Boone, Geneva Pillars A4 of Iowa City, Jessie Phillips A3 of Iowa City, Salome Fisher A4 of Iowa City and Margaret Murrison A4 of Brooklyn.

BESS TO HAWAII TO ACCEPT POSITION

Douglas L. Bess Au of St. Paul, Minn., left yesterday for Honolulu, Hawaii, where he has accepted a position as associate field director of camp service with the American Red Cross. Mr. Bess attended Iowa University one semester in 1917, but left his studies to enlist in the army. During his four years' absence he saw service in Siberia, China, Japan, the Philippines, Hawaii and several army camps in this country. He will continue his liberal arts work through the University extension department.

His father, E. A. Bess, president of Macalester college in St. Paul, was formerly counsel for Presbyterian students at S. U. I. He refused his son admittance to his college, as he believed that if he showed him the same consideration that he gave other ex-service men, people would accuse him of favoritism.

Candy Replaces Flowers For Gifts On Valentine Day

Both outgoing and incoming Valentine mails were considerably decreased this year as compared to the previous year, said Mr. W. H. Bailey, superintendent of mails, yesterday. This does not necessarily prove that St. Valentine's day has lost its sentiment for college youths and maidens, as florists and confectioners report the usual number of Valentine flower and candy sales. But evidently university men are adopting the "giving valentines begins at home" slogan and they have accordingly sent their heart offerings to Iowa City addresses.

"More candy and less flowers have gone out in the mails, due perhaps to the present frosty snap," said Mr. Bailey, "though I have notices that candy is beginning to replace flowers to a great extent, on every occasion."

The large fancy envelopes, enclosing elaborate lace valentines, which used, in former years, to go to the home town girl are conspicuously absent. The few of those which are still handled, are all addressed to children.

REPORT TURKS ARE VIOLATING MUDAMIA PACT

English Decide To Pay No Attention To Latest Turk Ultimatum

(By United News)

Athens, Feb. 13.—The Near Eastern situation has grown somewhat more menacing with the information reaching here, openly violating the terms of the Mudamia armistice and reiterating to the allies that warships of the entente must be out of the Smyrna harbor in three days.

These two direct violations of the Mudamia agreement have occurred according to reports.

1. Concentration of war materials and troops in the region of Ismid and the Dardanelles.

2. Mobilization of 35,000 Moslem soldiers in Eastern Thrace.

Furthermore, it is reported that the Turks plan to use 8,000 Bulgarian gendarmes to augment their forces in Eastern Thrace. The Soviet Government, advises reaching here state, has sent large supplies of munitions to the Eastern Thrace.

While these developments are causing grave concern to the allies they have determined to let the latest Turkish ultimatum concerning ships in the Smyrna harbor go unheeded.

The Mudamia pact, drawn up by the allies and signed by the Turks after much blustering provided that Turkey should respect the neutral zone of the Dardanelles and send only 8,000 gendarmes into Eastern Thrace.

The Greek government today notified Turkey of its intention to expel Turks from Greece if the expulsion of Greeks from Asia Minor was not stopped.

One thousand five hundred Greeks without means of support have arrived here after fleeing before the Turks.

ORGANIZE CLUB NOT TO MARRY CO-EDS

College Women Ostracized By Wisconsin's New Organization

Madison, Wis., Feb. 14.—That an organization of male students pledged against marrying college women is soon to be established on the campus became apparent recently during an interview with several prominent students in the junior and senior classes.

The students, all of them of marriageable age, requested that their names be withheld from publication for the present. They desire to sound out the general sentiment on the campus before completing the organization of the society which will be known as the "Society for the Welfare of Male Students."

Don't Want Co-Eds

The organization is intended primarily to influence men in the university against choosing a woman student for a wife, one of the leaders in the movement said yesterday.

"A number of us who are nearly ready for graduation and who have taken an active stand in university social life since coming to Madison have concluded that women students are not of the type that make for the best home building. The home to result in divorce or unhappy home relations."

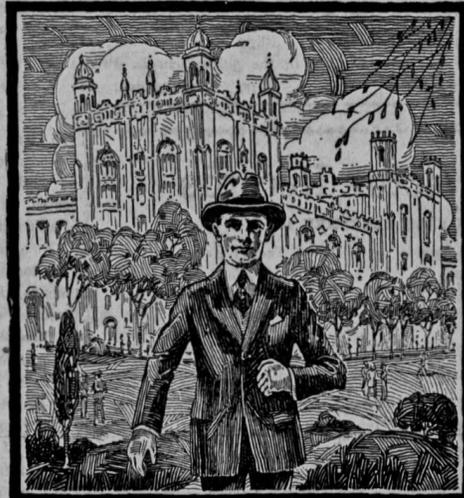

Are Against "Tux" Parties The society expects to accomplish other reforms on the campus, according to a second student interested in the matter.

"We are strongly against the many "tux" parties which have been given by sororities this year," he said. "Some sororities have given nothing is the foundation of our country; it is clearly the duty of every college man to frown upon marriages likely but such parties since school opened. If a sorority girl does not live at the house or within a short distance of it, her partner is forced to rent a taxi for the occasion. After a few dances of this nature the expenses begin to mount considerably.

To the Class of 1923: A Message of Vital Importance

COMMENCEMENT days are not far off. They will be here sooner than you realize. But after graduation what's ahead of you? In a few years some of your class will be influential leaders occupying positions of great responsibility; others will be placed in minor roles—living from hand to mouth. Thus far you have made a splendid investment of your time. What will the returns be?

Have you chosen business for your life's work? If so, and if you seek leadership in the commercial world, here are facts worthy of your deepest consideration.

The principles of leadership in business are not many in number. They are not hard to grasp. Yet less than two men in one hundred ever learn them.

The two chief reasons for this failure are: (1)—lack of an all-round business experience. (2)—the difficulty of drawing sound conclusions from the relatively few experiences that any one person can have.

A Study of Leaders

Through your studies thus far you have created for yourself a substantial background a foundation upon which you can build high. Why not use this foundation in the largest possible way? If you are truly ambitious for steady and permanent progress, it will be well for you—in addition to your undergraduate work to consider the advisability of special training which will cut off years of apprenticeship in the business world. This training is available at the Babson Institute—an educational institution organized under the laws of Massachusetts not for profit.

Every man who hopes to be a leader in the business world needs special training—a training that can be had only from actual experience. A study of the successful business men of today shows they are those who have—(1)—a fundamental knowledge of business principles; (2)—a faculty for the practical application of these principles to daily business life.

These tried and proven principles, this gift for application may now be yours.

The Business of Learning Business

The specialists of the Babson Institute have spent years in business research, laboratory work, and the study of the lives of successful men. They have arrived at the fundamentals which every one must have to achieve leadership in business. These vitally important facts have been put together in clear, understandable form and concentrated into an intensive one-year training course, Babson Institute, an endowed educational institution, is conducted for the purpose of training young men who are to occupy positions of responsibility and trust.

The Laboratory Method

Since it is the purpose of the Babson Institute Course to train men for business, all work and all study is conducted in the same manner as work is conducted in any regularly established business house. For instance, there are regular office hours not merely school hours. Lessons and reports are dictated by the student as in an office—not written. Thus the student acquires a mastery of business English and the ability to transform quickly his thoughts into definite form.

Teaching in Conference

Classes are conducted on the conference plan. The teachers, or directors as they are more properly called, are experienced business men, successful in their own line. Factory inspection trips are not long distance walking matches, but personally conducted tours by experts in that particular industry. The problems discussed are present-day ones and are drawn from actual experience. They are the same problems on which over 17,000 of America's keenest executives are seeking aid and solution from the largest organization of business advisers in the world. The student at Babson Institute works on actual cases—not hypothetical problems—and consequently he develops the business man's point of view.

Business Clinics

The student at the Babson Institute learns to do the things he will be expected to do in business by constant contact with actual business procedure. He participates in the clinic instead of sitting in a class. The training covers the four major divisions of business, Manufacturing and Production, Financing, Distribution and Marketing, and Management. If you are anxious for achievement, if by inheritance or initiative, you seem destined to become one of our leaders of business, send for particulars about this training and its unusual teaching methods.

Send for this Booklet!

"Training for Business Leadership" describes the courses in detail, and gives complete information of the facilities of Babson Institute. You will learn of the practical methods peculiar to this institution by which men are fitted without loss of time for executive positions. No obligation.

CRAIG TO TALK TO TEACHERS OF ENGLISH HERE

Four Iowa Professors To Lecture; Piper To Discuss "Home-made Pottery"

Four professors of English of the University will appear on the program of the conference of secondary school teachers of English and Speech that is to be held here on February 23 and 24 under the auspices of the University Extension Division, in the liberal arts auditorium, the college of education and the departments of English and speech cooperating.

Professor Hardin Craig, head of the department of English, will talk on the academic life in various foreign countries which he has recently visited. Prof. M. F. Carpenter, instructor of English, will speak on the results of experiments in the teaching of ninth grade English. These results have been obtained by students in the course 131, the Teaching of English, the work having been done by the entire class. Prof. J. H. Scott, assistant professor of English will present the results of recent research work. Prof. E. F. Piper, associate professor English, who has become well known as a poet, will use for his subject "Home Made Poetry."

Besides the local speakers, the program has scheduled five men from away, who are prominent in the field of education. They include: C. H. Ward, of Watertown, Connecticut; Stewart G. Noble, head of the department of education at Millsaps College, Jackson, Miss.; Charles H. Willbert, professor of Speech, University of Illinois; Frederick H. Bair, superintendent of Schools, Colorado Springs, Col.; R. L. Lyman, of the school of Education, University of Chicago.

Secondary school teachers from all over the state will attend the conference. The sessions, which will be held morning, afternoon and evening of Friday, and morning and afternoon of Saturday, are open. Students of English and Speech are urged to attend, especially students majoring in those departments. All those who attend the conference are requested to sign registration cards at the entrance to the liberal arts assembly hall. There will be no registration fee.

The program is:—

BORAH SUGGESTS COURT FOR WORLD

Recommends Body Modeled After Supreme Court of United States

(By United News)

Washington, Feb. 14—Senator Borah has again tackled the chaotic international situation by proposing a world court similar to that advocated by President Harding in his presidential campaign.

In a resolution offered in the senate today, the Idaho senator recommends that war be outlawed as a method of adjusting international differences, and that a new code of international law and a world court modeled after the supreme court of the United States, be instituted.

The court would have the same power of enforcement "as our federal supreme court, namely the respect of all enlightened nations for judgment resting on open and fair investigation and impartial decision and the compelling power of enlightened public opinion."

Furthermore, all nations should be encouraged to enter into treaties obligating each to "indict and punish its own international war breeders or instigators and war profiteers."

There is little chance that this resolution will be accepted at this session, but it will serve as a vehicle for discussion once more of the international question.

Borah is acting in the face of apparent apathy toward conditions in Europe. Neither President Harding nor Secretary of State Hughes appear to have any more than an academic interest in what is transpiring across the Atlantic.

PRASE MATT FOR GLEE CLUB MEET

Iowa Man Sponsored Western Organization Of Men's Glee Clubs

Credit for the establishment of the Western Association of Collegiate Men's Glee Clubs, which sponsored the competitive concert held recently in Orchestra Hall, Chicago, is freely given to Hubert H. Matt L3 of Iowa City, by the president of the association, Prof. Robert Stevens, director of the men's glee club of the University of Chicago. Professor Stevens prefaced announcement of the judges' decision following the concert by acknowledging the debt owed Mr. Matt by the association and commending him for his tireless work in promoting its organization.

The idea of forming an association in the middle west similar to the eastern association of glee clubs, which annually brings the clubs of the largest universities together in competition upon the same program, first presented itself to Mr. Matt in January 1922, upon his reading an editorial in the Daily Iowan relative to the contest held in New York. He conferred with Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the school of music, who acquainted him with the work of the eastern organization, and with Dr. Clapp's approval drafted a letter urging the establishment of such an association of glee clubs in the middle west.

These letters were sent to the managers or directors of all the clubs of the Big Ten universities and the hope was entertained that competition among these schools might be brought out in music as well as in athletics. Four of the Big Ten did not reply or evidence any interest in the plan, however, and were dropped from further consideration.

In May 1921 a representative from the eastern association was in Chicago, and there met with delegates from the six Big Ten schools who favored development of Matt's proposed organization. At this time several smaller schools whose interest was unquestioned and whose clubs were notable in the middle west were invited to membership in the association.

At a later meeting in Chicago, in September, a constitution was adopted and permanent officers elected. Mr. Matt was unable to attend and declined to hold office in the new organization as a result of having entered the law school and left the Iowa glee club. He was represented by J. West Townsend A3 of Garwin. Plans were laid for the contest held recently with such success before four thousand of the friends and alumni of the twelve schools whose clubs entered the competition.

Speaking of his interest in the association and its annual competitive concert, Mr. Matt said:

"My aim was to provide some big incentive to bring the men of vocal talent in the universities to try out for the glee club. A chance to go to Chicago to sing in Orchestra Hall in competition with other excellent clubs is a thing worth working for. The men turn out with that chance in mind and remain regular in attendance and loyal in interest. I think the success of the plan is proved by this year's glee club here at Iowa, which is better than any club of recent years."
