GLENN FRANK WAS AN ACTIVE STUDENT

Distinguished Himself in Debate and Forensics

Glenn Frank, who will deliver a The Daily Illini's address on March 15, was a prominent student in both his college and high school. He was described as a "fine and promising student" by President W. A. B. Buehler, a member of the board of directors on the school's athletic team. He was also a member of the Phi Kappa Phi fraternity.

Frank graduated from Northwestern University in 1912 and later joined the University of Chicago as Professor Merry's assistant. He was known for his active participation in campus affairs and will continue to do so at the University of Iowa.

A group of over two hundred students made up the working organization which has helped in preparing the Spring Meet. The University is planning to make this year's Spring Meet the most successful one to date.

While in New Zealand, Prof. Merry visited some of the leading universities and universities. At the University of Otago, he met with the students and conducted a debate on the topic of "The Future of the University." The debate was well attended and was well received.

Fashionable Hats for Spring Wear

Included are dress hats, street hats, and hats for sports wear in black, purple, beige, tan, dull blue, and all other new soft colors, made up of the latest French hair cloths, fine Japan bemp, and other fancy straw, adorned with silks, ropes, ribbons, tassels, flowers—really, it is impossible to describe them here with justice.

This is a truly most exquisite selection of smart, new French models for spring wear. Some of these hats were especially purchased for this event, and have just arrived from New York yesterday; others are reduced, for Saturday only, from our regular higher priced stocks previously marked to $12.50. All are however the very latest thing, far ahead of anything being shown elsewhere in Cedar Rapids, and the price is such that others will not even attempt to equal it.

The Boarding House

There was a lassie of the famous fencing school. Her actions were rather erratic. She still retained the essence of her activities and was always ready for action. She was a presence to be reckoned with. She had a way of appearing at the most unexpected times and places, and her presence was always felt.

The Boarding House was a place where one could always count on finding a friend or a foe. It was a place of mystery and intrigue, where the past and present came together in a dance of shadows and light. The Boarding House was a place of secrets, where the truth lay hidden, waiting to be discovered.

The Boarding House was a place of transition, where the old gave way to the new and the new became the old. It was a place of change, where the past and present met in a battle of wills, and the outcome was uncertain.

The Boarding House was a place of dreams and nightmares, where the mind could wander freely and the spirit could soar. It was a place of beauty and darkness, where the heart could be broken and the soul could be made whole.

The Boarding House was a place of mystery and magic, where the impossible became possible and the ordinary became extraordinary. It was a place of wonder and delight, where the imagination knew no bounds and the impossible became real.

Cedar Rapids Win; Points Alone Enough to Put Myers, Hampton, Tied for Second.

Saturday, February 2, 1928

The Cedar Rapids baseball team scored two points against Blue Grinnell, breaking five hurdles in the indoor track meet Wednesday night.

The work of Groth of Le Mars, Iowa, and Myers of Hampton, Iowa, was outstanding from their school records. Groth broke last year's indoor record of 6:4 in 4:4.6.5 of 100 yards. Myers nearly equalled the record set last year for 400 yards, shaving 0.055 of a second off the record.

The relay team, led by Groth and Myers, tied for first place with New York City, 2:13.3, in the indoor track meet.

The track team is now preparing for a trip to Blue Grinnell where they will meet in a few days with some of the most prominent track men of the state.

All IMPORTS TO RUHR MAY BE CUT OFF

France Plans Draastic Move To Be Used Only As Last Resort

(By Gabriel News)

Paris, Feb. 14--France is ready to play its trump card--naming all imports into the Ruhr--unless Germany does not put an end to the strikes. The move would be the most drastic move in the area, since France-Belgium has been under the heel of the industrialists. Furthermore, the British government and the inhabitants of the occupied part of the Ruhr would feel the effect of such an exchange.

The French and Belgians, it was stated, would not apply this stern measure of coercive action in a war crisis, owing to the fact that the policy of the buns has been consistent in the interest of the workers. France, Sweden and other neutrals are largely exporters of coal to the Ruhr, and, in the opinion of the French, bringing pressure to bear on the German government if their market was excluded off the Ruhr.

It was unofficially stated that the exchange policy would serve to bring Germany to terms quicker than any other plan.

COMMERCE STUDENTS TO OPEN EMPLOYMENT BUREAU ON MONDAY

Although seniors in other colleges where they go in the near future, commerce students need only to step into the employment office, which has been developed by the commerce club and to find a job with the help of these qualifies. This bureau will be conducted under the auspices of the commerce club with the following officers: Leslie H. Schubert, chairman of Demers, manager; and William B. Boes, graduate student of Fort Madison, secretary and treasurer. A fee of 15c will be charged for the service of the bureau, which will be handed in room 204 A, from three to four o'clock daily.

This bureau is unique in that it is conducted and operated by the students themselves. A circle of service has been established before the present semester. The business training obtained by students is something the bureau has been invaluable and has been encouraged by numerous men. The commerce college is dedicated to hav-
