MENS GYM
Elementary And Pre-Schools Say They Have Had Healthy Winter

Contrary to the reports that in recent years the cold wave has been an unusually severe one, the Elementary and Pre-schools have had a much lower proportion of cases of colds and the like this year than any year in the past, according to the officers of the department of health.

The suddenness of the cold wave and the rapidity with which it spread throughout the State was commented upon by Dr. F. H. Gage, president of the State University.

The children in the Pre-schools were observed carefully by the health officers, and in most cases improved rapidly after being put to bed and a few days of rest. The health officers also noted a decided increase in the number of cases of pneumonia, and the disease was found to be more prevalent than usual in children over the age of five years.

It is recommended that all children be kept indoors when the weather is cold, and that parents be especially careful to see that their children are properly clothed.

The health officers also noted a decided improvement in the number of cases of colds and the like in the Elementary schools, and the children were observed to be more active and cheerful than usual.

The improvement in the health of the children is attributed to the fact that the schools have been kept open, and that the children have been kept indoors when the weather has been cold.
