COWBOY POET TO SPEAK HERE NEXT TUESDAY

Badger Clark, Western Writer, Will Read His Own Poems

Iowa is to be visited by Badger Clark, America's cowboy poet, Tuesday night, March 13, when he will give a lecture and a reading of his own poems in the natural science auditorium. His lecture is to be "Sun and Saddle Leather", which is the title of one of his best books of collected verse.

Although Badger Clark is called the "Cowboy poet from the Black Hills country", he is an Iowan, having been born in Albia, Iowa, in 1883. He moved to Dakota when he was about a year old and has lived there ever since on sheep and cattle ranches.

Poems Are Romantic

Clark has thoroughly imbued the atmosphere and the romance of the West and his poems have a swing and are as indicative of life in the West as Service's poems are of the north. Clarke's "Oregon Trial" has the same appeal that the "Youkon Trial" has. W. T. Hornaday, the famous naturalist, said of him:

"The Sun and Saddle Leather poet has taken hold of me. I've seen many poems come out of the wild portions of the West but these are the best. They are real poetry."

Badger Clarke is a frontiersman and, essentially, a man of the out-of-doors. His knowledge of cowboy life is first hand. He puts it into his poems with a swing of rhythm that sings itself into a musical verse. He puts the experiences of his western life into his lectures and tells about them in an interesting manner. He intersperses his lectures with readings from his own poems.

His Best Works

The poet's best known works are "Grass Grown Trails", "Sun and Saddle Leather" and "The Oregon Trail". His books of verse are illustrated with actual photographs of his cowboy life. They are artistically arranged snaps of actual western scenes. Among the best is a picture of a great herd of sheep feeding on the Western plains, a wonderful panorama of the bad lands, and the scene of a buffalo hunt. Under the latter picture is a quotation from one of his best poems.

Preps Hold Annual All-Night Vigil For Jubilee Reservations

Working in two hour shifts, a horde of fraternity pledges spent Tuesday night at the door to the Iowa Supply Company intent on reservations for the Law Jubilee which is to be given Tuesday night.

According to those who profess to know something of the Law Jubilee the results were more than successful. All seats were gone by 10 o'clock yesterday.

Two hour shifts were made at various times during the night when brothers relieved each other of their nocturnal vigil. Everything was reasonably peaceful until about two o'clock when the ever-lengthening line was asked by one of the cops to refrain from the disturbance of the remainder of the public. The line then moved across the street in front of liberal arts where they remained until the Supply Company was opened at 7:30.

In the general confusion one com-manged to wriggle into one of the leading positions at the head of the line, and to the surprise of all she was allowed to remain.

University High Wins First Game At District Meet

Fairfield, Ia. Special to Daily Iowan—University high won its first game at the Fairfield southeastern Iowa tournament last night when the little Hawks won from Monroe by a score of 37 to 22. Monroe was supposed to have one of the best teams in the tournament.

Other scores:
Oskaloosa 18, Ottumwa 12.
Centerville 40, Olds 23.

IOWA RUNNERS OFF FOR MEET WITH ILLINOIS

Stars of Both Teams Are Expected To Break Records In Close Contest

Accompanied by a squad of twenty three men, Coach George T. Bresnahan left the Rock Island station at 12:25 a. m. bound for Urbana where the track teams of Iowa and Illinois will engage in a dual meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Coach Bresnahan would make no predictions as to the result of the meet. "Illinois has not lost a meet in three years and their men will certainly fight in hopes of maintaining their record," he stated.

Iowa's chances of winning the meet have taken a slump with the announcement that George Ashton will be unable to make the trip. He is confined to his bed with an attack of the flu. This will put the burden of the work on Noll as it is expected that he would run with Noll in the mile race. Ashton is the only member of the squad not in good condition.

The men who made the trip and the events in which they will take part are as follows: 75 yard dash, Captain Wilson, Brookins and Coulter; 440 yard dash, Havig, Wilson and Toll; high hurdles, Shope and Crawford; pole vault, Meder; broad jump, Brandmiller and Jones; half mile run, Morrow, Read and Otto; mile run, Noll, Zacher and Foster; two mile run, Payne and Phelps; high jump, Klindt and Rick; shot put, Daine, Coulter, Johnstone, Zell. The mile relay men will be Wilson, Noll, Morrow, Coulter and Brookins.

The win over Wisconsin two weeks ago and the good showing made at the Illinois Relay Carnival last week give the Hawkeye fans hopes that Coach Bresnahan's men will win over Coach Harry Gill's protégés. Second and third places are going to count greatly in the final summary of points. If Iowa can come through in the field events with second and third places while getting a number of first places in the runs to balance up there is a good chance to cop the meet.

Ayres, in the dashes, Johnson in the hurdles, Brownell and Collins in the pole vault, and Wells in the mile, are all performers of high calibre and are sure to furnish plenty of competition for the Hawkeyes.

FORD PAYS CREDITORS OF LINCOLN COMPANY

(By United News)
Detroit, Mich., Mar. 9.—Creditor of the Lincoln Motors Co., purchased by Henry Ford more than a year ago in a receivership deal, will receive every penny of their investment. The Ford Motor company today sent checks to more than 9000 creditors totaling $4,200,000.

Ford was under no obligation either moral or legal to assume payment of the defunct company's debts. When his bid of $8,000,000 was accepted at the receiver's sale, that amount was the total asset against which creditors might present claims.

NEBRASKA TEAM BEATS HAWKEYE FOR MERGER OF WRESTLERS 15-8 ARMOUR-MORRIS

Iowa Displayed Real Fighting Spirit; Lane, Iowa Wins Only Fall

The Iowa wrestling team lost to Nebraska here last night by the close score of 15 to 8. The last bout clinched the meet for the Cornhuskers, when Renner of Nebraska won from Captain Johnny Heldt of Iowa on a decision. Lane, Iowa, won the only fall of the evening over Inman, Nebraska.

Lane, Iowa's lightweight won, when he made Inman of Nebraska give up with a double wristlock and a body scissor. Inman's shoulders were not on the mat but could not stand the punishment the Iowa man was inflicting and told the referee he was through. This gave Lane the match and added five points for Iowa. Lane was at his best, always being on the offensive.

Two bouts went into extra periods. Pickwell of Nebraska held Jacobson to a draw in the first twelve minutes, but Jacobson won in the extra period. This was Jacobson's third match which has gone extra periods. He has won two out of three bouts, losing only to Illinois last Saturday.

James forced the undefeated Troutman of Nebraska to go into extra periods but lost in the overtime period. This was the closest match of the evening at the end of the twelve minutes neither man had any advantage. The Nebraska trainer said that this was Troutman's hardest bout.

Summary:
115 pound: Probst, Nebraska won decision over Pfeffer, Iowa. Time advantage 07:18.

125 pound: Kellogg, Nebraska won decision over Gugisberg, Iowa. Time advantage 04:54.

135 pound: Lane, Iowa, threw Inman, Nebraska, with body scissors and double wristlock. Time 04:54.

145 pound: Jacobson, Iowa, won decision over Pickwell, Nebraska. Time advantage in overtime periods 1 minute.

158 pound: Reed, Nebraska, won decision over Voltmer, Iowa. Time advantage 10:04.

175 pound: Troutman, Nebraska, won decision over James, Iowa. Time advantage 01:54.

Heavyweight: Renner, Nebraska, won decision over Heldt, Iowa. Time advantage 9:18.

Referee: Molloy, Armour Institute.

BROOKHART SHIES AT HARD BOILED SHIRT

(By United News)
New York, Mar. 9.—Prominent G. O. P. partisans who have invited United States Senator Brookhart to speak at a political dinner here Saturday night will go the limit in making him feel at home. Knowing the Iowa solon's aversion to evening clothes, guests are asked to attend in business suits.

What they will do in case Brookhart makes good his recent threat to wear overalls is not announced.

HORN WILL ADDRESS MINNESOTA TEACHERS

Prof. Ernest Horn, professor of education, left Thursday night for Minneapolis, where he will address the Minneapolis Teachers' Association. In his lecture yesterday afternoon, he demonstrated silent reading, and discussed its value in relation to various school room studies. He will speak to the teachers today on spelling, suggesting lists of words for various grades. Professor Horn recently published a speller.

He will return to Iowa City on Monday.

Hang Up the Fur Coats, Girls!—Fine Weather Coming

"Nothing but fine weather for a couple of days" is what Iowa City and vicinity can expect in the way of climatic conditions for the near future, according to word given out late yesterday afternoon by Prof. J. F. Reilly, who reports local weather conditions for the United States government weather bureau at Chicago.

Rain yesterday was the result of a region of low pressure which traveled rapidly across the Northwest and Middle-West to the Eastern coast, and weather predictors say that some fine weather is now at hand.

The highest temperature March 8 (forecasts are always posted regarding the previous day's weather) was 46 above; the highest temperature the evening previous at 7 p. m. was 42; lowest temperature on that night was 36; temperature that morning at 7 o'clock was 42; excess precipitation is 0.74.

SWIMMERS ARE EASILY BEATEN BY MINNESOTA

Iowa Tankmen Lose To Gophers; Hawkeyes Take Two Firsts

Minnesota defeated Iowa 47 to 21 in the swimming meet held at Minneapolis last night. Hickox and Klingaman took the only two firsts that Iowa scored. The conference record in the 160 yard relay was broken and the record in the 40 yard dash was tied by the Minnesota swimmers.

Minnesota completely outclassed the Iowa swimmers, taking six firsts, five seconds, and two thirds against Iowa's two first, two seconds and five thirds. Minnesota won the 160 yard relay in exceptionally fast time, lowering the conference record to 1 minute 19 3-5 seconds. Gow of Minnesota won the 40 yard dash, tying the conference record of 19 3-5 seconds.

Both Iowa firsts were made in fast time, Klingaman swimming the 100 yard dash in 58 seconds and Hickox plunging the 60 feet in 20 3-5 seconds. This is the best time that Hickox has made in competition this year.

The surprise of the meet was the defeat of McCullough by both Burner and Bird of Minnesota. Bird took first in the fancy diving, defeating Burner, his team mate who so far this season has been rated as the best of the two Minnesota men. McCullough was rated on a par with these two men before the meet but was evidently unable to live up to his reputation last night.

The results of the meet:
160 yard relay: Minnesota first. Time 1:19 2-5.

Fancy diving: Bird, Minnesota, first; Brunner, Minnesota, second; McCullough, Iowa, third.

200 yard breast stroke: Fairley, Minnesota, first; Marrill, Minnesota, second; Griffin, Iowa, third. Time 2:46 4-5.

Plunge for distance: Hickox, Iowa, first; Nutting, Minnesota, second; Sonnesyn, Minnesota, third. Time 20 3-5.

220 yard free style: Lampher, Minnesota, first; Goltman, Iowa, second; Anderson, Iowa, third. Time 2:48 3-5.

150 yard back stroke: Hanft, Minnesota, first; Holmes, Minnesota, second; Ashton, Iowa, third. Time 1:57.

100 yard free style: Klingaman, Iowa, first; Hill, Minnesota, second; Craig, Minnesota, third. Time 58.

Total scores: Iowa 21, Minnesota 47.

ENGLISH CROWN CONFERS WITH LABOR LEADERS

Breaks All Precedents by Inviting Union Officials to Palace

(By United News)
London, Mar. 9.—Establishment of a social contact between King George and the leaders of the labor party—his majesty's opposition in the House of Commons—is considered one of the most significant political events in recent years.

All precedent was shattered today with the announcement that the king had invited J. Ramsay MacDonald, labor leader in the house, J. H. Thomas, secretary of the national union of railway men, J. R. Clynes, head of the national union of general workers, and Philip Snowden, labor member of parliament, to dine in Buckingham Palace, March 15.

On the following day their majesties are to entertain a number of other labor leaders at the palace at a tea given in their honor. The result of the last general election, in which labor polled such a heavy vote that the party became the official opposition of Bonar Law's Tory government, together with the results of the three recent bye elections in which labor candidates defeated two members of the ministry, have apparently brought to the reigning house the realization that labor is a force to be reckoned with.

COLONIAL DAMES OFFER $100 PRIZE

Contest Is Open To University Students; Essays Must Be In By May 20

A prize of $100 for the best essay submitted on the subject "The Aims of the Framers of the Constitution" is being offered by the Colonial Dames of America of the State of Iowa. This contest is an entirely new thing at the University. It is open to all students of the University.

All essays must be placed in the hands of Prof. A. M. Schlesinger, head of the department of history, by May 20, and in length they may range from five to ten thousand words. At least five essays must be submitted or no prize will be awarded.

The committee of judges consists of President Walter A. Jessup, Professor Schlesinger, and a representative appointed by the Colonial Dames.

Arrangements are being made to provide a special shelf in the library containing leading reference works upon which these studies should be based. For further information concerning the contest Prof. Louis Pelzer of the department of history or Professor Schlesinger may be consulted.

MARY'S SON NAMED GEORGE HENRY HUBERT

(By United News)
London, March 9.—Viscount Henry Lascelles has won a friendly little argument with Princess Mary concerning the name of their first born. The boy today was named George Henry Hubert Lascelles. Princess Mary wanted to make Henry the first name of the child while the Viscount insisted on George.

The first name is after the King, the second after the father and the third after the Marquis of Clanricarde, deceased uncle of Lascelles who bequeathed him millions of dollars.

APPLIED HORSE SENSE

One would be hard put to tell which were the greater fools—those who stood in line all night to get seat reservations for the law jubilee, or the jubilee managers who, in the face of a similar situation in past years, persist in retaining this inefficient method of reserving seats. The jubilee may or may not be worth standing in line all night. This is not the question. It is a case of common sense efficiency, something which obviously is lacking under the present system.

Women students and others who purchased tickets and who were not inclined to stand up all night or who were not in a position to compel freshmen to, now find themselves relegated to the back row of the gallery. "First come first served" is only a feeble attempt at fairness. The athletic board discovered this and as a consequence has settled its problem by placing all seats on a lottery basis. Any plan would be an improvement over the present scramble.

PHILOSOPHY AND RELIGION

Many persons who have never thoroughly studied either subject, believe that religion and philosophy conflict with each other. The only basis for such a statement is that certain forms of philosophy do conflict with certain forms of religions, yet the two are really interdependent. A religion based on hazy illusions handed down through ages by unquestioning disciples, may suffer, but philosophy only strengthens a worthy and sincere religion.

The purpose of philosophy is to interpret the world about us. The purpose of religion is to bring us into harmonious relations with the higher powers or power. Surely, then, these two purposes do not conflict with each other! A study of philosophy will only support the belief of those who believe in a supreme power above all. It brings His workings out more clearly and emphasizes their greatness. A true philosophic study cannot help but show that their is more to our existence than mere mechanical happenings. It makes us respect the power behind our everyday life.

Philosophy and religion really cooperate and help each other. Philosophy makes religion more sincere and worthy. Religion explains many things otherwise unexplainable in philosophy. A man can hold any religion and find a philosophy that fits in with it. Neither philosophy or religion can be taught—for they are individual qualities. Philosophy, as scientific investigation, weeds out the cheaper religion and supports that which is founded on sincere belief, not hazy illusions.

CONTEMPORARY OPINION

(Philadelphia Public Ledger)

AIR VS. SEA POWER

Sea power saved Greece in the Persian War and was the weapon used by Rome to break the Carthaginians. Sea power made the British Empire, saved it from Spain and from Napoleon and saved the Allies again and again in the Great War. Nevertheless, that war was fought in four dimensions—on the earth, on the seas, under the seas and in the sky.

We have been taught to worship sea power in war and in peace, but the last and newest arm of the Great War will be first in the next world struggle. The race for dominance of the air in the Old World began before the ink was dry on the Treaty of Versailles. The Washington treaties that ended the building of the extravagant and air-menaced battleships speeded that race. The battleship-versus-airplane quarrel still is raging, but the battleship is losing. There is more interest now in plane carriers for the fleets than in the heavy, fast, expensive big-gunned ships.

Great Britain sees it and has 400 planes under her new Air Ministry, but the British still are tied to their ships by their seafaring traditions. Now Italy sees it and under Premier Mussolini is establishing a fleet of some 800 planes.

No one knows just what Russia is doing, but the French are shaken with a chill of apprehension every time they think of the German-manned airplane plants now working in Soviet land. Everybody knows what the German would be doing in his own plants if the treaty did not tie him down to earth. What he is doing in Russia nobody but him and the Reds know. The French suspect, however, and the French nightmare of the hour is a great fleet of planes rising out of Russia, roaring across Poland and menacing France.

In the Far East Japan has been busied, under British direction, for the better part of two years on a growing air fleet. In South America there is considerable activity, and the lessons of the war and the menaces of the future have not been lost entirely upon the United States.

One race is slowing down as another starts. The naval contest and competition in standing armies are ending as sky fleets, aerial navies and soldiers of the air lanes begin to color the imagination of the world.

The Sounding Board

LESSON IN JOURNALISM—THE MAKE-UP MAN

Before taking up the principal subject of today's diatribe we must first give a few words of explanation. Although we are as fond of paragraphs as Arthur Brisbane and other columnists, we are writing this article all in one paragraph today just to make the make-up man mad. He dearly delights in taking an article, losing a few of the paragraphs and re-arranging the remainder in a novel and improved manner. So this time we're going to fool him. We shall denote new paragraphs, not by the indentation, but thusly: (New paragraph.) A make-up man, it should be understood, is a necessary evil. Popular superstition has it that he arranges the type in the forms preparatory to printing the paper, but his is not strictly true. He disarranges the type—get the distinction. This is the reason that writers on newspapers inevitably have a quarrel with him. (New paragraph.) The favorite sports of make-up men include: Juggling lines from obituaries and weddings, switching decks on heads, inserting wrong slug when making corrections, inserting slug in wrong place when making corrections, failing to insert slug at all, losing parts of articles, etc. ad infinitum. (New paragraph.) Night editors on the Iowan, out of the kindness of their hearts, and in recognition of the splendid work of the make-up men, have offered a tin loving cup to the make-up man who scores 1387 points or more during a year. Messing up a front page story counts 10 points toward the cup, interchanging decks on 3-30 heads 15 points, inserting wrong slugs in editorial 20 points, and generally bawling up the Sounding Board (considered the cleverest thing a make-up man can do) counts a grand slam or 25 points. (New paragraph.) These points are assigned to the different feats according to the difficulty of getting away with the stunt in some cases, and according to the amount of damage done in others. Bawling up the column counts the most, not only because it's so clever, but because it makes the Board even funnier than it was to begin with. Yesterday the Iowan make-up man, taking advantage of loose guarding by the night editor, ran up the largest score he has been able to amass in many moons. (New paragraph.) A good make-up man will take two paragraphs, the second of which depends for its sense upon the first, and run the second one alone; he will take a question and an answer and run only the answer, thus providing an unique guessing contest for the readers. The ideal make-up man is the one who can so make up the paper that nothing in it makes sense. (New paragraph.) We shall conclude with a few hints to night editors on how to get along with the make-up man: 1. Let him do whatever he wants to with the stories. Let him put the want ads on Page 1, but keep him quiet at all costs. 2. Don't kick him; you are liable to fracture his skull. 3. Don't make unreasonable requests, such as demanding that the articles have the right heads over them. 4. Kid him along; try to get him to admit he's a good man. 5. Tell him how much better he is at making up than the pressman is at pressing or the typesetters are at setting. 6. Give him a cigar (loaded).

SWITZERLAND SORRY SHE WAS SO HOSPITABLE

(By United News)

Geneva, Mar. 9.—Switzerland now repents that she offered refuge to all the titled personages who were thrown out of work during the war. As a result of the traditional Swiss generosity several Swiss cantons are faced with the prospect of having to make room in their poor houses and old age homes for defunct archdukes and other members of former royal families.

Archduke Leopold Ferdinand, of the Hapsburg family, is flat broke and must soon seek the aid of the state. Switzerland is bound to provide for him because he has taken out citizenship papers in the country. There are many other similar examples.

Dr. Harlow S. Persons, managing director of the Taylor Society of New York City, will visit Iowa City to give a series of lectures to commerce classes in industrial management. Much of his work has been done through other men so that though credit may not have been given him directly, his influence has been very wide spread."

Doctor Persons graduated from the department. At the conclusion of University of Michigan, and soon after receiving his doctor's degree from there was appointed first director of the Amos Tuck school of business finance, connected with Dartmouth College. In 1917 he offered his services to the government as an industrial engineer and was stationed at Washington as a major, controlling the organization of office work of much of the war the war he accepted the position of managing director of the Taylor Society.

Dean Phillips remarked that the commerce college was extremely fortunate in having Doctor Persons here to supplement the work of Prof. Bradley N. Davis's classes in industrial management. The three sections will be combined into one meeting at 4:10 in the afternoon, with some lectures in the evening.
