Traffic Halts in obedience to late snow

Heaviest Snow Fall of Year Paralyses University Street Traffic for Pedestrians

Iowa City weather conditions have continued to bring snowstorms to the area, with several inches falling in the last 24 hours. The heavy snowfall has caused delays and disruptions to University Street traffic, particularly for pedestrians. The snow is now so thick that many sidewalks are covered, making it difficult for students and faculty to navigate the campus. The Administration has advised students to use caution when walking on sidewalks and streets, as many have become slippery.

Traffic on University Street has come to a virtual standstill, with cars and buses unable to move forward. Students are urged to use public transportation or walk when possible. University personnel are working to clear snow from walkways and roads, but progress is slow due to the heavy accumulation.

Firemen are on the scene of a traffic collision between a car and a truck on University Street, delaying traffic in that area. The collision has resulted in minor injuries and is being investigated by the Iowa City Police Department.

Passengers and travelers are urged to be patient and stay away from the affected areas. The University will be closed on Tuesday due to the severe weather conditions.

IOWA GYM TEAM LEAVES FOR MEET

Hawkseyes Expect To Make Strong Showing For High Honors At Columbus

Four Iowa, grenade and Coast. Brindley left last night for the regional intercollegiate gym meet at Columbus tomorrow. The early start was necessary because of the poor travel service. The recent storms have caused all trains to be late in the afternoon as in the evening train with Illinois last night.

Iowa's gym team should make a good showing. Captain Tompkins has been individual high point man in two meets while Friday, Hawkeye club captain, won the event in both dual meets held this year. Friday, Tompkins and Nickoll, the other two men making the trip, have made good showings. All three being third high man in the meet with Illinois. Tompkins was captain of the team last year and has rounded into form again this year. Nickoll, Friday, Tompkins, and Nickoll have made the trip, will have made good showings. Why Starve In the Midst of Plenty? A Look at the Problem

And as a matter of good sense and judgment — why bother with the sad shows when the big show is on at the Syndicate! Why try to find what you want from a handful of Spring Suits when you might just as well pick from a house full? Why starve in the midst of plenty? There's no good sense in that at all.

PLANS FOR MECCA PARADE COMPLETE

Plans Open For Inspection After Parade Dinner Evening

The usual parade will have the engineering building turning around at 1 o'clock. Colonel Menard will be expected to appear as the principal of the Engineering building. His presence will no doubt be a battle between Iowa, Michigan, Chicago and Minnesota.

The parade will bring together two old rivals, Ayres of Illinois and Jowa; Wisconsin, according to the usual. The old rivals will undoubtedly fight for first place this time and the last time of any of the other trips. Detroit is also going to parade.

One of the features that should be of unusual interest to the young people will demonstrate how the flashlights for the Hawks were handled, and will suggest an effective comedy. Tradition of the various colleges will be in evidence, "nailing" and "running," and will be plenty of hits at other schools.

The Mecca review, which is to be in the parade several weeks ago, and is being kept in anticipation of the latter part of April. Both are to be definitely settled and will be in operation, drawing sets and acting as an exhibit for the work of the students. A great amount of work has been put on this part of the celebration. The woodmen will be in operation, drawing sets and acting as a part of the parade. They have been going at a park on the campus. The students have been going at a park on the campus. CONTEMPORARY OPINION

by William Goetzmann

THE MAUNDERED TRAFFIC

Mr. and Mrs. Houghton at Columbia

As the University of Iowa's new football coach, Mr. Percy D. Houghton has a fine chance to determine whether the famous "Harvard aura" can be translated and organized into a productive effort, or can or cannot be transplanted from its battle well at Cambridge to the soil of another city and State. During the years when his was the hand that molded Harvard's football program, the teams turned out at Cambridge were generally considered to be among the most powerful machines in the country. At the same time, a greater, a lover and a student of football, Mr. Houghton has the supervision of an able corps of assistants, laid the foundations of that system which overcame the golden hegemony of Yale. Today that system survives as the school of instruction for Harvard football teams—and it still registers victories over the Big Ten, even though other universities, notably Princeton, have succeeded in finding vulnerable points in the armor. At Columbia Mr. Houghton will have a double hammer blow of football assistance that he had when he was head coach at Harvard. It will be the first time, in short, that the Harvard gridiron had been fairly tried away from home. Coach Wendell at Williams and Coach Casey at Princeton have won the key college in the Ivy League, and neither institution has the experience to give a definite edge to the question whether the Harvard system can be supplanted and turn out victories on the field. At Columbia, Mr. Houghton met an obstacle in the fact that the university, in recent years, has lacked a winning football tradition. Nor, in his new post, will he be as easy as in 1920 in seeing a college trained man to the mythical Eastem championship, but the power of the Houghton name should do much to extend Columbia in the circle of the football trail.

The Tides of March

Last week was a happy, and little bit busy. Then last Monday we started through the high life of Iowa City, and uncertain impressions under our cap. On Wednesday we rushed from our apartments in the suburbs across the noisy quad that separated us from civilization, and burst wildly upon the Iowa. And now we pass through the laboratories and see the Athens of Iowa, and our dignity seems inexhaustible. We have waded through goo and soup until we have watered on the Iowa, and our cheerful disposition is gone forever. Only now we were mending and wrestling our fate, and family thrust forth into the following.

Do You Growl At Your 8 o’Clock? — Then Read This

All those who growl, and gnash their teeth and wring their hands over their fear of losing their seats in the auditorium, are under some misconception. The Department of English has planned a program of entertainment for the next two weeks, which, I am sure, will be of interest to all members of the University community.

The program will consist of a series of talks on various topics, given by professors of the English Department. The talks will be on subjects such as the history of literature, the development of the English language, and contemporary literature. Each talk will be followed by a question-and-answer session, which will be moderated by the professor giving the talk.

The purpose of these talks is to provide an opportunity for students to learn more about the field of English and to engage in lively discussion with faculty members. I encourage all students to attend these talks and to participate in the question-and-answer sessions.

Prof. George F. Kay, the head of the Department of English, has expressed his enthusiasm for the program, saying, "We are very excited about this. We believe it will be a great opportunity for students to learn more about the field of English and to engage in lively discussion with faculty members."
