IOWA TO ENTER BEST SPEAKER IN ORATORICAL

State Winner Receives $60 Prize And Place In National Contest

The University of Iowa will enter a representative in the Iowa Peace Oratorical Contest at Parsons College at Fairfield, Iowa, on May 12, according to a decision arrived at by the Forensic Council yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Close Hall. This Iowa Intercollegiate Peace Contest, in which Iowa State College of Ames, Iowa State Teacher's College at Cedar Falls, Drake University at Des Moines, Morningside College at Sioux City, and Parsons College at Fairfield have already entered, is the state preliminary to the national peace oratorical contest. The states of Iowa, Kansas, Texas, Louisiana, North Carolina, Ohio, Indiana, Minnesota, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Oregon and Missouri will each select a state representative orator by contests similar to the Iowa event at Parsons College. This national contest, accordingly, designed to stimulate interest in international peace through orations on that subject, is one of the leading intercollegiate oratorical events in the nation.

University Contest In April

The representative orator from this University to be sent to the state contest is to be selected by an oratorical contest in the University. The date, though not definitely fixed, will be shortly before April 20. All undergraduates in good standing in the University are eligible. The oration is limited to sixteen minutes in delivery and must deal with some phase of the problem of international peace. It is this requirement as to subject which gives this contest its important character for the promotion of international peace interest among university and college students. The winner of this local contest will sent as the representative of the University to the Iowa Intercollegiate Peace Contest at Parsons College.

Sixty Dollar Prize

There in competition with orators from other Iowa universities and colleges, the Iowa representative to the national contest will be selected by three judges, drawn from without the state of Iowa. The winner of first place receives a prize of $60; second place is awarded $40.

First Since War

Then this winning state oration will be sent to the National Intercollegiate Peace Association. There the contest oration will be judged, without delivery, on the basis of thought and composition. This peace oratorical association had conducted a number of annual contests previous to the war. During the war, the contests were discontinued. This year is marked by the reorganization of the association and the holding of the first state national contests following the war.

Gary Reports Rosy Prospect For Steel Industry In 1923

(By United News)

New York, March 20—A substantial recovery was made by the steel industry during last year according to the reports made by Chairman Elbert H. Gary of the United States Steel Corporation to the Board of Directors and stockholders Tuesday here.

And the new business book in 1923 up to the time of writing, the report disclosed, "has exceeded the fated maximum capacity of the subsidiary companies. There has also been some improvements in the selling prices secured.

SPRING IS HERE BUT NO ONE HAS FOUND IT

Spring officially opens today. If you have a powerful telescope or a good pair of binoculars perhaps you can find it. Although Old King Winter after visiting the city with a polar blast the last few days, began to slip away in favor of the next season yesterday and the thermometer rose as high as 52 degrees, another cold wave is predicted. The new cold wave it is said will cover the entire northwest from the Pacific coast to Minnesota, bringing with it more precipitation.

U.S. PREPARED TO BE LENIENT WITH RUSSIA

Soviet Must First Retrace Policy of Debt Repudiation In Good Faith

(By Raymond Clapper)

Washington, March 20—The United States is prepared to be lenient toward Soviet Russia if she will officially retract her policy of repudiation of debts incurred prior to the Bolshevik revolution and will assure this government that the property of foreigners will be protected. There is no desire on the part of the United States to force Russia to pay when she does not have the money. The economic difficulties in the way of immediate payment would be recognized by the United States. But the acknowledgement of the obligations and a willingness to meet them whenever it is physically possible to do so is regarded by the United States as a necessary forerunner of diplomatic recognition.

This is the position of this government in meeting questions raised by Senator Borah of Idaho, in his recent speeches demanding recognition of the Soviet.

One official in outlining the American policy towards Russia, has made it clear that nothing would give this government greater satisfaction than to know that Russia has changed her policy with relation to repudiation of debts incurred prior to the Bolshevik revolution and with respect to property rights of foreigners.

Ganna Walska Won't Give Chicago Chance To Criticize Voice

(By United News)

Chicago, March 20—Chicago, which wants to hear Ganna Walska sing more than any other city, hasn't had the experience yet, and it begins to look as if Chicago never will. Ganna and Harold F. McCormick, her multimillionaire husband, slipped into town late Monday night from California and are said to be planning for an early departure to Paris.

"No I do not intend to give a concert here!" was Mademoiselle Walska's emphatic reply when a reporter asked whether Chicago would not have a chance to criticize her effort, and that was all Ganna would say.

McCormick, who put on weight in California, was reticent when asked about his celebrated wife's plans but said they expected to leave Chicago Wednesday.

CATALOGUES DELAYED

Summer session catalogues which were announced to be ready for distribution at room 12 L. A. yesterday are not ready, owing to a delay at the printer's. As soon as Prof. Charles H. Weller, University editor, receives them at his office an announcement will be printed in the Daily Iowan to that effect.

FARMERS HAVE GOOD YEAR ON WESTERN COAST

California Has Best Year In History Of State Due To High Prices

(By United News)

San Francisco, March 20—Cattle raisers, still suffering, are pessimistic over their future, but farmers generally are hopeful for greater returns this year according to west Coast authorities.

B. B. Florence, secretary of the market division of the California agricultural department, says the past season has been the best for the farmers in the history of the state. "Farming conditions in this state have improved progressively year by year" he told the United News, "due largely to improved marketing conditions resulting in better prices to the farmers regardless of crops."

This year the crops have been heavy, and despite the car shortage last summer and fall the farmers made money because of the prices their crops commanded even though only a portion of the crop was marketed. "The dairy industry has been the one weak spot due to the marketing system everywhere. But even in this industry conditions are improving and dairymen are a little more than breaking even."

According to W. E. Schnyder, federal and livestock reporter for San Francisco, sheep and lambs are the successful live stock products now. The shortage of sheep, high price of wool and the tariff all have operated in favor of the sheep men. Unemployment with its attendant reduction in consumption of beef and increased demand for cheaper pork, has resulted in beef conditions which are not so good, and profitable business at the same time for hog raisers. The latter have had a good year.

SAYS PHILOSOPHY IS TYPE OF LOVE

Columbia Professor Declares Philosophy Should Be Experimental

"Philosophy cannot be defined," said Dr. Schneider of Columbia University in his lecture 'Science and The Experimental Method in Modern Philosophy.' It is a confession of faith.

"There are two points which I wish to make, first: philosophy in so far as it concerns science ought to be an experimental one, and second: it ought to be more than science. Again, it must be an independent science," Dr. Schneider continued.

"Sciences might be put into two classifications: so-called dilectic sciences as over against natural, experimental ones. This distinction is merely one of subject matter," declared Dr. Schneider, "and must not be considered one of means. Each science must be a combination of both the dilectic and experimental. There is much to learn in dilectic science and this can only be learned by the experimental method. We must renounce all interest in ideas and theories which are not capable of verification.

"The honest philosopher is looking for truth but something more than truth," he concluded, "he is looking for wisdom. He is a lover of wisdom, therefore philosophy is more than science, it is a type of love."

ENGLISH LABOR WANTS NATION'S WEALTH DIVIDED

Commons Challenges Present Capitalistic System

(By Ralph H. Turner)

London, March 20—The powerful labor party, His Majesty's opposition in the House of Commons, has challenged England's "capitalistic system." Philip Snowden, leading laborite, made history in parliament Tuesday night when he introduced a bill providing for the nationalization of land and spoke in favor of the labor resolution advocating the scrapping of the present industrial order.

Looking directly at a score of members clad in evening dress who had returned to the Commons to hear Snowden's speech the laborite declared that 88 per cent of England's wealth is owned by 2 1-2 per cent of the population and that five out of every six men in England die penniless.

One of the members to whom Snowden addressed his remark rose to protest but the laborites shouted him down.

"The labor party has proposed this motion as a direct challenge to the holders and defenders of the capitalist system," said Snowden, while members on the opposite benches, some of them among the wealthiest men in England, registered hostility, boredom or amusement.

The land nationalization bill, together with bills for a capital levy and nationalization of mines and railroads which are to be introduced later, comprise the socialistic platform of the labor party.

Although there is no chance of the land bill passing because even the two wings of the liberal party will unite with the conservatives to destroy the measure, the Tories view the situation with alarm in view of the popularity of the labor party in recent by-elections.

EXPENDITURE ON FLOATS LIMITED

Sororities Can't Spend Over $25 On Iowawa Floats; Prizes Offered

At the first of a series of meetings of the executive committee of Iowawa consisting of the departmental managers and the general manager yesterday afternoon plans for the sorority and fraternity parade were made. The prizes will be the traveling cups won last year by the Delta Kappa Gamma fraternity and the Alpha Tau Beta sorority. The sorority floats will be limited to an expenditure of $25. No hiring of outside professional decorators or designers will be allowed.

The fraternity parade will be composed of freak and stunt floats. The fraternity prize will be awarded to the most unusual and striking float. The parade will take place during the carnival in the armory.

The committeemen who will serve under the managers will be named at one of the next meetings. Any student who wishes to serve on one of these committees or who has some new idea for the carnival is asked to report in the Y. M. C. A. office or at the Y. W. C. A. office. A large number of student helpers will be needed for the work of the evening and before. Arch Reaney A3 of Sheldon is the general manager of the carnival and Lois V. Kifer A4 of Sioux City is the manager for the Y. W. C. A.

PIGGLY WIGGLY STOCK BARRED FROM EXCHANGE

(By United News)

New York, March 20—Piggly Wiggly chain store stock which threw Wall Street into a furor Tuesday by jumping from $72 to $124 a share and back again to 82 may have jumped completely off the New York stock exchange.

The exchange committee on business conduct, after a feverish three-hour session during which the printer registered the violent plunging of the stock, has barred all trading in Piggly Wiggly until further notice.

FIFTEEN ENTER WRESTLING AND SWIMMING MEET

Preliminaries On Friday Finals Saturday; Sec Taylor Will Referee

With six high schools entered in the swimming meet and nine high schools entered in the wrestling meet, the joint swimming and wrestling tournament to be held under the auspices of the University of Iowa Friday and Saturday, March 23 and 24, will see some of the best high school material in the state in action in Iowa City.

The six schools to have entrants in the swimming meet are West high and East high of Des Moines, Keokuk, Clinton, University high school, Iowa City; and Iowa City high school. According to Coach David Armbruster, swimming coach, the meet will probably develop into a dual meet between the Des Moines high schools as they both have some very excellent swimming material. West high has never been pushed in the dashes by other high schools.

Although Des Moines is looked to as the strongest, University high school has John McClintock, a fast swimmer who recently captured the 40 yard dash at the National meet at Chicago in twenty and one-fifth seconds. He also took first in the 100 yard dash at the A. A. U. meet February 1 in competition with some very good swimmers. The University high team is practicing each day and may spring a surprise for the meet.

The meet will most likely go to the high school who entered the largest number of men in the meet. Cedar Rapids, is not entering this year's competition. Carey, a strong man in the breast stroke, winning that event the last two years and holding the state record, will not be seen in action in the pool Friday or Saturday night.

Preliminaries for wrestling will Friday night at 7:30 o'clock. The final events will be Saturday night at 8 o'clock. The swimming pool will accommodate 500 persons.

The preliminaries for the meet will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the finals will be Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Davenport has the largest team entered with ten men competing; Garden City has 6; Grinnell, 1; Dows, 5; Carlisle, 4; Ottumwa, 7; and Central City, 9, a total of forty-two men entered.

The events of the meet will be competition in the 95, 105, 115, 125, 135, 145, 158, 198 pounds and heavy classes.

A CHANCE TO DRILL

The citizen's military training camp which will be conducted from August 1-30 will provide an opportunity for all young men between the ages of 17 and 24 years to enjoy the life of a soldier for a brief time. The seventh corps area camps will be at Fort Snelling, Minn., Fort Des Moines and Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

THIRTY-EIGHT IN FRESHMAN DECLAMATORY

Thirteen Women Included On Entry List; Is Largest On Record

Thirty-eight contestants, thirteen women and twenty-five men, have formally entered the freshman declamatory contest for the Glenn N. Merry prizes. The time open for entrance closed last night when these thirty-eight had submitted their name and oration to Herbert C. Weller, instructor in the department of speech, in accordance with the formal requirements for entrance. Last year sixteen registered for the event. This year's large entrance list gives assurance of severe competition and high quality of declamatory ability in the contest for the Glenn N. Merry prize of $10 to first place and $10 to second place.

From the thirty-eight contestants, the thirteen women are Opal A. Keeney of Carlisle, Eleanor E. Waldschmidt of Burlington, Blanche H. Robertson of Council Bluffs, Alta A. McAfee of Wapello, Cecilia Kloek of Doon, Merna R. Shipley of New London, B. Aileen Shriver of Estherville, Eleanor M. Nebergall of Davenport, Alice I. Coast of Iowa City, Marcia H. Coffey of Wellman, Dorothy A. Season of Greenville, Emma L. Jamison of Wapello, and Eva M. Threlkeld of Charlton.

The twenty-five freshmen men are Herbert J. Stapleton of What Cheer, Philip C. Cockerill of Sioux City, David L. Terrell of Tangerine, Fla., Arnold A. Lassen of Avoca, Philip C. Walker of Algona, Glenn F. Barr of Manchester, John D. Hansen of Persia, Roy H. Geiselman of Fort Dodge, Donald W. Avey of Blockton, Clarence A. Maurer of Readlyn, Fred J. Stevenson of Manchester, J. M. Colby, Clarence L. Wearth of Boone, Orin K. Grof of Lake Mills, Charles R. Buckwater of Laurens, Raphael F. Kernan of Belmond, George H. Behrends of Fort Dodge, Willin W. Dakin of Mason City, Hildreth A. Spafford of Iowa City, Paul L. Wagner of Davenport, George I. Faust of Bellevue, Philip W. Allen of Davenport, Donald D. McCallum of Rowan, Frank D. Weaver of Gilman, and Carl E. Obermann of Yarmouth.

These thirty-eight entrants will be cut down to six or eight in the preliminary contest on March 27. Each of this number will deliver 250 words from their declamation before the board of judges.

MISTAKES IN ADDRESSING LETTERS COSTLY TO U. S.

When we write a letter and address it almost any manner, we feel as if we had done our duty, but if we could follow the letter to the Post office we might find that because of poor and illegible writing, due to carelessness, the letter is often discarded into the "dead letter department." Wrongly addressed letters cost the American people $2,000,000 every year.

A total of 200,000,000 letters are deposited in the mail every year which have to be closely examined by post office clerks, who have to re-address them and send them on.

In seventy-five of the largest post offices in the country there are 585 clerks who are employed twenty-four hours a day exclusively to re-address misdirected mail, and the annual cost to the government is $16,586,419 for salaries.

Dead letter offices receive 16,560,419 undelivered letters, which fact indicates that the people failed either through ignorance or carelessness to put the proper address on the envelopes.

ANIMAL BIOLOGY DEPARTMENT GROWS

Present Enrollment of 400 Reveals Popularity of Courses

Animal biology is one of the departments which in its growth, has kept pace or even surpassed the growth of the University. At the present time there are approximately four hundred enrolled in the course. This large number is undoubtedly due to the fact that the subject has come to be considered fundamental to many fields, as sociology, education, psychology, medicine and dentistry.

Prof. Gilbert Houser has been a professor in the department for thirty years. When he began his work here, animal biology was taught in Old Science building. Thirty-two students were enrolled in the course, and in those days there were no assistant professors, no laboratory instructor or assistants in the department, so Professor Houser did all of the work himself. He had charge of laboratory work, gave the students informal "talks" instead of formal lectures, and took long tramps with them over the hills, studying natural specimens.

In regard to this phase of the work, he said, "From the very beginning it has been my policy to teach by direct contact with nature and then to fix all the details observed by drawings."

Prof. Houser has had wide experience both as a field and a marine biologist and he is very particular to keep pace with the newest methods of thinking and experimenting in the field. He has done graduate work at both Chicago and John Hopkins and has spent some time at Woodshill Marine Laboratory in Massachusetts.

"The most satisfying recognition of my work which the University has given me," he said, "has been to allow me to plan the laboratories and all the furnishings of our present location. The facilities which are now provided for the course have been directly taken over from plans and drawing made by Prof. Houser."

Summer Session Courses Show Big Growth in Number

Almost as many nonprofessional courses are being given at the summer school of the University of Iowa as are given during the regular school year, university officials announced yesterday as an indication of the growing favor with which scholastic work during the summer months is being met particularly among school teachers and those who want to shorten their collegiate career. Nonprofessional courses in summer number 500 and during the academic year, 650.

The college of education offers more courses in the summer than during the regular year. This is to meet the demands of persons in education work who wish to utilize the summer in advanced work. Summer instruction is given only by the more mature members of the staff.

At the University of Iowa the popularity of summer school is indicated by the fact that registration has doubled in four years and in the past decade the increase has been 550 per cent.

MORE BOXING BOUTS PLANNED FOR TODAY

Two more bouts of the University boxing tournament will be held in the men's gymnasium this evening. In the 147-160 pound class C. F. Corey will meet Fred Colby. In the heavyweight division Krasuski will meet Tiedeman. The winners of these bouts will fight in the finals.

Professor McGovney Talks at Political Science Club Meet

At the political Science Club meeting held Monday night at the home of Prof. C. R. Aurner, Prof. D. O. McGovney, read a paper on "Race Discrimination in Naturalization." He dwelt at some length on the recent decision of the Supreme Court that declares Hindus a non-white race that should be barred from naturalization in the United States. According to this bill, those Hindus who have already become naturalized forfeit all their rights as naturalized citizens. In California a movement has even been inaugurated to take property of these naturalized Hindus, because under the law which has just been passed, these people cannot hold property.

This bill is one which is creating a great deal of interest throughout the United States today and Prof. McGovney's paper was a very interesting one. In spite of the inclement weather and the fact that no streetcars were running, there were forty members of the Political Science Club present at this meeting. The next meeting will be held in two weeks. The exact place will be announced later.

PUBLIC TO VOTE ON BATHING BEACH

City Engineer Submits Plans For $20,000 Beach At City Park Site

Iowa City will have a municipal bathing beach, if the proposition to be placed before the people at the general election receives a favorable vote. The cost of the proposed beach is estimated at $20,000 and if the measure is passed, the beach will be constructed in time for use this summer.

The park commission board held a special meeting Monday night and drew up the proposition in the form in which it will be submitted to the people. Park improvement bonds to the amount of $20,000 will be sufficient to cover the cost of the beach. Al Fisher, county engineer, presented to the board plans for a beach in the small lake situated in the city park, but these were not definitely accepted. Mr. Fisher also furnished the board with information in regard to the general conditions necessary for a satisfactory location.

The board decided at a meeting in the Commercial Club rooms yesterday afternoon, that a site along the river bank near the city park would not be acceptable. It was deemed best to leave the selection of the exact location until the people made known their wish at the polls, but it was the opinion of those present that the beach should be some place in the city park. An artificial pool constructed in a low spot in the park received the most favorable comment.

A bathing beach has long been considered one of the greatest needs of the city because of the numerous dangerous spots in the river where students and townspeople go swimming. Special ballots will be used at the city elections on March 26 with the proposition printed on them. Members of the park board who are giving the people the opportunity of deciding whether they wish a bathing beach, are D. T. Davis, G. W. Schmidt, and John J. Englert.

LIGHTNIN' IS DIRECT PRODUCT OF FRANK BACON'S LIFE DECLARES HIS DAUGHTER

By Edith Rule
"I'll put that into the play", were father's by words during the years he was writing 'Lightning', was the statement of Miss Bessie Bacon, daughter of the famous actor, when recently asked how her father wrote the play that has been such a sensation.

"He put all of himself into that play and every little saying of his that made mother or me laugh he decided should go into it," continued Miss Bacon. "The play therefore is a composite record of, his sayings and mannerisms. Do you remember the little comedy piece in the court scene, when the witness calls him a liar and Lightnin' gets up and without a word starts to take off his coat?" After being assured that it was one of the cleverest bits of comedy in the play Miss Bacon went on to explain. "It was a trick of father's. When the boys in the theater began kidding him about something he always began to rise and go through all the jestures of removing his coat no matter if the speaker was twice father's size. Dad you know was a very short man. That smallness of stature was the reason for his appealing so to the sympathy of the audience in his old G. A. R. uniform in the court scene."

Given G. A. R. Button
"Speaking of the uniform," Miss Bacon went on to tell an amusing incident that occurred during the first run of "Lightnin'" in New York. One night an old gentleman on the first row kept calling up to the star "P-s-t Bill!" "P-s-t Bill!" Mr. Bacon couldn't of course take any notice of him during the play although the man kept up his calling all the time. Finally after his curtain speech the actor asked the old man what he wanted. "Bill" he said "Yu ain't got on the G. A. R. recognition button—Here's mine!" and he handed it over the footlights. "Bill" wore it in every performance he played after that and Mrs. Bacon has it now.

A Case of Mosquitoes
Bessie Bacon is a tiny dainty woman who both on and off the stage is very pretty. She is particularly attractive in an evening gown but she said her father hated extreme décollete. "When we were living in Nw Jersey one summer" she smiled as if remembering the occasion in detail. "I came downstairs dressed for a formal dinner in a very low cut gown. Father looked at me than he drawled to me—just as Bell does to Mother in the second act 'The mosquitos 'll sure give you hell in that dress, Bessie.' Of course I laughed uproariously—I couldn't help it—so he said 'I'll put that in the play.' When I asked him if he thought just because I laguhed a whole audience would he told me 'Of course they will. Human nature is human nature the world over, my dear, whether you take it individual or collectively.' It must be true because that line gets one of the biggest laughs in the whole play—it never fails to. I imagine it was just because he knew human nature that way that he was able to get the character of Lightnin' Bill Jones across to the world and make it so real that his entire personality is left in the part today.

"It is, of course a wonderful thing to be the daughter of a great man but I realized how lucky I was to be my own father's daughter long before he became known as a great actor. Father was a real friend to every one who knew him and he was my dearest pal." Frank Bacon's daughter, who has the leading women's part in the production of Lightnin', spoke of her father's death only when asked a direct question about it. She preferred to think and speak of him as a living personality as he was when he "created the part of Lightnin' Bill Jones.

Six Local Business Men Will Attend Rotary Convention

Six local business men will represent the Iowa City Rotary club at the convention of the eleventh district of the National Rotary club, which is to be held in Davenport on March 22 and 23. It is expected that several other business men of the city will attend the convention for at least part of the time.

Among those who will represent the Iowa City Club are: President Ira J. Houston, Secretary William W. Martin; W. H. Stewart; Dr. John Voss; Fred Racine and Will Schmidt.

The most important business of the convention will be the division of the present eleventh district, which includes Iowa, Nebraska, and part of South Dakota into two new districts. District Governors will be elected for the new districts.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH HAS EASTER CANTATA

At the service of the Congregational church next Sunday morning, J. C. Barlett's Easter cantata, "From Death to Life," will be given by a double quartet. The solo parts will be taken by Misses Alice Ingham and Martha Althaus, Mrs. R. E. Nichols, Messers Sterling Bockoven and C. A. Sones. The Cantata consists of a prologue and two parts, one dealing with the crucifixion, the other with the resurrection. Mr. M. L. Fossler will preside at the organ.

EXPECT TO BREAK SUMMER RECORD

Enrollment Of Close To 3,000 Expected For Summer Session Term

It is anticipated by University authorities that the enrollment for the coming summer sessions will exceed by far any heretofore in the history of the school. Each year the number of students enrolled in the summer school has grown larger.

Last year there was an increase of 19.2 per cent, there being a total of 2,083 students, within one-half a person of being double the enrollment four years before which was 1042, and nearly seven times that of ten years ago. At this rate, the number should run to twenty-four or twenty-five hundred for the coming year, and it is likely to be larger, according to Prof. Chas. H. Weller, director of the summer session.

Aside from the many courses that draw students yearly to attend the summer terms, a law course will be given in summer school for the first time which will undoubtedly add to the student body. A new course for graduate nurses will be given which will add 100 or more, and the school of athletic coaching will be larger and with better facilities than previously.

Moreover, students enrolled here during the year have been continuing their courses in the summer terms more and more. "I feel certain that the enrollment will reach 2500, and I shall not be surprised if it reaches 3000," Professor Weller said in an interview yesterday.

ENGINEERING SOCIETY GIVES PRIZES FOR PAPERS

Students in engineering are interested in the prizes offered by the American Society of Mechanical Engineering for papers on subjects connected with mechanical engineering. Enrolled members in good standing of students' branches of the society are eligible to submit papers, which must be in the hands of the committee by June 30. Two awards of such prizes and certificates will be made at the annual meeting of the society in December for the best papers.

Papers must be produced without assistance, and must not have been previously published entirely or in part. All contributions will be judged on applicability (practical or theoretical), value as a contribution to mechanical engineering literature, completeness originality of matter, and conciseness.

DOLPHINS ELECT McCULLOUGH NATIONAL HEAD

Swimmers From Five Big Ten Universities Form Fraternity

W. A. McCullough of the Iowa swimming team was elected president of the first national men's honorary swimming fraternity at a meeting of the delegates from the Big Ten local organizations held in Chicago on March 16. M. Thomson of Indiana was elected vice-president and H. L. Dithmer of Purdue secretary and treasurer.

This is the first national swimming fraternity to be organized in the United States. The need of such an organization has been felt for some time among members of the Big Ten schools. In the last two or three years there has been a great deal of agitation among swimmers for such an organization and correspondence has been passed between Iowa, Illinois and Indiana with such an end in view. Several schools already had local organizations and it was the men in these organizations who were the most interested in a national fraternity.

From Five Universities

At the last conference swimming meet held in Chicago on March 15 and 16 the delegates from the local fraternities held a meeting and perfected their plans for a national organization. Five of the Big Ten schools were represented: Iowa, Illinois, Northwestern, Purdue and Indiana. These are the only five who at present have swimming fraternities. As the others develop swimming organizations as they undoubtedly will in the future they will have to petition the national fraternity to be granted charters. The national convention will be held at the time and place of the conference swimming meet. This is usually held in Chicago.

The name of the organization is the Dolphin fraternity, which was the name of the fraternity at Illinois. It was suggested at first to make it a Greek letter fraternity but finally it was decided that the present name was more appropriate and distinctive for a swimming organization.

Insignia To Be Key

The insignia of the organization will be a key similar to the Iowa Eel key. Committees were appointed to arrange the details of the organization of the fraternity. The Illinois chapter was appointed to draw up the National ritual, the Northwestern chapter to draw up the initiation ritual, and the Iowa chapter to draw up the by-laws.

The membership of the fraternity will not be limited to varsity men, but will be open to all enthusiastic swimmers who pass the required tests. The tests will be uniform for all chapters. These tests have not been decided as yet, but a committee has been appointed to draw them up.

Iowa as the most active group in bringing about the organization and with McCullough as national president will aid in completing the final organization. McCullough is president of the local Eels club and as varsity diver was defeated only once in the past season.

Big Ten Athletes Show Interest In A. A. U. Contests

Altho Iowa is out of the district considerable interest is being manifested in the Central A. A. U. indoor track championships that will be staged by the Lake Shore athletic club at the Patten gymnasium March 30.

Illinois has entered Ayres in the dashes and Collins in the pole vault. Chicago and Northwestern will each have star men competing for them. Hagen, Northwestern's speedy sprinter and Crippen, distance man will compete for the Purple. Krogh of the Maroons will put up a hard fight in the mile run.

Perhaps the most noted of the college athletes to participate in these games will be Harold Osborne, a University of Illinois alumnus who held many all around titles during his undergraduate days. Osborn is entered in the jumps.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS ARE GUESTS OF ROTARY CLUB

The University high school and Iowa City high school basketball teams were guests of the Iowa City Rotary club at their regular weekly dinner yesterday noon at the Jefferson hotel. Addresses were given by M. C. Del Manzo and W. E. Beck principals of the respective schools. Coach Jack Skein introduced the members of the University five who participated in the tournament for state honors. Coach Henry Soucek, coach of the Iowa City high team, introduced the members of his successful team.

WILL ANNOUNCE MYTHICAL TEAM AT BIG BANQUET

Best Women's Team Will Receive Loving Cup Also; Dinner On March 27

The announcement of the mythical team, composed of the best women players on the four class teams, and the awarding of a silver loving cup will take place at the basketball banquet on March 27 at the Pagoda tea rooms. All the members of the four first teams and the second teams are eligible to attend the banquet which will be the big event of the year in women's athletics.

Who Will Make It?

Much speculation is going on as to who will be chosen by Miss Louise Boillen and Miss Miriam Taylor of the physical education department, to represent the mythical team. Undoubtedly Esther Flynn A3 of Iowa City will be picked as forward, with Mona Silverthorne A3 of Wapello rating high for the position as the other forward. Flynn has shown herself to be one of the best forwards ever seen at Iowa, according to Miss Louise Boillen, and is second to no one in shooting baskets. Silverthorne, although handicapped because of her shortness is nevertheless a first rate forward, showing special ability in a hard fought battle. The other positions are in doubt, none of the rest being outstanding enough to definitely predict.

Juniors May Win

It is fairly safe to maintain that the junior team will win the silver loving cup at the banquet. In points from the games played they far surpass any of the other teams and they will undoubtedly win in the finals which will be played next Friday. The fact that this same team has won this cup ever since they have been in the university as freshmen speaks for their ability as basketball players.

"Not only is Esther Flynn the best woman forward seen at Iowa, but the junior team is the best woman team ever seen here" said Miss Louise Boillen, of the gymnasium department in speaking of their team.

Firsts And Seconds Attend

The first team and the second team members will attend the banquet. The second teams which have been announced so far are: Sophia M. Apel A1 of Rudd, Bertha Roberts A1 of Marion, Ruth Schutzbank A1 of Centerville, Genevieve Harter A1 of Keokuk, Pearl Augustine A1 of Ladora, Jennie Nidol A1 of Decora, Corine Mathis A1 of Boley, Okla., Coda Van Beek and Cora Van Beek both of Sioux Center.

The Sophomores second team are: Mary Leonard A2 of Mingo, Bertha Plowman A2 of Dowds, Mable B. Franklin A2 of Mingo, Alverda Rohwer A2 of Ida Grove, Lillian Barr A2 of Clarinda, Cleo B. Ruth A2 of South English, Alberta Leytze A2 of Independence, Hazel Holroyd A2 of Waukee, Esther Johnson A2 of Tip-ton.

Our greatest national holiday—the "Fourth of July"—marks the Nation's Birthday. The greatest of all religious holidays—Christmas—marks the birth of Christ.

We do not, as a nation, celebrate the day of Washington's greatest victory—we celebrate his Birthday. We do not celebrate the day of any of Abraham Lincoln's great achievements, we celebrate his Birthday.

When we look back over any great success, we look all the way back to the BEGINNING of the man or the nation.

FRESHMAN MAT MEN COMPLETE PRELIMINARIES

Ten Wrestlers Win By Falls; Semi-Finals To Be Held Soon

The last of the preliminaries of the freshman wrestling tournament was held yesterday afternoon in the men's gymnasium. Ten bouts were held and nine of the bouts were won by falls. The semi-finals will be held some time next week and finals of the featherweight and heavyweight divisions will be wrestled at the same time.

The first bout between Cohen and Cramer was postponed due to injuries of both competitors. These men are in the welterweight division.

There were two bouts in the light-weight class. Cralnek proved easy for Bickel in the first bout. Bickel won by a fall with a body chancery in 5:20. Lamb won from Devine in a hard match in the second match in this weight, when the former threw Devine with a body scissor after 8:40 of hard grappling.

Wins With Scissors

In the 158 pound class Doman lost to Lassen in 7 minutes when Lassen clamped a body scissor that would have held Johnny Meyers, giving him a fall. Jennings won from Armstrong with a body chancery in the second middleweight match in the short time of 1:50. Armstrong never had a chance. Jennings completely outclassed him.

The heavyweight bout brought forth Griffin, the husky lad from Sioux City who is slated to fill the heavyweight position left vacant by the graduat of Captain Johnny Heldt. Griffin won from Tiedman by a decision having 1:45 advantage. This gives Griffin the right to meet Krasuski in the finals next week.

In the semi-finals of the 125 pound class Chapman lost to Strubbe. Strubbe won by a fall in 4 minutes with a body scissor. Strubbe will meet Morvic in the finals.

Semi-Finals Next Week

In the other preliminaries of the 135 pound division, Munger won from Dearie on a fall with the body scissor in 7 minutes. Landis, the favorite in the division, threw Shiett with a head scissors in 2:30. Landis had little trouble with Shiett.

Ringland won from Russ in the light-heavyweight class with a body scissors and arm lock in 3:10. Ringland will meet Schroeder in the finals. Ringland should win.

The finals and semi-finals will be held sometime next week at the men's gym. Those who will compete are: 125 pound class, Strubbe vs. Morvic; 175 pound class, Ringland vs. Schroeder; heavyweight, Griffin vs. Krasuski. In the semi-finals: 135 pound class, Munger vs. Lamb, and Bickel vs. Landis; 158 pound class, Gratten vs. Jennings, and the winner will meet Lassen.

Grown-Up Kids To Frolic At W. A. A. Party This Evening

Bobbed haired kids and kids with long hair, kids tall and kids short will all be seen at the W. A. A. Kid party this evening at the women's gymnasium. The kids will start arriving at about seven-thirty and they will leave at 10 o'clock.

At this time candidates for W. A. A. officers will be voted upon. The candidates are:

For president: Frances Johnston Cm3 of Danville and Anna Doornick A2 of Sioux Center.

For vice-president: Esther Flynn A3 of Iowa City and Ruth Frerichs of Danville.

For secretary: Thelma Whimpey A2 of Albia and Evelyn Harter A2 of Keokuk.

For treasurer: Ruth V. Morris A3 of Stockport and Marporie E. Roth A1 of Ottumwa.

For historian: Althea James and Coda Van Beek A1 of Sioux Center.

For class representatives: sopomore, Eleanor Waldschmidt A1 of Burlington and Genevieve Harter A1 of Keokuk; junior, Evelyn Byrne A2 of Dubuque and Thora Drake A2 of Radcliff; senior, Helen Spencer A3 of Des Moines and Amy Benner A3 of Keokuk.

Such games as drop the handkerchief, blindman's buff and run sheep run will be played by the "kids" in regular kindergarten style. Popcorn balls and taffy apples will be served.

EASTER IS A TIME OF MOURNING IN CHINA; HAPPINESS ELSEWHERE

Easter according to authorities on the holidays of the year, is one of the three most important and most widely celebrated festival seasons in all Christendom, the other two being Christmas and Whitsuntide. The day, which commemorated the resurrection of the Lord and which is one of the oldest holidays in the Christian calendar is today observed in various ways throughout the world. However, in all Christian countries it is a day of joy and is celebrated in the church with elaborate ceremonies and in the home with feasting.

Apart from the religious observance of Easter, many strange customs have grown up around the holiday in the United States as well as in nearly every other country. In this country it marks the advent of spring and is the day on which everyone comes forth dressed in their spring clothes. In the larger cities especially, one can see on Easter Sunday, particularly if the weather is favorable, throngs parading up and down the most important thoroughfare dressed in their newest attire.

Fifth Avenue in New York and the Boardwalk in Atlantic City are two of the most famous places of Easter parades in America. These thoroughfares are veritable fashion shows, for here one may see the latest and most costly styles in dress of both men and women.

There is also an Easter custom, that of Easter egg hunting, which furnishes great fun for the children.

Easter in European countries is celebrated in virtually the same manner as in the United States. It is a day of great joy and is observed with many elaborate religious ceremonies. In the famous cathedrals of Milan, Rheims, Cologne, Westminster Abbey, and St. Peter's in Rome, Easter carols are sung and services held which last the greater part of the day. In St. Peter's especially are the Easter services elaborate, and are the main event of the day for the citizens of Rome and vicinity. For it is on Easter that the pope celebrates a pontifical high mass. This is a great day for the Italians and thousands fill St. Peter's hours before the services begin in order that they may not miss seeing the ceremonies.

In the far away Philippine Islands, now largely Christian, Easter extends over a period of nearly a week and virtually all necessary work is dispensed with and the natives of the islands join in one grand round of festivities. During the Easter season friends and relatives visit one another and exchange gifts similar to the season of Christmas. Small boys go about from house to house singing Easter carols and playing on native Philippine musical instruments. As a reward or recognition for their serenades the residents invite the boys in and give them cakes and Easter candies.

The religious observance of Easter in the Philippines is about the same as in the United States due to the Christian influence of the mission aries.

Strange as it may seem the season which corresponds to Easter in China and the non-Christian countries of the Orient is more or less of a period of mourning and lamentation instead of a time of hilarity and joy. The Chinese Easter is called the Tsing Ming festival and usually occurs about two weeks after the Christian Easter.

During the Tsing Ming festival the relatives and direct descendants of the dead go to the graveyards to worship their ancestors. This is one of the three times during the year that the graves of the Chinese ancestors are visited.

Part of the ceremonies held at the graveside consists of the eating of Tsoong Tse, a kind of sweet desert made of rice and wrapped in the leaves of a peculiar Chinese plant.

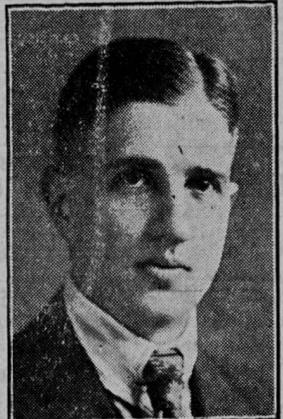

Baskets of imitation paper money and cakes made of rice and colored with the juice of ferns are brought to the tombs and burned for the dead. It is the belief that the dead use these things in spirit life.

EXPRESSING RADICAL VIEWS

Not infrequently college professors are taken to task by the laity for expressing unorthodox views. Especially is this true of state institutions. Here tax payers, since they must foot the bills, assume the right to order the brand of food which shall be served to students. The threat of dismissal and of public rebuke which the faculty must face under such circumstances, drives the weaker ones to the shelter of hypocrisy or to milk and water conservatism. Throttled by purse strings, education has little hope to attain a healthy state.

Universities have for centuries been the stronghold of liberalism—yes of radicalism. Their chief inner source of strength has rested in intellectual freedom and from this has come the great advances in the arts and sciences. By sheer force of reason the hide-bound and skeptical have gradually been converted from one stage to another without realizing that the views they now hold with such tenacity were once considered as extremely dangerous to society. The fight has gone on for centuries; each foot of ground has been hotly contested, and Reason has always won.

But notwithstanding the experience of ages we find certain individuals and groups today who, under the guise of doing humanity a good turn, deny the right of academic freedom. These same bigoted persons, by so doing, admit the weakness of their stand. Take the legislature of Wisconsin. Recently this august body adopted a set of resolutions excoriating the stand which members of the faculty of Wisconsin University took towards the war attitude of Senator LaFollette. Perhaps the professors were mistaken. Time will decide. The legislature of Wisconsin merely desired an opportunity to show its authority. Henceforth professors at that institution will keep their views to themselves or more drastic measures will be forthcoming. This is the meance and the threat.

DREAMS

Meditative dreams are the determinants of our future lives; they express our innermost longings, all that we shall try to achieve. Dreams are not peculiar to poets and artists, for most of us have them. Yours may be of a business office, with humble servants at your command, with the business of a city depending on you. Another's may be merely of a cozy, vine-covered cottage, and a life of contented laziness. But as we dream, so shall we become.

An indolent fisherman dreams of a life of idleness and placid satisfaction. He will not try to make his life otherwise. The farm boy dreams of owning his own farm and stock. He will direct his efforts to this end, though perhaps, when he has achieved it, his dreams will turn to higher things. The college student dreams of being a leader in his community—that is why he is attending college. People who do not have ambitious dreams are merely swept aimlessly along with the tide. They take things as they come, and wait for somebody to tell them what they must do and be. The dreamer has a definite goal to work toward, and his efforts are organized toward the fulfillment of the dream.

A dreamer does not always completely realize his aspirations. The fulfillment depends on how hard he works toward it. But a man can never go higher than his dreams, and if he does not dream of greater successes, he has no distant objective to direct his progress.

The Sounding Board

We were still musing and meditating on the weather last night, heaping maledictions and imprecations on it, when sudden a thought came, like a full-blown rose. It didn't exactly flush our brow, but it gave us a tip as to the whereabouts of the present state of the w. k. Iowa climate: "The time is out of joint."

That's it exactly. The timing gears on the calendar have slipped about a quarter of a turn, and March 21 now represents not the vernal equinox but the winter solstice. This theory was supported by sounds which reached our ears—cracking of whips and loud cries of "Mush! Mush!" denoting the rapid passage of a train of malamutes, swiftly carrying their master and his lady fair to the Pastime.

Later, when we had crawled beneath the dozen or so blankets on our bunk, we heard the soft thud of snowshoes, and knew that the half-breed Indian guide had returned from Cedar Rapids with the mail. Soothed by this pleasant knowledge, we rolled over and slept long and loud.

And while we are on the subject of our climate (which we have been for the past fortnight) we might say that we are by no means alone in our low estimate of its delightful qualities. Gordon Gin, deeply moved by March in Iowa, concludes a little paean as follows:

"O curse thy climate, our Iowa, and let not the voice of its fame be heard; which holdeth our fords in our garages in winter, or suffereth them to be stuck in the mud. For thou, climate of Iowa, hast proved us; thou hast tried us, as silver is tried. Thou confinest us to our homes; thou makest us wade in ice water up to our loins. We wade through fire and through water; but thou makest us money to deposit in the First National Bank. I will go into my house to make burnt offerings; I will buy thee my curses which my lips have muttered and my mouth hath spoken, when I was cold. I will offer unto my furnace kindling, with old newspapers; I will offer to it bituminous with a shovel. Selah."

Just a moment, readers! Just a moment! Whoa!

We find that our award of the varnished tooth-pick to the Harvard Crimson for the weirdest headline was hasty and ill-advised. We acted on the spur of the moment, which is generally a dangerous thing to do. There was absolutely no need to go so far afield to discover a suitable recipient for the prize, and our award is hereby withdrawn.

After mature deliberation, we have decided to confer the distinction on our own Daily Iowan for the following masterpiece:

"Budget Deficit To Be Swelled by Revenues."

The other day, in a newspaper article, we ran across a friend of ours whom we had not seen for a long time,—none other than our old acquaintance, "labor of love." Something was done (we forget what) as a labor of love.

Which led us to wonder if everything worth while that is accomplished isn't a labor of love. Love either for a person or for the work itself.

Getting back to glittering generalities, this is National Prune Week. And to think that we aren't eating at a boarding house!

Did you ever get a letter (after it had been "returned to sender" and delayed two or three weeks) all covered with U. S. P. O. rubber stamps? And did you pick out from the tangle one which read "Not in Directory. Directory Searcher 1"?

We have experienced this little diversion more than once, and as a result the Sounding Board will receive contributions from the student body to buy the Iowa City postoffice a student directory. We will start the fund with an unused 2-cent stamp.

The best cigaret in our opinion is the Piedmont. It is a mild, well-rolled, as well as a "tasty" cigaret. Then, too, the outlay required for a package of these is by no means prohibitive. The etching on the containing package is quite unique. Considered from every angle it is altogether the satisfactory cigaret. We have enough propaganda on other commodities. Why not a touch of it for a good "smoke"?

As F. Scott Fitzgerald would have it:
"The Little Lurch Around the Corner."

Vox Populi just came to bat to say that he wants the ice cream freezer which has been parked in the L. A. building entrance for the better part of the winter carted away. All right Vox, we'll see what we can do.

Officially the wrestling season will close next week.
Officially, we said.

Prejudices, Third Series

Reviewed by GEORGE STOUT

A BOOK OF ESSAYS
BY H. T. MENCKEN

H. L. Mencken has been diagnosed extensively and by a number of eminent literary practitioners most of whom admit that he has an acute capacity for criticism. Not long ago some one writing in a national review pronounced him a sterling puritan whining in disgust at the inferiority of modern civilization. Later a contributor to the same journal solemnly told his readers that Mr. Mencken was really an uncultured fellow speaking morbidly of things he knew nothing about. Eva Goldbeck concludes that he's the "Ponce de Leon of our contemporary literary life, journeying always in search of the Fountain of Youth—and Talent." More locally some moons since a professor in Drake University shook an acrimonious scalpel at this volcanic citizen of Baltimore, denouncing him in the column of a state newspaper, and there followed a dwindling controversy in which he and other professors were opposed by clever members of the younger set who delighted in Mencken's impertinence. All of them seemed to accept him as a most serious case, but for my own part I should like to shelve my free volume of "Prejudices, Third Series," Alfred A. Knopf, publisher, among the world's wit and humor.

Persons who think at all either take this word of men and affairs or turn it down. They do one or the other to a degree. They accept its buffoonery, its Rotary clubs, its Knights of Pythias, fundamentalists, sentimentalists, intelligentsia, and soap boilers as strange figures in the long pageant of humanity whose destiny no one man likely knows. They accept it or they don't. Shakespeare did. Voltaire didn't. Neither does Mencken but he turns down his thumbs with such amusement that I think of him as a humorist, and that because he makes me laugh.

He plays extensively with wit of exaggeration. It isn't funny to throw a rock at a man, but throw a pair of old shoes, seven tomatoes, and a pie, and straightway the affair becomes sidesplitting. If it did not our cinematographic Mida's would be trundling ash carts. So, Mencken from his back yard in Baltimore:

"The leading American musical director if he went to Leipzig would be put to polishing trombones or copying drum parts.—The leading American philosopher (now dead with no successor known to the average pedagogue) spent a lifetime erecting an epistemological defense for the national aesthetic maxim: 'I don't know nothing about music, but I know what I like.' Again, in "Star-Spangled Men":

"There is an undertaker at Hagerstown, Md., who has been initiated eighteen times. When he robs himself to plant a fellow joiner he weighs three hundred pounds and sparkles and flashes like the mouth of hell itself. He is entitled to wear seven swords, all jeweled, and to hang his watch chain with the golden busts of nine wild animals, all with precious stones for eyes. Put beside this lowly washer of the dead, Pershing newly polished would seem like a Trappist.

Mencken steps out of the back yard long enough to pay rather fine compliments to Huneker, Havlock Ellis, and a number of others, and to say some calmer things about criticism, poetry, and the novel. Largely, however, "Prejudices, Third Series," is a fusillade of literary pies hurled at us all from Warren Gamaliel to the newly born babe of a milk wagon man. He throws biscuits at our institutions, civil, religious, educational, and social. He even flips a jocose wafer at himself in this snug creed of Hedonism:

"To be happy (reducing the thing to its elements) I must be:

- Well-fed, unbounded by sordid cares, at ease in Zion.
- Full of a comfortable feeling of superiority to the masses of my fellow-men.
- Delicately and unceasingly amused according to my taste."

It is patently difficult for a man with a high, silk hat to sympathize in the humor of snow-balling. Possibly that is the reason for the frequently serious regard of the writings of H. L. Mencken. We are beginning to wonder, though, if many of our hats have not been dispensable, and worn with more than required ceremony.

Some deeply concerned persons have declared Mencken dangerous. That appears to be the most stupid diagnosis. Here, of course, are these whirling tarts, but baker's wares can't cripple a strong man, nor a strong crowd. Why not look at the facts with respect, think about his theories, and when the wind blows cold without, and flames lick the andirons, laugh at his pie-throwing wit? His swank is refreshing. Let's hops for more like it.

VALUABLE PLANT COLLECTIONS LOST

Glass Roof of Greenhouse Broken and Entire Contents of Building Freeze

In the storm Sunday afternoon ice blew off the roof of Old Science hall and crashed through the glass in the roof of the smaller two botany greenhouses. The accident was not discovered until Monday morning, but the Thermograph running in the greenhouse showed by the abrupt drop in temperature that it occurred at 2:15 p. m. Sunday.

All of the plants in the greenhouse were lost, with the exception of a Tassel tree and some plants growing under water, the temperature reaching 6 degrees above zero. Several hundred geraniums, both red and pink varieties, were just ready for planting out on the campus. The greatest loss in collections was the entire collection of cacti and desert plants.

Twenty or more species of cacti had been brought together from all parts of the world. Professor Bohumil Shimek had brought some from Canada, and Professor Clifford H. Farr had secured a number through the Missouri Botanical Garden, and from travelers in various places. Century plants, desert yuccas, Jamaica hog plums, night blooming cereus, and a number of kinds of plants as oxalis and cyperus used in experiments were completely destroyed.

Experiments of the class in plant physiology which had been running for over a month were brought abruptly to a close. The only redeeming feature is that specimens of four or five of the kinds of plants which were lost, were loaned some time ago to the Child Welfare Research station for decorating the school room. From these plants some cuttings may be secured which will eventually replace a small portion of the loss.

This is the second time within a week that the green houses have been damaged by snow slides. The glass roof on one of the houses was badly broken last week, causing a heavy loss.

WOMEN'S DEBATE QUESTION CHANGED

Debaters Believe New Subject Offers Opportunities For Hard Contest

The question for the women's debates with Washington University, St. Louis, has been changed from "Resolved: That France, considering the best interests of the allies, acted wisely in entering the Ruhr" to "Resolved: That France Was Justified in Entering the Ruhr." The change narrows the question, and makes it more debateable, according to authorities in the public speaking department here.

"It is a timely subject," said Edith N. Evans A3 of Webster City first speaker on the affirmative team, which will debate here March 27. "It is a subject which everyone should be interested in," she continued. She is a member of Hamlin Garland literary society, Y. W. C. A., and W. A. A. and formerly attended Cornell college, where she had experience in debating on a literary society team.

"The question is one which gives great opportunity for debating strategy," is the belief of Gertrude Muxen A3 of Carroll, second speaker on the affirmative team. "We feel that we will meet a university which will give us keen competition." Miss Muxen had experience last year as alternate for the team which defeated Indiana.

"Something may come up any day which will affect the question," said Vivian A. Conrad A2 of Burlington, in speaking of the proposition. Miss Conrad is a member of Y. W. C. A. and W. A. A. and is affiliated with Delta Zeta sorority. She had considerable debating experience in school at Burlington being third speaker on the teams which defeated Cedar Rapids, Centerville, and Ottumwa.

LIBRARY TRAINING COURSE ON AGAIN

Six Instructors to Give Six Weeks Summer Course; Many Subjects

A library training course will be offered to all students interested in library work the first six weeks of the coming summer term. The course is to be under the direction of Miss Blanche Watts, who has been the director for several years. Other members of the staff will be, Grace Shellenberger, instructor in library work with children; Cora Hendee, instructor in book selection and classification; Alice B. Story, instructor in cataloging; Pearl G. Carlson, M. A., instructor in revision and Mary E. Stewart, general assistant.

The library course includes, "Book Selection" which includes the principles of the selection of books, including public documents with practical work in American trades bibliography. "Library Administration", "Cataloging", "Classification" which deals with the subject matter of a book with a view to the arrangement on the shelves. "Reference Work", "Children's Literature" and "Accessions and Minor Subjects". This is a study of the mechanical preparation of books, binding etc.

In connection with the course there will be a conference for library workers all over the state of Iowa from June 27 to 28. Several speakers, who are specialists in library work, have been secured to come. Among the speakers there will be Mary E. Hazeltine, Preceptor of the University of Wisconsin library school and Charles H. Brown, Librarian at the Iowa State College at Ames.

From the present interest that is being shown in the course a very large enrollment is anticipated.

TENNIS PLAYERS PRACTICE INDOORS

Forty Candidates Look For Keen Competition When Weather Opens

Awaiting the opening of favorable weather to use the university tennis courts near the men's gymnasium forty men are now practicing three times each week in the upstairs gymnasium getting in trim for the coming tennis season. Great interest is being taken in tennis this year.

The work which the men can go through in the gymnasium is very limited. They can merely bat the ball against the walls, but this preliminary work will be of value in getting an eye for the ball and training in foot work to some extent. The various strokes cannot be practiced to any extent on the inside court.

The forty men out for tennis are eagerly awaiting warm weather and the opening of the tennis courts for use. As soon as weather permits, transfer will be immediately made to

The interest that has been displayed in tennis thus far is very marked. The number of men out now is the largest ever out for the sport. Some excellent material will no doubt be developed to carry the university's colors in tests with other teams.

Thus far, the following matches have been scheduled: Iowa at Wisconsin, April 28; Iowa at Minnesota May 12; a match with Chicago May 19. The conference matches will be held at Chicago May 22, 23 and 24.

Miss Watkins to Lecture at Fort Dodge Convention

Miss Emma Watkins of the university elementary school, will leave Iowa City on Thursday for Fort Dodge, where she will address the North Central State Teachers' Association which meets March 23rd, 24th, and 25th. Miss Watkins will address the primary teachers on Friday on "How to teach silent reading" and will demonstrate silent reading with a group of second grade youngsters. The flashcards she will use in the demonstration have been devised by Miss Watkins and Dr. Ernest Horn, professor of education.

Miss Watkins is especially well equipped to talk to the state teachers because of her experimental work with the children in the University Elementary School, and her success with the flash cards. Her book "How to teach silent reading to beginners" has just recently been granted state option in Iowa. This means that it is one of the five books accepted by the state reading circle.

Miss Watkins will return to Iowa City on Sunday.

INDOOR SEASON COMES TO CLOSE

Track Men Trade Events In Workout; Practice For Drake Relays

Trading events yesterday, Iowa track men took a light workout in the armory before closing the indoor track season. Wilson ran the hurdles, Crawford high jumped and several other men whose ordinary events are the half and mile run put the shot.

The indoor season is over, and several weeks must pass before outdoor works start, but Iowa track men will continue to workout in the new armory. Their schedules of work will be lightened but all will be given enough to keep them in fair shape for the Drake Relays, the first event of the outdoor season.

The indoor season has been a successful one. The Hawkeyes defeated Wisconsin in the first meet of the year, getting revenge for the defeat of the previous year. They won the mile relay at the Illinois Relay Carnival, and placed in several other events at that meet. Illinois defeated Iowa in the Iowa-Illinois dual meet, but Iowa came back in god shape at the conference meet making a total of 16 1-2 points for third place. The mile relay team again won, coming within three fifths of a second of the conference record.

Besides these conference meets, the Hawkeye relay team went to Kansas City to an invitation meet, and defeated the relay team of the University of Kansas.

Bill To Place Tax On Gasoline Now Before Legislature

Des Moines, March 20—A tax upon gasoline sold at retail in Iowa of 2 cents a gallon is half way through the Iowa legislature. After debate of only a few minutes, the senate today passed the Caldwell gas tax bill as amended by Senator Mead of Butler. The vote was 26 to 19.

The bill provides that the tax shall be collected at the gas and oil stations and be remitted to the county treasurer once a month. The fund thus created is to be controlled by the state and is to be apportioned among counties according to area, half of the money going into the primary road fund and the remainder to be spent on secondary roads.

The bill declares that counties may use the gas money apportioned to secondary roads in replacement of the present two mill county road building levies. The repeal of these levies, however, is not demanded.

Senator Mead estimated that the 2 cent tax will produce about $3,000,000 a year.

The bill now goes to the house where a committee gasoline tax bill is now on the calendar which provides for a 2 cent tax all of which shall be spent on secondary roads.

After a long series of defeats the Holdegal-Stoddard group of the senate came back into power today and indefinitely postponed the Shinn bill which would have made primary road funds the property of the county to which change in the road law has been one of the main planks in the platform of the anti-highway commission legislators. The debate today went into the whole question of road legislation. There were twenty-six votes one more than the constitutional majority, against the bill.

30,000 Refugees In Asia Minor Colony Disease Stricken

(By United News)

Athens, March 20—Thirty thousand refugees in Asia Minor are suffering from cholera, smallpox and typhus and half of them, under the prevailing death rate, are doomed to die within a few months.

Doctor Wilfred Post, Boston, medical director of the American Near-Eastern Relief at Constantinople, made this statement in an official report Tuesday. The condition of the disease stricken colony of Christians who were driven from the plains of Anatolia by the Turks is a menace to the health of the world, Doctor Post stated.

An effective quarantine he pointed out, is impossible. The fish in the harbor, he said, devour the filth from the diseased laden refugee ships and the people of Constantinople eat the fish.

Tickets For Drake Relays Are Being Sold Through Mail

Des Moines, March 20—Mail order reservations for tickets for the fourteenth annual Drake University relay carnival April 27 and 28 can now be received, Kenneth L. Wilson, athletic director, Drake, announced today. The applicants will be filled in the order of their arrival.

The general ticket sale will not open until early in April, but to avoid the last-minute rush and complaint that the best tickets are allotted to Des Moines, Director Wilson is making reservations for out-of-town track fans in advance.

Reserved seat tickets for the meet will cost $2 and the holder will be entitled to admission to the stadium on the two days of the meet, Friday and Saturday. The Drake carnival is not conducted for profit, all the receipts being pro-rated among visiting teams to help defray expenses.

The winning of the Freshman Declamatory contest is the highest forensic honor to be won by a freshman in the University. It is an annual affair, and this year year's large entry list promises a contest of unusual interest and merit.

University High Glee Club Will Give "Wild Rose"

The U. Hi Girl's Glee Club will present an operetta "The Wild Rose" tonight and tomorrow night at eight o'clock in the Little Theatre.

The operetta which is a light musical comedy takes up the story of Rosa McCullough, popular society belle who grows tired of her daily round of gaiety, and decides to go on the stage. It is her wish to take the leading part in a play by Lady Gray, an eccentric playwright, who refuses to consider her, saying that she is too frivolous. Disappointed in her wishes, Rose McCloud goes to her country home, where she wins the friendship of an old lady who afterward proves to be Lady Grey. She is of course given the part in the play, and is thus made happy.

The cast of characters is as follows: Rosa McCloud, Olive Klingaman tonight, and Cleo Conlin Thursday; Mary Forsythe, her secretary and friend, Katherine Horack; Mrs. Fussy, her housekeeper, Viola Stevens; Lady Grey the playwright, Ruth McGoveny; three reporters, Miss Writeup, Miss Putemdown, and Miss Storychaser, played by Gertrude Gustad, Geneva Gough and Sarah Hall; four debutantes, Dora Flora, Molly, and Polly are played by Adelaide Hindrichs, Dorothy Day, Janet Anderson and Irma Pheid; Miss Talkalot, a suffragette, Louise Slemmons; Miss Doingood, a charity worker, by Alberta Krozier; Hadame Feathertop, a milliner, by Helen Koser; Madame Sewsaems, a dressmaker, Alice Plum; Madame Smellsweet, a perfumer, by Ruth Bywater; and Bobbie, the Buttons, by Marguerite Ingram tonight and Lila Gringer Thursday night. The chorus of the Maids, includes Miona Probest, Bertha Koser, Clara Vanourney, Mary Werlsbougher, Helen Hunt, Dorothy Goethe, Martha Oberman, Gertrude Opel and Faye Spony.

The cast also includes "The City People, which is the entire Glee Club, and a cat.
