HEAVY DAMAGE DONE TO CROPS BY COLD WAVE

Southern Fruit Harvest Hit; Truck Crops Will Be Replanted In Alabama

(By United News)
Washington, March 21—Serious damage to the southern fruit crops resulted from the last cold wave, according to reports to the department of agriculture. The damage ran as high as 80 per cent for Alberta peaches in North Carolina. Heavy damages were reported to the Louisiana strawberry crop, and to potatoes in the middle western states one third of the crop is lost.

The department's summary of the damage follows:

Serious damage to the peach crop in Georgia, Texas, Alabama, Arkansas and North Carolina as a result of the recent cold wave is reported.

The damage in Alabama, Arkansas and Georgia is estimated up to 50 per cent of the crop. In Texas 60 per cent of the Alberta buds were killed with less damage to the early varieties. Early advices from North Carolina indicate damage up to 80 per cent for Albertas and Hales with less damage to Bells and other early varieties.

Plantings in the lower Rio Grande valley escaped injury.

Early potatoes in South Carolina and Florida were uninjured. Early sweet potatoes in East Texas are a complete loss. The Mississippi Crisco springs district suffered a 30 per cent loss; beets 40 per cent, peas 75 per cent, cabbage 25 per cent and tomatoes 10 per cent. Tomatoes and early beans in Louisiana show 50 per cent damage. Beans were slightly damaged in South Carolina. Beans, cucumbers and small truck crops in Alabama were killed but will be replanted.

The apple crop in Arkansas and Missouri was practically unhurt. No important crop damage is reported from Florida. Vegetables in the lower Rion Grande valley were unhurt.

Y. W. INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS

Ada Yoder Explains Work At Girls' Department In Association

The Young Women's Christian Association installed the five officers elected by ballot last week, and seven department chairmen for 1923-24 at the regular meeting yesterday at 4 p. m. in liberal arts drawing room. The officers installed are: Charlotte Fisk A3 of Iowa City, president; Maudine Shoemith A3 of Guthrie Center, vice-president; Dorothy Hodoegal A1 of Rockwell City, secretary; Judith Tornell A2 of Pilot Mound, treasurer, and Roberta Anderson A3 of Madrid undergraduate representative.

Heads of department include: Lois McAdow A3 of Webster City, membership, Margaret Sayers A2 of Jefferson, religious work; Darleen Breeding A1 of Davenport, world fellowship; Leona Hambrecht A3 of Iowa City, social service; Gail De Wolf A3 of Spencer, social; Emily Withrow A3 of Mount Pleasant, finance, and Hortense Finch A2 of Davenport, publicity. The twelve women who compose the executive council will take up their duties at once and will serve for one year.

Retiring officers are: Roberta Anderson A3 of Madrid, president;

INDIANS ON WARPATH SUBDUED; MEMORIES OF 1800 RECALLED

(By United News)
Salt Lake City, March 21—Piute Indians, after beginning a startling uprising which recalled memories of the bloody frontier wars of the last century, had been pretty well shunted off the war path Wednesday night.

Fifty Piute braves are held under guard at Blanding; one had been killed, two wounded, and the remainder of the band was scattered and leaderless according to reports brought here by couriers.

CAPITAL NOT ALARMED BY LABOR PARTY

England Feels Workers' Rule Will Come But Will Be Gradual Evolution

(United News Staff Correspondent)
London, March 21—The campaign of the British labor party to make a socialistic state of England has failed to produce alarm either in this country or on the continent.

Despite the fact that the laborites in the house of commons have fired their first guns against the present industrial order by introducing a bill for the nationalization of land—the initial step in the "gradual suppression of the capitalist system"—conservatives and capitalists refused to become apprehensive.

No one, not even the usual alarmists, has cried "bolshivist" at the effort of the laborites to remake England.

Although the English believe that a labor movement is sure to come sooner or later, it is generally believed that the English race which has swallowed many conquerors and bred so many new nations will be able to smooth over any revolutionary force thereby bringing about an orderly evolutionary process.

It is pointed out that the British hard common sense can easily overwhelm any forces of a revolutionary nature which seek to control the country. Many believe that the laborites, even Philip Snowden, the leader of the radical wing, will gradually modify their proposed policy.

It is considered significant that investors, the capitalists of the continental nations, continue to pour their money into English enterprises even to a greater extent than before the war. This proves to many that those who would be hardest hit by an option of socialistic doctrines are still backing England with their funds.

Competent observers are certain that even if the labor party ruled the country there would be no attempt at property confiscation and that in case land was nationalized the owners would be fully reimbursed.

The workers, when they came into their own, would undoubtedly pass many measures beneficial to themselves but, it is believed, would not bring about any fundamental change that would be harmful to the country as a whole.

SET APRIL 17 FOR TRYOUTS IN PEACE CONTEST

Iowa Representative To Speak In Oratorical Meet At Parsons College

The date for the University Peace oratorical contest has been placed on Tuesday, April 17, at 8 p. m. in the liberal arts auditorium. This contest is the preliminary to the Iowa State Peace oratorical contest to be held at Parsons college, Fairfield, Iowa, on May 12. The winner of the University contest will be the representative of the university in the state oratorical meet. To this contest, any undergraduate is eligible for entrance. His oration, however, must be on some phase for the problem of international peace. It is this requirement which gives the contest its distinctive character. The orations are limited in length to sixteen minutes speaking time.

The university entrant, selected in the preliminary on April 17, in the Iowa State Peace oratorical contest at Parsons college, will be competing for prizes, $50 to first place or $40 to second place, and the right to enter his oration in the National Peace oratorical contest. In selecting the winner at Parsons college, the University contestant will be standing against representative orators from Iowa State college, Iowa State Teachers' college, Drake university, Morningside college and Parsons college. This contest will be judged by three experts from outside the state. Then the winner of first place becomes the state representative to the national meet.

In the national oratorical contest, the orations on international peace are sent in to the national association to be judged on thought and composition. They are not delivered in an actual contest. The decision is made without delivery, judgment being from the text of the oration. In this national contest, orations from Iowa, Kansas, Texas, Louisiana, North Carolina, Ohio, Indiana, Minnesota, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Oregon and Missouri will be submitted.

PRAISE FARR FOR PLANT TREATISE

Yale Professor Discovers Similar References In Old Sanscrit Works

"The Psychology of Plants" an article written by Prof. Clifford H. Farr of the department of Botany and which appeared in the December issue of the Atlantic Monthly has received a great deal of recognition and varied interpretation in different quarters. "Some are finding in it that which satisfies their mystical desires; others apparently see in it a greater admiration for 'our silent plant partners;' and still others seem to regard it as a gentle reflection upon the superiority of man," Professor Farr said. If Dr. W. W. Keen of Philadelphia, one of the oldest surgeons in the country and the originator of brain surgery, in the second edition of his book "I Believe in God and in Evolution" which was published in February, devotes several pages to the use of Professor Farr's article, using it in his chapters on the close relations of plants and animals.

Prof. E. Washburn Hopkins of Yale wrote about references to simi-

ELECT FRANCES JOHNSTON W.A.A. HEAD FOR YEAR

Thelma Whimpey Chosen Vice President; Ruth Morris Selected Treasurer

Frances M. Johnston A3 of Danville was elected president of W. A. A. for the coming year after the close balloting of yesterday. The other officers are: Esther Flynn A3 of Iowa City vice president; Thelma Whimpey A2 of Albia, secretary; Ruth Morris A3 of Stockport, treasurer; Coba Van Beek A1 of Sioux Center, historian; Helen Spencer A3 of Des Moines, senior representative; Thora Drake, junior representative; Eleanor Waldschmidt A1 of Burlington, sophomore representative. The W. A. A. polls were open to coed voters yesterday and the results were announced last evening at the "kid" party in the women's gymnasium.

Miss Johnston has shown herself to be capable in every way to fill the office of president. She has been active in sports, playing on the basketball team, and has been treasurer of W. A. A. for the past year, and also keeper of awards. Along with the other activities that the presidency of the organization involves is a trip to Berkeley, California, sometime next spring where Miss Johnston will represent the women's athletic organization at that time.

The activities of Esther Flynn, the new vice president, are numerous. She is a member of W. A. A. showing her ability by being a member of the basketball and baseball teams every year that she has been in school, and acting as junior class representative for the organization for the past year. She is affiliated with Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, and is a member of Y. W. C. A.

Thelma Whimpey, the secretary for the coming year, holds a good record in sports. She made the freshman basketball team during her first year in school, and is a member of both the basketball and soccer teams this year, also acting as head of basketball for W. A. A. (Continued on page 8)

Nine Leave To Hear Paderewski In His Des Moines Concert

The appearance of Ignace Jean Paderewski in concert in Des Moines last night was the incentive for a number of the students and faculty of the school of music to go to the capital city. Those who attended the concert include Dr. Phillip G. Clapp, head of the school of music, Mrs. Anna D. Starbuck of the faculty, Audrey Camp A4 of Arispe, Etta Stanton A2 of Des Moines, Clees McKray A1 of Earlham, Merle Miller A2 of Independence, Margaret Starbuck A4 of Iowa City, Helen Downs A2 of Osceola, and Marian Edman A3 of Monte Vista, Colo.

Paderewski, hailed since his return to the concert stage after a stormy political career as the most notable of living pianists, attracted many music lovers from all over the state. Those from the university who heard him last night were much delighted with his playing program, and speak in highest praise of his mastery of the piano. The critics everywhere agree that he has attained a perfection of his art which was never his at the height of his popularity before he returned to Poland, to serve his native country as its foremost statesman, yet in the past he was acclaimed as the world's greatest pianist.

FRANC GAINS THIRD OF CENT AS A RESULT OF REPARATIONS RUMOR

(By United News)
New York, March 21—The French franc went up a third of a cent and Belgian and Italian exchange also rose here Wednesday as a result of confidence in a German reparations settlement. Francs are now worth about 6 2-3 of a cent more than week ago.

600 FAIL DUE TO TRAINING IN HIGH SCHOOL

Bill For Two Course Study In Prep Schools Proposed By Gallagher

"Already this year 600 students have flunked out of the state university because of inadequate training in high schools," said Representative Gallagher in the course of a vituperative attack on the school system of the state, which he made on the floor of the house of representatives at Des Moines yesterday. "They are cheating and cribbing their way to diplomas which mean nothing," he continued. "Superintendent Studebaker of Des Moines schools boasts that his schools have more courses of study than Yale had forty years ago. That is nothing to boast about! The taste in literature of the average student runs to newspaper cartoons."

Gallagher introduced a bill providing for two courses of study in high schools. There was also a clause prohibiting interscholastic contests between high schools of the state.

It was said that he saved his bill from death by indefinite postponement of the report of the house schools committee. His bill was placed upon the calendar for future vote.

UNIVERSITY PLAY TAKEN ON TOUR

Present "Merchant of Venice" In Fort Dodge And Cedar Falls This Week-End

Twenty-five people will make the trip with "The Merchant of Venice" when it goes on tour to Fort Dodge and Cedar Falls Friday and Saturday. The cast including the University string quartette, will leave Friday morning at 4:50 on the interurban to Cedar Rapids and will leave there at 6:30 for Fort Dodge. Prof. E. C. Mabie and the executive staff will precede the cast, leaving here at the same time this morning.

The staff includes Gregory Foley A4 of Rock Rapids, stage manager, Walter Dehner A4 of Iowa City, master of lighting, Helen Langworthy '22, art director, Glenn Johnson M3 of Chariton and Roy Guyan A1 of Rock Rapids, assistant stage managers.

Full equipment will be taken, including lights and settings, and a special baggage car will be used to carry it.

The equipment is equal to that carried by the best road company and requires a competent staff to load it and set it up.

The performance in Fort Dodge is to be given before the North Central Teachers' Association and in Cedar Falls "The Merchant of Venice" is to be given for the Iowa State Teachers College. It is a recognition of the artistic accomplishments of the Iowa State University's dramatic department.

MANY FAILURES DUE TO FRENCH RUHR INVASION

Business Losses Great; Unstable Conditions Mark Trade As Cuno Waits

(By United News)
Berlin, March 21—Failure of the big metal firm involving billions of marks and the probable collapse of the Halle grain firm and other commercial enterprises has caused industrialists of the country to bring pressure to bear on Chancellor Cuno to seek a settlement of the Ruhr crisis.

The unstable condition of business in Germany which is attributed to the French Ruhr blockade was reflected on the Bourse Wednesday when the stock list moved down in panicky fashion.

A threatened strike of miners in the upper Silesia field, with the probable result that industries which already feel the pinch of lack of coal shipments from the Ruhr will soon be deprived of supplies of fuel coming from unoccupied portions of the country, has added to the alarm.

Big business men, it is understood, are objecting to what they term the obstinacy of Cuno regarding a Ruhr settlement. An influential group insists that business is suffering severely because of the French occupation and that the government should not stand on technicalities but make an effort to start negotiations with France. The industrialists contend that a peace move would not mean a surrender to France but would be a sensible act under the circumstances.

CHANGE DEBATE DATE TO APRIL 5

Iowa-Washington Debate Here Will Be Decided By One Expert

The date for the Women's Iowa-Washington debate which was to have been held on March 27 has been changed to April 5. The change was made at the request of Washington University which has had so many debates during the past month that it was unable to work for this one.

Prof. J. P. Ryan, head of the department of speech at Grinnell has been secured to act as judge for the debate here. Professor Ryan judged the debate with Minnesota which was held here this year. Iowa will employ the system of one expert judge for the debate, but Washington will use the three judge method for the debate at St. Louis.

Spring Is Here To Stay And Winter Is Gone—Reilly

With the first day of spring already passed on the calendar, with grass showing green under the fast melting snow, and with Prof. J. F. Reilly believing that the backbone of the winter of 1922-23 is completely broken, warm, balmy spring days appear not far distant.

Ever since the theoretical first day of spring, the weather has been taking on very gentle aspects. The thermometer hovers at 43 for the highest temperature yesterday and 30 for the lowest. A storm coming down from the northwest and believed to be bringing with it snow for Wednesday failed to mature up to last last night, and it was Professor Reilly's opinion that it passed around Iowa City.

4 PERSONS DOING CLINICAL WORK

Mental Examinations Are Given To Grade Children By Dr. Morgan

"There is a large field open to those who are interested in clinical psychology," Dr. J. B. Morgan, director of the Psychopathic Clinic said. There are four who are doing clinical work this year, they are; Fernelle Briggs, who is doing Psychological work for her master's degree besides half time work in the clinic; Harold Fossler, a research assistant, who is also working for his master's degree; Lee Travis, who is getting his doctors degree in clinical Psychology and who conducted tests in Marion; and John C. Tjaden who is head of the Extension Department of at the University of Minnesota is conducting a survey at Eldora and working on his doctors degree.

"One of the more recent developments, and one for which the above are qualified, is that of conducting mental examinations in the grade schools of Iowa on those children who have been referred to the examiner by teachers who have selected from the school all those who show any marked peculiarities of intellect, emotion, or conduct," he said.

At present only those schools are examined where the superintendent has asked for Dr. Morgan to come, and since Dr. Morgan alone is conducting these tests he is only able to get to a very few schools; soon he hopes to have representatives who will cover all the schools in the state.

"The objects in this work are to use the tests on the children when they first come to school and if they are exceptional in any way to either remedy the trouble or to give them training fitted to their mental capacity, or in the case of thyroid gland trouble if the treatment is given when young enough is may help. The troubles which are most prevalent are: speech defects which in many cases can be remedied with drill, weak-mindedness, and many cases which I examine are normal but they weren't getting along with the teacher and she thought that they were deficient," Dr. Morgan said.

Dr. Morgan said, "The parents do not resent our doing this work, in fact most of them realize that their child is defective in some way and are very grateful to us if we can do anything for them."

SEASHORE'S TEXT BOOK READY SOON

Selection of Topics Is Made From Experiences In Class Room

A new textbook in psychology by Dean Carl E. Seashore, dean of the graduate college and professor of philosophy and psychology, is now in press and will be presented to the public in about a month. The book, which is entitled, "Introduction to Psychology," is intended as a textbook for the teaching of elementary psychology to college students, and represents the principal content of the course in psychology as it has gradually developed at this university. Each chapter in the new book completes a topic, so that they may be studied almost in optional order, due to this completeness. The new feature for the textbook, according to Dr. Seashore, is the fact that this text is built on the inductive method. Each topic is introduced by an experiment, so that the student has a basis for the more difficult work to follow. The materials for the experiment are very simple, so that they can be provided without any difficulty.

Proof-sheets for the new book, which is being published by the Mac-Millan company, Chicago, Ill., are already in the office of the dean, and the first copies are expected soon. There will be twenty-four chapters, each dealing with one large and important phase of the subject and the subdivisions will be printed in heavy black-face type.

"The selection of topics has been made on the basis of experiment in the class room, bearing in mind that the aim of the course is not to make technical psychologists, but to make an introduction to psychology function in the life of all students both in and after college," says Dean Seashore in his preface.

Dean Seashore is the author of several other text-books in psychology. One of these, "Elemental Experiments in Psychology," is used in connection with the elementary psychology course in the university. This book has been more extensively used than any other manual of experiments in psychology in any language. "The Psychology of Musical Talent" and "Psychology in Daily Life" are other books by Dr. Seashore.

RIFLE TEAM QUALIFIES FOR N. I. S. MATCH

Iowa Teams Get Fifth And Sixth Places From Nineteen Entries

Of the nineteen teams entered in the seventh corps area rifle matches which were completed some weeks ago, the three Iowa teams placed in fifth, sixth and tenth places. The first and second teams which finished in fifth and sixth places qualified for the National Intercollegiate Senior team match which is to be fired under the auspices of the war department between now and May 31. This match is to be fired by the R. O. T. C. team.

The seventh corps area tournament is held between schools in this part of the country and qualification this is merely a stepping stone for the national tournament. The six teams which will represent this area among the fifty teams from the entire country are as follows. The final scores made in the tournament are added,

South Dakota State College	5725
University of Missouri	5706
University of Minnesota	5696
Kansas Aggies	5570
University of Iowa (first team)	5513
University of Iowa (second team)	5328

In the match last week end the R. O. T. C. team defeated the University of Delaware's team by the decisive score of 1828 to 1658 points. This score was made out of a possible 2000 points. Following is the individual scores of the Iowa marksmen:

F. Fanselow	191
R. W. Ballard	188
W. J. Dehner	188
E. S. Moore	187
George Fabricius (captain)	184
D. Furrer	180
G. Houston	179
D. W. Bray	179
E. R. Kinnaird	177
I. L. Sorenson	175

On this coming week-end the varsity team will run up against the stiffest schedule thus far this season. Matches will be fired with the Universities of Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin. The R. O. T. C. team will fire a return match with the University of Northwestern.

Three Fellowships In Social Economic Research Offered

Three fellowships carrying stipends of $500 each in social-economic research are offered by the department of research of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union, Boston, Mass. Clerical assistance, equipment, and traveling expenses necessary for the investigation are also furnished by the department, according to information received in the office of the dean of women.

Qualifications of candidates include a degree from a college of good standing, training in economics, or sociology, and satisfactory references in regard to health, character, and special fitness for research work. The research students are expected to devote their entire time for ten months to the training given by the department. Training is given in the making and criticism of schedules, in field work, in the construction and interpretation of statistical tables, and in the literary presentation of the results of the investigations. All students are required to take the course in statistics offered.

Applications must be filed out before May 1. Application blanks and answers to inquiries may be obtained from the Department of Research, Women's Educational and Industrial Union, 264 Boylston Street, Boston, Mass. The office of the dean of women is able to supply definite information.

Eats Soap, Breaks Suspenders — Can't Find Way To Die

(By United News)
Waukegan, Ill., March 20—Frank Bartos, a vagrancy prisoner wanted to die. First he ate a bar of soap. The lye in the soap didn't kill him as he suspected. Then he jumped into a full bathtub and opened his mouth in an attempt to drown.

The water he drank mixed with the soap he swallowed and soon Bartos was blowing bubbles.

A frightened prisoner called the jailer but before that official arrived Bartos had tied his suspenders about his neck.

The suspenders busted. Bartos is disgusted. His sanity will be tested when he recovers.

Bryn Mawr Offers Five Scholarships For Coming Year

Bryn Mawr College has announced the Carola Woerishoffer fellowships and scholarships for the year 1923-24. These deal with graduate work in the department of social economy and social research, and aim to give ample preparation for positions in social agencies, social institutions, community organizations, manufacturing and mercantile industries, organizations dealing with industrial problems, and social and industrial research.

The two Memorial fellowships are of the value of $810, and are awarded to persons having completed one year of graduate work at some college of good standing. Two Grace H. Dodge fellowships of the value of $810 are awarded yearly. A resident inter-collegiate service association joint fellowship is offered which is valued at $650.

Two Carola Woerishoffer Memorial scholarships are given with a value of $350 each, and the Grace H. Dodge scholarships are worth $350. A $400 scholarship is offered by the Robert Valentine Memorial. The Susan B. Anthony Memorial Research is valued at $550, and the holder is required to complete for publication some study in either social Economy and Social Research or in Politics.

The information concerning these scholarships is sent to the Dean of Women at this University, and all further inquiries that anyone should wish to make may be obtained from the Office of the Recording Dean, Bryn Mawr, Penn.

Ohio State University

"Zip", a fat roly, poly nine months old bull-pup, pet of the Xi Psi Phi fraternity, has at last satisfied himself that he is worthy the honor of mascot to a dental fraternity.

Saturday afternoon a gold crown was placed on one of his front teeth, and Zip is now one of the few canine species who can boast of this distinction.

The tooth is of lustrous, shiny gold, and Zip, being of a good natured disposition has been laughing continually, just to show the tooth.

University of Oklahoma

Dr. Homer T. Dodge, professor of physics, has received a letter from the United States Civil Service commission announcing a competitive examination for the selection of meteorologists for government service. The examinations are open to seniors who have made physics their major.

Those successfully completing the examination will be given weather jobs with a salary of $2,250 to $3,000 to start with, and good chances for promotion.

University of Missouri

Only graduates of medical colleges which the state board of health considers reputable will be allowed to take examinations for licenses according to provisions of a bill passed by the state senate Friday afternoon. A bill passed two years ago removed the word "reputable" from the law. It was opposed by the state medical society, which backed the bill passed in the present session.

Cornell University

The valuable herbarium and botanical library of the late Prof. E. J. Durand, '93, has been purchased by the trustees of Cornell, and will presently be returned to the place where Durand began his collection thirty years ago while attending school at Cornell. The library contains many rare and valuable books. The herbarium consists of some 12,000 specimens, a large part of which are in the field of discomycetes, in which Prof. Durand had come to be recognized as a world authority.

Harvard University

Arrangements have been made for an exchange of tutors next year between Harvard university and Oxford and Cambridge universities. Two Harvard tutors will teach in the English universities next year, one in history at Oxford, and the other in economics at Cambridge, an Oxford tutor in history and a Cambridge tutor in economics coming here at the same time.

"THE PLAN" REPRINTS FARR'S ARTICLE

An article by Prof. Clifford H. Farr of the botany department on "The Psychology of Plants", which appeared in the December issue of the Atlantic Monthly, was reprinted in the last issue of "The Plan", the magazine of the Pennsylvania Lumbermen's Association published in Philadelphia.

It was reprinted with the special permission of the Atlantic Monthly and of Prof. Farr. This article, dealing with the probability of plants possessing minds, has attracted a great deal of attention.

WRESTLING AND BOXING PROMISE FAST WIND-UP

Colby, Corey and Fagan Try In Welter-weight Semi-finals This Afternoon

The bout this afternoon between Colby and either Corey or Fagan in the welter-weight division semifinals will be the only boxing match this afternoon. All of the other classes have finished their semi-finals. Fagan and Corey will draw lots this afternoon to decide which one will meet Colby. The other will meet the winner of this afternoon's match in the finals.

Finals of both the boxing and wrestling meet will be held next Tuesday night on the main floor of the men's gym at 7:15 o'clock. In most of the finals the men are evenly matched, and will put up some exceptionally fast work. The participants in the lighter weights are all clever boxers, and many of those in the heavier classes pack hard punches.

One of the best bouts should be between Uyeno, Hawaiian featherweight, and Widesky in the 112 pound class. Both of these men are fast, clever, and aggressive. Wells and Yepson in the 125 pound division, and Jentoft and Binetier in the 135 pound class, will also put up exceptional bouts. Jentoft was champion in his weight last year.

McDonald, champion 145 pounder last year, is not entered in the tournament this year, but Kahler and Killebrew in the same class have shown exceptional ability. Palmatier and Hauser are the finalists in the 135 pound division. Both of these men, while fairly clever, are more of the bruising type that stands up and trade blows.

The match between Foley and Westrope in the light heavyweight class should be close with both men putting up good exhibitions. One of the most interesting bouts of the evening should be between Krasuski and Tiedman in the heavyweight division. Both men weigh over 200 pounds, and are despite their size, fairly fast. Krasuski has taken boxing lessons for some time, while Tiedman learned to box in the army.

Finalists:

- 112-118 Uyeno and Widesky.
- 118-126 Wells and Yepson.
- 126-135 Jentoft and Binetier.
- 135-140 Palmatier and Hauser.
- 140-147 Kahler and Killebrew.
- 147-160 Colby, Corey and Fagan.
- 160-175 Foley and Westrope.
- Heavyweight Krasuski and Tiedman.

COLD SPELL HAS NOT INCREASED SICK LIST

The sick list has not lengthened noticeably during the recent storms and thaws, according to the student health department or the University hospitals. Although it was necessary to open the nurses' infirmary again, conditions are very satisfactory there, and the nurses are being discharged from the infirmary every day.

Visitors are allowed in the University hospital in all except five wards now. Students in the University hospital are Frank K. Shuttleworth G of Sibley and Harriet B McKinley G of Saint Ansgar.

Five University students are in the isolation hospital: Jasper M. Molsberry M3 of Plymouth, Darwin M. Stanley A4 of Perry, William Ruddick A1 of Keokuk, Ernest P. Farrell S1 of Montrose and Elvin A. Handy A2 of Sioux Falls, S. D.

ISSUE CALL FOR BASEBALL TEAM

Loss Of Six Veterans Entails Busy Weeks Before Season

Coach Sam Barry is planning to call all candidates for the 1923 baseball team out next week, the day to be announced later. At the battery men have been working out for two weeks. The call means that all prospective infielders and outfielders will be expected to report. Nearly every team in the conference has had their squads in training for several weeks. Illinois and Michigan have training trips planned that will take them through a two weeks sojourn in the South where they will meet the best of the southern ball teams.

The loss of six veterans from last year's team means that Coach Barry will need to put in several busy weeks before the opening of the Big Ten season. He has an entire outfield to replace and two men in the infield. Locke, Hicks, Hurlburt, and Poepsel will be available as a nucleus to build up the inner defense. In the outer garden there will be a lively fight for positions. A number of promising freshmen from last spring's nine will be on hand to fill in the shoes of the missing trio of 1922. The man that can whale the leather pellet with some degree of consistency will have the edge on the rest of the fly-chasers.

Under the direction of assistant coach Mark Higbee, the candidates for the pitching and catching jobs have been putting in stiff workouts in the new armory. The temperature of the big enclosure is warm enough to permit the flingers to open up in mid-season form and most of them have been shooting the pill through with lots of smoke. No sore arms or stretched muscles have been reported as has been the case in former years. "Lefty" Fabricius, "Ching" Duhm, and Bob Rankin have been coming in good shape and should be in condition to work in the early games.

The schedule although not fully complete, will probably have on its card Coe, Cornell and Upper Iowa for the pre-conference games. The first Big Ten game is with Illinois at Urbana. They will have the advantage of their southern training trip and should be in mid-season form when they meet the Hawkeyes. Two games of interest to Iowa fans are those with the University of Kansas to be played at Iowa City on April 23 and 24. This will mark the first appearance of a Kansas team on the Iowa diamond.

It is hoped that by the middle of next week the weather will have warmed enough to permit the baseball squad to cavort on the field. As soon as the snow disappears work will begin on the infield to get it in shape for outdoor practice.

LANDIS WINS FAST BOUT FROM BICKEL

Freshmen Matches Show Good Material For Next Year's Varsity Team

Squirring out of a body scissors just as the referee raised his hand to give his opponent a fall in the semi-finals of the 135 pound class of the freshmen wrestling tournament Landis reversed the apparent advantage of Bickel and won his match with a time advantage of one minute and thirty-one seconds in the best contest of the meet.

As time was called at the end of this match Landis had a body scissors on Bickel but was too weak to force his opponents shoulder to the mat. Both men were exhausted after the match and had to be helped from the mat. Bickel was apparently a certain winner after getting a body scissors, but Landis was game enough to come from behind and win.

Good material for next year's varsity team came to the front in several of the matches. Gratton, who easily threw Jennings in the 158 pound class, is a wrestler of varsity calibre who would have made a good middleweight for the team this year. He has been working with the varsity all year, and can hold his own with most of the veterans.

Martindale made his way into the finals of the 145 pound class when he won a decision over Gyett. He will meet Ries in the finals. Ries won an easy match from Sorenson, getting a fall in two minutes ten seconds.

Lamb, who won a decision over

Munger with an advantage of four minutes and thirty-five seconds will meet Landis in the finals of the 135 pound division. This match should be one of the best of the tournament.

The finals of the wrestling meet will be held in conjunction with the boxing finals on Tuesday night at 7:15 in the men's gym.

- Men in the finals are:
- 115 pound class Gilge and Baldwin.
 - 125 pound class Moravic and Strube.
 - 135 pound class Lamb and Landis.
 - 145 pound class Martindale and Ries.
 - 158 pound class Gratton and Lassen.
 - 175 pound class Ringland and Schroeder.
 - Heavyweight Griffin and Krasuski.

Annual Retreat For Catholic Students Will End Sunday

The third annual retreat for Catholic students of this University was started last night at the St. Patrick's church. The retreat will end Sunday morning. There will be services tonight at 7:30 and tomorrow night at 7:15. Morning services consist of mass and instruction while evening services include rosary, sermon and benediction.

A general communion will close the retreat Sunday morning, following which the St. Patrick's church ladies will serve a breakfast in the St. Patrick's gymnasium, to students making the retreat.

This annual retreat is financed by the State Council of the Knights of Columbus and is being conducted by Rev. Jos. A. Chapelon, C. S. S. R.

U HI GIRLS' GLEE CLUB GIVES OPERETTA AGAIN

The U. Hi Girls' Glee Club presented "The Wild Rose" an operetta, last night at 8 o'clock in the Little Theater.

The operetta will be presented again tonight with a change in the two leading characters as two members of the glee club were picked for each part. At the end of a certain period of practice, judges were called from the School of Music, and chose the ones for the parts. In the case of the leading characters the decisions were tied, with the result that the part of Rosa McCloud, which last night was taken by Olive Klingaman, will be taken by Cleo Conlin tonight, and the part of Bobby, the Buttons, which was taken last night by Marguerite Ingram, will be taken tonight by Lela Gringer.

University Orchestra—Full rehearsal with chorus tonight at 7 sharp in Natural Science Auditorium. F. E. Kendrie, director.

Home Ec Students Are Taught To Make Their Own Easter Bonnets; Exhibit Will Be Next Wednesday

Making Easter bonnets is not a pastime but is a part of the curriculum work of twenty-four of the college women who are registered in the millinery course in the home economics department.

Under the deft fingers of the domestically inclined co-eds, a few yards of wire, a couple of turns of elastic net and a fraction of a yard of silk or crepe-de-chine, yield slowly to the magic of the hat artist and evolve themselves into a creation of millinery which can only be duplicated in the most elite of hat shops.

Millinery is being introduced into the household arts department of colleges and universities and only last spring became a part of the curriculum work in the S. U. I. home economics department.

Three hats a semester are the ordinary output of each of the women registered for the course. With each finished product the fashioner hands in to her instructor a list of the materials used and the price of the materials; also an estimate of what would have been the purchase price of the hat at one of the downtown stores.

An exhibit of the spring hats which have just been completed by the student milliners, will be held Wednesday afternoon of next week from 2 until 4 o'clock p. m. in room 202 of the home economics building.

In addition to the display of hats, several bags and perhaps scarfs, the work of home economics students, will be exhibited. A similar exhibit was held by the department just before the Christmas holidays and in addition to hats it included waists, blouses and hand-made flowers.

CO-EDS PLAY LAST BASKETBALL GAME

Sophomores And Freshman Women Decide Second Cage Title Tonight

All co-ed basketball fans and particularly those who root for the freshman and sophomore teams will be on deck today when those two teams clash for the second place in the women's basketball tournament.

If the sophomores win tonight, the freshmen and sophomores will tie for the honors of second place in the tournament and it will be necessary to play off the tie at some future time.

Freshman Team Strengthened As far as the dope runs now, the game will be very close. Ardith Lawhorn Al of Garner has recovered from the sprained ankle which she received in the games about a week ago and will be a very material addition to the freshmen sextet in the capacity of jumping center.

The second teams of the freshman and sophomore classes will also play off a match tonight. The victors of this game will then play the second team of the juniors.

Freshmen: Nellie Humeston and Sophia Apel, jumping centers; Bertha Roberts, side center; Eleanor Walschmidt, Merna Shipley, Mildred Augustine, Blanche Clapper, forwards; Ruth Schutzbank and Genevieve Harter guards.

Sophomores: Bertha Plowman jumping center; Mabel Franklin, an Georgia Grigsby, side centers; Lillian Barr, Alvera Rohwer, and Esther Johnson, forwards; Mary Leonard, Cleo Ruth, Alberta Leytze and Lorraine Crawford, guards.

Juniors: Lois Burns, jumping center; Ruth Morris, side center; Anabelle Robinson and Julia Darrow, forwards; Mildred Martin, Althea James, and Beulah Wheeler, guards.

One hundred points are given in W. A. A. to those women on first teams while those on second teams received forty points, provided they play half of the halves of the games played. One thousand points are needed to gain an athletic I.

LABOR IN THE SADDLE

Evolution, contrary to common belief, is not peculiar to the field of biology. It is a potent factor in the mental realm—in man-made institutions—as well as in the physical advance of living things. More commonly it is known as progress for invariably it represents a higher stage of development. Little reason, then, why the world should take the approaching period of socialism with such grave concern.

Civilization has passed through the first two stages without mishap. Autoeracy has succumbed to middle class rule, to Bourgeois capitalists, and the latter in turn must fall before the onslaughts of the laboring man. The only question is how soon this will take place. Assuredly it will come about through a gradual change; few will know when the movement is consummated. Even now we have passed through the first stages of socialism. Capitalism is making its last stand.

Lord Northcliffe's prophesy that England would be controlled by the working class within the next few years will undoubtedly be fulfilled. Philip Snowden, leading laborite in the House of Commons Tuesday openly challenged the capitalistic system. The labor party has a large following in England and results of the last election show quite clearly that it is steadily gaining in favor. The Tory party is alarmed quite naturally. The nation, however, refuses to be stampeded by a red flag. They have come to see the wisdom of Northcliffe on this point. When asked what England would be like under a socialistic regime, this sagacious statesman replied, "England."

WHITE TRADE ONLY

"We Cater to White Trade Only," reads a sign in the window of an Iowa City restaurant. Perhaps the sign has good right to be there, but it announces a sad, even if apparently inevitable distinction. A history of the world might be written around the phrase, "White Trade Only." It would be a history of race prejudices—Greek and barbarian, Jew and Gentile, white, yellow, and black. Reason and argument are overridden by the psychological aversion towards the racial physiognomy, the racial odor, the racial color differing from our own.

Yet each race, according to its standards, is the superior race. Which is the true standard, provided there is one, is impossible to state. In Africa, where it is fashionable to be black, the lady paints her dark skin darker. In America, where other fashions prevail, the lady whitens hers. In Turkey, feminine beauty is measured in avoirdupois; in America not many generations ago, we measured it in inches around the waist. The beau ideal in noses, Greek, Hebrew, or Negro, differs with the possessor. Standards are relative to viewpoints. As to whose racial physiognomy is handsomest, whose racial odor worse, whose racial color best, there is no absolute answer. We are all prejudiced in our own favor. Racial antagonisms, the cause of many wars and conquests, slavery, and persecutions, unjust, irrational, unthinking, withal so psychologically strong, has played an unhappy part in the drama of history.

CONTEMPORARY OPINION

(Boston Transcript)

ECONOMIC WASTES

Civilization is full of economic waste. In fact, modern business methods, far from eliminating them, seem at times to encourage them. A recent instance comes to the fore in the news item telling of British steamships being chartered to carry coal from America to Europe, the while British ships are bringing coal from England to America. No greater economic absurdity could be imagined than an east bound fleet meeting a west bound fleet in mid-ocean—both laden with coal. And yet there are commercial organizations which advocate and promulgate just that kind of commercial waste—just to get business.

At the time of the sugar "shortage" of 1920, when there was no real shortage, speculators sought and found, in all parts of the world, stores of sugar which were rushed to the United States. At the same time United States refiners were exporting sugars in large quantities. It was no unusual occurrence for a sugar laden ship, east bound on the Atlantic, to meet a sugar laden ship west bound, in those days. Again the economic waste.

Off the same piece is the unnecessary waste of time, money, energy involved when six milk delivery men have customers in the same block, or when ten grocers serve twelve families on one short residence street. Much more reprehensible is the practice of contracting on the "cost plus" basis, encouraging the deliberate large increasing of costs, because of the comparatively small profit percentage accruing from the increased cost.

Gold, by the ton, packed in boxes, with guards watching all along the route, is shipped from London to New York by steamer. After a time the same gold, in the same boxes, perhaps, again under the eye of armed guards, is sent from New York to Bombay. From Bombay in due course it goes to Yokohama. One more jaunt and it is back in London. It is the same gold slightly depreciated by abrasion. It has gone around the world, with the expense of shipping, insurance and guarding and is back where it started from. Practical men recognize these leakages, but all too little is done to stop them—all too much to encourage them—though the wastes they entail run far into the millions of dollars annually.

April Issue Of Transit Goes To Printers; Out Soon

The April number of the Transit goes to the press today and will appear immediately after Spring vacation. In this number will be found a complete resume of Mecca week along with numerous pictures of the parade and show. The cover this time will be a picture of the electric sign "Mecca" which adorned the Physics building during the Mecca celebration. The picture was taken in the evenings and shows up very well.

The main articles in this issue will be one by Charles Schwob, the steel magnate on "How to Succeed in Business", an article on the new experiment tried by the college of applied science of the University of Iowa and of the University of Ohio in exchanging professors for a short period of time during the year. Prof. F. G. Highbee was the member of the University of Iowa instructional staff to try it this year.

Besides this the regular sections will be found which appear in every issue. Coyle E. Knowles S3 of Fairfield is business manager of the Transit and Kenneth J. Weir S3 of Cedar Rapids is the editor-in-chief. This is the first issue to be put out by the new staff.

The Easter Chapeaux

The poke, the picture hat, the sports hat, all are here, in a variety of pleasing styles. Ribbon decked, with flowers and feathers in abundance. SCHNEIDER SAYS PHILOSOPHY IS IN THE MAKING

No System Of Thought Known Today Can Be Called American Philosophy

"There is no system of thought that can be termed as the American philosophy," said Dr. Schneider of Columbia University in speaking to Prof. George T. W. Patrick's class in philosophy. Dr. Schneider gave an interesting sketch of the outstanding movements in American history and the impress that these movements have made on our thinking today.

One very encouraging tendency of today was pointed out by Dr. Schneider,—that is that up until the last generation the shaping of philosophical thought has been for the most part in the hands of clergymen, politicians, and literary men. The fact that this work was carried on by literary men does not lessen its philosophical value, for Emerson was very much a philosopher, only that his thought was put down in the form of literature rather than in the form of exposition. Now however, leadership in philosophical thought is developing rapidly in our universities, which Dr. Schneider interprets as a very encouraging sign that the wide severance between academic philosophy and that of the outside world is decreasing.

Dr. Schneider traced briefly the progression of philosophical tendencies from Puritan days up to modern times. As a result of the puritanical mode of living, a spirit of positive intolerance was fostered in combination with a total lack of distinction between public and private morality. A distinct spirit of Yankee pride also had its beginning here.

Later as a result of the influence of the philosophy of the time of the French Revolution, general and religious tolerance came into vogue with Utilitarianism as the chief contribution.

Up to this time philosophical thought in America was unified but now a new form of "common sense", philosophy was introduced called Scottish realism, and being an first division. Now, outside of academic circles, there was a growth of so-called materialism; that is a preoccupation of business and professional pursuits. From then on there were successive developments of idealism, evolutionistic theism, and finally realism. The realists make an attempt to get a new start at the old problems.

When asked which of these tendencies he considered to be most important in the development of an American philosophy, Dr. Schneider said that it was difficult to pick out any one tendency and fasten any such attribute to it. Very likely the system of thought that is to form the basis of American thought or philosophy has not yet been

MUSICAL VESPERS GIVEN SUNDAY

Glee Clubs, University Chorus And Orchestra Present "Stabat Mater"

Rossini's "Stabat Mater" will be given next Sunday afternoon as a musical Vesper service by the university orchestra, the men's and women's glee clubs, and the University chorus. The hymn opens with an orchestral prelude and there are solos, duets, quartettes, and several choral numbers.

Soloists will be Jeane E. Wolfe A3 of Clear Lake, soprano; Lorna mezzo-soprano; Mrs. Lottie L. Wolker Asp of Iowa City, contralto; Clement Scott M3 of Iowa City; tenor; Harold T. Smith G of Iowa City, bass. The University chorus which is under the direction of Prof. Phillip G. Clapp head of the department of music, the men's and women's glee clubs under the direction of Prof. Walter Leon of the department of music, and the University orchestra under the direction of Prof. Frank E. Kendrie of the department of music will assist in the service.

The words of the "Stabat Mater" are those of an old Latin hymn and are appropriated to the Lenten season. The hymn is sung in the Catholic church during Lent. The Latin words will be sung but it is hoped to have on the program an English translation of the words.

Each year at Christmas and Easter a musical Vesper service is given by these organizations.

The "Stabat Mater" was written in 1832 and was first performed in public on January 7, 1842 in Italy.

Faculty Members Respond Well To Memorial Union

Since the 15th of March Col. Morton C. Mumma, Memorial Union campaign director has been devoting much of his time to personally interviewing members of the faculty who until that time had withheld their subscriptions to the Union. The first five people solicited pledged over $800 and every one that has been solicited has made a pledge.

According to Col. Mumma, the success of the faculty campaign will have a great influence upon the student campaign that R. F. Fitz-Y. M. C. A. secretary, is now making plans for and organizing. In such a project as the Memorial Union, the faculty members are expected to be interested leaders who are able to mold the spirit of the student body. The students and alumni find it difficult to be very interested in a project in which the members of the faculty, people who have the policies of the University in mind, seem to lack interest.

LITERARY SOCIETIES WILL SUPPORT WOMEN'S DEBATE

As an expression of their support for the women's debate between the University of Iowa and Washington University on April 5, the Forensic Council passed a resolution recommending that the three

800 Spring Chickens Worth $500 Perish When Coop Burns

When 800 feathered occupants of the coop belonging to Grover C.

Arnold perished in a short lived blaze that swept the enclosure yesterday afternoon, citizens of Iowa City and community were deprived of the privilege of tasting some early spring chicken.

Mr. Arnold was loser to the extent of $500 and carried no insurance. It happened that most of the chicks that were consumed weighed about one and one-half pounds each. Prompt arrival of the fire department prevented the complete destruction of the building.

"The dry cleaner says that keeping cleansing fluid clean makes such wonderful results possible"

De Laval Continuous Clarification is generally considered the greatest advance in dry cleaning methods made in the past decade. It keeps our cleansing fluid clean all the time and so immeasurable improves the quality of our work.

The secret of effective dry cleaning is the use of an abundance of pure cleansing fluid, just as the secret of good washing is the use of plenty of clean water.

Most dry cleaners continue to use the same cleansing fluid until it becomes so dirty that further use is impossible. Then it is purified in one way or another and put back to work again. That is the reason why dry cleaning is sometimes a disappointing process.

But you need never be disappointed again. The recently developed De Laval Continuous Clarification System keeps our cleansing fluid clean at all times. With it, your clothes are cleaned in the same effective manner as they would be if it were economically possible to have a stream of brand-new cleansing fluid flowing into the top of our cleaning machine, and a stream of dirty fluid flowing from the bottom of it.

This system marks the greatest development in the art of dry cleaning within recent years. We have installed it to further improve the quality of our work, which in the past has gained us an enviable reputation.

Let us demonstrate to you the quality of our work, the promptness of our service and the economy of regular dry cleaning.

REPUBLICANS FACE SERIOUS DANGER-BORAH

Idaho Senator Declares Expediency Must Be Replaced By Courage

(By United News)

Akron, Ohio, March 12—The republican party is in a perilous position and faces a danger more serious than that of temporary defeat, Senator Borah, of Idaho, warned in an address to Ohio progressive republicans at a state wide rally here. Expediency which wrecked the old whig party, must be replaced by courage, or the dissatisfied voters will desert and form a new allegiance he believes.

Without making any predictions, Borah said a third party movement is not impossible nor improbable. He advised the republicans for their own safety not to misread the popular demand at this time.

Borah's address is the first important pronouncement from any of the progressives since Attorney General Daugherty announced in Florida that President Harding would seek a second term and that the issues would be the record of the administration and law enforcement. The Idahoan's attack Wednesday on the "gum chewing" policies of his party appear to be directed at the Harding-Daugherty forces.

"The voter is alarmingly independent," the senator declared. "Party lines are shadowy and uncertain. Party leaders are confused. We are still trying to hold together and win battles through the power of patronage, the appeal to past party achievements, and the denunciation of the opposition."

"It is a simple mistake. It is bringing us to the brink of political disaster and ruin. The people are far ahead of their leaders, both in conception of duty and of courage. If we can once understand this fact and believe it, we shall rescue the republican party from its present perilous situation and render incalculable service to the country."

Borah told how the old Whig party "died of sheer political cowardice" because it clung to expediency while Lincoln came forward with a new appeal to higher ideals.

Spanish Students Increase Greatly In Last 15 Years

During the last few years the interest in the study of Spanish in the University of Iowa has developed rapidly. This is but a part of the general development and increase in the study of the language throughout the United States.

Several years before the war, the increase in Spanish students was very noticeable. Immediately before the war interest distinctly waned, but in 1913 the present boom began and has continued. Prof. Ralph E. House of the Spanish department stated that he believed the principal reason for this increase is the growing interest in South America.

In 1905, 175 students were enrolled in the romance language department, only five or six of whom were studying Spanish. In 1913, great interest in this subject was shown and in 1914 134 students were enrolled in the Spanish department. Last year the number had increased to 600, and this year 800 students are taking Spanish courses. The staff of the department naturally has grown with the number of students, and one native teacher, Prof. Antonio Heras, is a member of the staff.

MEMBERS OF W. A. A. FROLIC AT KID PARTY

Over fifty-six kinds of all kinds and descriptions gathered at the women's gymnasium last evening when the W. A. A. gave its annual kid party. There were little boys and little girls, barfooted little boys and little girls with some of their teeth gone. Some had great big bows and carried dolls and teddies.

Two twins arrived in baby cabs along with their nurse, and playing with their dolls. Upon inspection the pair proved to be Pauline Spencer A4 and Helen Spencer A3 of Des Moines. Later Emilie Hartmann A4 of Junction City proved to be the hit of the evening as a freckled-faced little boy in tight-fitting suit a pair of shell-rimmed glasses and a flat little green hat with a feather. Frances Johnston Cm3 of Danville and Eleanor Waldschmidt A1 of Burlington were very convincing little girls.

For two hours or more, the kids played ring-around-a-rosy, charades, and going to Jerusalem, after which they were fed with ice cream cones and sent home.

FRANCES JOHNSTON TO LEAD W. A. A. FOR YEAR

She is a member of Y. W. C. A. and served on freshman commission last year.

Ruth Morris, treasurer, was a member of the fieldball and soccer teams last year and this year.

Coba Van Beek, historian, is a member of the freshmen basketball and fieldball teams. Helen Spencer, senior representative, is a member of Seal's club, of Athena literary society, Y. W. C. A. Being a holder of an athletic "I" is proof of her ability as an athlete, for it takes 1000 points to win one.

Thora Drake, junior representative played on the soccer and basketball teams last year and this year plays on the basketball team. She is a member of Y. W. C. A. and belongs to Alpha Xi, Delta sorority.

Eleanor Waldschmidt, sophomore representative, and a freshmen also, holds the record of playing on the soccer and second team of basketball, being the freshman representative for W. A. A. for the past year and is a member of Y. W. C. A.

PROFESSOR PRAISED FOR PLANT THESIS

lar ideas in ancient Sanscrit writings

R. A. Harper, head of the botany department of Columbia University wrote in his letter, "Of course there is great danger that in the minds of many exactly the opposite result at which I judge you have aimed may be produced; namely, you may find yourself classed with the pan-psychicists and mystics and find our old friend Oliver Lodge and his ilk patting you on the back and regarding you as a new convert from the materialistic ranks of modern science. If we can bring about a more rational view-point as to the phenomenon of response in plants as compared with animals we have made a long step in advance. Again let me congratulate you, on having produced not only a useful but highly entertaining paper."

Alice Nevin, a poetess of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, in appreciation sent three poems, "The Heart and Soul of the Lily", "The Genesis of the Tomato," and "The Orison of the Flowers."

Alice Hagedorn A2 of Luverne, Minn.; Marion Ansel A2 of Iowa City, secretary; Margaret Sayers A2 of Jefferson, treasurer; Louise Jerrel A4 of Oskaloosa, religious work; Leona Hambrecht A3 of Iowa City, membership; Helen Patterson A4 of Marengo, social service; Maudine Shoemith A3 of Guthrie Center, social; Irene Boughton A4 of Sioux City, finance, and Charlotte Fisk A3 of Iowa City, publicity.

The newly installed president will preside at all meetings, appoint all chairmen of committees, and consider correspondence. The vice-president, in addition to substituting for the president in case of absence, will act as advisor for Freshman Commission. The secretary will take minutes for all regular meetings, handle certain association correspondence and file reports of committees. The treasurer will keep the books, give monthly financial statements, and act on the finance committee.

The seven committee chairmen are appointed by the president and an advisory council. The membership department includes registration work, campaign for new members, placements and summer conference arrangements. The religious department is concerned with discussed meetings, religious education, and general association meetings. The world fellowship division plans China Week, week of prayer, and religious work at regular meetings. The finance department manages the yearly campaign, the candy table, and devises methods for meeting association obligations. Social service work includes teaching and entertainment at the Children's Hospital, University Hospital, Oakdale Old Ladie Home, and the work of the employment division. Social department is confined to teas, cozies, mixers, and Cawa Kwai. posters, bulletin board, exchange, handbooks and national publications of the association is listed for the publicity department.

A council composed of the officers, chairman, and chairmen of the sub-committees meets monthly for routine business.

In addition to the installation of officers, the program consisted of the work of the girls' department, in the Y. M. C. A. by Ada Yoder '21 who is connected with the association at Muscatine. Miss McKinley from the association at Ames, also spoke.
