BERNHARDT IN FINAL ROLE; NEAR DEATH

"Divine Sarah" Penniless, Fights To Keep From Dying In Poverty

(By United Press)

Paris, March 23.—Sarah Bernhardt "divine tragedian" of all time at the point of death tonight played the final role of a tragedy as pregnant as any she enacted on the stage.

Penniless it was disclosed, as the physicians bulletin pronounced the fear that death was at hand, the great actress struggled in her delirium and continued acting for the films to make money so that she would not die in poverty. Bernhardt lies critically ill amidst a setting that emphasizes the tragedy. Garish sets for a film taken in which she was acting when taken ill Thursday crowded the downstairs part of her house. The white haired physician of Madame Bernhardt for thirty years read in broken voice the latest bulletin signed by six physicians, laconic because they feared to say more.

"The condition of Madame Bernhardt is extremely aggravated."

Doctor Marot himself on the verge of collapse after a sixteen-hours vigil by the bedside, wept as he added, "Madame may last through the night but she has never been so bad. It is hard to say because of her wonderful vitality."

Uremic poison is sapping the life of the woman who at seventy-eight still is recognized as the greatest actress. Camphor has been injected. It was disclosed that one of Bernhardt's kidneys has been infected for thirty years. Recently her illness following a sinking spell caused grave alarm to friends but she refused to spare herself and undertook a film contract.

Prussian Police Called To Help Fight Royalists

(By United Press)

Berlin, Mar. 23.—Police throughout Prussia were called upon tonight by Prussian minister of the interior Severing to hold themselves in readiness to combat a threatened putsch by royalists. Severing ordered half the police to be mobilized at all times and the other to be ready at all times because of the threatening enterprises of radicals.

Street patrols in Berlin were doubled while members of the Reichstag and Prussian diet were especially guarded. The precautions were ordered following a discovery by police that former monarchists, many of them war leaders and followers of the ex-Kaiser, have learned an attempt to seize the reins of Prussian government. Among the men named as plotters are Ludendorf, Lieutenant Roschach and Adolf Sittler, head of the Bavarian fascisti.

TILDEN PREPS GET BEST OF IOWA CITY

VasKovsky, Star Forward, Leads Windy City Lads To 32-21 Victory

Fighting desperately but vainly every minute of the way the Iowa City high school team succumbed to the Tilden preps from Chicago 32 to 21 in one of the most exciting basketball games seen in the local gymnasium this season. Led by their star forward VasKovsky they rolled up a score which the Red and White team was unable to overcome. The score does not indicate the bitterness with which the two fives fought through the game. From the standpoint of clean play the contest was entirely free from any personal feeling. Both teams displayed real basketball from whistle to whistle and kept the crowd in high pitch of agitation. The Iowa City aggregation, considerably outweighed put up a game battle but could not maintain the pace set by the Windy City boys.

The first half ended 20 to 8 with the Tilden team having all the best of the argument. But VasKovsky lost no time in getting started and dropped in a long basket followed by a free throw before the game was two minutes old. The Red and White boys appeared nervous and could not control the ball. When Beals dropped in a free throw they began to find their nerves and started in to overhaul their opponents. A foul shot and basket by VasKovsky and a ringer by Barry put the Chicago lads into a comfortable lead which they held throughout the first half. With exception of a couple of minutes coach's Soucek's basketeers never seriously threatened to overcome the lead. Wallen (diminutive forward) sunk two pretty baskets from the field and Beals added three free throws to swell Iowa City's score to 8 for the half. Tilden continued to count freely with VasKovsky contributing most of the points. Iowa City could not penetrate the Tilden defense and their passing was uncertain during the first part of the game. Weiss, Tilden guard, rarely permitted an opponent to get close enough for a short shot at the basket. He put up a sterling performance and is easily one of the best back guards seen here this year.

The second half was a different story. Iowa City returned to the attack with a display that completely swept the Chicago boys off their feet. Baskets by Wallen and Tilton together with a couple of foul throws by Beals ran the score up to within striking distance of their opponents. During this rally Tilden was nly able to garner one point. With star forward covered they began to feed the ball to Barry their husky center, who dropped in a long goal and followed this up by slipping in under the hoop for another one a min-

"STABAT MATER" ON PROGRAM AT VESPERES TODAY

Will Present Rossini's Latin Hymn at Second Muscial Service of Year

Rossini's "Stabat Mater" which will be given in the musical vespers this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Natural Science auditorium by the University glee clubs, the University chorus and the University orchestra, is a medieval Latin hymn usually appropriate to the Lenten season. The hymn is sung in the Catholic church on the Friday before Good Friday and also on the third Sunday in September.

The setting to be used was by Rossini composed about the year 1800. It is very colorful production with brilliant choruses interspersed with beautiful solos. The Latin version of the program will be used this afternoon because it is, in the opinion of musical critics, more colorful. An English translation will be printed on the program.

The whole production will be under the direction of Prof. Clapp, head of the music department, who has himself directed the two glee clubs. Prof. Leon has had charge of the University chorus while Prof. Kendrie has directed the orchestra.

The soloists will be: Jeanne Wolf A3 of Clear Lake, soprano; Lorna Schuppert A4 of Iowa City, mezzo soprano; Mrs. Lottie Volkmer of Iowa City, Clement Scott M3 of Iowa City, tenor and Harold Smith G of Iowa City, bass.

The solos, duets, quartets, and choral numbers will consist of the following:

"Stabat Mater Dolorosa" by the chorus and quartet.

"Cuius Animam" by the tenor soloist, Clement Scott.

"Quis Est Homo", duet, by the soprano, Jeanne E. Wolfe and contralto Mrs. Lottie L. Volkmer.

"Pro Peccatis" by the bass soloist, Harold T. Smith.

"Eia Mater" an unaccompanied number for the chorus with a bass solo by Harold T. Smith.

"Sancta Mater" by the quartet composed of Mrs. Lottie L. Volkmer, contralto; Jeanne E. Wolfe soprano; (Continued on page 8)

Senator Ladd Joins Fight Against Sugar Price Boost Business

(By United Press)

Washington, March 23.—Every advance of one cent a pound in sugar means that the house-wives of the country are "robbed" of nearly $300,000 a day. Senator Ladd, North Dakota progressive speaker declared today in joining in a demand for prompt government action against alleged sugar gamblers who are charged with having driven the price up three or four cents a pound in the last week.

Warning that some experts predict an advance of twenty cents a pound the senator said that such a price increase would mean a gouging of one billion dollars a year for the sugar speculators.

Ladd declared that unless something is done to curb "big business" the people of the country will furnish some startling surprises to the old line political party in the next election.

25,000 IOWANS ALONG MISSOURI READY TO FLEE

Council Bluffs And Omaha Facing Danger Of Flood

(By United Press)

Omaha, Neb., Mar. 23.—Twenty five thousand residents of Omaha, Council Bluffs and the lowlands along the Missouri river towards Sioux City were prepared to flee to high ground tonight if the river continued to rise. Reports from Sioux City indicated that the wall of water behind Sargent's Lock Gorge might be released momentarily and families were prepared to move the moment they received the "flash" that the gorge has broken.

Sargent's Bluff is 100 miles north and it is estimated it will take twenty-four hours for the crest of the flood to reach here.

Rivermen expect the worst flood since 1888 if the walled-up water is released all at once. If the water is released gradually no great damage will be done they say.

All rivers and breaks in Nebraska and western Iowa, tributaries to the Missouri, are banked full as the result of the rapid melting of the nineteen-inch snowfall of last week.

Despite the fact that the Sargent Bluff gorge is holding back practically all of the normal flow, the Missouri rose four feet here in the past forty-eight hours. The gage tonight registered 13.4 feet.

Badger Coach Says Wisconsin Athletes Fear Ineligibility

"One of the chief reasons for the athlete's avoidance of Wisconsin is the fear of ineligibility."

This statement was made by Dr. W. E. Meanwell, Wisconsin basketball coach, in an article on "The Ineligibility Bugaboo" in the March number of The Athletic Review.

"Throughout the state I find the sentiment exists that only the intellectual prodigy can carry his course in the university and also participate in athletics," the article states.

"Next I find even in the university itself, a feeling that to enroll in certain courses is to insure an athlete's academic ineligibility. Last, in this connection, is the tradition that athletics are in disfavor with the faculty and its leading officers—a tradition that was founded over 15 years ago when our faculty rightfully assumed control of an athletic situation that sadly needed clean up and improvement and to which they gave both."

Contrary to this feeling only two first string players in nine years have been lost by Dr. Meanwell for ineligibility reasons, according to his records. During the three seasons since his return to Wisconsin and including the present one, but one player has failed to maintain his eligibility.

Dr. Meanwell declared that it is quite possible for a boy to carry on his academic work and a large amount of athletics.

"The Origin of Basketball," the lead article in this issue, was written especially in this issue, was ten especially for The Athletic Review by Naismith, who originated the game in 1892. The name "basketball" arose when two peach baskets for goals were hung from the gallery rails of the gymnasium in which the game was first played, Mr. Naismith writes in the article.

DES MOINES WEST HI WINS MEET IN POOL

Three Records Broken And One Tied; East High Takes Second Place

West High of Des Moines won the State Interscholastic swimming meet held here last night, defeating East High of Des Moines for first place by a score of 40 to 29. Three state records were broken and one record tied. Ungles of West High was individual point winner with two firsts and a second making a total of 13 points. Ihrig was second with 10 points winning a first, a second and a third.

The state records in the 40 yard dash, the plunge for distance and the 100 yard back stroke were lowered. McClintock of University high lowered the record in the 40 yard dash from 20 2-5 seconds held by Ungles of West High to 20 1-5 seconds. McClintock also holds the present record for the 100 yard dash in the mid-western A. A. U. and won second place in the national interscholastic meet in Chicago in the 40 yard dash.

Severson of Clinton plunged 60 yards in 41 3-5 seconds lowering the old record of 56 feet held by Moon of West High. Ihrig of West High again lowered the record in the 100 yard back stroke. In the preliminaries held last night he swam the event in 1 minute 20 1-5 seconds. The old record of 1 minute 22 seconds was held by Shaffer of North High. Ihrig easily won his race with his nearest competitor Turbett of East High several yards behind at the finish.

Ungles of West High tied his old record of 1 minute 2 2-5 seconds in the 100 yard dash defeating McClintock of University High in one of the closest races of the evening.

West High won the 160 yard relay in 1 minute 30 3-5 seconds. West High took the lead from the start and held it for the entire race but were pushed hard in the last lap by East High who finished a close second.

The 100 yard breast stroke was one of the most sensational races of the entire meet.

Results: 160 yard relay. West High first, East High second, University High third, Clinton fourth. Time 1 minute 30 3-5 seconds.

Fancy Diving. Joseph (East High) first, Plummer (East High) second, Ihrig (West High) third, and Wood (Clinton) fourth.

OTTUMWA HIGH WRESTLERS WIN IN TOURNAMENT

Fast Bouts Mark Finals As Prep Matmen Try For Honors In Big Meet

(By J. Stanley Bruner)

Ottumwa, with a total of 25 points, won the interscholastic wrestling tournament by taking five firsts in the respective classes in the final matches which were held in the men's gymnasium yesterday afternoon. Ottumwa men placed first in the 95, 115, 145, 158 and 175 pound classes. Clarion annexed a score of 22 points and took second place while Garden Grove won third with 15 points. Garden Grove by virtue of their show in the qualifying heats were rated as possible winners but Ottumwa's strong work upset the dope.

The tournament was marked by the fastest bouts that have ever been seen in a miv of prep athletes in the city. Most of the youngsters displayed a thorough knowledge of the game, and frequent exhibitions of gameness and skill brought cheers from the large number of spectators who occupied the stands on the sidelines. Sec Taylor, sports editor of the Des Moines Register refereed the bouts.

The summary:

95 pound class: Booth (Ottumwa) won decision over Hinebaugh (Garden Grove) with 3 minutes 55 seconds advantage.

105 pound class: McClellan (Clarion) won decision over Richards (Garden Grove) with 2 minutes 12 seconds advantage.

115 pound class: Wilcox (Ottumwa) won decision over Warrington (Garden Grove) with 35 seconds advantage.

125 pound class: Wilson (Clarion) won decision over Young (Garden Grove) with 1 minute 43 seconds advantage.

135 pound class: Mills (Central City) threw Bargman (Davenport) with 2 minutes 40 seconds advantage.

145 pound class: Franklin (Ottumwa) won decision over Thomas (Garden Grove) with 4 minutes .23 seconds advantage.

158 pound class: Adamson (Ottumwa) won decision over Lang (Carlisle) with 5 minutes 30 seconds advantage.

175 pound class: Teommes (Ottumwa) won decision over White (Clarion) with 4 minutes 24 seconds advantage.

Heavyweight class: Midkiff (Mt. Vernon) won decision over Schutt (Clarion) with 50 seconds advantage.

Consolations for Third Place

135 pound class: Bargman (Davenport) won toss from Doctor (Clarion).

158 pound class: Wilson (Clarion) won toss from Lang (Carlisle).

Heavyweight class: Schutt (Clarion) won toss from Henderson (Central City).

PROFESSORS OUT FOR CITY COUNCIL

Randall And Keller Are Nominees Of First And Second Wards

Two of the fourteen men running for councilmen at the Iowa City election tomorrow are professors at the University. Professor Frank Randall and Professor George Keller are the University professors running for councilmen from the second and first wards respectively. Their opponents are G. W. Schmidt for the second ward and Jerry McLaughlin from the first.

The desire for cleaner and better city politics has made this year's campaign more intense than any election for years.

Several important municipal questions will be before the new council and the election has probably determined the platforms of the candidates. The Iowa City Waterworks Company's franchise has expired and the granting or failure to grant a new one will depend on the new men elected. It has also been proposed that the city spend $20,000 for the construction of a bathing beach at the city park. If passed bonds will be issued, beach houses erected and the large pond at the park dredged out. The beach will be self supporting as a small fee will be charged.

Mr. Randall is at present professor in the law college of the University. He graduated from this University in 1900, and then taught in the Iowa City High school until 1905. Mr. Randall taught law at the University and coached the University debating teams from 1908 to 1909. He then went to Cedar Rapids where he practiced law from 1909 until 1919. While located at Cedar Rapids he was assistant city solicitor and a member of the Cedar Rapids schools. Mr. Randall intends to practice in Iowa City next year.

Mr. George Keller is an Assistant Professor of Mechanical Engineering at the University of Iowa. He received his B. E. degree from the University in 1913 but has been connected with the Engineering College since 1908. During the S. A. T. C. Mr. Keller gave special instruction in mechanical engineering.

FIRMIN ROSE WILL ADDRESS CONFERENCE

French Journalist and Critic to Come for Language Conference

Firmin Rose of Paris, France, an eminent French journalist, critic and literateur, will be one of a brilliant group who will address Iowa teachers of modern languages in a conference here April 12 and 13. The conference will be under the auspices of the department of romance languages and the extension division.

Both college and high school teachers of the state will be invited to hear and meet distinguished men from outside the state who will have something important to say bearing on modern languages and their teaching. One of the unique features of the conference will be a Spanish play, Manuel Quinteros' "Manana de Sol," with an all-Spanish cast of university students.

Miss Olive K. Martin, instructor in the department of Romance languages will give an interpretive reading of "The Advocate" by Eugene Brieux, the most conspicuous living French dramatist. "The Advocate" is Brieux' latest work.

Speakers from outside the state will be A. L. Owen, head of the Spanish department of the University of Kansas; D. Deihl, vice principal of the Boys' Technical high school, Milwaukee, Wis.; Prof. Algernon Coleman of the University of Chicago, who has just revised a widely used French grammar; and Edward Manley of the Englewood high school, Chicago. Mr. Manley is a well known editor of modern language texts.

Special features of the conference will be talks by University men outside the department of Romance languages. Benjamin F. Shambaugh, head of the department of political science. Stephen H. Bush, head of the department of Romance languages will appear on the program.

CHICAGO CHEMIST TO SPEAK HERE

Dr. J. A. Hynes Will Explain Work of Inspecting Imports

Dr. J. A. Hynes, chief chemist and drug examiner in the United States appraisers office in Chicago, will speak before the Iowa section of the American Chemistry Society next Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in room 110, chemistry building.

Discussing "The Chemist in the Customs Service," he will endeavor to present a clear idea of what chemical work in the customs service is like. He is now working at the port of Chicago, one of seven ports in the United States where all imports are examined in order that the duty levied will be neither under-rated or over-rated. It frequently happens that Mr. Hynes is called to court to prove that his judgment of values was correct, because often the company importing goods thinks the duty is too high. Everything from billiard balls to straw hats and silk hosiery, as well as certain food stuffs goes through the office of Mr. Hynes.

Mr. Hynes will bring with him samples of many kinds to illustrate the nature of his work. His work is of great importance because it shows how scientific judgment decides the rate of duty on imports, rather than political influence.

Prof. Lemuel C. Raiford, associate professor of chemistry, is a personal friend of Mr. Hynes and was associated with him in work in Chicago for several years. He says that Mr. Hynes is an interesting speaker and should interest many people. He is a very jovial man and his lecture will undoubtedly be enjoyed by many who are interested in chemistry.

There will also be a dinner at the Burkley hotel at 6 o'clock Wednesday in honor of Mr. Hynes, held by the Iowa section of the American Chemistry Society, through whose efforts Dr. Hynes has been secured. The lecture is open to everyone.

A SOUND PHILOSOPHY

As an effectual antidote to the literature of despair which now floods the literary markets of the world one needs only to look to the writings of Robert Louis Stevenson. In the works of this author one finds a philosophy which is idealistic and at the same time practical. Stevenson accepts life as he finds it. He does not make excuses for the frivolities and foibles which he finds in his fellowmen. He merely sees them in the light of struggles which add zest to life and act as the foundations for higher attainments.

Withal he presents his comments in such a humorous and leisurely manner that one cannot peruse them without seriously endangering preconceived ideas on the shortcomings of mankind. His style is that of words set to music.

And when he utters such unorthodox statements as: "For God's sake, give me a man with brains enough to make a fool of himself," even the most obdurate must surely experience some of the thrills so eagerly sought in literature of today. Stevenson had more than his share of common sense. His sense of values is by far more sound than that of most writers since his time.

By some his views may be charged with containing too much of self satisfaction and of disregard for those who "toil upward through the night," yet he is convincing even if he is wrong. His whole philosophy of life is summed up in the following words from one of his essays:

"We sail in leaky bottoms and on great and perilous waters. Old and young, we are all on our last cruise. If there is a fill of tobacco among the crew, pass it around, and let us have a pipe before we go!"

EDUCATION BY NEWSPAPERS

Newspapers and college educations supplement each other. Intelligent reading of the daily papers alone will not give a real education, but no man can be truly educated unless he reads newspapers intelligently. The college education supplies the background, the critical study of past events. But this is only useful when we apply it to the mass of contemporary history which the newspapers furnish us each day. The great value of history is to enable us to interpret and understand present events.

Quizzes on current events show that most students do not make use of the daily newspaper as a part of their education. If a representative University of Iowa group was asked to explain the Ruhr situation today, what our congress is doing, or even what measures our own state legislature is considering, the results would be mere guesses. The answers would be funny, but at the same time would illustrate how carelessly people read their papers. Newspapers are carefully made up, with the most important stories in certain columns, and news classified by pages and by the size of headlines.

Merely glancing at the sensational news, the comics, and the headlines is not intelligent reading any more than reading the first paragraph of every chapter in a text book is intelligent studying. Students get the background in their studies, yet often neglect the application that makes it worth while.

BORAH SAYS A MOUTHFUL

Senator Borah knows how the game of politics should be played even though he does violate the rules now and then himself. In an address at Akron, Ohio, the republican senator from Idaho challenged his party to "quit gumshoeing for votes" and adopt a clear cut and fearless program. This is a good program. This is a suggestion which all parties might do well to heed.

"Political conditions are distressingly unsatisfactory to both parties," added the Senator. "The voter is alarmingly independent. Party lines are shadowy and uncertain. Party leaders seem confused. The rank and file are distrustful. And yet the people are deeply and profoundly interested in public questions and eager for information upon all political problems.

"If I were to suggest the underlying fundamental vice of American politics at this time I would unhesitatingly declare that it consists in playing the game on too low a standard—far below the level of both the intelligence and patriotism of the voter.

"The problems now pressing for attention are in many ways the most difficult ever presented to the American electorate. We know these problems are here and no one can be unconcerned in regard to them; but we seem to lack boldness and determination in dealing with them.

"In my opinion, what we really lack is not capacity, not intellectual understanding of the task, but a want of faith apparently in the willingness of the electors to follow a bold and determined program. We are still trying to hold together and win battles through the power of patronage, the appeal to past party achievements and denunciation of the opposition.

"It is a fearful mistake. It is bringing us to the brink of political disaster and ruin. The people are far ahead of their leaders, both in conception of duty and of courage. If we can once understand this fact and believe it, we shall rescue the Republican party from its present perilous situation and render incalculable service to the country.

"A Democrat in the days of Jackson was a crusader. A Republican in the days of Lincoln was an apostle. Give the people the issues and the program and those heroic days in party politics will return. The men who have bravely put aside expediency and sought justice for justice's sake have had the greatest following politically not only in their own day and generation, but in the hearts and minds of succeeding generations. We ought to think of that at the present time.

"I do not turn aside to discuss third party movements. Such a movement is not impossible, not even improbable. But the old parties have it within their power to put an end to all such movements by courageously meeting and dealing with the problems at hand in thorough fashion. Let us make no mistake as Republicans about the seriousness of the outlook."

"Self respect is the secure feeling that, as yet, no one suspects."
Sounds like one of Mr. Mencken's wise remarks, doesn't it? . . . Well, it is. Mr. Mencken's forte is undoubtedly the cynical epigram.

One of the best criticisms of America's leading satirist that we have seen was the one which appeared in the Iowan recently. The idea in that article that appealed to us most strongly was that Mr. Mencken may be amusingly iconoclastic, but he is far from dangerous. We have always thought him funny, but not nearly so funny as the people who take him seriously.

TO BRING TONY SARG'S PUPPETS TO IOWA CITY

Famous Marionettes To Appear In "Rip Van Winkle" and "Don Quixote"

The original company of the worlds most famous marionettes are to be in Iowa City on April 11 when the Tony Sarg Marionettes give two plays under the auspices of the Tom Thumb Theatre of the Iowa City Public Library in St. Patrick's Hall. They will give two performances, the matinee at 3:30 being "Rip Van Winkle" for the children, and the evening performances beginning at 8 is to be "Don Quixote."

The Tony Sarg Marionettes are company of Marronettes in America. The company carries a complete Theatre of its own. This is to be on the platform in St. Patrick's hall, and is complete in every detail with miniature furniture, stage preaperties, and a complete system of lighting effects such as may be found in any metropolitian theatre.

The Marionettes are life-like but not life-sized figures, perfectly proportioned, skilfully jointed, weighted and capable of making virtually all of the movements of the humans they so closely resemble. From sixteen to twenty-two strings are used to operate each of these little figures.

The figures are all designed and carved to perfection by Tony Sarg whose drawing in the "Saturday Evening Post", "Colliers" and other magazines and books have made his name a household word. He is chiefly noted for those illustrations that accompany Irvin' S. Cobb's stories and books. His inimitable drawings have added much to "speaking of Operations" and other books by the famous humorist. The maker of the Marionettes is the same Tony Sarg who makes the Tony Almanac, famous in the movies.

A complete company manipulated the strings that animate the Marionettes, speak the lines, change the scenery, work the electric plant, play various instruments and sing as the action of the play requires. The tiny marionettes act out stories. Their repertoire including Rip Van Winkle-Thackeray's "Rose and the Ring", Cervantes "Don Quixote" and "A Night in Greenwich Village."

The company of Marionettes has had four seasons in New York and three seasons on the road. The tickets in the cities are the regulation theatre prices but in order that more children from the ages of 6 to 60 may see the production the seats here will be 75 cents for adults and 35 for children.

WOMEN TO DEBATE EXPERIENCED TEAM

Will Oppose Washington University Here on April 5

The women's team from Washington University St. Louis, which will debate here on April 5, will be composed of one senior, one junior, and one freshmen, all of whom have had experience in debating. Mary Jones '23 made her first appearance in college debating this year on one of the dual teams which debated Lindenwood college. Prudence Lyon '24 debated last year on Washington's team which debated Lindenwood, and Mary Beardley '26 did her first college debating this year on the team which debated Lindenwood.

Iowa's team which will oppose these Washington women will be composed of two juniors and one sophomore, none of whom have had experience in college debating. The women have their constructive speeches completed now, and are working on the improvement of delivery. The coeds who will carry the Iowa fight on to the debating platform here are Edith N. Evans A3 of Webster City, Gertrude Muxen A3 of Carroll and Vivian Conrad A2 of Burlington.

Two changes have been made in the debate since it was arranged. The date was changed from March 27 to April 5 and the proposition was changed from "Resolved: That France, considering the best interests of the former allies, acted wisely in entering the Ruhr," to "Resolved: That France was justified in entering the Ruhr."

Northwestern Faces Acute Shortage of Football Material

Northwestern University—Coach Glenn Thistlewaite, football tutor, is trying to meet the shortage of promising football material by appealing to the student body of Northwestern University. There are but very few men out for the spring football practise for the reason that a majority of the football men live near the business district. Only one eligible man has appeared so far. Most of the Big Ten universities are well on their way toward building up their football teams for active work on the gridiron.

Careful Finishing

That protects your negatives

We feel a real responsibility for film left with us for development. Negatives cannot be replaced, and there are often several exposures in each roll that are invaluable to the owner. Careful methods and scientific formulae bring results that justify your entrusting your films to our finishing department.

Of course we are equipped for enlarging—let us show you some samples of our work.

PARIS CLEANERS

"The dry cleaner says that keeping cleansing fluid clean makes such wonderful results possible"

De Laval Continuous Clarification is generally considered the greatest advance in dry cleaning methods made in the past decade. It keeps our cleansing fluid clean all the time and so immeasurably improves the quality of our work.

The secret of effective dry cleaning is the use of an abundance of pure cleansing fluid, just as the secret of good washing is the use of plenty of clean water.

Most dry cleaners continue to use the same cleansing fluid until it becomes so dirty that further use is impossible. Then it is purified in one way or another and put back to work again. That is the reason why dry cleaning is sometimes a disappointing process.

It is not only economically possible to have a stream of brand-new cleansing fluid flowing into the top of our cleaning machine, and a stream of dirty fluid flowing from the bottom of it.

This System marks the greatest development in the art of dry cleaning within recent years. We have installed it to further improve the quality of our work, which in the past has gained us an enviable reputation. Let us demonstrate to you the quality of our work, the promptness of our service and the economy of regular dry cleaning.

But you need never be disappointed again. The recently developed De Laval Continuous Clarification System keeps our cleansing fluid clean at all times. With it, your clothes are cleaned in the same effective manner as they would be if it were eco-

ROBBINS WRITES MAGAZINE ARTICLE

Contribution to "Educational Review" Attracts Attention

Individual development should not be sacrificed for the mechanical shackles of classroom routine, declares Charles L. Robbins, instructor in the department of education, in an article in the March issue of the Educational Review which has attracted the attention of leading teachers throughout the country. Professor Robbins writes in part: "Danger lies in the law of habit formation, a law to which all are subject, whether they will or not; human behavior tends to become machine like when a uniform response is made to an oft repeated situation. After a time the stream of consciousness flows on with hardy an appreciable trace of the thing that the habit forming machines is doing for us. It is an intuitive recognition of this which makes the sweetheart fear that the flowers which become with a high degree of regularity have become a token of habit rather than affection. By habit we are made prisoners of the machine within us.

Back of the tendency to negate educational advancement by a process of mechanization is a social condition which makes it difficult to attract and keep teachers who are capable of rising above the level of the more mechanics of their work. It is not altogether a matter of any single factor, even salary for the born teacher will stick to the work even through compensation is inadequate.

"If the teacher has received training in a normal school, she has been through a course in which the major part of the work has emphasized technique of instruction of the mere subject matter of elementary education. The training school for teachers has to meet the fact that its students are immature, that their first need is some comprehension of the rudimentary phase of technique. Education as a social process is a function that ought never become automatic.

Although education may become the custom of a nation, the daily and hourly process itself must always be on high plane of rational rather than on the lower plane of the mechanical. The drill master may become a machine but the real teacher perishes the moment his work becomes purely mechanical.

Glenn O. Nichols, instructor in college of dentistry, is a patient at the University hospital.

ute later. Wallen retaliated with a lengthy shot from the center of the floor and Beals contributed a free throw. Two more ringers by eBals ended the scoring for Iowa City in this period. Tilden was forced to go the limit in this half to get the long end of the score. Their superior basketballing ability and team work was too much for the Iowa City team. Coach Soucek's boys fought gamely and deserve much credit for holding their highly touted opponents to such a close score.

The Tilden team returns to Chicago tonight where they will prepare for the national championships beginning next week. The dope favors them to finish high in the final rating.

1888 Meet 1923!

Thirty-five years have slipped by; round after round, the years and fashions have tripped hand in hand through nearly four decades.

From the bustles, wide skirts and pinched waists of '88 to the huge, mutton leg sleeves of 1895; next on to the neck bows of '97, the tight sleeves of '99 and the big hats of 1909; then on to the directoire styles, the hobble and the short skirt. And now 1923!

A colorful, different 1923 it is. Two Englishmen find the tomb in which the Egyptians buried Tutenkhamen 30 centuries ago. Fashion, always on the alert for new impulses, turns to the Nile for scores of motifs and colorings.

You see them everywhere, these Egyptian influences. Then the Deuville innovations; the 'kerchief styles; the "warmth-without-weight" fabrics; the new three-piece suits; the Paisley colorings; the camel's hair fabrics; and the bright embroideries.

Truly, 1923 seems the most alluring, the most unusual, the most arresting of all the 35!

Here at Yetter's 1888 is meeting 1923. It is our 35th birthday.

We are celebrating with a fine big anniversary sale of the same value-giving sort we always have on our birthdays. And we are going to celebrate with all the new things that make 1923 distinctive.
