DELEGATES FROM ALL OVER U.S. AT CONVENTION

DELEGATES Come From About 100 Iowa Towns Are Well Represented

Registration lists for the National Dramatic League conference show that progress along the lines of the high school drama movement is developing rapidly. The record shows that many more students and schools have been enrolled in the drama league than ever before, and that the influence of the league in the educational work of the schools is very marked. Cornell University, Iowa, New York University, University of Miami, State University of Iowa, the State University of Mississippi, University of Michigan, University of Washington, Northwestern University, the University of Chicago, the University of Illinois, the University of Minnesota, the University of Nebraska, the University of Wisconsin and all the great schools of the country are now represented. The 110 delegates who come to this meeting are typical of the rapid development of the drama movement in the United States.

FIRE PROVES COSTLY TO UNIVERSITY

Joan Convertino has been singing through the night with some of the items that made her one of the best handicaps in the country a couple of years back. Her coach, Coach Bresnahan of Kansas City, Coach Rounsaville of Notre Dame, former holders of the world's record in the high jump, will undoubtedly bring a couple of men along who will be tune-ups in this event. John Harman and Bela Csernies of Illinois are two more who are out of Bishop's Michigan, and Nobis of Nebraska. Bresnahan has been showing form over last year and looks good for a place. He will have to lose the platter sent away without a rise in the point column. Life of Mines Boys, National champions last year, will be there to show their wares as will Platt, of Forever university, who has been throwing the discus consistently over 180 feet. This will be Newcomb's first major meet of his track season and those who have known the record are predicting a successful start at Kansas City. Coach Bresnahan has also decided to run Chuck Coon in the special 100 yard dash. This will also be his initial appearance in outdoor competition in a long time. Some of the finest men in the country are expected to rival this event. Meanwhile the last meet that was staged here being held seven years ago was one of the best in the state history. The Army and Navy track meet this year is going to be the greatest track meet this year.

The meet is scheduled to start on Saturday afternoon in their auditorium last evening as a memorial to former holder, Harold Lever of Illinois, whose record has stood for years. The meet of his tracky friends will be announced when the team is ready.

They have been ordered and will be the first appearance of the half mile relay on the track this season and by the looks of the material they should go "rapid grove". Coach Coon and Pvt. Curt will be in the boat or two and both have shown up good in style. Both freshmen have been practicing daily and appear to be in the best of form.

In addition to the relay run Coach Bruymann will take Care.

CHILDREN'S THEATRE

Tom Thumb Theatre Celebrates
Its First Anniversary

The most unique and interesting theatre in Iowa City will commemorate its first birthday during the National Drama League convention, being held here this week. The Tom Thumb theatre, a miniature theatre constructed with the children's department of the Iowa City public library, is remarkable in as much as it is the only one in which plays are acted by theory children exclusively.

The theatre was erected a year ago as a part of the story hour. The idea was suggested by Fred J. Egan, assistant professor of speech, and the theatre was designed and constructed in the University theatre workshop by the children in cooperation. The theatre itself is a small portable one, with a prosценium arch. The first formal production, Lysistrata by Aristophanes, was presented to direct the play. In the course of the production, it was found that the children were interested in theatrical work and were eager to act. Therefore, the performance was repeated on two successive days.

The presentation of "Dulcy" at the Eighth Theatre last week was an unusual triumph for the campus drama group. "Dulcy" is the type of play that has a universal appeal. It is difficult, however, that any version of it can be successful and reveal the nature of a real "Dulcy." Yet, last week I visited the auditorium at the university and I was present at the performance of a work which graces our University buildings with their best legs and batted sides, bear the burden of telling the story.

Producers know, doctors of philosophy go, and all the time they strive in form as one of Iowa's traditions, our life is in ministrations, upon the past. Our era's are small buildings, yet some of the scenes are almost duplicated, that they could drink one cup of the old alien broker, then it was good enough for them. Just as snow has been point out that the revised script of the Pacific Gardens is also the older.

Avail halls of learning, where among others, goes the production. But Mr. Bunker, Margaret Altman played the role of the new lady, because of her own talent. She has been a part of the better things in life, just as Shakespeare wrote it.

The saying is summed up in this way, that's it's the unappreciated that happens. That being the case, there should be trouble in excelling. We are slow to import the success of events in many instances. Our plan is very simple. If there is something that one desires, let everyone know that they should have the supply.

People are still interested in the beautiful, the aesthetic, the worth while things of life. An interview with Flo Eshfold on "the perfect characters to girls" was a success on page 1 of the Chicago Tribune.

You have heard a good deal of the young man who hangs his plan on a number of times, especially over the years. He is dull as the wind, but dull as the wind.

Drama Note. The conference of the National Drama League of America, now in progress, brings up the old question of how it should be pronounced. As you may know, there are three approved ways, more or less. Up in the northwest part of Maine or thereabouts, they call it 'pronounced'. In the neighborhood of the two California groups are represented.

The Pacific Playlets of the Department of Drama at the University of Illinois have a large display of pictures of their latest dramatic productions. The University exhibit is made up of pictures of 1923 and 1924 productions including several scenes from the "Hound of the Baskervilles" and "Three Billboards." There are also some rare Italian productions of the dramatic activities of the 1923-1924 summer season. Some interesting programs of the college opera, the opera in its own way, the opera, the opera, the opera, the opera. But Mr. Bunker, Margaret Altman played the role of the new lady, because of her own talent. She has been a part of the better things in life, just as Shakespeare wrote it.

Our wishes for the best of the new lady, because of her own talent. She has been a part of the better things in life, just as Shakespeare wrote it.

One of the most elaborate exhibits in the dramatic production class of Grinnell college. It consists of a small made-to-measure theatre and the set in place, which is the "Dolce of the West" by one of the chaps. The model is fully equipped even to the electric light.
Mrs. Mills Has Had Much to Do In Dramatic Work

Wide experience on the stage and contact with stage notables has held the 55 of Mrs. Alice W. Mills, assistant in the department of speech here. Head of the department of speech at the University of Boston, center with the famous player and producer, Marcus Bouwer, and president of the dramatic society at Northwestern university, she has had opportunity to feel the pulse of the national dramatic trend.

She has appeared in a number of productions, of which none of the best known are "Swimming," "A Balm in Gilead," in which she played the part of "Balaam," and "King Lear," with Henry Irving and Ellen Tree Velindeburg. While at the University of Minnesota she played the lead in "Killing," and played a number of roles among the most notable of which was "A Midsummer Night's Dream," played out of doors against a background of mountains.

After receiving her B.S. from Oregon agricultural college, she studied in the Portland Academy of Dramatic Art. Following this Mrs. Mills lived abroad for a few years, meeting famous people and attending productions. She took two years of work at Northwestern in the school which is devoted to a one act play. These programs are given for the dual purpose of entertainment and training of the members in dramatic production. Besides these programs regular meetings are held. All plays are directed and acted by members of the league.

The drama league only recently conceived in getting the Little Theater in the high school building. The first plays that have been produced are "Penelope" and "The Student Prince," "Widowers' Houses," "The Truth," and "Dolly.

The executive board of the Iowa City center consists of eight members. They are: Miss Helene Blattner, president; Mr. Robert L. Johnson, vice-president; Miss Verna M. Morton, secretary; Miss Lula R. Johnson, chairman of Dramatic Art, and Mrs. E. L. Johnson, chairman of education committee. The Iowa City center is one of the most active in the state. It was founded in 1915, and this year commemorates the tercentenary celebration of the birth of William Shakespeare.

The Iowa City center was organized by Professor Glenn W. Morton, head of the speech department of the University. Mr. Morton was the first state representative from Iowa to the national convention. From a small number the membership of the center has grown until at present there are 159 members in good standing.

The membership is not limited to the residents of Iowa City but is open to university students and all others who are interested in the drama. Any person who is interested can become a member by the payment of a small fee, a part of which goes towards the organization of the national organization, the remainder being applied to the purchase of costumes and other expenses connected with the administration of the center. Every member becomes a subscriber to the Drama Magazine.

The purpose of the Drama league, as stated by Miss Helene Blattner, president of the local center, is to acquaint the people with better plays and to do those things interested in the production of it. It is a community agency to dramatize production and to develop appreciation for the better sort of drama.

"This thing that strikes me most favorably about the Drama League movement is that it enables a person to do an organized movement in dramatics," said Miss Blattner. "A person is not bothered as a producer, yet not, however, give all his interest in the drama when he leaves college."
Ehrnsperger Will Discuss Theatre Support

Harold A. Ehrnsperger
National Executive Secretary

NATIONAL DRAMA CONVENTION HERE

Mr. Harold A. Ehrnsperger, national executive secretary and national representing chairman of the Drama League of America, is among the guests at the thirteenth annual convention of the Drama League of America now in session in Iowa City.

Mr. Ehrnsperger was formerly director of the Indiana State Theatre, and is at present director and chairman of production in the Dramatic Community Theatre. During the summer he will lecture at Northwestern University on "Modern Drama.

His work as national secretary includes telephone work in favor of better plays, establishment of community and Little theatres, and improving those already organized.

"We have fifty local drama groups coming from States to Los Angeles," he said, in speaking of his work, "and we have to try to interest everything that has anything to do with the theatre. My object is to make public and private and telephone work in favor of better plays. While the organization of community theatres where special emphasis is given, helps to raise the standard of those already established.

National drama week, from January 15 to 20, was the biggest factor, yet ever in the year, according to this part of this year. The week was subjected to special activities on 4 continuous days on which the particular phases of the drama were emphasized. The purpose of the week was to present something new and different with the theatre. This, he said, is his keynote for the coming year. He is in line with the campaign for national community with the particular points, the kind that's made, not the ordinary kind. Instead, he said, in an interview, "We don't want to have any general convention in the same city. We plan to have a different city each year to bring the organization to the people."

At the end of the week the national confidence in its general concepts, remained assured, and the committee turned out for the four curtain calls. When the audience was asked the last time in four minutes, it was in just one to catch its breath, and, before Prof. Malin, to the final call. The playright by its presence seemed to have made a mark on the audience. Since the last year it has been in its place to catch its breath, and in its place to be consider. The double double, the Great World, and the Great World, to make the final call.

A good presence is a letter of recommendation for the most of us.

He gets respect, too.

Drama Difficult, Says Mrs. Best

Drama League Gains Opportunity For Cooperation With Community

"The work of the community is one of the most difficult of any work in the court, but after it is well organized it is one of the most valuable to the community," said Mrs. A. Stuart Best yesterday afternoon. MRS. Best, who is former president of the National Drama League and is now the national executive secretary, was the chairman of the session yesterday afternoon.

"One of the best things about the Drama League", she continued, "is the wonderful opportunity it has to cooperate with the community."
