COSMOPOLITAN CLUB is Part Of International Order of Corda Fratres

The Cosmopolitan club of Iowa City is not only a part of a national organization, but it is a part of a world-wide organization, known as the "Corda Fratres" which has chapters in South America, Italy, China, and other parts of the world where there are foreign students.

The State University of Iowa was the first institution in the state to organize a chapter of the order in March, 1889, and for a long time was the only one in the country. The members in the tiny tower of the University hall are still very interested in their club and make some progress every year.

A club exists in Des Moines, where the first chapter in the state was formed in 1899.

An incident which is worthy of note occurred in connection with the Iowa chapter. In the fall of 1901, a large group of foreign students was on the campus, and the order decided to organize a chapter at once. The Iowa chapter has been so successful that it is now one of the leading chapters in the country.

The club, which is called the "Phi" is composed of foreign students who are studying in the University and who have been recommended by their instructors. The officers are: President, Edwin Carewe; Vice-President, Howard McCarty; Secretaries, Misses Alvida Buck and Lydia Eicher; Treasurer, Miss Helen Lowden; Chaplains, Misses Alma Good and Josephine Byrnes; and Secretary, Miss Helen Sillers.

The club meets every Friday night in the basement of the University hall for its regular meetings. It is a social organization as well as a secret society, and its members are expected to carry on their work in the University with the same zeal and determination as is shown in their work in the club.

The club is not only interested in the social life of its members, but it is also interested in the welfare of the foreign students in the University. It has been successful in helping many of these students, and it is doing a great deal to improve the social life of the University.

The club is now preparing to celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary, and it is planning a number of events to make this a memorable occasion. It is expected that a large number of the old members will be present, and it is hoped that the club will continue to grow and to do good work for the University and the foreign students.

THE SOUNDED BOARD

The many-plied lighting speaking which infects the campus is, in our belief, the blessing of the current events to have synthesized a novelty with the opening of the spring season. So brilliant is the illumination that people will either wear eye-shades or seek pastures.

It's about time, we should say, that newspapers had understood something about maintaining their punch-pulling editions from page 1 to the sports department. Or the flavor of our antigovernment.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

A friend of ours predicted the other day that he didn't think much stock in the argument set down in the study of foreign languages as English.

"Why not," he asked, "spend that time actually studying English?"

The argument our friend referred to, we fancy, is one of the least of the good reasons for studying a foreign language. But we think it is easily demonstrable that it is sound.

The individual who studies English but has not read much of it from sources which are destined, or the languages which have influenced us most, may know what corruptions, but does not know why. He may learn words and remember the meanings of words, but subtle distinctions and shadings are beyond him.

Take ordinary words like centrifugal and centripetal, whose meanings are diametrically opposite. Many people think that the attempt, by beating and pushing, to get the axis of rotation in one case, is our common sense, while in the other case, it is, of course, illogical. But our selection of words on an acquaintance with "fan" and "pota".

WHERE THINGS REALLY HAPPEN

A town rolled down Clifton street with a drowsy rhythm in the rear seat and a wailing chimney at the wheel.

We're in favor of one of the pan-Hellenic rushing rules. The one that says "No girl shall be initiated into a chapter unless regularity persisted in the pan-Hellenic association", etc., etc.

BETTER LUCK NEXT TIME

Mississippian correspondence from Miss Iowa Bellows says that her campus still has the fire alarm at the present hour which was started by a "bearson" who said he was afraid of fire. This student and his friends were unquieted with the old manuscript of their predecessor and did not care to put it on a line to a paper for pure ancient writings. They could not, however, give me any information of their new idea. To John T. McCarroll, correspondent on The Daily Iowan, Des Moines, we have the pleasure of presenting the leader in his chosen calling for all time, an editorial writer in the Johnson County Democrat and the most valuable man in the business. Mr. McCarroll is "as a cartoonist without a peer."

If there is any criticism of this manner of his, it is that he has a thin livelihood of about half a dozen cartoons in America, which is in itself a remarkable feat of a foreign cartoonist, for he is a great artist and much too clever a man to draw more than half the time.

Louis XIV is Held Responsible For High Heels; Fashion Now Decrees Return
To Heel-less Sandals of Egyptian Days

When the original one of the absurdities of women's fashion is as remote as it is today, there is a dead bit of information in the fact that it was probably due to Louis XIV himself. The monarch who established the custom of the high heels. Back in the 17th century at the court of Louis XIV the most luminous figure in all that brilliant court was the King Louis himself. The research, being a man of short and bald stature convinced the idea of building up the body by adding does in order that the members of the court might not continue to tower above him. This started a fad for high heels and even at some times extra high heels, with black satin or white kid slippers ranging from the lower high to gold or silver, black satin or

Last year Mrs. Hinojosa was of them were elected in 10 offices. He attributed the decline of the club to the fact that the members looked at events of other clubs of their own nationality and also because of the lack of leadership two years previous to that time.

"I was sent to Army in Pennsylvania
