NOTED WRITER WILL LECTURE HERE TONIGHT

Stephen Leacock, Last Of University Lecturers, Is Known As Humorist

For some years past, a rising tide of literary men from England has washed upon our shores" writes Stephen Leacock, noted humorist, in his sketch "My Discovery of England". He continues: They carry away with them impressions of America and when they reach England, they sell them. In the course of time, a considerable public feeling was aroused over this state of affairs. It was felt, I felt, that the time had come when some one ought to go over and take some choice impressions of England. The choice of such a person fell upon me. By an arrangement with the Geographical Society of America, acting in conjunction with the Royal Geographic Society of England, I went at my own expense.

He Describes London

"London," he declares, "is beautifully situated on the River Thames, which sweeps in a wide course, and has much the same breadth and majesty as the St. Jo River at South Bend Indiana. London, like South Bend, itself, is a city of clean streets and admirable sidewalks and has an excellent water supply. One is at once struck by the number of excellent and well-appointed motor cars that one sees on every hand, the neatness of the shops and the cleanliness and cheerfulness of the faces of the people. In short, there is a distinct note of optimism in the air."

Stephen Leacock will lecture on "The Lighter Side of Literature" in the Natural Science auditorium at 8 o'clock this evening. This is the last of the University lectures and promises to be the best of the year. Leacock has been called one of the greatest of the humorists, and his talk tonight will be entirely in the lighter vein. Leacock visited Iowa City several years ago, and all who heard him at that time are anxiously looking forward to his visit at this time.

Is A Professor At McGill

Besides delivering lectures, Leacock has written many articles for current magazines, including Harpers, The Bookman, The Century, and Colliers. In addition to his satires and sketches, he has written several articles on History and Political Science. He is now Professor of Political Science at McGill University, Toronto, Canada.

CARNARVON'S BODY TO REST IN TOMB

Burial Will Be Made On Top Of Wind-Swept Hill At Plymouth

(By United News)

London, April 27—In impressiveness and aloofness the burial ground of the Earl of Carnarvon suggests the tomb of Tutankhamen which the former discovered.

But while the ancient Pharaoh chose to rest in the Valley of Kings in Egypt the body of Carnarvon will rest throughout the ages on the top of a hill.

The body of Carnarvon who died in Egypt shortly after he had invaded the tomb of Tutankhamen arrived in Plymouth Friday accompanied by his wife Lady Carnarvon.

The funeral is to be held Monday in Highclere Castle the home of the late Earl. After a simple service the funeral cortage will slowly wind a half mile from the Castle to a tomb on the bare and wind-swept summit of Beacon Hill.

U. S. PROTESTS TURKS' DUTY ON RELIEF FOOD

(By United News)

Constantinople, April 27—Admiral Mark L. Bristol, American representative in the Near East has protested against the action of the Turks in charging customs on supplies brought into the country by the Near Eastern Relief to aid sufferers.

The conflict between the Near Eastern Relief and the Turkish officials is assuming serious propositions. The relief officials state they are refusing to pay duties on their supplies on orders from headquarters in New York and that the American people will not tolerate it if the Turks insist on taxing their gifts to the stricken people of Asia Minor.

CONFERENCE ON SUPERVISION TO CLOSE TONIGHT

Lecture By Professor Of McGill To Be Final Number Of Program

The Ninth Annual Conference on Supervision which started here Thursday will end tonight with a lecture by Stephen Leacock, noted humorist and professor of McGill university, in the natural science auditorium.

The conference this morning will consist of an address at 9:00 in the natural science auditorium by Director Chas. H. Judd, of the University of Chicago on "What Expansion Means in American Education."

The university convocation at 10:00 in the auditorium will be the other number on the conference program. Stephen Leacock will speak on "Education and Democracy" and honorary degrees will be conferred. This convocation marks the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the Iowa University College of Education.

Leacock's lecture tonight ends the conference which was attended by 500 educators including eight college and university presidents and twelve deans.

Among the distinguished guests and the institutions they represent are: President I. F. Meyer of Ellsworth college, Iowa; President H. M. Moore of Lake Forest college, Illinois; President Howard McDonald of Parsons college, Iowa; President M. W. Deputy of State Teachers college, Bemidji, Minn.; President W. P. Morgan of State Teachers college, Macomb, Ill.; President J. A. Thompson of Tarkio college, Missouri; President J. P. Van Horn of Upper Iowa university; President Homer H. Seerley of Iowa State Teachers college. I. L. Loeb of the University of Missouri is acting president of that institution. F. M. Irish, who is here, is vice president of Tempe Normal school, Tempe, Arizona.

IOWA BOARD PLANS FOR BIG FUN CARNIVAL

Circus - Shows, Novelty Booths, And Parade Will Be Main Attractions

Iowa Board plans are now nearly complete and the carnival on May 5 promises to be one of the biggest affairs of its kind ever held on the campus. At a meeting of the departmental board of Iowa Board held yesterday evening at 4:15 in the Y. W. C. A. rooms reports were made by the heads of the various departments, and plans now underway were revealed.

The parade committee has extended invitations to all fraternities and sororities on the campus to participate. Arrangements are being made by Walter J. Dehner, A4 of Iowa City, head of the fraternity department and Marjorie Turner, A3 of Corning, head of the sorority division. The fraternities, so far, have not responded with a very large representation, but eleven sororities have replied favorably. Prizes will be awarded to the most novel and unusual of the floats.

To Give Cup For Best Float There is a limit of $25 expenditure on sorority floats, and no professional assistance will be allowed in decoration work. The traveling cup will be put on display this week, and an additional prize for second and third place will be offered. Three disinterested parties will be selected to judge the floats and a judging stand will be erected on the Iowa grounds.

Among many other features, there is to be a refreshment department managed by Salome Fisher, A4 of Iowa City, who has promised to have a large supply of home-made "goodies" on hand to keep up the spirits of the crowd.

Bernadine Wendel, A3 of Smithland, will be manager of all the exhibition booths. Many attractions are being planned by this department among them are: Minstrel Show managed by Robert W. Cooper, A3 of Newton; Circus Freaks under Ralph Payne; Fortunetelling, under the management of Doris Greene, A2 of Des Moines; Wild West, man-

CLAIMS WEDDING COST TOO MUCH

Communist In Parliament Says King's Advisors Should Be Impeached

By United News

London, April 27—John Newbold, communist member of the House of Commons in a wild outburst of oratory Friday declared that the lavishness of the wedding of the Duke of York and Lady Elizabeth Bowes Lyon was a provocation for a revolution in England.

Newbold declared that the King's advisers, whom he held responsible for the wedding plans, should be impeached.

The communist declared that mothers who were living with their families in barns should be provided for before an extra 15,000 pounds was added to the annuity of the Duke of York.

The occasion of this speech was a debate on the bill of the Labor party which is designed to relieve unemployment by centralizing government agencies dealing with labor.

Although the bill was defeated at its second reading by a vote of 166 to 142, the debate disclosed the gravity of the unemployment situation. William Graham, the father of the bill, declared that unemployment was the "nation's most serious problem."

DEAN FORCED TO MEET HIS CLASS OUTSIDE

Chester Phillips Lectured On Old Capitol Steps Yesterday

"There is no doubt that the University is in need of more classroom," said Dean Chester A. Phillips of the College of Commerce yesterday in an interview after his class in "Money and Banking," at nine o'clock yesterday was forced to meet upon the front steps of Old Capitol because there wasn't a single class room available.

Dean Phillips was delayed at his office by a call and it was a few minutes past the hour when he started for his class which is scheduled to meet in the natural science auditorium. There was also a meeting of the superintendents attending the Educational Conference scheduled there at that hour. The superintendents held the fort and the class retreated to meet Dean Phillips at the entrance. A hasty survey failed to reveal an available room so Dean Phillips held the class on the steps of the historic building.

"No I don't favor open-air classes," continued Dean Phillips, "but I can assure you that no one went to sleep on me in that class. However, there are entirely too many distractions which make the best of work impossible. Pretty girls and good-looking men always seem to be the center of attention whenever they pass by. Yes, I think the University is badly in need of more classrooms. In our department there is considerable congestion and this circumstance is especially noticeable when there is anything else going on for which some space must be given. I think we are in need of some overflow building to take care of the large and numerous classes being held at present."

One instructor in the university has a class for which there are exactly 130 students registered. It is held in room 203 liberal arts and it is possible to crowd only 125 chairs into the room. The professor figures that each morning out of a class of that size there will be at least five absent and such has been the case all this year. "Really, I don't know what I would do if everyone should decide to be present some morning," he remarked, "I suppose they would

$350 In Donations Sends Iowa Band To Drake Relays

By United News

"If at first you don't succeed, try, try again," is an old motto which was proven true when, after a second attempt, the funds sufficient to send the University Band to the Drake Relays were secured and the members of the band left last evening on the Rock Island. The money donated at the concert on Thursday evening and through the sale of yellow tags in the University buildings yesterday made it possible for the band to go back to the Iowa track athletes who run to-day in the Relays in Des Moines. Through the efforts of a number of University women, the sum total of approximately $350 was collected. $380 was necessary for carfare so the band men made up the rest of the fund. Their bright new uniforms have never been worn outside the city before.

Thursday evening a concert was given in front of Old Capital for the purpose of raising funds to make the trip. However, the donations of that evening did not prove sufficient, so a tag-sale was conducted by the same girls who had assisted the evening before.

A brilliant array of novelties will be presented.

IRISH REBELS ABOUT TO GIVE UP FIGHTING

(By United News)

Dublin, April 27—The Irish rebels from all indications are about to capitulate and bow to the authority of the constituted government—the Free State.

The republican army headquarters Friday issued a statement to the effect that all offensive operations would be suspended beginning April 20. This follows the utterance of Eamonn de Valera, leader of the republicans that the "republic is anxious to contribute its share to the peace movement".

De Valera still in hiding, declared he is ready to negotiate with the Free Staters, but, in the opinion of the officials this statement is a reiteration of De Valera's former suggestion that a plebiscite be held to determine whether the Free State or a republic shall prevail.

COMMUNISTS TO REPUDIATE ALL CZARIST DEBTS

"We Liquidated Debts In 1917," Says Trotzky In Address

(By United News)

Moscow, April 27—The communist government apparently is determined to repudiate the debts that czarist Russia owes to other nations of the world. Leon Trotzky, minister of war, in an address before the voluntary air fleet society Friday made this significant statement:

"Nobody owes us anything nor do we owe anybody anything because we liquidated our debts in October, 1917."

This is the strongest statement of Russia's policy of repudiation which has yet been made. Georges Tchitcherin, foreign minister, and other soviet spokesmen have hinted that the debts would perhaps be repudiated but this is the first time that any Russian statesman has come out flat-footed on the subject.

Trotzky made this utterance in connection with a general discussion of debts. He stated that America could interfere in European affairs any time he chose because of the vast sums of money due her from European nations.

"It is easy," he continued, "for the United States to continue her policy of proud isolation because she possesses forty per cent of the world's gold. As far as we are concerned I can assure you we do not possess anything of that sort. Our isolation frees us from all obligations but also deprives us of all assistance.

The war minister, in describing Russia as a country of contradictions, said:

"We are backward and barbaric but at the same time we have factories built in accordance with the last word in American technique."

Trotzky said that there were two isolated countries in the world—"The United States of America and the United States of the Soviet." He said that America was isolated voluntarily but that Russia was cut off from other nations because of the hatred of capitalistic powers.

GIRL SCOUTS TO GIVE LAWN CARNIVAL

The Girl Scouts of Troop 3 of Iowa City will give a lawn carnival Saturday evening, April 28, at 424 South Summit street. A short program will be followed by dancing. A brilliant array of novelties will be presented.

HAWKEYES WIN IN PRELIMINARY RELAY EVENTS

Crawford And Shope Qualify For Finals In 120 Yard Hurdles

Des Moines, Ia., Apr. 27.—(Special to the Daily Iowan)—In the special events the University of Iowa qualified two men, Crawford and Shope in the high hurdles. No other Iowa men qualified. The time for the high hurdles was not exceptionally fast, Crawford running his heat in 15 4-5 and Shope in the same time.

Frazier made the best time stepping them in 15 5-10. One record was broken when Platt threw the discus 135 feet 8 1-4 inches. Auge, of Haskell, was close behind him with a mark of 132 feet 4 1-2 inches. The fastest heat in the 100 yard dash went in 10 flat, Williams of Kansas Normal beating out Ayres of Illinois.

Track Events

The summaries for the preliminaries resulted in the following men qualifying: 120 yard high hurdles, first heat, Crawford, Iowa, first; Towler, Minnesota, second. Second heat, Shope, Iowa, first; Riley, Kansas Aggies, second. Third heat, Frazier, Baylor, first, Johnston, Illinois, second. Fourth heat, Lear, Minnesota, first; Taylor, Grinnell, second.

100 yard dash: First heat, Williams, Kansas Normal, first; Ayres, Illinois, second. Second heat, Evans, Illinois, first; Layden, Notre Dame, second. Third heat, Tykle, Purdue, first; Barr, Notre Dame, second.

Broad jump: Six men qualified. Graham, Kansas Normal, 22 ft., 4 inches; Sweeney, Illinois, 21 ft. 1f 1-2 inches; Simpson, Illinois, 21 ft. 9 1-2 inches; Allen, Ames, 21 ft., 8 inches; Hutch, Nebraska, 21 ft., 8 inches; Goodell, Kansas university, 21 ft., 4 1-2 inches.

Six Men Qualify

Discus: Platt, Denver, 135 ft. 1-4 inches; Auge, Haskell, 132 ft., 4 1-2 inches; Schildauer, Ill., 129 ft., 8 inches; Gross, Minnesota, 126 ft., 5 1-4 inches; Levi, Haskell, 124 ft., 1 inch; McMahon, Marquette, 122 ft., 6 inches.

High jump: six men to qualify—Dickson, Chicago; Poor, Kansas; Smith, Michigan; Turner, Nebraska; McElwin, Michigan; Campbell, Minnesota; Pence, Purdue.

Pole vault, six men to qualify: Collins, Ill.; Prosser, Michigan; Mitchell, Washington; Brownell, Ill., McKown, Kansas Normal, and Dilbeck, Kansas University.

MANY POSITIONS OPEN TO TEACHERS

State Superintendent Of Instruction Says Graduates Can Have Jobs

Graduates of the college of education need have no difficulty in securing positions," May E. Francis, state superintendent of public instruction, said in an interview yesterday afternoon.

Miss Francis was here Thursday and Friday, April 26 and 27, attending the annual conference on supervision of the college of education. She had just returned from a similar conference held at the University of Missouri the first part of the week.

"Although there is no shortage of teachers the trained applicant can be sure of getting a first or second grade position," she continued. "One difficulty encountered in the placing of teachers is that they invariably seek positions in the larger towns and cities. While there are those who are interested, primarily, in the rural problem, the majority shun the small town country school positions seeking the atmosphere of the city."

There are, according to Miss Francis, 932 high schools in the state, most of which are located in rural communities. Of these 193 are normal high school, 386 are consolidated schools, and 353 are regular high schools. These figures indicate the growth of the movement toward consolidation in the last few years.

"As to the matter of salaries, the recent outlook is very encouraging," said Miss Francis. "The holder of a second grade certificate can expect to draw a salary considerably over $100 per month. Teachers' salaries have been on a steady increase for several years."

Miss Francis expressed her pleasure at the success of the conference. Yesterday morning she addressed an assembly of the county superintendents from all over the state. Miss Francis took up her duties as superintendent of public instruction on January 8, 1923.

"The weakest point in Iowa's system of training teachers is in the matter of training grade teachers," said Miss Francis. Iowa has but one state normal school whereas Missouri has six such schools with twelve inspecting officers.

Famous Humorist Popular Professor, Student Writes

Stephen Leacock, famous humorist, who will deliver a University lecture here next Saturday evening, is a popular professor on the campus of McGill University, Montreal, Can., where he is head of the department of political economy.

"In spite of the fact that Stephen Leacock is a prominent man, he is kind and genial in temperament," writes a McGill student in a letter to the Daily Iowan. "At the meetings of our Political Economy club he unbends to the extent of smoking a huge bent pipe that must have seen years of service."

In appearance Leacock might almost be called rough and unkempt. His hair hangs in a mass over one eye, and he rarely succeeds in adjusting his collar and tie properly. "He wears a disreputable robe to his lectures, and when he is warmed up to his subject he has a habit of wrapping it around him, then striding up and down in front of the desk, pouring out a torrent of views, facts and criticisms on the subject in hand," the letter continues.

"When he first comes into a room or lecture hall one's first thought is 'Who let that old farmer loose?'; then he begins to talk and the next thought is, 'This man knows what he is talking about.' As his audience is becoming absorbingly interested in what he is saying he drives it all home with a little burst of genial humor that he enjoys as much as anybody else and when he has finished everybody says, 'Great stuff, eh?'"

"His comparative knowledge in connection with whatever he happens to be speaking about is perhaps the most striking part of his lectures. He has a wonderfully wide range of knowledge and seems able to throw light on a subject from every conceivable angle. He not only knows, but he has also the gift of expressing clearly and forcibly what he knows, a gift for which all learned men are not famous."

Students at McGill who attend Leacock's classes feel rather jealous of other colleges and institutions which are in the habit of taking him from them so frequently since he is in great demand from one end of the country to the other. "At the same time we are glad that they are having the opportunity of hearing him, for Stephen Leacock's wit is of the kind that he must be heard to be fully appreciated," says the McGill student.

Q. E. D.

"SHOW me," says the math. teacher—and when the chalk clouds have settled down there are a lot of figures signed "Q. E. D." which aren't "Q. E. D." at all.

Say "Show me" to the shaving cream you're using and see what answer you get. Will it soften your beard right down to the base before the breakfast bell has rung twice? Will it leave your skin smooth and supple after every shave and give you the well-groomed look of perfect skin health?

Every day men are finding how much easier shaving can be made because of the speed and thoroughness with which Williams' softens the beard. Likewise, they are finding a help for their skin in Williams' that they never found in any other shaving cream. Try it yourself. The difference may surprise you.

5 IOWA TOWNS ARE ON SYMPHONY TOUR

Present St. Louis Orchestra Was Organized By Zach In 1881

When the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra plays here in the afternoon and evening concerts Monday, May 7, its Iowa City audiences will have the privilege of hearing one of the oldest symphony organizations in the country, and one whose reputation is international. As early as 1845 symphonies were performed in St. Louis by a local orchestra, and since the Civil War the city has had orchestras of high rank giving public performances of the best symphonies. The St. Louis Symphony Society has a well preserved program of a concert given on October 18, 1860.

The present St. Louis Symphony Society dates from 1881. Perhaps its most celebrated conductor was Max Zach, who assumed direction of the orchestra in 1907 and continued at its head until his sudden death in 1921. After fourteen years of untiring effort he gradually brought to perfection an orchestral instrument which may certainly be said to take rank as one of the six best orchestras in the United States.

After the death of Zach, the officials of the St. Louis Symphony Society invited Rudolph Ganz to accept the conductorship of the orchestra. A happier choice could not have been made, for Mr. Ganz had an enviable reputation as a pianist and musician, and early proved himself a great artist as a leader of the symphony. In coming to St. Louis, Ganz found an almost perfect instrument for him to play upon. Other conditions were ideal, and it is not strange that, with his splendid musicianship and agreeable personality to win him the respect of all, he attained remarkable success during the first season as conductor.

This community is fortunate in being one of the cities upon the itinerary of the orchestra this season. Grinnell, Des Moines, Waterloo and Cedar Rapids are the only other Iowa music centers which will hear the organization this year.

Tickets for the festival, two concerts, will cost $2.50, and must be purchased before May 5. The admission for single concert is $1.50. Tickets are now on sale at the book and music stores and at Whetstone's. Reservations are to be made May 5 and 7 at the University Book Store for single or festival ticket holders. Season ticket holders, the patrons of the University Concert Course, may make their reservations on May 4. Anyone desiring a complimentary ticket may receive one by selling ten single tickets. For tickets apply to Mrs. Philip G. Clapp at the office of the school of music.

Results Of Relays To Be Broadcasted By Radio-Telephone

Des Moines, Ia., April 27.—Track and field fans who are so unfortunate as not to be able to attend the fourteenth annual Drake relay meet at the stadium Saturday can tune in their little old radio sets and still get the results and some of the real thrills of the western athletic classic.

The Des Moines Kiwanis club, cooperating with the Thomas Electric company and the Register-Tribune this year will again broadcast the results of the meet, and fans who have radio sets tuned in will know of the outcome of the various events just as soon as they are over.

Several large magnavox instruments will be scattered about the stadium and results of the various events will be announced to the fans in the bowl simultaneously, just as soon as the winners are known. Theodore Carty, of Chicago, who has had wide experience at big athletic events, and Robert L. Finch, alumni secretary of Drake, will be in charge of the radio announcing at the stadium.

The Kiwanis club first sent results of the Drake meet broadcast by radio last year and this service proved so popular that the Kiwanians consented to do it again. Last year large crowds of Illinois students at Champaign got news of the Drake meet by radio and they went wild with enthusiasm when the Illini four-mile relay team hung up a new world's record for that event. Students at the Kansas Agricultural college, at Manhattan, Kan., and at several other institutions also expressed their appreciation of the Kiwanis club's radio service on the meet last year.

ON OTHER CAMPUSES

Wisconsin: Let your conscience be your guide, and "Down with the chaperones" are the battle cries of the women of the University of Wisconsin, who at the recent "revolt" mass meeting gained a half hour more freedom for each week night. Eight hundred women attended. To discuss and revise the present rules of the W. S. G. A. was the purpose of the first mass meeting of its kind at Wisconsin in twenty five years. The rule of being in rooms by ten o'clock, was changed, making ten thirty the required time. The rule to permit women to stay out Friday and Saturday nights until eleven was changed to allow them to stay out until twelve thirty.

Indiana: The million dollar mark in the University of Indiana's Memorial Union drive has been reached. Freshmen and new students pledged the last $150,000 in an eleventh hour final clean-up campaign.

Penn State: Unless the Pennsylvania state legislature agrees to increase the appropriation of $1,360,000 for maintenance of Penn State college for two years, no freshmen can be admitted next fall, according to information from the college authorities.

The college appropriation bill introduced in the legislature would provide $3,200,352. If this measure goes through, there will be accommodations for 1,000 newcomers, which was the number entered last fall.

Moscow: According to a decision by the finance department and the foreign office foreigners residing in Russia will not be freed of the payment of income taxes unless their home country has a reciprocity agreement with Russia.

CLASSES ARE SUSPENDED TODAY FOR CONVOCATION

All classes in the University will be dismissed from 10 o'clock until noon today so that all students and faculty members may attend the Convocation exercises. The convocation this year will be held in connection with the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the first permanent department of education in an American university, founded at Iowa in 1873.

At this convocation honorary degrees will be conferred on several distinguished educators. The principal address of the morning will be delivered by Prof. Stephen Leacock.

Mussolini Plans To Eliminate Unworthy Elements Of His Own Party

By United News

Rome, Italy, April 27.—Premier Benito Mussolini has decided to clean house within his own fascisti party, according to all indications.

The moral standard of the fascisti, the Giornali Roma declares, has been lowered because so many unworthy elements have recently joined the popular order.

Because of this condition, Mussolini has decided to close enrollment and undertake a rigid and even drastic revision of the membership list, expelling the spurious elements. In order to bring about strict discipline within the ranks of the party the premier has decided to force each member to join the militia in which they would be under strict military orders.

HAWKEYES DOPED TO WIN AT DRAKE

Record Of Mile Relay Quartet Makes Them Favorites Over Illini

Des Moines, Ia., April 27.—With Iowa and Illinois doped as the favorites to win the mile relay, university section, at the fourteenth annual Drake university relay meet, this event is arousing great interest among the fans who will attend the western athletic classic this year. Judged by their work in indoor meets and at Kansas the Hawkeyes seem to have a slight edge over the Illini for victory in the mile relay, but, as the co-eds say, "you never can tell."

Coach Harry Gill's Illini mopped up in the mile relay at the Drake meet last year, setting a new record of 3:20 2-5 for this event, and with two veterans on the quartet this year the Illini can be counted upon to give the Hawkeyes a great battle for first honors in this thrilling race.

Coach George Bresnahan, of Iowa, has four star speedsters in Wilson, Morrow, Brookins and Noll; all of them are capable of doing a quarter-mile in 50 seconds or under. This quartet captured first honors in the mile relay at both the western conference and Illinois indoor meets, and at the Kansas relays and if they are in form Saturday, Iowa should cop first honors in this event.

The Illinois mile relay team is composed of Captain Sweet, Fitch, Smuts and Carter. Sweet and Fitch were members of the record-breaking Illini mile team that ran away from the field in this event at the Drake meet last year. Every member of the Illinois team is a strong, dependable runner and can be counted on to give his best to win.

A crowd of 400 Iowa partisans will occupy a section at the stadium Saturday, pulling for a Hawkeye victory.

Iowa Meets Badgers Today For Initial Big 10 Tennis Meet

Wisc., to meet Wisconsin today in Iowa's first Big Ten conference tennis meet in the history of the institution. Iowa has had several matches with Coe this year but this is the first conference meet of the year. The team is composed of Janse, Swenson, Searle and Dorsey. Both Janse and Swenson ranked high in the Iowa state tournament last summer. They should steady the play of the Iowa team since both have had considerable match and tournament experience.

GOV. N. E. KENDALL TO REVIEW R.O.T.C.

Chief Executive Of State And Staff Will Be Guests Of Military Department

May 26 has been officially named as Governor's Day by Colonel Mumma of the Military Department. Governor N. E. Kendall, Adjutant General Lasker, and the Governor's executive staff have accepted the invitation to be the guests of honor at this yearly event when all the R. O. T. C. students pass in review.

On the morning of May 26 Annual Competitive military drill will be held. The prizes given to the individual winners will include medals and firearms. In the afternoon the 1141 Kahki clad students will pass in review in front of the stands on Iowa Field which will contain all of the State officials, the military commanders and the University officials.

Governor Kendall and wife will be guests of honor at the Governor's Ball to be given in the evening. The place for this honorary occasion will not be selected until Sunday when the committee in charge will meet and complete all arrangements.

day afternoon in the 29th annual running of the Penn Relay Carnival and made a flashy spectacle. But they broke few records. It was a bad day for the runners for a parching wind kept pushing them in the face all afternoon and throwing dust down their throats as they went gasping around the new track.

The record breaking was done by the little sproutlings from the grade schools around Philadelphia who swarmed to a dozen or more events held for their encouragement with the idea that they will be one day running in jerseys of the colleges. They clipped off whole seconds from old carnival marks of their class in some of the relays.

Morgan, the rangy Oxford runner, with a bizarre army motion like Paderewski's was unfortunate in being an overseas man for this fact drew special attention to him in the two mile international race in which he finished 6th and is barely alive to tell about it. Morgan started out in front of the pack and lead by ten yards at the first quarter, flaying the air and wasting with his faulty motion enough energy every ten yards to fire a locomotive for 90 miles. The pack was bunched at the end of the second quarter and shortly thereafter Walter Higgins of Columbia said he guessed that if nobody else wanted to win the race he might as well claim it for dear old Morningside.

Thompson of Hamilton college, Ohio, then was seized with the same notion and he gave Higgins a great debate in the final quarter but Higgins had a strong sprint left in his long legs and he won in the nondescript time of 9:42 1-5. The carnival

NOTED ARTISTS WILL APPEAR IN CONCERT HERE

St. Louis Orchestra To Present Lazarri And Gusikoff As Soloists May 7

The opportunity to hear the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra again is one eagerly anticipated by the music lovers of Iowa City. Perhaps no musical event in the history of the University was more outstanding than the appearance of the orchestra last year, and its welcome upon its return May 7 is assured.

Honors are shared, on this tour, between the organization in its ensemble work, and the soloists who appear with it. A trio of noted artists are presented, Rudolph Ganz, the conductor, Carolina Lazzari, contralto, and Michel Gusikoff, concertmaster and soloist.

Leader Is Celebrated Pianist

Ganz has long been celebrated as one of the world's greatest pianists, and since assuming the direction of the St. Louis Symphony orchestra has disclosed himself a thorough musician and most capable orchestra conductor. He has brought forth surpassing work from his organization, and by the strength of his personality, added to his accomplishments.

Gusikoff is the youngest and most noted concertmaster in America. As a violinist he has already won success in a greater measure than has come to many older musicians. He was a student of the great Franz Kneisel, and under the leadership of Ganz has achieved a scholarly musicianship which ranks him high among the artists of this country.

Lazzari To Sing

Few artists have won more enthusiastic praise from the critics of America than Lazzari, the noted contralto of the Chicago Grand Opera Company. She has appeared in three of the most important opera houses in the world; at the auditorium in Chicago; Metropolitan Opera House, New York; and the Colon Theater, Buenos Aires. She has toured the country and everywhere won new triumphs. Signal honor was paid her when the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra invited her to accompany it on its spring tour.

Gusikoff will appear as the soloist of the afternoon concert, and Madame Lazarri will be heard in the evening. Both concerts will be given in the men's gymnasium. Tickets are $2.50 for the two concerts; single tickets are $1.50 for each concert.

Students "Bum" On Freight Trains To See Drake Relays

"Hey, you bums, get off that boxcar," shouted the brakeman of a west-bound Rock Island freight train yesterday morning as the train was about to leave Iowa City and half a dozen University students piled out—Martyrs of the cause, for twenty more were hiding in the interior of the car. The brakeman was satisfied as he signalled the engineer to start and the six "martyrs" waited for the next train.

"Hope it will last till we get there," said the owner of one of the many, "near-automobiles" seen about the campus this spring as he inflated a tire that had enough blow-out patches, vulcanized sections and weak spots to make it look like one of the tires used on Henry Ford's original creation.

"Glass houses on wheels" flivers, freight trains, passenger trains, and even Pullman cars carried the exodus of Iowa university students who started leaving a few days ago and will continue to leave this morning for Des Moines to witness the Drake Relays. It is estimated that over 100 Iowa City automobiles will make the trip carrying over 500 people.

Besides this number there will be another 500 people from this city who went by train and airplane to witness the great track classic. It is estimated that over 1000 University students and Iowa City people will be at the Drake stadium today to cheer on the Hawkeye relay teams and individual performers to victory.

L.L.D. DEGREES TO BE AWARDED TO FIVE TODAY

Noted Educators Will Be Honored By Iowa U. This Morning

Honorary degrees will be conferred on a number of prominent educators at the University Convocation this morning at 10 o'clock in the natural science auditorium. The degree of Doctor of Laws will be conferred on Dean Edward P. Cubberly of Leland Stanford University; Professor Edward L. Thorndike and Dean James E. Russell of Teachers College, Columbia University; and Charles H. Judd, of the University of Chicago. These men have all been attending the Conference on Supervision here this week.

All classes in the University will be suspended from 10 to 12 this morning so that students and faculty members may attend the exercises.

The Convocation today will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the department of education here. It is the culmination of the annual conference on supervision and will be attended by the educators and school patrons who have been attending the conference.

The principal speaker of the morning will be by Professor Stephen Leacock, of McGill University, who is also to speak in the evening.

The complete program has not yet been announced but will include some special musical numbers.

Miss Yeaman Wins "Corpus Juris—Cyc" Set Of Law Books

A ninety book set of law reference books, technically known as "Corpus Juris-Cyc", is soon to be in the possession of Gladys Yeaman L3 of Sioux City, as the result of her high scoring in competitive examination in which all members of the senior law brief class were eligible.

The books which have an original cost of between $600 and $700 but which are invaluable in a lawyer's business library, comprise an annual gift from the American Law Book Company of Syracuse, N. Y. to the member of the senior law class who ranks highest in the competitive examination which the book company formulates. A hypothetical set of facts is given the candidates, in the solution of which the candidate is merely to state the law reference in which the answer to such a situation is contained. A month's time is given the student in which to prepare his answers.

Miss Yeaman is one of the three women students in the senior law class. She was vice-president of the junior class of last year and in continuing her study of law she will become her father's partner as a criminal lawyer in Sioux City next year. Her closest competitor in the securing of the magnificent gift of the Book Company was Abram M. De Vaul L3 of Fonda.

In a similar competitive examination held last year, Omar Scanlon, wrote the most perfect paper and was the winner of the set of law reference books.

WHO ARE THE CULTURED?

Due to certain alleged statements by representatives of a national sorority, the question of culture has become a moot question on the campus during the past few days. As a result the University has been engaged in self-examination and not a few of those who hitherto prided themselves on belonging to the select few have been sent scurrying to books on etiquette to find wherein they fall short.

To attempt a definition of culture would be foolhardy for as of other abstract ideas, every one has his own answer. It seems however, that too many people are prone to confuse culture with Packard cars, sophistication, and afternoon teas. One has to be conscious that he is cultured in order to be really cultured, they hold.

But such reasoning hardly fits in with the idea of culture expounded by such eminent authorities as Ruskin and Arnold or the great Greek philosophers. Culture to the latter signified a well-rounded personality, an equal development or cultivation of every mental faculty. Judged by this standard, Iowans with their Philistinism obviously fall short, but on the other hand, so do all Americans and especially those who lay claim to being cultured.

Simplicity in life is commonly believed to be diametrically opposed to culture. Yet is it? A man who lives in the back woods, works in overalls and eats with his knife, may, according to the above standard, be more cultured than the most rabid social climber of any large city. If he sees the beauty in nature and goodness in his fellowmen, if he gives expression to the artistic impulse in his soul, then who is there to deny that he is cultured?

THREE OUT OF THIRTY

This University has competed against the Universities of Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Northwestern, and Minnesota in intercollegiate oratory during the last thirty years in the Northern Oratorical League. In each of those thirty contests, an orator from Iowa has been compared with other representative university orators. In this comparison, we have been judged first place thrice in thirty years! It is a poor record. It is not excuses we should look for; it is an explanation.

It is not because any other university has a magnetic attraction for just out of high school Daniel Websters and Patrick Henrys. It is not because our department of speech is unable to mature potentialities when they discover them. It is because a great oration must have a great subject, and our undergraduates are not interested in great subjects; and because the only way to write great orations is to write experimental orations first, and our undergraduates are not writing experimental orations.

Creative thought on the world's problems glaring at us today makes the body of an oration. The mastery of the technique of balanced sentences, rounded paragraphs, well-built climax gives life to an oration. Thought and technique combined make art. The one way to achieve art in building his oration is to practice. The place to practice for intercollegiate oratory is in the different class oratorial contests. These stand as intermediate, between the crude products of the first year and the matured thought and polished technique demanded for success in intercollegiate oratory. It is the training ground for originality in thought and experience in technique. If we are to better our three out of thirty percentage in the N. O. L., we must write better intercollegiate orations. Practice is the method. The sophomore year is the time to practice; the Sophomore Oratorical contest is the place to practice.

CONTEMPORARY OPINION

(New York World)

WHY THE FARMER MOVES TO TOWN

After a survey of 6,094 representative farm ventures the Department of Agriculture announces that in 1922 the cash yield of an average farm, capitalized at $16,400, was $715. In addition, $202 was gained on the average in machinery and live stock and $294 was obtained from the land in fuel and food. Altogether $1,211 stood for the return on $16,400 plus the labor of farmer and family.

But not all of the agriculturists of the country were so fortunate as this average. Of those canvassed 14.6 per cent. failed to make expenses; 50.8 per cent. made less than $1,000; 22.2 per cent. less than $2,000; 6.8 per cent. less than $3,000 and only 5.6 per cent. got over $3,000 for the investment of capital and hard work.

In these figures one finds without difficulty the whole cause of the migration from country to city which creates so much agitation among economists. Nowhere else in the United States does capital produce so little or labor bring so small a reward as on the farm. A man who has $16,400 tied up in acreage would be financially better off to sell, put the money in 4-1-4 Liberty bonds and go to work for Henry Ford. The bonds would bring almost as much income as the farm, with no labor involved, and he couldn't earn much less than $1,500 a year in a Ford plant.

The movement from country to city is evidence that the farmers are aware of these facts and are reacting to them in normal fashion. In some sections they are forming co-operative associations, in others they are selling their goods at auction and shaking the dust of agriculture from their boots forever. This last is not a good thing for the country, but the country has left many farmers no choice.

The Sounding Board

Des Moines, Ia. (Special to the Sounding Board)—Traffic here is a bit more congested than in Iowa City, and even the sleepiest pedestrian is forced to maintain a sort of semi-consciousness. Buildings are considerably higher, and taxicabs more numerous.

No rubberneck wagons are in evidence, but points of interest include the customary post-office, court house and library, and the state capitol building. As in the Athens of Iowa, newsboys vie with each other in fanciful pronunciations of commonplace names.

An unusual feature of the city is the existence within its limits of the 10-cent movie, popularly supposed to have vanished from the face of the earth. For a thin dime one may witness Wm. S. Hart in "The Man Killer," or other features of like calibre.

Street car fare here is 8 cents, and as a result all strap-hangers wear tobacco pouches suspended from their wrists in which to carry coppers. Conductors are furnished with patented sagless coats. Some of the cars open at the rear, others in the middle, but patrons are supposed to know their stuff and not try to get on in the middle when there isn't any door there.

Why do some girls (you know which ones we mean) feel called upon to wear knickers? And if they feel that they simply must wear them, why do they have to parade down the principal thoroughfare?

Des Moines boasts (or tolerates) several establishments where they serve "Chow Mien" (Chinese for mean chow"). At these places the smallness of the portions is only exceeded by the size of the check.

ADVANTAGES OF A COLLEGE EDUCATION
Before we started to school we were worth $40 as a linotype operator; after four years we are now worth $22.50 as a reporter.

A grand total of 20 cents was secured by miscreants who broke into three long distance telephone booths at Shenandoah. Neighboring villages, it is reported, have loaned funds to tide the town over the financial crisis.

WHOLESALE SLAUGHTER.

Sulphur and molasses

By Arthur C. Staples in
NEW YORK TRIBUNE

I can find sulphur in the dictionary, but I cannot find sulphur and molasses. Yet as the waters run gurgling into the brooks and the early fish is bumping his nose against the swiftly breaking ice of the Maine ponds and lakes, I can find it in my memory. An old rite whose recalling can do no harm in a busy world.

Sulphur and molasses was an old-fashioned spring lifter for boys and girls—about equally divided; for it was prescribed more liberally to boys; but girls took their portions more faithfully. I suppose that there are at least a million old boys and old girls in greater New York who have taken it in days of yore. To them this is addressed with fond recollection.

As a medicament it was supposed to eradicate "humors" that had sort of hung around and collected during the winter. It was also a reaction of motherly notions of spring house cleaning. While she was about the usual work of shifting the melodeon from the bay window to the north corner of the room she might as well slick up the children. Take an old-fashioned boy who had wintered in his clothes, and who had postponed his bath because the wash tub was frozen, and give him liberal doses of sulphur and molasses and one could get lint out of him that had been in his system since a week before Christmas. It was also good for what ailed a boy, no matter what ailed him. It was a natural squeegee. I cannot understand why they stopped giving it. If it were good for boys and girls in the '60s and '70s why not now? I do not believe that there is a United States senator in service today of more than sixty years of age who was not brought up on the strict notion of liberal dosage of sulphur and molasses for removal of his original sin. And look what it did for him!

Mother always seems to know just the proper time to prescribe it. It was pure instinct with an old-fashioned mother. She knew. Along about the time when the woodchucks began to stir, when the bobolinks came around and began to look over the holes in the fence posts, she used to bring out the old yellow bowl and begin to stir sulphur into the molasses. She looked us over and saw that Bill had the sniffles and John had the hookworm and Tom had a peculiar hookworm and Tom had a peculiar would not respond to the "reach" of old-fashioned sulphur and molasses. I have not the faintest notion that it would drive out any humors from a modern boy or flapper. I doubt if there are any in the blood of modern youth. Possibly it might force out a little nicotine, or a suggestion of rouge, but I do not know that I care to pursue the subject. Modern boys and girls are just as healthy and wholesome perhaps as we were. I only know that in the older days, by the time that the May flowers had blossomed and the boys and girls had all been given their spring bath in the old blue washtub and the sulphur and molasses had scaled off and the blutbirds were mating, and ma had put away the sulphur bowl for another year and we were wearing camphor bags against scarlet fever, and the house was cleaned, and the carpets all beaten, and the ticks of the feather beds had been changed, we were rather frisky boys and girls. So I suggest three cheers for mother and her spring housecleaning of the boys and girls.

301 College Girls Aided By Loan And Scholarship Fund

A scholarship and loan fund has been established by the Iowa Federation of Women's Clubs making it possible for girls of this state to have the benefit of a college education who might otherwise be unable to go to college.

In a report made at a recent board meeting Mrs. W. H. Davidson of Burlington, Iowa, chairman of the committee, showed that the loan fund which has now passed the $20,000 mark is insufficient for the demands made upon it. There are at present forty-nine borrowers from the total fund of $20,314.52 and a balance on hand of $1,054.57.

To date 301 college girls have taken advantage of the privileges of the loan fund. Mrs. Davidson states that all of the borrowers have maintained a high standard in their school work.

Cake Eater —model of 1900

He was called dude and dandy then, but you recognize the type.

He majored in haberdashery and took his degree with honors in zoology.

As if that were not enough, he evolved some variations on the cake walk which made them stare.

He even found time to develop a remarkable proficiency on the tandem bicycle, and on Saturday nights he was good enough to bring pleasure into Another's life by wheeling away to the "Ten-Twent-Thirt."

To crowd all this into four short years would seem enough for any mortal. Yet in spite of his attainments there are times, in after life, when our hero wonders.

The glory of his waistcoats has long since faded, while his books are still fresh and clean. Did he perchance put too much thought into the selection of his hats and too little in what went under them?

Seniors Lay Plans For Graduation Activities; Senior Day Is First

Early in May the seniors come to the realization that college days for them are almost over and they begin to plan for the activities, the stunts, and the social affairs that are attendant upon commencements everywhere.

At Iowa the first of the senior activities is Senior Day.

On this day a program is given upon Iowa Field in the forenoon and senior classes are dismissed for the day. Classes in all colleges are dismissed for the latter part of the forenoon so that the students may attend the program. On the field the band plays, stunts of various kinds are given, and speeches are made. No admission is charged, it being a celebration day for seniors and the program arranged and put on by University talent.

The date for the Senior Day this year has not been officially decided upon but the committee in charge is to meet Wednesday and the date will probably be definitely fixed.

Then there is a lull in events until after the final examinations are over. On the Saturday preceding Commencement the Senior Breakfast-Dance will be held. This will be the second year that the seniors have had a breakfast-dance. Prior to this it was customary to hold a breakfast and a frolic on this date. But the stunts formerly given at the frolic have been seized to fill the programs at other functions throughout the year. The entertainments now given between halves at games were formerly a part of the senior frolic.

Last year a very successful breakfast and dance were given in the new armory on the Saturday preceding Commencement and it is quite likely that its success will lead to its becoming an annual custom. Definite arrangements have not yet been made but it will quite likely be very similar to last year, the breakfast being held at eleven and the dance following immediately after.

Then on Monday, the annual Sen-in the R. O. T. C. In my opinion every university and college in the United States should have an R. O. T. C. unit.

"We as Americans have never courted war but over half of our existence has been spent in war or in preparation for it. And because we do not want war, we do not need to think that it will not be forced upon us again as it has been so many times before. If we are prepared, no war can last so long as did the recent world war."

Lieutenant Colonel Dickson has an impressive personality and is interested in all the things pertaining to college and university life. Especially is he interested in the Memorial Union drive. He said, "Nothing has spoken so highly of the element of appreciation of what our boys did in the war as the Memorial Union. I am heartily glad that it has met with such co-operation in the University of Iowa. The whole thing meets with my highest approval."

"I was with the Iowa boys in France in the Rainbow division," he continued, "and they were some of the best boys I have ever had the opportunity of meeting. Therefore, I am especially glad that the Memorial Union has met with such a good response here."

Colonel Dickson was with the first American division in France which was the first one to reach Europe. He appears in full dress uniform and wears all the stars of the first division besides a silver star, denoting a citation on the battlefield.

STATE BOARD RULES ON FRAT HOUSE SITES

Education Body Zones The City For Fraternity And Sorority Houses

A regulation concerning the location of fraternity and sorority houses was acted on by the State Board of Education in session here this week.

The Inter-Fraternity Conference of the State University of Iowa at a recent meeting passed a resolution to the effect that fraternities shall not buy or build in close proximity to any property owned or occupied by a sorority, suggesting that some kind of a zoning system be adopted to mark out the approved locations.

This action of the Conference was commended by the Board of Education who in furtherance of the same policy requested the Social Committee of the University to consider the advisability of establishing fraternity and sorority zones.

The resolution adopted by the board is as follows:

(1) That the part of Iowa City west of the Iowa river be established as fraternity zone number one; (2) that Dubuque street north of Ronalds street be established as fraternity zone number two; (3) that the part of Iowa City east of the Iowa river not included in fraternity zone number two and not within two blocks of such zone, be established as the sorority zone; with the provision that social privileges shall be denied (1) to any fraternity while it is occupying a fraternity-owned fraternity house outside of the fraternity zones and (2) to any sorority while it is occupying a sorority-owned sorority house outside of the sorority zone.

Some such regulation has been under consideration of the social committee for some time. Most of the larger universities have a similar ruling.

The regulation, which goes into effect next year, provided it is acted on favorably by the social committee, does not affect the renting of houses, nor does it affect the present locations of fraternity and sorority houses. It merely provides that future building shall conform to the zoning system as set forth in the resolution of the board.

Assailant Of Judge In English Court Is Sentenced To Jail

(By United News)

London, April 27—An attempt of an unsuccessful litigate to stone Justice Romer as the latter was about to take his seat caused a sensation in the chancery division of law courts here Friday.

Arthur Ravenhill who was seated in the rear of the court reached in his pocket and withdrew a handful of stones which he attempted to shower on Justice. Ravenhill was overpowered by officers.

"Your action is contempt of court and too serious to overlook" said the Justice who sent the assailant to jail.

The Old Home Town

Situated half way between Minneapolis and St. Louis, Chicago and Omaha. With the sky blue above us; and a soil underneath us that produces corn-fed ball players. With a population of twelve thousand of all kinds of people.

With a state institution that is being seen through the eyes of the world as one of the very best. With a hospital designed to be as good, if not better than any in the U. S. A. In the next five years there will be from 300 to 500 non-resident laborers and machinists in our city in the creation of the five million dollar hospital. The six thousand non-resident students, ever on the increase, with the professors, teachers, nurses and other vocational non-rental residents, will quickly make our population reach twenty thousand. With the greatest lot of business men and women, you will find anywhere, and the old home town, referred to, is Iowa City.

This wonderful State-owned institution is supported by the state of Iowa's taxpayers. This vast material worth is not taxable in the up-keep of the city, with its modern conveniences. The local institutions and conveniences with immediate and increased demands will require more and more taxation, and will fall heavily upon the resident property owning population. To illustrate what it means—Five years ago we purchased a substantial business and commenced to pay taxes as follows:

1918	1919	1920	1921	1922	1923
$56.00	$160.00	$215.00	$320.00	$528.00	$437.00

This tax exemplifies and is emblematical of all other business concerns and property owning individuals in the city.

Every tax payer in the state and especially Iowa City and Johnson County is proud of the institution that is so nobly caring for the sick and the distressed, as well as the schooling and its effect that will be felt in later years. We, as a business concern, are making an appeal to the entire population of the old town to give the city's business concerns their loyal support, and by so doing, increase their volume of business, so that it will lighten the burden of taxation and lessen the cost of rendering our services to you.

Capital invested! Well, yes, and plenty of it. The bread makers of Iowa City have $8,000.00 invested and the forty-four persons who are employed, spend their pay roll of $48,000.00 per annum in support of families and the local conveniences and institutions under which we live. Bread, Bread, Bread, most assuredly everyone in the city should demand Iowa City's made bread. Eat Iowa City's bread and by so doing you are supporting the old home town. This bread illustration is only a drop in the bucket compared with all of the other business concerns in our old town. Help, Help, Help—man of Iowa City, are you going to pass by on the other side, in spite of the non-tax paying peddler? Buy of your local merchant and if he is too high priced in his services, reason with him and help him to line up in rendering a cheaper service by giving him an increased volume of business.

Day-Light Saving Plan Abolished In Pennsylvania

Harrisburgh, Penn. April 27—The cow is mightier than the tennis court, so Pennsylvania is to have no saving of daylight for after supper recreation.

After a fierce debate, in which country legislators were solidly arrayed against their city bread colleagues, the Derrick anti-daylight bill was passed Wednesday, 114 to 73.

Members who have at heart the welfare, and the vote of the city folks of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, pleaded for the extra twilight hour which would enable street car conductors and manicurists and others to gamble on the golf links and in canoes but the assemblyman from the farm were obdurate. They told about the inconvenience of milking a cow at 3 a. m. when she must be milked although the clock says 4 a. m. Canoes and tennis courts must yield to cows and milk.

But the big cities may get their extra daylight nevertheless. Philadelphia plans to place a local daylight saving arrangement into effect Sunday. Railroads have printed millions of time tables to aid the local sunlight economy. Pittsburgh may follow suit in defiance of the state measure, which now goes to Governor Pinchot for its signature as the senate has already passed it.

have to remain standing during the hour."

At the present time there is under consideration the construction of a building to complete the "five-spot" arrangement, but as yet no definite action has been taken upon the plan. The proposed building would be similar to the Physics Building and would be approximately the same size. It would stand on the northwest corner of the Old Capitol campus and would complete what is known as the "Five-Spot," consisting of Old Capitol, the physics building, natural science hall and the liberal arts building.

This is being considered by the State Board but due to the small appropriation made this year to state institutions, it is almost impossible for them to do much construction work. However, due to the pressing need of space, there may be something done to relieve the congestion. "Well," remarked one professor, "I

Wampum To Replace Coin

Irene Boughton, A4 of Sioux City has a group of interesting concessions under the action department. There will be a shooting gallery managed by George Johnson, S3 of Manning; a Roulette Wheel under the direction M. Geiser; the billiard Ball managed by Roger M. Kingaman, A1 of Iowa City; and a Japanese Booth and Fishing Pond under the management of Inez F. Pilars, A3 of Iowa City.

There will also be a mystic Hindu full of magic and thrills whose name is not yet revealed.

Already the "Wampum" is printed ready for distribution, and it will be sold on the Iowawa grounds, as the only accepted "medium of exchange" at the various concessions. The wampum of this year is different than that of the preceding years, and it is much more convenient to carry than any that has ever been used before.

As has been customary in preceding years complimentary tickets will be issued to the visiting high school athletes who will be in the city upon that date.

The next meeting of the Departmental Board of Iowawa will be held in the Y. W. C. A. room in 117 L. A. next Tuesday at 4:15 p. m. and further plans will be revealed concerning the great Iowawa celebration on May 5.
