SWIFT ORATES FOR IOWA IN N.O.L. CONTEST

University Student To Compete With Five Other Speakers Tonight

Oral S. Swift LI of North English, winner of the University Oratorical contest, left yesterday afternoon for Minneapolis to represent the University of Iowa in the Northern Oratorical League contest tonight. He was accompanied by Prof. Glenn N. Merry, head of the department of speech. Swift, in competition with five other intercollegiate orators from the Universities of Northwestern, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, will deliver his oration, "A Non-Military Hero" in the Music Hall at the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis this evening.

Swift won first place from eleven other aspirants in this University in the oratorical contest on February 27. Since that time, under the training of Professor Merry, he has been preparing for tonight's contest. His subject in the University Oratorical was "A Court for Industrial Peace." For the N. O. L., however, he has abandoned that topic and the non-military hero of whom he speaks tonight is Mark Twain. Before fixing upon the final draft of his speech Swift wrote eight orations.

Praises Mark Twain

Swift has long had a hearty appreciation of Mark Twain, and his oration is an expression of his respect. "For myself," he writes, "if I had only ten minutes to spend with any great man of history, I should pass by Caesar, skip Napoleon, and very reluctantly turn away from our own Lincoln, but I might spend that ten minutes with Mark Twain. Mark Twain is gone, but his written words are with us, and through them there will go down through the ages a feeble but upright old figure in a white linen duster, with snowy locks, a drooping moustache, and twinkling, merry eyes, shuffling along in loose carpet slippers and spreading joy and sunshine.

Before leaving, Professor Merry, when questioned concerning Swift's preparation, answered warmly in praise of the determination and effort that led him to write and re-write his oration of the sincerity of Swift's appreciation for Mark Twain, (Continued on page 8)

Trustees For Daily Iowan Board Will Be Named May 18

The election of the undergraduate trustees of the Daily Iowan Board will be held Friday May 18, to take office at the beginning of next year.

Two sophomores will be elected to fill the places of Margaret Altman A4 of Livermore and Harry Bunker G4 of Waterloo, for a two year term.

Petitions must be presented at the office of Dr. Charles H. Weller, 11 liberal arts before Friday May 11. Each undergraduate trustee shall be nominated on a petition signed by twenty five members of his own class who are paid up subscribers to the Daily Iowan. No sophomore shall be eligible as a candidate unless he has earned the University credit amounting to forty-five hours and is in good and regular standing in the University. Each petition must be accompanied by a statement from the registrar showing that these requirements have been met.

Only paid up subscribers of the Daily Iowan will be allowed to vote for the trustee members. Ballots will be printed on the front page of the Iowan the day of the election.

CORNELL GETS PHI BETA KAPPA CHAPTER

Mt. Vernon, Ia., May 3—A chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity, was installed at Cornell College, last evening. Addresses were given by Charles Bundy Wilson, head of the German department, university of Iowa, and Charles F. Thwing, formerly president of Western Reserve University, and now president of the United chapters of Phi Beta Kappa.

GOVERNMENT OF CUNO TOTTERING AS OFFER FAILS

Expect Chancellor To Resign; Stressemann Considered As Minister

By Ferdinand Jahn

(United News Staff Correspondent) Berlin, May 3—The government of Chancellor Cuno, unable to make peace with the French-Belgians in the Ruhr, is tottering according to all indications. It is anticipated that Cuno will resign as soon as the French and Belgian governments dispatch to him their formal rejection of Germany's 30 billion gold marks reparations offer which was made Wednesday.

In case Cuno resigns it is expected that President Ebert will ask him to at least go through the motions of forming a new regime with Dr. Hugh Stressemann as foreign minister in the place of the present incumbent, Rosenberg, and with the inclusion of socialists in a "big coalition."

Better Offer Doubtful

Stressemann has long been an advocate of an "understanding" with the French, but it is questionable whether he will be able to make a more liberal offer than Cuno's, in view of the present temper of the country.

Undoubtedly the socialists will demand that the door be kept open for further negotiations. Looming against their demand is the bugaboo of the fascists led by Adolph Hitler who, according to German reports, are ready to spring a coup against the present Republican regime in an effort to form a monarchy.

The first outward result of the Franco-Belgian rejection of the German reparations offer was a tremendous slump in the mark which dropped on the Bourse to 40,000 to the American dollar, a decline of 8,000 since Monday.

Peace Hope Blasted

Paris, May 3—Hope of peace in the Ruhr coal war has been blasted, France, it became known Thursday, has prepared a note in answer to Germany's 30 billion gold marks peace offer stating that she intends to stay in the Ruhr until conditions are changed and meanwhile will refuse to enter any controversy. The French draft prepared by Premier Poincare has been forwarded to Brussels where members of the Belgian government will consider it. The premier of Belgium may merely affix his signature to the French note or send a separate one.

Poincare plans to send his note Friday. Copies are to be forwarded to the countries of Europe and to the United States.

MIKE HOWARD WILL MIX IN DES MOINES MONDAY

Des Moines, May 3—Mike Howard, University of Iowa wrestling coach, will meet an opponent in a show conducted by Oscar Thornson here Monday night. Howard's adversary has not yet been chosen. It will be the second time he has performed before an Iowa audience.

HUNDREDS OF VISITORS HERE THIS WEEK-END

Good Share Of Brains And Brawn Of Iowa High Schools To Be Here

A good share of the brains and brawn of Iowa high schools will be represented at the University of Iowa this week end. In the brain division will be the finals of the state high school debating contest and the extemporaneous speaking contest. In the brawn division will be the 282 athletes from 30 Iowa high schools entered in the fifteenth annual Iowa interscholastic track and field meet. Then, to top it all off, the university students have invited their dads to come to the university Saturday to see the educational machinery in motion.

The debating contest will be Friday afternoon at 2:45 between a team from Monticello and one from Mount Ayr. This contest represents the last of a series in which 66 Iowa high schools participated. The question for the debate is "Resolved—That the state should by suitable and proper legislation, provide for a bond issue, constitutionality granted."

Monticello's negative debating team consists of Theodore Denkhoff, Lisle Aruder and Ted Koop. Helen Willis, Ainslee Hickerson and Esther Muller will represent Mount Ayr on the affirmative side. They arrived yesterday. Each member of the two teams will receive a four year scholarship to the University of Iowa and their schools get silver plaques commemorating the event. The teams will be the guests of the university while here.

Ninety-two Iowa schools were entered in the extemporaneous speaking contest, the finals of which are here Friday afternoon at 2:00 in the natural science auditorium. At the four district contests 44 high schools competed. The four district winners will meet here. They are Lyle Shrader, Fort Dodge, Ia.; James Devitt, Oskaloosa, Ia.; Philip Krasne, Council Bluffs, Ia.; Ray Stieger, Waverly, Ia.

PREP TENNIS MEN GET GOING TODAY

Seven High Schools Entered; Drawings This Morning; Finals Tomorrow

Seven high schools represented by forty men have entered the first annual interscholastic tennis meet which will begin this morning at 9 o'clock on the courts by the men's gymnasium.

The meet will be one of elimination and the drawing will be made at 8:30 this morning. No admittance charge will be made for the preliminaries today but twenty-five cents will be charged for the final matches to be played Saturday at 9 a. m.

Winners of the first, second, and third places in the singles and the doubles will be given medals. The school from which the winner of the single matches comes from will receive a plaque and the school sending the winning team in the doubles will receive one also.

Each match will consist of two out of three sets. The schools which have so far indicated that they would enter the meet are Fort Dodge, Cedar Rapids, three Des Moines high schools, and the two Iowa City high schools.

ORGANIZE LIFE SAVING PATROL ON IOWA RIVER

Fast Motorboat And Life Guards To Protect Students On River

In order to make canoeing a much safer pastime on the Iowa river, precautionary measures are to be taken by the University of Iowa men's life saving corps and the Iowa City chapter of the American Red Cross, according to plans announced yesterday by Prof. Frederic G. Higbee of the mathematics department, and president of the corps.

A fast motorboat has been bought and the services of a life saving personnel and the boat have been financed for the coming year by the local Red Cross chapter. The program contemplates a man on duty at all times to handle emergency calls. In addition, volunteer guards will be on duty from noon to 10 p. m. daily. Paid life savers will be in the employ of the corps.

Rescue stations are to be established along the most used part of the river. These stations will be in sight of each other and equipped with telephones and life buoys. Emergency telephone calls will be handled by a special operator through the courtesy of the telephone company.

The life saving service will begin Saturday and continue until the river freezes over. Backing up this service is the corps consisting of fifty-three men thoroughly trained in the art of life saving and resuscitation of drowned persons. They are all holders of the American Red Cross life saving certificates. The corps will be constantly in training for emergencies that might arise. In addition David A. Armbruster, of the department of physical education for men, has a new class of fifty-six men who are being trained in life saving.

Groups of university men and women are taken in classes and taught what to do in cases of emergencies, how to handle boats and canoes and the measures to take in case of accidents.

The officers of the corps are: Prof. Frederic G. Higbee, president; Ernest G. Schroeder, vice president; David A. Armbruster, instructor Dr. Walter R. Fieseler and Dr. Waffer A. Anneberg, medical officers; Roy Stover A3 of Watertown, S. D., secretary treasurer. The executive officers are Thomas L. Ward M3 of Des Moines, captain; Ivan J. Klingaman A2 of Vinton, first mate; John T. Goltman A3 of Clinton, second mate; Martin E. Griffin M2 of Iowa City, third mate; Charles R. Marshall Au of Knoxville, fourth mate.

RIGHT KIND OF WILD LIFE TO BE GUARDED

Madison, Wis., May 3.—"What is wild life?"

That is what Harry Butler, a member of the board of regents, wants to know. At a meeting of the regents recently a letter from Prof. F. A. Faust asking that "wild life" be protected was read and the board was asked by the business manager to take some action. Mr. Butler is in favor of protecting nature's own on the university campus and property but he declares vehemently that only the right kind of wild life will be protected.

QUIZ STUDENTS IN ATTEMPT TO SOLVE MYSTERY

State Attorneys Start Attack On Hazing; Investigation By Jury Started

(By United News)

Chicago, May 3—More than a dozen students of Northwestern were grilled in the state attorney's office here Thursday night in an attempt to shed light on the tragic death of Leighton Mount, freshman, who disappeared during the violent class war of September, 1921, and whose body was found a few days ago hidden under a breakwater where the police believe it was placed by terrified students who had caused his death in a hazing party.

Detectives armed with subpoenas invaded the exclusive portals of the Evanston university and issued subpoenas for various students. Among those subpoenaed were William A. Dyche, business manager of the University, John Scott, son of the University president, Fred Scott, the president's nephew, and Arthur Persinger, who narrowly escaped drowning at the hands of freshmen a few hours before Mount's death.

The grilling of college officials and students is preliminary to the investigation by the Cook county grand jury which has been ordered by (Continued on page 8)

TRACK MEET WILL ENTERTAIN DADS

Great Opportunity Afforded For Dads To Learn Student Life

Just as Dad's Day will serve to give the dads an idea of campus spirit and the university as a whole, the Dad's Day dinner will bring together the special group which the day honors the parents and the students and will make them better acquainted among themselves.

The dads can get together and compare statistics on amounts spent and "A" grades received by son and daughter, and may go away with a fund of information largely different from that which he is usually furnished. Sons will congratulate themselves on being at least able to show dad what an enormous amount of money it takes to go to college, and how little time a fellow really has to write home.

Judge R. P. Howell of Iowa City will talk to the students and their parents at the dinner. It will not be necessary to arrange for tickets beforehand, but students should take their parents to the Commercial Club rooms, 214 1-2 East Washington at 12 o'clock Saturday noon.

A special section of the bleachers for the high school interscholastic track meet and Iowa-Northwestern track meet will be reserved for the guests of the day. There will be no reservations beforehand, but the dads will buy their tickets at the box office.

ANNUAL IOWAWA FETE OPENS AT ARMORY TONIGHT

'Y' Organizations Make Elaborate Plans For Success; Visitors Are Guests

(By Tyrell Ingersoll)

The biggest Iowawa carnival in the history of the event at Iowa will be held this evening in the new armory beginning at 7 o'clock. The 1923 Iowawa will be the fourth since its inception in 1919. James A. Reaney A3 of Sheldon is the general manager and has charge of all affairs relating to the carnival. He and a host of interested students serving as managers of various departments, and helpers in all kinds of activities have been working for over a month to make Iowawa and Iowiggle the best and biggest event of the year.

The carnival has been held every year since 1919 sponsored jointly by the university Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. All receipts over expenses are turned into the treasuries of the organizations. It was begun as an annual Y. M. and Y. W. celebration and has grown to be one of the biggest events of the school year.

To represent the university Y. Y. C. A. Lois Kifer A4 of Sioux City has been chosen as general manager for the Y. M. C. A. To care for all immediate business matters Harry Boyesen A2 of Harlem and Margaret Sayers A2 of Jefferson have been chosen as business managers. They will have charge of the printing and the sale of Iowa wampum.

Iowa wampum has become an integral part of Iowawa. It is the only kind of currency which will be accepted at the various booths in the carnival. All money must be changed into wampum. There will be banks located at many accessible places to serve as the changers. Wampum will be in one cent denominations.

A new and unusual kind of wampum has been printed for the occasion. All admissions and articles for sale will be priced in terms of wampum. Those who will work in the banks will be: Luella A. Anderson A3 of Ogden, Richard Romey A1 of Mason City, Mae Becker A2 of Elkader, Wesley Hughes A2 of Des Moines, Lucille Smith A3 of Spencer, Russell Crawford S3 of New Hampton, Judith Tornell A2 of Pilot Mound and Glenn Harrison Au of Corning.

Those helping in the distribution of Wampum and in collecting it will include: Hortense Finch A2 of Davenport, Helen Patterson A4 of Marengo, Lydia Walker A2 of Des Moines, Rose McGrath A2 of Boone, Helen Lawrence A4 of Enid Okla., Martha Amonds A1 of Des Moines, Marjorie Green A2 of Des Moines, Lois McAdow A3 of Webster City, (Continued on page 5)

Dutch Government Orders Kaiser To Pay Up Income Tax

(By United News)

Amsterdam, Holland, May 3—Troubles never cease for the Kaiser—the income tax collector is after him now.

The Amsterdam Telegraph stated Thursday that hereafter Wilhelm and his bride must pay income tax to the Dutch government as well as to the municipality of Doorn. In view of the fact that the decision is retroactive the Kaiser must pay taxes on his income for each year since the war.

The Dutch government estimates Wilhelm's income at about $50,000 a year while Princess Hermine will be assessed on her income of $40,000 a year.

MISS GILMORE WRITES OF OLD MISSOURI NEWSPAPERS

Grace L. Gilmore who received her B. A. degree from Iowa in 1922, has written a very interesting article in the Missouri Newspaper magazine, entitled "The Five Oldest Newspapers in Missouri."

In this article she says that Missouri has the distinction of publishing the first newspaper in the United States. This newspaper was the Missouri Gazette, founded in St. Louis, in 1808 just five years after the purchase of Louisiana from the French. After that date, many newspapers were started, lived a few years and then died, for conditions at the time were not suitable for their publication.

The Palmyra Spectator holds the distinction of being the oldest paper under continual management. It was started in 1839 and has continued except for a brief period during the Civil War.

The others of the five oldest newspapers in Missouri are: The Hermann Volksblatt, founded in 1862, The Trenton Republican, founded in 1864, The Canton Press, 1862 and The Sedalia Bazaar founded in 1869.

VIOLINIST WILL GIVE SOLO IN LOCAL CONCERT

Young Violinist Gained Famous Reputation; Is On Orchestra Program

Michel Gusikoff, young violinist of note, is to be the soloist with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra in its afternoon concert, Monday, May 7, in the men's gymnasium. Mr. Gusikoff is the concertmaster of the orchestra, a violinist who holds a high place in the ranks of the great artists of the day.

He developed early in life the mastery which has won for him a distinguished place among present day violinist. One time quite by accident the famous teacher, Franz Kneisel, heard young Gusikoff play and was so favorably impressed that he took the boy as one of his students. His confidence for his success was well justified, for when only twenty-one Gusikoff became concertmaster of a great orchestra, and a few years later, in 1917, he was honored with the position he now holds as concertmaster of the St. Louis Orchestra.

His instrument is a very fine old

Stradivarius, valued at upwards of $10,000.00. A genuine "Strad" is rare indeed, and recognized the world over as one of the best makes of all time.

The soloist will play the Second and Third Movements from the Concerto in B minor for violin and orchestra by Saint-Saens in his appearance here Monday afternoon. Mr. Gusikoff appeared in Grinnell last year as soloist of the afternoon concert, and delighted that college audience with the dash and vigor of his playing. This season he is appearing often as soloist with the orchestra, and everywhere wins commendation.

The complete program for the afternoon concert has been announced, and is one which all music lovers anticipate with great pleasure. Perhaps the finest number is the symphonic poem, "Finlandia," by Sibelius, a thing so powerful that in the country of which it was written its performance was stopped.

The program is as follows:

1. Overture to "Phedre" Massenet
2. Andante from Symphony No. 2 Borodine
3. Second and Third Movements from Concerto in B minor for violin and orchestra Saint-Saens
4. (a) Irish Tune Grainger
(b) Shepherd's Hey Grainger
5. Waltz, "Artist's Life" Strauss
6. Symphonic Poem, "Finlandia" Sibelius

Today is the last day on which festival tickets, for the two concerts, may be bought for $2.50. Hereafter tickets for one or both concerts sell at straight $1.50 a piece. Children will be admitted to either concert for half price. Children's tickets should be purchased at time of making reservations. Reservations may be made today by season ticket holders only, at the university Book Store; each season ticket holder may reserve one seat on single ticket in addition.

Reservations for the festival and single ticket holders may be made tomorrow and Monday.

Iowa City Police Rigidly Enforce All Traffic Laws

Eighteen speeders were arrested during the month of April in Iowa City according to the monthly report submitted by the police department to the city council. In addition to the speeders two offenders were arrested for an open cutout, one for running without lights, and one for violating the parking ordinance.

R. P. Konvalinka, motorcycle cop, who was responsible for the arrest of traffic violators during the past month, said that he planned to rigidly enforce the ordinance against running with only one headlight, and running without a tail light. "We haven't been making arrests for that," he said, "but in the future we're going to pick up the violators and bring them to the station. They all know that it is against the law to run without a tail light, or with only one headlight, but they will not take the trouble to see about little things like that. Cars with only one headlight are one of the worst sources of annoyance there is on the road, besides being a source of danger, so I'm going to bring the violators into court. It's the only way there is to make automobile drivers see that their cars are properly lighted."

Seventy seven arrests were made by the department during the month. Besides those arrested for traffic violations the following arrests were made: For vagrancy, 23, for disturbing the peace, 6; for carrying concealed weapons, 1; for resisting an officer 1; contagion, 32; and for peddling without a license, 1.

PREFERENCE SHOWN FOR KNOWN BRANDS

Berkeley, Calif., May 3.—Ninety three per cent of the students in the psychology class of Prof. Warner Brown gave the name of the same manufacturer at the mention of the word "collar" in tests that were recently conducted. In the case of automobile oil eighty per cent of the students thought of the same brand. Two makes of men's hose shared equal honors. At the suggestion of umbrellas a large per cent of the students left a blank. The popularity of business establishments and various kinds of stores was determined. On the strength of this test Professor Brown makes the assertion that "exploitation in the fields of advertising has succeeded in securing a mentalistic monopoly for the several types of manufacturers.

NEIHARDT'S STYLE IS FASCINATING

Prof. F. L. Mott Lauds Poet For Unusual Virtues; Talks Wednesday

"John G. Neihardt's originality consists in the fact that his epic heroes are democratic; they are not the demigods, archfiends or legendary heroes common to epic poetry, but are real men, made of the self-same clay as we," said Prof. Frank Luther Mott, of the English department, who is a personal acquaintance of the American epic poet who is to speak here in the natural science auditorium next Wednesday evening.

Professor Mott has written an essay on "John G. Neihardt and His Work" which was published in the November issue of the Midland magazine. In this article Prof. Mott describes the personal character of the poet as well as his works, and attempts a predict as to his future.

"It was only through the kindness of the president of the Nebraska normal school that Neihardt was able to pay his tuition there," writes Professor Mott. The president secured a job for him ringing the college bell. When the family lived in Bancroft in 1900, young Neihardt was already a poet with dreams and ideals and fire. The townfolk did not understand him. He used to come home across lots and up alleys to avoid meeting neighbors who laughed at him because they could not understand him." Here Neihardt worked at an Indian trading post and obtained material to use in some of his works.

The poet now lives in a cozy cottage with a beautiful garden behind it and there it is that Neihardt builds his epics. He likes to work at gardening, does some reviewing for the Minneapolis Journal and each winter makes a lecture-recital tour, visiting several universities.

COUNCIL'S MOVE MEETS STUDENTS' OPPOSITION

Minneapolis, Minn., May 3.—Active campus leaders here have united in protesting the action taken by the all-university council, which recently made it legal to suppress results of the vote for the president of the board of publications. The campus luminaries here declare that the tabulation of the votes for the all-university race for president of the board is open and public property of the student body and should thus be given the fullest publicity. The failure or the refusal to publish such tabulations, they say, would be a deplorable policy to adopt and a retarding factor in keeping politics at the University of Minnesota honest.

SLEEPING AILMENT MOST PREVALENT

United States Leads World In Number of Cases of Peculiar Sickness

Geneva, May 3.—The United States is now leading the entire world in the development of Encephalitis Lethargica or sleeping sickness.

After the United States, comes England and then other northern countries such as Belgium, Denmark, Holland, Norway, Sweden, Czechoslovakia, and Latvia.

This sudden invasion of highly industrialized northern countries of a disease that was originally supposed to be purely a southern tropical one is one of the most striking phenomena of the epidemic of sleeping sickness that has become almost world-wide during the past three months.

These are the principal facts established by an international telegraphic investigation just made by the Public Health Section of the League of Nations. Following reports of a sudden recrudescence of sleeping sickness in various countries, the League's Health Section immediately telegraphed detailed reports on the spread of the epidemic and to keep this up until the disease seemed to drop back to a normal basis again.

The total number of cases of sleeping sickness in the United States for the first three months of the year is placed at 775.

IOWA BASEBALL TEAM DUE FOR 3 HARD GAMES

Minnesota Saturday, Michigan Monday, Then Notre Dame, Is Schedule

Coming from behind in the last inning, the varsity defeated the second string in a hard fought game last night. Up until the end of the game the scrubs were leading by a two run margin. Two errors, behind a couple of hits, and a passed ball let the varsity shove across the tying runs, while solid hitting in the next inning gave the varsity runs that won the game. Becker pitched for the seconds, while "Lefty" Fabricius was on the mound for the varsity. Dave Voltmer acted as manager of the second team, in the absence of Higbee, who is busy working out his freshmen, and kept the scrubs on their toes.

The hardest road series of the year starts Saturday when the varsity meets Minnesota at Minneapolis, followed by Michigan on Monday, and Notre Dame on Tuesday. Minnesota has a fairly strong team, not one of the best in the conference perhaps, but a team that will put up a good game against any opponent. Michigan and Notre Dame, however, have two of the best teams in the West. Both have handed one-sided defeats to Wisconsin. Excepting for pitchers, Michigan has the same team that defeated Iowa twice last year. Notre Dame has a good team, and has two first class twirlers.

The team leaves for Minneapolis tonight, laying over in Chicago Sunday, where they will probably see the White Sox play. Duhm is apparently scheduled to pitch against Minnesota, while Marshall will undoubtedly be on the mound in the game with Michigan, leaving Becker or Fabricius to work against Notre Dame.

The team has apparently found itself, although there are still several weak spots in the infield, and the hitting is still weak. Victory in the three games played on this trip would put the team over the roughest spots on the schedule.

PURPLE TENNIS MEN HERE TODAY

Northwestern Players Are Iowa's Enemy; Games Start At 4 P. M.

University tennis enthusiasts may see the Hawkeye net men in action against a conference team for the first time this afternoon in the meet with Northwestern. The matches will be played on the courts by the men's gymnasium and will begin at 4 o'clock.

The Northwestern team has two of last season's men playing again this year. Captain Thompson and Smith. The Purple team, however, lost its match to Chicago last week, and Coach Jacob Van der Zee's men should repeat the Maroon's feat today.

The Old Gold men, although lacking experience in conference meets, are exceptionally strong for the short time they have been playing. They easily defeated Coe in a practice game and tied with Wisconsin last week.

In the meet at Madison, Swenson playing number one won his match with the scores 5-6, 6-2, and 6-2. Janse lost his match 6-0 and 6-2. He will be in better condition today for in the Wisconsin meet he had just reported for tennis a short time previous and did not have time to get into shape. Dorsey, playing number three won his sets 6-3 and 6-2; and Searle, playing number four lost his match 6-3 and 6-0.

In the doubles Swenson and Janse won their sets 6-3 and 6-4. Dorsey and Searles lost their match 6-3 and 6-4.

The same men will represent Iowa today that did at Madison; Swenson, one, Janse, two, Dorsey, three, and Searle, four.

Bleachers will be erected on the courts and the admission charge will be twenty-five cents.

FIDLER WILL FIGHT AT CEDAR RAPIDS MAY 10

Dave Fidler, University boxing coach, is scheduled to fight here Thursday night. His opponent will be one of four prominent boys who have expressed their willingness to appear if called on. They are Roscoe Hall, Des Moines, Glenn Milligan, Sioux City, Archie Amons, Marshalltown, and Jack Frazier, Des Moines. Fidler has been working hard to be in the best possible shape for the encounter and is expecting to show something in the way of a surprise when the gong sends him away on May 10.

FROSH STEP OUT AGAINST PURDUE

Dauber High Point Winner; Boilermaker's Score Not In

The first freshman telegraphic meet of the outdoor season was held last night against freshmen from Purdue. The marks made by the Boilermaker preps had not been received at a late hour last night, and the actual results of the meet could not be determined, but the results of the events here indicate that the opponents of Iowa's freshmen will have to travel to win.

Dauber was again high point winner with 22 points. In every meet held this year, he has always managed to annex more points than any other man entered. Out of the six events in which he participated, Dauber took three firsts, in the high hurdles, the shot put, and the javelin throw; two seconds, in the high jump and the discus throw; and one third, in the broad jump.

He also put the shot farther than it has been put this year by any of the men on the varsity when he tossed the brass ball 40 feet 5 1-2 inches. Roberts and Wienecke tied for second high, each man winning two first places. Dauber's toss would have given him a place at the Drake relays.

Summary

120 yard high hurdles—Dauber first, Romey second, Glidden third. Time :16 9-10.
220 yard low hurdles — Pickard

DIVERSITY OF ENTERTAINMENT WILL ELIMINATE WALL-FLOWERS AND CREATE JOY AT IOWAWA

Iowawa tonight will not be outdone by any carnival when it comes to refreshment stands to satisfy a throng of people. There will be everything from a novel French cafe to a replica of our favorite Coney island red-hot stand. The entire basketball court in the center of the armory will be used for the booths and the cafe. The French Cafe will occupy the east half of the court, while the west half will have five different booths. The pop stand will occupy the north-west corner. The pop corn and taffy apple booth will be in the south-west corner. At the north-east corner, home-made candy will be sold and in the south-east corner, will be the ice cream booth. In the center the "hot-dog" stand will hold sway.

Salome Fisher A4 of Iowa City is general chairman of the refreshment committee. This last week she met with those in charge of the booths to talk over plans and to help in selecting those who will act as helpers in the various enterprises.

The French cafe which was a special feature of Iowawa last year will be repeated again this year with much more elaborateness. A decoration scheme of blue and white will be carried out to give a Parisian effect. A special orchestra will provide the latest Paris "hits" in music, and carnival revelers will be allowed to dance in cabaret style among the tables and on a part of the floor set aside for the purposes. Daintily dressed maidens will serve French pastry, "champagne," and other French delicacies. Mademoiselle Wilhelm Grimm A2 of Iowa City will have charge of the French cafe and she will be assisted by Mles. Myra Kane A2 of Iowa City, Deborah Hawley A1 of Clinton, Margaret Howell A2 of Iowa City, Julia Dondore A2 of Iowa City, Sara Cox A2 of Iowa City, Bessie Tye A3 of Iowa City, Cynthia Tudor A2 of Iowa City, first, Titus second, Agard third. Time :27 4-10.

100 yard dash—Roberts first, Nesler second, Clasin third. Time :10 5-10.

220 yard dash—Roberts first, Nesler second, Large third. Time :22 8-10.

440 yard dash—Applegate first, Armstrong second, Guthrie third. Time :53 3-10.

880 yard run—Milner first, Shaler second, Grattan third. Time 2:09 6-10.

1 mile run—Van Ness first, Bright second, Moshie third. Time 4:50 6-10.

2 mile run—Bender first, Dolmadge second, Bravig third. Time 10:36.

1 mile relay—Armstrong, Glidden, Guthrie, Applegate. Time 3:43 4-10.

Broad jump—Roberts first, Nesler second, Dauber third. Distance 20 ft. 6 in.

High jump—Wienecke first, Dauber second, Glidden third. Height 5 ft. 7 in.

Pole vault—Wienecke and Nefzger tied for first, Vogel third. Height 11 ft.

Shot put—Dauber first, Fleckenstein second, Longcor third. Distance 40 ft. 5 1-2 in.

Discus throw—Fleckenstein first, Dauber second, Titus third. Distance 111 ft. 5 in.

Hammer throw — Rogers first, Fleckenstein second, Blanch third. Distance 84 ft. 7 in.

Javelin throw—Dauber first, Lemley second, Rogers third. Distance 132 ft. 6 in.

Over Two Hundred Canoes Paddled On Iowa River Daily

Canoeing on the Iowa river is on in full blast. As a daily average over 200 canoes go out from the Fitzgerald boathouse. The two hundred trips include parties which probably use the river more than once in the day, but the general average for many is one trip in a day. The boathouse is equipped with seventy-five canoes.

Besides the canoes which are at the disposal of renters at the boathouse, there are a number of privately owned canoes in the student body, which have been brought to Iowa City from their homes, from summer resorts or which have been purchased here. The river is now ideal for canoeing.

Esther Yetter A3 of Iowa City, Marguarite Benda A3 of Iowa City, and Isabelle McDonald A2 of Cherokee.

Of the west half of the basketball court, the north-west corner will prove to be popular to thirsty passers-by. Here soft drinks will be vended, chiefly in the form of pop but no "Budweiser." The booth in the south-west corner will provide tooth-some taffy apples and popcorn. Both stands will be in charge of Anna Singer A4 of Sheldon and a corps of workers including Elsie Hoersch A3 of Davenport, Vera Dills A4 of Bouton, Maurine Camery A1 of Sutherland, Hazelle Harper A1 of Manly, Leone Wiggins A4 of Prairie City, Gladys Peterson A1 of Greenfield, and Gerald Seid A2 of Independence.

Home-made candy will be dispensed in the north-east booth which will have unusual decorations. The sale of home-made candy will be in charge of Fern Layman A3 of Garden Grove, assisted by Irena Wilson A1 of Des Moines, Irene Wilcox A1 of Montrose, Jeanette Garwood A3 of Colfax, and Pauline Patten A1 of Pine River, Minnesota.

At a booth in the south-east corner ice cream in cones for the unconventional and in dishes for the decorous will be served. Complete charge of the equipping and management of this booth will be taken by Helen Shrader A3 of Iowa City with Isabel M. Davis A3 of Iowa City, Constance Lamar A3 of Sioux City, and Mary Larson A1 of Cornish, as co-workers.

Not to disappoint those who prefer the Coney-island red-hot a special booth in the center of the floor will sell this luxury. It will be decorated as a Coney Island stand. This booth will be in charge of Wilma Walker G of Corydon, Martha Walker A3 of Corydon, James aGte-wood L1 of Marion, and Jim Simmons L1 of Fairfield.

As in former years Iowampum will be used to purchase all refreshments.

GOOD MATERIAL FOR BALL TEAM

Competition For Places On Women's Baseball Team Keen

With the team picked today and the inter-class tournament coming off within the next two weeks the coed interest in baseball has become keen. Practice yesterday showed much good material and predict that the judges will have a hard time choosing women for the teams.

Heavy batting, able fielding, and fast running marked the practice games. Especially good fielding was done by Ruth Morris A4 of Stockport, Alice Gay A3 of Iowa City, Nellie Rader A1 of Newton, Buelah Williams A1 of Bronson, and Esther Fellows A1 of Algona, Genevieve Harter A1, and Evelyn Harter A2 of Keokuk, Pauline and Helen Spencer of Des Moines, and Georgia Grisby A1 of Des Moines showed themselves to be capable pitchers. First class work at first base was done by Grayce Dyke A3 of Iowa City.

The following women have shown consistent work in baseball. Lois Burns A3 of Hartley, Ruth Morris A3 of Stockport, Alice Gay A3 of Iowa City, Maurine Picker A2 of Williams, Lola Lundt A1 of Nashau, Marjorie Spring A1 of Des Moines, Genevieve and Evelyn Harter of Keokuk, Nellie Rader A1 of Newton, Vae Ross A4 of Cedar Falls, Marie Pope A2 of Des Moines, Delma Harding A1 of Iowa City, Naomi Moore Au of Iowa City, Mona Silverthorne A3 of Wapello, Pauline Spencer A4 and Helen Spencer A3 of Des Moines, Buelah Williams A1 of Bronson,

FEW FOOTBALL MEN OUT AT WISCONSIN

Madison, Wis., May 3.—Varsity football practice still continues with but few of the 75 men who signed up in their places. One evening recently there were only twenty nine on the field in their suits, about six were old varsity men who have had big experience. The results of what was intended to be a big spring practice is falling flat. The new coach is holding practice under his personal supervision.

KAPPA DELTA OFFICERS HERE FOR CEREMONY

Three - Day Installation
Period Begins At
Sigma Rho
House

A twelfth national pan-Hellenic sorority will make its appearance on the University of Iowa campus this week with the affiliation of the local group of Sigma Rho with the national organization of Kappa Delta.

Miss Sarah Blue of Union Springs, Ala., national chapterian and installing officer, assisted by Lula Grace Saberson, national treasurer, and Miss Gladys Pugh, of Minneapolis, assistant inspector of chapters, will preside at the initiatory rituals covering a three day period which began last evening and will continue until Sunday. The formal banquet on Saturday evening at the Jefferson hotel at which the Kappa Delta initiates will act as hostesses will mark the final step in the installation program.

From 3 o'clock till 6 o'clock on Sunday afternoon the newly organized chapter of Kappa Delta will hold open house to the fraternities, sororities and faculty.

Totaling a membership of 5000

Like a favorite book store, you can come in here any old time and browse around. There'll be no clerk to trail with an eye to a sale, for yours is the privilege to look-ours is the pleasure of showing.

COASTS'

persons, Kappa Delta has a roll call of forty-four university and college chapters and thirty alumnae chapters. In Iowa, college chapters are already located at Ames and Coe, and alumnae chapters at Cedar Rapids, Ames and Des Moines.

The sorority was founded in 1897 in Hollins College, Va., and has since gradually extended to every section of the country. As a national organization it supports a student loan fund for the benefit of its own active members and partially supports a hospital for crippled children in Richmond, Va., as a memorial to Virginia, the state of the sorority's birthplace. It also is active in national philanthropic work. A chapter house fund helps the chapters toward the erection of their own group homes.

The official badge is a diamond shaped pin bearing the letters K. D. —AOT, and a dagger.

Universities at which Kappa Delta chapters are located include the following: Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, Illinois, Wisconsin, Northwestern, Kentucky, Alabama, Louisiana, Texas, Ohio, Cincinnati, Michigan, Denver, Wyoming, Washington, California, Southern California, Pennsylvania, Bucknell university in Pa., George Washington university at Washington D. C., Pittsburg, and Syracuse and Cornell universities. Additional chapters are located at Randolph Macon women's college, Florida State College for women, Lawrence and Beloit colleges in Wisconsin, Illinois Wesleyan, Washington State College, Hunter and St. Lawrence colleges in New York, Coe and Iowa State college, Albion college in Michigan, Hollins college of Va., Trinity college of N. Y. Bethany college of W. Va., Alabama Technical Institute, Millsaps college of Miss., Southern Methodist college of Texas, and Oklahoma Agriculture and Mechanical college.

Work On Chemistry Building Improved By Fine Weather

The third floor concrete framework of the east wing is being poured and the fifth floor framework of the west wing is completed on the university's new hall of chemistry. The opening of the spring building season, additional laborers and abundant building material have favored a steady resumption of work on the building since the winter months.

From present indications it is thought that a large part of the structure will be ready for the use of the chemistry department with the opening of the university next fall, barring any unexpected delays.

ANNUAL IOWAWA FETE WILL OPEN TONIGHT (Continued from page 1)

Wilma Walker Au of Corydon, Isabel Davis A3 of Iowa City, Helen Cooper A3 of Marshalltown, Nora Thoen A3 of Northwood, Helen Cooper A3 of Marshalltown, Irene Williamson A4 of Eagle Grove, Grace Cox A2 of Montezuma, Wanda Evans A3 of New Sharon, Ruth Leader A 4of Marengo, Alice Gilmore A- of Des Moines.

The general admission collected at the door will be 25 cents. Attendance at all the other booths will be optional. The carnival will begin at 7 o'clock and will continue until after 9 o'clock when the dancing will begin at Iowiggle at the women's gymnasium.

As special guests of the Iowawa will be all the visiting high school athletes who are here for the state track and tennis meets and the Northwestern track team. These men will have a chance to see a part of the social life of the university.

Secy. R. H. Fitzgerald of the local Y. M. C. A. and Miss Alvida Guck, secretary of the university Y. W. C. A. have sponsored the party and carnival and have had general supervision.

Serving also on the executive committee was the chairman of publicity who was responsible for putting the carnival before the student body was Randolph Mann Cm4 of Calumet. He was assisted by a committee consisting of Tyrell Ingersoll A2 of Algona, James V. Barton A4 of Ottumwa, Victoria Boyles A3 of Iowa City. The large sign on the campus for the carnival was painted by Helen Stearnes A4 of Des Moines. The signs used during the carnival were painted by Cap-pock. Signs have been placed at prominent places all over the campus and slides have been run inn the local theatres.

The carnival has been widely advertised. Those in charge have been planning and working for over a month. All student activities have been set aside so that the entire student body may celebrate on this evening. Iowawa will be the biggest in its history.

EARLY-TO-BED DIM WITS

Out in Hayslope the villagers register wide-eyed astonishment every time one of the returning intellectuals from the University boasts of the exceedingly late hours kept by the student body. The home folk are concerned over the health of their children and scratch lustily about for those few moss-grown proverbs which hold a threat on that part of the populace which declines to turn in at the conventional hour.

A deal of psychology attaches to this matter of late hours, not any part of which has yet been explored by the scientists of the mind. Our only information has descended upon us from unknown seers, who, if the truth were known, undoubtedly wore petticoats. Using the logic of Aristotle, the wisdom of retiring early has been accepted a priori, the deductions from the postulate being accepted by moderns without further questioning.

Now comes the rub. New and fertile seekers after knowledge are astounded to find upon engaging in the task of educating themselves that intellectual perspicuity increases with the lateness of the hour; that at best the early hours of the day are beclouding to the mind. Midnight finds them just started on the task of storing facts for the class deluge the following day. Dire warnings as to the probable outcome of neglecting the "needs of the body" fall upon deaf, yet nevertheless, rosy ears of these super candle burners.

With such an eminent authority as Heywood Brown pleading the cause of late hours, our tenets of living might well be revised. His argument, in part, follows:

"Nature intended man to be a night prowler. When big animals ranged the earth our ancestors hid in caves until dark. Early rising was considered neither healthy nor wise when mammoths roamed the primeval forests. If nature had intended man to spend much time in daylight pursuits she would have given him green spots or some other protective coloration. Instead she implanted deep within him a love of late hours.

"With the beginning of husbandry, artificiality came into the life of man. He began to abandon the promptings of nature and get up at 6 o'clock in the morning. There should be little difficulty in proving that such a regimen was not in the plan of creation. It makes no difference what time a man goes to bed, he will still be sleepy at 6 o'clock in the morning. Even though he has slept for nine or ten hours, drowsiness hangs upon his lids. The habits set by his ancestors tens of thousands of years ago are not to be lightly set aside. The subconscious knows that getting up at 6 o'clock in the morning is immoral and unnatural behavior.

"Again and again we have decided that some individual was deadly dull, only to meet him at 2 o'clock in the morning and discover that once his real nature had a chance to assert itself he scintillated.

"Naturally all great prose masterpieces were composed after midnight. It is after midnight that people begin to think about sex, immortality, religion, education, government, ethics, cookery and all the subjects which are really important. We still fail to realize that the sun is our enemy and that darkness, nature's most beneficent gift to man, is something to be received gratefully and wide-eyed."

AN AMERICAN-BORN UNITED STATES

The American can populate the United States. Hitherto the girth of our manpower has been swelled by immigration. Thirty-two million immigrants have kept our census figures progressive. When the United States needs men, the cry is to let in the immigrant. When a labor shortage is sensed by the industrialists the demand is to increase the percentage of immigrants under our present law. We have grown dependent upon the immigrant. We have overlooked another possibility, the population of the American continent by native-born Americans.

It is not true that we are dependent upon the immigrant for the farming of our acres and the manning of our machines. The American stock can grow the men that progress needs, is fertile enough to populate the United States without the importation of the foreigner. The history of the forty years between 1790 and 1830 proved the prolificness of the American breed. Then immigration was negligible, yet our population leaped from three million to twelve million, an increase of two hundred twenty-seven per cent; this from our own blood. In the decades that followed 1830 came the immigrant tide, but with the ascension of these aliens the rate of population did not quicken. As the immigrant came, the native birth rate declined. Without immigration, the United States would still number one hundred and ten million people today, but they would be American-born and our present thirteen million immigrants would still be in Europe. In their place would be thirteen million American-born citizens, now unborn because in the face of the intensifying economic struggle for existence, American families hesitated to grow men to compete with the foreigner. The immigrant in the United States means an American unborn. Without immigration, the American can populate the United States from his own loins.

JOURNALISM IN AMERICA

At a meeting held in Washington last week the National Association of Newspaper Editors, composed of the editors of four-fifths of the metropolitan newspapers of the United States, adopted a code of ethics. These "Canons of Journalism" include some rules which editors in general might well take to heart.

"To its (the newspaper's) opportunities as a chronicle are indissolubly linked its obligations as teacher and interpreter.

"Headlines should be fully warranted by the contents of the articles they surmount.

"News reports should be free from opinion or bias of any kind.

"A newspaper should not invade private rights or feelings without sure warrant of public right as distinguished from public curiosity."

It is hardly necessary to say that all the canons above mentioned are violated every day by those strings of newspapers addicted to "yellow journalism."

Do not bring your mail to the table.

If anything drops on the floor, the waiter will pick it up.

Hold the knife and fork lightly, not allowing the fingers to touch the blade of the knife or the tines of the fork.

Do not take several kinds of food on the fork at one time.

Do not gesticulate with the knife or the fork; or hold them upright on the table.

Never leave the spoon standing in the cup or glass.

Put salt on the bread and butter plate—never on the tablecloth.

Do not break bread into gravy.

Those police certainly have the acute, penetrating minds. New Jersey cops who were called in a killing case "found thirty-four stab wounds on the body," and believe that "revenge may have played a part in the murder."

MY SON

(By Co-Eddie)

I don't know what I am going to do with My Son. I am so afraid that he will want to be a policeman, or a burglar, or go to a co-educational university.

The little fellow! I can see him now. Sticky hands, dirty face, resolved not to comb his hair—the rascal. Then a few years later, when he asks me for a new car and an increase in his allowance—his manly appearance, cigarette in mouth, trick hat, and go-to-jail collar.

But I will love him—yea, I will love him, I will love him, I will love him, I will love him, I will love, I will, I . . .

"COMMAND"

Reviewed by BEATRICE MCGARVEY

There is a certain type of individual whose desire to be superior is offset by a sort of innate tendency to lag. This inertia is due to a certain amount of complacency and a great deal of egotism—an egotism which pretends to be a virtue to lift the person high above his fellow-men. Such an individual regards himself as a high-minded, misunderstood, unappreciated genius going without the honor due him as a man of latent merit. Too dull to realize his shortcomings and too stupid to see that he is constantly being made a fool of, he moves along unaware of everything except his own existence, being roused from his state of stagnation only by some disastrous blow, and even then seeing his limitations for but an instant.

Such a person is Mr. Reginald Spokesly, the central figure of Mr. McFee's novel, "Command." Serving as first mate on a small ship is not quite what Mr. Spokesly thinks he deserves; so in order to reach a higher post of command he enrolls in the London school of Mnemonics which "promised that whoever followed their course made no mistake." Believing this to be a short cut to success he studied the course assiduously but with very little improvement.

The first person who perceives Mr. Spokesly's dullness and who quickly uses it for his own benefit is the crafty little rat-like Archy Bates, biter in hashish. Bates' sharp-eyed alertness takes Spokesly in at a glance, and not for a minute is he misled by the Englishman's ponderous pretenses. "Archy Bates was like another Bates of greater renown, a naturalist. He was steward on the ship, and he studied the habits of the animals around him and fed them, or filled them with liquor, watching the result at the same time. It might almost be said that he acted the part of tempter to mankind, bribing them into friendship, or possibly only a useful silence. His attitude toward human destiny was expressed in the pussy-cat smile in the darkness—a smile unseen and undesired."

Then there is the Greek merchant, Dainopoulos, who quickly sees Spokesly's usefulness as a means of transporting questionable goods to foreign ports. "Mr. Dainopoulos was one of those people who, as the saying is, could write a book, which means they can do or have done almost everything except write a book. However, he was not of a literary turn, but he had the faculty which is of use even in literature, he could size a man up. By a natural turn of judgment, so necessary in his business as a general exporter, he had acquired a skill in sizing up which seemed as effortless and intuitive as the driving of a fine golfer. The School of Mnemonics could teach Mr. Dainopoulos nothing about practical psychology." In handling Mr. Spokesly he was not at a loss; "knowing the English character, he took his measure accordingly. He smiled to himself as he realized Mr. Spokesly's value."

Bu when Mr. Spokesly meets Evanthia in Saloniki his stupidity reaches its maximum. Confronted with this exotic, vivid flash of Italian beauty and power, he becomes almost pitiable—if it was not for his complacency—in his utter lack of emotional understanding. This girl, "for whom men in distant countries were to scheme and toil that they might send her yachts and automobiles, music-machines and costly fabrics, jewels and precious gems" completely turns him around her finger, as it were, then drops him as soon as he ceases to be useful to her schemes. Her beauty intoxicates him at first, but even the staggering effect which Evanthia would have on most men makes very little impression on this dull Englishman.

Unquestionably this story is a superior work. Although it can hardly be called a plot novel, the figure of Mr. Spokesly predominates throughout, and acts as a center around which the incidents are grouped. The chief merit of "Command" lies in its skillful characterization. Each person is carefully worked out in detail, showing a considerable analytic ability on the part of the author. This is no doubt a realistic novel if we take the term "realism" to mean "revelation of the actual interrelating spirit of life, character and thought," for this book shows a clearly planned and coherent picture of life with its shortcomings as well as its occasional joys.

College Is More Important Than Baseball—Ebbets

Ithaca, N. Y., May 3—"Stick to the college and university life!"

That is the plea of Charles H. Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn National League baseball team. In an interview with a representative of the Cornell Daily Sun, student newspaper, he said, "It is a mistake for a university or college man to neglect an education to play baseball even when a high salaried position is offered with a major league club."

"The average ball player draws his salary for only ten years, and then only seven months in the year.

It is folly to allow an infatuation for the game to side track an education the fruits of which can be realized throughout a life time."

The Brooklyn magnate, though not a college man himself, has had sufficient intercourse with ball players and successful business men during his career of forty-one years as official to qualify him to make such a statement.

MINNESOTA STUDENT RETURNS FROM TOUR

Minneapolis, Minn.—Bronzed by oriental suns, hardened by swabbing decks, hiking through uncivilized countries and bossing a crew of negroes in a drainage project in Florida, Harry F. McKenzie, engineering

'25 who recently returned from an eight-months tour of "the world," strode into the Alpha Rho Chi house here recently to eat his first square meal in four days. McKenzie played the part of the proverbial "bo," acted as stowaway, was given the post of deck hand, though not from choice, and later filled the position of second mate on a private yacht. He hunted alligators in the Everglades of Florida and conducted a wholesale massacre of rabbits in Australia. All in all he covered 12,000 miles.

"During the entire trip," McKenzie related, "it did not cost me a cent for travel except on one occasion in a Chicago street car when the conductor was too quick for me. I left home broke and I came back broke."

PRESIDENT WILL RELY ON RADIO ON ALASKA TRIP

Harding Will Be Kept Informed On News Of All Kinds While Gone

Washington, May 3—(United News)—President Harding, on his coming trip to Alaska will be almost entirely dependent on radio to keep him in touch with affairs back home.

The President, heretofore just like a radio fan like most of his fellow citizens, will have an opportunity to see its great practical use demonstrated. By radio the President will learn of political developments following the series of speeches he will make through the west on his way to Alaska. On account of the prominence of several issues he will develop, it will be most important that he keep constantly in touch with the reaction to the international court of justice speeches, as well as those on the railroad consolidation plan and his shipping program.

After the president and his party get to Alaska, there will be only a thin thread of copper cable between him and the United States, as far as wire communication is concerned. It stretches 1,000 miles from Cordova to Sitka, and thence to Seattle. During cable breaks, which sometimes last for several weeks, this system is useless.

But the cable breaks are not so disastrous as formerly, for radio can take up their burden, as it frequently has in the last few years. When the President gets to Alaska, he will also find that the land wire systems are very inadequate, on account of the contour of the country. On the other hand, conditions are exceptionally favorable to radio transmission. In the summer "static season", atmospheric or other disturbances are much less severe in Alaska than in the United States. During other seasons of the year static is rarely experienced. Radio waves do not lose their effectiveness in Alaska as in this country.

Alaska and its coast are well supplied with radio stations, so that the President will always be in touch with the United States as well as with parts of Alaska with which he wishes to communicate.

VESPER SPEAKER IS SOCIAL WORKER

Organized Sociological Association At Loyola University

Dean Frederic Siedenbergh who will lecture at Vespers next Sunday is a personal friend of Father William Shannahan of St. Patrick's Catholic church here. On December 29, Father Shannahan attended a Catholic conference on Industrial Problems at Loyola University, Chicago. The idea of this conference was to get the employers and employees together so that they might understand each other to a greater extent. There were a number of representatives of labor at this conference including the vice-president of the Federation of Labor. At this time, Dean Siedenbergh delivered a talk on the labor conditions.

Dean Siedenbergh spent two years in Europe studying the social conditions which he found very deplorable there. On his return to America, he found that nearly the same conditions existed here, so he was inspired to do something to remedy this defect. He started an association to look into these conditions and to make a study of them took up the work in a more professional way. From this association the association soon expanded and the Loyola school of Sociology grew. This school, of which Dean Siedenbergh is the head, operates in connection with Loyola in Chicago and was the first Catholic School of Sociology. At this time it is accredited in the North Central Association of Colleges.

Besides this talk at Vespers,

35 PER CENT OF PURPLE STUDENTS ARE SWIMMERS

Evanston, Ill., May 3.—Thirty-five per cent of the students of Northwestern university can swim, according to a report that has been tabulated by Coach Tom Robinson of the Purple swimming squad. Robinson declares that ten years ago only five per cent of the population of Northwestern could swim. Now 35 per cent can swim and five per cent are life savers.

Father Seidenbergh will speak at the 9 o'clock student mass at St. Patrick's church. While in Iowa City, he will be the guest of Father Shannahan.

Greek Students Ask For Funds To Stay In Paris Schools

Pres. Walter A. Jessup has received an interesting letter from the Association of Greek Students of Paris who are in need of funds with which to continue their studies, and who wish to be recommended to the students of Iowa and to open correspondence with them in this regard.

More than forty Greek students are in Paris without resources, due to the late events in Asia Minor and the trouble in Smyrna. They are now appealing to the sentiments of fraternity which unite the students of all civilized countries and are asking them to come to their aid and contribute so that in the future men of superior instruction will owe them true and sincere for having helped them to continue their studies.

If any are interested in helping these students to secure an education, they may be reached at the Association d'Etudiants Hellenes de Paris, Hotel des Societes Savantes, 28 Rue Serpent, Paris.

Whiting Declares Human Custom Bar To Race Progress

"In the investigation of human heredity we are limited by long generations, few offspring and inability to control matings. Isolation of human genetic factors is therefore usually impossible for only the more marked differences can be traced with out confusion," remarked Dr. P. W.

Whiting of the child welfare research station in this University when interviewed by a reporter representing "The Nation's Health" during the latter part of April.

"From the viewpoint of racial improvement the advantages of bringing to the surface both good and bad traits cannot be questioned. The human custom of continuously out-crossing tends to keep these latent characteristics hidden. Individuals are thus spared, but the race is not fundamentally improved."

Unusual Opportunities for Professional Education in Architecture

Washington University, because of its urban location, offers unusual opportunities for specialized education, along certain professional lines. In addition to splendid laboratories and physical equipment, libraries containing more than a quarter of a million volumes, and capable and experienced Faculties, the student has at his disposal all the facilities of a large city for the practical application of the theories taught in the class room.

IOWAWA STAGES EVENTS TONIGHT

Parade Will Start At 7 P. M.; Iowiggle Held In Women's Gymnasium At 9

Great secrecy is being kept by the sororities who will enter their gayly festooned floats in the parade which will take place between 7 and 9 o'clock tonight at the Iowawa carnival. Practically all of the sororities have entered the parade and keen competition is predicted. There will be over a dozen sorority floats.

The floats will be judged on their beauty, and to the float winning first a large cup will be presented. This traveling cup is now held by the Alpha Tau Beta sorority. As an added feature a second prize will be offered this year in the form of a plaque. From year to year this plaque will be given as a prize to the winner of second place. Those judges of the floats this year are Mr. J. Aldous, Irma Bratton of the art department, and Prof. Edward H. Lauer.

In each float there will be a queen. The queen in the prize winning float will be crowned at Iowiggle as the Queen of the May by Dean Wilbur J. Teeters.

The expenditures which any sorority may spend on its float has been limited to $25.00, and no professional decorators have worked out the designs. In making the floats they are all limited to be no more than eight feet in height in order that they may go through the door of the armory.

The request has been made that all floats be on hand promptly at 6:30 tonight so that the parade may begin at 7 o'clock. Marjorie Turner A3 of Corning, is chairman of the sorority parade.

Eight fraternities have signified their intention to enter some unusual floats in the parade to add "spice". Grotesque animal forms, things weird and out-of-the-ordinary can be expected. To the winner of first in the fraternity section, a large trophy cup will be given. This cup is now held by Sigma Pi. Similar to the plaque which will be offered for the first time this year to the sorority float winning second prize, a silver plaque is to be offered for the fraternity float winning second prize.

Walter H. Dehner A4 of Iowa City has charge of the fraternity section of the parade.

Iowawa Party Tonight

The Iowawa party this evening will be held in the women's gymnasium and dancing will begin at 9 o'clock. The party was originally planned to be held in the men's gymnasium as in former years, but the large number of visiting athletes from Northwestern and the state high schools for the interscholastic tennis and track meets caused the athletic board to request the use of the gym tomorrow night. Although the floor is slightly smaller in the women's gymnasium, it is expected that no great difficulty will be experienced in handling the dancers.

SPAULDING HOPES FOR BIG SEASON

Minnesota Grid Team To Meet Strong Teams; Coach Now Driving Men Hard

Minneapolis, Minn., May 3—Facing a stiff an early season schedule as a University of Minnesota football team has gone up against in years, the Gophers need every minute of spring practice that they can squeeze in between now and the end of the spring quarter, according to Bill Spaulding, head football coach. When the season opens next fall, Minnesota will face Ames, the Haskell Indians, North Dakota and Wisconsin before the first of November, the Wisconsin game coming on October 27 at Madison.

"If we are to make a showing against Ryan's men, we will have to be at the top form by the end of October," Spaulding declares. "Our only chance is to keep things moving this spring. I hate to think what might have happened to us last fall but for the spring practice we had had."

Minnesota's football squad, between fifty and sixty strong, is showing the best spirit Spaulding has seen at Minnesota the coach asserts.

"We came near enough to tasting blood last fall to make us good and hungry," Bill says. "Now we're going out to teach them to gnash their teeth—on something."

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Commerce College Obtains Student Summer Positions

For those students who plan to work next summer the commerce club has posted a list of various kinds of jobs for the summer months. This list is posted on the bulletin board in the hall outside Dean Chester A. Phillip's office and is for the use of students in any of the colleges. Most of the companies desiring college men for the summer send their notices direct to the college of commerce office and all those notices that are sent to the dean of men or any other office are turned over to the commerce college.

There is a considerable list of jobs on the bulletin board now, ranging from the selling of aluminum to jobs as tent men with chautauqua systems. According to the letters from the various firms, caps, shirts, jiffy jacks and numerous other articles are waiting to be sold in large quantities by ambitious students.

The commerce club also maintains an employment bureau which, however is available only to those commerce students who have paid a registration fee in the bureau. A number of students are already corresponding with firms that have listed their openings for men with commercial training.

AT OTHER CAMPUSES

Illinois—One-hundred and twenty students from the department of chemistry and chemical engineering, guided by eight members of the faculty will leave Saturday for the annual chemistry inspection trip, through factories at Milwaukee, Wis., Gary Ind., Grasselli, Ind., Argo, Ill., and Chicago.

Wisconsin—The large accumulation of cigarette and cigar stubs on the grounds in front of the university buildings is causing the head of the University gardening department a great deal of trouble. "Refuse of this kind on the steps of a building mars the beauty considerably and at the same time creates a bad impression of the university in the minds of the visitors" he said.

Oklahoma—Students in the Oklahoma University school of journalism are actively engaged in the work of producing seven regularly-issued publications.

Chief Justice McKinley after a pitiful plea by Mount's sorrow-torn mother, that others boys be protected from a fate similar to that of her son.

"We will get to the bottom of the death of the boy and hazing outrages if we have to continue the investigation all summer—if we have to question every student at Northwestern," Attorney Peden announced after a conference with his superior.

Five assistant state attorneys have been relieved of other duties and assigned to the investigation.

and the directness in delivery which he has developed in training.

Winner To Get $100 To the winner of first place in tonight's contest goes the Lowden Testimonial of $100 and $50 to second place, awarded by Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, and an alumnus of this University. The judges are: J. L. Lardner of Northwestern, Frank Raig of Minnesota, G. N. Merry of Iowa, C. H. Woolbert of Illinois, J. M. O'Neil of Wisconsin and T. C. Trueblood of Michigan. Gov. Ragnvald A. Nestos will preside.

Iowa has won the N. O. L. contest three times, in 1902 by E. K. Brown, in 1910 by Paul S. Collier, and in 1919 by Robert Aurner. The N. O. L. was first organized in 1892 and for a decade the University of Michigan monopolized first place. Since then Northwestern has been capturing first honors with regularity, winning the last three years. For several years, Iowa has ranked near the bottom. This year, however Professor Merry was confident that Iowa would stand nearer the fore. Swift is affiliated with Delta Theta Phi, law fraternity.
