NATION DEPENDS ON ITS VOTERS, SPEAKER SAYS

Intelligent Use Of Ballot Needed To Cure Evils

"Citizen born the best of duties and failings," said Mr. Fred Schleyer of Loyola University, Chicago, in his address on the voting in the university, and regular standing in the Chicago Daily News, May 11, 1941.

"To a vote may not just become your father or grandpa's vote. It is your vote, and it is your responsibility to vote. It is important that voters vote.

"We must not only vote, but we must vote wisely. We must vote for candidates who represent the best interests of our state and nation."

"The best way to achieve this is to vote for candidates who are dedicated to the principles of democracy and who believe in the future of our country."
THE TRUE AMERICAN FOLK-SONG

A century ago a wandering American actor created a song which has found a place in the heart of every American and which is known in every variety in which American influence is felt. That song is "Home, Sweet Home" and today marks the centennial of its first performance.

John Howard Payne, its author, was a poet, playwright, actor and statesman. From a clerkship, he graduated to the stage, and from the stage he advanced to Diplomacy. At the time of his death he was American Consul at Leipzig.

At the age of twenty, the song "Home, Sweet Home" originally appeared as the song of the opera "henry VI" or the "Marl of Milan." which was produced at the Covent Garden Theatre in London in 1797. Since that time it has been adapted from a tune which Payne once heard on Italian streets to the English text.

It is often said that it is through the foliage of a nation that its true character can be seen. If that is true, "Home, Sweet Home" has revealed a love for the small, homely things in life and the sentiment of brotherhood and a tenderness altogether admirable in the American people.

AN ESSAY ON WOMEN

H. L. Mencken and Harriet Jane Nathan, the second editors of "The Smart Set," seem to get a lot of satisfaction—and perhaps a lot of money—not of making observations on women: these two affable bachelors may be very well satisfied with their choices without, at any rate, trying to say much about the sexes of the opposite sex.
