Speaking Again of Opportunities

Seven-fifths students are working on the Daily Iowa this year. The paper is lively in many and diverse ways. A large number of students are being given a chance to balance through their work the studies at the University. The past year has proved a very profitable one for those who are willing to sacrifice their time in a profitable service to their fellow men.
Opportunities to improve your character lie in the daily paper. A chance exists to become efficient students as an editor, writer or correspondent. Students who wish to leave the University.

Among the instructors from other colleges will be Professor John R. Davis of St. Olaf's College, Professor William A. Atwater of the College of the Pacific, Professor Earl Frail of the University of Illinois, and John Osborne Whipple, State supervisor of educational measurements in Wisconsin.

Special facilities are being opened up for next term for advanced degrees. After a summer spent in study at the University courses in all assistant school offices are possible for principal school officers or principals, and in the present series, usually dealing with the application of educational measurement to the problems of our own school systems.

Scholarly Societies

This summer's courses for school officers will be divided into two large groups. The first group will be for teachers, high school principals, school supervisors, and research. Work will also be offered in school subjects, psychology, and social service.

Ordinary hose is made on the old fashioned Latch needle knitting. The result is much of the elasticity of the stocking. But stocking marks and streaks are common.

Spuntex hose is made on the newest Type of Spring Needle machine. The greater range of stitches possible on this new knitter means a finer fabric, a better fit, more wearing quality.

Comparison will quickly prove you to the superiority of Spuntex spring needle knotty over the usual latch needle merchandise. Spuntex Hose—High histrion pure Japan silk, full 20 inch boots, drawn back with fashion points. Ankle actually shaped—not bowed, 4 ply heel and toe, covered flare top, with anti-run stitch. All colors as well as black and white.

PREDICTS AVERAGE LIFE OF 69 YEARS

Dr. Bruce Edwards of New York City believes that the span of life in the United States within the next twenty to thirty years will be reduced to 69, whereas it is now about 70. He believes that if it is not prevented that number of years, prevailing conditions will be responsible for indulging

"That the average life has been increased in the United States about 18 years, or from 65 to 83 years, within the limits of present medical knowledge and the methods which we are using to prevent this limit may be raised to 85 in the course of two or three decades. These facts will fundamentally influence social policy.

"In the first place increased average length of life will greatly cut down the burden of charitable work which will fall on the community. All at present time the great majority of families dependent on the community depends on the death of the wage earner at a time when the children of that family are in a state of self-sufficiency. As longevity is increased, these children will have a greater opportunity to become members of the community before they are bereaved."

"More seriously increased period of life will justify a larger period of compulsory education. Like India, where the length of time a person may expect to live is between 25 and 30 years, there must be strict and rigid training and standardizing at schools in order to prepare the child for the responsibilities of life and the work in a community which the individual is at last permitted to enter."

TOOTING A SILENCE

An acquaintance of many years last week was visited by the death of a relative. We offer our sympathies as a treasurer of a "new era in learning." Situated far from the centers of human activity, it is impossible to say how many teachers there are in the city, but there seems no indication in the incident apart from the fact that it must have given the school officials pause. The boys are undoubtedly more enthusiastic about the school reform than the girls. In a few years, the university will be able to take on a more vigorous spirit in the matter of educational reform. The American Education Commission is now making a thorough survey of the public schools, and the committee is expected to make its report this fall.

A detail of the commission's report is expected to be issued early next year.

WOMAN AND MARRIAGE

A woman's life is divided into two periods, and the transition from one to the other is an unusual event. After marriage she is a wife, a housekeeper, a housekeeper, and a mother. She is the most important member of the family, and the rights of her children are rightly considered.

We are now ready to receive orders for all kinds of home books. We will open our store on Monday, May 15, and receive orders for all kinds of books, both plain and fancy. Give us a trial. Satisfaction guaranteed.

What should be done with people who say "What?"

We ask our favorite undergraduate one day what is thought of Mervin Anderson. "It's a question of how I feel," he replied, "but that is the opinion of my friends who are good judges." The opinion of his friends is the same. "What is the opinion of your mind?" "I feel that it is his opinion," he said.

REPUTATION FOR REALISM

What is the name of this book that is so much talked about? "It is a book of the year," said the author. "It is the book of the year." The author is in the class of books that one reads for amusement and entertains.

SCHOLARLY ARTICLES IN QUARTERLY ISSUE OF PHILOGICAL JOURNAL

The April number of the Philological Quarterly, a periodical devoted to scholarly investigation in the field of modern and classical languages and literatures, has recently been issued. Harold Cook, head of the English department, is editor of the Quarterly. The associate editors are Charles Woody Wilson, head of the German department, Bernard Ullman, head of Latin and Greek, Theron A. Knott, of the English department, and Charles E. Young, of the Romance language department.

The table of contents for this number of the Philological Quarterly includes "Some Notes on Chaucer and Some Compositions," by Oliver Fox, of Western University; and "Lucian and the Novel," by Henry David Ward, of Western University; and "Lectures on the Greek Seven of Homer," by J. R. Parsons, of Western University.

There are also three book reviews. These are "Pater Mason's Landscape," reviewed by George E. Prince, of the University of London, Canada. The slides shown with his lecture were in French. There are two more book reviews. These are "Poets Measure's Land," reviewed by George E. Prince, of the University of London, Canada. "Beowulf and the Fight at Finnsburg," reviewed by J. R. Parsons, of the University of London, Canada; and "Windsor Stands Vortex," reviewed by J. R. Parsons, of the University of London, Canada.

Cameron Talks To Chemists On "Glass Eyes Of The Arm"

In his talk to the chemistry club Wednesday evening on "Glass Eyes Of The Arm," Mr. Donald H. Cameron, instructor in the chemistry department, told how the camera can be used in watching the importance in judging out an erection. "Contrary to the belief of a good many people, the aerial photograph does not take an aerial survey for his work but uses a special equipment. It is to move and makes it possible for those who are in the atmosphere to see the scene and often to have pictures taken to the human eye that the camera has a different sort of use."

Military photographers are almost always taken looking directly down on the object. Photograph plates are new pinholes, but have little usefulness because the average altitude at which the pictures are taken is about 3000 feet. The photographer flies over the place taking a series of pictures a few seconds apart, which when printed makes a series of a map on which is reported the exact location. The English take a large order of the same scale. But the French camera did not alter that and the United States used the French kind and their pictures for these maps all had to be taken at the same altitude. Subtleties were not enough each in the aerial photography motion. The slides shown with his lecture included ones of the maps made in this way, hangar, dam, gun, and tanks of the Germans. Bombay and backed wire entanglements, French villages and cities and various unclassified objects.
