MAKE PROGRESS SELECTING JURY IN LEEPER CASE

Twelve Appointed "For Cause" By Defense And State Counsels

By Francis J. Starzl
The state had approved "for cause" sixteen prospective jurors and the defense had examined and approved twelve of these "on cause" at the end of the second day of the trial of the state of Iowa vs. Robert Leeper, charged with first degree murder in the connection of the death of Leeper's father-in-law, Roy Wertz, of Iowa City. Court was adjourned by presiding Judge Ralph Otto yesterday afternoon at five o'clock until nine o'clock this morning.

The twelve talesmen to whom neither the state nor the defense had objected at adjournment yesterday afternoon are Dan McNulty, Big Grove township farmer; Joseph Verckerke, Jefferson township farmer; John Connor, Lincoln township farmer; John Elliott, Hardin township farmer; J. G. Fesler, Madison township farmer; Wm. Hanke, Iowa City; Michael Murphy, janitor in an Iowa City printing office; Frank Haught, Union township farmer; L. O. Files and W. A. Besdek, both Penn township farmers.

The state completed its examination yesterday morning after challenging seven prospective jurors "for cause." All had previously fixed opinions as to the case and although both state and defense attorneys attempted in all cases to shake the testimony of the veniremen, they constantly maintained that they would not change their opinions.

The defense started examination yesterday afternoon and at five o'clock, there still remained four jurors who had not been examined by Walter M. Davis, attorney for the defense. There were no challenges yesterday afternoon and it is expected that the defense will approve (continued on page 3)

SENIOR DAY GOES ON, RAIN OR SHINE

Plan Clever Indoor Program If Weather Halts Outdoor Skit

Rain will not stop the execution of plans for senior day which is to be held Friday from 9:00 to 12:00. In case the weather makes it unadvisable to hold the exercises on Iowa Field, the natural science auditorium will be used. A tentative program has been drawn up which can, in a measure, take the place of that which has been planned for presentation on the field.

This program will, by necessity, dispense with the athletic events but some very clever substitutes have been arranged in the shape of stunts to be put on by the seniors themselves. If this change has to be made, the program will take on the aspect more of a vaudeville production than an athletic display.

In the event of good weather, the day's program will start with the parade which will form at the liberal arts building and go to the field. The band, in uniform, has consented to lead this and may give special numbers during the progress of the exercises. Aside from the two speeches which are scheduled, the program will be entirely of a lighter nature.

Senior class day is the first of the functions which the class will put on. Commencement week proper will begin a week from this date and will continue until the following Tuesday, when the graduating exercises will be held.

PHYSICIANS PERFECT BATH BY WIRELESS

(By United News)
New York, May 15.—The radio bath is now added to the long list of wireless wonders.

Two physicians after months of experiment declare they have perfected a process of providing an electric bath by wireless.

Bumlops Bath is medicinal, not the ordinary Saturday night favorite and those who joyfully conceived the idea of baths broad casting stations fitted to throw a bath about one while walking on the street, or working in the office, are doomed to disappointment.

UNION BUILDING MAY BE STARTED DURING SUMMER

Mumma In Quest Of Student Opinion To Decide Big Problems

"Indications at the present time are to the effect that the location of the Memorial Union building will be decided during the summer months and the work on the edifice started before the inception of the school term next fall," is the nature of the information imparted in a letter from Col. Morton C. Mumma to the Daily Iowan. The notice in full is this:

"There appears on page four of this issue of the Daily Iowan a coupon for the use of individual students in voting on the location of the Iowa Memorial Union. The purpose of this ballot is to give the trustees of the Union an idea of the location most favored by those who are to use the building most. Students are requested to bear in mind the fact that this building is to care for the future growth of the University. Other points to be considered are: architectural harmony, suitability of ground for expansion, approach, accessibility.

"A ballot box has been placed at the corner of Iowa Avenue and Clinton street just opposite the Union office. Please deposit your ballot in that box. Vote but once and sign your ballot. A ballot without signature is worthless. No publicity will be given to names.

"A letter has been sent to all campus organizations requesting an expression of opinion as to how the union can best serve the organization and the individuals composing it and also asking an expression of opinion as to the location.

"All students are urged to assist the trustees by voting promptly. The Union offices would be glad to receive letters from the students who desire to express opinion at greater length than is provided for in the ballot. Such letters will be treated as confidential."

FOUR WOMEN GET 'I's' AT PICNIC ON MAY 24

The date for the W. A. A. picnic has been postponed from this afternoon to May 24 at the city park. Fifteen freshmen will be initiated into the organization at that time. Four "I's" representing 1,000 athletic points apiece, will be given at this time to Esther Flynn A3 of Iowa City, Leone Wiggins A4 of Prairie City, Frances Johnston Cm3 of Danville, and Pauline Spencer A4 of Des Moines, as well as chevrons and track numerals. Each senior majoring in physical education will receive a picture of the women's gymnasium.

Helen Hayes '22, who was prominent in women's athletics while attending the University, plans to be at the picnic.

FRANCE FAILS TO REGAIN LOSSES IN MEN DUE TO WAR

Problem In Country Is Serious; Birth Rate In Cities Is On Increase

Paris, May 16.—While practically every other country is recovering from its war losses in men by a birthrate at least equal to that of the years before the conflict, France is face to face with its old problem—the lack of children to take the places of those who are dying off. The number of deaths has not yet reached the point where the population would be actually decreasing but in the year 1922, figures for which have just been published, there was an excess of births over deaths only because the mortality was exceptionally low. The births showed a falling off of 53,550 compared with 1921.

The great industrial regions like the manufacturing and coal districts of Lille, the Lyons factory district, the provinces of Brittany, Alsace and Lorraine are in the forefront of more than average birthrates. It is noticeable that even in parts of the country where the rate is low the cities, especially if they are industrial centers, are high on the list of births. Such is the case, for example in Paris, where the rate is one of the highest in France although the department of the Seine, of which it is the capital, showed an excess of deaths over births.

What is worrying students of population above all is the situation in country districts. There are not enough young people for the cultivation of the farms. A generation ago every farmer's family in the great agricultural regions of the centre of France had at least eight to ten members. The owner of the farm did not have to hire labor. It is no longer and because of the increase in the cost of living the farmers are unable to stand the expense, wherefore valuable land is lying idle. The farmer with one or two children tries to do all the work himself and is unable to make (Continued on page 4)

RUSSIA WANTS TRADE PEACE WITH ENGLAND

Answer To England's Note Regarding Anti-British Talk

(By United News)
Moscow, May 15.—Russia wants peace with Britain. The communist government, in a note addressed to Great Britain Monday expressed its firm desire to continue relations and suggested that the points in dispute between the two countries be thrashed out in a conference.

The Russian communication was the answer to Great Britain's ultimatum which stated that the latter would break off all trade and semi-diplomatic relations if Russia refused to discontinue anti-British propaganda in Egypt, India, and other British colonies and apologize for the despatch of certain notes and the commissions of acts which Britain considers unfriendly.

Russia admits that she sent certain sums of money to her agents in the East but denied that the money was used for anti-British propaganda.

England in this connection is accused of being "over suspicious" for believing that Russia had no use for money in the East other than for propaganda purpose. Russia suggests that compensation of British trawlers seized by Bolshevik pirates be settled by negotiation. The government agrees to compensate the families of two British subjects who were killed in Russia if Britain will agree to compensate several Russians who have been held in jail in England.

Russia denies that she was blunt in her answer to Britain's protest against the execution of Vicar General Budkevich and maintains that the communication was couched in the usual diplomatic terms.

The communist government expresses its appreciation of the friendship of Britain and admits that Britain was the first country to enter into trade relations with Russia thus providing an outlet for Russian raw material.

Examination Schedule Announced; Begins May 25, and Is Over on June 2

The regular program of class work will be suspended, and the following semester examination schedule substituted for the regular program.

- Monday at 8—Meet for examination Friday, June 1—2-4.
- Monday at 9—Meet for examination Saturday, June 2—8-10.
- Monday at 10—Meet for examination Thursday, May 31—8-10.
- Monday at 11—Meet for examination Monday, May 28—8-10.
- Monday at 1—Meet for examination Saturday, June 2—10-12.
- Monday at 2—Meet for examination Monday, May 28—2-4.
- Monday at 3—Meet for examination Tuesday, May 29—2-4.
- Tuesday at 8—Meet for examination Friday, May 25—8-10.
- Tuesday at 9—Meet for examination Friday, June 1—8-10.
- Tuesday at 10—Meet for examination Tuesday, May 29—8-10.
- Tuesday at 11—Meet for examination Friday, May 25—2-4.
- Tuesday at 1—Meet for examination Thursday, May 31—10-12.
- Tuesday at 2—Meet for examination Thursday, May 31—2-4.
- Tuesday at 3—Meet for examination Tuesday, May 29—10-12.

The first meeting of a class shall be taken to mean the first lecture period in courses having both lectures and recitations, and laboratory; or in cases of courses involving only laboratory work the first clock-hour of the first weekly meeting. For example, chemistry (2)B meets for lectures T, Th, at 10:00. The first meeting is, consequently, Tuesday at 10; and the class will meet for examination Tuesday, May 29, 8-10, according to the foregoing table. Again, physics (126) meets twice each week, T, Th, for a three-hour laboratory exercise, 1-4. The regular period for the examination of this class is therefore, Thursday, May 31, 10-12.

"Odd" classes, whose first or only weekly meetings occur on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday or Saturday; or which meet "as arranged;" will be assigned for examination at either one of the other of the following two periods, as announced to each such class by the instructor in charge of the class:

- Monday, May 28, 10-12.
- Friday, June 1, 10-12.

Freshman women will meet for examination in freshman lectures Friday, May 25, at 4 p. m.

TORY PLIGHT TO BRING PREMIER BACK TO POST

Bonar Law Forced To Cut Short Vacation In Switzerland To Regain Health

(By United News)

London, May 15.—Premier Bonar Law, faced with a ministerial crisis, has cut short his vacation and plans to return to London from Switzerland at once, according to best available information. The plight of the Tory government, which may cause the premier, who has been recuperating his failing health on the continent, to return to his post at once, has been caused by these two events:

1. The inclination of the labor party, the government's opposition in the House of Commons, to side with communist Russia in the crisis which has arisen between the London and Moscow governments.

2. The embarrassing position in which the government has been placed through the refusal of the House of Lords to review the case in which W. C. Bridgeman, home secretary deported Art O'Brien and many other Irish agitators from England and turned them over to the authorities of the Irish Free State. Ramsey McDonald, leader of the labor party, stated in the House of Commons Tuesday that many of the grievances against Russia would never have arisen if the Moscow government had been accorded diplomatic recognition. If the British charges against Russia to the effect that English ships were seized by Bolshevik pirates, that Russian conducted anti-British propaganda and was guilty of sending insulting communications to England are proved, McDonald stated, then Britain is fully entitled to protest. But many of the charges contained in the ten day ultimatum have been found to be untrue and Britain cannot afford to take scion unless the reasons are unassailable, according to McDonald. Leonid Krassin, representative of the Russian government, is here trying to prevent a break in the relations between Britain and Russia. It is predicted that he will be granted a conference with Bonar Law when the latter returns to 10 Downing Street.

SOPHOMORES BEAT JUNIORS

The sophomores won from the juniors by the big score of 20 to 12 in baseball at the women's gymnasium yesterday. The playing was slow for the most part, but good batting was done by Ruth Morris A3 of Stockport for the juniors and Gladys Broker A1 of Omaha, Neb., who substituted as pitcher for the sophomores. Grace Dyke A3 of Iowa City pitched for the juniors.

ALMEDA CUTTING IS DEAD AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Fatal Illness Follows Operation; Active In University Activities

Almeda Cutting A4 of Decorah died at Mercy hospital at 8:40 o'clock last night following a week's illness from acute meningitis. With her at the time of her death were her parents. Attorney and Mrs. E. W. Cutting of Decorah, her sister Hester Cutting A1, her brother Carroll Cutting, S1 and her brother John, and an aunt, Mrs. Dixon of Minneapolis. Mrs. Dixon arrived yesterday but Mr. and Mrs. Cutting have been in Iowa City since Wednesday.

The life of the Iowa co-ed was despaired of since Wednesday morning. About ten days before she had undergone an operation for sinus trouble, but had recovered sufficiently to attend classes on Monday and Tuesday mornings of last week. She was taken sick suddenly Wednesday morning and with the exception of a part of the day Thursday she never regained consciousness from the first attack. Her parents were immediately summoned.

With physical education as her major, she was one of the University of Iowa's most representative women. She is one of the fifteen co-eds who are wearers of the coveted "I" sweaters and during her college career she has been every year a member of basketball, soccer, volley ball, and basket ball teams. Among her activities were the following: member of the athletic board, member of the memorial union drive commission, in charge of W. A. A. hikes, a member of the physical education club, a member of the Seals club, an officer of the Hesperia literary society, a member of Y. W. C. A. and on different occasions has appeared as a member of the cast in Hep-Zet plays.

Her college career drawing to a close she had accepted a position for the summer as head physical education at a normal school in Spear Fish, S. Dak., and for next fall had signed a contract with Fairmont College in Wichita, Kans.

The body will be accompanied to Decorah this afternoon where the funeral will be held under the auspices of the Congregational church of which she was a member. Friends may view the body at Hohenschuh's mortuary today between the hours of 10 a. m. and 1 p. m.

Iowan Staff Will Number 125 In Fall

With the plan for increased size of the Daily Iowan next year, there will be a need of about 125 students on the staff. The past year eighty-four undergraduates have been working on the Iowan. Salaries will be divided among fifteen members of the editorial staff during the next school year. Departmental editors for next fall will be picked before the close of the present year. Tryouts will be held for the position of column conductor and for editorial writing positions. All interested in positions on the editorial staff are asked to see Lorenz G. Wolters, editor-elect or George H. Gallup, editor of the Iowan, afterwards at the editorial office in room 14, liberal arts.

Next year positions on the editorial staff will be open to freshmen for the first time. There will be a need of approximately 35 freshmen. University credit will be given for the work of all students except that of freshmen.

THE ART OF GETTING GRADES

Regardless of what else it may signify, a Phi Beta Kappa key at least gives evidence that its owner has mastered the art of getting good grades. It is usually recognized that acquiring "A's" and assimilating knowledge involve the same elements yet represent distinctly different ends. Frequently the two go hand in hand, it is true. Still, too many people take cognizance of this and are misled into believing that learning and high grades are synonymous.

One commonly pictures a member of Phi Beta Kappa as a lack-lustre individual with an unwholesome regularity in his mental make-up—a person who can affect a liking for any subject regardless of his intellectual tastes. This, obviously, does injustice to wearers of the key for it rests on the assumption that the other ninety per cent of the student body is actuated by higher ends. In reality, it only goes to prove that the former succeeded where the latter failed. Proportionately there are as many students satisfied with mere passing grades as there are Phi Beta Kappa members who are content to let their education rest with the attainment of a key. Grade getting seldom comes under the head of an art or an accomplishment although it requires no little amount of skill and insight. It is another phase of salesmanship. The student must sell himself to his professor, and depending upon the degree of success he achieves in this, will he be rated. Attitude, it goes without saying, counts for most. An earnest desire to make good, coupled with a knowledge of the tactics of each professor, are essential.

In the last election it is interesting to note that of the twenty-two honored by the fraternity, only four were men. This is in reverse order to the proportion of women to men who make a success in intellectual fields after graduation. This fact discredits in part the claim of the Phi Beta Kappa member to intellectual superiority, and fully discredits our antiquated education system which places emphasis on grades rather than upon learning.

THE MENACE OF POPULARITY

The newspaper woman who gives "Advice to the Lovelorn" and who is constantly attributing the secret of popularity to "being natural" was never farther from the truth. Social popularity is primarily a recognition of excellence in being unnatural. To be popular means that a woman has successfully annihilated her own character until she can agree at will with any of her friends. She can never be her true self, and if she has strong convictions, they must be modelled to suit the crowd. The popular woman is the essence of insincerity for she must always be complimentary, no matter how dreary her companions may be.

The woman who seeks masculine favor and social popularity is always of an inferior quality. She cannot speak out what she believes. She is a follower after the crowd. Her popularity with men depends, first, upon making them believe she never thinks about anything except them, and second, upon making them believe she never thinks anything but pleasant things about them.

Finally, the social butterfly is ordinarily very shallow. Continually accompanied by chattering girls or flippant men, she has no time to cultivate her mind. She neither reads, writes, thinks or does anything else which would make her interesting or which would be of value to her in her later life. The really intelligent woman is disgusted with the pretense and insincerity of popularity, with the result that a Ph. D. at a fraternity dance is a positive rarity.

MODERN MURDERERS

Reckless automobile drivers and poison liquor merchants have been responsible for the deaths of 378 people in Chicago since the first of January. The law cannot suitably punish these modern murderers, because its ancient theories do not recognize the new class of criminals, but they are murderers just as much as any moron who shoots his victim from ambush, or any sneak who stabs his victim in the back.

How lovable and praiseworthy is the old two-gun man, the cold-hearted murderer who shot his victim in a fair fight, compared to the driver of an automobile who runs down innocent people and leaves them lying in the street while he speeds on! Five hundred dollar fines are no punishment for such murderers. We hanged the two-gun man to the nearest tree, yet modern laws furnish easy loopholes for far more detestable criminals.

While these 378 unavenged victims have been killed, a few old-fashioned murders have been committed and their perpetrators sentenced to death. Yet their crimes were tame compared to modern methods! As the laws apply now, one murderer can get away with it, while the cruder one cannot. Manslaughter, misdemeanors, fines and light sentences are too prevalent when they offer freedom to a class of criminals who kill 378 people in one city during four and a half months.

The Sounding Board

Yesterday morning the column on our left contained one of the best editorials it has been our privilege to read in quite a while. The general theme was that it is unreasonable to expect America to have "a soul for art." Americans, in general, have not produced and can not appreciate great art because they lack background and tradition.

If you didn't read the editorial it will be worth your while to look it up and do so.

THE FIELD TRIP

About this time of year field trips, geologic and otherwise, become fashionable. The banks of the historic old Iowa (epithet copyright U. S. patent office) are the stamping grounds of many undergraduate scientists and nature-lovers.

The geology field trips, we hear—having never been lucky enough to participate in one we speak only from hearsay—are interesting all-day outings in which the field trippers gather specimens of different kinds of Iowa soil on their shoes (English readers will understand "shoes" to mean "boots"). These specimens are painstakingly carried back to Iowa City, where they are removed and preserved by any licensed and accredited boot-black.

Another delightful feature of the field trip is the opportunity provided for garnering wild blooms from nature's bosom. In the scene our artist has sketched, a sprightly co-ed member of the party is plucking a few daffodils or something. (After while she will grow tired of carrying them, and will promise some young man that he can have one if he will carry them for her). The rest of the party are loitering about nearby enjoying the scenery.

If it weren't for the fact that we have occasionally tried to write headlines ourself, and know to our sorrow how scarce short words are, we should favor the abolition of "pact." The business—or art—of writing headlines is a queer one. It requires not so much a large vocabulary as a specialized one, an ability to think in words of one or two syllables, and some sort of faculty for getting the striking fact in a story into a few words. Some printers would probably add that head-writers should be able to count.

No, Fanchon, the "Proposals" column in the New York Herald isn't what you think it is.

The Queen is reported to be anxious that the Prince of Wales get married in the near future. Thousands of harried newspaper readers will join enthusiastically in that wish.

MAKE PROGRESS PICKING JURY FOR LEEPER CASE

the four jurors "for cause" this morning.

No peremptory challenges have as yet been used by either the state or defense. Under the laws of procedure in first degree murder cases in this state, the state and defense are each entitled to eight peremptory challenges.

It is expected that peremptory challenges would be used freely when the prospective jurors come up for final approval. As soon as the defense completes its examination for challenges "for cause," examinations for final acceptance will be started. As soon as a peremptory challenge is used, another talesman is taken from the panel, examined and if not challenged "for cause," is used in place of the man who was peremptorily challenged. When either all peremptory challenges have been used or the sixteen prospective jurors are satisfactory to both state and defense, the state and defense are each allowed two strikes, thus reducing the jury to twelve.

The examination carried on yesterday afternoon by defense attorney Davis dealt with the talesmen's attitude on different points of criminal law and with one exception, County Attorney Ed O'Connor and his assistant, Henry G. Walger, made no objections to the questions asked. Many of the jurors had great difficulty in understanding the questions and frequently asked that they be repeated and explained. Frequently they admitted that they were unable to fathom the meaning of the legally termed questions.

The court room was half filled with spectators, but, with the exception of members of the jury panel, few stayed long. The questioning was technical and practically repeated before each venireman.

Robert Leeper, defendant, and his wife sat at the counsel table. He leaned back in his chair against the press desk. His wife, attired in a trim suit, and her bobbed hair barely visible below the brim of her brown straw hat, watched proceedings with interest, and not a word of the examinations escaped her. Her husband attempted to strike an unconcerned attitude, but drummed on the arm-chair with a silver pencil and his nervous agitation was clearly visible in his movements.

Both Leeper and his wife frequently spoke to former Judge R. P. Howell, assistant attorney for the defense. Relatives of the defendant were sitting in the court room as were witnesses who will be called upon when the selection of the jury is completed. Although it is expected in some quarters that the jury will be picked within a few days and that the introduction of testimony will be started before the end of the week, it is likely that the actual introduction of testimony will not be started before next week.

That the jury which will decide the fate of Robert Leeper will be composed predominantly of farmers is practically a foregone conclusion. The men who have been approved "for cause" at present are mostly farmers while the entire panel is also composed mostly of farmers.

A. F. I. MEMBERS WILL BE NAMED FRIDAY NIGHT

Scarcity Of Valuable Men May Limit Membership For Year

Election of A. F. I. honorary senior society will be held on Friday night by the members of the society. It has been the custom to elect each year twelve junior men. However, this year there may not be twelve been elected due to the difficulty in choosing men who have really done something worthwhile for the University.

The men are chosen from all colleges in the University, and are not chosen for the honors that they hold now, but for the real work that they have done, and the merit they have won for it. The announcement of the election of new members will be made next Sunday morning, and initiation will be held next week. At this time the new officers for next year will be elected by the new members. Henry A. Bender A4 of Le Mars is president of A. F. I. at present.

The eleven men who are members of the society are: Charles C. Hamilton, Thornburg; Roscoe C. Nash, Tipton; Gregory Foley, Rock Rapids; Walter J. Dehner, Iowa City; Loren D. Upton, Sioux City; George H. Gallup, Jefferson; John Dondore, Iowa City; John Holbrook, Onawa; Gordon Locke, Denison; Craven Shuttleworth, Sibley and Henry A. Bender.

FRANCE FAILS TO REGAIN LOSS OF MEN DUE WAR

both ends meet. When the children grow up they move to the towns. Statistics for other countries of the continent show that Germany and Italy, which were comparatively as hard hit by the losses in battle as France, have regained their pre-war status regarding births and deaths. Last year there was in Germany an excess of 700,000 births over deaths. Italy's figure was 400,000. Even in England there was an excess of 293,000 compared with 390,000 for 1921.

To Europe at Your Own Price

Travel costs to Europe have been lowered by our cabin fleet of 14 delightful steamers to such an extent that you can cross for what you would spend at an American summer resort.

Passage money as low as $115 entitles you to the best the ship affords in food and service, full enjoyment of all her spacious decks and attractive public rooms—all the pleasures of summer days at sea and care-free nights.

The thousands who have been lured away by the fascinations of unknown peoples and storied places—professional people, students, men and women of affairs—you will meet them on our cabin steamers.

Write today for our booklet—"Your Trip to Europe"—and detailed information.
