Iowan Buys Plant; To Publish 12 Months of Year

CONTRACT FOR $25,000 WORTH OF MACHINERY

Upton to Be Company Manager to Supervise Iowan, Hawkeye and Frivol

The goal of the Daily Iowan is near realization. Beginning with the academic year next fall, the Daily Iowan Publishing company will have its own printing plant, and will occupy a building given over entirely to the work of publishing.

Contracts have been let for $25,000 worth of new printing machinery. This includes a new model Duplex web perfecting press, three of the latest model linotypes, and other modern equipment necessary to the printing trade. When the plant is finally completed late this summer, it will be the most up-to-date and best equipped plant of its size in the state.

The plant will occupy both floors of the building now known as chemistry annex No. 1 on Iowa Avenue, just across the street from the present location.

During past years the paper has been printed under contract by local job shops. At best such an arrangement is much less satisfactory than the plan now adopted, of owning and operating its own plant. Better service to its advertisers and readers is a certainty. The Daily Iowan Publishing Company will hire its own printers next year.

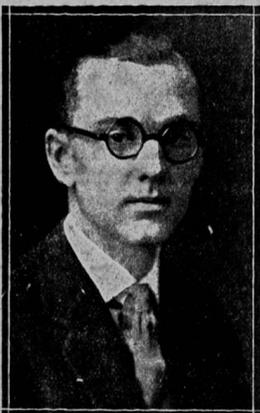

The Daily Iowan Publishing company is a non-profit corporation organized under the state laws for the purpose of publishing the Daily Iowan and such other student publications as the board of trustees deems advisable. It is owned and controlled by the students of the University of Iowa. No individual may own stock or share in the profits of the company. It is controlled by a board of trustees, consisting of three faculty members appointed by the president of the University and four students elected by the subscribers of the paper.

The cost of the new plant and the salary of the company manager will be paid out of the profits which accrue to the Daily Iowan Publishing company, and a certain specified amount from the other two publications and such others as may come under the new plan.

Loren D. Upton, present business manager, will act as company manager next year, with special supervisory powers over the business policies of the Iowan, Hawkeye, Frivol and such other student publications as may come under the organization. Within a year or two, it is hoped that Frivol, the Hawkeye and other student publications may be printed in the Daily Iowan plant. This can be accomplished by the addition of a small amount of machinery not included in the equipment to be installed this summer.

The Duplex press, which prints from roll paper, will reduce the actual time of presswork on the Iowan each day from ten hours to about fifty minutes. This will make possible a later "dead line" on local news and telegraph copy, as well as on advertiser's copy. News stories which "break" as late as 3 o'clock in the morning can appear in the same morning's issue of the Daily Iowan. The Duplex press which has been ordered prints and folds the papers ready for delivery at the rate of 6000 per hour.

WOLTERS TO HEAD STUDENT COUNCIL

Sheldon and Roberta Anderson Are Other Officers; Green Cap Committee Named

Loren G. Wolters A3 of Waukon was elected President of the Student Council for next year at a meeting held last night. Wolters is Editor-in-Chief of the Daily Iowan for next year. Roberta Anderson A3 of Madrid, President of Staff and Circle was elected Secretary and Treasurer and Howard Sheldon A2 of Webster City, Editor of Hawkeye, was elected Vice-President.

A discussion of the green cap for freshmen for next fall was held and a committee was appointed to carry out plans for wearing them. The committee is composed of Alen L. Doud L2 of Douds, Kenneth J. Weir S3 of Cedar Rapids, and Richard Garlock A2 of Maxwell.

At the first meeting next fall the advisability of reducing the membership of the Student Council will be taken up. It is thought at present that some of the representatives at large from the different colleges and the heads of some of the organizations should be eliminated from participating in the activities of the council.

Senior Wrangle To Be on Campus Monday, June 4

The University campus will be the scene of the annual senior wrangle next Monday morning when the members of the senior classes of the various colleges will put on a program worthy of their traditional name. The affair is to be sponsored by the entire senior class, with the direct management under the all-senior presidents' association. R. M. Perkins professor of law, is faculty advisor. The program will open with a band concert at 9:30. After half an hour of music the program proper will start, in it are numbers by a senior reader, and vocal selections by a senior soloist.

The glee club of the college of dentistry will sing some special numbers. What promises to be the most interesting part of the morning's program is the talk by the senior wrangler, Henry W. Wormley, L3 of Kingsley.

Other senior activities which are scheduled for Monday are the June fete on the president's lawn, the reception to the alumni, faculty, and visitors on the president's lawn, the class reunion dinners, the evening band concert and the commencement play.

The commencement exercises, and University luncheon for alumni, faculty, and visitors on Tuesday, will close commencement week.

LEEPER TAKES STAND; DENIES BARTH'S STORY

Defendant Says He Was in Cellar When Shots Were Fired Which Killed Wertz

The defense sprung a surprise yesterday morning in the trial of Robert Leeper, charged with first degree murder, when the defendant took the stand and testified in his own behalf. He was the first witness called to the stand in the morning and remained until late in the afternoon.

Although it was generally considered a bold move, Leeper testified to little that had not been previously brought out in the evidence of the trial. In cross-examination he did not give anything into the record which was startling or which had not been heard several times before.

His most important testimony was that of denying that he had ever had the conversation with William Barth, Iowa City garage man, in which the latter has testified that Leeper told him of a plan to get Wertz's money by marrying his daughter Beryl, and then killing the father. He denied having made other statements attributed him by state witness, and in general his testimony was merely a denial of much of the state's evidence.

At the time of the shooting of Wertz, Leeper testified he was down in the cellar, tending the furnace fire, that he heard cursing, started for the stairs and heard the shots just as he had reached the bottom of the stairs.

Conflicting testimony given at previous court trials of the case was read into the record by Henry Walker, assistant county attorney, in cross-examination.

In direct examination Leeper testified as to his war record. He served with the Rainbow division in France and was gassed and wounded. In the last part of the cross-examination, Attorney Walker brought out that Leeper had seen much killing of human beings during the time he was in the army.

The defense announced at the close of the day that it had but two more witnesses, whose testimony would be brief, but that they were not present. Court was then adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. It is expected that the defense will rest its case early Thursday morning.

Elementary School Children Hosts at Annual Open House Yesterday

By Dorothy McClenahan
With all the grace of more mature years the children of the University elementary school entertained at their annual open house yesterday from 1 until 4. Exhibits of the work of the year were placed in each room and the children themselves explained the work they had done and demonstrated to visitors just what they had learned. At 2 a program was presented in the assembly room of the school, and tea was served in the various class rooms immediately afterwards.

The visitor who entered one of the grade rooms was met at the door by one of the tiny hostesses and asked, "Wouldn't you like to hear about what we learn in our school?" Of course the answer would be an affirmative one when a blue-eyed midget or a youngster with curly brown hair put the question so invitingly. The young gentlemen who acted as hosts were no less charming in their cordial invitation.

FIRST IOWATER REGATTA HELD ON RIVER TODAY

Program Starts at 4; Races to be Held Opposite Park Above Bridge

Schedule of Events

1. Men's Relay.
2. Women's Swim Race.
3. Tilting Contest.
4. Life Saving and Canoe Demonstration.
5. Men's River Swim.
6. Fancy Diving Contest.

Today is the day of the Iowater Regatta. The program will start promptly at 4 o'clock. Swimming races, floats and novelty events all find their place to make the first Iowater Regatta the largest celebration ever held on the Iowa river.

Last year it was estimated that 5000 witnessed the river sports held by the Eeels and Seals clubs. This year it is thought that with the increase in the number of events and the introduction of the float parade that nearly double the number will be on the banks of the Iowa river to take part in what is hoped will become one of Iowa's traditions.

The day's sports will center around the city park the course of the races being directly opposite it. Starting platforms have been erected at the island and flags placed to mark the turning point of the canoe race. All organizations who have entered floats were busy yesterday decorating them. The Eeels club under the direction of Lloyd Bastian D1 of Redfield S. D., have undertaken the task of decorating the band float, also a special float which they intend to enter in the parade.

The first event on the program is the men's relay swimming race. This race will be in the form of a shuttle race across the river. Two teams of ten men each who have been picked by Coach D. R. Armbruster will swim. The two teams are very evenly matched with Lambert captain of one and Goldman Captain of the other. Swimming for Lambert are Cham-

BAND WILL HEAD MEMORIAL PARADE

Exercises at Iowa Avenue to Honor World War Sailors

The memorial day parade will form on Clinton street at 9:30 this morning, with the head at Jefferson street. The line of march will be north on Clinton to Church, east to Linn, north to Brown and east on Brown to Oakland cemetery. Maj. Ray C. Till will be marshal of the parade.

The University band will head the procession, followed by the cadet officers of the R. O. T. C. and the regular commissioned and non-commissioned officers.

Exercises will be held on the Iowa avenue bridge in honor of the sailors of the World war by the Women's Relief Corps at 8:30 a. m. A prayer will be offered by Rev. Ira J. Houston, followed by the ritualistic services for sailors and the strewing of flowers on the Iowa river.

The graves of the soldiers of the Civil war, the Spanish-American war, and the World war will be decorated with flowers by members of the American Legion and the Sons of Veterans at 8:30 a. m. The flowers were donated by the citizens of Iowa City yesterday. Thirty World war veterans are buried in Oakland cemetery.

The program at the cemetery will immediately follow the parade. The Women's Relief Corps will hold a short service for the unknown dead, a rifle salute will be fired by a squad from Troop A cavalry, and taps will be sounded by Sergeant Jacob Maier.

Major Ray Yenter, representative from Johnson county to the state legislature, will preside over the platform program that follows.

The main speaker will be Judge Truman Stevens, judge of the Supreme Court of Iowa.

Before the platform program special services for the dead of the World war buried in the cemetery will be held by Roy L. Chopek Post No. 17 of the American Legion, at the west entrance to the cemetery.

In case of rain the platform program will be given in the natural science auditorium, beginning at 1:30 p. m.

50 PER CENT INCREASE IN SIZE PLANNED

Negotiations Opened for Full Wire Service of Associated Press

Daily Iowan plans for the coming year, now under-way, represent the greatest advance the paper has attempted during the fifty-four years of its growth in size and influence.

Beginning next September 20, the Iowan will be published every day of the week except Monday for the entire twelve months of the year. It will be increased fifty per cent over its present size, and its new facilities will be increased accordingly. Present plans will make it one of the largest University papers in America.

In every respect the Daily Iowan will compare favorably with the best city papers. Not only will the amount of University news be increased but the scope of the paper will be widened to take in the whole of Iowa City. Negotiations are now being made for the full seven hour service of the Associated Press which will afford Iowan readers practically the same reliable national and international news now obtainable in the largest dailies.

The Iowan will be the fifth morning paper in the state of Iowa. Easy access to leading authorities in different fields which it has should make it equal to the best of the five.

Special stress will be placed upon the literary side of the paper. An effort to secure the best writers in the University is now on foot and present indications are that the paper will represent the very best in the way of student endeavor in the literary field. In all probability a literary supplement will be published in connection with the regular Sunday issue.

The paper will be largely departmentalized. Sports, both collegiate and professional, will receive more attention. Society and all news of special interest to women will be given more prominence. A page will be devoted to city news. The editorial page, besides the customary comment, will contain book reviews, short stories, and the like. A national cut service, cartoon and comic strip will probably be added as features.

An increase in the staff from its present number of eighty-five to over one hundred will be made necessary by the larger amount of news to be handled. The paper will continue to function in close relationship with the department of journalism, although work in the department will not be incumbent upon holding a place on the staff. Inclusion of city news will afford students of journalism practical training in gathering news under conditions similar to those found in large cities.

It is planned to add George A. Gallup, Jr., present editor-in-chief to the staff of the journalism department with further duty of supervising the editorial policies of the Iowan, Hawkeye, Frivol, and such other student publications as shall come under the student body's control in the future. Editors of all of these publications will retain their full rights and responsibilities as in the past.

During periods when the University is not in session, the Iowan will be devoted mainly to news of Iowa City and the surrounding community. With the exception of the reporters, the editorial and business staffs will have the same personnel throughout the twelve months.

SUMMER SESSION BEGINS JULY 11

Students May Carry Sixteen Hours of Work and Receive Six Hours Credit

The regular University summer session will open on June 11, with registration beginning June 7. Registration for the second period of summer school of five weeks will take place shortly before the close of the first six-weeks period.

Students enrolled for summer school will be allowed to take the same amount of work during the summer session that they do during the regular year, that is, not more than sixteen hours of classes during the week. In this way, six semester hours of credit may be made during the first six weeks, and 4.8 semester hours during the last five weeks.

Tuition for the summer will be $18 for the first period, and $15 for the second. Two thousand and seventy-five students were enrolled for last year's summer session and it is expected that that number will be increased this year.

On the days of registration material may be secured at the north end of the liberal arts building. After the fee cards have been paid the final step in registration is the checking of study cards and lists in the liberal arts building.

Students of the regular session can secure their grades for the past semester by leaving Coupon I in a stamped, addressed envelope in the office of the registrar. Grades will be mailed out about four weeks after the close of the semester.

Crow Scout Dies Because of Faith In Indian Medicine

Curly, the Crow Indian scout, sole survivor of the Custer massacre, died last Tuesday at Billings, Mon. at the age of 68 years. Curly was recently taken ill with fever. He demanded that the primitive Indian method of treatment be administered, but it failed to lessen the fever, and he grew steadily worse.

Curly has had a vastly interesting life. Besides being the only survivor of the Custer massacre, he is the Indian who brought the first news of the tragic battle of the Little Big Horn, in which Custer himself was killed, to the outside world in 1876.

LINOTYPE MODEL 14; TWO SIMILAR MACHINES BOUGHT BY THE IOWAN

Two of the above, Model 14, linotypes and one other model have been purchased from the Mergenthaler Linotype company, for installation in the Daily Iowan's new plant. The two Model 14's which have been ordered are the latest word in type-setting machines. The Mergenthaler company has built this model for some years, but only this spring have added a number of new features and patents. The first 150 machines of this new model will be built during the month of June and the Iowan's new plant will be equipped with two of these.

The cost of these type-setting machines including electric metal pot, extra type faces, and motor, is $5500. Type in a dozen different faces, from 5 to 36 points in size, including head letters and display ad type, can be set with the linotype. The new Model 14 operates all magazines from a single keyboard.

The University of Engineering

Of all the things that go to make the successful engineer, none is more important, nor more in step with the spirit of the profession, than a studious attitude. One man says about another—"he is always willing to learn," "he doesn't think he knows it all"—and he intends to pay a high compliment when he says it.

The great engineers are always at school, always learning, always seeking for more knowledge. They begin with this desire for fuller understanding, and they keep it up to the end.

Any engineering operation, over and above the primary purpose for which it is carried out, is an active and post-graduate class in engineering, also. So that Westinghouse, or any other great business, is, of its very nature, a University where theory and practice combine to make bigger, broader and more practical engineers.

The courses in this University are not limited to prescribed subjects nor terms—the subjects are almost infinite, and the semesters are endless. Men with the weight of years on their shoulders work and learn side-by-side with those whose day has just dawned.

This post-graduate school fits men for almost anything. Fits them for it, and makes them continually fitter. Out of this continuing fitness have grown the engineering accomplishments on which this institution has grown. It is, perhaps, one of the great educational institutions of its day.

EQUINE FOOT-GEAR IN VOGUE AT TEXAS

Horse Shoe Pitching Will Vie With Basketball for Popularity

At a meeting of the Inter-fraternity athletic Council Friday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. it was decided to include horse shoes as one of the regular sports in intramural athletics next year. Three men from each fraternity will be in the horse shoe team, two entering the doubles and the other entering the singles. The game will be played according to the national rules, and it will be counted as a minor sport, the championship counting 15 points toward the all-fraternity cup.

A general discussion was held with the view of bettering inter-fraternity athletics next year. In all probability a new gymnasium will be built for the use of intramural athletics and this will facilitate the basketball tournaments as a schedule of practice hours will be made and each fraternity will have ample time to prepare for the tournament and not have to practice in the Women's Gym and on outdoor courts.

Plans to get more men into athletics next year were discussed and to provide more competition in the minor sports. The schedules will be more effectively arranged and better worked out than in previous years being fixed so that a championship of the University could be determined in basketball and horse shoe. —Daily Texan.

"BACK NUMBERS," FRIVOL'S FINAL ISSUE OF SEASON

Cover Design and Large Number of Cuts and Articles Will Feature Magazine

"Back Numbers", the last of the seven issues of Frivol for the year 1922-1923, will make its appearance on or before the last day of the week. An interesting cover design by Alma Held G of Waterloo, and an unusually large number of cuts and articles will be featured in the final number. Students who leave for home before Friday may arrange to have copies sent to them.

The six issues of Frivol to date have been well received on the campus. The Homecoming issue, printed and circulated among the throng here for Homecoming, was, perhaps, the most successful edition of the magazine offered since its inauguration. Frivol has enjoyed a wide exchange with other college and university humorous publications, and articles appearing in the Iowa magazine have been reprinted where ever college wit is in vogue.

Margaret Wilson A3 of Iowa City is this year's editor-in-chief and Reginald O. Mars A3 of Iowa City, business manager. Frequent contributors to the magazine have been, Margaret Hill A3 of Iowa City, assistant editor; Gordon Johnston A2 of Des Moines, Sherman McNally A4 of Marshalltown, Alma Held G of Waterloo; Walter Roach A1 of Widney, England, and Irma Bratton A1 of Des Moines.

M. B. Landis Wins Annual Pentathlon With 2,685 Points

Each of the contestants had to compete in three out of a list of ten events. These events were: the 100 yard dash, the mile run, the broad jump, 12 pound shot put, 80 yard low hurdles, 440 yard dash, half mile run, high jump, javelin throw, and the 220 yard dash. Possible points averaged 3000.

F. J. Ford won second honors with 2487 points; E. C. Johnson was third with 2441, K. B. Konzen was fourth with 2435, G. M. Fry was fifth with 2420 and B. H. Titus and C. R. N. Wells were tied for sixth with 2380.

Konzen ran the 440 yard dash in :55, and the mile in 5:03. Ford high jumped 5 ft. 6 in., and broad jumped 19 ft. 6 in. Johnson jumped two inches farther than Ford and put the 12 pound shot 40 ft. 5 in. Fry ran the 220 yard dash in 23 6-10.

At Other Campuses

Michigan.—Seniors will wear caps and gowns on Tuesdays and Thursdays from now until commencement. This is in accordance with an established tradition, which says that every year the seniors will wear their commencement robes of dignity from Swing-out until the time of graduation on two days of each week. The cap and gown days selected by the committee for this year are believed to be such that every senior will be able to observe the custom in all his classes.

Illinois.—Sigma Delta Phi, woman's honorary public speaking society, held an opening meeting last week in the Woman's Building. The program consisted of the first act of "The Taming of the Shrew," "A Negro Camp Meeting," and "The Halberdier of the Little Rheinschloss." Vocal selections were also given.

POINCARÉ GIVEN VOTE OF CONFIDENCE, 500-67

(By United News)
Paris, May 29—Premier Poincaré, Tuesday challenged the French chambre to pass the Ruhr credits bill thus approving his policy in the Rhineland or else demand his resignation.

Delts Win Title by Beating S.A.E.'s 13-3 in Ball Game

Delta Tau Delta fraternity won the Pan-Hellenic baseball championship for the present season by defeating the Sigma Alpha Epsilon team yesterday afternoon by the score of 13 to 3. The North enders had a big day with the stick and fielded reliably, the combination proving effective to turn the champions of the east side in this final contest.

Each team was presented with a loving cup by Bremers for winning out in its respective section, and the title winners were awarded a larger silver cup.

Gerald Finley, catcher on the Delt team, suffered a face fracture when he collided with the third baseman racing for a high foul back of home plate.

Batteries for the game were Delts, Boyd and Finley, Titus; S. A. E., Sheakley, Birch, Meredith, and Forbes.

GREECE IN REVOLT

(By United News)
Athens, May 29—A state of revolution will be maintained in Greece despite the fact that the triumvirate ruling the army of the revolutionist has decided to accept peace with Turkey. General Plastiras announced that the rebel group intends to remain in power and will defer the holding of the collections.

bers, Graff, Douglas, Hoffman, Nielsen Clarke, McClintock, Langkamerer, Atherton, and Goldman. For Goltman, Killebrew, Banwell, Griffith, Larsen, Anderson, Stover, Sorenson, Sheakley, Geiser and Shimamura will swim.

In the men's river swim the largest number of competitors have entered. There are no varsity men entered in this event so that to a large extent it will be fought out between the freshmen swimmers.

The odds seem to favor Killebrew and Lambert who won first and second in the freshman meet. Rockefeller and Hayden should push them close however. This event will start at the island and end at the Park Bridge. The men who are entered are Nielsen, Hoffman, Killebrew, Sorenson, Langkamerer, Tye, Iverson, Banwell, Lambert, Hill, Jackson, Hayden, Brown, Graff, Rockefeller.

The men's canoe race will start at the island and end at the park bridge covering three lengths of the course. Five teams have signed up this event so far but three are a number who intend to do so before the race today. The teams who have entered the race are Gordon and Downs, Pinquait and Rich, Paul Krasuski and Linden Krasuski, Beekman and Rehms, and Hoff and Dory.

The University Life Saving Corps under the direction of Tom Ward will give a life saving and canoe demonstration and will also have tilting contest. Ross Clarke and Helen Spencer will give the canoe demonstration and Captain Tom Ward and M. E. Griffith will give the life saving demonstration. In the canoe tilting contest Marshall Dory, Douglas, Bastian, Goldman, R. E. McIntosh, R. O. McIntosh, Dagits, Anderson and Goltman will take part. The canoe tilting contest should be one of the most interesting of the novelty events.

In the novelty events probably the most exciting will be the human fish stunt M. E. Griffith acting as the fish and Jimmy Luscomb as the fisherman. Griffith has a great deal of endurance in the water and should be a hard fish for Luscomb to land.

In the fancy diving contest Shepherd the captain of last year's swimming team will take part. Shepherd was considered one of the best divers in the conference last year. A diving platform has been erected on one of the barges which will be anchored in the center of the river. The other divers will be McCullough, Griffith, Ward Killebrew, Pillars, and Shepherd.

The last event of the day will be the float parade. Twelve floats are entered from the different organizations on the campus. This is the first time that a feature of this kind has ever been attempted and although the number was not as large as was hoped it can be considered as a start for next year.

NINETEEN ATHLETES GRADUATE JUNE 5

Will Receive "I" Certificates and Diplomas at Exercises

Nineteen athletes who won "I's" during their years at Iowa will receive "I" certificates as well as diplomas when they graduate on June 5. The man with the most letters is John Heldt who won four "I's" in football, and one in wrestling. A number of the other men have one or more straight letters with several secondary letters.

Apparently the most versatile athlete in this years senior class is Edward G. Rich who won an "I" in track and football, and an "Is" in swimming.

Those who will receive "I" certificates are G. C. Ashton (track 1921-22-23, captain cross-country 1922 "cIc"); H. M. Barnes (track 1921-23); L. M. Becker (baseball 1921, "I-2" 1922-23); P. L. Hamilton (baseball 1918-19-20, captain 20, "I-2" football 1817); John C. Heldt (football 1918-19-21-23, captain wrestling 1923, "Iw" 1922); Max Kadesky (football 1920-21-23); W. S. Kelly (football 1918-19-20, captain football 1920, "I-2" track 1919); C. L. Mead (football 1920-21-23); Bruce MacDowell (track 1918); G. B. Noll (track 1921-22-23); E. G. ### THE NEW MODEL E WEB PERFECTING DUPLEX PRESS ON WHICH THE IOWAN WILL BE PRINTED NEXT YEAR

With one of the new Model E Duplex Web-perfecting presses the Daily Iowan will print its new size paper, eight columns wide, 21 inches long. This press prints two, four six or eight pages direct from the roll at a speed of 6000 papers an hour, all in one operation, delivering the papers folded ready for delivery at the completion of its performance.

The cost of the press, which is the last word in printing press equipment for newspapers in average cities, is $9000, including motor and special equipment.

This method of printing The Iowan is in direct contrast to the former method of printing on a cylinder press at the rate of 500 per hour for eight pages, and then having to feed the sheets of paper through a folder before they are ready for delivery. The Duplex reduces the time consumed in press work on a daily issue of the Iowan from ten hours to less than one hour for a circulation of from 4000 to 4500, which is the goal of the circulation manager for next year. The forms can be held as late as three o'clock in the morning for late news stories.

AMERICANS HOODWINK FRENCH ART DEALERS

(By United News.) Paris, May 29.—A charge that American dealers hoodwinked Louvre authorities into buying fraudulent masterpieces worth a couple of hundred francs for 150,000 francs was formally made Tuesday.

It was alleged that among the spurious masterpieces thus bought were the paintings "The Wise Men," and the "Annunciation of the Shepherds," purchased from America. It is said by the Society for the Protection of French Art that the frauds were largely in twelfth century pieces, including many works of sculpture.

SCHOOL KIDS HOSTS AT OPEN HOUSE

(Continued from page 1) was considered a personal affront by a child if the visitor neglected to let him explain his share of the work, and "Hey, you missed one" called back anyone who chanced to skip a small expositor.

Each grade had some particular subject which had been its study for the year, besides the regular work in reading, writing, arithmetic, geography, etc. The first grade room was filled with small youngsters swinging vigorously or clinging tightly to some visiting parent's hand. The walls were covered with cut-outs, crayon colorings and paper work which had been done by the children during the year.

The second grade studied Indian life, and the grade room contained an Indian tepee, pelts hung out to dry, bows and arrows, stone hatchets, and other articles pertaining to the life of the Indian nation. The pupils of this grade gave an Indian dance, of which the small blond-haired Indian announcer stated gravely, "We made it up ourselves."

Pioneer life is the subject of study in the third grade. Here the children had exhibits of braided rugs, soap, and candles that they had made themselves. "The pioneers used tallow and beeswax for their candles but we had to use paraffin for ours" explained the young lady in charge of this work.

Grade four is making a special study of transportation and home industries. Examples of different kinds of material used for shelter and of various methods of transportation were shown here. Especially interesting was the demonstration of the children taking wool just as it comes from the sheep's back, carding it, and taking it through all the processes of spinning and weaving. An old-fashioned spinning wheel was used in this work.

The industries are studied especially in grade five, and paper making, woodwork, and first aid were demonstrated here. The children had polished window boards and made charts of wood. With the use of various bandages, two small boys demonstrated what to do in various emergencies. After the demonstration, the smaller youngster was heard to say, "I wish you'd get another patient." Dorothy Fisher presided at the tea-urn here with perfect poise.

The sixth grade specializes in social and economic work and many of the pupils would put University students to shame in their knowledge of history and geography. Two young pupils explained how they studied arithmetic, and obligingly worked problems for visitors. Another had a map of Europe on which he had placed dots representing all the chief cities. He could name them with rapidity and tell not only what they were noted for, but their comparative size as well.

Tea was served in each room by the small hosts, who are undoubtedly the best advertisement for the work of the elementary school that can be found. A program of education which can produce such interest, knowledge, and poise is certainly fundamentally sound. Prof. Ernest Horn of the education department is in charge of the work.

The program which was presented at 2 o'clock consisted of the following numbers:

- Looby Loo ----- Junior Primary
  - Thorne Rosa ----- First Grade
  - Group of Songs ----- Third Grade
  - Comin' Through the Rye ----- Fourth Grade
  - Fifth Grade
  - Indian Dance (original) ----- Second Grade
  - Second Grade
  - Game—How Do You Do? ----- Fourth Grade
  - Fourth Grade
  - Group of Songs ----- Sixth Grade
- The different numbers on the program were announced by Ado Van der Zee.

out so that the affair may not only be a success but that the members of the class may remember with pleasure one of their last social meetings," said Lehan T. Ryan, all-senior president yesterday.

Trinity College Ends a Century

Completion of the first century of service to State and Church by Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., was commemorated at a service at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Trinity Church.

The principal address was given by Dr. Livingston Ferrand, President of Cornell University. The other college presidents took part in the exercises, Dr. M. Bartlett of Hobart, Dr. W. F. Pierce of Kenyon and Dr. B. I. Bell of St. Stephen's. The President of Trinity is the Rev. Remsen B. Ogilby.

Religious intolerance of a century ago caused the founding of Trinity College in 1823 by Bishop Thomas Church Brownell and a group of friends, mostly Episcopalians. The Trinity charter provides:

"That the college shall not make the religious tenets of any person a condition of admission, and that no President or Professor or any officer shall be made ineligible for or by reason of any religious tenet that he may profess, or be compelled to subscribe to any religious tests whatever."

Among Trinity's graduates are 26 Bishops and 596 clergymen of the Episcopal Church.

Out of this small undergraduate body, now about 250, and its alumni list of about 2,000, Trinity College supplied to the army and navy in the World War 518 men and had 108 in Red Cross work and other war activities.

The Centennial Commencement program will be on Friday, June 8, and will continue through Monday, June 11.

The Centennial Commencement has also been selected at the time for completing the first $1,000,000 of an endowment fund.

MICHIGAN INCREASES LIGHTING FACILITIES

Work on the improvement of the University heating and power plants will be started soon, according to Edward C. Pardon, superintendent of the buildings and grounds department. The work will be carried out by the use of the $500,000 recently appropriated by the legislature for that purpose.

Present plans provide for the addition of two 1000 horsepower boilers to the present heating plant and a considerable increase of the available space in the coal storage yards. The turbine generators now in use by the power plant that furnishes light for the University will be supplemented by additional units until a capacity is reached that is double the present one. Excavation and the laying of foundation work will begin next month.

IN MEMORIAM

The futility of war has never detracted from its romance; neither has the brutality of the battlefield ever detracted from the homage paid to the dead soldier. The American youth has always responded quickly to the call of war; the adventure of it is a release from the prosaic burdens of life and a test of his mettle. He has been glad to go, and if he must die, he has been glad to give his life in an honorable struggle.

The soldier of the Civil War went onto the battlefield with a high purpose in his heart. Whether he wore the blue or the gray, he fought earnestly for the cause which he believed to be just. His courage may have grown weak at times, but he did not fail in his duty. Following in his footsteps came the soldier of a far larger conflict—the world war—a struggle in which greater poise, finer courage, and a more intense patriotism was needed. It is to men of such qualities as these that the American nation pays the homage today. The memory of their deeds has become a part of the American tradition. They will never experience the quick forgetfulness of the dead, for they have taken their places in the long line of American military heroes, led by Washington, Grant, and Robert E. Lee.

THE FOREIGNER IN COLLEGE

If every native-born student at the University were confronted with the obstacles which now stand before the foreigner on the campus, the enrollment of the University would be considerably lowered. The foreigner is here under tremendous difficulties. Many have been in this country but a few years. They speak the English language with difficulty and its subtle usages baffle them. They are unacquainted with American manners and ways. Moreover, many of them pay their own expenses through the University and consequently have but little time for leisure and social activities. In spite of all these odds, the foreign student makes a showing equal to that of the American who is here on his dad's money, who has plenty of time for recreation, and nothing to do but study.

The same situation is present at other colleges. The youngest student now at Minnesota is a Russian immigrant who is only sixteen. Columbia's youngest student is a Jewish boy of the same age. In another eastern college, Phi Beta Kappa recently elected to membership a German boy who was only fourteen.

The interest shown by foreign student for their studies is by far superior to that shown by the average native-born student. The foreigner has a desire and a persistence for learning which is rarely found in the American. His discouragements seem to make him more determined than ever to succeed. If native students could display a little of this energy, there would be fewer "flunks," better grades, and a general advancement in the American intelligence.

CONTEMPORARY OPINION

(Philadelphia Public Ledger)

WAGES FOR WIVES

"With all my worldly goods I thee endow" is too fanciful and insecure a pledge to suit some of the delegates to the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance.

They think that's all very well for the marriage service, like the bridal veil and strewn rose petals and the sweetly sentimental strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March. For the hard and sometimes grim years after the honeymoon, when rice is merely something to be boiled with raisins for a cheap yet tasty dessert, they ask something less poetic but more collectable before the law.

In a word, they want wages for wives. They want the lawmakers of the world to decree that a certain portion of a man's salary or income shall be allotted to his wife. If he does not hand it over voluntarily, they want to attach his pay-envelope.

The loudest advocates of the measure, it is interesting to note, were the delegates from England, where a wife has little legal standing; its most vigorous opponents, the Scandinavian women, whose national laws give a wife support commensurate with her husband's position. The women from the North argued that wages dishonored the married state and reduced wives to the position of paid housekeepers.

How much is a wife worth a week? The question might well be countered with another: How much is a husband worth a week? The statistician who can answer either question could appraise the sunrise and write price tags for the flowers of the field and the soft winds of summer.

The ordinary pay of domesticity is struggle and hope, worries and love, weariness and content, bills and the interest on the mortgage, and the cost of shoes for restless little feet. In a word, it is a sight draft on the not always solvent Bank of Life.

The Sounding Board

Song of a Bachelor

If I should ever marry,
For some yet unknown cause,
I'd shy away from any girl
Who owned an antique vawz.

If I should ever marry,
And take a wedding jaunt,
It could not be with any girl
Who had a maiden awnt.

If I should ever marry
(As I hardly think I shall)
No highbrow better half for me—
I'd rather have a pal.

"Oh, ever thus, from childhood's hour,
I've seen my fondest hopes decay."

Alas! that it should happen to us. After these four long years of tireless effort! After we had spent our hard-earned shekels for the invitations that "request the honor of your presents" at the commencement festivities! 'Tis indeed the most unkindest cut of all—to search through the list of "candidates for the degree of bachelor of arts" for the pleasure of seeing our name—and search in vain!

At first, when we thought of the money and engraved cards and postage we were wasting on well-to-do friends and relatives, we were inconsolable. But we soon discovered another whose name had been omitted, and another, and another. And then we discovered on the list the names of several, yea numerous individuals who have given up all hope of being graduated. And then we found the monickers of some people who have already grabbed off the coveted B. A.

And then rumor, painted full of tongues, whispered in our ear that vigilantes were hot on the trail of the committee on invitations and had pursued them to the bad lands north of Coralville. As for us, we take the responsibility of offering a reward of 1,000 yen for their capture, dead or alive.

Stickfuls By Irvin Cobb

Reviewed by MAURICE VAN METRE

A few years ago, one of the highly press-agented movie producers brought out a highly press-agented film called, "Go and Get It". It purported to be the inside story of newspapering and in it the hero chased down his scope with an airplane; the heroine assumed the managing editor's chair (without any experience) and the thing ended with another probable angle, the appallingness of which still brings a blush to our cheek. Of action, the movie contained plenty, but of reality it was utterly lacking. Many times since we have hoped for an opportunity to upset the impressions it was bound to impress upon the newspaper public. Mr. Irvin S. Cobb has lifted the task from our brow.

In his latest book, "Stickfuls," he tells of many of his experiences as a newspaper worker and takes the double in one chapter to disillusion the public concerning many of its opinions regarding the press, opinions which are "woefully incorrect and most of them entirely false." He disproves, for instance, that:

"That practically all city editors are crabbed mianthropists with the disposition of a dyspeptic Nero.

"That all newspapers are terribly put to it to find material with which to fill their columns."

"The reporters are noisy youths, armed with large notebooks, who prow about town on the lookout for something exciting or unusual to happen so that they may hurry back to their offices and write over-drawn pieces about it."

"That a reporter will go to any ends in order to get hold of a piece of news which a brother reporter has not yet got hold of, and that having got it will die in his tracks before he will whack up with his fellow."

"That the sap-green reporter invariably lands the biggest beat."

"That a newspaper shop is run like a mad house."

"That all old-time newspaper stars were habitual drunks and did their best work while in a state of staggering intoxication."

It was not the author's purpose to set the world right about all these opinions but since he has done so we cannot help but call that "stickful" the best of the entire lot. Mr. Cobb did forget to say that the report that newspaper men get passes to all the shows and other entertainments is absolutely untrue but that is such a little slip. "Stickfuls" will be delightful reading for anyone, whether he has tasted the alleged romance of "The Fourth Estate" or not. For the beginners (Mr. Cobb didn't write it that way) the author points out that the way to success is through hard and strenuous labor. He used to use fourteen and eighteen hours a day.

Writing as he does of himself, he becomes egotistical at time but that isn't a point to quarrel about. At least it seems that all men who write about themselves are always telling of their greatness or alleged greatness. Mr. Edward Bok in his "The Americanization of Edward Bok" is the virtuoso of the "I" boys. Straus in his "Under Four Administrations" runs him close second. Since Mr. Cobb is the third of the writers we have read lately who deal with the first person singular stuff, we put him in third place. But despite that objection, we liked "Stickfuls." It is a good newspaper story.

Psychologist Finds How to Determine Musical Capacity

Dr. Hazel Stanton, psychologist in the Eastman school of Music at Rochester, N. Y., has added materially to the foundations of a new profession; namely, that of Psychological Examiner in the school of Music. She has now been employed for two years in the Eastman School of Music on an experiment in determining to what extent psychological measurements can predict capacity for achievement; and, as a result of this experiment, the Eastman School of Music has adopted the plan of requiring the passing of psychological examinations on the part of all candidates for admission to the school. This examination not only determines fitness to enter, but gives some indication as to fitness for special course in music.

Mr. Eastman of the Kodak Company who endowed this school with six million dollars, has taken a personal interest in this experiment and regards it as a great achievement, in that it will help the school to select the most worthy pupils; and this becomes important because there are more than twice as many applicants as may enter the school.

Dr. Stanton took her degree in this University two years ago and before that had distinguished herself by measuring the musical talents among the various members of five of the foremost families of this country, in this way laying a new foundation for the study of musical inheritance.

Iowan Editorial Gets Publicity In. S. California

An editorial which appeared in the Daily Iowan on Iowa weather has been receiving considerable publicity in Southern California. Prof. Frank E. Horack of the University of Iowa, who spent the past winter in that state, sent the editorial to a Pasadena newspaper and the article appeared recently.

The article begins by chiding Californians and their favorite topic, weather, and then tells them of the monotony of the climate. Says the article, "Iowa climate can't be beat for variety. Whereas, Californians must content themselves with a range of temperature of perhaps 30 degrees, residents of Iowa may enjoy a range of at least 150 degrees—from 40 below to 110 above. Furthermore, it is not necessary to wait long for these changes; in Iowa it is entirely possible to go to bed with the

Dr. Suhindra Bose of the department of political science will lecture on a chautauqua course this summer. With the Standard Chautauqua System of Lincoln, Neb., he will visit ninety-two towns in five states, Nebraska, Colorado, South Dakota, Wyoming, and Kansas. His subject will be "The Present Situation in the Orient."

thermometer at 60 and wake up with it at 15."

Despite the playfulness of Iowa weather, Professor Horack's contribution says the Iowa climate "is the most healthful in the United States or California", because "all the inhabitants enjoy phenomenal health for the reason that if they were not hard-boiled and healthy they could not stand the weather."

M'LEAN TO GIVE LETTER TO WALES

Former President to Speak at Anniversary of St. Bartholomew's Hospital

Former President George E. MacLean, of the University will have the privilege of presenting to the Prince of Wales, on June 5, an address of congratulation tied with an old gold ribbon, from President Walter A. Jessup. The presentation will be honor of the eight hundredth anniversary of Saint Bartholomew's hospital of which the prince is president. In the message of congratulation, which President Jessup sent recently for the University, President MacLean was named as the University's delegate to the ceremonies.

A letter received from President MacLean tells of the events which will take place during the celebration on June 5, 6, and 7. "The address of felicitation to Saint Bartholomew's hospital is a model of its kind. These addresses will be presented to the Prince of Wales at the Guildhall on the afternoon of June 5. "I with other delegates, therefore shall have the privilege of mounting the dias and with a bow present the address. I am going to have it tied up with an old gold ribbon. Last week I met the Prince when Viscountess Astor gave an at home in his honor. You have heard of the great address which the Prince gave at the sixth annual dinner of the Union (the American University Union in Europe) on March, first when he alluded to me "as his friend." Some members of the American Colony have now dubbed me as the "Prince's Pal."

Upon another occasion President MacLean will speak for Iowa. This will be at the Royal Institute of Public Health Congress to which he was appointed as delegate by the University. Commenting on the occasion he says, "Sir William R. Smith, the principal of the institute, put me on the program at the opening session to speak for Iowa and the U. S. A. and he promised that the band should play the "Star Spangled Banner" when I arose."

Dr. MacLean will also represent the University at the Cambridge Jubilee of the Extra-Mural University Teaching, July 6 to 10, and at that time will be "very glad to have an engrossed address to present from Iowa similar to that which you have sent me for the Saint Bartholomew's celebration."

MAY OFFER 5 YEAR ENGINEER COURSE

Fifth Year Will Be Highly Specialized and Probably Optional

That the five year engineering course will be an optional course of study for students in the college of applied science, should the faculty see fit to adopt such a course next fall, was the announcement made yesterday by Dean Wm. G. Raymond.

The faculty committee which was detailed to draw up plans for the five year course, has nearly completed the outline for the first four years and have in mind several outlines for the fifth curricular year. It is proposed to make the fifth year a highly specialized course, special option to be offered in hydraulic engineering, sanitary e. engineering, structural engineering, transportation engineering, general mechanical engineering, power engineering, electric machinery engineering, electric power plant engineering, and electric communication engineering.

In addition to these highly specialized courses, there will be the option of a general course. Upon completion of this course, the student will be prepared to specialize in either mechanical, civil, or electrical engineering or after some experience will be able to do design work involving the several branches of engineering and to superintend the construction and operation of such work.

The purpose of the five year course as expressed by members of the faculty committee is to benefit those students who wish to prepare themselves to be leaders in their profession.

"We want it strictly understood" said Dean Raymond, that we are not adapting a five year course in engineering as the only course. Students completing the first four years will be given their bachelor's degree and if the five year course which is being considered is adopted, those who complete it will receive the degree of master of science in engineering."

GERMAN REDS FAN FIRES OF RUHR REVOLT

11 Dead; 60 Wounded
In Clashes with
Dresden Police
Reserves

(By United News)

Berlin, May 29.—The flame of the Ruhr is spreading through Germany, plans are reported for a red uprising in Berlin, and heavy precautions are being taken.

Eleven are dead and sixty wounded at Dresden, central Germany, following clashes of communists and police. Reds plundering shops were massed against police reserves, both sides exchanging volleys in the darkness.

French troops, determined to prevent complete chaos in the Ruhr, have prohibited public assemblies at Recklinghausen and probably will extend the regulation elsewhere.

The step may mark the active beginning of French intervention. Meanwhile German police reinforcements, including 200 from Berlin, are being rushed into the Ruhr from unoccupied Germany for the red upheaval may have as disastrous consequences for the German state as for the occupying French forces. It is not clear, however, whether the allies have consented to the move, which increases the German police or semi-military strength in the contested zone.

A serious aspect of the situation day.

is that the communist party has issued an official proclamation condemning the Cuno government in sharpest terms and demanding its overthrow especially on the ground that it is about to deliver the workers to the capitalists who have fattened during the war and since.

The proclamation alleges the capitalists are preparing for a break and will defend the Ruhr, placing the blame for the step on the workers.

Socialists also have definitely warned the government that unless the industrialist proposals are altered by legislation the socialist party will put up a strenuous fight. There is no mistaking the critical tone of the workers toward proposals believed to signify the undermining of the eight-hour day and the placing of the railroads into private hands.

Meantime Ruhr disorders continue. At Steppenberg a mob stoned French patrols, following which the French commander ordered troops to clear the streets. Two Germans were shot in the struggle that followed. A woman and a workman were killed at Solinghausen in clashes with reds there. The Dusseldorf toll Tuesday was one killed and two wounded in fights between factory strikers and police.

London Debutantes To Be Presented at King's First Court

(By United News)

London, May 29.—The high cost of living is hitting the price of being presented at court. It is a matter of real moment now, for the first court of the season will be held Wednesday. The lucky debutante who has been selected for court presentation can negotiate the honor today on a dress expenditure of $125. She can spend much more of her course if her pocket book permits but the fore-mentioned sum is needed to get by respectively.

What one must spend on personal finery for the privilege of courtesing before the king and queen is a big question on the eve of the important event Wednesday night. A separate court will be held Thursday night and the flappers are all fluttered to step out in their new gowns, feathers, veils and other trimmings which the season's "bud" must wear when she meets their Majesties.

A man can make himself presentable at court on a sum slightly less than the feminine outlay, it costs the male about $200 to rig himself up with proper scenery. This includes everything from the conventional black silk velvet suit down to silk stockings, a steel hilted sword, cut steel buttons and knee and shoe buckles.

Plague Spreads To France from King Tut's Tomb

Paris May 29.—Did the germs of the plague which was reported Tuesday in widely scattered cities of Europe and Africa come from the tom of King Tutankhamen?

In Egypt where the plague is spreading natives believed long buried germs of ancient epidemics which devastated the Nile valley survived in the Royal grave. Released by the impious act of foreigners who opened the tomb the plague comes as a punishment of ancient gods, the natives say.

They attribute to this vengeance the death of both Lord Carnarvon and George Gould, American financier, who died after a visit to Egypt.

Two died of the plague in Paris Tuesday. Two others are in a critical conditions in suburban sections invaded by the contagion.

The ministry of health has taken all precautions ordering sewers cleaned and rats killed.

Specialists Again Called to Bedside of Russian Premier

(By United News)

Copenhagen, May, 29.—Moscow dispatches report that several prominent doctors have been hastily summoned to Kremlin to attend Premier Nicalai Lenin.

They have been requested to remain in the palace it is said.

Mystery has cloaked the periodic reports of the critical stage in the Russian Leaders' prolonged illness. He suffered his first stroke of paralysis more than a year ago and another stroke last winter. His health completely broken, he was forced to remain away from his office for several months.

In the spring when he prepared to resume his duties, one arm and one leg became partly paralyzed and an impediment in his speech developed.

PESCARA'S HELICOPTER PROVED PRACTICABLE

Paris, May 29.—Although he had been arrested in 1917 on a charge of espionage and imprisoned three months before being expelled from the country the Argentine engineer Pescara demonstrated under the auspices of the French army Tuesday the practicability of the helicopter machine, an invention for rising straight from the ground into the air without any running take off.

The machine rising from a twenty five yard circle flew 600 feet and proved its power of control by turning around a pylon.
