Knox Game Today Final Practice Game of Hawkeyes

Conference Game With Purdue Eleven Saturday

164 FOOTBALL GAMES SCHEDULED FOR TODAY

Nebraska Meets Illinois; Ames, Minnesota; Coe, Wisconsin; Chicago, Colorado

Ushered in by a sprinkling of rather unimportant games last Saturday, football in the west and throughout the United States will get away to a fast start today when the Hawkeyes battle Knox on Iowa Field as the game of chief importance among the 164 contests for the afternoon.

Locally football will be of interest only in so far as regards the quality of gridiron tactics exhibited by Coach Jones' eleven. While the men respect the Galesburg eleven's ability, no amount of adverse opinion could warrant predicting other than a victory for the Iowa coach and Iowa followers alike in that it will show clearly just how much improvement can be made in the Iowa team in the short space of seven days, and how far along the men are toward playing conference football. It will be of value also in that it will give the seven so-called green men on the team further experience before their opening conference game with Purdue here next Saturday.

Hawkeyes in Shape
All of the Hawkeyes will enter the game this afternoon in the best of shape, both physically and mentally. Practice this week has been comparatively light. Instead of the customary three scrimmages only two have been held. The remaining time has been spent on further fundamental work together with extended drill on some of the finer points of the game. Much matters of the following interference, correct blocking and having the punch to put the ball over in pinches have been greatly stressed by Coach Jones in the workouts since the Oklahoma game. It is practically safe to say that when once a play is called today it will be followed through, and that the Hawkeyes will not be held for downs when near the goal line.

Coaches, players and spectators alike are hoping for cooler weather today. The excessive heat of last Saturday, when viewed from the standpoint of good football weather, was largely responsible for whatever mistakes the Iowans made.

The lineup today will in all probability be the same as that which opposed Oklahoma. This lineup, however, will be only a starter and if the game goes well, all of the units on the player's bench will be vibrant at some time during the game.

Game Called at 3
Today's game will be called at 3 p. m. sharp.

For Iowans the next most important game on today's list will be Nebraska's battle with Illinois at Urbana, since Illinois is the Iowa homecoming opponent.

Scheduled last winter as a friendly practice game in which the coaches of the two respective teams were to exchange diagrams of their plays, the contest today, promises to be a "real sure-enough" battle. The agreement to exchange diagrams has been set aside and both mentors will send their teams into the fray "to win."

Iowa State's encounter with Minnesota at Minneapolis will be another game worth watching. By some Minnesota is being considered as one of the three leading contenders for the conference title. Today's game should give some information as to the probable validity of this claim.

Coe, Wisconsin's opponent tomorrow, had high hopes of downing the Badgers earlier in the season but the Cedar Rapids school's rather poor showing against Upper Iowa last Saturday makes a victory over Wisconsin appear somewhat unlikely. Coe took a workout on the Wisconsin gridiron yesterday.

Chicago Meets Colorado
An interesting interconference game will be in Chicago's (tussle with the Colorado Aggies, the game to be played on Stagg field. The character of the team, generalship, and the work of the ends, and points of play that are reported to be weak on the Maroon eleven will be closely watched by conference dopsters today.

Michigan is expected to have little trouble with Case, in a scrimmage during the midweek, the Wolverine varsity triumphed over the freshmen 28 to 6. Michigan is said to be strong in the forward pass this year, with Uteritz and Vick doing most of the work.

In the east football interest will center around the Big Four all of (Continued on Page Six)

If You Have Student Work Phone Dean of Men's Office

The office of the dean of men reports a scarcity of work for students. Dean Robert E. Rienow yesterday stated that the scarcity of work for students earning part of their way is the worst over the week-end. Many students have an opportunity of working all day Saturday owing to having no classes on that day but the office of the dean finds it impossible to satisfy the call for work for all of them.

Dean Rienow asks all people who have student work to telephone his office for there are a number of students whose chances to remain at the University are small unless they get work at once.

Stinnes Visits with Krupp Head in Jail

Holds Conference with General Degoute

Industrial Baron Evades Volley of Questions With His Customary Agility

By The Associated Press
DUESSELDORF, Oct. 5.—Hugo Stinnes, the German industrial magnate, who arrived here today, spent an hour at the jail this evening chatting with Baron Krupp Von Bohlen, head of the Krupp works, who is serving a sentence for obstructing the Franco-Belgian occupation authorities.

Afterward, in a French general staff car, he went to the French headquarters where he had a lengthy conference with General Degoute.

Stinnes maintained his usual silence when asked about these meetings, and it was impossible to learn anything authoritative from other sources as to what happened at either of the interviews. It is generally conjectured, however, that Stinnes in his conversation with Degoute talked over the problems relating to the restoration of economic activities in the Ruhr.

Several English and American correspondents talked with Herr Stinnes in the lobby of his hotel and subjected him to a rapid fire volley of questions, but the industrial chief evaded them with his customary agility.

MORAN K. O. WHITE

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP)—Pal Moran of New Orleans knocked out Charlie White of Chicago in the fourth round of their fifteen round match at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Expect 30,000 for Homecoming Game

The athletic department is making preparations to handle a crowd of 30,000 people for the Homecoming game with Illinois here October 20. New semi-permanent bleachers have been constructed at the south end of the field which will take care of 1,300 people. Aside from the permanent bleachers there are knock down bleachers on the east side at the end of the permanent bleachers. Knock down bleachers will also be placed at the north end of the field to take care of the expected crowd. Last year around 20,000 people witnessed the Homecoming game with Minnesota but the attendance for this game was cut down by several thousand by the unfavorable weather.

With the building of the new steel bleachers two new sections were added to the south of the old bleachers. In order to have the field more centrally located the playing field has been moved ten yards to the south.

Already the applications for reservations for the homecoming game have reached 3,500 and are coming into the office of the athletic department at the rate of about 500 daily. Alumni reservations are taken from the upper half of the west bleachers and the lower half of the east bleachers. The homecoming game is the game that has the greatest attraction for the old "grads" and their presence as indicated by advance sales will make for a record breaking homecoming crowd.

Demands Special Session of Both Oklahoma Houses

McBee Issues Call on Alleged Strength of Late Amendment

SUMMONS SAYS PEOPLE DEMAND SPECIAL CALL

Walton Opposition Determined to Stave off Outcome of Executive Injunction

By The Associated Press
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 5.—A call for a special session of both houses of the Oklahoma legislature on October 17, to investigate "the commission of impeachable offenses by the officers of the state subject to impeachment" was issued here tonight by W. D. McBee, state representative from Stephens county.

The call was made under the alleged authority of a constitutional amendment approved at the polls Tuesday by citizens of the state. The summons sets out that it was issued upon "written request signed by a majority of the members of the house of representatives asking that the legislature be convened pursuant to the mandate of the people."

In issuing the call, members of the house who have opposed Governor J. C. Walton, determined not to await the outcome of an injunction action instituted by the executive to prevent the state election board from certifying the returns of Tuesday's election to the secretary of state.

Cite Majority Vote Theory

They reported upon the theory that a majority of the votes cast having been in favor of the amendment, it became law without the formality of certification, which they declared was mere routine without significance in law.

They cited as precedent for their stand the action of C. N. Haskell, first governor of the state, who moved the capitol to Oklahoma City from Guthrie in 1907 before the returns had been certified from an election on an initiated measure providing for the removal. The former governor's action was sustained in the courts, according to Ross Lillard, state senator.

Is Second Attempt
The October 17 meeting will be the second members of the house have attempted to hold. On September 26 they were dispersed by state troops acting under orders of Governor Walton, who charged that they were members of the Ku Klux and that their gathering was unlawful under provisions of his decrees of state wide martial law.

Hearing on the executive's injunction action against the state election board is set for next Tuesday.

Webb Gives Version of Pre-Death Events

Says He Was So Overcome by Sight of Wife That He Could Not Bear It

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Charles H. Webb, today filled in a pause in the grand jury investigation of the alleged mysterious death of his wife, at the Westchester-Biltmore Country club about ten days ago.

With the grand jury not meeting again until Monday to determine whether the society woman was poisoned, Webb met reporters twice today and gave his version of events preceding her death.

Dr. William J. Meyer who attended her and refused to issue a death certificate, previously had painted a picture of Webb as a callous husband, unheeding of his wife's suffering, careless as the end approached.

Webb sketched a far different picture of a husband so overcome at the sight of his wife the night before she died that he thought he could not bear to be at her bedside when the end came and proposed instead going into an adjoining room to pray.

Woman Found Guilty of Delivering Guns To Prison Trusty

BURLINGTON, Iowa, Oct. 5 (AP)—After 25 hours of deliberation the jury in the Lee county district court at Fort Madison tonight returned a verdict of "Guilty" as charged in the indictment, against Mrs. Bernice Peppering of St. Paul, Minn., Mrs. Peppering with Ed Foley, also of St. Paul, was apprehended June 4 by the prison authorities while delivering two revolvers taken inside the penitentiary.

Foley who had a separate trial, was found "Guilty" last week.

Daily Iowan Scored Beat on All Papers Yesterday

In yesterday morning's Daily Iowan, the story of the stormy scene at the Columbus, Ga., ring-side Thursday afternoon, where Mike McTigue and Young Stribling fought for the light heavyweight championship of the world was carried on the sports page. It told how Referee Charlie Ertle issued a statement three hours after the fight declaring the bout to be a draw and stating that he was forced by the intimidating mob to give Stribling the decision at the ringside.

The Iowan carried a detailed story of the affair and scored a "beat" on one of the best sport stories of the year. Every morning paper sold in Iowa City carried the story that Stribling had dethroned McTigue, which was the first story given out. The fact that editions of morning papers reaching Iowa City must be mailed early in the evening gives the Iowan an opportunity of carrying much later news, furnished by the Associated Press, recognized leading news service.

Ten Are Rhodes Scholar Applicants

Applications Must Be in Saturday Noon

State Board Considers Five Applicants From the University

Ten men had applied for the Rhodes scholarship at the president's office yesterday evening. All applications must be in by noon today, if they are to be considered by the faculty committee next week.

The men who are lined up for the scholarship from the state of Iowa are: Buel G. Beaman, A. A. Cedar Rapids; Theodore Byerly of Keokuk; George Crane A. B. Dexter, Roger Leach A. of Tipton, Robert Block L. J. of Davenport, Carl Strom of Decorah; Kenneth Lambert S. of Iowa City, and Alexander Miller L. of Des Moines.

Besides these men applications from other states have been received.

There was a rush for applications yesterday, at least eight men applying for blanks to Professor Van der Zee, chairman of the state committee on Rhodes scholarships.

All the applicants will be examined by a faculty committee to be appointed by President Jessup some time next week. This committee will select five of these men to represent the University, for only five are eligible for consideration by the state board. The state board is composed of President Walter A. Jessup of Central College, Pella; Professor S. T. Nelson of Luther College, Decorah; Professor J. W. Woodrow of Ames; Professor Van der Zee of the University of Iowa; and J. H. St. John of Arlington, Iowa. The committee will examine applicants from all the colleges of the state and make the selection of one Rhodes scholar for the state of Iowa on December 8, 1923.

The man chosen goes into residence at Oxford in October, 1924, for three years of study in any scholastic branch that he may desire. He receives the equivalent, in English money, of $1,600 a year for his expenses. Iowa selects a Rhodes scholar this fall and next fall, but not in the fall of 1925, since only two-thirds of the states may send representatives each year.

In the past the University has been fortunate in getting the Rhodes scholarship for the state of Iowa. Willis Nutting, 1919, and Charles C. Bowie, 1920, are still in residence at Oxford.

Illinois Colors to Fly During Illini-Iowa Game

As a special feature the athletic board has arranged to have four pennant shells to explode at the Illinois-Iowa football game. These pennants will display the Iowa colors and attention will be drawn to them by the explosion of several preliminary salutes.

The Illinois colors, orange and blue, will be displayed in the same way. Several of the pennants will be released before the game and the remainder during the intermissions between halves.

Similar pennants are being supplied for the Michigan-Iowa game. The Michigan colors, maize and blue, will be displayed in place of the Illinois colors which will be used during the Homecoming game.

These pennants are becoming popular among the various universities. Illinois provided a similar exhibition at their Homecoming game last year when they played Iowa.

All-University Mixer Attended by 2000 Students

Crowd Shows Appreciative Spirit Through The Program

DEAN KAY GIVES FIRST SPEECH OF EVENING

Garlock Addresses Students in Behalf of Y. M.; Prof. Clapp Gives Musical Numbers

The spirit of friendliness generated by "Hello Day" was best felt by the crowd of two thousand students that thronged the Armory last evening for the all-University mixer.

From the snappy opening, by Shaffer's Orchestra, to the Grand March at the finish, the crowd showed their hearty appreciation of the program by their almost constant applause and calls for encores.

"I like the spirit of 'hello day' because it is the spirit of friendliness," said Dean Kay in the opening speech of the evening, and this thought seemed to express the opinion of the crowd as they left the Armory an hour later.

Dean Kay congratulated the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. for their effort to spread this spirit throughout the school. "This friendliness exhibited today, is a part of the everyday spirit of the Iowa student," he continued.

"We welcome the new students here this evening. 'We welcome them to take their part in the complex life of this university. Especially do we hope that they will learn to take an interest in the extra-curricular life of the school, in the athletic, dramatic, and social work."

After Dean Kay's speech, Richard Garlock, A. J. of Maxwell, president of the Y. M. C. A., spoke a few words of welcome on the part of the organizations that were promoting "Hello Day." He invited the student body to partake freely of the services offered by the Y. M. and the Y. W. C. A.

Professor Clapp "spoke" to the crowd by the way of the piano, and was called back by the students to "say another word or two."

Another musical number on the program was also received with high favor. A male quartet, made up of Richard Atherton, A. J. of Davenport, Wesley Drummond A. J. of Spirit Lake, Carl Kringle, A. J. of Atlantic, and John Hevring, D. J. of Pella, were so insistently called for that they sang "Yes, We Have No More Encores" for self protection.

Frances Ryan, A. J. of Fort Dodge gave the audience a clever version of the discovery of America. She responded to the encore with an Irish selection.

Lyle Baily, A. J. of Marion, gave an exhibition of Indian Club work that gave freshmen aspirants for the gym team an opportunity for deep thought.

Then, having heard from the faculty, and the athletic, the dramatic, and the musical sides of university training, the chairman called upon a representative from another side of university education.

The response was a couple of solo dances by Nedra Barry.

The Iowa fight yell were not neglected either. Max Levinston led the crowd in several yells that made the Armory ring. They tried to fill his request that "we make them hear us over town."

After the entertainment the crowd lined up by couples and passed in a Grand March past the refreshment stand. Soon the Armory was crowded with students munching on the apples and doughnuts supplied by the hosts.

The All-University mixer was but part of the program for "Hello Day." In the other part of the program, the student himself was an actor, and he alone was responsible for the success of his part.

Early in the day, "Hello" tags were placed in the halls of the liberal arts building, the law, dental, medical, and other buildings of the campus. At first the students were a little slow to catch the spirit of the occasion, but by noon many of the tags began to appear.

Illinois Supreme Court Judge Attacks Borah Theory on U. S. High Tribunal

Dunn Upholds Power of Federal Highest Court to Declare Unconstitutional Acts of Congress; Calls LaFollette Theory "Dangerous Propaganda"

By The Associated Press
BLOOMINGTON, Oct. 5.—Attacking the theory of the power of the supreme court of the United States held by Senators LaFollette, Fessenden and Borah, as expressed in speeches or bills in congress, Justice Frank K. Dunn of the Illinois supreme court in a speech here tonight upheld the power of the federal highest court to declare unconstitutional any act of congress which in his judgment overrides the limitations which the people of the United States imposed on themselves, was enthusiastically organized, their system of government with the federal constitution as its basis.

Justice Dunn spoke before a large banquet of the McClean County Bar Association in celebration of constitutional week. He said that the theory of LaFollette sounded "like propaganda of the most dangerous kind."

"The issue raised by these three senators is where the consideration and decision of questions affecting our liberties shall be removing from the disinterested judgment of an upright and independent judiciary to the capricious determination of a legislative body controlled by considerations of popular demand or partisan advantage."

Justice Dunn said, "here are three United States senators seeking to take away from the supreme court the power to decide finally upon the constitutionality of an act of the court, one of them wishing to confer that right upon congress and the other two upon a minority of the court." The speaker said Senator Fessenden wants a vote of seven of the nine justices of the supreme court made necessary to declare an act of congress unconstitutional.

Condemn Property for University Use

Owners Will Be Paid Sum of $25,000

By The Associated Press
EDDYVILLE, Ky., Oct. 5.—Military rule was established at the western state penitentiary early tonight, a few minutes after the arrival at the penitentiary of three members of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, headed by E. S. Tachau of Louisville, chairman.

Prison authorities, these members of the State Board of Charities and Corrections and national guard officers met early tonight for a comprehensive campaign for abolishing three convict murderers from the district court for Mrs. E. A. Chesley, on the corner of North Capitol and Market streets, was condemned for $15,000; the home of Miss Louise E. Hughes, to the south, for $10,000. The newly-erected De Hann building is on these tracts, and it is included in the condemnation, as the building is leased to the De Hann company.

When the University first obtains the buildings, they will be temporarily used as class rooms, and eventually the lots will be the site for a great University library.

The jury of condemnation consists of a number of eminent jurists and real estate experts, who were appointed by the chief justice of Iowa's supreme court, Hon. Byron W. Preston. It is made up of: former Justice H. Scott M. Ladd; former Justice W. S. Withrow, Mt. Pleasant; Attorney Will King, Cedar Rapids; Henry Hervey, an investment banker in Ottumwa; W. W. White, a South English banker, and Frank L. Loring, a Dallas Center real estate man.

Mrs. Chesley has previously stated that she considered $15,000 too small a sum for her property, and through an appeal to the district court she may obtain this sum, but she cannot prevent the taking over of the land.

Lloyd George Sets Foot on American Soil at New York

Leaves for Montreal Today; Will Tour Canada and U. S.

WAR PREMIER BRINGS THANKS TO AMERICA

Admits Desperate Situation in Europe; Unwilling to Express Message to U. S.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—David Lloyd George, former premier of Great Britain, veteran of seventeen years of strenuous activity in Old World politics, came to America today and found a whole heartedly enthusiastic welcome.

The former premier first saw American soil from the deck of the Mauretania early this morning. His passage from the great ocean liner in the police boat Macon to the Battery and thence by motor accompanied by a cavalcade of other cars to the City Hall and through the streets of the metropolis was almost a triumphal procession, marred only by minor street disturbance precipitated by Irish republican sympathizers.

To Canada and to the United States Mr. Lloyd George declared he brought as Britain's war-time premier, a message of heart-felt thanks for their services in the great war.

He came, he said, with no political status, and no official credentials, but as a private subject of the Crown to express to Canada his personal thanks for the volunteers who unstintingly had offered the British Empire in her time of need.

To the United States, he explained, he brought thanks for the army that had come like the "sword of Excalibur" from the Arthurian legend from out the waters of the Atlantic when the horizon of the allied powers was blackened with despair.

He will leave tomorrow morning for Montreal where he will begin a tour through the larger cities of Canada, terminating at Winnipeg, from where he will re-enter the United States in Minnesota, visiting afterward a number of mid-western and eastern cities and ending his tour in New York in early November.

Throughout the day, besieged by newspapermen who asked his views on current European affairs, Mr. Lloyd George expressed his unwillingness to bring any message to America.

At a reception luncheon tendered him by the United Press, which was attended by owners and representatives of many American and Canadian newspapers, he expressed the opinion that until the unity among nations, which prevailed during the great war, is regained, "the condition of the world will be a very troubled one."

The veteran statesman admitted that the situation in Europe was desperate but pointed out it would have been infinitely worse had the allies been defeated. He refused to admit that the treaty of Versailles was at the bottom of the economic and political difficulties of the world, adding that the mischief lay in the way the treaty was being carried out.

Mr. Lloyd George, his wife, Dame Margaret, his daughter, Megan, and several secretaries, were greeted on board the Mauretania this morning by a committee which included representatives of the city, Secretary of Labor Davis, Assistant Secretary of State Butler Wright and a group of representative Americans.

Of politics, Mr. Lloyd George had little to say. He thought, he said the Ruhr situation showed few signs of improvement; the league of nations, he added, could not be a going concern without the concurrence of the United States; central Europe, he admitted was still in danger of disastrous development, adding his opinion that adoption of Secretary Hughes' proposal for analysis of the situation by an international committee, would help bring about a peaceful settlement.

One of the most pleasurable experiences he looked forward to, he said, was a visit to former President Wilson.

Second Edition of Perkins' Law Book Published

"Iowa Cases on Criminal Law" is Name of New Book

USED BY MR. PERKINS AS LABORATORY BOOK

Criminal Procedure Made Separate Course for Third Year Students This Year

The second edition of "Iowa Cases on Criminal Procedure," written and published by Professor Rollin M. Perkins of the Law College has just been published. The first edition of 1920-21 was in three volumes; but the new edition is in one volume of 558 pages. It is made up of cases dealing with problems peculiar to Iowa Criminal procedure, and is used by Professor Perkins as a laboratory book for his course on Criminal Procedure.

This course is practically a new one in the University. Formerly, criminal procedure has been included in the general first year course on Criminal Law Procedure. Iowa peculiarities being touched upon only incidentally. This year Criminal Procedure is a separate third year course. According to Professor Perkins, there are two reasons for this change: first year students are not prepared for so specialized a course, and the course deserves thorough and careful attention because so many of the cases which a young lawyer receives when he begins his practice are criminal cases.

Only Book of its kind
"Iowa Cases on Criminal Procedure" is the only book of its kind. There are general casebooks on criminal procedure, but there is no other book limiting its scope to the study of criminal procedure in a single jurisdiction. Following the spirit of the book, this new course considers primarily the peculiar problems of Iowa. Historical development of the subject and general principles of criminal procedure are incidentally considered to throw light on proper solutions.

The book may be best described by a review of the first case. The defendant was arrested for fishing with a net in the Mississippi River without an Iowa license. He pleaded that he had a license from Illinois, but the Iowa Supreme Court held that, since Iowa and Illinois held concurrent jurisdiction over the river where it formed a boundary between them, persons must have a license from Iowa, even though they may be on the Illinois side of the river. A similar case was brought into the Supreme Court of Oregon, and the same decision was reached. However, this decision was reversed by the United States Supreme Court, and consequently, the Iowa law would be made invalid if it should ever come before the United States Supreme Court. In Professor Perkins' book, the United States' case is given in the notes. This case is important for the student because it impresses the fact that the United States Supreme Court must always be considered in cases where it has jurisdiction.

Many of the cases are supplemented by citations of other Iowa cases and occasionally from other states. Some cases in which the problems are very obvious are dismissed with a few text statements, or quotations from the Iowa Code.

Divided in 4 Parts
The book is divided into four parts: First, Limitations of Prosecution, including Jurisdiction, Statute of limitations, Former Jeopardy, and Ex-post facto laws; Second, Proceedings preliminary to Trial, including steps by the state prior to indictment, indictment or information, steps by the state after indictment, and steps by defendant; Third, the trial, including certain rights of defendants as to trial, trial jury, conduct and order of the trial, verdict, and judgment; and Fourth, proceedings after verdict, including new trial, arrest of judgment, judgment, execution, appeal, and certiorari.

DINNER TUESDAY EVENING

The Woman's Association will give a dinner next Tuesday evening at 5:45 o'clock at the Burkley Hotel to the district captains. The Woman's Association has divided Iowa City into districts, and every district has a captain over the girls in private homes in that district. It is to these district captains that the dinner is to be given in order to plan for their activities and duties during the coming year. The purpose of Woman's Association will also be explained to them at this time.

The only other social activities planned by the Woman's Association is the Co-ed Hop to be held next spring for the freshmen girls and their sponsors. The Woman's Association will have charge of Saturday afternoon variety during the year which will begin the Saturday following Homecoming. A special feature is being planned for the afternoon program at that time.

DEMOCRATS NAME OHIO WOMAN AS REGIONAL CHIEF

Mrs. Bernice S. Pyke, of Lakewood, O., democratic national committee woman for Ohio, has been appointed regional director of democratic woman's activities in Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky. The appointment was announced from Washington by Cordell Hull, chairman of the democratic national committee.

DRAMATICS

Growing demand for the University Theatre Productions throughout the state is again in evidence since requests have been coming in this year at a much earlier date than ever before. Towns such as Cedar Rapids, Forest City, LeMars, Monona, Maquoketa, and West Branch are asking for bookings. Not only the towns that have already been visited by the University players but new communities are seeking any available date.

These requests are the result of the foundation of appreciation and good-will built up by the University productions on former tours. The policy of the University Theatre to supply the demand for good drama throughout the state and create an intense interest in the better type of productions. The repertoire of the theatre is made up of the successful plays tried out first before the University audiences. They include comedies and dramas from the latest plays in New York to the classics, so that any type of play may be seen in these drama-starved smaller communities. Anything from the most inconsequential comedy to such classical productions as "The Merchant of Venice," "Twelfth Night" and "The School for Scandal" can be secured for bookings.

Last year the University Players made several tours through the state. The longest was during the Christmas holidays when A. A. Milne's clever comedy "Mr. Pim Passes By" and William Vaughn Moody's gripping drama "The Faith Healer" were taken out on an extensive tour.

On every out of town booking the University Theatre carries its own equipment, equivalent to the full equipment carried by professional road companies. It includes scenery, drapes and flat pieces and all necessities for an elaborate lighting arrangement, colored lights and a portable electrician's box.

At a mass meeting of the 150 candidates for try-outs for University players held in the natural science auditorium at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, Gordon Johnston A3 of Des Moines, Pres. outlined in detail the history and achievements of the organization as well as the methods and time to try-out.

Registration for try-outs was held last Monday and over 150 persons signified their desire for membership in the Players. To these candidates Mr. Johnston explained the method of procedure during try-outs. The individual is urged to select a part from the plays file in the reference library that is suited to his particular type and ability.

Players will be chosen by a committee of seven judges chosen from the members of the University Players. The cutting is to be short, not more than five minutes in length and the reader is urged to thoroughly familiarize himself with the reading before appearing before the judges. Memorizing the cutting is unnecessary.

The judgment of the committee according to Mr. Johnston is to be based on the following points:

- A. Intelligent reading of the lines, taking into consideration expression, interpretation, and preparation.
- B. Appearance—stage presence, poise, neatness and peculiarities of character types.
- C. Voice quality—carrying power, pleasing tones, diction, pronunciation and enunciation.

The tryouts are to be held every day next week from 4 to 5 in the natural science auditorium. Numbers were drawn by the contestants at the meeting to indicate the hour for their appearance before the judges. Twenty candidates will be heard in an afternoon and the numbers 1 to 20 appear Monday, 20 to 40 Tuesday, 40 to 60 Wednesday, etc.

Registration for try-outs does not close however until the try-outs are actually under way so any people who have not registered may do so Saturday or Monday at room 201 B natural science.

The judges who are to have the decision are—Maurine Shaw A4 of Des Moines; George Hurley, L2 of Rolfe; Francis Royce A4 of Iowa City; Paul Smith A2 of Rock Rapids; Marguerite Benda A4 of Iowa City; Vivian Gray of Ottumwa and Gordon Johnston A3 of Des Moines.

3 Pennants in 6 Years, Record of Yankee Chief

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—Miller J. Huggins, the midwest manager of the New York Yankees, has been leading baseball clubs in pennant races for eleven years. Before he had nine years active service on the diamond as a major league player. Never a heavy hitter, the little leader became noted for his knowledge of the game and his ability to apply it when brainy work was needed to win. So he became a star in spite of physical handicaps. 1901 Huggins first played professional ball with the St. Paul club. He entered the major leagues in 1904 with his home city team, the Cincinnati Reds, and played second base regularly for six years. He then was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals and became their manager in 1912, succeeding Roger Bresnahan. He remained in charge until the close of the 1917 season and that winter was signed to manage the Yankees.

Twice during his stay in St. Louis Huggins surprised the fans with his teams. In 1913 the Cardinals finished last but in 1914 they came home in third place. In 1916 his team finished seventh, but he was third place again in 1917. His New outside the first division. He was fourth in 1918, third in 1919 and 1920 and was first in 1921, 1922 and 1923.

Illinois Hopes For Conference Championship

Last Two Years of Big Ten Football Poor

14 LETTER MEN BACK; 8 REGULARS AMONG 'EM

Freshman Squad of Last Year Offers Many Likely Candidates

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Sept. 26 (Special).—After two famine years so far as victories were concerned, University of Illinois backers are looking for the return of Coach Robert C. Zuppke's Illini as championship contenders this season.

In contrast to the team of 1922, when the squad had but three letter men at the start of the season, there are 14 letter men including eight regulars doing their best to hold their old positions against the attacks of as brilliant a yearling squad as has been seen on Illinois field in many a year.

Capt. Jim McMillen, all-conference guard last year, is sure of his job, and either Vivian Green or Gil Roberts of last year's squad will be back at center, Green having the preference, but there is not another promising second year candidate. "Bubbles" Mitterwallner, a yearling, is engaged in a three cornered fight with the veterans, Windy Miller and Leonard Umms, for the other guard position, Miller holding an advantage. Neither Benny Oakes nor Dick Wagner, regular tackles last year, have broken into the regular lineup for any length of time. Dick Hall, a 230 pounder, and Chuck Brown, sophomore, leading the fight for those positions.

End Candidates Plentiful

There are a host of candidates for ends, Frank Rokusek, regular last year, being fairly certain of one job. But he has plenty of competition in Ted Richards, his running mate in 1922, A. G. Hall and Shaw of the yearlings, Cord Lipe, Don Karnes and Bill Hansen of last year's reserves, and Emil Schultz, a fullback last season.

Suede Hall, a brother of the famous "Suede" who piloted the 1911 Illini, is the best bet at quarter. He is a junior, but was out of the game last year with injuries. Steve Coutebie and Rune Clark, who alternated at the job last year, are pressing him hard, however, while Howdy Bauer, a feet sophomore, has had several trials at this job.

Harold (Red) Grange, captain of last year's freshmen, is one of the prettiest backs seen on Illinois field in years, and seems certain of a regular job. Wally McEwain, regular in 1922, is getting plenty of work as his running mate, while Johnny Mauer, another sophomore, is also a strong possibility.

Britton Fullback Choice

Earl Britton of the yearlings is practically sure of the fullback job at present, although he has no meat opponents in Walter Crawford, also a sophomore, and Schultz, in case he is not used at end.

Coach Zuppke is driving his men to the limit these days, preparing them for the opening game with Nebraska October 6. He will be able to present a heavy line, averaging probably more than 150 pounds to the man, and some fleet and hard hitting backs, but with the number of new men in the lineup that present performances indicate will be in there, there are a lot of rough spots to be shined up.

POSTER ARTISTS TO MEET CINCINNATI, Oct. 5 (AP).—Many of the world's greatest artists, and art teachers in the world are expected here next week to attend the thirty-third annual convention of the Poster Advertising association. Approximately 1,500 delegates will be present.

The general public has been invited to attend all sessions in order that it may learn of what the poster people are trying to accomplish in their crusade for clean outdoor advertising. The organization, according to the officers, does not go in for the erection of bill boards but considers them an "abuse" of outdoor advertising.

Lot of President Has Ameliorated Since Olden Times

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP).—Modern presidents may have a large amount of routine work developing upon them, but there are some details, attended to regularly by their early predecessors that are hardly considered important enough nowadays to refer to the White House.

Among these, according to Charles Kohen, Washington philatelist and document collector, was the trifling detail of signing ship's clearance papers. Among a number of ancient documents Mr. Kohen recently picked up were two such clearances for small vessels, one signed "G. Washington," the other bearing the large, scrawly signature of John Adams.

The paper signed by Washington in September 1784 attested to the fact that the 52-ton schooner "Eliza" of New York was owned by citizens of the new nation and was duly allowed to set sail for the West Indies with a cargo of flour, hoops, onions, staves, shingles and sealings. The form was made out in English, French and Dutch.

The document signed by President Adams bore also as a countersign the signature of Timothy Pickens, secretary of state; was dated August, 1798; showed the proper nationality of the small sloop "Endeavor," and gave leave to depart from Portland, Maine to Demerarra, with a cargo of boards, oars, butter, fish, flour, tar, pitch and beef.

The most interesting section of these clearance papers was an attest at the bottom of the sheet praying that "Most Seren, Serene, Most Pleased, Pleasant, High, Illustrious, Noble, Honorable, Venerable, Wise and Prudent, Lords, Emperors, Kings, Republics, Princes, Dukes, Earls, Barons, Schepens, Judges, Councillors" and a long list of other officers "of all the good cities and places who shall see these presents or hear them read" to recognize the American registry.

Mr. Kohen has also a number of envelopes showing the difference in postal rates and speed of service since the early days of the post office. One contained a letter signed by James Madison as secretary of state, in 1804, to James Sheafe of Portsmouth, N. H., and bore a stamp showing the fee for the trip to have been ten cents. Another carried a letter from the recent Amundsen polar expedition, addressed to President Harding, which was sent by airplane mail to Nome, Alaska, and thence across the continent to Washington for 12 cents, including registration fee.

Another interesting document in this collection is one relating to the history of the famous Lord Fairfax, who was granted large estates in Virginia by the King of England during the early colonial history. Lord Thomas prayed the sheriff of London County, which adjoined his estates, to take into custody Ann Seaward who was charged with trespassing upon the Fairfax estate in 1763. According to the yellowed, torn manuscript, the said Ann had wrought damages estimated at 550 pounds, for which the said Lord Thomas required payment.

Nation Celebrates Invention of the Typewriter

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 5 (AP).—The recent nation wide celebration of the typewriter's fiftieth anniversary, under conceivably similar circumstances might have been one in which Iowa could have taken a large part. As it turned out, however, Iowa has no part in the manufacture of typewriters and the part it played in the earlier development of the "writing machine" is all but forgotten.

Forty years ago, a man named Dennis, who lived in Des Moines, invented the "duplex" typewriter, with common combinations such as "th" and "at" to form the words. If an operator wished to write the word "that" he could do it with two strokes on his machine. George A. Jewett, pioneer lumber man of Des Moines, then a young lumber yard proprietor, helped Dennis patent his machine and loaned him financial assistance, but the machine was found to be impractical.

After its failure, Jewett obtained the rights to the patents, and adapted whatever of its principles he could to another machine which he called the Jewett. In 1893 the Jewett was put on the market. It was made in a Des Moines factory which employed 200 men and was by far the largest industrial plant of its days in this city, if not in the state.

The Jewett machine was taken to the Chicago world's fair, where it won the highest award, a gold medal and diploma. The company which manufactured the typewriter was made up of small stockholders. Mr. Jewett himself did not have enough money available to finance the whole business and the stock was sold in small shares to persons of average means. Its manufacture boomed after its recognition at the world's fair and in 10 years Mr. Jewett made ten trips to Europe to introduce it abroad. The plant was manufacturing 20 machines a day, which retailed at from $85 to $125. The higher priced machine wrote in two languages. Mr. Jewett succeeded and Joseph L. Dean of Sioux City was elected. The decision in favor of Lehmkuhl for vice-president was unanimous. B. D. Panth was chosen for the office of secretary-treasurer. P. A. Stover, president of last year's junior class, was in charge of the meeting.

SENIOR ENGINEER'S ELECTION YESTERDAY

At the meeting of the senior engineers yesterday afternoon, class officers were elected. Lehmkuhl, Eaton, Dean, and Sloan were nominated for the office of president,

SPEAKING OF WORLD'S SERIES MARKS, REULBACH SET ONE THAT STILL STANDS

Will the coming Yankee-Giant battle for the world's championship see one pitching mark that has stood for seventeen years go by the boards? The mark referred to is the one-hit game hung up by Ed Reulbach of the Cubs in 1906—the only one-hit game pitched in the fall classic to date, and the nearest approach to a no-hit game. Five men have hurled two-hit contests—Walsh, Brown, Plank, James and Hoyt.

ed in selling his machine to the governments of Russia, and France and shortly before the Russian-Japanese war department adopted it.

But this prosperity was too good to last. Big eastern concerns, members of what even in those days was called the "typewriter trust," sent agents to Des Moines, who bought up the stock of the company from the small shareholders and gained control. The factory was closed and many of the machine's features were incorporated in New England made machines.

Class elections of the sophomores resulted in the choice of the following men: A. J. Grother, Omaha, Nebraska; vice president, R. S. Dorcas, Iowa City; secretary and treasurer, L. E. Fry, Iowa City.

The freshmen also completed the organization of their class by selecting Theodore Graf of Independence as president, Roger Brown of Iowa City as vice-president, C. B. Meyers of West Liberty, treasurer, and Simeon Eppel of Iowa City, secretary.

HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN DANCES WITH SERVANTS

ABERDEEN, Scotland, Oct. 5.—Queen Mary danced with six of her servants recently at the annual ball given by their majesties to the employees of the Royal Estate at Balmoral. The program, arranged by the Queen, did not contain a single fox-trot or one-step, and only two waltzes. The dances were Highland reels, eightsome reels, the reel of Tulloch, the flirtation polka, the Spanish gavotte and other dances of the pre-jazz era.

For the opening reel the Queen's partner was Arthur Grant, the veteran head-keeper at Balmoral. Her later partners were gillies on the royal estates.

The King and Prince Henry were there, but they did not dance. The Princess Royal, Princess Maud, Princess Alice and other royal ladies in the Queen's party followed the example of her majesty.

ROMANCE AND THE UNIVERSITY

IF the various pairs of passionate lovers who have helped to make history interesting were living today, no longer would it be necessary for them to hang around dilapidated balconies or steal away in the dead of night to enjoy their petting parties—the only thing they would have to do would be to matriculate in a state university. After that, life would be a bed of roses and no longer would they need worry about rendezvous, for there is no other environment quite so conducive to match-making as the campus of the co-educational institution.

The amatory experiences of a co-ed or a college man are frequently much more extensive than their adventures in the field of knowledge. On the campus the girl who is really envied most and who is considered the greatest social success is the one who has the most dates. Many a good athlete and many a leader is lost to distinction simply because he prefers to spend his time strolling with good-looking women. Lecture courses requiring no preparation, "pipe" courses, the desire just "to get by"—in too many cases all these things go to make too much leisure time for young men and women who do not know how to spend it wisely.

Good times between men and women are essential to a healthy society, but the university was not made for the purpose of being a matrimonial bureau. So long as social intercourse does not interfere with lessons and the scholastic life of the student, it is desirable, but when coming to the university is merely a rather convincing excuse for coming down to stir up a romance, it is time to revise the catalogue, for the real purpose of the university is missing its mark.

WORK FOR STUDENTS

A university in a small town has advantages that do not belong to the institution situated in the city. But it has its drawbacks as well. Not the least of these is the fact that a "University" town has little to offer to students who are earning their way. One third of the women and approximately half of the men here last year earned at least part of their way here last year. The percentage of those working would have been appreciably larger had there been work for all of those who wanted it.

months and the daily bag limit is twenty-five ducks, eight geese and eight brant, a club with a membership of 4,000 might kill a number of millions in a season.

Fortunately, Governor John M. Parker of Louisiana is an ardent friend of conservation and was interested in the establishment of the bird sanctuary which was made possible through the generosity of the Sage and Rockefeller Foundations. He may be counted upon to make a thorough investigation. Inasmuch as one of these interested in the proposed club, Edward A. McClenny, was also one of the principal movers in having the sanctuary established and has long been an ardent champion of game protection, friends of conservation are certain of having their pleas duly heard.

The importance of game refuges cannot be over-estimated. The increasing population, the spread of highly developed farming and industrial areas, the drainage of swamps and ponds, the automobile, the pump-gun and countless other factors hasten the extermination of game. Happily there are already many bird sanctuaries throughout the country. But these do not as yet afford sufficient shelter to compensate for the increasing annual destruction. The Game Refuge bill which was passed by the Senate last year but was defeated by a narrow majority in the House carried provisions for the purchase of further refuges as well as providing for the creation of the public shooting grounds under special supervision in order to prevent the small area of good shooting country not yet absorbed by big clubs from passing out of the hands of the public.

Unless everything possible is done within the next two or three years to promote the conservation of wild life, the prophecies of those who have been crying "Remember the buffalo!" are likely to be fulfilled. Who would have said in 1870 that in ten years the buffalo would be extinct? Our wild life today is vanishing more rapidly than ever. If killing in the neighborhood of game is facilitated, the last protection will be removed.

New Who's Who For Music Gives Clapp Mention

Life of Head of Music School Given in Detail

STUDIED IN EUROPE AND AT HARVARD

Has Taught at Harvard and at Dartmouth; Also Written Many Compositions

A descriptive article of considerable length is devoted to Professor Phillip G. Clapp, head of the school of music, in the last edition of the American Supplement of Grove's Musical Dictionary. The American supplement of Grove's famous "Dictionary of Music and Musicians" contains sketches of about 700 of the best known musicians and musical organizations of both North and South America from 1700 to the present time.

Professor Clapp became head of the university school of music in 1919. Under his management the school of music has been greatly enlarged. In fact by many students the progress made by this department is considered more rapid than that made by any other department during the same period.

The sketch of Professor Clapp contained in the American supplement of Grove's Musical Dictionary is as follows:

"Clapp, Phillip Greeley (Aug. 4, 1888, Boston), began lessons at six with an aunt, Mrs. Mary C. A. James. Later he studied piano and theory with J. F. Marshall and violin with Jacques Hoffman. He prepared for college at the Roxbury Latin school and at Harvard completed his course in three years, receiving his A. B. in 1908 magna cum laude. A large part of his course consisted of work in composition, orchestration, etc., offered in the musical department, chiefly under Spaulding. He remained for a fourth year, receiving the degree A. M. with highest final honors in music in 1909. He also won the Boot prize in 1907 for a concerted musical composition.

"For two years he was conductor of the Pierian Sodality, and was elected chorister by the class of 1909. In 1909-11 he studied in Europe as a Sheldon fellow in the university, emphasizing composition in Stuttgart with Schillings and the aesthetics of music at the British museum. In 1911 he received the degree of Ph.D. from Harvard, presenting original composition and a thesis on "Modern Tendencies in Musical Form."

"In 1911 he was assistant in music at Harvard; in 1912-14 instructor in music at the Middlesex school in Concord, Mass. In 1915-19 he was director of music at Dartmouth college, with leave of absence for service as band leader with the 73rd Artillery, A. E. F. in France. In 1919 he became professor of music at the State University of Iowa at Iowa City, Iowa.

"Since 1909 he has been a frequent contributor to the Boston 'Evening Transcript' on various musical subjects. In 1913 he conducted the Boston symphony orchestra for two weeks in the emergency caused by Kunwald's illness.

"His compositions include the tone poem 'Norge,' for orchestra and piano, written for the centennial of the Pierian Sodality in 1908 (also Boston Symphony Orchestra in 1909); a string quartet in C minor; the tone poem 'A Song of Youth,' for orchestra (privately given in Stuttgart in 1910 by the Court Orchestra, the composer conducting); a Dramatic Poem, for trombone and orchestra 1912, written to show the capacity of the Sax 7-valve trombone played by Modest Alloo, given by M. Alloo and the Pierian Sodality, the composer conducting; the orchestral prelude 'In summer' 1913, given in 1914 by the St. Louis Symphony orchestra; symphony in E-flat (1916) given in 1917 by the Boston symphony orchestra, the composer conducting; stage music for the pageant of the Massachusetts Agricultural college (1917, given in 1920); Symphony in A (1918-19); and several songs and part songs, a few with orchestral accompaniment."

"Old Chester Tales," by Margaret Deland is not a new book, but has had two reprints in the last year. After reading any amount of what is called the "modern" literature, in which life and living are great scientific and psychological problems, one will find "Old Chester Tales" very restful. In Old Chester, life is a religious duty. The problems in this town are those of simple, small town folks. The old maids in and about "Old Chester" are all just like those attached to any family today. Mrs. Barkley is a delightful mediator. Mrs. King is wonderfully efficient, and Mrs. Steele and Mrs. Smith are a couple of selfish mothers who antagonize even the reader. One has to like the Misses Jay and Wellwood whether one wants to or not. Willie King is a typical old-fashioned dispenser of good cheer and castor oil and Dr. Lavendar, for whom all the rest are mere background, is a really great character. He does not fear God, rather he loves and respects his creator as one who will not bring a new life into the world without looking for it when it gets here.

On the whole Dr. Lavendar and his group are a delightful change. Reading "Old Chester Tales" is like hearing the stories of your own home town when your grandfather was young.

Margaretta Tuttle, whose novel, "Feet of Clay," just published by Little, Brown & Company, seems destined to attract widespread attention. Miss Tuttle comes of five generations of writing folk. She was trained as a writer by her father, who was editor of "The Cincinnati Enquirer," for twenty years previous to his death. For a number of years she has been writing for "The Ladies Home Journal" and other prominent magazines.

The Middle West continues to offer inspiration to writers of first novels. Announcement has been made that the prize in Harper & Brother's $2000 prize novel competition has gone to Miss Margaret Wilson of Chicago, for her novel entitled "The Able McLaughlins."

The story deals with early Scotch settlers in a pioneer Iowa community. Miss Wilson's manuscript was one of over seven hundred submitted to the committee of judges. Among the judges were Henry Seidel Canby and Carl Van Doren.

Hotel Owner and 5 Negroes Indicted For Aiding Divorce

CHICAGO Oct. 5.—W. E. D. Stokes, wealthy New York hotel owner, Daniel Nugent, Stokes' New York counsel and five negroes were indicted for complicity by the Cook county grand jury today in connection with the charges of Mrs. Helen Ellwood Stokes that her husband and his agents conspired to injure her reputation and thus aid his divorce action in New York and keep her two children from sharing in his estate.

Immediately after the indictment the state's attorney's office announced, at the same time intimating that still indictments will be sought in connection with Mrs. Stokes' charges. Mrs. Stokes herself, who appeared before the grand jury yesterday, left today for New York to oppose her husband's action for divorce, scheduled to be heard on Monday.

Railroads Back To Old Sunday Excursions

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 6 (AP).—Railroad officials and others interested in present day transportation problems are watching with interest, the experiment of the Chicago Great Western railroad with the old-time Sunday excursion. Some other railroads have a similar plan under consideration, while a few officials have declared it belongs in the discard and that high passenger rates have little or no bearing on the passing custom of visiting friends or relatives in nearby cities over Sunday and making the trip by rail.

The first Sunday of the Great Western's rate reduction offered little by which officials might judge the experiment, owing to unfavorable weather conditions. The reduced rates are to be in effect again October 7 and 14. Some time then will elapse, according to W. L. Stealy, assistant general passenger agent, before the road will decide whether the excursions are to be continued.

Discussing the changing modes of travel and amusement, Harry Warren, district passenger agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, today said he did not hold the popular opinion that buses were cutting in on railroad business to any great extent. Widespread ownership of automobiles, he believed, had more to do with falling off in passenger business than any organized competitor with the roads. With a car to every few families, people nowadays plan their Sundays and holidays differently, but the longer distance travel on railroads is not affected greatly, he said.

Mr. Warren has recommended that the roads institute rates and schedules that would popularize the English week-end idea in this country, giving patrons an opportunity to travel at lower rates anytime between Saturday and Monday.

The decline in passenger business has not been abrupt, or on a large scale in any particular district, but has been a steady falling off with changing customs, passenger agents agree. Some of them say that few local trains, except suburban trains, now are being operated at a profit.

Y. W. C. A. Will Hold Picnic Wednesday To Take Place of Weekly Vesper Service; 76 Have Signed On Bulletin Board

In place of the regular Wednesday vesper service the Y. W. C. A. will hold a picnic October 10th in the city park. Everybody is invited to come to the park at 5:00 o'clock whether he is a member of the Y. W. or not. This will furnish a good way to get acquainted, and especially to get the new girl acquainted to form new friendships.

Already 76 girls have signed up at the Y. W. bulletin board, and Miss Buck wants all those who intend to go to have their names on the list by Monday if possible. Each one will be assessed 20 cents, and will be held responsible for this whether she goes or not. The success of the whole affair depends upon you, so get busy and sign up! Bring your friends.

Esther Van Chase A2 of Iowa City has charge of the Wednesday vesper services, and is this week chairman of the committee in charge of the picnic. Those she has appointed to help her are Helen Larson A2 of Stanton, who is taking care of the refreshments; Helen Criley A2 of Ottumwa; Helen Barback A3 of Iowa City; Camilla Spera A3 of Des Moines; and Grace Walker A4 of Waukon.

Demand is Great for Second Hand Books at Y. W. Exchange

"All those who have left books at the Y. M. C. A. second hand book exchange may call and get their checks." This is the word from Edward Piper A4 of Iowa City, who has had charge of the sale of second hand books. An unusually large demand for second hand books was made, which more than outdid the supply offered for sale. This large demand was especially evident in courses in English, History, Political Science and Economics.

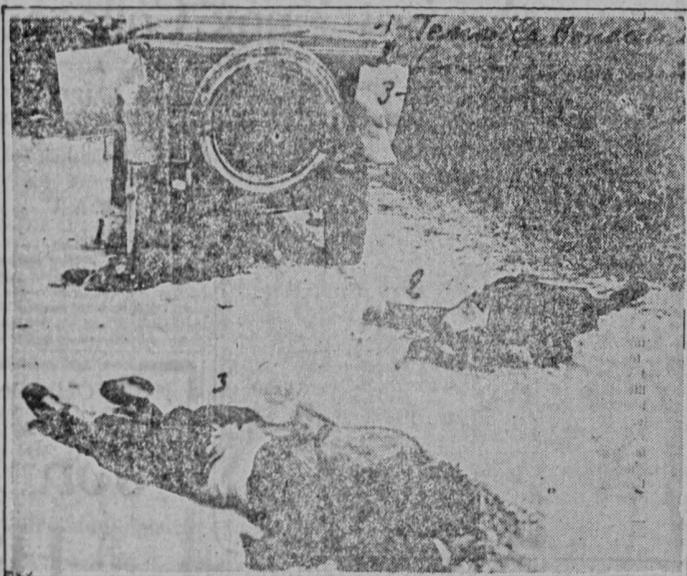

Through the agency of the Y. M. C. A. second hand book exchange students are enabled to turn their old books over to those needing them at a fair price. New students are enabled to buy books cheaper than they could buy them elsewhere. For the service rendered by the book exchange in getting seller and buyer together, a commission of 10 per cent is charged the seller. This small amount is a very reasonable fee to pay for the service performed.

Parent-Teacher Association Holds Meeting at Library

The Council of the Mother's Congress and Parent-Teacher association of Iowa City, held a meeting in the public library, Wednesday evening October 3, at 7 o'clock. The president, Mrs. Ernest Horn, conducted the meeting.

The attention of the council was called to the biennial convention of the state organization which will be held in Sioux City November 6, 7, 8, and 9. Important business was discussed at the meeting, and a new constitution drawn up. Miss Kate Kiekham, who attended the world's conference of education held this summer in San Francisco, gave an interesting report of the convention.

This picture shows the gruesome results of the act which almost precipitated a world war. It was taken on the spot where five members of the Albanian boundary commission, Italians, were assassinated from ambush.

Italy accused Greeks of the murder and demanded what Greece called "humiliating" indemnity. Greece refused to accede to the demands for a time. International students feared a war involving at least all of Europe. The writing on the photo above was made by the photographer who took the picture, which has just reached the U. S.

The council plans to hold the regular fall meeting of the local organization some time soon. The date for this event will be definitely announced later, and all members notified. The council consists of the officers of each association, the principals of the schools, and the city superintendent.

The following officers were elected for the coming year. Mrs. A. C. Meyer, president; Mrs. Irene Fousak, vice president; Miss Jess M. Hotz, secretary; Mr. H. L. Ballenger, treasurer.

25 Legionnaires Represent Iowa At Convention

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 5.—Twenty-five delegates will represent the Iowa department of the American Legion auxiliary at the organization's national convention, to be held at San Francisco in conjunction with the national convention of the Legion. Many other Iowa women prominent in the auxiliary are expected to attend.

Mrs. Carrie G. M. Hunter, state president, will be chairman of the delegation. Some of the delegates are planning to travel to the convention city in a special car to be started out of Davenport, and which will carry the Davenport uniform drill team. Others will travel on the "rail car specials" being made up by various legion groups.

The department headquarters has mailed a check for $150 to each delegate, to cover traveling expenses. At San Francisco, numerous events have been planned for the Iowa delegates. An effort is to be made to have the national convention adopt the uniform of the Davenport unit as the official dress of all drill teams.

The delegates are: Mrs. Hunter, president of Newton; Mrs. C. S. McCung of Tipton; Esther G. Kennedy of Davenport; Mrs. G. W. MacDowell of Story City; Mrs. Alla Coan of Sioux City; Mrs. C. C. Bullock of Clarinda; Mrs. A. W. Hinderman of Wapello; Mrs. J. F. Benson of Davenport; Mrs. Harry Utley of Manly; Mrs. J. B. Clark of Hampton; Mrs. Agnes Heilig of Mason City; Mrs. W. H. Fox of Waucoma; Mrs. F. G. Reimann of Cedar Rapids; Mrs. Paul Samberg of Durant; Miss Frances Benninger of Marion; Mrs. Millie S. Heffner of Signatory; Mrs. A. H. Hoffman of Des Moines; Mrs. U. F. Stever of Creston; Mrs. Max Holt of Woodbine; Mrs. George Alexander of Griswold; Mrs. F. H. Cooney of Carroll; Mrs. W. H. James of Boone; Mrs. Martha McGowan of Whedon; Mrs. Frank E. Muralin of Cherokee; and Mrs. B. J. Baker of Spencer.

Government Still Seeks Employes by the Thousand

Doctor Laur called upon the congress to sponsor the foundation of a commission. It is all right for Swiss cheese to be well supplied with holes but there can be a condition of too much hole and not enough cheese, said Prof. R. Burri, director of the Swiss dairy and research station, another speaker. He said that experiments with green fodder silage as feed for cows had failed because the cheese produced from their milk had an excessive number of large holes, due to the peculiar fermentation caused by the silage feed.

To meet the normal turnover, which in a tremendous force like the government's is necessarily large, the commission held examinations in the year ending June 30, 1923, for more than six hundred different kinds of positions, in which more than 200,000 persons competed. Present indications are that the number for this fiscal year will be as great. A study of the examinations held during the past two years reveals an interesting range of positions all the way from charwoman and laborer for which the primary requirement is good physical condition, to those which demand qualifications of a very high order, such as agricultural transportation economist at a salary of $4,000 to $5,500, and mechanical and electrical engineer at a salary of $5,000.

Says World Markets Affect Price of Milk

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 5 (AP).—An international commission with the power to fix the retail price of milk and to control in some degree its production was proposed at the world's dairy congress today by Dr. E. Laur, director of the Swiss dairy union.

The price of raw milk is strongly influenced by the prices of butter, cheese and condensed milk, Dr. Laur said. These are commodities of international commerce and consequently the price of milk is influenced by the world markets. While the commerce in milk products is internationally organized, milk producers are not and as a result the price of milk in many countries does not cover the cost of production, he declared.

Urging an organization that would permit an active exchange of views on all that is of interest concerning the international marketing of milk.

Iowa Has Light Finishing Drill

Drill on passing formations with Fry, Parkin, and Yerkes twirling the oval characterized Hawkeye practice last night. The squad warmed up with punting practice. Fisher and Hancock, Graham, Fischer and Dauber got off some nice kicks.

Coach Jones worked with the first string and Locke and Shuttleworth with the seconds. Coach Jones gave the men a long talk on various plays, then wound up the evening with a snappy signal drill.

The usual first team were in their places and virtually everyone was nailing the passes. Krasuski seemed to be getting down fast and holding everything within reach. Fry was accurate and got his passes off nicely.

The Knox team arrived at midnight last night. The following twenty-one men made the trip here: Adams, Negley, Trevor, Harrison, Doocy, Verner, Nelson, Stuart, Hermetet, Simpson, Senn, Tucker, Landes, Huggins, Landes, Young, Holmes, Imig, Morrison, Scott and Eckman.

Two Frosh Teams to Meet Varsity

Scott Selects Men for Iowa Field Drill

Took First Practice Last Night; To Learn Special Plays

Twenty-two freshmen football players, the pick of the 110 freshmen team candidates who turned out for the initial practice a week ago have been selected by Coach Homer Scott to continue their work on Iowa field and prepare to meet the varsity in scrimmages during the remainder of the season.

These men will leave the major part of the yearling squad which practices nightly on the west side field and will receive special training from the freshman mentor. The remaining seventy candidates who are still practicing will continue their work on the west side field under the direction of Coach Scott's four assistants. As soon as any of those left on the west side field show improvement they will be transferred to Iowa field and used against the varsity.

The two teams selected by Scott include a number of players who won considerable recognition in high school football last fall. These two teams will be taught the formations of Iowa's various conference opponents. As the Purdue, Illinois, Michigan and other games approach the freshman team which has been given the formations of these teams will scrimmage against the varsity.

Chicago Woman Gets in Finals

Women Play for National Golf Title Today

Edith Cummings Overcomes Almost Hopeless Handicap to Win Semi-Finals

By The Associated Press RYE, N. Y., Oct. 5.—A courageous golfing girl from Chicago, Miss Edith Cummings, pushed her way into the final round of the Women's National Golf championship today by overcoming an almost hopeless handicap and defeating Mrs. C. H. Vanderbrek of Philadelphia, conqueror of Glenna Collett, one up in twenty holes, with Mrs. Vanderbrek, dormie two, the Chicago girl won the 17th with perfect golf, squared the match at the eighteenth with an eight foot putt down hill, and won at the twentieth when her opponent missed her tee shot.

In the final round tomorrow, a grueling test at 36 holes, the Chicago girl will meet Alexia Stirling, three time champion, who eliminated today Mrs. Elizabeth Hardin Goss, of Baltusrol, N. J., two up, after a close round in which Mrs. Goss always was pressing on her heels. Miss Stirling, the experts believe, is the world's greatest woman player over the 36-hole route, but Miss Cummings is at the height of a game that has been improving through the years.

THEY'LL CATCH IT IF GIANTS HIT OR MISS IT

It'll be a tough world's series for these boozers. They'll catch it no matter what happens. If the Giants miss the shoots the Yankee hurlers put across said shoots will fall into the capable hands of one of these three. And if McGraw's ginks start swatting the Yankee pitchers the catchers will "catch it" for calling for the wrong ones. Oh, death, where is they strikeout?

Cummings is at the height of a game that has been improving through the years.

Has Improved Rapidly Miss Cummings has played in four national tournaments since 1919. In that year she was eliminated by Mrs. W. A. Gavin of England in the first round. In 1920 she fell a victim to Alexia Stirling in the second round. She did not qualify in the 1921 tournament, but last year she reached the semi-finals only to be eliminated 2 up by Glenna Collett, who won the title in the final by defeating Mrs. Gavin.

Miss Stirling first became the champion in 1916 on the Belmont Spring course at Waverly, Mass., defeating Mrs. Gavin six and five. Her third championship came at the Mayfield club, Cleveland, where she defeated Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, in the final, by four and three.

3rd Round of Women's Tennis Tournament Starts Monday

The third round of the single matches in the women's tennis tournament must start Monday in order that the tournament sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association may be finished on schedule time, according to Victoria M. Boyles A4 of Iowa City, who is in charge. All girls entered in the tournament must play their matches promptly and chalk up the results on the bulletin board in the women's gymnasium. One tennis court at the men's gymnasium is being reserved for the use of the players.

In the second round of the singles, Genevieve Harter A2 of Keokuk won from Genevieve Davis by a score 6-1, 6-2. Victoria M. Boyles A4 of Iowa City defeated Ann Doornink A3 of Sioux Center 6-0, 6-2. Miss Boyles is scheduled to play against Evelyn Harter A3 of Keokuk in the third round today. Helen Spencer, A4 of Dubuque, who won from Catherine Copeland by default is scheduled to play against Frances Schreurs. Amy Louis Benner A4 of Keokuk, who defeated Francis Day 7-5, 6-4, 8-6, will play Marie Herzer A2 of Des Moines.

Double tennis matches will start Saturday morning, and the first round matches must be concluded by Tuesday of next week.

An Honest Statement Regarding
DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS
IN
"The Mark of Zorro"

In the presentation of "The Mark of Zorro", we wish to quietly call your attention to the fact that we have in store for you one of the rarest entertainments ever filmed.

We are going to ask you to cast out of your thought for the time being any previous experiences you have had regarding glowing promises from unscrupulous press agents.

All we want you to do is to take the following honest statement seriously, in the sincere light in which it is intended:

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS in "THE MARK OF ZORRO" is the best picture Douglas Fairbanks has ever made, from the standpoint of straight entertainment value. His "Robin Hood" and "Three Musketeers" cost more money to produce, is true, but WE BOTH KNOW that big sets and lavish costumes do not necessarily create that indefinite illusion known as REAL ENTERTAINMENT.

Yost Announces Lineup for Game With Case Today

Wolverines Will Open Season With Old Time Rival

YOST TO SCOUT OHIO GAME; WIEMAN IS BOSS

Kipke and Uteritz Slated to Direct Wolverines in Opener

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 5 (Special).—Coach Fielding H. Yost, Michigan's veteran coach, today announced the probable line-up of the men who will in all probability start the opening game of the season tomorrow on Perry Field with Case school of Cleveland.

In selecting the men who will start, Coach Yost stated that an entirely new line-up would be in the game before the close which would be practically equal strength with the starting lineup. Competition is very keen for every position on the Michigan line-up this year and it is quite likely that several changes will be made before the season closes. Slaughter returned to the squad this week having made up his scholastic deficiencies.

Witherspoon will be given a chance at left end before the game is finished. Babcock will see action at left tackle, Ames and Swan at left guard, Brown and Wall at center, White andagle at right guard, Donnelly at right tackle, Palmer and Nelsch at right end, Rockwell and Parker at quarterback, Heston and Vick at left half, Grube at full back and Herrstein, will get a chance at right half.

Wilson in Charge
Coach Yost will be in Columbus tomorrow making final arrangements for handling the tremendous crowd that will attend the Michigan-Ohio State game October 29, and he will also attend the Ohio State-Ohio Wesleyan game in the afternoon. The Michigan team will be in charge of Line Coach "Bud" Wilson.

Opening Day Fixture
The game with Case school has opened the Michigan schedule for the past twenty-five years and has become a fixture for the opening day. Tickets will be sold at the gate and the game will be called at 2:30 p. m. central standard time.

Following is the way they will line up tomorrow:

Illini Tackles Nebraska Today

Injuries Force Zupke To Use Third String

Cornhuskers Are One Pound Lighter Than Revised Illinois Lineup

By The Associated Press
URBANA, Ill., Oct. 5.—Illinois will open its gridiron season against Nebraska here tomorrow with a third string center. It was announced this morning that an injury to Gil Roberts would keep him out of play for a week.

Vivian Green, regular last year, has been out of the game for two weeks. Leonard Umms, guard, who has had some work at center the last week, is Coach Bob Zupke's choice to fill the gap.

The Cornhuskers arrived this evening. They are one pound lighter than the revised Illinois lineup. The lineups are:

Legion Boys to Stage American Olympic Games

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5 (AP)—Athletes from all parts of the United States will compete in the American Olympic games to be staged here October 15-19 as part of the athletic program of the American Legion 1923 national convention. The list of events include a national track and field meet, basketball, golf series, tennis tourney, football and baseball, swimming meet, rifle shoot, and exhibition of boxing and wrestling.

A. P. Lott, chairman of the American Legion national athletic commission, who is here to assist in the preparation of the athletic program, announces that Charlie Padock, Brookings, Jole Ray, Clarence De Mar, and other famous sprinters will compete in the Olympiad.

McTigue is Ready for Another Bout

Willing to Meet Young Stribling Again

Champion and Referee Leave Georgia After Narrow Escape at Ring

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 5.—Mike McTigue, light heavyweight champion, Joe Jacobs, his manager, and Harry Ertle, referee, tonight were en route to New York after spending a few hours here today and relating the thrilling events of yesterday and last night in Columbus, Ga., where the world's light heavyweight title hung in an unsteady balance some hours after McTigue and Young Stribling, of Macon, Georgia, fought a ten round bout.

The party's departure from Columbus was precipitated and the fighter and his companions rested here today. They came through the country early this morning in automobiles, accompanied by four military guards.

Called Draw at First
Arriving here, Referee Ertle declared he originally had called the McTigue-Stribling fight a draw and declared that he had reversed himself by awarding the title to the challenger. Three hours after the fight the referee issued a signed statement calling the fight a draw and leaving the championship with McTigue. Then the party left Columbus.

McTigue and Ertle both said they had been intimidated. The champion said he was willing to give the Macon high school boy challenger another chance at his title.

Wisconsin Has New Coach, New Men, Plenty of Fight

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 6 (Special).—While Wisconsin fans are making no claim to the Big Ten conference championship, they are looking forward to seeing one of the best fighting gridiron eleven which has ever represented the University of Wisconsin.

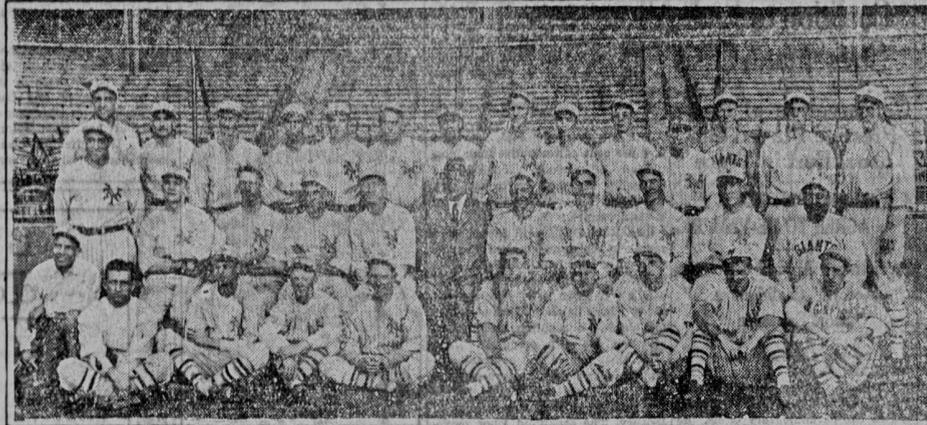

A new head coach, Jack Ryan, and many new men give at least new life to the team. Other conference coaches have a number of their letter men back; Wisconsin has only Martin Below, left tackle and captain of the team, and Merrill Taft, fullback.

The return to school of Harold Holmes, flashy open field runner whose career on the gridiron was nipped in the bud here in 1921 by old man ineptness, has boosted the Badger stock considerably. Jack Harris, out most of the season last year on account of injuries, will undoubtedly be Holmes' running mate, and with Taft between them, they promise to present one of the fastest backfields in the conference.

The wing positions are Coach Jack Ryan's chief worry. While Irish and Nelson are starting the season in these positions, Ryan has expressed himself as far from pleased.

The Badgers expect to dispose of Coe college of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, without difficulty, but fear the strength of the Michigan Aggies who play here on October 13.

THE GIANT TEAM WHICH HOPES TO LAND THIRD WORLD'S SERIES FLAG

John McGraw, with nine National league pennants hung in his den, is now prepping his Giant team to capture the third consecutive world's series pennant to add to his collection. Two victories over the rival Yankees have given the team plenty of confidence, but McGraw is aware that good pitching counts as much as confidence. This group of the Giant team was taken since they clinched the National league bunting. McGraw leads Connie Mack as a pennant winner by two flags.

Chicago is Short 6,647 Babies, Reports Indicate

CHICAGO, Oct. 5 (AP)—With a steadily declining birth rate, Chicago is "short" 6,647 babies since 1916, according to statistics issued by the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago.

In 1916, when the population of the city was only 2,517,173, 56,417 babies were born. In 1922, when the population figure was placed at 2,830,000, only 56,724 babies were born. The rate during those years had fallen from 22.4 thousand to 20.02. Using these figures as a basis, Orlo F. King, Extension Secretary of the Infant Welfare Society declared that Chicago is short 6,647 babies.

"The falling of the birth rate," said Mr. King, "is forcibly driving home to the public spirited citizens of Chicago the increasing necessity of guarding the human life that is given us each year even more zealously than in the past. It is all the more important to preserve the infant lives in this community when we believe, and with good reason, that the birth rate will continue to drop as it has since 1898."

Cedar Rapids Men Run Over Course

Fourteen Tigers Hope to Win Interscholastic October 13

With hopes of another victory already in their minds Captain Howard Cook and thirteen members of the Cedar Rapids high school cross-country squad visited Iowa City yesterday and ran over the one and seven-eighths mile course that will be used for the second annual interscholastic cross-country run to be held here October 13.

The other members of the Cedar Rapids team who participated in the workout were: Emmett Murray, Robert Little, Maurice Otson, Louis Lawrence, Gene Klink, Emmett Hutchinson, Erwin Wanta, Edward Novak, Willard Baumgartner, Donald Noll, Franklin Johnson, Merritt Thompson and Stanley Nemeck.

White Sox Lose To Cleveland 6-1

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 5.—Cleveland won the first of its final series with Chicago today 6 to 1. Shantz held the White Sox to seven hits, while Cleveland wasted many of its seventeen hits off Thurston and Levette. Because of cold weather only a handful of fans viewed the contest.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 5.—(AP)—The Tigers won the first game of the series with the St. Louis Browns this afternoon, 9 to 1. Cole, despite the chilly weather, held the Browns to four hits.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Walter Johnson closed his seventeenth major league campaign today by striking out twelve Boston batters, a record for the season in the American league; Johnson also holds the major league record for strikeouts, his total now extending well over the three thousand mark. The veteran defeated Boston 4 to 2, driving out a triple and a double. Errors accounted for both Boston runs. Washington also won the second game 8 to 4, a loosely played contest.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The New York Yankees today turned back the Athletics 8 to 4. Babe Ruth gained a notch on Cy Williams of the Phillies in their spirited slugger race by polling out his 40th home run. The clout which followed Dugan's homer in the third inning put Ruth within one of his Philadelphia rival with two games to go.

Announce List of Eight Practice Tennis Matches

Coach Van Der Zee announces the drawings for the preliminary matches which he has arranged between tennis team candidates for the purpose of getting a line on the men. These matches are to be played off at once and the scores posted in the office of Mr. E. G. Schroeder immediately after completion of the matches. The drawings are as follows:

MacLoughlin vs. Swartz, Chafon vs. Kohl, Eriely vs. Dorsey, Kay vs. O'Neil, Gordon vs. Walland, Lloyd vs. Graves, Sunstrom vs. Casson, Swensen vs. Phillips.

If there are any men who would like to compete in these practice matches they should sign up in the office of Mr. Schroeder at once.

The team that will meet Coe in the opening match of the season will be selected by Coach Van Der Zee by this method.

The new wire backdrops are fast nearing completion, and the courts east of the gymnasium should be in shape by the first of next week.

REFEREE PAID BY FIGHTER
COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 5 (AP)—The McTigue-Stribling boxing "fiasco" here yesterday, in which the world's heavy weight championship swung back and forth like a clock pendulum had a new angle added tonight, when Major John Paul Jones, who led promotion of the fight for the local post of the American Legion, stated he had in his possession a contract showing that Harry Ertle, the referee, was in the employ of McTigue.

Iowa City High and West Branch To Battle Today

One of Hardest Games On Season's Schedule

"LITTLE HAWKS" HAVE THREE INJURED MEN

Two Quarterbacks Out With Twisted Ankles Halfback Has Torn Ligament

With two quarterbacks suffering from twisted ankles and a halfback with a torn ligament, Iowa City High will meet West Branch this morning in what promises to be one of the hardest fought games of the prep school season. Boyles, who was kept out of last Saturday's game by a bad ankle, will enter the game in a patched up condition if he is able to go at all. Strickler, Coach H. C. Soucek's other choice for quarterback, is also nursing a bad ankle, sustained in scrimmage during the fore part of the week.

Since the Lone Tree victory Coach Soucek has been drilling the "Little Hawks" in several formations as well as in fundamentals. Three scrimmages coupled with back field practice in passing, going down under punts, blocking, and kicking occupied the first part of the week. For kickers Coach Soucek has two able men in Carson and Dalton, with Dalton having a shade the better of it.

Little is known of the visitors except that they have only three or four of last year's team left. Of these, Johnson, a tackle is expected to prove troublesome. The West Branch game last year went to the local team by a 9 to 0 score. The men who will start today's game for Iowa City High are: C. Reesler; L. G. Hostetter; R. G. Lindley; R. T. Capt. Little; L. T. Gardner; R. E. Stimmans; L. E. Goldman; R. H. Dalton or Brown; L. H. Titus; F. Carson; Q. Strickler or Boyles.

Jury Gives Walsh $1440 and Interest

Judge Also Rules in Favor of F. R. Potter Against W. J. McDonald

After two days of hearing, Judge Popham brought the Thomas E. Walsh v. M. E. Gieson case to a close by directing the jury to return the verdict in favor of the plaintiff. Hart and Hart, attorneys for the plaintiff, attempted to collect $1440 for Mr. Walsh, while the defendant held that $540 should be credited on the bill. The court found the entire amount for the plaintiff and interest on it at eight per cent from January 1, 1923.

In the same court the judge ruled in favor of F. R. Potter against W. J. McDonald in a petition at law case.

The court has excused the jury until October 15 when the criminal cases will be assigned.

Twenty Prospects Out for Gym Team

Bailey, Kelley and Nicoll Only Veterans on Squad

Twenty men have reported to gymnastic Coach Baumgartner and plans are under way for the formation of a gymnastic team which will hold its own with the other schools in the conference. The work this week has been light, with the real work scheduled for next week. Only three veterans returned among whom are Lyle Bailey of Marion who swings the Indian clubs and performs on the side horses and parallel bars; L. H. Kelley of Walla Walla Washington, whose specialty is the horizontal and parallel bars. He is also a tumbler of more than ordinary ability, and is counted upon to win points in this event. Coach Baumgartner has another good tumbler in Nicoll, who also performs creditably on the parallel bars.

Other men who have reported and who have impressed the coach favorably are: Ted Standers, R. M. Houston, G. I. Faust, C. Drake, C. A. Noe, LeRoy Pfeffer and C. W. Carth. These men all have possibilities and are expected to be heard from later in the season. Coach Baumgartner is anxious to have more men on the squad, as the success of the team is determined largely by the number trying out for places on the team. Beginners are especially urged to report as these men often develop into stars if they are interested in the work. The team meets every day between the hours of 4 and 6 p. m., and will continue to do so for at least a week.

Revival of Defunct Coalition to End Stresemann Crisis

Conservation of Party Prestige Played Unusual Part in Truce

4 WARRING PARTIES AGREE TO RE-VAMPING

Predictions Around Reichstag Accord Coalition a Short Existence

By The Associated Press BERLIN, Oct. 5.—A resuscitation of Chancellor Stresemann's defunct four party coalition tonight put an end to the parliamentary crisis, the mysterious origin of which is only exceeded in novelty by its baffling solution. In that the four warring parties virtually agreed there had been no ground for disagreement three days ago and that a revamping of the coalition was the only way out of the dilemma.

Conservation of party prestige, emoluments of public office and concern over political patronage are declared to have played an unusual part in the inter-party truce, which was preceded by a day of bartering and jockeying for position. The coalition leaders apparently preferred to risk their immediate political future by giving the four party bloc another tryout at taking a chance of being eliminated from the nation's affairs through the advent of the dictatorship with which they were threatened.

Chancellor Stresemann succumbed to the partisan onslaught and completely jettisoned his earlier plan of defiance to the reichstag by confronting it with a restricted ministry of non-partisan experts which would have been invested with extraordinary authority by virtue of dictatorial decree.

Predictions around the reichstag accord the resurrected coalition a short parliamentary existence. It is declared the present methods of solution will have inevitable sequel in the nature of a dictatorial regime, without which it is now commonly believed an effective salvaging of Germany's chaotic economy is inconceivable.

Democracy Grows Slowly -- Pettit

Labor Problem Forms Lecture Topic

Traces Development of Labor From Primitive Times to Present

The main purpose of organized labor is to establish the same principles in industrial life that lie at the foundation of the national government, according to Rev. T. J. Pettit, pastor of the Epworth Methodist church of Ft. Dodge, Ia., in a speech at the Chamber of Commerce rooms last night.

The Rev. Pettit traced the life history of the laborer from a state of slavery to its present status, and declared this to be parallel to the progress of democratic government.

"All governments began with some form of monarchy," he said, "but after much strife it developed, in the process of time into some form of democracy. Democracies or the democratic idea grow as people come to realize the value of human life as compared to the value of material things."

Revered Pettit stated that three fundamental points were to be considered in discussing the rise of the common man. These are: Where the worker came from, where he is now, and where he is headed. He then recounted the slow steps of the laborer from the dark days of slavery. "Centuries before the advent of the Christian era," he pointed out, "it was the custom of the strong to kill their captives, but as work became necessary, it became the practice to retain them for menial labor."

"At one time," he said, "seventy-five per cent of the entire male population of Greece consisted of slaves". He went on to say that the same thing was true in the old Roman empire.

The Rev. Pettit said the peasant revolt in England marked the beginning of the break down of the old system. At this time the peasant was given three privileges: that of living where he chose, that of choosing his own occupation, and that of selecting his own employer.

He then told of the contract system and the sorrowful days of feudalism, and how they slowly led to the development of the nineteenth century. The organized labor movement that existed under a definite name came into being in 1864 in England and was called the International Working Men's association. He stated further that about this time the negro slaves were being freed in America and the American laborer was just awakening to the fact that he was little more than a slave. This led to the founding of the National Labor Union of America in 1866.

"This," the speaker said, "was broken on the rock of politics in 1872. In the meantime, in 1869, the Knights of Labor, one big union, was organized but this soon died. Finally, in 1881, the American Federation of Labor was organized as a federation of the various crafts; it has grown rapidly until it now numbers approximately five million of workers."

The speaker outlined the outstanding benefits that are derived from the unionization of labor: (1) The securing of weekly and bi-weekly pay days with money—not script; (2) the establishment of sanitary laws; the abolition of child labor and the sweating system; (4) the reduction of working hours; (5) the increase in wages; (6) the showing more clearly to the public than by any other means the danger of monopoly; (8) the ability of the worker to regard himself as a man—not a tool; (9) the introduction of the spirit of American democracy in industry.

"Moreover," he said, "it was through the efforts of organized labor that the profit sharing plans came before the people. Now there over eight hundred concerns in the United States that are operating under some sort of profit sharing plan, and to the satisfaction of all concerned."

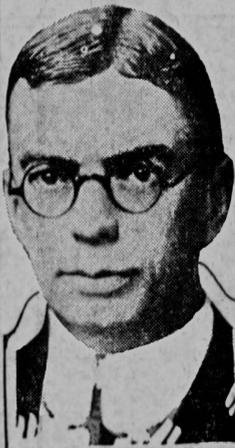

In conclusion Rev. Pettit said that the outlook was brighter now than ever before for the working man. This was due, he said, to the understanding that now exists between the farmer and the craftsman. Never before have these two groups realized that their interests were common.

Here the speaker ridiculed the idea that is abroad that the union man is a gunman. "Guns," he said, never have been resorted to by the legitimate organized labor movement, and when it does resort to such means its sun will begin to set at that minute. Let the guns stay in the army where they belong."

Yankee Pitching Stars May Turn Big Series Tide

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—In their third attempt to win the world's baseball championship the New York Yankees will be aided by a staff of pitchers rated second to none in either of the major leagues.

Herbert J. Pennock, lefthander; Samuel Pond Jones, righthander, and J. Robert Shawkey, righthander, have been the Yankees' three best bets on the hurling mound. Waite Hoyt has had a good season, finishing well up on the winning side and Leslie Joseph Bush, while erratic at times, won a majority of his games. Carl Mays, the underhand fliker, was not up to his best form and had little to do.

It is unlikely that Mays will be started in the series, and it is probable that Bush, the fork-ball man may be only used in emergency. Pennock, Jones, Shawkey and Hoyt appear as likely mainstays and may work in that order.

An interesting sidelight in connection with the Yankee hurling corps is that every one of them first emerged to the limelight of stardom with the Boston Red Sox or the Philadelphia Athletics.

Pennock, who led the American League pitchers through the 1922 season, became a member of Connie Mack's Athletics in 1912 and remained with the team until 1915 when he went to the Red Sox. He was acquired by the Yankees from the Boston club in a trade last spring in exchange for several youngsters.

Jones, called "Sad Sam," played with Cleveland in 1914 and 1915 but 1916 found him with the Red Sox, where he remained until 1921. The Yankee tradesmen were busy again that year and "Sad Sam" became a New Yorker. He wasn't at his best in 1922, but 1923 brought him back to the top and he has done everything in the pitching line, including a no-hit game against the Athletics and some other almost as good.

Shawkey was a member of the Athletics from 1913 to 1915. He came to the Yankees in 1915 when Colonel Ruppert and Huston began building up their star combination and has been regular ever since. His pitching arm worked exceptionally well this year.

Hoyt was taken fresh from high school in Brooklyn in 1918 and made a New York Giant. He warmed benches for McGraw and became a Red Sox in 1919. In 1921 he donned a Yankee uniform and was one of the stars of the season. He won two games and lost a close one in the 1921 world's series. He was more or less of an in-and-outer last year but regained some of his great form in 1923.

Dush, a mackman from 1912 to 1917 and a Red Stocking from 1918 to 1921 became a Yankee in 1922 in another New York-Boston trade. He was a star of stars in the 1922 season for the Yankees but a surprising failure in the world's series with the Giants.

Mays, with the Red Sox from 1914 to 1919, came to New York for the 1920 season.
