Manager Prewitt Announces Corps Of Jubilee Aids

Helpers Will Report To Start Work This Week

JUBILEE DATE NOT DEFINITELY DECIDED

7th Annual Jubilee Staged Under Direction of George Hurley

The seventh annual jubilee of the college of law will be presented sometime in the coming month of March. The production this year will be in charge of George O. Hurley, L. 2 of Rockwell, and Lester D. Prewitt, L. 2 of Forest City as business manager. Hurley, who is a prominent member of the University Players, is well known to the students of the University of Iowa, and can be depended upon to produce a real show.

In that den of iniquity, the smoke-room in the basement of the college of law, the air is permeated now-a-days with the aroma of fresh tobacco-smoke, the trenchant wit of comic comedians, and the zest of brilliant ideas; dreamy eyes under corrugated brows gaze off into space in quest of inspiration; wheezy gags are dusted off, only to be ruthlessly scuttled; brand new ideas are tenderly nursed, and budding talent is carefully recorded for future use.

Out of this chaos George O. Hurley is planning to put on the show of the school year. Active plans are well in hand, and various committees will report this week to start work on the many problems that will confront the embryo lawyers from now on until March.

The committees that are to produce this year's jubilee have been named by George O. Hurley, L. 2 of Rockwell, manager of production, and Lester D. Prewitt, L. 2 of Forest City, business manager. According to the managers, solicitation for material for the jubilee will start at once.

Finance: Hobart S. Dawson, L. 2 of Boone, Vista, chairman; Harry F. Larson, L. 2 of Sioux City, Leonard E. Johnson, L. 2 of Boone, Erwin C. Hawick, L. 2 and J. Fredrick Albeck, L. 2 of Washington.

Program: First year: Walter J. Dillon of Manson, Edward A. Doerr of Fort Madison, and Robert W. Cooper of Newton. Second year: James R. Gatewood of Marion, Loren D. Franz of Redfield, and Harold B. Claypool of North English. Third year: Martin D. Van Oosterhout of Orange City chairman, Donald D. Holdoged of Rockwell City, and Wayne C. Boland of Cedar Rapids.

Miller, L. 1 of Wapella, Edward F. Kennedy, L. 1 of Sibley, William A. McCullough, L. 2 of Iowa City, Franklin D. Trueblood, L. 2 of Belle Plaine, Ernest J. Fritchough, L. 2 of Sioux City, Hugh J. Tamsieia, L. 2 of Missouri Valley, Leon A. Grees, L. 2 of Arlington and Harold J. Keen, L. 2 of Hartley.

Rock Island Runs Minnesota Special

Fare and a Third for The Round Trip

Two Hundred Tickets Sold for Game; 200 More at Whet's

Arrangements have been made by the athletic department for a special train over the Rock Island to Minneapolis for the Minnesota-Iowa game on November 17. It is very probable, however, that a lower cut will be made.

The special will carry two pullmans for the football squad and both pullmans and chair cars for fans. If necessary a second section will be run.

The train will leave here Friday between eight and nine o'clock and will arrive in Minneapolis at six o'clock the morning of the game. It will leave Minneapolis about 10 p. m. Iowa headquarters at Minneapolis will be at the West hotel.

About 200 tickets have been sold here for the game. Mail orders from alumni are coming in fast. Although the tickets were to have been returned yesterday, about 200 have been held back by Kenneth Griffin, manager of ticket sales, and are on sale at Whet's.

The allotment sent to Iowa City are the best block in the stadium, being on the fifty-yard line. Advice from Minneapolis intimates that a record breaking crowd will witness the game, and that good seats will be difficult to secure at the last minute.

Muscatine Man is Killed by Train in West Liberty Yards

Ralph Smith of Muscatine, Iowa, was killed yesterday about 7:30 o'clock at West Liberty when he struck No. 9, the local westbound Rock Island passenger train at a grade crossing in West Liberty.

Smith was alone in the car when the accident occurred.

The morning local, which is due in Iowa City at 7:50 a. m. was not out of the West Liberty yards when the wreck happened. It appears that Smith was unable to stop his Ford at the crossing and crashed into the train. He was badly injured and died almost instantly.

Y. W. C. A. Council Picks Commission Of Frosh Wommen

Twenty Chosen from Preliminary List Of Forty

ELIMINATION PROCESS EMPLOYED BY COUNCIL

Commission Members to Act As Assistants to the Dean of Women

Members of this year's freshman commission were elected late yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. council after the final tea given in the honor of the new girls.

The new members of the council are: Ellen Kraushaar of Waverly, Louise Nelson of Des Moines, Mildred Eck of Des Moines, Virginia Ball of Iowa City, Frances Schreurs of Muscatine, Katherine Hutcheson of Rockwell, Marion Rambo of Ottumwa, Alice Cox of Montezuma, Ruth Tamsieia of Missouri Valley, Beatrice Messer of Hartley, Emily Patterson of Keokuk, Mary Lou Allen of Des Moines, Helen Beln of Davenport, Mary Paulson of Waterloo, Alberta Crozier of North Liberty, Dorothy Kane of Osage, Margaret Kahike of Chicago, Parmela Dulany of Sergeant Bluffs, Elinor Gamble of Jefferson, Verda Hood of Independence.

These new girls will be installed November 14 at 4:15 in the liberal arts drawing room at the regular vesper service of Y. W. C. A.

Freshman commission is composed of twenty freshmen women, who are elected every fall to assist freshman women during the year. The commission works with the dean of women in helping her to serve Y. W. C. A. in their plans of the year. During the first six weeks of the first semester the old members of the commission divide the freshmen into groups of twenty or thirty. These groups are entertained at least twice during the following six weeks, at tea. Two members of the old commission act as hostesses at these teas. Each of these groups of freshmen elects two members as representatives for them. From the list of forty women handed to them the Y. W. C. A. executive council selects twenty women to form the new freshman commission with duties of the previous commission. The commission is under the supervision of the officers of Y. W. C. A.

In 1919 the plan for a freshman commission was first suggested by Y. W. C. A. executive council. The original plan was to have the commission composed of eleven members to be elected by the council. The nine others were to be chosen later by the first eleven.

Bi-monthly discusional meetings were held at which current campus problems were brought up. Written minutes of these meetings were submitted to the Dean of Women. The general reaction of freshmen women was discovered in this manner. The commission has always had a party for the entire class of freshmen women in the women's gymnasium as a part of their year's schedule. The commission also works in co-operation with the Memorial Union in getting pledges and is also instrumental in the sponsoring of all Y. W. C. A. activities.

The members of last year's commission were: Mary Goodkowitz, A. 3 of Boone, Allen Barger, A. 2 of Spirit Lake, Francis Hansen, A. 2 of Holstein, Vivian McClean, A. 2 of Belle Plaine, Edith Februg, A. 2 of Pomeroy, Beatrice Targart, A. 2 of Spencer, Edith Adams, A. 2 of Des Moines, Dorothy Holdoged, A. 2 of Rockwell City, Edna Weststrom, A. 2 of Madrid, Ila Dwigans, A. 2 of Greenfield, Clara Larson, A. 2 of Nevada, Ruth Brenton, A. 2 of Dallas Center, Fern Coon Lawson, A. 2 of Hedrick, Alice Davis, A. 2 of Iowa City, Margaret Carter, A. 2 of Glenwood, Mildred Miles, A. 2 of Corydon, Alice Ralford, A. 2 of Iowa City, Elizabeth Close, A. 2 of Iowa City, Lauea Templeton, A. 2 of Eleanor Chase, A. 2 of Clinton.

Approximately 1500 Copies Student Directory Sale

Approximately 1,500 copies of the 1923 student directory were sold Saturday morning. The demand for the directory is probably due to its earlier printing and improved appearance.

Immediately after the books were placed on sale at nine o'clock Saturday morning it was necessary to call Professor Welles' office for more copies. The 1923 directory is larger, and of better appearance than last year's those who are in authority, and is accurate according to

Hughes Confers With Jusserand

Three Powers Agree On U. S. Bid

Results of Conference Between Hughes and Ambassador Kept Secret

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—Views of the French government on reparations were laid before Secretary Hughes today by Ambassador Jusserand, just returned from Paris. Their talk in the secretary's office lasted an hour and forty minutes. Whether it resulted in any change in the situation that has thus far prevented final agreement among the allied governments upon the expert inquiry proposal was not disclosed. Neither Mr. Hughes nor the ambassador would make any statement whatever with respect to their conversation.

Before Ambassador Jusserand sought his appointment with Secretary Hughes, information had reached the state department that Great Britain, Italy and Belgium had reached an accord upon the form of the invitation to the United States to participate in the inquiry. As the situation then was understood by Washington officials.

It was said, authoritatively, French insistence that the experts be limited to an inquiry into "the present capacity" of Germany to pay alone prevented final agreement. The hope was expressed by the government spokesman that France could be induced to join in a full inquiry but no indication was given of the course the United States would pursue if the allied nations found it impossible to reach an agreement.

To what extent the conference between Secretary Hughes and Ambassador Jusserand may have influenced the course of events was the subject of wide speculation in the absence of any word of legislation from any source. Shortly after the conference, Mr. Hughes went to the White House and informed President Coolidge what had transpired in his talk with the Ambassador. The White House also was silent as to developments.

The election of class officers in the college of liberal arts will be held tomorrow in the liberal arts building between the hours of 9 and 12 o'clock. Only students in the college of liberal arts will be allowed to ballot. Roberta Anderson, A. 4 of Iowa City and Raymond L. Forty-eight petitions were presented to Lorenz G. Wolters, A. 4 of Waukon, president of the student council, before six o'clock Monday evening, October 29, by students who desire to become candidates for the class officers. During the intervening week the election committee of the student council questioned each petitioner and judged their fitness for class offices on their scholastic standing, outside activities, interest in student government and ability to handle the class social problems. Official of Klan Kills Lawyer Who Is Fighting Evans

Publicity Man Shoots Atlanta Attorney Five Times

MURDERED MAN WAS SITTING AT HIS DESK

Was Counsellor for Faction Fighting Imperial Wizard

ATLANTA, Nov. 5 (AP)—J. E. Fox, publicity man for the Ku Klux Klan, late today shot and killed W. S. Coburn, Atlanta attorney and counsel for the faction fighting Imperial Wizard H. W. Evans and other officials of the order. Fox is held without bonds under a charge of murder.

Coburn, a former official of the Klan and later representative of what is called the insurgent faction, was shot five times as he sat in his office. He toppled over dead.

Mrs. W. A. Holbrook, stenographer for Coburn, said that Fox came in while Coburn was talking to a client and began firing when he was told to come back in an hour.

Six shots were fired. Three of them were said to have taken effect.

No Connection With Klan
When taken into custody Fox is quoted as saying, "I am sorry to have had to do it, but I am glad he is dead. He was planning to ruin me, and I had just as soon be hanged as hurt. What I did had no connection with the Ku Klux Klan. Coburn had threatened to ruin me and to publish affidavits affecting my character that were untrue."

At police headquarters Fox denied any connection with the Ku Klux Klan giving his occupation as a clerk. He was identified by newspaper men as the publicity agent for the Ku Klux Klan and police say he is the editor of the Knight Hawk, official organ of the imperial palace of the Ku Klux Klan.

BOOK VALUES

SINCE the invention of the printing press, education has been measured almost entirely in terms of book learning.

Today, if Christ, Mohammed, Buddha, the three men who revolutionized the world with their religious teachings, were to mingle again in society, they undoubtedly would be placed under the category of ignorant men, for they were originators, not followers, and being creators they sought solitude for reflection, ignoring even the few books which they might have studied.

The great reformers did not secure the impetus for their religions by pouring over old manuscripts they came into self-realization by meditation.

Men such as Plato, Napoleon, Charlemagne, and Caesar, owed their distinction not to the knowledge which they secured from books, for there is no evidence to support the belief that they were students after the manner of the people of their day, but to the fact that they studied human nature and understood the impulses which governed it.

The finest intellectual epoch of history was marked by a scarcity of manuscript-books. Even Shakespeare, according to Ben Jonson, possessed an intensive rather than extensive knowledge of books.

Today, in the modern college which was founded in the belief that education is a matter of book-learning, educators wage verbal battles with each other as to whether a course in American literature shall precede or follow a course in English prose writing, and push the student along from one book to another with startling rapidity.

When the student has mastered the contents of a certain number of specified books, when he has learned in all appearances at least, to write, speak, and think in the conventional form, he is considered educated.

Books have rendered a valuable service to civilization, but at the present time the worth of printed matter is greatly over-estimated.

Too many students with minds capable of original creation, become so engrossed in studying the ideas of other people that they fail to develop thought of their own.

They spend their lives accumulating a vast store of heterogeneous facts; they make books an end in themselves, rather than a means to an end.

NEWS VS. EDITORIALIZING

by Sherman J. McNally

EDITOR'S NOTE.—This essay appeared in The Quill, a magazine published by Sigma Delta Chi, journalistic fraternity. It was awarded a prize of $50 in a journalistic ethics essay contest.

THERE seems to be a tendency in American journalism, especially in mid-Western newspapers, to blur the line which divides news stories from editorials, to let down the bars, so to speak, and allow editorial comment to gambol through the news columns.

This tendency, for a good many reasons, should be discouraged.

In the first place, editors who allow opinion to be mingled with news stories are losing sight of an obligation they owe their readers—the obligation to tell what happened. The man who reads a news article is entitled to have the facts, stated impartially and concisely. Predictions and conclusions drawn from facts, guesses as to cause and effect, are not news, and should be entirely excluded from the news columns.

"Coloring" news or expressing opinion in news stories amount to nothing less than a distortion of the truth. It is the duty of every newspaper to tell what happened, exactly as it happened, and in so far as it falls to do this, in that measure is it failing to live up to its obligation. EditorIALIZING is not only poor ethics, but it is wholly unnecessary; every paper worthy of the name has an editorial page where opinions may be aired, and where the policy of the paper may be expounded.

Laying aside for a moment the abstract question of ethics involved, a glance at the inevitable result of the editorIALIZING policy will show its vicious nature better than a long, involved discussion. The result of such a policy is to undermine the faith of open-minded readers in the paper that pursues it, to cause them to discount everything it prints, and even to read its editorial columns with suspicion. A paper that cannot keep prejudice out of its news columns, they reason, is surely committed to a program of axe-grinding at any cost.

A policy which produces this attitude in the minds of intelligent readers is obviously fundamentally wrong. The contrary policy—drawing a sharp line between news and editorial comment—may involve the sacrifice of some little influence with the great unwashed, but in the long run it is the only policy worthy of consideration. It is simply a question of whether the editor is going to tell the "plain, unvarnished truth" in his news articles, or whether he is going to tell the truth in such a way as to prejudice his readers, or attempt to prejudice them.

The newspapers which are by general admission the greatest are those with a reputation for fairness and impartiality in their news reports. They may have, and often do have, vigorous editorial convictions; they often support or oppose political candidates with considerable heat; but they confine their arguments to the editorial page alone. And that is one reason they are great.

There is one obvious exception to the generalization that opinion should be barred absolutely except in editorials. The situation is different when signed articles are contributed by special writers, or when features, as distinguished from news stories, are printed. It is assumed that these articles are written by experts, or at least by people whose opinions are of value. In such cases expression of the writer's convictions is legitimate the articles themselves are not so much news as comment or discussion.

In strictly news stories, however, editors might adopt with advantage as their motto: "The truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth." This is the only policy which will stand the searching light of intelligent criticism.

EDITORIAL

Well, the last home game of the year has been played and we haven't had a decent celebration yet. We have missed a couple of good opportunities. Where has that old "Iowa Fight" of other days gone? Let's come out of the coma and let's do it right away. When shall we celebrate? How about tomorrow night? We have to be in shape by the time the team comes home from Minnesota. So let's have a rousing pep fest out on the city park bridge tomorrow after the Liberal Arts class elections at 5:00 o'clock. That will give the afternoon varsity crowd an opportunity to participate in the revelry. They always have "the old fight." Now don't fail to help make this the peppiest week since the days when we trod on the New Haven bluebloods. Everybody out for once.

The Eighth Wonder and Other Stories

Reviewed by MELVIN VAN DENBARK

by A. S. M. HUTCHINSON

Probably neither Mr. Hutchinson nor his publisher expects this collection of eight short stories to be an epoch in his literary career. Sensible and sane, they are as good as the average short story published in our magazines, perhaps a little better. They are, judged by the tests of teachers of correspondence courses in short story writing, mechanically skillful and successful. The sorry trouble is that they lack any distinction. Their effect is obvious, the telling complete; the imaginative quality neuter, the endings as satisfyingly happy as one could wish, the portrayal of emotions not quite so Harold-Bell-Wrightian as one might expect after having read the other things Hutchinson has done. They are the kind of things which an Englishman can "get away with" beautifully, in our magazines that pay well, "without being a too serious competitor; there is a sentimental gush in several garish instances with rather delightful whimsicality of the Mr. Pim sort. This whimsicality in the telling of what might be otherwise blues-melodrama is their chief charm.

Mr. Hutchinson knows the tricks of his craft and uses them admirably enough. Still they are tricks, obvious and familiar tricks. This kind of manipulation or teasing is what the "average" reader of the average magazine may want; therefore the stories are trickily good.

Instance, "The Grim Test," one of the best of the collection and a rather subtle treatment of the sad-and-glad-happy-ending sort, tells the story of a man who wants to fall in love but can't. His trouble is that his heart simply hasn't been touched. Little wonder, for this was the test of his love, "I like So-and-so. I like So-and-so very much indeed. But how deeply does 'very much indeed' go? Would I care?" "I would I care, would I deeply and gratefully care if So-and-so died?" That, indeed, is a grim test.

And because he had never found one for whom he could care that much, he played sensibly and fair with himself and gave up the ghost. But he would "play" the game; that was, for him, the next best thing. In his secretary he found a miss with some intelligence, loveliness, and a bag of tricks, who would accept his playing at love, if that was the best he could do. Poor thing wanted to be loved, wanted badly; she had always wanted to be loved. She was even most willing to let James play at love with her. She would make it as real as playing can be—like children playing Indian and cowboy.

But on a day of this making-believe love spent "somewhere-by-the-Sea," they are cut off from the shore by the tide. In this tragic moment is born true love for both. She had always had it, of course; he got it when there flashed in his mind the thought that "she was to die—drown. Indeed, he would care, care dreadfully, care enough to die with her in his arms. She met the "test." But—the gods would not let this glorious consummation go the way of all beautiful things: at a lost moment the lovers discover a path made by smugglers up a natural wall of rock against which they were standing. Then all ends well, and it is "Real, real, forever." Really rather clever despite its commonplaceness and machine turns.

"The Eighth Wonder," which gives the title to the collection, is a mediocre love story in Hutchinson's heat and obvious manner.

"Some Talk of Alexander—" is a whimsical story that has a bachelor hero of the dangerous age of forty, as the "movies" would say, who does melodramatic and tragic things for love. It is advertised as a spiritual awakening. Unfortunately, the awakening is too late for forty years are many, and flesh is weak. One doesn't want to see the hero die, though his dying gave him the only bit of happiness he had ever known.

Three of the stories are distinctly Pollyanna in subject and as sugary in treatment. One reads and forgets them quickly.

He forgets them quickly when he turns to "In Evening Bells" and "A Magdalene of the Soil." Here Mr. Hutchinson gives something better. The first is an allegory of Spirit, Meen and Noble. Spirit makes himself and his wife miserable and normal when he comes under the influence of Meen and Noble. But unfortunately, and in to-be-expected manner, there is Trust to the rescue, and all ends happily.

In "A Magdalene of the Soil," a tragedy of present-day France, is a relief from the sweet-little-girl-glad stories like "There Still Are Fairies" (a 1923 "Editha's Burglar") and "The Rough Little Girl and the Smooth Little Girl." It is well conceived, the pattern is simple, quite finished, but the style is boreomously obvious and the detail profuse. Won't Mr. Hutchinson ever let his readers help in making the story? It's always all, to a letter, there. One would like to help a little, even a bit. He is too decently and whimsically solicitous that it is all there. He quite succeeds in that.

After reading this collection of wholly good and, in a marketable way, successful stories, one wishes that there had been something of the sureness, beauty and fine craftsmanship of a Katherine Mansfield or a John Galsworthy. One would like to have found a little gem among these eight stories like Galsworthy's "Salva Pro Nobis." But though there no diamonds here there are several bits of pretty, really quite pretty, glass.

Twelve women of Monroe township enrolled for a five months sewing course to be given under the supervision of a specialist from the Iowa State College at Ames at a Monroe township meeting held last weekend. At the same meeting the women decided to take a course in infant welfare work which consists of a series of lectures and demonstrations given by a specialist from Iowa University. During the winter months the men of the township will study the control of disease and parasites with hogs, under an Ames man.

There were about 150 present at this meeting and it was decided to have two meetings each month with programs of picture shows, music, and a lecture course.

Fraternities Meet In New York Dec. 1

Over 200 Will Attend Annual Conference.

Undergraduate Delegates Present For First Time; Price Represents Iowa Fraternities

The annual Interfraternity Conference, of which every one of the national Greek-letter men's fraternities in the United States is a member, will be held at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York on Friday and Saturday, November 30 and December 1.

More than two hundred officers of the various fraternities will be present, as well as a number of college presidents and other educators. Among them will be President W. H. P. Faunce of Brown, whose inspiration the Interfraternity Conference was.

For the first time in the fourteen years of the conference's existence, undergraduate delegates will be present, representing local interfraternity councils at various colleges and universities. They will take part in the discussions of college men's problems.

An interesting experiment will be tried in conjunction with this year's conference. Believing that there are now too few college men given the opportunity of fraternity membership and fellowship, the Interfraternity conference has invited representatives of 550 local fraternities to come to New York at the conference with the purpose of forming full-born at least one new national society.

The conference will be presided over by John J. Kuhn, well-known lawyer of 115 Broadway, a member of Delta Chi at Cornell. The secretary of the conference is A. Bruce Bielaski, lawyer of 120 Broadway, formerly with the Department of Justice, a member of Delta Tau Delta at Columbia.

Will J. Price of Des Moines, a member of Phi Delta Theta will represent the Interfraternity Conference of the University at the conference.

Pre-Professional Period Extension Subject of Debate

Reviewed by MELVIN VAN DENBARK

by A. S. M. HUTCHINSON

The pre-professional period required in the University should not be extended according to the debate held by Irving Institute at Close Hall last Friday night. The subject of the debate was, "Resolved, That the pre-professional period requirement in all colleges of the University of Iowa should be extended one year."

The affirmative was upheld by William McMartin A4 of Bridge Water, S. D., and Claud Hamilton E1 of Iowa City. The negative was defended by Elbert Hendricks A1 of Riceville, and Marvin Thomas A1 of Council Bluffs. Each speaker was allowed eight minutes for constructive speech, and then the question was thrown open to an open forum discussion by the society. The affirmative held that, as shown by a comparison of Harvard graduates from the law college with those of the other schools, the person with a B. A. degree was more successful in professional life than the one who has taken very little liberal arts work. The negative held that such gain was not sufficient to compensate for the sacrifice made by students in penurious circumstances by taking an additional year of pre-professional work. The winners were chosen by a straw vote which gave the decision to the negative.

This debate was preceded by an oration, "World Peace," by Phillip Allen A2 of Davenport, and a talk, "Prohibition Improvement," by James DeVitt A1 of Oskaloosa.

Engineering Levels Mountains

The Pack Train has become a relic of the past, along with the Prairie Schooner. Modern methods of transportation have leveled mountains, brought San Francisco nearer to New York, and widened the markets of all our great industries.

And the engineering brains and energy that have developed transportation to the prominence it holds in the business of the world today, are no longer employed in improving means of overland travel alone. Street Railways, Elevator Systems, Interurban Lines and Improved Shipping Lines—these are some of the accomplishments of engineering in the development of better transportation.

Neither have the builders of such systems been concerned only in the actual hauling of people and materials. A study of the methods of handling passengers and freight at the large terminals has developed the Terminal Engineer, who has greatly improved existing methods, and has developed entirely new ones, as well.

Engineering, as it is applied to transportation, has had to concern itself with many kinds of materials and many ways of handling them under all manner of circumstances. For instance the problems surrounding the handling of iron ore, in bulk, are vastly different from those encountered in moving any one of the finished products manufactured from iron ore, that must also be transported in large quantities. But Engineering constantly meets each situation with improved transportation facilities.

Industry, as a whole, and the nations and the people of the world owe much to the engineers, associated with such large manufacturing industries as Westinghouse. They have not only brought about vast improvements, but they have done so at a constantly decreasing cost to those who derive the greatest benefit from them.

Tryouts for "To The Ladies" Now Nearing Close

Tryouts for the cast of the Errol Irving play of the year, "To the Ladies" have been going on for the past week and are now rapidly being closed. Much material has been found in the two societies and the cast is at the present time almost complete. The members of the cast will be announced as soon as Vance M. Morton, coach of the play, finds all of the characters that are needed to complete the cast.

The play is a sequel to "Dulcy" by Kauffman and Connelly, which the Iowa City drama league presented a year ago. The play is a satire on the genus man and of course shows the clever qualities of the women.

"To the Ladies" will be presented on the 12th and 13th of December and will be the last of the University theatre productions before the Christmas holidays and the new year.

University to See First Production of "Lilium" in West

Preliminary work on the next production of the University theatre, "Lilium" has been completed and the cast and coaches are now ready for the performance on Wednesday, November 14.

Not only will this be the first time that "Lilium" has been presented on an amateur stage but it will be the first time the play has been played in this section of the country.

Many mechanical effects have been made and the sets for the different scenes have been under the process of construction for some time. Professor Mable, director of the University theatre, plans to make this one of the most artistic plays of the year.

Several minor changes in the cast have been made from time to time as it was seen necessary to do so and when the play is presented it will be by a group of the best amateur actors on the campus.

Strange Curios Will Feature Carnival

Foreign Students To Import Unique Articles from Distant Lands

University students who are anxious to secure real Hawaiian beads or baskets, Oriental vases, genuine Spanish combs or other quaint trinkets sent to America directly from foreign countries, will be given an opportunity to examine a large and varied assortment of curios, when the Cosmopolitan club holds an International Carnival in the women's gymnasium, Saturday, December 1, at 7:30 o'clocks. Students and towns-people who will examine the Carnival display in search of attractive and different Christmas gifts for their friends, will find the articles very reasonable in price.

According to the plan which is going forward under the direction of Otelia Fernandez, of Spain, every nationality in the Cosmopolitan club will be represented in the international carnival. The foreign students will appear in native costume and will operate amusement booths which will be typical of their own allian, the Philippine and Hindu students, the American group will op-which will be put on by the Hav-nationality.

Two University of Iowa Swimmers Are On Sullivan's All-American Tank Team

Princeton Mentor Rates I-Men High

Klingaman and Aicox Make All-Western Team Also

By Ted Swensen

Frank J. Sullivan, swimming coach at Princeton, and recognized as the Walter Camp of the swimming world has picked his All-American swimming team, and has placed two Iowa men on his mythical honor list. The men to receive this honor are W. R. Hickox, of Kankakee, Illinois, and Ivan J. Klingaman of Garner. Hickox was ranked third among the plungers of the country, being headed by Taylor of Illinois, who is conference champion. Hickox placed second in the conference last year and was honored for his consistent showing during the year. Klingaman was ranked eighth by the Princeton mentor in the one hundred yard free style event. The Hawkeye flash who was captain of last year's team was one of the stars of the conference, and is joint holder of the university record in the 40-yard dash, and holds the record in the 100-yard swim. This marks the first time that any Iowa swimmer has been honored by the Princeton coach, whose selections are regarded as standard throughout the country.

Nels Thorpe, the Minnesota coach, has placed Hickox and Klingaman on his All-Conference team in their respective events, the plunge and 100-yard free style. Both of these men were placed on Thorpe's first team, while Ross Clark of Des Moines was placed on the second team in the 40-yard dash. Tom Robinson, coach of the famous Northwestern swimming team has placed one Iowa star on his All-Western team, placing Hickox on the first team, and placing Clark and Klingaman on the second team.

Klingaman was also named captain of the second team, while Clark was named as a member of the relay quartet on the second team. Robinson also recognized Johnny McClintock, freshman star by placing him on his All-Western Inter-scholastic team as alternate, and ranking him fifth in the 40-yard free style. Plummer of East Des Moines, and Ungles of West Des Moines were also placed on his All-Western team, Plummer being honored for his work in the dives, while Ungles was mentioned for his performance in the 220-yard free style event.

This is the greatest number of Iowa swimmers that have ever graded one of the All-American or All-Western swimming teams.

Tex Seeking Bout For Jack Renault

Will Be Charity Fight For Holidays

Harry Wills or Tom Gibbons Believed To Be Likely Opponents

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Tex Rickard today began negotiations to match Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight who knocked out Floyd Johnson last Friday night, with either Tom Gibbons, St. Paul light-heavyweight, or Harry Wills, negro title contender.

Rickard has undertaken the negotiations in the interests of a New York newspaper Christmas fund. If arranged, the promoter plans to stage the match around holiday time, possibly December 21, at Madison Square Garden.

Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, has had some differences with Rickard and announced he would not sign for the match with the Garden promoter, but it is believed he might alter his attitude as the bout would be a charity affair. Should efforts to sign the negro be unavailing, however, Gibbons probably will be selected. The St. Paul battler, who went the limit with Jack Dempsey, last July 4, has been asked to name his terms.

Renault's manager, Leo Flynn, has discussed the proposal with Rickard and although he has not definitely accepted, no difficulty is expected in bringing about an agreement so far as the Canadian is concerned.

Football Squad is Given Rest With Signal Practice

Nine Men Who Were In Michigan Game Watch Practice

START DRILL FOR MINNESOTA GAME

Parkin and Krasuski Come Out

Following the gruelling game with Michigan Saturday, the Iowa squad was given a rest.

Capt. Miller and Fisher were the only regulars that played in the Michigan game that took part in last evening's drill. Romey, Kriz, Olsen, Hancock, and Fry viewed the practice from the sidelines in civilian clothes. Dauber, Griffen, Otte, and Fleckenstein did not appear on the field. Parkin was out in uniform and took active part in practice. Krasuski, who has been absent from the team since the Knox game on account of a broken leg was out in uniform and ran signals and took part in the short practice of special formations.

The rest was welcomed by the athletes after having undergone four weeks of intense drill which started with the opening of the conference season with Purdue. This battle was a hard one and the three that followed were about as hard as any three games that could have been arranged and all of equal importance. Although beaten by Illinois and Michigan the Iowans pleased their followers by fighting every inch of the way. The Illinois game was the toughest to lose, for after out-battling the Illini for three fourths of the game the contest was snatched from them in the last quarter on a brilliant forward passing attack. The Hawkeyes lost last Saturday on a fluke touchdown, after battling the Wolverines to a standstill. The honors in this battle were even and if the freak play had not occurred the game would have undoubtedly resulted in a tie. The team should be given the credit it justly deserves for fighting the way it did under the handicap of injuries.

The pleasing feature of the whole season is that nine of the eleven men who started the contest against Michigan will be available next year to say nothing of the substitutes that played so well.

The practice last night was short and exceedingly light, consisting of running signals and in practicing a few forward pass formations with instructions from the coaching staff. The backfield that preformed was made up of Fisher and Roberts at the halves; Graham at full; and Scantlebury at quarter. Miller alternated with Graham at fullback. The line had Barrett and Schirmer at the tackles; Johnstone and Krasuski at the tackles; Pearson and McIntyre at the guards, and Hobart at the pivot. This outfit seemed to perform well in the running through formations and signal drill.

The scouts that visited the Minnesota game stated that the Gophers have a formidable team and an attack which is built around the speedy Martineau and the new addition to the team, Graham. Ecklund, who played end last year, is also said to be performing in a credible fashion.

Bresnahan Picks Eight Harriers To Race Cornell

Will Meet Purple Here Saturday P. M.

SMITH OF CORNELL LOOKS OVER COURSE

Hawkeyes Hope to Avenge Selves for Defeat Of Last Year

Eight have been selected by Coach Bresnahan, from the cross country squad, to meet the Cornell harriers here on Saturday morning, November 10.

In the tryouts, the men who will run against the Methodists, finished in the following order: Phelps, Marchi, Van Ess, Bachelor, and Carlson. Payne, Goodrich and Bender the other three men did not compete in the tryouts, but had their time trials later.

The team last night was sent over the longest course taken in practice this season, for endurance development. The distance the men ran was seven miles. It is reasonably certain that these men who were selected for the Cornell meet will compose the varsity squad that will meet Minnesota on November 17th, in the morning preceding the Iowa-Minnesota football game at Minneapolis.

However, due to the keen competition given by some of the second string men, and the uncertain position of one or two regulars, a shift in the line-up for the Minnesota contest may result.

The Cornell meet will be run over the new Iowa course, which is being used for the first time this season. Previously the course has been in soggy and rough condition due to the rainy weather. The course begins at the Iowa avenue bridge, follows the river road south a half mile, turns west for another half mile, continues north for two miles, east for one mile, southeast for one mile along Melrose avenue, down the armory cinder road, and finishes at the Burlington street bridge. The length of this course is five miles, the standard cross country distance. Captain Smith of the Cornell harriers, was in Iowa City Saturday, and was taken over the course.

Cornell Harriers Prepare for Iowa

Seven Men Selected to Race Hawkeyes

Man Who Defeated Ashton Last Year Again Leads Mt. Vernon Team

MT. VERNON, Nov. 5.—Captain George Smith, Cornell veteran cross country artist, again led the entire squad in the tryouts held to determine the Purple lineup for the meet with the Iowa harriers November 10 at the Hawkeye course.

After Smith the next eleven men finished in the following order: Yohe, Warnes, McKinley, Deemer, H. Wahl, Valencia, Kleemier Anderson, Gray, Rouse and Stubbs.

Seven men will compose the line-up of each team in the forthcoming race, but only six places will count in computing the score. The line-up of the Cornell squad is somewhat changed over that of last year, but Smith, Yohe, Valencia, and McKinley are old regulars. Although Captain Smith refused to give out the time made in the tryout he declared that it was sufficiently fast to be decidedly encouraging. Captain Smith forced Ashton of Iowa into second place in last season's meet turning the 4.7 mile course in 25.44.

SPORT TUTORIAL by Mac Rae

Four gentlemen of the Michigan chapter of Beta Theta Pi wishing to see the game here last Saturday, but also wishing to have enough money left to continue their studies at Michigan decided to "bum it."

But they took the auto trail rather than rail. They made the 500 mile trip in a little less than 24 hours. They walked a grand total of eight miles for the four of them, two of them walking one mile each, and the other two three miles each. On the way they spent on an average of $1.50 apiece.

Now how many are going to Minnesota?

Coach George T. Bresnahan will leave here in April to attend the Olympic games in Paris. He was granted a leave of absence by the local board of control of athletics and will take in the games from start to finish.

If you have ever longed to be in the press box at a big football game—forget it. In cases like the Homecoming and Michigan game one has to get there about an hour before the game starts to get his six inches of sitting space and then fight to retain that for the remainder of the contest. Another section was added to the box this fall, but the scribbles are so anxious to see Iowa play that the press stand is entire stadium.

Referee A. G. Reid saw the game Saturday, but not from his customary position. Reid, who is a Michigan alumnus now residing in Waterloo, Iowa, was one of the early arrivals on the scene and one of the most enthusiastic ones.

Walter Cochran who is tied with Hoppe and Schafer for honors in the half-line billiard tournament is a native of Iowa. He began playing billiards at Manson, Iowa, when he was sixteen years old.

The Jefferson Hotel was turned into a regular Michigan stronghold Saturday. Going through the lobby was about like trying to get to the front of the line of prospective fifty centers at the Eggert on a night when a snappy show is snapping.

The question now in order is: "Will the posting of the Engineer's sign for the Minnesota game be as much of a battle as the game itself?" Some of the "boltonmaker" boys were thrown for a touchdown during the course of the "Wish-again-Michigan" episode.

The Chicago Cardinals, professional football team, now leading the National Pro football league are certainly deeply indebted to Paddy Driscoll. Paddy has made 71 out of his team's 104 points this season. In four out of five games Driscoll has scored every single point.

No style of writing can distort it—no years of use can wear it away

PARKER DUOFOLD might well be called the Fountain Pen of Youth. Not that its Oversize ink-sac is everlasting—it is not. Yet should it wear out a few years hence it will take but five minutes to replace it.

But the point—the most vital part of a pen—this Duofold point will far outlast the generation that writes with it.

No need to decline to lend your room-mate this pen, for it never once loses its original shape. It's as smooth as a polished jewel bearing—hence it needs no "breaking in."

Try this super-smooth Parker beside any pen on earth regardless of price. There's a lure in its fit and balanced swing. It urges your hand to its work—it gives your mind free rein!

So don't ever buy an unruly pen—don't use one—such pens distract and discourage. They're the reason Parker created the Duofold. All good pen counters have it.

This is a great pen for college men and women! It is made by the makers of Eversharp pencil. It has a huge ink capacity! And the Wahl filling device fills it plumb full every time. It's a big pen. But it is so nicely balanced and proportioned that it fits into the fist most comfortably.

The Wahl Signature Pen writes the instant the point touches paper. The ink begins to flow evenly—always enough, never too much. The patented comb feed makes shaking unnecessary.

The everlasting nib is a wonder. Experts say it is the ultimate in nib-making. It suits itself to any hand—to any style. It is extra heavy. The 14-karat gold is tipped with the hardest and finest grade of iridium that money can buy.

'Greeks' Lay Claim To Five Presidents

Last Five Presidents Fraternity Men

Mrs. Coolidge is Active Aumna Of Pi Beta Phi at Vermont

The last five Presidents of the United States have been college fraternity men.

Two were inducted into fraternal life while students at their chosen institutions; the other three, educated at universities where chapters of national fraternities did not exist, found time later, in the midst of busy careers which reached a climax in the office of Chief Magistrate of the country, to become honorary members of fraternities.

In the persons of President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, however, the Greek-letter world possesses for the first time occupants for a fraternity and sorority "White House."

The quiet, unassuming Vermont farmer youth who entered Amherst in 1891, intent upon his studies and caring little for extra-curricular activities, failed to attract the attention of fraternities at the Massachusetts college until he was a junior. Then he accepted one of the first bids—after his new proverbial calm consideration—from the newly founded chapter of Phi Kappa Delta. Both in and out of college, he has rendered valuable service to his fraternity.

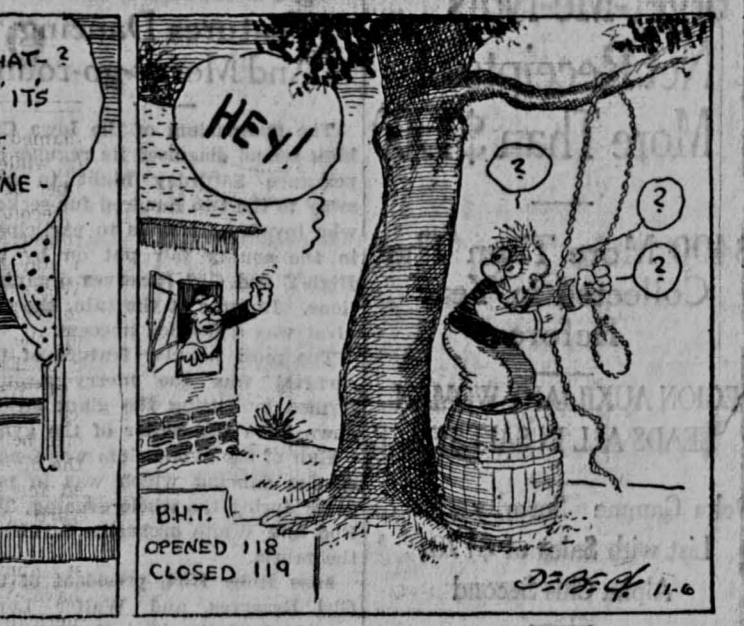

Grace Anna Goodhue Coolidge is the first mistress of the White House who was a sorority woman in college. A charter member of Pi Beta Phi at the University of Vermont, Mrs. Coolidge has shown consistent interest in her sorority since her graduation.

In 1916, she helped organize the Western Massachusetts Alumnae Club and was its first President. For three years, she was a National Vice-president. Offered an even higher position, Mrs. Coolidge was forced to decline because of the official demands made upon her as wife of the Governor of Massachusetts.

One other president joined a National fraternity while in college. Woodrow Wilson was inducted into the membership of Phi Kappa Psi at the University of Virginia where he took a post-graduate course in law in 1881 after leaving Princeton.

Neither at Harvard nor at Yale have fraternities been allowed by the authorities to take the places of eating clubs and honorary organizations of the liberal arts colleges of the two universities. Theodore Roosevelt, graduated from Harvard in 1880, belonged to the popular clubs and societies of his day. Later, in the midst of his strenuous life, he became a member of both Delta Kappa Epsilon and Alpha Delta Phi. William Howard Taft, now Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, accepted the honorary membership in Psi Upsilon and Acacia after leaving Yale in 1878. Warren G. Harding went to a little college now defunct, Ohio Central college, where there were no fraternities. He was a great be-

Forget-Me-Nots Net Receipts of More Than $1300

$400 More Than That Collected in Year Before

LEGION AUXILIARY WOMAN LEADS ALL IN SALES RACE

Delta Gamma Sorority Heads List with Sales of $170; Alpha Chi Second

Iowa City went over the top in the Forget-Me-Not drive last Saturday. Not only more money was taken in than last year but also the goal of disposing of 10,000 flowers was far exceeded. The total receipts will run well over $1300, according to the latest figures obtained from Clement F. Mullen, chairman of the local committee. This amount breaks Iowa City's national record of last year and sets a new mark which any other city of the same size will find it difficult to surpass. As last season's total was about $900, the sum turned in Saturday shows an increase of over forty percent.

"I am unusually well pleased with the results of the drive on Saturday. They far exceeded the committee's brightest expectations," said Mr. Mullen yesterday. In regard to the showing that Iowa City made. "What impressed me, especially, was the splendid spirit shown by all our workers. Their general attitude is commendable," he continued.

Individual and organization records were broken in the campaign. Saturday. Mrs. P. H. Baxter of 214 East Court street, of the American Legion Auxiliary group, achieved the highest honors in individual sales. Her total was $113.67. Second place in this individual contest was earned by Miss Emma McKee, a nurse at Mercy hospital. Her total reached $80.26. Miss McKee won first place last year, but her total this year was higher than her previous record.

There was keen competition among the sororities as is usually the case in a drive of this kind. Practically every campus sorority was represented in the Saturday sales. Among these organizations, the Delta Gamma sorority ranked first with $170.19. Second place went to Alpha Chi Omega with a total of $150.03. Alpha Gamma Phi was a close third with $149.72 to its credit. Among the individuals in the sorority group, Marjorie Lewis of Alpha Gamma Phi was highest with $50.38. Dorothy Young of Delta Gamma was second with $42.75, while Marjorie Herndon of Alpha Chi Omega took third place with $39.61.

A great deal of the success of the drive can be attributed to the number of workers who were out on the streets. The total number reached well over eighty. This figure includes sorority women, high school girls, American Legion Auxiliary women, and many volunteer workers. The headquarters at the Commercial State bank was busy all day Saturday, counting the money and keeping the sellers supplied with the flowers.

Mr. Mullen, chairman of the committee, had the following men as his assistants: William Phelps 12 of Central City, Lesley Boatman G of Barnes City, Lewis Zaph 82 of Littleport, Lee S. Coy P3 of Prairie City, and Rudolph F. Hein Cmt of Iowa City.

High School Fair Features Dancing And Merry-go-round

The gymnasium of the Iowa City high school disguised its regular appearance Saturday night to give away to the two hundred fun-seekers who invaded its walls to participate in the county fair put on by the High-Y and Girl Reserves organizations. In spite of the rain, the carnival was a decided success.

The most popular feature of the carnival was the merry-go-round formed by letting the giant strides down from the center of the gym. Half of the gymnasium was fenced off for dancing which was in progress during the whole evening. The Red and White orchestra furnished the music.

Miss Ruby Hirt, president of the Girl Reserves, and Walter Long, president of the High-Y, were well pleased with the success of the carnival. The proceeds are used to defray the regular expenses of the organizations.

The American Country Life Association is a national council of agencies engaged in rural social work, and deals with such subjects as recreation work, community organization, county government, and other problems dealing with the human and institutional life of the country districts. It has assumed a more permanent aspect in the last year and is now publishing the "Country Life Bulletin", which is a review of the human aspects of agriculture.

Case Tells Need That Iowa Has For Playgrounds

Chamber of Commerce Told of Present Situation

INDIVIDUALISM CARRIED TOO FAR IN OUR AGE

Keeler, New Minister, Given Hearty Welcome to This Community

The largest crowd to attend the noon luncheon of the chamber of commerce this fall had the opportunity yesterday to hear L. D. Case of the Playground and Recreation association of America. Mr. Case has been in Iowa City for the past week in the interest of organized playground activities for local kiddies.

The Rev. W. C. Keeler, new pastor of the Methodist church, also spoke. Harry D. Breene, recently elected president of the chamber of commerce, presided at the luncheon. "Individualism is the keynote of our modern system of living," said Mr. Case. "It has produced many outstanding personalities, but in this country we have gone too far. It has come to the point where every man looks after himself and lets the devil take the hindmost. Men forget their social responsibilities. No man lives and dies by himself."

Conditions of modern living are bettered through co-operation with others. Through improvements in industry we now have practically eight hours recreation for every individual. During this eight hours of recreation we must provide proper channels for every one to participate actively in some form of play. To do this right we must start with the children and teach them how to play properly. Organized playgrounds are the best way to reach this ideal. The people of Iowa look to Iowa City for leadership; Iowa City must show the people of Iowa how to teach children to play."

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 — Stock prices held relatively firm in today's trading which fell somewhat short of the million shares a day pace set in the closing days of last week. The usual market leaders showed comparatively little change upon the day, but new highs upon the current upward movement were reached by Studebaker, Dupont, Corn Products, Mack Truck and a number of other active issues.

Opening prices were somewhat irregular because the market was called upon to absorb a large volume of profit-taking. Shorts also renewed their offerings upon the theory that the rapidity of the recent advance warranted at least technical reaction, but good support was forthcoming throughout the session.

Several favorable earnings reports were published during the day. Heavy buying of Dupont, which touched 134 7/8 and closed at 133 3/4 for a net gain of 2 1/2, was in further reflection of the benefits expected to accrue from the sale of a large block of its General Motors stocks to the newly organized Managers Security Corporation. Prompt over-subscription of the $100,000,000 American Telephone bond issue was construed as an indication of a favorable public attitude toward the investment market. Public Utilities were helped by the rapid absorption of the Telephone issue.

Rails showed more consistent strength than the industrials, Lackawanna, jumping five points, but Western Pacific and Pittsburgh and West Virginia also were strong. Foreign exchanges showed moderate improvement with the exception of the German mark which dropped to a new low at 20 cents a trillion. Demand sterling held around $4.46 1/4 and French francs around 5.79 cents.

The time money and commercial paper markets were quiet with no change in rates. The liberty bond market displayed a firm tone, most of the active United States government bonds registering moderate gains upon the day, losing part of its gain later. North-
