Fire Policies Taken Out Show Increase Since Recent Fires

A noticeable increase in the amount of fire insurance being written has taken place since the sorority and fraternity fires which occurred during the Christmas holidays. According to the insurance agents in the city, that following a serious fire in which a great deal of property is lost, the amount of insurance written is generally increased to a great extent.

In the case of the fraternities and sororities, some have increased the amount of insurance they already had, or, in other cases, they have placed insurance where they never had any before. As a general thing, the organizations carry enough insurance to cover about one-third of the real value of the property. Some, however, have as much as they can carry. "The average amount is estimated at $7,000."

It is the belief of some of the fire insurance agents that there should be more systematic protection against fire. Some person appointed to take care of this part of the affairs of the organization could take charge of this. "The increase in the writing of fire insurance in typical towns this town people as well as among the various organizations on the campus. Following the fire in the Alpha Tau Omega house last year, there was a very noticeable increase."

Art Treasures of France Need Better Protection

PARIS, Jan. 5 (AP)—The theft of two rare Gobel tapestries from the Versailles palace by armed government authorities has not only caused the curators to have their valuable treasures in really efficient fireproof safes, but several cuts to safety have been proposed. The first precaution was the forbidding guards and guides to visitors of the great value of the treasures exhibited. "That is tempting the devil," the curators at Versailles said.

Marriage License Applicants Must File for 10 Days

House Amends Marriage Law to Reduce Divorces

Publication Clause Is Removed from Bill As Passed

(By the Associated Press) Des Moines, Jan. 5.—The first important piece of new legislation put into Iowa statutes during the code revision session was inserted today when the house voted 69 to 36, marriage bill by Forsting of Woodbury county, which compels applicants for marriage licenses to file applications with the county clerk at least ten days in advance of granting. Champions of the measure included Gallagher of Iowa county, who introduced the original amendment compelling ten day notice, Ditz of Polk county who redrafted Gallagher's amendment, and Forsting himself, whose amendment was from the other two in that it left out a clause under which notice of the application for license to wed would have been published in one newspaper and posted on the courthouse door.

Gallagher contended in defense of the amendment that divorces were most often caused by hasty marriages, and proclaimed the amendment as a reform measure which has shown its effect in every state which has adopted it. He cited figures showing scarcity of divorce in Wisconsin, Massachusetts and other states with such a clause in the law as compared with the high rate of divorce in Iowa, Illinois, Arkansas and other states without it.

Children of Pottawattamie and McClure of Mahaska led the fight on amendment and the former tried to forestall action on it but was defeated. The marriage bill to which the amendment was attached was then laid on the table until next week.

Bowman Resolution Referred The Bowman resolution, passed by the senate, which tells congress that the hold on middle west is endangered by its attitude toward the farmer, was received by the house and given the committee on agriculture where it was rumored, it may be forgotten.

A bill controlling road houses, amusement parks and other similar establishments in incorporated cities and towns caused considerable debate in the senate, the bill passing 26-12, after a few amendments had been adopted. Senator Price of Monroe county offered an amendment providing that township trustees should not deny applications for license without good reason; pointing out that in this country there were a number of unincorporated villages with populations ranging around five thousand.

In these villages heavy investments have been made in amusement centers and possibly that for some reason other than moral character of applicant might cause the owner of one of these establishments to be denied a license, was cited.

Condensation Bill Started Senator Wichman of Hancock county raised the question of advisability of empowering township trustees to license such places because the board of trustees is not regularly organized unit and is powerless to enforce regulations upon such places. No amendment embodying the question was offered, however, and the bill passed, leaving such country amusement places entirely under the laws of the state. Senator Wichman pointed out that the state laws do not contain many desirable provisions as to hours and conduct of amusement houses such as those that have been passed by city councils.

The senate took up the land condemnation bill and finally put it over until Monday because of the small attendance late afternoon. The length of the bill, rather than important changes, accounted for the slow progress. The measure contains 65 sections and a score of amendments were offered by the committee having it in charge and by individual members.

A BIG PEN to see you through a BIG four years This is a great pen for college men and women! It is made by the makers of Eversharp pencil. It has a huge ink capacity! And the Wahl filling device fills it plumb full every time. It's a big pen. But it is so nicely balanced and proportioned that it fits into the fist most comfortably. The Wahl Signature Pen writes the instant the point touches paper. The ink begins to flow evenly—always enough, never too much. The patented comb feed makes shaking unnecessary. The everlasting nib is a wonder. Experts say it is the ultimate in nib-making. It suits itself to any hand—to any style. It is extra heavy. The 14-karat gold is tipped with the hardest and finest grade of iridium that money can buy. The patented construction of the cap makes it impossible for the pen to leak in the pocket. The cap cannot split, for it is strengthened by the plain gold band. There are two sizes of the Wahl Signature Pen—one at $5 for women, and one at $7 for men! Other Wahl Pens, $2.50 up! PARIS, Jan. 5 (AP)—The theft of two rare Gobelin tapestries from the Versailles palace by armed government authorities, curators have not funds enough to insure in really efficient fashion. The tapestries are kept, but several precautions to safety have been taken. The first precaution was to forbid guards and guides to visitors of the great value of the tapestries exhibited. "That is tempting the devil," the curators at Versailles said.

Marriage License Applicants Must File for 10 Days

House Amends Marriage Law to Reduce Divorces

Publication Clause Is Removed from Bill As Passed

(By the Associated Press)

Des Moines, Jan. 5.—The first important piece of new legislation put into Iowa statutes during the code revision session was inserted today when the house voted 60 to 36, marriage bill by Forsling of Woodbury county, which compels applicants for marriage licenses to file applications with the county clerk at least ten days in advance of granting.

Champions of the measure included Gallagher of Iowa county, who introduced the original amendment compelling ten day notice, Diltz of Polk county who requested Gallagher's amendment, and Forsling himself whose amendment was from the other two in that it left out a clause under which notice of the application for license to wed would have been published in one newspaper and posted on the courthouse door.

Gallagher contended in defense of the amendment that divorces were most often caused by hasty marriages, and proclaimed the amendment as a reform measure which has shown its effect in every state which has adopted it.

He cited figures showing scarcity of divorce in Wisconsin, Massachusetts and other states with such a clause in the law as compared with the high rate of divorce in Iowa, Illinois, Arkansas and other states without it.

Children of Pottawattamie and McClure of Mahaska led the fight on amendment and the former tried to forestall action on it but was defeated. The marriage bill to which the amendment was attached was then laid on the table until next week.

Bowman Resolution Referred

The Bowman resolution, passed by the senate, which tells congress that the hold on middle west is endangered by its attitude toward the farmer, was received by the house and given the committee on agriculture, where it was rumored, it may be forgotten.

A bill controlling road houses, amusement parks and other similar establishments outside incorporated cities and towns caused considerable debate in the senate, the bill passing 26-12, after a few amendments had been adopted. Senator Price of Monroe county offered an amendment providing that township trustees should not deny applications for license without good reason, pointing out that in this country there were a number of unincorporated villages with populations ranging around five thousand.

In these villages heavy investments have been made in amusement centers and possibility that for some reason other than moral character of applicant might cause the owner of one of these establishments to be denied a license, was cited.

Condemnation Bill Started

Senator Wichman of Hancock county raised the question of advisability of empowering township trustees to license such places because the board of trustees is not regularly organized unit and is powerless to enforce regulations upon such places. No amendment embodying the question was offered, however, and the bill passed, leaving such country amusement places entirely under the laws of the state. Senator Wichman pointed out that the state laws do not contain many desirable provisions as to hours and conduct of amusement houses such as those that have been passed by city councils.

The senate took up the land condemnation bill and finally put it over until Monday because of the small attendance late afternoon. The length of the bill, rather than important changes, accounted for the slow progress. The measure contains 65 sections and a score of amendments were offered by the committee having it in charge and by individual members.

Unusual Procedure Course Given Here

Law School Has One Of Few Criminal Courses

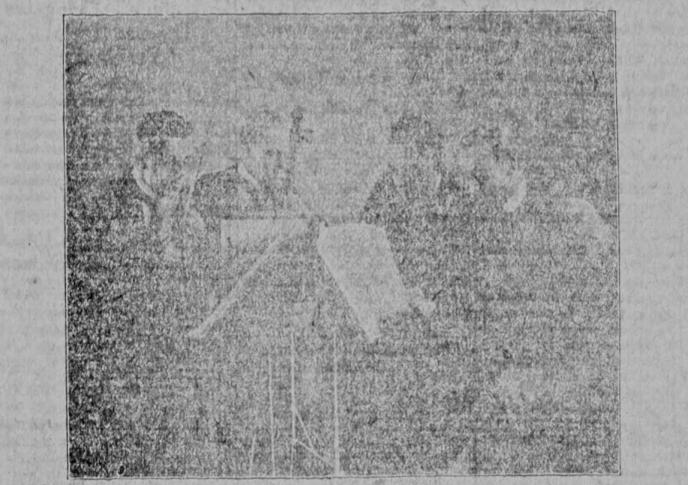

The University of Iowa has one of the few law schools in the United States that teaches criminal procedure, according to Prof. Rollin M. Perkins, Pennsylvania offers a course that approximates criminal procedure but is in reality a part of another course.

"Most law schools," Professor Perkins said, "in the beginning copied their courses from Harvard, an institution with a student body composed of individuals from all parts of the earth, which makes the teaching of criminal procedure there impractical, for in this country alone there are at least forty-eight different types of the procedure. In nearly all other law schools and in the state schools in particular the teaching of the subject is practical."

According to Professor Perkins, it is a mistake to leave the carrying out of criminal procedure to the will of attorneys alone.

In a paper read before the round table on wrongs at a meeting of the association of American law schools in Chicago recently, Professor Perkins outlined the Iowa plan of teaching criminal procedure. According to some of those present the discussion which followed the reading of the paper indicated clearly that many law schools are seriously considering the plan, and it is the opinion of some that the teaching of criminal procedure will soon become a part of the curriculum of many schools of law.

Women's Debate Numbers Fourteen

Eight Members Will Be Selected In Final Tryouts in February

The women's debate squad has increased in membership since the preliminary tryouts for the inter-collegiate debate team. There are now fourteen women on the squad, and several others will probably join it before the final tryouts, which will be held the first week in February. At the final tryout, eight girls will be selected from the group, six to be members of the regular team, and two alternates. The bibliography now posted in the general library, and is in the charge of Miss Edwards.

Yesterday afternoon at the meeting of members of the squad in Miss Freburg's office, a preliminary analysis of the question was made, and the general procedure to be used in the working out of the questions was discussed.

Miss Freburg says, "There is still time for women interested in becoming members of the squad to report to me in room 201 D, natural science buildings."

At present the girls who have reported to Miss Freburg are: Esther Marie Hansen A2 of Battle Creek, Florence E. Altman A3 of Livermore, Phebe R. Chittenden A3 of

German Marks as Souvenirs Against The Law in Paris

Paris, Jan. 6 (AP)—German banknotes, mostly in millions and billions, have been driven off the streets of Paris by the police. They were sold chiefly as souvenirs or given as premiums, but the city authorities discovered a war-time law forbidding traffic in foreign monies except under license, and they have applied it.

Just why this law should have been dug up now, after German currency had been circulating widely for several years, puzzled the curious, as they felt it to be quite worth while for the French to see to what depths the mark has fallen. The authorities, however, thought the influence of the depreciated German money was bad.

Shall Law College Be Open On Sunday?

Controversy Between Students And Administration Remains Without A Solution

Superintendent of grounds and buildings, John M. Fisk, stated last night that he was not yet ready to announce whether or not the law building will be open on Sundays in the future. He did, however, state definitely that the building will not be open today.

The controversy over the Sunday closing of the law building has been developing for some weeks. It arose when, during the first month of school, the building was closed on Sundays. Some time later the students circulated a petition, which was subsequently submitted to the law faculty; this petition called for the opening of the building to students several days a week. The faculty favored the petition.

The matter was then submitted to Mr. Fisk, who in turn placed it in the hand of President Walter A. Jessup. Last week the president's communication concerning the matter was resubmitted to Mr. Fisk, who at that time stated that he wished to obtain the opinion of Dean Henry Craig Jones of the law college before giving out the final decision. It was intended that the matter be settled before the conclusion of the Christmas vacation but other things intervened.

WORSHIP OF ANCESTRAL IDEAS

To the Western mind, ancestor-worship is cause enough for the backwardness of the Chinese. In the march of the nations, China's deification of the dead and reverence for the old ways have left her behind in a mellow, antiquity-enveloped trance. The Westerner is put in bondage to ignorance by a more subtle form of worship,—the worship of ancestral ideas.

Ideas grow into their dotage, but we interpret every gray hair as confirmation of undying currency. Most of us are born into our church and political party. The fact is easily recognized. In the same way we inherit our ideas of business, sex education, religion, politics, international relations, race. To intellectual venerabilities, bequeathed us by the past, we give our faith and worship.

The American people not only reverence the ancestral ideas common to Western civilization, but also, like other races salama before their own national fetishes. Out of the babel of political thinking in the eighteenth century, the American people have singled out, embraced, and deified certain ideas. Through their worship the policies of American statescraft and politics have been augured.

Washington's "no entangling alliance" phrase, Jefferson's equality of men philosophy, Monroes doctrine of hemispherical aloofness, Montesquieu's check and balance governmental system, Marshall's supremacy of the courts dictum have been crowned with a halo and set above among the sanctities of American thought. These fetishes of thought, peculiar to and perhaps befitting the eighteenth century, will have no other gods of political thinking erected before or over them.

Truth can stand on its own feet, without either the crutch of authority or antiquity. We should worship truthful ideas, both ancient and modern. Ancestry and currency should have no more place in the search after truth than registered pedigrees and social standing have in the wooing of an impassioned lover.

THE FIVE-CENT NEWSPAPER

Christian Science Monitor

IN assuming the ownership of the Evening Post of New York, Mr. Cyrus H. K. Curtis announces that it will give "a complete and comprehensive world service for New Yorkers at five cents a copy, and made fully worth a nickel." The journalistic world will watch with interest the endeavor of Mr. Curtis to put this historic newspaper on a plane commensurate with its past. He modestly denies a purpose of making "The Evening Post under me as good as it used to be." It never was—ideals grow with years—but it will be better than ever in its history if humanly possible to make it so. Perhaps through inadvertence, Mr. Curtis has said little about the Evening Post as an exponent of opinion, political, literary, and artistic. In the days of its greatness under Godkin and Horace White it was views, rather than news, which gave it a nation-wide circulation and interest. To ignore this vital quality in the old Post, to be lacking in any endeavor to revive it, would be to fail. New York is not destitute of evening newspapers—it does lack a great organ of educated and refined opinion. That lack will not be met by publishing an edition of the Philadelphia Public Ledger in Manhattan.

Mr. Curtis is to be complimented on his purpose of charging five cents for his revitalized newspaper and making it worth the price. A New York daily appealing only to theatrical and sporting readers, is sold at ten cents, and trives at that figure. The most "flashy" of the New York Sunday papers sell for ten cents. It would be a sorry commentary upon those who profess to applaud clean and serviceable journalism if they should refuse to it the support given cheerfully to newspapers that make no pro-tense of serving anything except the less intelligent interests of mankind. The Christian Science Monitor has reason to know that support is not lacking to a five-cent newspaper if its publishers make it worth the price.

"Lead whistles back and forth in every play on the baseball diamond. It is at the bottom of every football scrimmage. It leaps back and forth across the tennis net. Lead influences every stroke the golfer takes, and is the fisherman's helper in making his catch.

How Lead Gets into Sports

"Wherever toughness is required in rubber, lead is added to it. Thus lead in the form of litharge is in the rubber core which is in every high-grade baseball. It helps to make the rubber bladders of footballs and basketballs, and is in tennis and other rubber balls.

Lead is also in many baseball bats and in the heads of wooden golf clubs, because it adds weight and helps to balance them.

"Lead sinkers are used in fishing to carry the hooks down to the desired depth. The heavy weight of lead for its bulk makes it the proper metal to use and, too, it will not rust.

Lead in the Nursery

"The little boy's eyes shine with excitement as he takes his new lead soldiers out of the box on Christmas Day. For him they advance and retreat in mimic battle. While the modern Little Boy Blue fights his nursery battles with lead soldiers his sister peacefully plays with her new dolls and their lead weighted eyes and other toys made of lead."

"The Dance of Life"

Reviewed by Havelock Ellis

Reviewed by J. S. Jackson

Most of us, no doubt, have read "On First Looking Into Chapman's Homer," with a degree of understanding varying with our good fortune. But it is not often that it is vouchsafed to us to feel, on opening a new book,

"...like some watchers of the skies;

When a new planet swims into his ken;

Or like stout Cortez when with eagle eyes

He stared at the Pacific—and all his men

Look'd at each other with a wild surmise

Silent, upon a peak in Darien."

We recall that when we began to read Knut Hamsun's "Growth of Soil" we had an inkling of that feeling of exploring new country, so that laying the book aside, we were several moments conceiving again, our real surroundings.

Some such feeling we had again the other evening when we began Havelock Ellis' "Dance of Life." We had been reading a particularly pessimistic account of European affairs. This, after a day of work on statistics and census reports, proved too much, and in despair, we picked up "The Dance."

In his introduction Mr. Ellis points out that the conception of life as an art has been lost. Our narrowed and debased conception of art "is the outcome of the social process of two thousand years, the result of the breakup of the classic tradition which under post-classic influences have been pursued separately. Religion or the desire for the salvation of our souls, art or the desire for beautification, science or the search for the reasons of things—these connotations of the mind, which are really three aspects of the same profound impulse have been allowed to furrow each its own narrow, separate channel in alienation from the others, and so they have all been impeded in their greater function of fertilizing life."

From this point onwards, Mr. Ellis presents fascinatingly fresh propositions to which he brings proof. One never has the impression, however, that these rather startling remarks are meant to be so, or that they are in any way cherished by their author on account of their novelty. Yet the book is packed with observations, data, and discussions which upset all sorts of traditional conceptions.

The first chapter presents in an introductory way the general thesis, the conception of life as an art. This is the unifying thread which links chapters on such diverse subjects as dancing, thinking, writing, religion, and morals into a logical convincing unit.

In the chapter on "The Art of Thinking" the author points out clearly enough that the prevalent idea that science and art are at opposite poles is false. "The process of 'knowing' is active and creative," he says. "It clearly partakes at least as much of the nature of 'doing' as of 'knowing'.... The craftsman who moulds conceptions with his mind cannot be put in a totally different class from the painter. It is no longer possible to deny that science is of the nature of art." The Art of Religion, that here again there is no conflict, but essentially only harmony between science and religion since "the development of the religious instinct and the development of the scientific instinct are alike natural" the dance of life, it seems to us, convinces one of this—is a thing of harmonies and not of discords.

Perhaps the most illuminating chapter—if one may use that word for so fresh a treatment of so old a subject—is that on "The Art of Morals." It is well conceived and convincingly executed. Suffice it to say that morals to Havelock Ellis are as unrelated to religion as is dogma, or creed, or an institution like the church. But they are an essential part of the art of life.

Let one should think that he for whom life is an art, has entered on an easy path, the author makes haste to point out that "for the artist life is always a discipline, and no discipline can be without pain. The dancer seems a thing of joy, but we are told that this famous dancer's slippers are filled with blood when the dance is over, and that one falls down pulseless and deathlike on leaving the stage, and the other must spend the day in darkness and silence."

"The divine dance of nymphs and satyrs to the sound of pipes is the symbol of life which... has floated before human eyes since the days of the sculptors of Greek vase-reliefs. We cannot but follow the piper that knows how to play, even to our own destruction. There may be much that is objectionable about man. But he has that engaging trait. And the world will end when he has lost it."

Litling passages like the above recur sufficiently often to give grip to the whole composition. The body of the work, however, is scholarly and thoughtful. The reader must go slowly, re-reading a passage occasionally to get its meaning; he will want to read the footnotes, for therein is some of the best of the book.

Must Meet Social Campus Problems

Volunteer Delegates Discuss Racial Problem

That every University campus has as a part of its duties the solution of the economic and racial problems which are coming to the front is the opinion among the delegates who attended the international Student Volunteer convention held at Indianapolis during the Christmas holidays.

Harriet Shomp M.E. of Dubuque, who attended the convention, said: "The racial problem and the international problem were the two topics most discussed at the convention. They are problems which every campus must solve, because it is the students of today who must solve these problems tomorrow."

The University was allowed a quota of 30 delegates which was the number sent. The expenses of the delegates were paid by the various churches which they represented and by other organizations on the campus.

This international gathering has been preceded during past years by thirty-nine smaller conferences in various parts of the United States and Canada, in which 10,000 students have been present. Last year the convention was held at Des Moines, and over 500 schools were represented. This year there were 6,000 students at Indianapolis, and 1,000 colleges and Universities were represented.

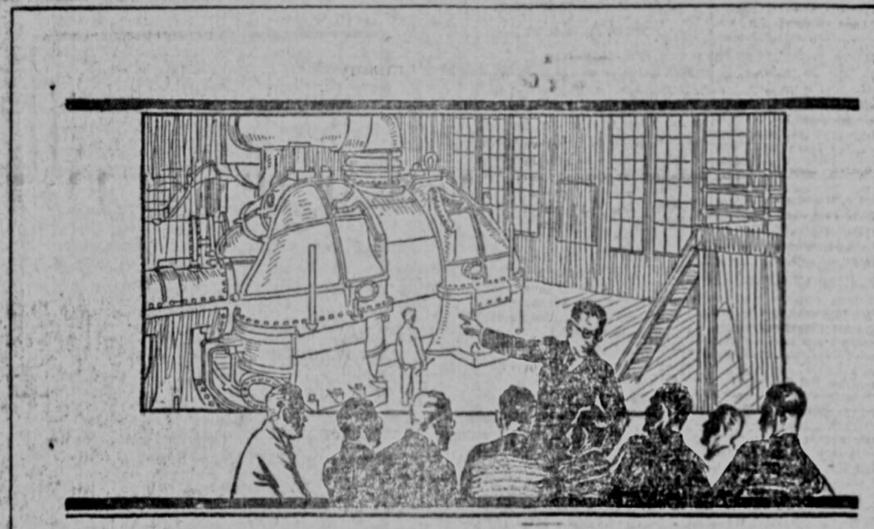

The purpose of the convention was to bring together students from all over the world, to realize the critical needs in the world today. One purpose of the convention was to discover the people who were interested in foreign missions, when and where they will choose to carry out their work.

Speakers from all countries were on the convention to give their views and experiences. Some of the most prominent speakers were: Dr. Ching Cheng, national leader of Student Christian movement in China; G. Sherwood, associate general secretary of the International Committee of the M. C. A. and Newton Howell, president of the privy council of Canada since 1917.

The Young People's Religious Union First Unitarian Church FIRESIDE HOUR Sunday at 7 P. M. Dr. Frank C. Doan, Speaker

The University of Engineering is, of its very nature, a University where theory and practice combine to make bigger, broader and more practical engineers. The courses in this University are not limited to prescribed subjects nor terms—the subjects are almost infinite, and the semesters are endless. Men with the weight of years on their shoulders work and learn side-by-side with those whose day has just dawned. This post-graduate school fits men for almost anything. Fits them for it, and makes them continually fitter. Out of this continuing fitness have grown the engineering accomplishments on which this institution has grown. It is, perhaps, one of the great educational institutions of its day. Venizelos Becomes Ill In Session After His Election

(By the Associated Press) ATHENS, Jan. 5.—Former Premier Venizelos, who was taken ill during today's session of the national assembly, of which he was elected president, became worse after reaching his home, and a consultation of his physicians, including a heart specialist, was called this evening.

M. Venizelos was extremely pale as he walked slowly to his seat in the chamber, and after the cheering subsided threw back his head repeatedly, as if catching his breath. The acting president announced that the assembly would proceed with the election of permanent president. The liberals having announced the candidacy of Venizelos, the leader of the republicans, M. Panastasiou, arose and said they would vote for Venizelos owing to his services for the country.

Planned Trip to U. S. NEW YORK, Jan. 5. (AP)—Former Premier Venizelos of Greece plans to visit the United States in April. Near East Relief was informed by Cable by its Athens representative today.

M. Venizelos, the message said, expected to come here at the request of his government, to discuss with the American government questions concerning the 1918 loan to Greece. While here he will make short speaking tours, appearing in Washington and Chicago.

100 Points Will Be Awarded For First Team Volley Ball—25 for Squad

Members of V. A. A. have drawn a proposed amendment to the by-laws of their constitution which will allow a hundred more points a year in tennis and track than has formerly been awarded and will for the first time give points for volleyball.

Up to this time no sport except winning could offer more than a hundred points. This low number made it very difficult for the girls to secure enough points for an "I" even by the most conscientious work. The new law will make it possible for the girls who do not swim to secure the required number of points.

The proposed amendment, which will be voted on at the next meeting, January 18, is as follows: "That Article 7 of the by-laws be amended to allow that not more than 100 points be given during one year in tennis, swimming, and track; 100 of these counting as team points. "That 100 points be given for first team volleyball, twenty-five points for a squad, and fifteen extra for second team."

100 Points Will Be Awarded For First Team Volley Ball—25 for Squad

Members of V. A. A. have drawn up a proposed amendment to the by-laws of their constitution which will give a hundred more points a year to teams and track than has formerly been awarded and will for the first time give points for volley ball. Up to this time no sport except swimming could offer more than a hundred points. This low number made it very difficult for the girls to secure enough points for an "I" even by the most conscientious work.

The new law will make it possible for the girls who do not swim to secure the required number of points.

It is thought by instructors at the gymnasium that the good work done in volley ball this fall warrants being it on a basis with other sports, and they very much desire to see those who played on the class teams receive points.

The proposed amendment, which will be voted on at the next meeting, January 18, is as follows:

"That Article 7 of the by-laws be amended to allow that not more than 60 points be given during one year or tennis, swimming, and track 100 of these counting as team points.

Rigid Inspection Aids Prevention Of Fraternity Fires, Says Jessup

President Walter A. Jessup stated Friday afternoon that he believed in and would recommend a more rigid inspection of the wiring and heating systems of fraternity and sorority houses, as an aid in the prevention of the fires that so often occur in these houses during vacations.

"I do not know, probably no one knows, the origin of these fires. We try very hard to safeguard University buildings from catching fire. They are rigidly inspected with great frequency," said President Jessup.

"The inspection of the furnaces and the wiring in private dwellings should go a great way toward the prevention of such fires. Of course it is difficult for one to sit in his office and recommend a means of preventing the fires in fraternity houses," he added.

"The President did not blame fraternity and sorority students for their loss, apparently believing that the fault was not theirs.

Successful Era of Land Development Promised for Haiti

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Jan. 5. (AP)—The Haitian agricultural bill now pending before the Council of State, is regarded by its proponents as a most important step in the proposal to develop Haiti for the Haitians. Its passage, it is declared, will mark the beginning of a new era in the history of this republic.

The main purposes of the measure are the education of the people in the field of agriculture, and the safeguarding of the natural resources of the island. This instruction will begin in the rural districts and prepare students for admission to the Polytechnic Institute in Port-au-Prince. Graduates will be well versed in modern agricultural methods and capable of going back to the country districts to instruct the people in improved ways of raising for stock and crops. Also they will be able to serve private enterprises as agricultural experts.

In addition to educational work, the new bill provides for agricultural research, the installation of a quarantine system, and a forestry department. Research will be along the lines of climatic and geological conditions and the diseases of plants and animals. The quarantine service will control the importation of plants and animals, from the standpoint of the introduction of disease, and the forestry branch will seek to control wastage in lumbering and forest fires, and probably embark on reforestation.

Ward-Horn Put Out French Book

Vocabulary Test-Book Helps Student in Review Work

The new vocabulary test-book for French students, written by Prof. Charles F. Ward and Prof. Ernest Horn, has just been published. These two professors have worked for about fifteen years on the material of this book.

It is a book especially prepared for the student, and its primary purpose is to help the student review his vocabulary. To quote Professor Ward, it is "the first direct attack on the hardest problem of beginning students, namely, learning words."

The book contains two thousand words arranged with the English and French opposite each other. This represents about 19 out of 20 words used in ordinary French. Between each French and English word a check mark is placed when the word is first learned, and another check made for review purposes. The list of words is, of course, in alphabetical order, but there is a distinction between the less common and more common words.

Credit is due Professor Horn for the feature of the book which distinguishes between the commonness of the words. He has, through long study, become an expert on the frequency with which words appear.

Professor Ward has worked out and featured a set of rules for telling the gender of nouns, a thing which has probably never been developed before.

In the back of the book a section is devoted to irregular verbs, and a triple check provided for the student to use in reviewing. Along with the list of words is a phonetic guide for pronunciation.

Turkish Chickens Start Gold Rush In Bulgarian Town

SLIVEN, Bulgaria, Jan. 5. (AP)—A brace of Turkish chickens recently brought some gold nuggets into Sliven in their gullets, since which time the townspeople have been thinking far more of prospecting than of their age-old industry of spinning woolen cloth.

The birds were carried to the market place by a Turkish peasant, since eagerly sought, and sold to Ivan Manoloff. Preparing them for the pot Ivan found the nuggets which, after his excitement abated, he sold to the local goldsmith for 400 leva. Ivan has quit work and is devoting all his time to seeking the village where the Turk raised the chickens. His argument is that thus could he trace the source of the find. But he is still looking, for there are many Turkish villages in the Sliven district, and the Turkish peasant has not resappeared in the market place since the day of the now historic occurrence.

Japan Uses Short Wave Wireless Transmission

TOKIO, Japan, Jan. 5. (AP)—Japan is doing much to improve her short wave wireless communication but thus far nothing to make communication with the outside world quicker.

The Funabashi naval station just outside Tokio is being modernized and new short wave stations are being erected in China and Nigota, but these are largely for communicating with ships and between different parts of Japan.

The syndicate headed by Viscount Shibusawa, which proposed erection of a trans-Pacific station, was somewhat embarrassed by the disaster but is understood to be inclined to go on with its project if suitable arrangements can be made with the government for a subsidy.

Boys in Wall Street Demonstrate U. S. is Land of Opportunity

NEW YORK, Jan. 5. (AP)—That the United States remains a land of opportunity is evinced by the fact that during the last five years 30 former page boys and telephone clerks have purchased seats on the New York Stock Exchange at $50,000 or more each. Benjamin Jacobson, former page boy, who paid $50,000 for a seat, is the most recent example.

Among the members who worked from a humble position to a seat in the exchange is Celestine A. Durand whose phenomenal rise from an obscure clerk to his present position in a period of eight years. He has the record of being a trade genius and has purchased seats in the exchange for two assistants.

Another striking example is Arthur G. Somers, now a member of Charles M. Schott, Jr. & Company, of which he became senior partner

Last Minute Rally Gives Marquette Quintet 21 to 20 Victory

Devine Snatches Game From Iowa

Seesaw Battle Thrills Zero Fighting Fans

Trailing Iowa with the short end of a 19 to 14 score and only three minutes left to play Marquette University of Milwaukee stepped on the throttle and shot ahead to a 21 to 20 victory last night giving the Hawkeyes their second defeat of the season.

Iowa had led the visitors since the start of the second half and looked like a certain winner. Quinn started the ball rolling with a free throw, Gloucker and Devine followed. In quick succession with a field basket apiece that tied the count. Fred Jans put Iowa ahead again 20 to 21. With but 40 seconds left to play Devine broke away from the vice-like grip of the Iowa defense and got into the open for a short shot that resulted in a basket and victory for the Hilltoppers.

Hicks Stars

Featured by almost flawless guarding Captain Wayland Hicks and the automatic-like basket tossing of Hector Jans the contest afforded thrill upon thrill to the 3,000 spectators who braved fifteen degrees below zero weather to witness the conflict. With the lead changing four times during the course of the game the hopes of Iowa backers were intermittently tossed from the frying pan into the fire and back to the frying pan again as they watched with suspense a conflict that was nobody's victory until the closing minutes of play.

Iowa Leads at Half

The visitors took the lead on a long shot by Stemper but Jans retaliated with two field goals only to have Quinn, Dunn and Fitzgerald toss in a basket apiece. Iowa took time out and tried to pull itself together. At this time the Hawkeyes had been handling the ball poorly and missing some shots. Fitzgerald got away once more and tossed in an easy setup. Then the Iowa quintet tightened and with Marquette leading by a 19 to 5 score gradually pulled up. A long diagonal pass that covered the entire length of the floor gave Schick the ball. He juggled it, side stepped a guard, and tossed in a basket giving Iowa a 12 to 11 lead as the half ended.

To this Iowa gradually added until with but three minutes to go the Hawkeyes looked like victors. Then the visitors started their sensational rally.

Improvement Shown

The game, although somewhat of a disappointment to Hawkeye backers, showed that a wonderful improvement has been made in the Iowa quintet since the Crediton game. Schick although falling to follow the ball on some occasions is working into his position nicely while Jans seems to have the center position down better. Hicks is still the customary stone wall of defense. Time and again he broke up Marquette formations that looked like certain baskets. Handicap led by a bothersome knee. Wayland stayed in the game until the final whistle and stayed in with all the fight that generally characterizes his work. Although Laude and Pink the other members of the quintet scored no sensational baskets, they played a consistent game that added four points to the score. With a little more work and a fling of confidence the men should come through for a victory over Marquette January 12.

Fast Play Shown By Independents

Companies 'A' and 'K' Start New Year Flashily

Two games were played in the Independent League yesterday at the men's gymnasium when company A defeated company K, 16 to 9, while company K won from company E, 29 to 12. Company I won by default from company A engineers when the latter team failed to appear.

The feature game of the afternoon was between company A and company F. Some of the best basketball seen in intra-mural circles this year was offered by these teams, the men displaying a knowledge of the finer points of the game seldom seen in contests of this type.

Lead Changes Often

The lead changed no less than seven times during the game, company F finally winning by a spurt made in the last period when four baskets were made while their opponents were held scoreless.

The work of Macleod, Peterson and Ressegue for the winners was especially praiseworthy, this trio performing an effective passing and shooting game which the opposition found impossible to stop. Macleod was the scoring ace of the afternoon tossing four baskets. Peterson was close behind with one field goal while Ressegue registered the other goal. Morgan, Watson and Hutchinson looked best for company A. Watson getting two field goals while Morgan and Hutchinson each scored one. The team work of company F compared favorably with any that has been seen in interfraternity circles, and if the type of play of this team is any criterion of the calibre of play in the Independent League the final game between the interfraternity champion and the Independent League champion should be an interesting affair.

Handball Entries Jumped to 40 Since Friday Afternoon

If the number of entries in the University handball tournament is any criterion of the interest in the affair, the tourney should be a huge success, as the entry list has jumped from twenty to forty since Friday afternoon.

G. W. Tompkins is anxious that the men file their entries with him at the men's gymnasium as soon as possible as the entry list will close January 6, the day before the opening of the meet. An interfraternity tournament will be held later in the year, but the men entering the present meet will be entered as individuals in order for a University champion to be determined.

Gold, silver and bronze medals will be offered for the first three places in the meet.

Emergency Fleet Corporation Now Controls Marine

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5—(AP)—Steps were taken today for putting into effect the administration's plan for a more efficient merchant marine through the transfer from the shipping board to the Emergency Fleet Corporation of all duties embraced in the actual control and operations of government tonnage the board retaining its regulatory and advisory powers.

At a meeting of the shipping board Edward P. Farley, announced his resignation as president of the Emergency Fleet Corporation and the one qualifying share he had held as a trustee of the corporation was turned over to Leigh C. Palmer, who will be the new directing head of the government's merchant fleet.

Before the new plan of operation of the government fleet can be made effective the shipping board must adopt a resolution placing it on record with reference to the plan agreed upon by President Coolidge with the members of the board and merchant marine leaders in congress.

The board considered a draft of a new proposal today and it is expected a resolution will be put in final shape for adoption sometime next week.

Olympic Tryouts To be Held Here

Scheduled in A.A.U. Meet by Omaha Coach

In a letter received Saturday from Pete Wendell, swimming coach at the Omaha Athletic Club, announcement is made that the Mid-Western A. A. U. meet which will be held here January 10 will be Pre-Olympic tryouts for this district for the aspirants for the American Olympic swimming team.

Wendell aside from being coach of the Omaha athletic club tank team is a member of the Olympic swimming committee which will select the candidates who will journey to Paris to represent the United States in 1924. Coach Armbuster is driving his men hard for the fact that this will be the last competition for his tankers before the Wisconsin dual meet which will be held here January 19.

The men led by Captain William McCullough are making rapid strides in their daily workouts and will be in condition to give a good account of themselves at the classic January 19. McCullough appears to be better than ever in his practice sessions, the Hawkeye leader spending the greater part of his time in perfecting his form. He was a consistent winner last year and should be the class of the conference this season.

In a practice forty yard relay staged between the freshmen, and the varsity Saturday afternoon, the first year men aided by freshman coach Paul Lukens won by a scant yard from the regulars. The varsity lineup consisted of Klingaman, Goldman, Graf and Hoffman, while the freshman team included McClintock, Stewart, Alsvang and coach Lukens.

Captain John Goldman led his varsity water basketball team through a short scrimmage, after a half hour had been spent in shooting practice. With such men as Goldman, Sorenson, Graff, Hoffman, Helox, Killbrew, Savery, Hogan, Lambert, Lutz and Griffin, last year's captain fighting for places, the team should shape up well in other conference teams.

Iowa City High Beats Mt. Vernon

Captain Boyles Leads Team to 29 to 6 Victory

Iowa City high school defeated the Mt. Vernon high school basketball team yesterday afternoon 29 to 6. Led by acting-captain Boyles, the local high team displayed a superior brand of team work that was never in danger. During the last few moments of play Coach Souček sent in his second string five.

Starting the game with a powerful attack, the Iowa City quintet did not hesitate in finding the weakness of the Mt. Vernon team, held them to only one field goal, and chalked up fourteen for themselves. Amleh was high scorer for the local team with seven points. Carson and Boyles tied for second with six. Captain Gleason made the lone field for Mt. Vernon in the second quarter. Coach Souček's second string men displayed considerable flash in their few moments of play.

Olympic Athletes Cannot Be Written

For Newspapers and Magazines

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 5—On the heels of the move by the United Lawn Tennis Association to write newspaper and magazine editors, the American Olympic committee tonight revealed a plan to combat similar activities by American athletes who participate in the Olympic Paris this year.

"This action has been under consideration for some time, but ever since the 1920 Olympic committee Frederick Rubins, secretary of the Olympic committee, literary proposal to bar athletes from literary activities in connection with the games will be held in the next meeting of the legislative commission of the Olympic committee."

It was said that a motion picture Olympic authorities are in agreement with the plan and Mr. Rubins decided that it would be entirely "believe that it is contrary to American's best interests to allow athletes on our Olympic team to accept accounts of the games for newspapers, magazines or other periodicals. Mr. Rubins continued, "As the possible aspect of commercialism I think such activity would be too much of an athlete's time in the end, be detrimental to her performance. Team should devote their entire attention to competition. The two things not mix."

Danger to American Agriculture Seen in Immigration Policy

(By the Associated Press) CHICAGO, Jan. 5. (AP)—Restricted immigration is causing the development of new agricultural regions, which in a few years will compete sharply with American agriculture...

Expressing this opinion at the recent convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Mr. Howard said: "Development of new agricultural regions to feed the world is resulting from our policy of restricted immigration. There is little likelihood that this policy will be changed. So far as the farmer is concerned the policy shall be adhered to."

But this closing of our doors means that the congested population of Europe must seek other asylums. Already promotional settlement programs are under way in various South American nations as well as in Canada, Australia and Africa.

These people crowded out of Europe and into new lands must enter agriculture because agriculture always precedes industry in the building of any new country. There is no doubt that new fields of competition for the American farmer are developing.

"If America is to stay in the world market and produce a surplus of agricultural products, ships are as much a part of the farm equipment as plows or wagons. Too few farmers realize this. The government still owns something like a thousand steel ships, operated at a heavy deficit of which the farmers are paying their share. We cannot afford to allow these ships to go out from under our flag while we are facing a fight to keep both trade routes and markets."

Lord Mayor of London Takes His Stand Against Blue Laws LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Lord Mayor of London, Sir Louis Newton, believes the people should be permitted to do as they please on Sunday so far as work and entertainment are concerned. He gave practical emphasis of the idea recently by breaking the tradition of a Mansion House Sunday and attending on that day a dinner of the Eccentric Club.

In a speech he acknowledged the "gift" of being made an honorary member and said one feature of the club which he appreciated was its unrestricted hours "for on this day of grace it ought to be left to the people to choose the hours they desire for work and entertainment without eternal parliamentary restrictions."

Mail Pilots Break Icicles From Eyes Intense Cold Freezes Motor and Causes Forced Landing

Flying through the air for three hours yesterday at over 100 miles an hour with the mercury hovering at 18 below zero, Air mail pilot Tex Marshall, in plane No. 248, was forced to break the icicles from his eye lashes in order to keep control of his plane. The frost formed by his breath made it impossible for him to see through his goggles and he was compelled to remove them. The air blast from the propeller made his eyes water and the tears freezing on his cheeks and eyelashes made it necessary for him to keep breaking the tiny icicles that were continually forming.

Dealers Predict No Coal Shortage

Coal Sales More Than 200 Tons Daily As Cold Continues

As long as the weather remains snappy, and there are no heavy snow storms, Iowa City will be in no danger of a coal shortage, according to information given out by local coal dealers yesterday. It is only a matter of a week or two for coal to reach Iowa from the neighboring coal fields, when there is urgent need. No difficulty has been experienced by local dealers in getting their orders filled, as their areas to be a great abundance of coal at the mines. Most of the coal consumed here is mined from the Illinois field. It is estimated that eighty-five per cent of the coal consumed locally comes from these fields, although Kentucky coal is quite popular.

May Commence Ice Harvest This Week

Test Yesterday Shows Ice to be Over 6 Inches Thick

According to information received from the office of the Engle ice company, it is probable that the work of cutting ice near the company's houses between Iowa City and Corvill will begin the latter part of this week. The ice was tested late yesterday afternoon and varies between six and seven inches in thickness. As soon as the rivers are frozen to a depth of ten or twelve inches the ice harvest will commence. The ice harvest usually lasts between twelve and fourteen days and approximately 100 men are in employment during this period. Last year the Engle company put up over 9,000 tons of natural ice, and made 1,121 tons of artificial ice. The total early consumption for the city varies between 15,000 and 20,000 tons.
