At the next meeting of the council the committee reported that they had found all the council proceedings legal and that it seemed that all the complainants had been satisfied that there were no errors in the assessments.

2 Million Given To Nedy In 1923

Counties in Iowa Spent That Exclusive of County Arms

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 21.—Almost two millions dollars was spent by the counties of Iowa in 1923 to help persons in their time, exclusive of aid and cost of county farms, it was announced today by James B. Weaver, chairman of the Iowa child welfare commission.

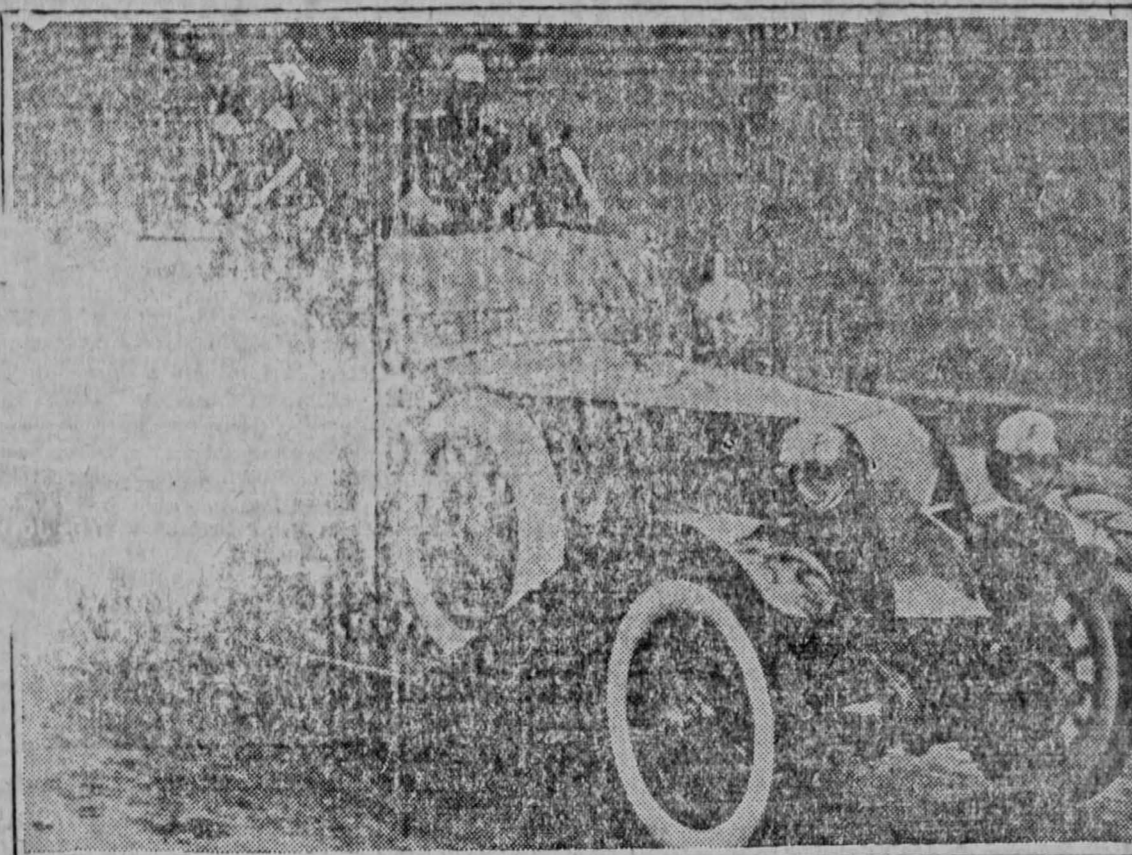

The figures are classified thus: Salaries of overseers, $5,551,092; provisions, $312,331.62; clothing, $21,000.13; fuel, $89,563.29; medical aid, $177,886.29; nurse and hospital, $175,492.61; quarantine, $58,745.4; burial expenses, $31,222.29; rent $54,005.59; transportation, $217,401; for dependent children and mothers' pensions, $631,358.44; cash advance, $91,450.75; pensions for ind. $192,332.59; miscellaneous, $61,579.96. The total amounts to $1,977,710.45.

In addition to this amount, a commission points out, counties of the state spent more than $75,000 "direct to the soldiers' orphans home at Davenport and the state juvenile home at Toledo, and much money was spent for the care of children in the state school for the feeble-minded, the colony of epileptics, and the Oakdale sanatorium.

"One of the duties of the child welfare commission," Mr. Weaver declared in making the figures public, "is to examine the statutes of our own state and inquire into the best standards in the various states in the handling of problems affecting child life, such as children born out of wedlock; the feeble minded; child helping, child placing and child caring institutions, adoption, delinquency; dependency; and neglect; juvenile courts, and mother's aid."

"These subjects and the like not only involve questions of vital importance from a humane standpoint, but they are far-reaching from an economic point of view, in the prevention of abuse of the agencies provided by the state for social and economic betterment. It is only in the light of the experience of the various states that the proper safeguards can be applied for protection of society. Money is well spent

Mud Slinging Banned In Coolidge's Campaign

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Imagine a political campaign without "Appeals to the People," spellbinding orators, mass meetings, mud-slinging, publicity drives, red fire, drums, professional politicians and titles.

Yet Coolidge forces assert and affirm that these are going to be eradicated from their efforts to keep him in the White House.

One of the most remarkable political campaigns in history is planned by the forces. The actual work of putting on the fireworks in the middle and northwestern sections of the country has been begun in accordance with plans mapped out in a conference of Carmi Thompson, Coolidge, chiefman in Ohio; David W. Mulvane, national committeeman from Indiana and John T. Adams, chairman of the Republican national committee.

"Results are the thing," may be a slogan by the forces adopted later on, but not until the keynote "Keep Coolidge" has been broadcast.

The Chicago general headquarters is seeking to bar all the political atmosphere of the job seeker, the buttoner and the ward worker who controls his section. William M. Butler of Boston, will have most to say about the dominating of polity. James W. Good, formerly a Representative from Iowa, will also answer questions. Richard Brown Scandrett—r., a young lawyer from Denver, will likewise be at the general headquarters.

Women visitors will be received by Miss Betsy Edwards of Shelbyville Ind., who at one time was personal representative of Will H. Hays when he was chairman of the National Republican Committee.

Each of these non-title bearing volunteers has his or her work to do: Butler—policy. Good—operation. Scandrett—clubs. Miss Edwards—women.

And it is in the exercise of the spiritual detachment that he differs from the trucky and Chekov, for they above all else were interpreters. And it is in the possession of this characteristic that he marks a beginning in the new literature that is to arise out of the turmoil of evolutionary propaganda, for that above everything else is hectic, rude, and chaotic.

St. Ambrose Wins St. Mary's High Is Outclassed 27-5

Visitors Show Strong Short Pass Attack

Lucas and Bettag Are Point Winners For St. Mary's

Outclassing their opponents in all departments of the game the St. Ambrose Juniors made good their invasion of Iowa City by defeating St. Mary's high 27 to 5 in the Iowa City high school gymnasium last night.

The St. Ambrose five showed a strong short pass attack which St. Mary's five man defense failed to stop, and the visitors were masters of the situation throughout the contest. Garvey, midget forward, starred for St. Ambrose. His clever floor work and basket eye accounting for eleven of his team's points. Sparks, who went in for him, played a fast floor game and came in for three baskets during the few minutes he played. Captain Herlehy, the Ambrosian's right guard, played a steady defensive game but did not figure much in the scoring.

Lucas and Bettag played a good game for St. Mary's and accounted for four of their team's five points. The St. Mary's five's chief weakness was the offense, and they were unable to pierce the Davenporters' defense consistently.

The local team was off to an early lead when Bettag sunk two free throws after he had been fouled by Reedy, St. Ambrose guard. However, Garvey soon evened the count with a pretty throw past the foul line, and Wagner put the visitors in the lead, making a short shot under the basket as the quarter ended. Fast work by Garvey featured the second quarter as the Davenport quintet ran the count to 10 to 4.

St. Ambrose started the third period with renewed vigor and long shots by Garvey and Lawlor gave them a 19 to 4 advantage. Two substitutes sent into the game by Father O'Connor did not seem to weaken the play of the crimson clad visitors, who continued to add to their growing score. Sparks, Lawlor and Garvey continued to run wild, and but for the good guarding of Lucas, the score would have been much larger. Good guarding by Herlehy and Reedy held the locals to one basket. The game was rough at times and Referee Lawrence called fouls frequently on both sides.

Jim Blakesley

Jim Blakesley, an unknown in minor league baseball a year ago, is expected to bust up the Pacific Coast League fences something terrible when the campaign opens in that circuit. Blakesley, with Wichita last season, started the minor league fan by coming with in one home run clout of leading the league in circuit smashes. Jim McDowell won the homer contest by collecting thirty-seven against Blakesley's thirty-six. Vernon in the coast league, has both men for next season.

Sees His Picture On Reward Offer; Gives Himself Up

By The Associated Press
Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 21—Conscience stricken when he saw a picture of himself under a reward offer, William Sprague, 50, surrendered and late today signed a confession here, police announced that he drove a motor car for Tom Larrabee and Charley Towne of Chicago, who are alleged to have killed William A. Daly, special agent, in Joliet, Ill., last June.

Sprague gave himself up yesterday to the station agent at Odessa, Missouri, and was brought here today. In his reported confession, Sprague said he met Larrabee and Towne in Chicago and was offered "easy dough" for driving their car. They drove to Joliet, where, Sprague said, the two men left him. He heard two shots, Sprague continued, then the two men returned and said: "we've plugged a fellow. Drive as fast as you can."

Sprague said he was given $500. The three men drove west, passing through Kansas City. Misfortune overtook them July 6, Sprague said, when Larrabee drove the car into a ditch and Larrabee and Towne were killed.

Ways And Means Committee Ready To Consider Tax

Democrats Line Up For Lesser Cuts Than Mellon's Bill

Chairman Green Sees Coolidge to Talk Over Rates

By The Associated Press
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—While the house ways and means committee cleared the way today for consideration of the new tax rate schedules, house majority leaders sounded out the administration and their party members for a possible compromise on the Mellon bill, particularly as regards the sur-tax rates.

Before calling a meeting of the majority members for the committee for tomorrow to map out a program for study of the new rates, Chairman Green discussed the tax situation with President Coolidge, and pointed out difficulties confronting adoption of the sur-tax rates proposed by Secretary Mellon.

Although Mr. Green later indicated no change in the administration's stand for the major principles of the Mellon bill, Representative Longworth, majority leader, who announced he had conferred with C. Bascom Slemm, secretary to the president, and Secretary Mellon reaffirmed his belief that a compromise on the sur-tax reductions was necessary. He said the basis for such a compromise would be sought in a series of conferences with republican members.

Democrats Lined Up
 Representative Garner, democrat, Texas, who has proposed cuts in the present maximum tax rate from fifty per cent to 44 per cent instead of 25 per cent as suggested by Mr. Mellon, said a poll of the democrats has shown them solidly for the lesser reduction.

The committee today agreed to include farmers' mutual insurance companies in the exemptions from special taxes allowed fraternal benefit organization.

John R. Quinn, national commander of the American Legion, issued a statement tonight in which he said Mr. Mellon had not considered in his estimates of revenue approximately $16,000,000 annually accruing as interest on the British war debt, and also had failed to consider estimated savings of $220,000,000 which economies of national administration will produce. Half of either sum, he explained, would more than pay for a soldier's bonus.

Carried Into Senate
 The controversy between Mr. Mellon and Senator Couzens was carried to the floor of the Senate today by Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, he asked Couzens how much taxes he had paid in each of the last four years.

"I decline to be interrogated as to my personal affairs," Mr. Couzens replied, "until the secretary of the treasury has disclosed his hand."

The treasury made public tonight a letter from Daniel Guggenheim of New York, presenting arguments for the necessity of reducing the sur-tax rates to the extent proposed by Mr. Mellon. Mr. Guggenheim explained that his firm, engaged in seeking and developing mining properties had been forced to suspend most of its projects because its profits could not absorb the necessary losses in such undertakings on account of the present sur-tax rates.

This is true of other firms, he added, and has resulted in a loss of American commerce.

COASTS'

Skating and Bob Sledding Great Winter Sports Favorites This Year

With the thermometer hovering close to the zero mark, and with a four-inch covering of snow over the ground, University of Iowa students are spending a great share of their time these days in good old-fashioned winter sports--tobogganing, ice-skating, skiing, and in many instances, just plain sliding on the hills which are numerous in and about the city.

Daily, the skating rink near the Fitzgerald boathouse, now turned over to a warming up place for the skaters is crowded with students and townspeople, gayly gliding over the smooth ice that is carefully taken care of by those in charge of the rink. The intensely cold weather of the past week has kept the number of skaters down considerably, but Sunday, scores were upon the ice, merrily enjoying themselves.

Bob-sledding, the great winter sport of grandmother's day is constantly revived here in Iowa City. Almost every evening bob sled parties ride through Iowa City streets, and the shouts of the riders and the jingle of the bells ring through the cold, frosty air. A new version, minus the horses and bob sled was the group who attached a long sled behind a Ford coupe.

Sliding upon the hills in the city is another winter sport which is proving very attractive, not only to the younger folk of Iowa City, but to townspeople and students of the University. Several streets have been roped off during certain hours of the day for this sport, and each period finds many taking advantage of the privilege of sliding.

Although it takes experience and constant practice to become a good sled rider, there are several students who consider this their favorite sport. The hills north of the city are considered good by the skiers and there are many who go there for the sport.

With the numerous forms of winter sports that are being participated in by University students this winter, it grows evident that people are being out of doors this winter more than ever. The healthful, crisp air and the exercise all tend toward a more healthful living and acts as a counteraction against diseases and colds which are prevalent at this time of the year.

By The Associated Press
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 22—Death of Captain Herbert G. Sparrow of the wrecked cruiser Tacoma at Vera Cruz, and two radio operators of the ship, due to an accident aboard the Tacoma during a norther, was reported to the state department tonight in a cable message from Consul Wood at Vera Cruz.

The message gave no details but said that Captain Sparrow and the two operators lost their lives while in the performance of the duties.

The navy department did not expect additional advice as to the conditions aboard the Tacoma before tomorrow when the light cruiser Omaha and six destroyers, delayed by the heavy storm on the Mexican coast are expected to reach Vera Cruz.

Expect Details Today
 Navy department officials had expected the Tacoma would be destroyed in the renewal of the norther which is driving her further on the reef where she struck during a similar storm several days ago while attempting to enter Vera Cruz harbor at night. It was assumed from Consul Wood's message, that the death of Captain Sparrow and his two men occurred while the ship was breaking upon the reefs and before rescue vessels arrived.

There were 48 men with the captain standing guard on the wrecked cruiser, according to the last report received from the dead officer. The remainder of the crew, 278 in number, were put ashore at Vera Cruz under the care of Consul Wood the day before the Tacoma piled on the reefs.

Saved By Rebels
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 22—The skeleton crew which had remained aboard the American cruiser Tacoma wrecked on a reef outside Vera Cruz, was rescued by the Mexican revolutionary forces during a hurricane today, Alvarez Castillo, personal representative of Adolfo de la Huerta, was informed by his chief last night. The Tacoma, it was added, is now completely sunk.

The message, which was received by wireless through New Orleans and was signed by de la Huerta said:

"By orders of the supreme chief in the midst of a furious hurricane our small naval transports steamed out of the port to go to the aid of the Tacoma. Our vessels daringly plunged into the tempest, regardless of danger of their own loss, and succeeded in saving the remainder of the crew of the Tacoma, which is now completely sunk."

The Tacoma was an old fashioned, schooner-rigged light cruiser of 3,200 tons normal displacement, built by the union car works, San Francisco, and launched in June 1903. She was authorized in 1909 and the contract price was $1,041,900. She carried eight five inch guns and six six pounders.

British Labor Cabinet Named
 J. Ramsay MacDonald Becomes Prime Minister

By The Associated Press
 LONDON, Jan. 22—The royal government goes into action ahead of all expectations. J. Ramsay MacDonald kissed the hand of the king at Buckingham Palace this afternoon, thus sealing his entrance upon the high office of prime minister, and the exchange of seals between the ministers of the old cabinet and the new will take place at the premier's official residence tomorrow.

Stanley Baldwin met his cabinet for the last time as prime minister this morning. He then proceeded to the palace for a last official audience. His final approach to the precincts of royalty was made like his first, in a humble taxicab. He started to walk through the park but had to hail a cab to escape from the people who pressed around him.

Mr. Baldwin spent half an hour in the royal presence; his successor, as was natural, had a much longer audience.

Parliament finished its deliberations by adjournment of both houses until February 12.
