Arizona Governor Says Traffic Ban Is Vital to State

Defends Tourist Embargo in Message to Coolidge

President Says That Quarantine Rules too Stringent

YUMA, Ariz., April 18—The California motorcade swept by the guards into Arizona tonight.

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 18—(By AP)—Arizona will be "courting disaster", by modifying its embargo against California products and vehicular traffic, Governor Hunt declared in a message to President Coolidge tonight.

The message was in response to one from the president in which he suggested that some of the quarantine measures now imposed by states touching California "are altogether more severe than necessary", to fully safeguard them from the foot and mouth disease.

President Interferes

"The federal department of agriculture is acting vigorously to control the foot and mouth disease and is rigidly quarantining infected areas and preventing movement of the disease carrying animals and commodities. The department has had experience with three previous outbreaks, the last one being much more severe than at present and its control measures are based on this experience.

"In view of the foregoing, I feel that some quarantine measures now imposed by states touching California are altogether more severe than necessary to fully safeguard them from the disease. These quarantines if continued will result wholly unnecessary hardships and in loss of many millions of dollars to growers of fruits and vegetables and other commodities which do not carry the disease.

"I suggest immediate conference of authorities of the states interested and the modification of quarantine regulations to meet requirements necessary to furnish full protection. Nothing will be left undone by federal authorities to eradicate the disease and prevent its spread. No disease carrying shipments are permitted from infected territory. In view of this I suggest that other states should not interfere with necesary movement of afrm commodities from territory not affected. Unnecessary losses should not be incurred because of unecessary quarantine."

Gov. Hunt Replies

Governor Hunt's repy said in part: "When foot and mouth disease was confined to three bay counties in California, officials of the department of agriculture and California authorities, assured me it was under control and urged modification of quarantine order of this state.

Urges U. S. to Copy British Trade Plan

Continuity of Policy Explains Success of England

WASHINGTON, April 18—(By AP)—A continuing policy governing ship operations, similar to that which has made the British "successful" in world trade, ought to be adopted by the United States to eliminate the uncertainty existing in the foreign mind as to this country's merchant marine, G. B. Moore, traffic manager of the shipping board in Europe declared today at the house shipping inquiry.

Representative Lineberger, republican, California, a member of the investigatng committee, suggested that the British were "successful" because of their continuity of policy, and asked if this country should not adopt a similar definite position with regard to its trade routes.

The witness agreed that improvements in domestic trade could be brought about if Americans "spread out" like the English in the ownership of shipping stock and if a policy somewhat similar to that governing stock ownership in railroads were followed.

Another improvement in the building up of domestic commerce, said Mr. Moore, might be made by direct solicitation by the fleet corporation representatives abroad for west bound cargoes instead of depending upon shipping board operators' agents for such business.

Arizona To Use Machine Guns To Halt Tourists

YUMA, Ariz., April 18—(AP)—Resenting an embargo enforced by the state of Arizona barring their entry into this state as possible carriers of the foot and mouth disease germ, approximately 700 motorists from California, embittered, and suffering from hardships of four nights encampment in the desert today stormed the federal quarantine lines west of here and dashed toward Arizona territory, but they were stopped by armed guards at the boundary.

National guardsmen of Arizona tonight were enroute to Yuma with a machine gun to enforce the state's order prohibiting their entry, although some of the travelers, weakened and ill from hunger, were cared for in Yuma hospitals while every effort was made to make comfortable those stranded in California territory.

The long train of motor cars stretched out for more than a half mile in the desert on the west side of the bridge tonight while local authorities were attempting to pacify the hostile and vindictive and induce the travelers to return to cities in California.

Denby Defends His Action In Leasing Oil Reserves

Ex-Secretary of Navy Refutes Charges of Collusion

ADRIAN, Michigan, April 18—(AP)—Full responsibility for the initiation of the policy which resulted in the leasing of the naval oil reserves was assumed here tonight by Edwin Denby, former secretary of the navy.

"Had I not taken the action I did to protect the interests of the navy in these reserves against the tremendous loss of drainage," he declared in an address, "I would have been false to my trust and culpably negligent in the performance of my duty."

Replying to what he said had been an insinuation of collusion on his part in connection with the oil leases, Mr. Denby said he had never been talked to about the naval petroleum reserve situation before he entered the cabinet by the president-elect or by any of his cabinet or other advisors.

"My appointment was somewhat unexpected," he said, "and was not announced until about February 25. Therefore, there was no collusion as to any acts to be performed by me—although even that insinuation has been made.

"Shortly after taking office, it was represented to me that drainage of the reserves was proceeding rapidly and off-set wells were necessary. Believing that the department of the interior was best qualified to handle for the navy its valuable reserves, I turned to the interior department for advice on the subject. I then asked the secretary of the interior if he could not take over the administrative control of the naval petroleum reserves. Secretary Fall did not ask me. I asked him, I wanted him to stop the squandering of an invaluable resourse. Together then, the secretary of the interior and I, presented the matter to the president of the United States and after he had given it careful study he decided to issue a legislative order.

"Therefore a searching investigation was made by the department of the interior into the whole problem and in the meantime certain off-set wells were drilled by the department of the interior with the knowledge and approval of the secretary of the navy, although he did not sign these individual contracts.

"Later on, after discussion of the subject with the council, of the secretary of the navy, I gave Rear Admiral J. K. Robison, engineer-in-chief of the navy, charge of the oil reserves, under the naval establishment.

Here Mr. Denby reiterated at length and in detail his denial of the charge that he had caused to be transferred from Washington or to be retired certain officers of the navy who opposed the leasing policy.

"Upon the advice of Admiral Robison and others," he resumed, "I became convinced that steps must be taken to use the powers given to the secretary of the navy by the congress to accomplish what I earnestly believed to be the intention and will of congress—to save and protect the oil for the benefit of the United States navy.

"The matter was taken up between Secretary Fall and Admiral Robison, and others of the two departments and carefully studied. Secretary Fall then enterdd into negotiations with prospective contractors and the lease with the Mammoth Oil company was the result."

HIMROD ADMIT CONVERSATION

CHICAGO, April 18—Dr. James L. Hinrod, of Mooseheart, Illinois, mentioned in testimony before the senate oil committee today asserted he had a conversation with the late Senator Penrose regarding the nomination of General Wood while Himrod was attached to Wood's headquarters here in 1920, today refused to discuss the matter. Dr. Himrod is in a local hospital.

Rules Illinois High Court Can't Require Vaccination

CHICAGO, April 18—A precedent that school children may "not" be exluded from school for refusal to be vaccinated and that vaccination may not be compelled by a school superintendent or principal without a ruling by the board of education in case of an epidemic, has been set by the Illinois supreme court, it was disclosed today.

The decision reversed and remanded for new trial the case of Burroughs V. Mortenson, Etal, originating in Chicago. In that case a child of Lester G. Burroughs was exluded from school, by the order of Peter Mortenson, then superintendent of schools, at the request of Dr. John Dill Robertson, then health commissioner of Chicago, for refusal to have the child vaccinated.

APPROPRIATIONS GRANTED

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—The house passed the annual appropriation bill for the departments of state, justice, commerce and labor carrying $68,000,000 including provision for increased pay for immigration inspectors.

Immigration Bill Passes Senate by Vote of 62 to 6

Provides for Maximum Admittance Yearly of 150,000

May Modify Jap Exclusion Clause in Conferences

WASHINGTON, April 18—The immigration bill of 1924, carrying substantially the same provisions relating to Asiatic exclusion and other important changes in basic policy recently approved by the house, was passed tonight by the senate by a vote of 62 to 6.

On the final roll call the senate registered its decision by a larger majority even than in the house, where the vote on passage was 322 to 71. The six senators opposing the bill in its amended form on the last roll call were Chairman Colt, Rhode Island and Weller, Maryland, republicans, and Bayard, Delaware, Gerry, Rhode Island, King, Utah, and Walsh, Massachusetts, democrats.

Slight differences in phraseology exist between the house and senate drafts in many sections, one of them the vital "Japanese exclusion" provision and while no evidence has been shown on either side of the capitol of a disposition to recode in the slightest degree, parliamentary observers called attention to the possibilities offered for modifications in conference.

House spokesmen declared President Coolidge had no comment to offer upon the senate action, or upon the situation developed from the failure of congress to accept the state department suggestion against bringing the Japanese into the definitely excluded classes.

The senate bill was described by its author, Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, as "even more restrictive than that passed by the house."

A maximum admittance of 150,000 a year is fixed by the senate bill, against an estimated "quota total" of 162,000 in the Johnson bill, exclusive of exemptions. Senator Reed estimated the house bill actually would provide for the legal admission of "twice the total," or 324,000.

May Ask New Bids on Muscle Shoals

Ralston Suggests Adoption of Policy Before Disposal

WASHINGTON, April 18—Suggestion was made at the senate committee's Muscle Shoals hearing today, that all of the pending bills be set aside and that the government adopt a definite plan with respect to the property and then call for bids to execute it.

Senator Ralston, democrat, Indiana, advanced the proposal and Chairman Norris said he saw no objection to the idea and added that he understood it conformed with the Musce Shoals policy of President Coolidge as set forth in his message to congress.

"As it stands now," Senator Ralston said, "the government has no plan for disposal of Muscle Shoals and before bids are considered a policy should be adopted".

All of the witnesses at today's hearing attacked the bid of Henry Ford. R. D. Bowen, national lecturer for the non-partsan league, said if Ford obtained Muscle Shoals the committee would be "selling the nation's birthright;" O. F. Graff, president of the American Nitrogen Products company, Seattle, Washington, said he opposed the Ford bid and all the other bds because on the basis of their terms no private enterprize could face the competition; and Hugh Macrae, of Wilmington, N. C., a land reclamation expert, declared the Ford proposal contemplated a "virtual gift" from the government.

A steady downfall of rain failed to prevent many of the Daughters from participating in the annual pilgrimage ni which France's ambassador, Jules, J. Jusserand, and Britain's ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, joined.

Believe Army Air Cruisers Halted By Snow Squalls

SEWARD, Alaska, April 18—Although three of the four United States army air cruisers were expected to hop off from Chignik, Alaska, today for a 400 mile flight to Dutch Harbor (Unalaska), on the next leg of an attempt to encircle the globe, it was believed here that reported snow squalls prevented the fliers from leaving. The fourth world cruiser was still at Kanatak, Alaska.

Owing to poor wireless communication to the Southwestern points of Alaska, during daylight hours, it was impossible to obtain any definite information concerning the fliers. The United States coast guard cutter Algonquin is steaming at full speed for Kanatak with an extra motor for the flag plane Seattle, piloted by Major Frederick L. Martin, commander of the globe expedition, who was forced down at that point Tuesday enroute to Chignik from Seward.

House Agrees On State Budget Law

Measure Provides For Supervision of Expenditures

DES MOINES, April 18—(AP)—Iowa house of representatives today accepted the proposed budget law in substantially the same form that it was adopted by the senate several weeks ago. The vote was 62 to 35 and was followed by a full afternoon of debate which was largely devoted to praise of the bill as drawn in conference committees. Little doubt surrounds the fate of the bill in the senate.

The measure provides for the appointment by the governor of a director of the budget who will have wide supervisory powers over expenditures of state departmental appropriations and who will share authority with two assistants, also to be appointed by the governor in the review of appeals from bond issues and contracts for public improvements contemplated by all subdivisions of state.

The Budget bill is virtually the same plan advocated by the tax commission established two years ago to advise the legislature on the best means of reducing public expenditures in Iowa. The Senate this afternoon defeated the so called anti-trust bill but motion has been filed by senator Holdoegel of Calhoun for reconsideration.

No Scholarships On Grade Basis Presidents Decide

College Heads Pass Measure During Conference

Discussions Will Be Made Annual Affair

The conference of college and university presidents of Iowa which has been held at the University of Iowa for the past two days was ended yesterday with a round table discussion held in Old Capital, followed by a luncheon at Currier Hall.

Among the definite issues determined by the conference was the abolishment of scholarships to high school students on the basis of their grades at graduation. The University of Iowa, together with several other schools in Iowa, discontinued this practice last year, and as a result of the discussion following luncheon yesterday afternoon, the presidents of the remaining colleges in Iowa represented in the conference decided upon similar action.

The arguments presented against this wholesale granting of scholarships were that it did not take into account the actual needs of the student; many high school graduates who won the scholarships were not in actual need of assistance. No discrimination was made regarding the size of the high schools, and a graduating class of ten was entitled to a scholarship as well as a class of a hundred.

In operation the granting of scholarships resulted in one college bidding against another, according to the opponents of the system. It was decided to grant scholarships hereafter solely on an individual basis and according to the needs of the student.

Pres. D. J. Cowling of Carleton college, Northfield, Minnesota, was the principal speaker at the round table discussion, speaking on the "Analysis of an ideal budget for a college of 1000 students." A general discussion of the subject of college and university budgets followed his address.

A dinner was given for the visiting presidents at Currier Hall Thursday night as a part of the conference program. Dean Carl E. Seashore of the Graduate College was the principle speaker of the evening. The subject of his address was "Some constructive policies based on observations in visiting colleges."

The conference of Iowa university and college presidents was held for the first time this year, but it is planned to make it an annual occurrence hereafter. The problems discussed are all pertaining to the subject of higher education and college administration.

The presidents attending the conference were: Pres. H. M. Gage, Coe college, Cedar Rapids; Pres. J. W. Million, Des Moines university, Des Moines; Pres. I. F. Meyer, Ellsworth college, Iowa Falls; Pres. G. N. Briggs, Graceland college, Lamoni; Pres. J. H. T. Main, Grinnell college, Grinnell.

Pres. U. S. Smith, Iowa Wesleyan college, Mt. Pleasant; Prof. F. E. Peterson, Luther college, Decorah; Prof. Schneider, Morningside college, Sioux City; Pres. Howard McDonald, Parsons college, Fairfield; Pres. H. E. McGrew, Penn college, Oskaloosa; Mr. R. L. Dean, college treasurer, Simpson college, Indianola.

Pres. J. P. Van Horn, Upper Iowa university, Fayette; Pres. C. A. Mock, Western Union college, Le Mars; Pres. M. J. Hoffman, Central college, Pella; Pres. Pearson, Iowa State College of Agriculture, Ames; and Pres. E. L. Jones, Buena Vista college, Storm Lake.

Methodists Urged To Recognize New Ideas in Standards

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 18—(By AP) Adoption of a resolution urging unificaton of the Northern and Southern branches of the Methdist Episcopal church and introduction of another resolution recommending that the "powers that direct" adopt a new constitution "consistent with modern thought", were features of the afternoon session of the national conference of Methodist students, North and South, here today.

Bishops J. W. Moore, of Dallas, Texas, and F. J. McConnell, of Pittsburg, delivered addresses on the "essentials of Methodism."

"Methodism is not stirred by the theological confusion that is stirring many churches," said Bishop Moore, after he had sketched the history of Methodism from its origin.

Law Library Housed In Various Rooms In Old Capitol Years Ago

The law library is known as the most beautiful room on the campus. It is the goal of frequent sightseers, but little is known of it before the time it was moved into the present building. Few people can recall the time that part of the books were stored in a basement. The present library room is 52 by 29 feet, lighted by delicately stained glass in the ceiling, and giving the effect, on a small scale, of the nave of one of the old European cathedrals.

From the establishment of the law school at Iowa City the library had a place on the second floor of Old Capitol, but graduates of different periods have different recollections as to the setting of the library.

For a time it was kept in a small room on the south side of the upper hall which was partitioned from the old House of Representatives chamber. Later it was moved across to the north part of the building and housed in a room with the geological museum.

In 1901 a gallery was built around this old Senate room so that there could be enough space for all the books, but even then the addition was not large enough, and some of the ancient volumes had to be stored in the basement.

WHAT IS NEWS?

"THE NEW Thaw case is news, and it will be the duty of the press to report the trial.

"But the American people long ago tired of the sordid record of Harry K. Thaw, a man who had more money than was good for him and used his money only to secure notoriety in a sensational degree."

Commenting on these statements an editorial in the Boston Herald, the Christian Science Monitor raises the question, what is news? But it does not answer the question.

The Monitor objects to the remarks of the Herald, especially to the implied definition of news,—that news is the telling of a story of which all the people have long been tired. The Monitor's objection is probably heightened by the fact that its policy is to steer clear of sordid and gruesome news. Still the Herald's definition is open to question, and it is doubtful if it truly applies to this particular case. Although the reading public has heard time and again of the exploits of Thaw, it is not entirely tired of him. His name is familiar to readers everywhere, and they are anxious to see what he will next attempt.

Nevertheless, the problem of defining news is a difficult one. It becomes necessary for every newspaper, and practically for every reporter, copy-reader, and editorial writer, to adopt an individual standard. A glance at the morning papers of any city when there is no catastrophe or event of national import will show that each has its own standard of news values. One will give the prominent place to a political story, another to a local event, and a third to the doings of the state legislature. Outside of the selection of the display stories papers also differ widely. Some make it a practice to get as many short stories on various events as possible. Others have fewer news stories, but longer and more carefully written ones. Some try to secure as many personal items as possible others do not care to deal with a story unless numbers are involved. What is news is an interesting problem, and there are as many solutions as there are papers.

COLLEGE POLITICAL CLUBS

THE IMPORTANCE of political clubs at colleges and universities in inducing students to take an early interest in national affairs was recently emphasized by Pres. Ray Lyman Wilbur, of Stanford University. "It is important," he says, "that students during the period just preceding their participation in active citizenship should have their interest developed in public activities.

"Experience has shown that the organization of clubs in universities representative of the various parties of the country is of great advantage in stimulating interest in elections. The man or the woman who is being given the special opportunities that come with education must be interested as early as possible in taking on the full responsibilities of citizenship. The organization of college political clubs is an important step in this direction."

That the truth of President Wilbur's remarks is realized in some sections is shown by the interest which is taken in political clubs there. The schools of the East are particularly well organized into political groups, and other colleges are falling in line. At Michigan a straw ballot which was recently conducted on the aspirants for the presidential candidacy aroused active interest. A Liberal club has lately been started at the University of Colorado for the discussion of political problems.

Interest in national affairs at Iowa seems to be at a low ebb. A Republican club was reported to have been organized, but finding no competition, it has been inactive. The women have organized a voters league, but they too have no vital issues to raise with anyone. However, the appearance of another club or two, with opposing doctrines, would stand a chance to raise some interesting discussions on the campus.

BYRON

(New York Herald Tribune)

Byron died on April 19, 1824. "The whole world seemed to be darkened for me," said Tennyson, and the emotion he felt was shared by an extraordinary number of Englishmen. In the observance of the centenary of the poet's death every commentator is bound to recur to the unique sentiment he inspired when the impact of his genius and personality upon the public mind was still direct andfresh, ality upon the public mind was still direct and fresh,

* * * * *

When all the oracles have got through with all their high-erected speculations as to this or that strain of might in Byron, you come back to his simple art of challenging attention and holding it. What is it that keeps "The Vision of Judgment," the fruit of an old forgotten enmity, alive with a vitality as rude as that of Kipling? It is the fierceness of the poet's attack, the candid expression of the natural man in him, his freedom from "poetic" pose, his quick and shrewd statement of things.

Saint Peter sat by the celestial gate;
His keys were rusty and the lock was dull.

Who could resist verses opening at that lively pace? You know at once that you are in the company of a man who has something to say and is going to say it without a trace of cant. It is a keen, inspiriting wind that blows through the pages of Byron. He had all of Pope's technique and ten times the salt of manly wit and fervor that you will find in the little bard of Twickenham. And when he strikes the heroic note it rings true with the same warm sympathy, the same intonation of wholesome human feeling. There be those, no doubt, to whom "Childe Harold" is old-fashioned, but no poetry produced by the recent war has touched in simple genuineness the great lines on that Frederick Howard, who was lost at Waterloo:

Their praise is hymned by loftier harps than mine;
Yet one I would select from that proud throng,
Partly because they blend me with his line,
And partly that I did his sire some wrong,
And partly that bright names will hallow song;
And his was of the bravest, and when showered
The death-bolts deadliest the thinned files along,
Even where the thickest of War's tempest lowered,
They reached no nobler breast than thine, young,
gallant Howard!

How clear, it is, how flexible, how swift, and, above all, how interesting! There lies the secret of Byron, in his power to interest, his investiture of every theme with human poignancy as well as with poetic beauty. We know all about the passages, sentimental, rhetorical and otherwise, which nominally contradict this judgment. But we are talking about the essential Byron. When that Byron speaks he is one of the most elemental of the poets, a man of true feeling and ideas. There is no mystery about his hold upon us a hundred years after his death—unless it is the everlasting mystery of genius.

EXCHANGE GEMS

The Daily Kansan carries an illuminating account of the use of doodle-bugs in citrus growing. Catch the bugs and put them on the ground around a citrus tree, says the article. There they will dig pits which will catch all the ants who are desirous of harming the roots of the citrus tree.

The Kansan editor also remarks that every time they make hydrogen sulphide over in the chemistry building, limberger cheese is sold as a perfume.

They make mistakes even in Texas. Note this one from the Daily Texan:

Correction

Due to an error in composing, the last paragraph in the N. U. T. T. story in yesterday's Texan was appended to the Phi Beta Kappa story. The Texan wishes to extend an apology, both to the N. U. T. T.'s for destroying part of the whimsical flavor of their story, and to the Phi Beta Kappa society for the humorous light in which it was placed.

Dartmouth is the meetingest college in America. So says their official college paper.

We don't know what that is, but if it is anything creditable, we advance the claim that Iowa is a close second.

Fires scheduled for the evening of April 25 will be called off from 8 until 12 o'clock, while the Penn State Fireman stage their second annual informal dance at the Armory.

Silver and Gold, the publication of the University of Colorado students, has solved the problem of securing a satisfactory literary and dramatic critic. When Reinald Werrenrath recently gave a concert there, he wrote a criticism of the concert himself.

* * * * *

Now there are great possibilities in this movement. If the Whirlwind Players were to put on a nights showing here, they could send their criticism on ahead of time so that the Iowan might set it up early and relieve the midnight stress in the composing room. Or better yet, the Iowan could publish it a day in advance so one would know whether or not to go. The tickets are always sold by that time anyway.

An author could publish a brief review in the front of his book, so that a reader would know how to take it. Or he might edit the review separately, so that the hurried readers wouldn't have to wade through his book. We should advise some writers to have a very short review published before the novel appears. And then burn the novel in manuscript form.

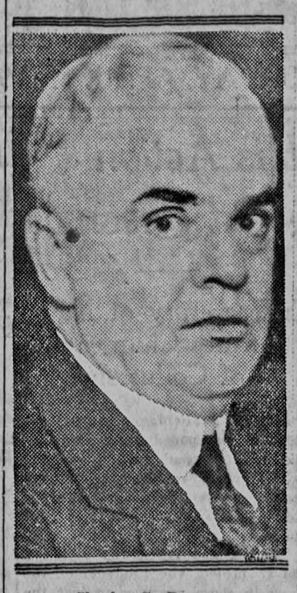
Credit for Deneen Victory in Illinois Is Taken by K.K.K.



Charles S. Deneen.

The Ku Klux Klan is taking the credit for the victory of Charles S. Deneen, former governor in the Republican senatorial primary in Illinois in which the encumbent senator, Medill McCormick, lost. Both sides are preparing for a struggle before the state board of elections.

Illini Doped to Win Cinder Meet with California

Sprints and Distance Runs to be Hotly Contested

BERKELEY, Calif., April 18—(AP)—Athletes representing the University of Illinois, completing this afternoon three days of practice on California Oval here, were on edge tonight for their dual track meet with the University of California tomorrow.

Coach Harry Gill reported the Illini in their best form.

Despite the victory of California in the two previous meets with Illinois, the "dope" favors the visitors to win tomorrow. They have brought record-holders in the pole vault, javelin and hurdles and sterling performers in every other event. California appears an uncertain quantity in everything except the weight events, wherein it was hoped Captain Neufeldt will take the shotput and distance throw.

The sprints, distance run and the relay race are expected to provide hairbreadth finishes.

The meet is the central event of "university day" on the campus. In the morning California and Stanford University will clash at tennis, and in the afternoon, at the conclusion of the meet, the same two traditional rivals will play baseball.

Political Forces In Illinois Start Fall Offensive

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 18—Political forces consolidated their legions in Illinois today preparatory for the great November offensive.

Democrats and republicans in the biennial state conventions, applied the healing balm to the wounds of the primary struggles, marked the new lines of battle in rousing platforms, and focused their energies upon the contest for victory in November.

In the democratic gathering the leadership of George E. Brennan, Cook county chieftain and father of the January advisory convention whose candidates swept the field in last week's primary, was reaffirmed by the success of the organization program.

Across the street, the Small-Thompson-Lundin combination jumped into the saddle at the outset, organized the party and proclaimed the "great day of triumph."

5 Firemen Killed By Buckling Wall

Scores Injured in Box Factory Fire in Chicago

CHICAGO, April 18—(AP)—Five firemen are known to have been killed and a score of other firemen and spectators were buried beneath the falling walls of a burning four story box factory on the West Side tonight. Many of those buried in the debris are believed to have perished.

A dozen firemen stood on the fire escape between the second and third floors when the roof of the stone building crashed in, carrying two floors beneath it under its weight. The wall against which the firemen were grouped, buckled and collapsed and the firemen were thrown into the flaming debris.

A water tower which had been placed in front of the building was wrecked when the building collapsed and a dozen more firemen and spectators who had crowded through police lines, were showered with the brick and stone. Some of these were believed to have been fatally injured.

Hawkeye Track Men Off For Kansas Relay; Barrymen Ready For Purdue Nine

Hawk TrackTeam To Kansas Relays 17 Athletes Go

Bresnahan Enters Men In Three Special Contests

By Eric .C. Wilson

When the University of Iowa mile relay team takes the mark for the event at the Kansas relays this afternoon, the men will be set for the hardest race of the season. The exact Hawkeye line-up is uncertain but Captain Brookins, Coulter and Morrow are sure to run with the fourth man, either Roberts or Kohl.

Eric. Wilson.

Facing the Iowa quartet will be teams representing the east and the west, as well as star aggregations from this section of the country. Dartmouth, place winner in the eastern indoor intercollegiate meet and coached by Harry Hillman who won the Olympic 400-meter title in 1904 will compete and Occidental college from the Pacific coast has produced a powerful team. In addition the four from Kansas University is the same that ran second to the Hawkeyes last year while the Nebraska and Missouri teams are nearly as strong.

Hawkeye athletes will enter one and possibly three other relays. The four mile team, to be chosen from Phelps, Goodrich, Marchi, Bender and Sorenson may spring one of the surprises of the meet if the men run as they are capable. A medley team may also be sent to the marks and if conditions are good half or quarter mile teams may be selected from Brookins, Coulter, Morrow, Roberts Kohl, Hoyt, Nesler and Lambert.

In the special events Crawford will run the high hurdles, Meder will pole vault, Hancock will throw the discus and Dauber will enter the shot put.

Over one hundred schools will send a total of 1,000 athletes to the games and with the high class of competition, many of the records are expected to be shattered. Iowa men hold two marks set last year, the mile relay time of 3:22 6-10 and Harold Crawford's record of :15 5-10 for the 120-yard high hurdles. Cups and white gold watches go to the winning relay teams while victors in the special events receive watches.

By Kenneth Gardiner

Sixteen Iowa track men left last night for Lawrence, Kansas, where the Hawkeye team will compete in the Kansas Relays. Twenty universities and forty colleges have entered teams in the carnival.

The Iowa team will run in four and possibly six of the events, and men have been entered in the three special contests, the shot, discus, pole vault, and high hurdles.

In the shot Dauber will have Hartman of Nebraska and Levi of Haskell Indian school against him. Noteworthy of Meder's opponents in the vault will be McKown of Kansas State Teachers college.

Crawford in the high hurdles will run against Keeble, of Missouri, holder of the world's record in the 50-yard high sticks, Kipp of Haskel Indians, who ran second to Crawford last year, Simpson of Missouri, and Levi of the Haskell Indians. Both Simpson and Levi have considerable records behind them.

In the quarter and half mile relays Nebraska and Kansas both will be represented by strong teams. Kansas won first in both races last year. For Iowa neslerfi Hoyt, Lambert, and Roberts will run the quarter relay, and the same team with Brookins going in for Roberts, will do the half mile relay.

Iowa is doped to win the mile relay again this year, wth Kansas, Dartmouth, and Occidental college, furnishing the strongest opposition. The team that will run for Iowa will be picked from Coulter, Roberts, Kohl, Brookins and Morrow.

Wisconsin and Ames are expected to have the strongest teams in the 4 mile relay, with Wisconsin having a shade over Ames. Sorenson, Goodrich, Phelps, Marchi, and Bender will go to Kansas for this event.

In the hurdles, Towler and Martineau, of Minnesota, Crawford and Brookins of Iowa, Wier of Nebraska, Blanchard, of Washington, and Kipp, of Haskell will be favorites.

In the century dash, Green of Grinnell, Coulter and Brookins, of Iowa, and McAndrews of Wisconsin, are among the flashes who will go to the mark.

McTIGUE TO FIGHT

NEW YORK, April 18—(A. P.)—Paddy Mullins, manager of Mike McTigue, light heavyweight champion of the world, tonight confirmed a statement made by "Pa" Stribling in Atlanta that a 15 round decision match in that city between McTigue and Young Stribling was being considered for late summer.

Iowa Men To Compete In Kansas Relay

Charging Bull Enters Drake Race

Arapahoe Brave Is A Versatile Athlete

(Special to Daily Iowan)

DES MOINES, Ia., April 18.—Probably the most picturesque of the 1,500 athletes who will battle for places in the Drake Relay meet here April 25 and 26 is Charging Bull, an Arapahoe Indian brave.

Charging Bull, who is better known as John Levi of the Haskell Indian school, is regarded throughout the American sporting world as the greatest Indian athlete in history, not excluding the great Jim Thorpe.

Last fall Levi was heralded far and wide as one of the greatest football players of the land. He was one of the prominent all-American selections. In basketball he played center and was one of the best in the game. In baseball—he has rejected a number of major league contracts, which speaks well for his ability.

But it is in track that John Levi, "Charging Bull" will be seen here, and a glance over his records will show his rank. He puts the 16-pound shot 48 feet 7 1-4 inches; he throws the discus over 135 feet; he clears six feet in the high jump, although he weighs 200 pounds; he runs the high hurdles in :15 3-5 seconds and the low hurdles in :25 2-5 seconds. These are some of John Levi's records, vouched for by Robert Edgren, one of the leading sport writers of the United States.

Levi can do everything well, from running a speedy 100-yard dash to throwing the javelin and his coach, Frank W. McDonald, is already grooming the big Indian for the western tryouts of the Olympic pentathlon. Experts believe it to be a certainty that "Charging Bull" will represent America in the pentathlon in France this summer.

Levi is only 20 years old and has had only one year of track competition. He has the wiry, sinewy frame of the ideal athlete. John Levi's performances are expected to be one of the features of the Drake relays. Several of his mates from Haskell Institute will compete with him here.

714 Athletes Enter Ohio Relays Today

Hottest Competition Expected in Distance Medley

COLUMBUS, Ohio., April 18—(A. P.)—With hundreds of athletes on the ground fair and warmer weather predicted for tomorrow and the unsurpassed facilities of the $1,500,000 Ohio Stadium, groomed to a nicety, conditions pointed tonight to an auspicious inaugural Saturday afternoon of the Ohio Relays here. Sponsored by the Ohio State University, the relays which will be an annual event, will be one of the most ambitious ever held in the middlewest.

Entry list for the meet includes 86 school boy and college teams, with 714 individual athletes nominated. The program calls for 46 events, most of which are relay races. With the execption of preliminary heats in the three 100 yard dash events in various divisions and in the 120 yard high hurdles (open) all events will be contested tomorrow afternoon.

Among the events for Big Ten schools only, the distance medley promises hottest competition, with Michigian and Ohio State apparently the class of a field of five teams. The two mile relay, open to all Universities, also looms as a warmly contested event. In this relay also only Big Ten quarters have been entered. Michigan is looked upon as the favorite althought any of the other four, Minnesota, Ohio State, Indiana, and Wisconsin may develop unexepected strength.

"Play" called at 2:30

By Claire J. Mills

The Barrymen will meet Purdue in the second conference game of the season this afternoon at 2:30. With two stiff workouts yesterday the Iowa team is all set to ascend the ladder which leads to the first baseball championship for this University. With the team's fielding almost perfect, and the hitting improved fifty per cent, the Hawkeye team will be in the game today with consistent pep and vigor.

There has been no change necessary in the roster of players who will carry the laurels of a victory today. In the hitting lineup, Mort Barrett has stepped one foot ahead.

Are we conceded a winner today? A question, perhaps, that is hovering on the minds of many earnest University athletic followers.

The Boilermakers have been gifted with a pitcher that is being greatly talked about. Campbell, their proud prodigy, is a man who can shoot them over the plate much the same as Cornell's Paulson. The Iowa team has no fear, however; with Marshall starting the days slap duty in the best of condition and the team keyed to a high pitch everything is ready for a hard fought victory. Duhm will be anxiously waiting to assume any responsibility in case the Purdue squad has a peculiar liking to "Hub's" delivery.

In the practice yesterday morning the entire squad went through a stiff hitting practice that gave them a good appetite for a hearty luncheon that undoubtedly tasted much like a dinner. In the afternoon the Regulars and Yannigans played about for nine innings with the Regulars taking the honors with a five to three victory. The Regulars slashed out nine hits, one of which was a double. The Yannigans touched Fabricious for five bing-os, one being Sah's tripple.

With the carpenters putting the finishing touches on the new stands, and the painters busy with their spray every thing is ready for the vacation game of the season.

350 French Athletes In Pre-Olympic Meet

PARIS, April 18—Three hundred and fifty athletes, among them the French champions in all the distance events as well as many provincial darkhorses who are reported to be marvels in their own home towns, will compete in the first great pre-Olympic meet for the selection of the French Olympic team to be held Easter Sunday.

Joseph Bydolek of Buffalo Wins Pine Hurst Golf Match

PINE HURST, N. C., April 18—Coming up from behind after being four down at the turn Joseph Bydolek, of Buffalo, today won the annual mid-April tournament here by defeating John D. Chapman of Greenwich, Connecticut, one up in 19 holes.

Phelps and Evringham To Race Paddock at Drake

John Evringham A1 of Fort Madison and Lowell Phelps A1 of Clinton will run against Charles Paddock, champion sprinter, in a special 125 yard race on Saturday at the Drake Relays in which Paddock will try to set what will be equivalent to a new word's record. It is also possible that these two men will oppose Paddock in the special 100, but nothing definite has been done with regard to the latter race.

Inasmuch as the 125 yard event is an odd distance there is no authentic world's record for it. C. H. Sherrill ran the distance in 1889 in New York City, and to him is credited what is known as the American Noteworthy performance. His time for the 125, which Paddock will try to lower, was 12 4-5 seconds.

Evringham and Phelps will be given a handicap over Paddock, and will probably start far enough ahead of the sprinter to make him do his best. Everingham has done the 100 in 10 1-5 seconds and runs better in the longer events.

Football Men Have Mock Scrimmage

Spring Vacation Cuts Squad to Sixteen; Drill Light

Mock scrimmage, work on blocking and running with the ball, and drill on both ends of the passing game, marked varsity football practice yesterday afternoon on Iowa Field. Inroads of spring vacation had cut the number from thirty candidates to the sixteen who greeted Coach Ingwersen last night.

Without enough men to make two complete teams Ingwersen played one side of the line at defense and the other on the offense, Galloway and Rice played at defensive tackle and end respectively McIntyre was over the ball, Olson and McCosh played offensive guards, Raffensberger offensive tackle, and Otte was at end. Fisher, Hamilton, Hogan and Graham were behind the line.

For fifteen minutes Ingwersen shot plays at right end and through right tackle. Hogan and O'Niel alternated at carrying the ball and Galloway and Rice breaking up the interference and nabbing the runner. Raffensberger shifted from offense to defense and Galloway took his place.

Olympic Material May Be Unearthed at Kansas Relays

1,000 Athletes Ready To Compete in Carnival Today

Mile Relay Holds Center of Interest in Meet

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 18—(AP)—The vanguard of nearly 1,000 athletes, representing 95 universities, colleges and preparatory schools, had arrived here today to participate tomorrow in the University of Kansas relays, the first major outdoor track meet of the middlewest.

The program consists of twenty one relays and fifteen individual events with entries from coast to coast. The meet will be staged on the Kansas University Memorial Stadium.

Potential members of the American Olympic team are on the entry list and the meet is sufficiently intersectional to give some idea of the relative merits of the many athletes who have been giving promise of Olympic form during the indoor season.

The mile relay in the university section will be one of the features. Dartmouth, Iowa, Kansas, Occidental, Nebraska, and Wisconsin are the favorites in this event. Other entries are Creighton, Oklahoma, Oklahoma Aggies, Grinnell, Ames and Drake. Iowa, by winning the mile relay at the Illinois relays in 3:27 looks to be the leader of the group, but the Kansas team did the distance indoors on a "lap" board track in 3:228 2-5 this winter.

The four mile relay will bring together Wisconsin and Oregon Aggies as the favorites, with the Kansas Aggies, Ames, Minnesota, Oklahoma, Oklahoma Aggies, Iowa, Kansas, and Nebraska as their opponents.

In the two mile relay, Northwestern, Ames and Nebraska, are favorites in a strong field.

There are two sprint relays scheduled and Kansas, winner of both last year, will push Iowa, Nebraska, Washington and the other half dozen entries to the limit. Drake, entered in both sprints, showed sprinters of merit in the indoor valley meet this winter and may upset the dope in the quarter or half mile relay.

The special events will bring many of the Western Olympic candidates into action. John Levi, all-around Indian athlete of Haskell Institute, will compete in the distance and against him will be Paul Jones of Depauw, winner of the Illinois all-round championship and Gross, holder of the Minnesota record.

Levi is 24 years old, six feet, two inches in height and weighs 200 pounds.

Famous Argentina Polo Back Will Play For England

NEW YORK, April 18—Luis L. Lacey, who played back on the brilliant Argentine Federation four that captured the American open polo championship in 1922, will be a member of the British team which will seek to lift the historic Hurlingham cup from the United States, in a series of matches here next September.

This was learned today, when the U. S. Polo Association was advised Lacey would be a candidate for the British team. Lacey is regarded as one of the best backs in the game.

4 Crack Quarter Milers To Meet Iowa Relay Team

Eastern Stars To Race Here at Relay Carnival, May 3

NEW YORK, April 18—(AP)—Four crack eastern quarter milers have been chosen to race the former Iowa University championship team in a special one mile match relay at the Iowa relay carnival on May 3.

According to Hugh H. Hirshon, of the Wilco, A. A., who formed the team at Iowa's request, the East will be represented by Jake Driscoll and Ray Robertson, of the Boston A. A.; Tom Campbell, former Yale track captain, now wearing the New York A. C. colors; and Vincent Lally of St. Anselm's A. C., New York. Laly was substituted for Alan Woodring, Olympic 200 metre champion, who withdrew after pulling a tendon recently.

The Iowa quartet, which won the National A. A. U. one mile title at Chicago last summer, includes Charles Brookins, world's low hurdles record holder.

Falk and Donohoe Chosen Delegates To Los Angeles

Represent Iowa City Woman's Club at Convention

Higbee Explains Task Before Zoning Commission

Two delegates to represent the Iowa City Woman's club at the Biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to be held at Los Angeles June 3 to June 13, were chosen at the meeting of the Iowa City Woman's Club yesterday afternoon in the Commercial Club rooms. Mrs. George L. Falk and Miss Nora Donohoe were elected to go to the convention.

Prof. F. G. Higbee, chairman of the Zoning Commission, spoke to the club on the work done by this commission and the plans worked out. The purpose of a zoning system, he explained, was to create an orderly and systematic city growth. The Zoning Commission, which is composed of twelve members, has worked out a system of zoning divisions which will later be placed before a public hearing to be approved.

Prof. Higbee explained the three main divisions: the business district in which there are to be no residences; the commercial and industrial business district, which is divided into light and heavy manufactures; and the residence district which includes single dwellings and multiple dwellings such as apartment club houses. In the residence district such requirements as restriction of height, distance of "setback" from the street, and side yard would be taken into consideration.

Further announcement was also made at this time of the annual club luncheon to be held Monday, April 21, at the Red Ball Inn at 12:30 o'clock. Arrangements have been made for a bus to leave at 12:15 o'clock which will go directly to the Red Ball Inn.

Democrats Seek Views of Coolidge on Bonus Bill Passed by House

WASHINGTON, April 18—(By AP)—The soldier bonus bill was taken under consideration by the senate tonight with hte prediction by Senator Curtis, republican, Kansas, its sponsor, that only a "few days" would be necessary for its passage.

Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, asked Senator Curtis to seek the views of President Coolidge on the bill as passed by the house and ordered reported by the senate finance committee with the 20 year endowment policy provision.

"If these reports are true," Senator Marrison said, "that the coming to us through America nLegion officers, that President Coolidge will sign the pending bill but would veto a message with a full cash payment option we democrats will gladly expedite passage of this measure."

Senator Curtis, in reply to questions of Senators Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic leader, and Harrison, declared he had not sought and did not now the attitude of the president on the pending measure.

Woman Mayor Resists Efforts to Oust Her

Mrs. George Orvis

By Central Press.

MANCHESTER, Vt., April 18.—Bootleggers furnish the chief troubles in the official life of Mrs. George Orvis, mayor of Manchester, who is called the prettiest woman mayor in the United States.

Mrs. Orvis is the only chief executive of her sex in the native state of President Coolidge.

Next to bootlegging Mrs. Orvis says, she is bothered by persons who disapprove of women in politics and who are continually scheming to supplant her with a man. This last, she admitted, hasn't been such a great problem, for she is serving her third successive term. But the bootleggers—

"Manchester is only 100 miles from the Canadian border," and the main highway to New York State runs through our town. Hardly a night goes past but the trucks whiz by laden with liquor. We have four policemen and they could no more stop one of the trucks than they could an airship.

"You see the rum-runners come through about 3 or 4 a. m. When they have a big load, they generally use two trucks. First comes one carrying a number of men, guards for the cargo on another that follows close behind. On the whisky truck are three drivers. They go like mad and they never stop for anything or anybody."

"I have known President Coolidge's family for 20 years," she said. Manchester is about 40 miles from Plymouth, where the Coolidge homestead is.

She said that the elevation of Calvin Coolidge hadn't made any noticeable difference in the daily lives of the president's father and his family.

"Mr. Coolidge," continued Mrs. Orvis, "sits out on the front porch just as he always did and watches the passersby. Only since his son became President thousands of people have been coming to Plymouth to see the President's home. Mr. Coolidge invites them in and shows them the house. Oh yes, and he keeps a guest book and makes the visitors all sign their names. But that's the only change of his life."

Suspend Investigation Of Daugherty for Time

WASHINGTON, April 18—Senate investigation of the department of justice and of the administration of Former Attorney General Daugherty was in suspension today and will remain so, Chairman Brookhart, of the committee said, at least until Monday.

The delay was found necessary because of the senate inquiry into the Montana indictments returned against Senator Wheeler, "prosecutor" for the Daugherty committee. His entire attention would be needed, it was explained, for the other investigation.

Four Men Declare For Nominations To Legislature

Clearman and Colony Seeking State Senatorship

Showers and Work in Field for Place In House

Four more men have announced their intentions of competing for the nominations to the state legislature. These are: Mr. Geo. Clearman, Republican, for State senator; Mr. R. M. Work, Republican, for State Representative; Mr. Charles E. Colony of North Liberty, Democrat, for Senator; and Mr. Chas. N. Showers, Democrat, for Representative.

Mr. Ray Yenter and Miss Emma J. Harvat were expected to run for the position of representative, but have not done so, probably withdrawing in favor of the above candidates. Mr. S. W. Mercer, and Mr. S. D. Whiting, both Democrats, have already announced that they will be candidates at the primaries for the office of senator and of representative respectively.

"If the Farm Bureau is back of Colony and Showers it will give them quite a following," said Mr. T. E. Murphy when asked concerning their possibilities. Mr. Murphy went on to say that there would likely be some close polling at the finals if matters remained as they are at present. The Republicans of course will have no opposition in the primaries unless more signify a desire for the positions. They have still many vacant places in the County offices to fill.

Mr. Murphy states that from 1904 up to within the last four years the Democrats polled a large majority over the Republicans in Johnson county. About four years ago the Democratic party broke up over the woman suffrage and prohibition questions. Since then, many have refused to vote altogether. This has depleted the Democratic ranks until the Republicans hold a majority. Until the last four years Johnson county has been the only strong Democratic county in the state.

Fire Loss Less First 3 Months Than Last Year

Fire Chief, J. J. Clark gives figures for the first three months of this year which show a reduction in calls of eleven over the same period of last year and a reduction of $2,842 in losses.

During the first three months of 1923 the number of calls was: January, 21; February, 27; and March, 18, a total of 66 calls. The losses were: January, $1,165; February, $5,385; and March, $7,434, a total of $21,133 on biuldings and an additional loss of $7,149 on contents, making a total loss for the three months of $21,133.

In 1924 the number of calls for these months were: January, 28; February, 11; and March, 16; making a total of 55 calls. The losses both buildings and contents, were: January, $12,648; February, $2,953; and March, $2,700, making a total loss of $18,291. This shows a decrease of losses of $2,842..

The total insurance on buildings and contents for 1923 was: January, $63,500; February, $19,400; and March, $67,900, a total of $150,800 insurance. For 1924 the insurance was: January, $52,850; February, $24,800; and March, $56,600, a total of $134,250.

Daugherty Committee To Probe Handling Of Anti-Trust Cases

WASHHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—Testimony at an unexpectedly arranged session today of the senate committee investigating the department of justice, dealt with a variety of subjects, including mysterious disappearances of confiscated liquors, bootlegging and bootlegging prosecutions, and war fraud cases.

Once or twice committee members balked at the ramifiations introduced notably when one witness said he had heard that "two bottles" of confiscated intoxicants had been sent at one time to the office of Speaker Gillette of the house. Mr. Gillette later denied the charge in a formal statement. Adjournment was taken until Monday when committee members said the handling of anti-trust cases by the department of justice and the federal trade commission would be given attention.

To Discuss World Court Proposals

Public Hearings Will Be Instituted By Senate Soon

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—Proposals from American adherents which have been slumbering in the senate foreign relations committee, will be brought out for a pubic hearing in the near future.

This was decided upon today by the committee, but Chairman Lodge and other members indicated this did not mean an early report would be made to the senate on any of the several propositions that have been advanced, among them the original proposal submitted by President Harding more than a year ago.

Committee action today was confined solely to the granting of a request of a number of organizations favorable to the world court idea that they be heard. A subcommittee of five, with Senator Pepper, republican, Pennsylvania, as chairman, was named to conduct the hearings.

Senators said there has been little discussion in the committee and there were no renewals of charges recently made in the senate by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic leader, that Senator Lodge was preventing action on the matter.

The sub-committee is without any authority, Chairman Lodge said, to make any recommendation to the entire committee as between the several plans that have been suggested and embodied in resolutions introduced in the senate. It is limited wholly to the conducting of hearings and report on them. Senator Pepper, said he had had to postpone the beginning of the "willfull default," but they express confidence that if such default occurs, it would be so obvious that the whole world will be ranged on the side of the long-suffering allied creditors.

The experts do not expect much real French resistance to the plan for the "transfer committee" to handle reparation payments from Germany, transferring the German currency into foreign currency.

Much curiosity is being expressed concerning who will be the reparation commission's choice for Chairman of the transfer committee, or the "world's biggest financial boss," as some of the observers assert he will be.

Scouts Hike and Play Ball During Spring Vacation

The Boy Scouts are making the most of their week of vacation, in spite of the absence of the Scout Executive, Mr. N. W. Gowens. Mr. Gowens has gone to Chicago over the week end, but is expected back Monday.

Several games of the series in the Scout League have been played. Troop 12 has won two games and is still in the lead, but a number of the other troops have each won a game. It is the plan for each troop to play each other troop, the tournament ending the last week of May.

Troop 9 went on a hike last night in place of their regular indoor meeting, and held their meeting outdoors in the hills north of town. Several of the other troops are planning to do the same over the week end.

Throngs Greet Announcement in Athens of Republic

Vast throngs outside of parliament house in Athens as the result of the vote of the assembly as to the fate of the monarchy was announced.

Greece is now taking its first wavering steps as a republic. After the Greek National Assembly, by an almost unanimous vote, decided upon the overthrow of the Glucksburg dynasty and the establishment of a Hellenic republic, their action was whole-heartedly approved by the people in a referendum vote. Thus the last faint hopes of the exiled el devant King George II, son of the twice deposed Constantine to regain rulership of his country, disappear entirely.
