Bootlegger Unions Oppose 2.75 Beer Congress Informed

Would Check Demand For Whisky, They Have Declared

Convention Opposes Dry Law Change In Resolution

(By the Associated Press)

ASHINGTON, May 9—Word reached congress today that the bootleggers union meeting in solemn convention, May 1, at New York, unanimously adopted resolutions protesting against modification of the Volstead Act, to legalize 2.75 per cent beer.

A petition forwarded to Representative Griffin, democrat, New York, said that delegates from locals along the Atlantic coast attended the meeting and were convinced that "various ill-advised and misguided informers have initiated a vicious propoganda to break down the drastic and wholesome provisions of the Volstead Act."

Declaring that the object of bills to legalize beer have the "avowed object of encouraging the consumption of the so-called lighter drinks to the detriment of whisky and other alcoholic beverages," the petition said that enactment of such legislation, would "undermine and perhaps utterly destroy an important industry which this union with its affiliated locals, has painstakingly built up at great risk of an immense capitol, not to speak of the risk of personal liberty, many of our members having incurred jail sentences, and the confiscation of their personal property in the pursuit of their chosen calling".

It has been the settled policy of the government to encourage and protect infant industries, the petition said, adding that the bootlegging industry has shown sufficient evidence of vitality to fall within this category and consequently be entitled to the protection and support of the government.

Millikin Strike May Be Adjusted

Compromise Proposals Considered As Possibilities

(By the Associated Press)

DECATUR, Ill, May 9—Possibility of the settlement of student difficulties, which has resulted in a walkout of more than four hundred students, rested tonight on a faint possibility of student approval of compromise proposals made by an alumni committee and accepted by the board of managers in a meeting Thursday night.

Members of the student committee have indicated their dissatisfaction with the proposals but have agred to put the entire matter before students for a vote not later than Monday. The students' demand has centered about divorcement of the influence of the Millikin trustees and the board of managers of the university which members of the board claim they cannot grant owing to the terms of the will of James Millikin. The alumni plan provided greater alumni membership on the board of managers.

A new angle in the situation developed today in the announcement of Dr. W. H. Penhallegon, a member of the board of Millikin university trustees, that Dr William Chalmers Covert of Philadelphia, general secretary of the general board of education of the Presbyterian church, together with several members of the synods of Illinois had been invited to confer with boards of control of the university.

Bonding Votes Must Be Regitered, Says Ben Gibson's Ruling

DES MOINES, May 9—(AP)—The necessity for special registration before the June primary, in the primary election, was pointed out by Attorney General Ben Gibson today, in order that the misunderstanding encountered in Polk county might not jeopardize the bonds elections in other counties.

A general registration of voters for primaries is not necessary but the law requires that special registrations must be had for bonding proposals. A number of counties in the state are planning bond elections for highways and other purpose on the coming primary day.

Effort To Clear Three Skeletons' Identity Fails

FORT DODGE, Iowa, May 9,—(P)—Authorities here have virtually abandoned hope of clearing up the mystery surrounding three human skeletons, unearthed Wednesday by A. H. Khaler while he was digging a post hole in the rear of his home.

Old residents claim to recall the disappearance, about fifty years ago, of three men and suspicions that were cast upon a hotel keeper, who later left the city for Blackhills region, but records do not disclose anythings that might lead to identification. No evidence, it was said, was ever obtained against the hotel keeper

Dentists who have examined the teeth unearthed estimate the ages of men at death as between 25 and 35 years.

Shaw Denounces Pure Democracy

Government Control Of Industry Unwise

Strong approval of the constitutional government as conceived by the framers of the constitution, and denouncement of government ownership, pure democracy, and socialism were the high points made by the former Iowa governor, Leslie M. Shaw, in his address on "Constitutional government vs. Pure democracy" delivered last night at natural science auditorium.

Mr Shaw pointed out the inconsistency of sending a man to Congress whom you trust and then allowing him to be controlled by those whom you would not have represent you. He emphasized the dearth of wisdom and the comparative prevalence of integrity among men and suggested that a crook is more desirable in power than a fool because you can impeach a crook and put him in the penitentiary. "The thief may steal a little cream but the fool spills the milk."

Mr Shaw said in part: "The fathers created a republic representative government. They did not create a democracy-popular government In calling the Constitutional Convention to order, George Washington said: "If to please the people we offer what we ourselves disapprove, how can we thereafter defend our work. Let us erect a standard to which the wise and honorable may repair. The event is in the hands of God?"

The point I wish to stress is that Washington warned against trying to please the people. Then behind closed doors, pledged to secrecy, with the charts and logs of every wrecked republic for twenty-five hundred years before them, they produced the most perfect scheme of representative government that the brain of man had, or has yet conceived; and they provided that it should be approved and might be amended not by popular vote or referendum but by delegates. Washington often referred to the "delegated will of the Nation," never to the "popular wish of the people."

We are authoritotively told that seventy per cent of our people possess the mental capacity of normal children fourteen years of age or under. If we ever pass to pure democracy we need therefore expect nothing better than fourteen year old government. The only thing that gets bad when it gets pure is a democracy.

Concerning government ownership Mr Shaw illustrated effectively the result of government competition with private enterprize.

"If I were president of the United State I would veto every bill that puts the government in competition with the people," declared the speaker. From the provision of the constitution granting to the people, life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, Governor Shaw drew his interpretation of the true end of government. Offering unfair competition to private citizens is not in accord with the spirit of the document upon which America was founded. "By fostering industry and fathering none, we made this country."

Michigan City Bowl Holds Water Nicely; Has 2 Feet

MICHIGAN CITY, Indiana, May 9—(AP)—The roofless bowl here where Tom Gibbons and Georges Carpentier will battle May 31, tonight held more than two feet of water as the result of recent heavy rains. The promoter said that he would guarantee a dry bowl for the thirty first even if he has to pump the water out the day of the fight. Reservations for the battle are already coming in, he said.

Governor of Iowa Reviews University Cadet Corps Today

R.O.T.C. Unit To Have Busy Day; Report At 7 a. m.

Kendall in Iowa City On Annual Governor's Day

With the chief executive of the commonwealth of Iowa, Governor Nate E. Kendall, President Walter A. Jessup of the University, and other notables in the reviewing stand, the entire regiment of the University of Iowa R. O. T. C. will parade in the annual Governor's Day review today. An extensive program, consisting of competitive drills, inspections and awarding of honors and parades will occupy morning and afternoon.

Governor Kendall will arrive on the Rock Island at 10:15 this morning. He will be met by picked squads and the University band. He will be accompanied to Iowa Field where he will take his position in the reviewing stand.

The cadets of the regiment are required to report at the armory at 7:00 a. m. Approximately 1200 men will take part n the competition and review.

The R. O. T. C. units and the University band will form parade lines at the armory at 7:15. They will march to Iowa Field, stack arms and the competitive program will be started.

The cadets will be excused after the competitive program of the morning and the afternoon's work will be started at 1:30. The actual review will be held at this time and following the review the awards of honors will be made.

A unique demonstration will be that of the engineers unit, which will build a regulation army portriver between the Iowa avenue and Burlington street bridges.

All students registered for military training are required by departmental regulation to be present for the annual review today, which virtually closes the military department work for the year.

A large list of prizes is being offered to those excelling in the various branches of competition. Some of the awards are travelling trophies and will be held for one period by the winners. Most of the awards become the property of the winner.

Prizes are to be awarded to individuals, squads, platoons, companies, regiments, officers, and in fact, every part of the organization. Governor's Day has become a solid annual institution of the University. It is the gala day for the military department, which has always made its appearance in brilliant array for the occasion. Appropriate band music will add to the military effect of the occasion.

Uniforms of the cadets and cadet officers will serve as distinctions for length of service. Cadets in the basic courses will wear complete uniform, except blouses. Advanced course men will wear blouse and belt. Regimental, battalion and company commanders will wear sabres.

Excuses for classes have been granted to all participants by University regulation.

Where Missing World Fliers Vanished

Destroyers of the United States navy, aided by Alaskan fishing boats are searching the north Pacific ocean south of the Alaska peninsula between Chignik and False Pass, while shore parties are hunting in the Aleutian mountains west of Chignik, for the missing plane of Major Frederick L. Martin, commander of the round-the-world flight sponsored by the United States army. ith Major Martin when he disappeared, after leaving Chignik for Dutch Harbor, Unalaska, to join the other planes in the expedition, was his mechanician, Sergeant Alva Harvey.

After a series of mishaps which delayed him and left him behind the other fliers, Martin was caught by a stotrm described by old settlers as the worst in years, and he and Harvey may have been hurled into the sea and drowned, but hopes are entertained that they were able to take refuge in one of the many uncharted coves along the wild coast. It may be days before they are found,

Will Conclude Tax Bill Debate Today

Democrat Income Tax Schedules Withstand Senate Assaults

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 9—Senate democrats retained their income tax schedule in the revenue bill today against tow determined assaults by the republican organiation, as the measure was whipped into shape for final passage tomorrow. Before adjournment agreement was reached to conclude debate on the bill by 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Republicans offered two compromises on the Mellon surtax rates, but the democratic-republican insurgent coalition defeated both. The last effort was on a schedule calling for the house surtax rates with a maximum of 37 1-2 per cent as against the 40 per cent maximum in the democratic plan. It was defeated, 46 to 39.

The democratic normal rates were reaffirmed without even a record vote.

Important among results of the senate action today were repeals of the tax on telephone, telegraph and leased wire messages, the five per cent tax on art works, the 2 1-2 per cent on automobile parts and accessories, and the levy on drafts and notes.

Republican organization leaders indicated tonight they had no intention of making any further attempt to obtain a compromise before the final passage of the bill.

The democratic rates, drawn up by Senator Simmons, North Carolina, ranking democrat on the finance committee, do not differ materially from the house rates and the conference fight over the schedule thus will involve chiefly the question of party credit.

The Simmons surtax would start at one per cent on incomes of $10,000 with a maximum rate of 40 per cent on $500,000 and over.

Both the Longworth and Simmons schedules vary greatly from the Mellon rate on which President Coolidge has made known that he opposed any material compromise.

Indiana Gives Coolidge Five To One Majority Over Hiram

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 9—(AP)—Complete but unofficial returns available today from last Tuesday's state-wide primary in Indiana, showed that President Coolidge attained better than a five to one majority over Senator Hiram Johnson, his only opponent for the republican presidential preference. The majority vote gives the president 33 Hoosier delegates to the national convention next month.

Congressman Langley Case To Go to Jury Hands Today

COVINGTON, Ky., May 9.—(AP)—The case of Congressman John W. Langley of Kentucky, and two co-defendants, on trial in federal court here for conspiring to sell and illegally transport whisky from a government warehouse in 1921, will go to the jury tomorrow. Defense ends with testimony of two more witnesses. Counsel for Milton Lipschutz, Philadelphia, on trial with Langley, closed late today. Only one more witness is yet to testify for Albert F. Slater, Philadelphia the other defendant. Attorneys for defense and prosecution expect to begin arguments before noon.

U. S. Chief Sleuth Throws Up Position

Wm. J. Burns Quits as Head of Bureau of Investigation

WASHINGTON, May 9—Another figure long under attack in senate investigations passed from the public stage today in the resignation of William J. Burns as chief of the bureau of investigations of the department of justice.

A center of criticism levelled at the department since the resignation of Harry M. Daugherty as attorney general, Mr. Burns' retirement was generally regarded as certain to follow that of his former chief, although Attorney General Stone said upon assuming office, that he had invited all of his assistants and department heads to remain at least until he acquainted himself with his duties.

Mr. Burns submited his resignation today and it was accepted immediately. Mr. Stone has no one in mind to succeed Mr. Burns at present, and may give no consideration to the question for another week. In the meantime, the bureau will be under direction of J. Edward Hoover, assistant director.

The suggestion that Mr. Burns was quitting because of criticisms directed at him when Attorney General Daugherty was under fire were laughed away by the chief who said he had twice asked Mr. Daugherty to relieve him and each time was requested to remain.

Bennett Works for Game Protection

Makes Trip Through State, Delivering Speeches

The Reverend George Bennett, well known advocate of conservation of natural resources, and director of the McGregor school of wild life protection, returned recently from an extended trip through the western part of the state where he addressed many audiences in the interest of the state fish and game department.

At Ames he read a paper before the Iowa Academy of Science on the subject of stream pollution and introduced a resolution against some present practices along this line.

At Morningside college he addressed the chapel on the subject of general conservation; at various churches in Sioux City he gave a number of illustrated lectures, presenting slides and reels of the fish and game department.

On his return trip he stopped a few days in Des Moines, where he consulted with other members of the department with regard to future plans of conservation and protection.

The Reverend Mr. Bennett gave high praise to state warden W. E. Albert, "who," he said, "has transformed the fish and game department, which a few years ago was considered a police force fee and license collectors, into an instrument of real benefit to sportsmen, and at the same time unifying state wide conservation".

Next week the Rev. Mr. Bennett will go to Independence, where he will speak in the interests of the same work. From there he will go to Mc Gregor to put things in shape for opening of the school for wild life protection there next month.

Charge Mayfield Was Elected by Ku Kluxer Action

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—An attempt to show that the Ku Klux Klan dominated the Texas senatorial election of 1922, was begun today before a senate committee, hearing the contest of George E. B. Peddy, republican, for the seat of Senator Mayfield, democrat of Texas.

A former congressman and a former judge, self-declared participants in the Klan enterprize—"up to a point"—laid bare incidents of secret conclaves where luminaries of the order gathered around their present national wizard, H. W. Evans, and prepared the edicts which, the witness said, put Mayfield in the senate.

Chairman Spencer ruled that Klan activities themselves might not be material in the case, but might have a bearing on the charge of excessive money expenditure by Mayfield.

Farm Bloc Blocks Tax Bill Vote By Farm Aid Demand

WASHINGTON, May 9—Using a strategic parliamentary position as a whip, members of the senate farm bloc prevented a vote tonight on the revenue bill because they had not obtained assurance that farm relief legislation would be given right of way.

Early in the evening, Senator Norbeck, republican, South Dakota, appealed for immediate farm relief action and declared that unless congress made way for farm legislation he would offer the McNary-Haugen bill as on amendment to the revenue bill.

He refused to budge from this position and turned a deaf ear even to friends of farm relief legislation. Both republicans and democrats advised against joining the bills arguing that they would be vetoed in that status.

After cloak-room conferences, republican and democratic leaders agreed to recess until tomorrow when it is understood the house rules committee has agreed to report a rule setting aside time for consideration by the house of some farm relief bill. If this rule is reported, Senator Norbeck said he would withhold his motion to combine the two measures in the senate.

Retailer Not An Agent--Klingaman

Discuss Factors Which Affect Retailer's Business

"The retailer is not the agent of the manufacturer but is independent, and is entitled to his fair profit", said O. E. Klingaman, director of research of the National Retail Drygoods Association, in speaking on "Some Retailer Problems" to commerce students yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of the Presbyterian church. Mr. Klingaman gave two talks, at 2 and 4 p. m., both dealing with the same topic.

He emphasized the importance of the retailer's function in the distribution of goods, and referred to him as a real producer. The problems involved with the coming of the chain store and its effect on the retailers of the country were discussed.

Several things are important in determining price, such as the cost of reproduction of the article, the influence of the supply of and the demand for the article, the value of money, and lastly, style. This last factor he stressed as having a very great and sometimes disastrous effect on the industries involved.

Mr. Klingaman also told of the many cases of misbranding that have come to his knowledge since his connection with the national organization. He was rather severe in his criticism of the manufacturers, especially those who do advertising on a large scale. The problems of both retailer and the manufacturer will soon be dealt with by an organization known as the Joint Committee on Trade Relations. The results of the work of this committee will be fair to both parties and ultimately benefit the consumer.

The National Retail Drygoods Association is an association of all the large department stores of the country. Mr. Klingaman has charge of the research work for that organization and as a result is constantly in touch with the retailer and his problems. He was formerly director of the extension division of the University and was very high in his praise of the college of commerce here and the work that is being offered.

Coolidge Rebuked As House Rejects Date for Jap Ban

Lower Body Votes 191 To 171, To Defeat Postponement

Bill Returned to Conferees; To Insist On Change

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 9—By a vote of 191 to 171, the house declined today to approve the Japanese exclusion provision of the immigration bill, inserted by house and senate conferees at the request of President Coolidge.

The measure was sent back to conference with the house managers instructed to insist on elimination of the provision, which would postpone the effective date of exclusion to March 1, 1925, and would request the president to negotiate with Japan for abrogating the "gentlemen's agreement".

This action left the effective date as uncertain as the house conferees were given no instruction to put up a fight for the original house provision to enforce the ban July 1. The senate voted to make exclusion effective upon enactment of the bill, but the conferees, after agreeing to accept the house date, decided to recommend postponement for an additional eight months.

They did so in deference to the wishes of President Coolidge, who suggested March 1, 1926, as a date which would afford time for diplomatic neogtiations, the managers compromising on March 1, next.

As a result of the house vote, the conference report will not be submitted to the senate until the conferees have had opportunity to work out a revision. The conference report was called up in the house by Chairman Johnson, of the immigration committee.

The fight against adoption of the report was led by the two house conferees who declined to sign it—Representatives Raker, California and Sabath, Illinois, both democrats—and by Representative Garrett, the democratic leader.

No comment was forthcoming from the White House tonight regarding the house action.

Wallpaper, Carved Walnut, Give Ultra -- Realism to "Icebound"

In this day of realism the University Theatre is turning to ultra-realism in the final production of the season, Owen Davis' "Icebound" to be given May 14 and 15. In all the productions of the season so far there has been an achievement of the beautiful and artistic, even in "Lilliom" supposed to be a story of the underworld.

In "Icebound" there will be all the beauty, grace of line, and artistry that is evident in the mid-Victorian living room of a farm house in northern Maine.

Ellie (sighing)—"I don't know as the parlor was ever what I called a very cheerful room!"

Henry (sternly)—"A parlor ain't supposed to be cheerful. It is supposed to set and think of God and you couldn't expect it to be cheerful."

And the setting for "Icebound" will follow this description. What will distinguish this production from all others of the year will be the use for the first time of real wallpaper to make the sets. Picture to yourself grandmother's parlor. You remember—

That brownish tan wall paper with a conventional design of flowers in torturing positions— those round rag rugs over the rose pattern carpet—the what-not in the corner with the sterescope and pictures of Niagara and the coliseum at Rome. You recall of course the easel pictures of "gran'ma and gran'pa", draped in lace, and the old organ over in the other corner. You used to shiver at the feeling of the cold marble-topped table when you reached up on it for the family album that you liked to look at when the grown folks talked and talked.

Do you ever get homesick for the carved walnut and marble-topped ugliness of it all?

You will find it again, sans soft lighting effects, sans graceful drapes, plus REALITY, in "Icebound".

"A-B-C-stuff"
In college a fellow is handed a mass of facts—some of them simple and fundamental, others complex, intricate and hard to remember. Get your fundamentals fixed and it won't often be serious later if you have to seek a reference book for the complexities.
For instance, it is easy to grasp once and for all time the fundamental of good paving—THE "ABC" PAVEMENT—
Asphalt for Filler
Brick for Surface
Crushed rock, gravel, Crushed slag or Concrete for Base
Why the "ABC" pavement is right for city streets, country highways, railroad yards and factory floors and drives is told briefly and pointedly in the side panel.
ASPHALT for Filler because it makes the traffic-bearing surface a water-proof, flexible armor not subject to the cracks which follow rigid slab construction, and because repair costs are insignificant where each brick is an easily removable unit.
BRICK for Surface because it furnishes the best surface for traffic; hard, but not brittle—tough, but not rough—dense, and non-absorbent—smooth, but not "slick;" because its fire-hardened toughness resists wear and tear so sturdily that upkeep expense is squeezed to a minimum and because any margin of higher first-cost is speedily offset by low maintenance, long life and uninterrupted service.
CONCRETE, CRUSHED ROCK, CRUSHED SLAG OR GRAVEL for Base because some one of these bases meets any conceivable sub-soil condition, and with a bedding course of sand or screenings makes the best sub-structure yet developed for modern street or highway traffic.

Hawkeye Track and Baseball Teams Meet Maroons At Chicago

1923 Track Star Dopes Iowans To Win Hands Down

Hawkeyes Expected to Smother Chicago by 95-40 Count

By Eric C. Wilson.

Thirty University of Iowa track men, the largest squad Coach George T. Bresnahan has ever taken to a dual meet left last night for Chicago where this afternoon they will compete against the Maroons on Stagg Field. Those making the trip are Captain Brookins, Coulter, Roberts, Kohl, Otte, Goodrich, Van Ness, Crawford, Meder, Boyles, Jones, Nesler, Hancock, Daine, Fleckenstein, Lambert, Morrow, Sorenson, Moehle, Phelps, Bender, Marchi, Dobson, Klindt, Dauber, Johnstone, Marschall, Berne, Kriz and Handy. The men are in charge of Coach Bresnahan and Medical Supervisor Walter R. Fieseler.

Captain Brookins

When the Hawkeyes and Maroons meet this afternoon it will be the third dual affair between the two teams since 1921. Iowa won the first two easily and if nothing goes wrong today should win by a decisive margin. Chicago sent Purdue down to a 73 to 62 defeat at Lafayette last week but in doing so failed to register marks, which with two or three exceptions, Iowa athletes are not capable of beating. Although Coach Stagg has several men whose performances would place them high in any meet in the country he has not the team-balance which Coach Bresnahan has developed and it is this fact which will prove disastrous to the Maroon hopes today.

According to a dope sheet based on the season's performances of both teams, Iowa should pile up 95 points to the Chicago team's 40. That takes into account, of course, the supposition that the athletes will turn in at least as good marks as they have in the past but the fact is that the men may either improve or slump and weather conditions may cause some unexpected upsets. This advance summary is merely given to show some sort of comparison between the squads and, like most dope sheets will probably look very much different than the correct summary which will appear after the meet. However, it has the approval of several of the track men and is the composite of all the information that can be gathered.

The Advance Summary

Wise Counsellor May Run In Preakness at Pimlico

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 9—(AP)—It appeared highly probable today that Wise Counsellor, one of the outstanding candidates for the Kentucky Derby, would start in the Preakness at Pimlico next Monday. A message made public here today from John S. Ward, his trainer, said the horse was "going fine", and directed that Jockey Mack Garner be sent to ride him. The Preakness carries $50,000 in added money, the same amount as the Kentucky Derby which is to run at Churchill Downs May 17.

Hubbell Nearing End of the Rainbow

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Five years ago Wilbur Hubbel of Buhl, Id., started in search of the end of the pitching rainbow. He made an exhaustive study of baseball, the Einstein theory, ragtime playing and mah jongg in his efforts to locate the baseball pot of gold. But until this spring his search seemed fruitless. Now, however he seems near his goal. Manager Fletcher, Philly players and fans of the Sleepy Town believe the plugging right hander is ready to come into his own.

Hubbell joined the Giants five years ago to make his big league debut. He rather impressed New York scribes with his early work and when McGraw included him in the trade which made Davey Bancroft a member of the Giant team and Art Fletcher a Phil there was a bit of criticism handed out for McGraw's benefit.

Hubbel had turned back the Phillies once, the Giants winning 7 to 1. He had lost a 3 to 2 game to the Boston Braves. His pitching in both games was creditable if not startling. Sent to the Phils he won 8 and lost 9 games.

In 1921, with the tail-end outfit, he won 9 and lost 16 games—as much as could be expected under the conditions. He semed ready to carry a large part of the pitching burden in 1922 but on May 25 was struck on the head by a batted ball. The drive off Tommy Griffith's bat, during a game between the Dodgers and Phils, produced a minor fracture of the skull and concussion of the brain. For some time Hubbell's life was despaired of.

He was not himself the rest of that year or last season, which was his worst. He managed to win but one game.

He feels now, however, that he has recovered from the effects of the blow and has regained his confidence. He won his first start this season in impressive style and feels that it wasn't a mere flash in the pan.

U. S. Davis Cup Team Is Strong

Richards, Hunter, Williams and Washburn To Play in Olympics

NEW YORK, May 9—America will be represented in its first attempt to lift Olympic laurels by one of the strongest teams she is capable of mustering. This was revealed today when the Davis Cup committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, announced that the men's team would consist of R. Norris Williams, Philadelphia; Captain, Vincent Richards, of Yonkers, N. Y., Francis T. Hunter, Beckley, W. Va., and Watson M. Washburn, New York.

The women's team selected some time ago includes Miss Helen Wills Berkeley, California, national champion; Miss Eleanor Goss, New York; Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup, Wilmington, Delaware, and Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss, Wigtman, Boston, as captain.

Richards was included in the men's squad after a brief controversy over his status as a player-writer. His engagement to cover the Olympic games as a reporter for a news agency at first created a barrier to his selection, but this was solved when his employers consented to a leave of absence for him during the week of Olympic competition, July 13 to 20. He had resigned from both the Davis Cup and Olympic squads over this issue, but withdrew his resignation when assured his status would be cleared.

The place of William T. Tilden, of Philadelphia, national champion, who withdrew from international play over the player-writer controversy has been taken by Hunter, originally named as an alternate.

The team thus does not include the first two ranking stars, Tilden and Wm. M. Johnston, who was unable to accept an invitation to go, but it has the next three ranking singles experts in Williams, Richards and Hunter. Washburn ranks fifteenth, but his chief ability lies in the doubles. He and Williams rank third on the national doubles list and form the strongest combination available from the personnel of the Olympic team.

Predict Hawkeye Diamond Victory At Chicago Today

Iowa, However, Must Depend on Strategy To Win

By H. C. Baldwin

Iowa will win from Maroons at Chicago today.

Capt. Hicks

The conference baseball race is at its height and the Hawkeyes and Chicago tangle at the Midway this afternoon to settle the question of diamond supremacy. Iowa, credited with one victory over the Maroons, rules the favorite. This is not the only ground for the prediction of victory.

The Maroons, in four starts, have yet to notch a win against a conference team. Iowa has defeated Northwestern, Purdue, and Chicago; lost a close game to Illinois and was decisively beaten by Minnesota. On the basis of games won and lost, statistics put the Hawks well in front of Chicago in team comparison.

The defensive powers of the Iowans will undoubtedly be the deciding factor in the contest. If the defensive wall crumbles Chicago will win, but with good pitching and tight playing the Hawks should crash through to victory with ease.

Defensively Iowa rates high in the conference. Their fielding average of .944, although not startling, is a good average insofar as conference teams are concerned. The pitching is fair and on only one occasion has a Hawkeye hurler been subject to a severe mauling.

The offensive strength and punch has been lacking to a great extent all season. In five conference games the Iowa batsmen have been able to hit safely thirty-three times and two men have accounted for sixteen of these blows. Poepsel leads Capt. Hicks by 76 points with an average of .476 The Iowans therefore boast only two men that are consistent sluggers. The team average is .223 and too low to speculate upon. Regardless of this low attacking strength Iowa should be able to push across enough runs to win.

The Hawkeyes have made practically all their runs this year on clever base running and timely hitting. This was the case in the Chicago game played at Iowa City this year. Iowa gathered only two hits off the Maroon hurler, yet by taking advantage of slips, both mental and physical, were able to win 3 to 1. The Old Gold batters have sharpened their batting eyes to some extent since the opening game and the hurling staff has had enough competition to warrant the prediction of victory.

The baseball squad will engage in another game while on the road. Following the contest at Chicago the Iowa team will leave for Ann Arbor where they play Michigan Monday. The men who made the trip are: The regulars—Poepsel, Laude, King, Hicks, Scantlebury, Flinn, M. Barrett, B. Barrett; pitchers, Duhm, Marshall and Mead; utility men, Scanlon and Sahs

The batting and fielding averages of the individual members for conference games are:

Poepsel, lf	.875	.476

In order to keep his amateur standing, Wilson will officiate without charge at the Sterling affair. Nineteen schools will send two hundred athletes to the meet.

Greb and Norfolk Shelved Half Year By N. Y. Commission

NEW YORK, May 9—(AP)—Suspension of Harry Greb, middleweight title holder, and Kid Norfolk, negro middleweight from pugilistic activity for six months in New York state, was ordered today by the State athletic commission after it had learned of similar disqualifications of these two lighters in Massachusetts.

This punishment automatically bars Greb from fulfilling his contract to meet Jack Delaney, Bridgeport, middleweight, in the Milk Fund show here on June 27.

The New York board also announced that it had selected Dave Shade, pacific coast welterweight as the most logical opponnte for Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion.

McAdoo Has 425 Delegates Assured, Manager Asserts

CHICAGO, May 9—(AP)—A total of 425 delegates favorable to the candidacy of William G. McAdoo, for the democratic presidential nomination was claimed tonight in a statement by David Ladd Rockwell chairman of the McAdoo for president committee, upon his return from a ten days Eastern trip.

Badger Net Meet To Prove Crucial Test for Iowans

Some Close Matches May Be Seen Today

By Ted Swenson

Iowa's powerful tennis tehm will continue its drive for the conference tennis championship this afternoon, when it will attempt to add the strong Wisconsin quartet to its list of victories.

Captain Swenson

The cardinal net team arrived in Iowa City this morning confident of a win over the Hawk aggregation. Led by captain Art Moulding and Sah, the visitors' brilliant doubles team, the badgers will present their full strength in an effort to check the Iowa string of victories. Neither team has been defeated as yet, although this afternoon's fracas will be the first conference match of the year for coach Nelson's crew. Moulding, who is a veteran of three years is the Wisconsin hope in the singles. He has been performing in impressive style in the practice matches, and much is expected of him by badger tennis fans. He employs a powerful forehand drive which opponents find hard to handle, and uncorks a speedy service. Sah, the Japanese flash, is rated almost as good as Moulding, and will team with the badger leader in the doubles. Manniere, Crane, Stebbins and Groenert complete the roster and all are experienced tournament players.

Hawks Strong

Coach Van der Zee will send captain Ted Swenson to the firing line to oppose Moulding, and a stubborn battle is looked for when the two aces meet. Swenson has been undefeated in singles this year having

Are You a Winner—or a Loser?

YOU have undoubtedly chosen to be a winner. You are training your mind and strengthening your will.

But what of your body? Will it sustain you when the race becomes fast and strenuous?

To keep in a winning condition, you must exercise every muscle and organ in the body. The fuel-supplying organs—the stomach and the digestive organs—need exercise in the form of digesting rough foods such as: whole-wheat bread, bran, and hard cereals.

Grape-Nuts not only exercises these fuel-supplying organs, but its nutritive elements of whole-wheat and malted barley, toasted to a nutty crispness, make it the most delicious breakfast food you have ever tasted.

For a well-balanced diet, try Grape-Nuts—four teaspoonfuls sprinkled with sugar, half cream and half milk. You will call for it every morning. There's a reason.

Why we guarantee our clothes to you as wearer

Our guarantee to the wearer is the simplest way we know to emphasize the high quality of our clothes, and relieve the mind of a "Doubting Thomas." The cost to us of guaranteeing our product is so trivial as to really be an insignificant item in our costs, even though abuse of this liberal policy is apparent from time to time.

After years of record, the guarantee has proven to be a silent compliment to our standard of workmanship, selection of all wool fabrics, fit and genuine service given by the product made by us. We take full responsibility because our clothes are made of materials to justify confidence and our tailors follow our exacting specifications in converting raw materials to a beautifully finished garment. Everyone recognizes that the product we make will wear out sometime, but when more value and satisfaction than dollars paid has been realized, the public is the fairest jury a manufacturer can enlist, it seems from our years of record.

We, therefore, confidently guarantee our product.

MAN'S INHERENT TREACHERY

TO DECLARE that treachery is the most potent power in most men's hearts will certainly bring forth loud protests from those who hold that the spark of fraternal love rests solidly within all men's breasts, but nevertheless, it is true that the overwhelming majority of mankind is so treacherous that it cannot be trusted beyond the sight of an astigmatic pair of eyes.

The first description of the Indian, that passing forerunner of American population, always included the fact that he was stealthy and treacherous. The Hun, the Goth, the Frank, the barbarians of all times and ages have been held up before us in history as being treacherous. It always seems to be assumed that treachery has passed out of the order of things. Like most human suppositions, they are merely the products of vain imaginations and the true facts are barred from these.

If treachery merely consisted of jabbing the six-inch dagger into the enemy's back, then it is true that treachery exists no longer, at least not as it did when the North American Indians were fighting the white man, to keep the latter from stealing the Indian hunting grounds.

The treachery of the modern day, however, has been sugar-coated just as have other of the barbaric customs, which now make up civilization. Treachery today is called betrayal of trust, breaking of confidences and other rather well disguised terms.

The fairy-tale of the fraternal love of man for man has been badly worn out. The world must begin to realize that men are, always have been and always will be treacherous. Self-advancement, avarice and vanity have so far eaten into the hearts of men that trust is an obsolete word so far as most of our vocabularies are concerned. What they say is usually the opposite of what they mean. It is not a high pessimism that causes men to believe the words, actions or motives of other men. The sweets of victory shall always be tasted by the vigilant and the cautious. Man is so inherently treacherous that it is doubtful that he can trust himself with himself. Experience shows it, man's inherent qualities say so.

QUEEN HELEN

(New York Herald Tribune)

SO EMINENT an authority as Dr. James H. Breasted has returned from Egypt to announce the discovery of documentary evidence for Queen Helen of Troy. To find an authentic contemporary reference to this the most celebrated lady in literature would be a startling archaeological achievement. The news dispatches, as usual, as bit vague on the finer technicalities, suggest that the point was established through confirmatory evidence secured in the tomb of Tut-ankh-amen. The public, become widely skeptical of these greatly advertised diggings, will await in Missouri fashion further details.

Actually putting Queen Helen into recorded history would be a little like discovering Noah's receipted bills for the lumber he used in the Ark. That there was something more than pure imagination behind the tremendous legend of the Trojan War has been accepted ever since Schliemann started to dig for Troy and discovered nine of it. Schliemann's experience was astonishing enough in itself but it was only the beginning of one of the great adventures in modern scientific research. Following his lead the archaeologists went into the eastern circle of the Mediterranean and uncovered the whole startling record of the Cretan civilizations, linked up the Egyptian and allied histories, and secured a new and extraordinary picture of the beginnings of known history. The Homeric legend stood out in a new light as the echo of authentic fact, but so far it has remained as the only evidence of the reality of its characters and incidents.

Now, if Helen herself is to be definitely added to history a rather queer feeling is left. One hardly knows whether one would prefer to have the figure of a real (and necessarily disappointing) woman behind that magnificent romance of the ages or not. Helen was already half a myth when the Homeric poems took form; she appeared from an already lost antiquity to the Romans, and she was a symbol in Marlowe's imagination when he wrote his famous lines. Myths have come and gone since hers began, but now we may recover trace of the actual woman. It is, like so much else in the scientific method, uncanny.

. . . Fact and Fancy . . .

FOR SALOME

How could they know what fire you had?
You with your quiet eyes—
You who sit here in this lighted room
Calmly chatting about the weather
As any woman would?

The bright shining days of springtime will pass,
Summer will burn itself out
Into the long, chill nights of autumn:
But you will be gone then,
And I shall have failed
To catch the glint of radiance
In your eyes,
To know the fire of heaven
From your lips.

BASIL

NO LONGER can we forbear perpetrating a few pertinent phrases on men's fashions of this spring. As the cub reporter insists on having it, the clothing shops are full of "New Innovations." Not only in coats, shoes, shirts and ties are there radical departures from the tenets held to no longer ago than last fall but even to trousers the correctly dressed man is this year paying some attention. In years past the trousers have been regarded merely as that part of apparel starting where the vest ends and falling anywhere from the calf to the ankle or heel. (With the sansculotte the calf has commonly been considered a low enough point to mark the southern extremity of the trousers. Such a trousers has in times past been called a high water trousers).

This season's legwear shows an effect that has been traced to the balloon tire. When a slight zephyr catches an up to the minute frat boy as he plies along the highway this May he has enough of the appearance of a Buick sports model to temporarily halt pedestrians who are about to cross the street.

These creations which range in color from robin's egg blue and shell pink down through all the shades that adorn a contemporary ice cream cone suggest those skirts so popular in the late nineties. (If that is not right we shall run a correction tomorrow upon advisement. It seems everything of consequence that did not happen in the early part of the century is usually safely attributable to the late nineties). What we have in mind are those pyramidal creations suspended from the wasplike waists of the women of the last generation in which two steps might easily be taken before the lower boundary stirred appreciably.

The bell effect is more pronounced than ever. The waists are high and tight. It is said the Gossard people tiring of attempting to force their wares upon women for the last three years have at last seized upon the unsuspecting male as the logical victim. Accordingly he finds himself encased in corset like belts no less than ten centimeters wide.

If a Rip Van Winkle of ten years were to step out into the street of a Sunday afternoon now he, having been accustomed to trousers that in general followed the outlines of the body, would probably guess that all the boys have the garments on upside down. For the first time in history, it is reasonably safe to say that all men can put their trousers on over their shoes no matter though they went barefooted until they were thirteen. Now if this allegation will not stand without correction we suggest that anyone who doubts that they may be pulled over the shoes may resort to dropping them on over his head. There remains no doubt as to the possibility of such a measure.

It is safe to say that an average suit this year constrains at least twice as much cloth as last year; that is without even including the loud pair of knickers that are usually foisted upon the buyer for a few extra shekels. These bloomers have always been good for a snicker or a restrained laugh but this spring what with every man who has a slipover equipped with a pair of them, musical comedies and two reel celluloids have sort of taken the back row balcony seats as mirth provokers. The architectonic effect of the bloomer is essentially the same as that of the tomato.

What the tailors have lost in excess cloth they have gained in sparing buttons, belts and seams. One or two buttons tie the front of the coat together which is drawn loosely about the shoulders after the fashion of a squaw's scarf. Tailors have no time to worry over the excess baggage that has in times past been cared for with seams and belts. What extra cloth there is is allowed to ripple merrily in the breeze.

Well, all in all the clothes are plenty smart but in order to look right in them it is necessary to be standing with one foot on the runningboard of a Kelly-Springfield car and a face that only Troy, New York could love.

Library Has Many Volumes Ordered; Staff Is Enlarged

Increasing Facilities For Research in Summer

Overdue Books Are To Be Turned In At Once

The University Library reports that as a result of recent additions to the staff of the order and binding department, and the opportunity for the department to concentrate all its energies on the acquisition of new material, book orders outstanding at the present time total some four or five times the amount usually outstanding at this time of year.

Special opportunities have developed for placing large orders for sets of important periodicals, learned society publications and rare sets of bound newspapers, particularly in Europe, and many thousands of dollars have been thus spent to enrich the library's research facilities.

Bring in Overdue Books

Notices have been sent all visiting professors and lecturers of the approaching summer school, asking them to send lists of books needed for the work. These lists are all being checked with the library's resources, and material lacking is being ordered. A special circular of information about the library is being prepared for both summer school faculty and students.

A special effort is being made to have all overdue books brought in promptly, and to have fines on reserve books paid at once. All faculty members are being asked to return to the library all books no longer needed by them in connection with the year's work or their private studies, prior to their leaving for the summer.

Several Staff Changes

Additions to the staff the last month or two include Miss Mabel Ziga and Miss Frances Nies as part-time stenographers for the order and binding department, and Miss Ada O. Walton of the Davenport library as assistant in the binding department. Transfers of other staff members temporarily have also aided in the work of this department.

Changes pending include the resignation from the catalogue department June 1 of Miss Minnie K. Brown, who leaves for the Pacific Northwest, and temporary leaves of absence for Miss Mabel Morsch and Mrs. Winifred Morris of the catalogue department. The former will complete her college work in the summer school, and the latter will visit her parents in California for the summer. Miss Miriam E. Clay, of the circulation department, resigns July 1 to take charge of a high school library in Omaha. On May 13, Miss Cora Hendee of the library summer schol faculty, will join the staff temporarily, and other appointments are pending.

Order Special Sets

Special plans are underway for developing the staff and improving the service for the fiscal year beginning July 1st. Sets ordered include the great Monumenta Germaniae Historica.

The many British Parliamentary Papers, the Analecta Bollandiana (1882-1919), Anglo-Saxon Review, Bibliotheca Belgica, Bulletin de la Societe de L'histoire du Protestantisme Francais, Centralblatt fur Gynakologie, Englische Studien, London Gazette (1800-1853), London Times 1857-72, 1884-1919; Malone Society Publications, Ray Society Publications, Royal Society of Edinburgh Transactions, Zeitschrift fur die Gesamte Neurologie und Psychiatrie, and a host of other technical, literary, and historical journals.

Wheeler Vigorously Denies Charges of "Fixing" Permits

Senate Probe Committee Gets U. S. Evidence in Indictment

Correspondence Shows Offers Made to U. S. Employees

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 9—Documentary evidence relied upon by the department of justice as the basis of the indictment returned by a Montana federal grand jury against Senator Burton K. Wheeler, democrat, of that state, was laid before the senate committee investigating the circumstances of the indictment.

Senator Wheeler after hearing correspondence read into the record, and alleged to have passed between himself and Gordon Campbell, Montana oil promoter, took the stand in his own behalf, and entered a vigorous denial to each of the implications drawn by the government from it.

Aside from the leters and telegrams in which Senator Wheeler was directly mentioned, the document which attracted most attention was a copy of a letter dated May 5, 1923, purporting to be from Gordon Campbell, in which the promoter offered former Solicitor E. S. Booth of the interior department 40 acres of land out of one permit and suggested that an interest in that acreage could be assigned to F. M. Goodwin, assistant secretary of the department, if the permit could be granted.

Goodwin Denial In

It developed that Mr. Booth had resigned as solicitor two days before the date of the letter, then entered the department of justice, but now was not with that department.

In a statement issued at the interior department later in the day, Mr. Goodwin declared "neither Mr. Campbell or Mr. Booth at any time took up with me the matter of the approval of any oil permits in Montana in which Mr. Campbell was interested." He added that the purported letter was "called to my attention for the first time yesterday".

Didn't Know About "Rhea"

Making his first appearance on the stand, Senator Wheeler denied specifically that his employment by Campbell had contemplated anything other than his appearance in Monttana litigation. In none of the conferences which led to his retention by the Campbell group, the Montana senator asserted, had the subject of permits been touched upon.

Senator Wheeler denied that he had any knowledge of a permit being issued to one "Rhea", mentioned repeatedly in the correspondence.

Doesn't Recall It

"Didn't you give some assurances that when you got to Washington you would straighten out these permit titles?" asked Senator Sterling, a member of the investigating committee.

"Positively not, to the best of my recollection," replied the witness.

The pile of photostatic copies submitted by John S. Platt, special assistant attorney general who aided in securing the indictment was voluminous among thtem were:

Check for $2,000 drawn by the Gordon Campbell company to the order of Wheeler and endorsed by him.

Letter dated January 9, 1923, and written on the stationery of the United States senate, in which a request was made for further details of "your permits that we discussed", in order that the writer might be able to "intelligently discuss the matter", when he took it up with the interior department.

Iowan Knocks Out Chilean Champion

Johnson Halts Romero In Aspirations for Dempsey Crown

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 9—Floyd Johnson, Iowa heavyweight, knocked out Quintin Romero of Chile, in the seventh round of a ten round match at Madison Square Garden tonight. The knock out blow came after one minute and forty seven seconds of the round.

Newspaper men at the arena tonight thought the Chilean had been saved by the bell and that he would come up for the next round. A report spread that a member of the state boxing commission had ordered the bout stopped and a technical knockout awarded to Johnson, to save his rival from further punishment.

Confusion reigned in the building centered at the ringside where a general fist fight started among protesting partisans at the timekeeper's table. Policemen rushed from all parts of the arena to quiet the disturbance which had assumed the proportions of a riot.

The announcer jumped into the ring, clamored for attention; the fighters sat in their corners, waiting to resume the fight.

The police finally subdued the ringside mob and permitted the announcer to declare that the referee had completed his ten swings, that Johnson had registered a clean knockout and that the bell had sounded by mistake.

The final round was heart breaking to the Latin-American colony which had chered their champion into the ring with many "bravos" Romero staggered, tumbled almost around the ring, an easy target for Johnson but stubbornly refusing to drop. From corner to corner, the pursuit wabbled with Johnson carefully keeping his distance and preventing Romero's futile attempts to come in close enough to escape the rain of devastating blows that swept his face.. A hard right to the jaw was the finishing blow.

Deadlock on Photo Rights in Olympic Contest Is at End

PARIS, May 9—(AP)—The deadlock over the question of Americans being permitted to take moving pictures of the Olympic rugby football matches in which the American team plays, was broken tonight. The Americans have been protesting since Wednesday against the action of the French Olympic committee, in giving the exclusive rights for taking the Olympic games pictures to a private firm.

The provision was made that the American pictures should be used only for record and educational purposes.

The American team will use substitutes principally in its game with Rumania Sunday. Most of the "star" players are being reserved for the game with France on May 18.

At the conclusion of the broad-jump next to the last event, which Wisconsin held the advantage by four points. With Schjoll, who hurled the 169 feet in the javelin assuring Minnesota first in this event, the outcome of the meet hinged on second place in spear throwing. Next Election Will Go Strong for Cal, Is Shaw Prediction

Conservative Policies Of Coolidge Have Won Favor

Shaw Expects Ralston To Win Democratic Nomination

Coolidge is going to go over big in the next election and Lafollette is not going to get a start.

Leslie M. Shaw, one of the staunch conservatives of the Republican party yesterday credited Senator Lafollette with the good sense to refrain from an attempt at getting the presidential nomination at the hands of a third part organization when he said:

LaFollette knows that he could gain nothing by the third party. He would lose any connection that he still has with the Republican party. On the other hand, while Lafollette hates everyone, he hates some more than others, and probably Calvin Coolidge least of all.

Mr. Shaw further explained the impossibility of the radical element gaining any support even from their own group.

"A man who never votes for anything and against everything, is Lafollette. He supports no one but himself. Borah supports no one but himself." From this situation Mr. Shaw concludes that beaten captain Beeson of Coe twice and captain Beck of Minnesota. He has lost only one match in two years in conference dual meet competition, and is expected to score a win over the Wisconsin captain. John Dorsey will be sent against Sah and will be fighting to keep his slate clean. Dorsey came through in fine form in the Minnesota meet, defeating Duvall in straight sets. Glenn McLaughlin a regular last year and James Lutz, the new member of the Hawk team are the other two named by the Iowa mentor to start against the visitors. Both of these men have been playing excellent tennis and may be relied upon to put up a hard fight for honors. Swenson and Dorsey will team together in the doubles, while either Lutz and McLaughlin or Lutz and Swartz will compose the number two doubles combination.

Bleachers For Crowd

Bleachers are being erected to take care of a capacity crowd, the tennis match being the only athletic event in the local program for this afternoon. The match will start promptly at three o'clock and will be held on the varsity courts at the men's gymnasium.

$5,000 Damage Suit Against City Cancelled

Peterson Gets $300 From Iowa City Treasury

Davenport West of Capitol May Be Closed

Pearl Peterson, colored resident of Iowa City, will receive $300 from the city treasury as compensation for injuries sustained in an accident alleged to have been caused by defective side walks, was the decision reached by the city council last night, in special session.

The action started in the district court by Miss Peterson to obtain $5,000 damages has been canceled and the council, though admitting no blame in the matter, granted Miss Peterson the $300. The $5000 damage suit was to have come before the spring term of court on May 15.

To Close Davenport St.

Another important matter which was considered by the council last night was brought up for consideration by A. Smith of the University department of grounds and buildings and consisted of a plea by that department of the university that Davenport street west of Capitol street be permanently closed to traffic to allow for the erection of new University high school buildings on the block north of Davenport and west of Capitol street.

The reason given by Mr. Smith for the necessity of such action by the city was that the closing of Davenport street will allow the university to build the fifty foot front of a new high school building out to the curb of the street. The university asks, that if the city will not allow the street to be closed, that they may be allowed to build out to the curbing of the present street.

No Action Taken

Councilmen were not ready to take action on the proposition last night before they had blocked over the situation with care. The principal objection raised to granting the action asked by the university officials was prompted by uncertainty of the effects the closing of Davenport Street might have upon the accessibility and value of the property facing the street from the south side.

Steep Grade

Councilmen were assured by City Engineer Young that the grade of Davenport street below Capitol is at least 20 percent, making traffic very light below that point. Further, the university offers to pave the alley running east and west through this block if property owners desire, to allow greater accessability.

Mr. Smith urged that if the council should find it unadvisable to close Capitol street, that they allow the erection of a high school building out to the curbing. He also asked that action be taken by the council as soon as possible in order that delay in the architectural plans for the proposed university high school may be lessened.

Council Must Select Refuse Collector in Place of Aaron Rowe

The mayor and city council now have before them the problem of securing a new man to take the place of Aaron T. Rowe, who has recently resigned as city garbage collector.

It has been found difficult by the council to keep the services of an efficient garbage colelctor for the present salary of two thousand dollars a year. According to Mayor Emma J. Harvat and Alderman M. O. Roland, "The problem is a highly serious one."

Manhattan Oil Co. Continues Work On Gasoline Station

City Will Not Press Action To Stop Building

Regardless of a rescinded building permit, the Manhattan Oil company has continued in building its Iowa City service station on the Southwest corner of College and Clinton streets.

"About three weeks ago the city council permitted the Manhattan oil company to build a station and make sidewalk changes on this corner," said Mr. B. V. Bridenstine, councilman at large, when questioned last evening.

"A week later, some adjacent property owners noticed the station going up, and complained to the city that such use of a valuable corner would prevent the erection of a larger building on that site for some years. At their petition, the council rescinded the oil company's permit to build and to change the sidewalks.

"No councilman owns property less than a block and a half from this corner/ to my knowledge, and this owner, Mr. Sidwell, voted favorably for the present building, I believe.

"The city will not press its new action, I believe, unless townspeople make further complaints. As it is, it is possible that if the company stopped work on the city's account it could sue the city for the cost of the delay.

"On the other hand, the city might bring action against the Manhattan people for building without proper authority."

Mr. Bridenstine said that he believed Mr. W. L. Rockwood of the oil company had been notified but had complained to the council that the contracting had already been arranged, and the supplies purchased.

The property in question is said to have been recently leased from Mr. James Blake of Cedar Rapids, an agent of the Iowa City-Cedar Rapids interurban railway. The leasee, W. L. Rockwood, also of Cedar Rapids, is an officer of the Manhattan oil company that has offices throughout the larger cities of the state.

Next Election Will Go Strong for Cal, Is Shaw Prediction

the Wisconsin senator will have a hard time to round up any support. treasury in the cabinet of President Roosevelt during his first administration Mr. Shaw was thoroughly conversant with the third party attempt of Mr. Roosevelt and in his opinion Mr. LaFollette lacks all of the prestige which made the famous Teddy look like a winner.

That Coolidge is going to astonish the public by the vote he will draw and that his conservatism has even won for him the favor of a considerable number of Democrats is another of Mr. Shaw's convictions.

"Democrats say to me, 'We have a certainty now. I don't want my party in power now. We do not know how a member of our party could improve conditions, and would rather not have a change now."

People like to know that we have a man in the White House who isn't planning to create any excitement for a while reasons the man who upheld Mr. Roosevelt, and who can still see that a man like Roosevelt, would not be as desirable at this time as Mr. Coolidge. One never knew what the morning paper might bring forth when Mr. Roosevelt was in power," said Mr. Shaw.

Concerning the activities in the democratic camp Mr. Shaw believes that Ralston will gain the nomination although Davis is their best man.

"The New York faction will prevent McAdoo from attaining the necessary two-thirds, and the McAdoo patrons will kill both Smith and Davis," said Mr. Shaw.

But what will it avail Senator Ralston when even Democrats favor Mr. Coolidge?

McNinch's Plans for Recreation May Crimp Juvenile Delinquency

How Iowa City can discourage juvenile delinquency through the adaption of a more generally appealing recreational program will be the chief message of the speech given at the chamber of commerce luncheon, Monday, May 19 by the Hon. F. R. McNinch, former mayor of Charlotte, N. C.

To Mr. McNinch's belief, athletics or some absorbing deviation from routine is absolutely essential if workers are to retain their intrest in living and working.

In addition to these benefits, recreation improves health and prevents accident, he says.

Mr. McNinch is said to be an excellent speaker, and is particularly anxious to improve recreation elsewhere as he did in Charlotte, his home.

Busch and Banick Open for Business On Monday, May 12

Restaurant Located at 22 South Clinton

Breakfasts, lunches, and dinners, together with a great variety of soda specialties and "Kitty Mayme" candies to be eaten between meals, will all be available, beginning Monday, May 12, at the new "Busch and Banik" refreshment house and restaurant. The store is located at 22 S. Clinton street.

The lunches and suppers will be complete meals each probably priced at forty cents, Mr. R. F. Busch, joint owner, said yesterday.

There will be spacious booths to accomodate 48 people on the sides of the room, besides tables for extra people in the center space.

The color scheme of the walls is gray, with white fountain, candy case, and fixtures. The tables are black trimmed in white; and the booths are of oak finish.

"We will have about 50 kinds of our own candy at present; and by winter expect to sell over 100 varieties," Mr. Busch said.

Toasted three-decked sandwiches and fancy sundaes will also be served.

The leasees, R F. Busch and William E. Banik, have taken a five year lease with the privilege of five more, Mr. Busch said, obtaining the property from the owner, Joseph Rinella, of this city.
