Mammoth Crowd Applauds Leader Of Progressives

Flays Democrats and Republicans Alike

Declares Economic Issues Are in the Foreground

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 18—Senator Robert M. LaFollette launched an offensive in his campaign for the presidency with an answer tonight to an audience which filled Madison Square Garden, scene of the recent democratic convention. He spoke for an hour and a half for the most part sticking to his prepared address. When the independent candidate stepped on the platform, his first appearance before an audience since he declared his candidacy more than two months ago, was cheered for fifteen minutes. As he directed thrusts at his opponents he repeatedly received the approbation of the crowd. Senator LaFollette read slowly from manuscript with only a few gestures. Once he departed from his text for a brief extemporaneous criticism of President Coolidge's stand on the postal salaries bill and utterances regarding labor. As he did so he lapsed into his characteristic speaking pose, but in the main he contented himself with thrusts of the arm. The hall rocked with cheers when Mr. LaFollette declared he expected to be elected and the mention of his running mate, Senator Wheeler of Montana, brought a wild burst of applause.

Economic Issues First

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—Senator Robert M. LaFollette, in Madison Square Garden tonight, told the first audience he has addressed since announcing his candidacy for president that he did not intend "to be diverted from the discussion of vital economic issues of the campaign by the foolish and preposterous assertions of our opponents that in some way we as progressives desire to weaken or impair the provisions of the constitution of the United States relating to the federal courts."

He made this declaration after assailing the policies and the candidates of the republican and democratic parties, which he asserted are "as alike as two peas in a pod," and continued:

"I propose to keep in the foreground of the discussion throughout the campaign, the record of the two old parties in recent years and the policies inaugurated by them under which the railroads and other corporations have made larger profits than ever before in their peace-time history during the same length of time while labor and the small business men have eked out a bare existence and the farmers have been driven into bankruptcy by the hundreds of thousands and the loss in value of farm lands and farm products have exceeded forty billions of dollars.

"The leaders of both old parties naturally desire to escape discussion of the shameful acts which have produced such results but we do not intend that they shall avoid these issues."

Senator Coolidge and Davis
Senator LaFollette discussed the record of the Harding-Coolidge administration, the acts of which he contended, must be judged as a whole and declared that President Coolidge knew every act and policy of the last administration because he was a participant in their formulation.

He referred to John W. Davis as a certain distinguished lawyer, now running for president and trying to get the people to forget his former clients "who blocked efforts of the house to bring about a reduction in telephone rates in New York."

Declaring that parties and candidates should be judged on their records and not on pre-election promises, the Wisconsin senator continued:

"The best that the republican party for example can offer with its present candidate is four years more of misgovernment, such as we have witnessed for the last four years,—the same control by power-

1600 Grind Through Registration Mill on First Day

Best Navy and Adequate Army Say Legion Boys

(By Associated Press)
ST. PAUL, Sept. 18—With rousing cheers and a chorus of "yes," the sixth national convention of the American Legion went on record vigorously today for a navy second to none, an adequate army, and other measures of national preparedness.

Passage of the universal service act, sounder Americanism, soldiers and officers training camps, the national guard and similar proposals also received the endorsement of the convention in a session lasting more than five hours.

Condemnation of two departments of the United States veterans bureau and demand for immediate trial of Col. C. R. Forbes on the indictment charging irregularities in his management of the bureau were contained in other resolutions adopted.

On internal matters, the first bitterness of the convention session was shown, but when the issues were turned to one of confidence in national commander, John R. Quinn, who retires tomorrow, the latter received unanimous support.

Most of the business of the convention was out of the way tonight and politics came to the fore as the delegates prepared for the election of officers tomorrow and adjournment of the convention which will meet in Omaha next year.

When various district delegations went into caucus tonight there was no well defined expression concerning the name or the probable successor to Commander Quinn, and there still was talk of "dark horses."

Concert Series Listed by Clapp

Sousa to Appear on Oct. 21; Favorites Booked Again

The most familiar of the series of concerts planned by the University Music association is undoubtedly John Philip Sousa and his band who will play here on the afternoon of Oct. 21. Sousa needs no introduction, for his band and his stirring marches are familiar to Iowa City audiences. Ely Ney, the famous young pianist, will play here Nov. 13. Miss Ney is one of the world's foremost pianists and has been acclaimed by critics as the logical successor of Teresa Carreno.

On Feb. 18, the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra with Henri Verbrughen as conductor, will appear here with their full quota of eighty-five musicians. They will give two concerts, one in the afternoon and one in the evening.

A great many people who have become familiar with the playing of Efreim Zimbalist through his records will be pleased to hear that famous Russian violinist will play here March 16. Zimbalist is the owner of one of the most valuable collections of violins in existence. It is possible that he may use here the famous Titian Stradivarius which has recently come into his possession and for which he paid $33,000, the highest price ever paid for a violin.

Another artist who is known to a wide public through his records is Lambert Murphy, the American tenor, who will appear in Iowa City on April 20. Like a number of the young men of the musical field, Mr. Murphy is a University man, being a graduate of Harvard, and he supplements a pleasing voice with a trained and intelligent interpretation.

Season tickets which admit to the entire course of six concerts are now on sale at all the book and music stores. Season tickets for concerts are priced at $6 and since single tickets are $1.50, the economy of buying a season ticket is obvious. There is too the added advantage in that season ticket holders are able to make reservations one day before the others.

Davis Hits Again By Scoring Record Of G. O. P. Party

Seeks Comparison of Wilson Administration

Says Party Will Provide 'Honest Government'

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Sept. 18—Responding to an ovation from a great crowd that greeted him here on the south side, John W. Davis, the democratic presidential nominee, struck out here tonight against the republican party with gloves off.

He said he was willing to cast aside all issues and fight only on that of the record of the republican party in the past three and a half years.

Then Mr. Davis went into that record with the terse phrase "Teapot dome" and the crowd roared.

Then Mr. Davis referred to the man who "rode at the head of the bucaners," a man whom he said "was no less a figure than the secretary of the interior himself."

Attacks Forbes
Mr. Davis then referred to Mr. "Doheny and his little black satchel," to the "little green house in K street," to "Jess Smith's desk beside the desk of the attorney general."

Forbes and the veterans' bureau scandal came in for attack.

Retierating that he had not and would not say anything in disparagement of "the present occupant of the White House," Mr. Davis again insisted that political parties must be held responsible for the acts of those it places in power. But he said, the republican party sought to escape from its responsibility because a new helmman had come to the wheel of state.

When Mr. Davis came to review the record of the republican party on legislative matters, including the veto by President Coolidge of the bonus bill, the postal employees bill and his insistence on the Mellon tax reduction plan, he was admonished by some of his auditors to "hit 'em hard."

Compare Records
"When I run down this list of errors or worse," Mr. Davis said, "of all these shortcomings, and read in defense that 'a budget has been installed,' I can only think of the old story of the burial of the meanest man in town when none would say a word for him and one man who could bear it no longer said he wanted to say that 'Brother Jimmie' wasn't as mean all the time as he was most of the time."

Reviewing the achievements of the Wilson administration, Mr. Davis said: "Nothing more is needed than to take two great canvasses and paint upon them a picture; first, of eight years under the democratic party, and then of three and one-half years under the rule of the republican party and say to the American people, 'Look upon this picture and then on that, and take your choice of the four years that are to come.'"

Mr. Davis stirred his audience when he declared that the democratic party would give the country "a government, not honest in part, not honest in fractions but honest from top to bottom."

Coming then to a determination of Americanism, Mr. Davis said he would determine a man's Americanism "not by his color, not by his race, not by the length of his sojourn on American soil."

That he would ask those who call themselves Americans to subscribe to the three great ideas embodied in the preamble of the declaration of independence, human equality, personal liberty, and popular sovereignty. At the mention of "personal liberty," there was a demonstration and when Mr. Davis spoke of "freedom of religious worship" and "freedom from unlawful seizure" the crowd arose and cheered until the candidate asked that it at least "divide time with me."

Women Voters' League Concentrates on Child Labor Ban

Ratification of the child labor amendment has become the chief work of the National League of Women Voters, and in support of this policy, members will endeavor to get out 75 per cent of the women vote in November. Women directing the work, snapped at a meeting in Washington, D. C. are: Front row—(left to right) Miss Ruth Morgan, New York City; Miss Julia Lathrop, Philadelphia; Miss Belle Sherwin, national president; Mrs. Ann Webster, New Mexico. Back row (l. to r.): Mrs. John J. Champan, Mrs. Harris T. Baldwin, Mrs. W. D. Brookings, all of Washington; Miss Esther Dunshee, Chicago; Miss Mollie Ray Carroll, Baltimore; Minnie Fisher Cunningham, Texas.

Stewart to Speak At First Vespers

September 28 to Open Monthly Services Of University

The first Sunday Vespers, formally opening the religious services of the University, will be held on Sunday, September 28, 4 o'clock, at the end of the first week of school, with the Rev. George Craig Stewart, of St. Luke Parish, Evanston, Ill., delivering the afternoon's address. Arrangements for the remainder of the year's services have, according to Prof. George T. W. Patrick, who is in charge of Vespers, been partially completed.

The initial Religious Conference of the year, dated October 11, 12, 13, with a Vesper service on the 12, will be in charge of Bishop Francis J. McConnell of Pittsburgh, one of the most widely accepted prelates of the Methodist church. Upon two earlier occasions here, Bishop McConnell's address was enthusiastically received. For the third Vesper service, on November 16, Mary E. Woolley, president, Mt. Holyoke college, S. Hadley, Mass., has been selected as speaker. Just previous to both Christmas and Easter adjournments, a musical program dedicated to the season will be offered by the school of music, at the monthly service.

Mr. Sherwood Eddy, an International Y. M. C. A. member, has accepted an invitation to preside at the second religious conference which will be held here Feb. 15, 16, 17. For the April 10 service, the University hopes to be able to secure Mr. S. Parkes Kadman.

"He is undoubtedly one of the most eloquent pulp speakers in America," declared Professor Patrick. "We shall be very fortunate if he decides to speak for a University audience."

In the securing of the Rev. Charles R. Brown, dean of the Yale School of Religion, to deliver the June 7 baccalaureate address, the University will have an opportunity to hear one of its own sons. Dean Brown having received two degrees from Iowa, A. B. '83 and A. M. '86.

Dorcas Has Letters For Otte and Gorill

Registrar H. C. Dorcas requests that Mr. Lowell Otte and Mr. John Gorill call at his office, room 115, hall of liberal arts, for letters addressed to them in care of that office.

Announcements Appear As Usual in the Iowan During Coming Year

During the coming year, the Daily Iowan will as usual offer its services in presenting the announcements of University organizations to the student body. The only requirements are that the announcements be typewritten, and that they be handed in at the Daily Iowan office in the Hall of Journalism before 6 p. m.

Staff Members Leave Addresses With President

All new members of the University staff, and all old members who have changed their addresses, are requested to leave their correct addresses and telephone numbers at the president's office immediately.

Not to Appeal Pittsburgh Plus Ruling—Gibson

DES MOINES, Sept. 18—(AP)—Atty. Gen. Ben J. Gibson characterized it "the most splendid victory gained by the people in recent years" when he was informed today that no appeal would be entered with the supreme court of the United States by the United States Steel corporation and subsidiary companies from the recent Pittsburgh plus ruling.

"The fight has already netted the West millions of dollars," Gibson said. "This vast saving will of course continue."

Three Tons of Iowans In The Big Issue Yesterday

Three tons of paper went into the forty page edition of The Daily Iowan of yesterday morning. More than 8,000 copies each containing five eight page sections were printed on the big Duplex press. In other words, the Iowan of yesterday morning was the equivalent of 40,000 eight page papers, the usual size. The cost of the paper in yesterday's edition totaled over $300 and on top of that, the eight thousand copies were distributed throughout the city and mailed over the state free of charge. Twenty men were employed from Monday morning until Wednesday night working in the mechanical department. Fourteen operators, compositors, make-up men and pressmen worked continuously from 6:30 o'clock Wednesday morning until 8:30 yesterday morning rushing the last section of the paper to press.

Enter Today for Iowan's Biggest Circulation Race

First call yesterday. Get set, today. Ready Saturday. Go—Monday.

Monday morning, after the hurry of registration and rushing is over, the real campaign for subscriptions to the bigger and better Iowan will swing into the open stretch. From Monday morning, the 22nd, until Homecoming day, the city and University will witness the biggest circulation campaign ever staged in this county.

With the rush of pre-school activities, entrants in the individual and organization contest are "warming up" in the paddock for the "crack of the gun." Watch the sweepstakes for the $1,500 in awards start Monday.

The "Profit sharing club is popular. Inquiries at the manager's office today have proven that, but activities have kept solicitors from actively engaging in the real campaign.

While you're considering when you'll enter your name or that of a friend or organization in the contest, you might let this one get the once-over, — tomorrow, today will be yesterday, and the day-after-tomorrow will be another yesterday and so on until the days are all yesterday. That's all right in some things, but in a campaign of this nature it won't work.

The campaign manager, Mr. Moffit, feels confident that when the first broadside is fired on Monday morning, several hundred individuals and more than twenty organizations will be entered for the awards.

A complete story of the "Profit-sharing club" plan is given on page seven of this morning's paper.

There's this one that might filter through—someone has invented that, overused term, "the psychological moment." Don't do a thing until "the psychological moment" and for a good many people, that moment never shows up — but it's a good excuse when you don't have a bunch of live wire Hawkeyes to buck up against. Here's the rub on "the psychological moment." When Monday mornings rolls around, the livestock bunch of young men and women in the University will be working for a share in the $1,500 awards of the Iowan campaign and there's going to sell subscriptions. "The psychological moment" is to enroll now. Get warmed up today and tomorrow and swing into the real work next Monday.

Following the arrest of the minister, authorities exhumed the body of Wilford Fweetin ordered. He died about two months ago of poisoning under mysterious circumstances.

The inquest verdict was that Fweetin died of ptomaine poisoning. Mr. and Mrs. Fweetin were communicants of the Reverend Hight's church. The minister is said to have given medicine to Fweetin and been with him when he died. The similarity of Fweetin and Mrs. Hight's deaths has been the cause of comment by villagers.

When the minister's home was searched this afternoon, officers said they found an empty box labelled with the name of the same poison found in Mrs. Hight's stomach.

Reverend Hight said he had bought it to poison rats.

DOBSON ELECTED

ST. PAUL, Sept. 18—(AP)—George Dobson of Passaic, N. J., was elected chief de chemin de fer of La Societe Forty Hommes et Eight Chevaux, the "playground of the American Legion," at the final business session of the forty and eight here late today.

Another Iowa graduate, P. K. Bose, who received a degree from the University of Iowa college of medicine, will also be on the staff. Mr. Ahmed, the founder of the new school, received his degree here in 1914. After his graduation he was for some time with the Forsyth Dental Infirmary at Boston. According to Mr. Sudhindra Bose, the Calcutta Dental College is the first institution of this sort to be opened in a country of 315,000,000 people. The college is located in quarters that have been especially provided for it, and is in the midst of a populous neighborhood where many patients may be obtained for clinical work.

Keep Crowds of Students Well in Hand Throughout

New Automatic Cash Register Renders Accurate Count

Continue Re-checking Of Materials Last Night

Despite the awkwardness of registration to freshmen, or its annoyance to seniors with irregular courses, 1,800 students finished registering yesterday afternoon for the first semester. Checkers worked on late into the night re-checking cards so mistakes could be settled early today.

Except for pressure in the women's gymnasium about ten o'clock when professional students by the hundreds streamed in to pay fees while liberal arts registrants were also crowding on the premises, things went fairly smoothly. Outside the natural science building the crowd had started to gather by four in the morning, and up until noon the line was a block long.

Jessup Is Pleased

Down in the men's gymnasium, amid the hubbub, President Jessup was seen talking with old time instructors and speaking cheerfully to undergraduates that he knew.

"Isn't this a fine group of people!" he exclaimed. "You can tell by their looks that they are here to work."

The president thought that probably there are more students coming to Iowa from other colleges than is usually the case, and that the students seem more matured.

"And in general," he said, "I think we shall have an increase in enrollment this year, but I can't say whether the new journalism school and coming medical improvements have attracted people."

Many Cards a Necessity
Concerning the multiplicity of similar cards that each person must fill out, Charles H. Maruth, assistant registrar, explained that the state requires minute reports on everything from occupations of fathers to students' religions, to say nothing of the cards needed for the registrar, the deans of men and women, and the statistical expert. "Those who do not understand how thorough our system is, feel we are imposing on them, though of course we aren't," he said.

New Register Used

William H. Cobb, from the treasurer's office, introduced a new massive cash register, the like of which has never been seen before in Iowa City. This apparently cumbersome affair is able to carry 27 separate balances, a grand total, to render pure estimates, to count and receipt the transactions, and to serve apparently as a mathematical vault.

Mr. Cobb, who stood by when fees were paid, claims it will receipt 400 cards an hour. He, too, thought that more were handled yesterday than the first day last year.

Beginning today, those professional students who still are unregistered will draw passes to the fee clerk in the women's gymnasium stamped either today or tomorrow. These passes are given out near the south end of the basement of natural science building.

Persons just entering the University may receive all necessary information and cards to be filled out by going from north to south through the basement of natural science building. This building is northwest of the old capitol on the main campus.

In addition to the regular registration work, the office of the dean of men reported that 60 men had been given jobs yesterday, most of them being for board. The service of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. in giving out lists of rooms is not estimable. Frivols and Iowan subscriptions both sold well to students all day long, to say nothing of the large selling of "I" books by "I" men on busy corners.

Sorority Rushing Under Full Swing Closes Saturday

Rules Agreed on For Rushing Given Below

With sorority rushing on in full swing, and rushing the sole topic of conversation in sorority circles, the Iowan reports certain of the rushing rules agreed upon. Rushing closes Saturday at 9 p. m.

All Pan-Hellenic rules are binding alike on alumnae and active members.

Girls may not be invited to membership in any national Pan-Hellenic sorority until they have been fully matriculated in a University.

All sororities shall conform to the ordinary rules of fair play and the honor spirit, and any sorority breaking these, although adhering to the specific letter of the rule, shall be considered dishonorable and subject to penalty.

The preference system of bidding shall prevail. All bids shall be written; there shall be no oral bidding. The closed question shall prevail.

The period of rushing shall be from Wednesday September 17, 12 noon, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday from 1 p. m. to 9 p. m. daily.

Rushing expenses shall not exceed $150, and an itemized account of the same shall be handed in to Pan-Hellenic at the close of the rushing season.

No rushing shall be done any place other than at a chapter house.

From 9 a. m. to 1 p. m., and from 6 p. m. to 7 p. m., no sorority girls shall be seen with a rushee, except at a preferred party. No rushee shall be called for or taken from 6 p. m. to 7 p. m., no sorority woman. No rushee shall be taken to register by a sorority woman, unless by a member of Staff and Circle, or a member of the Sponsor committee.

No rushee shall spend a night at a chapter house.

No dates with men shall be arranged either directly or indirectly by a sorority woman for any rushee. No sorority or sorority member may give a rushee candy, flowers, or gifts except as a favor at a preferred party.

All rushing shall end at 9 p. m. Saturday, September 20.

No invitation to join a sorority shall be issued before Sunday, September 21, at 7 p. m., at which time shall hand in the list of girls whom they wish to bid to the lawyer chosen.

On Sunday at 12 noon the lawyer shall send notification to the rushees who have received bids; such rushees must hand in their preference list to the lawyer at the office of the dean of women not later than one hour after receiving same. There shall be a period of silence from Saturday 9 p. m., to Sunday 8 p. m., at which time the rushees shall call for the list of the girls who have accepted their invitations.

Lutheran Club to Give Student Mixer Saturday Evening

The Lutheran club will be host to all the Lutheran students in the University at the liberal arts drawing room, on next Saturday evening at 8 p. m.

A program will be given; it will be followed with games and refreshments.

SOCIETY

Pre-Nuptial Courtesy Is Extended to Lois Sensor

Ruth Middaugh of Des Moines was hostess at pre-nuptial courtesy given for Miss Lois Sensor yesterday afternoon. Miss Sensor is to become the bride of Eric Wilson Saturday, September 20, in the Iowa City apartment which will be the home of the couple.

Miss Sensor received her B. A. degree here last spring and Mr. Wilson was graduated the year before from the college of liberal arts. As winner of the Hawkeye scholarship in 1923 for the most representative junior woman in the University, Miss Sensor gained prominence on the campus. She was president of the women's forensic count-down. She is a member of the Delta Zeta sorority and last year was elected to Staff and Circle, honorary senior women's organization. She is now secretary to Benjamin F. Shambaugh, head of the department of political science.

Mr. Wilson, who is now handling the publicity for the athletic department, was one of the four athletes from Iowa to represent the United States in the Olympics this year. He was elected to A. P. I. in his senior year and is a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Fraser-Ruch Wedding Is Solemnized in Chicago

Verness Fraser of the school of music became the bride of Dr. Giles M. Ruch, associate professor of psychology and education, in a simple wedding ceremony at the Fraser home in Chicago September 1.

Mrs. Ruch will return to the University this fall and will take up her work as instructor in the college of music.

Mr. Ruch will also continue his work here in the department of psychology and education.

Alpha Tau Omega Will Entertain at Dance Friday

The Alpha Tau Omega fraternity will entertain at a dancing party at the chapter house Friday night. The music will be furnished by Wayne Tass and his orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Ross G. Walker will act as chaperones.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon Will Dance at Red Ball Inn

The members of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity will entertain tomorrow evening at the Red Ball Inn at a dancing party. Doc Lawson's orchestra will play.

Park Pavilion Chosen For Friday Dancing Party

Among the many social functions of the coming week-end is the dancing party which is to be given by members of the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity at the Park Pavilion. A dinner will precede the dance.

All Women Invited To Currier Cozy Sunday

All University women are invited to the Currier Cozy being given by the Y. W. C. A. next Sunday afternoon.

The purpose of the Cozy is to get together; members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet will constitute one line, while new women will form the other, so that all present will have an opportunity to become acquainted with one another.

The program includes an address of welcome to the new women, by Miss Nelle Summers, the new Y. W. C. A. secretary, a solo by Miss Esther Dyke and a reading by Raymo Rawson.

Give Presidents Office Place and Time of Meetings

All people who schedule important meetings, or use campus buildings for these meetings, are urgently requested to notify the office of the president concerning these meetings, the place and the time.

By so doing, they will avoid many troublesome conflicts and delays in getting rooms for meetings.

The date book in the President's office in Old Capital is always open for those who wish to locate open dates and open places for meetings.

A list of the common campus meeting places together with their seating capacities, is given below: Armory 7000 L. A. Drawing Room 200 L. A. Assembly Room 283 Men's Gymnasium 2000-2500 N. S. Auditorium 1300 New Chemistry Auditorium 200 Old Capitol (each chamber) 250 Physics Auditorium, room 301 104

Y.M.C.A. Gets Former Building of Daily Iowan

The University Y. M. C. A., which has in the past often found itself handicapped by lack of space in the building it now has at the corner of Iowa and Clinton, has now obtained the building at 112 Iowa avenue, formerly occupied by The Daily Iowan.

Since the Iowan has moved to the new hall of Journalism, formerly Close Hall, this building has been extensively remodeled for the use of the Y. M. C. A. Together with the old building, the Y. now has better facilities for the student recreation which it fosters.

CHINESE WAR RENEWED

TIENSIN, Sept. 18. (A. P.)—Fighting between the rival armies of Chang Tso-lin of Manchuria and the central government of Peking is reported to have begun this morning at Shanhaikwan, the border city on the Peking-Mukden railway. A strict censorship has been imposed on all messages.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 18. (A. P.)—Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian, was elected president of the interallied veterans association in London today according to a cablegram received by American Legion officials here tonight.

Breakfast Dances Die Natural Death

Only Preference Dates Given During Hours Of the Morning

No more breakfast dances for rushees! At least not this year with the new Pan-Hellenic rushing rules, which give all sororities permission to entertain only twice a day, once in the afternoon and once in the evening, during the formal fall rushing season.

The only exception to this rule is made for preferred parties. The dates which have been given to each sorority for these are as follows:

- Wednesday, September 17
 - 12 m.—3 p. m. Delta Delta Delta.
 - 3 p. m.—6 p. m. Alpha Xi Delta.
 - 6 p. m.—9 p. m. Chi Omega.
- Thursday, September 18

In general the rushing rules concerning the conduct of the rushee and the sorority women remain the same. The preference bidding system will be used again and the closed question shall prevail so that oral bidding is not allowed.

Rushing expenses for each sorority are not to exceed $150 this year and the number of items in its lunch is limited to three. No favors, such as candy and flowers may be given to any rushees at any party or by a sorority woman at any time.

The period of silence shall last from Saturday night at 9 o'clock, when rushing ceases, to Sunday at 6 p. m. when each sorority is given permission to call for the list of women who have accepted.

"Get Out the Vote Campaign" Plans To Be Formed Saturday

Plans for getting out all the women votes of Johnson county will be made at the meeting of the League of Women Voters at the Chamber of Commerce club rooms at three o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The County Federation of Women's Clubs, the Parent-Teachers organizations, the Star Legion, Relief Corps and the W. C. T. U. will cooperate with the League in putting over the first big "Get Out The Vote Campaign."

Sorority Cat and Fraternity Dog Lead Double Life During Rushing

The last little bud of promise in the prospective autumn bouquet had jerked the weary muscles of her face into a last smile for that day. The row of Cheshire smiles in the doorway gradually faded as she went down the steps. The necessity for them gone, the faces suddenly assumed a look of relaxation, naturalness, and worryment, for now came the thoughts that all was not lost, strayed, or broken was to be ultimately returned to the patronesses. Mother's Oriental table scarf, which had replaced the old leather one, and Aunt Edith's floor lamp, which had served so nicely to cover the rubbed place on the wall paper, were, (thank heaven!) still intact. But the borrowed blue vase, that had added so classic a touch of simplicity to the room, had been placed too near the edge of the piano. Somehow, in the flurry of cordial greetings, it had come crashing to the floor. For a moment, the Cheshire smiles had disappeared. A meeting would have to be called to replace that vase!

But the strain of the first preparation, at least, was over. No more need for hurried pushing of unsightly objects into closets! No more need to gather cut flowers from the gardens of the neighbors! No more need for pledges to dash up and down stairs in a desperate effort to carry out at once the orders of three actives, to appear half an hour later on a plans of perfect, easy, smiling equality!

And over, too, for a day was the necessity for striving to keep the cordially sincere, and for desperate mental searching for a phrase less trite than the former. "Oh, are you from Des Moines? Why, I have a friend on 43rd Street—No? Of course the chance was slight but I thought you might know her." "Oh, did you meet Susie Gusher at the lake this summer? Why, she is one of my very best friends!"

But even yet the frat Ford must continue to blush unseen in the back alley while dad's car sits proudly and almost conspicuously before the house.

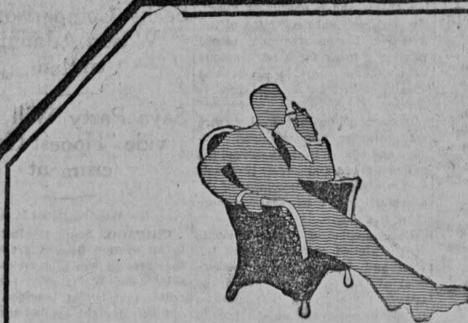

The wrangling on to be or not to be still lies ahead, but the first lap is over. It is strenuous, but necessary, for rushing is rushing, and dog is dog.

4 Co-eds Paddle Over 200 Miles to Reach University

Four co-eds returning to the University chose a novel way of transportation and paddled some two hundred miles over the river distance from Marshalltown to Iowa City. Gladys Brooker, Myrna Warden, Josephine Buls and Cecelia Kloeck compose the quartet, who covered the distance in five days and four nights.

Miss Brooker stated that the river was almost impassible in some places, especially in the early stages of the trip. Rapids and obstructions almost upset the canoe twice but these immersions were luckily averted. Nights were spent in the typical campers' method. A lumber camp, sand bar, and two deserted houses furnished the only cover for the fair navigators.

The trip of these four ellipses the performance of Marguerita McGowen and Amy Benner who journeyed to Keokuk via water last year. Two of the paddlers have won 1st, Miss Brooker and Miss Warden. As to the trip was made in fairly fast time they did not seem to be very tired over the novel way of coming back to school.

A compliment we greatly appreciate is the fact that a great many college men come here for their clothes. They have definite ideas as to what they want, and they are very discriminating. For that reason their patronage is a compliment. We do everything we can to deserve it: we study their tastes, and keep them in mind when we buy. This fall we have gone further than ever before. We have a stock of Society Brand College models that warrants the good things that more than University men say about us.

French Ideas in Millinery

In which Rebox, Lewis, Louison, Bernaine and anes Blanchot all have contributed their Genius; their Daring; their Originality

They have taken the demure Poke of the Directoire period, and re-fashioned it in many, many bewitching ways; they have pilfered the archives of ancient Spain; they have taken her gorgeous coloring, her sailor's her bolero—and transformed their loot into intriguing styles, into Hats that Midday of Fall, 1924, cannot just help but go into raptures over. Davis Hits Again By Scoring Record Of G. O. P. Party

"I believe the democratic party is truly 100 per cent American," Mr. Davis said after explaining that he was a democrat because he believed his party stood for the three great principles he had outlined more closely than any other party that ever had been organized.

Only Address in Illinois
Tonight's speech will be Mr. Davis' only address in Illinois at this time but tomorrow night he will carry his campaign into Indiana, speaking in Gary, and Saturday he will talk at South Bend and Fort Wayne.

From the latter places he will go direct to New York where he will arrive Sunday to resume his eastern drive.

The democratic party leader arrived here early today from his tour beyond the Mississippi river. He was given an ovation by crowds that greeted him at the station and that lined the streets through which he passed to the city hall where he was officially welcomed by Mayor William I. Dever.

Mr. Davis told the leaders that he had been very much encouraged by conditions he had found in most of the western states.

Mayor Wm. E. Dever presided at the rally tonight at Dexter pavilion and introduced the democratic standard bearer. Several candidates for state and local offices were also among the speakers.

Mr. Davis faced here what was perhaps the largest indoor crowd he has ever addressed, the great pavilion with its seating capacity of 14,000 being crowded to capacity.

Hawkeye Stars Win Net Doubles

Dick Boyles Eliminates Janse in Singles

Captain Ted Swenson and Hector Janse, University tennis stars, won the northwest Iowa doubles tennis championship at Fort Dodge this summer by defeating Baker and Alger of Decorah. The Iowa stars took the first two sets without trouble, winning 6-2 and 6-4. Their drive wobbled in the next two, however, and they lost 4-6 and 4-6. They regained their earlier form in the final set, winning 6-3.

In the singles matches, Swenson, Janse, and Dick Boyles of Iowa City high were among the contestants. Boyles' victory over Janse came as a surprise, the high school player taking the match 6-3, 6-3. He, too, was soon eliminated, however, Baker winning over him in the fifth round.

Swenson played through the singles tournament to the finals, losing his match to Joe Van Ginkel of Des Moines, 6-2, 2-6, 6-2, 6-2.

White Sox Make Clean Sweep of Boston Series

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox drove Fullerton off the mound in the first inning today and made a clean sweep of the series with Boston, seven to three. The fielding of Collins and Davis was a feature. The game was stopped for one minute at 4:30 while the players and fans stood with bared heads out of respect to Frank Chance, who was buried in Los Angeles today. Chance was manager of both clubs. Physical Education Develops Character

By PAUL E. BELTING

Physical Education has in it as our large aim the development of ethical character. The care of the teeth, the preservation of the eyesight, the development of habits of cleanliness, the problems of malnutrition and recreation, what we shall eat, and what we shall drink, for example, may have moral significance.

The present democratic governmental and social virtues are the result of the American spirit to play the game and abide by its rules. The chief trouble with some countries in their political relations, is that they lack the essentials of sportsmanship. A defeated party may make its own rules and begin to enforce them with the rifle. The imperial German government with its armies brought the condemnation of the world upon its own head because it made its own rules of conduct and attempted to play a game which society condemned.

The athletic games as a part of the physical education program furnish one of the best psychological situations in which to teach many of the so-called Christian virtues. The instincts of mastery and pugnacity have long been established in the human race. The fundamental motive force that these instincts provide should not be eliminated from athletics, but redirected toward the inculcation of such characteristics as perseverance against difficulties, tenacity of purpose, the will to overcome, obedience, self-reliance, self-sacrifice, subordination, cooperation, friendliness, loyalty, leadership, "ability to lose without sulking and win without boasting," a spirit of fair play, and the insistence on right as the rule in one's relations with his associates.

The athletic group rightly has held a place of prominence in the physical, intellectual and moral education of its members. The college and university has and should insist on clean sport, so that a premium is placed on fairness as well as on skill. The university has gone farther than any other institution in eliminating certain older types of athletes from the student body. The result is that the average athlete is no longer the "bully" who believes that the best football player is the one who slugs the hardest. The university has seen to it that the typical leader on the football field is the athlete who does measurably well in school, who abides by the orders of the coach, and finally, is willing and does play with all of his might, remembering that the "harder he falls the higher he will bounce," and to him the purpose is found in winning the game for his school.

The ideal of winning is a legitimate ethical conception which in itself is not worthy of criticism. The coach who says that his team does not play to win either has not understood the laws of learning or wants an excuse for a poor team. To have taken away the tremendous ideal of winning would have deprived society of many of its great achievements. Business, government, churches, homes, schools, have always been desirous of success, but these institutions, use wrong methods, the methods for the accomplishment of success. Society has and should condemn the methods employed, for mankind has held before it the conception that the end never justified the means. Of coaches, likewise, use wrong methods, the method is in the reformation of the methods employed and not in the elimination of the ideal of winning. To win, but by fair means, is a moral practice worthy of us all in our social relations.

Scouting Days

UNIVERSITY men who have had scout training have been invited by Mr. N. W. Gowens, scout executive, to participate in the work of the scout movement in this city. Mr. Gowens reports that the local troops are particularly in need of young men to serve as assistant scout masters, scout examiners, or special instructors.

In the past a number of the students of the University have found their connection with the local scout troop to have been an interesting and profitable one. Any boy who has ever been a scout finds it hard to forget the pleasure and excitement of an overnight hike, or of an evening of competition at scout headquarters. He recalls the thrill that he felt as he went on for his first night of guard duty or as he turned in the best time of his patrol for the tracking test. The days of scouting were days of gold, and an opportunity has been extended through the local scout organization to prolong these days. It is an opportunity to make oneself feel at home here immediately and to find an excellent and healthful diversion from the work of the University.

Effective Criticism

"A VOTE for Senator La Follette is better than staying at home and praying for Coolidge."

Such is the admonition of a dyed-in-the-wool republican business firm to its employees. Any vote, in the opinion of this firm, is better than no vote.

A similar spirit is shown in the offer of a prominent Johnson county resident of a prize of $100 to the township in this county which polls the largest per cent of its eligible vote in the coming presidential election.

Everywhere an effort is being made to interest more people in the problems which must be solved at the polls in November. There seems to be a general opinion, and one which is well founded, that the privilege and duty of voting is often ignored by the electorate.

As soon as the election has been decided and the party in power attempts to put its policies in force, a great clamor arises from certain of the citizenry. And if any mismanagement or flaw in the affairs of the government is detected, the clamor grows in intensity.

Unfortunately this hue and cry against public officials comes to a large extent, at least, from the very men who have neglected to interest themselves in the affairs of government to the extent of casting a vote at the polls. A few more critical votes, and less picking to pieces of the policy of administration would result in a more efficient and democratic government.

The Prince's Hat-Brim

(New York World)

"IT is a sad commentary on our democracy," according to the Rev. Thomas Kirkwood of Syracuse, "to see so many of our youth spoiling their goods hats by turning down the brim in front because the Prince of Wales, while coming over, turned down the brim of his fedora."

This is the theme over which a gigantic controversy might wage if Americans turned down their brims and creased their trousers only in emulation of Prince. We are supposed in this country to believe a man a man for all that sort of thing and the rank but the guinea's stamp. But there are styles even when there is no Baron Renfrew to copy, and a good many of them are dictated by the same kind of hero-worship which is to be found inevitably in a Prince's train.

In Algona, Ia., the high-school lads argue their fathers into allowing them tennis flannels because the richest merchant's son has returned from the university with an easy volleying game and clothes which can be adequately described as the cat's something or other. In Fresno, Cal.; Houston, Tex., and points east and north the girls hang pendants in their ears and bob their hair and shorten or lengthen their skirts because the elite, returning from the centres of culture, have done these things. In Duluth, Minn., and Harrisburg, Pa., mother takes up Mah-Jongg and father discards Norwegian whist in favor of bridge because the best people are doing it.

This is not democracy. In social matters democracy has had little success from the beginning of time. Somebody with money or position is always deciding what is the thing to do—and the rest are eternally doing it. The Prince is having his little day.

A New Idea

ONE of the democratic leaders recently remarked that the republican party had not had an original idea in 50 years. At the same time the republicans are accusing the democrats of fully as great a negligence in thought processes, and Bob LaFollette is berating both of the old parties for their stolidity in the upper story.

However, the claim that a party hasn't developed a new idea during half a century isn't such a charge as it might appear. After all, original ideas are rather scarce articles, and many a man has spent his three score and ten upon this planet without seriously approaching the state where he could claim to have a thought of his own.

"There is nothing new under the sun" is perhaps spoken more truly of the realm of thought than of any other field. When a man actually sweeps aside the mass of beliefs, prejudices and other varieties of mental shackles to enter an absolutely new realm of thought, and there to remain until he has developed an idea of his own, he has achieved what political parties and kings have often failed to do.

... Fact and Fancy ...

With this edition Em Quad makes his genuflection, or genuflexion (we have enough things to quarrel about without making enemies on the detail of spelling) as diction on this unpretentious column. Some things must be made clear now, because if it is not done today it will probably never be done. We shall use the editorial "we"—the prerogative of kings, queens and colym conductors. The name "Em Quad" has no significance, but if you do get excited about any of our chance remarks we shall only be too happy to receive an epistle indited through the red ribbon on a sheet of asbestos. All communications should be addressed to none other than Em Quad, in care of the Daily Iowan.

With that introduction and statement of our platform, we are pleased to present—Ourself.

When you came you were like red wine and honey,
And the taste of you burnt my mouth with its sweetness,
Now you are like morning bread—
Smooth and pleasant,
I hardly taste you at all, for I know your savour,
But I am completely nourished.

(As she might have written)

When I wuz courtin' Annie, she wuz honey an' red wine,
She made me feel all jumpy, did that o' sweetheart o' mine;
Wunst w'en I went to Crawfordsville, on one o' them there trips,

An' now I've married Annie, an' I see her all the time,
I do not feel the daily need o' bustin' into rhyme.
An' now the wine-y taste is gone, for Annie's always there,
An' I take her fer granted now, the same ez sun an' air.
But though the honey taste wuz sweet, an' though the wine wuz strong,
Yet ef I lost sun an' air, I couldn' git along.

Iowan's Book Reviews Praised by Publisher

A letter received by the literary department from Mitchell Kennerley, one of the publishers to whom the Iowan has been giving book reviewing service, reads as follows:

"Thank you for the clippings of the reviews of 'The Saint's Theatre' and 'The Wrists on the Door' which appeared in the Daily Iowan. I am so pleased with the individuality of these reviews that I am forwarding them to the author in London.

"I shall be pleased to send you all the books I publish."

The reviews to which Mr. Kennerley refers were written by Ruth Middaugh G. of Des Moines and Charles Brown Nelson of Atlantic.

Terrell Is Chosen Y. M. Secretary

Is South Dakota Man; Graduate of Yale University

Harry Terrell, formerly general secretary of the student association of the state of South Dakota, will be the secretary of the University Y. M. C. A. for the coming year.

R. H. Fitzgerald, head of the Memorial Union campaign, had held the position for four years, but resigned to take up his Memorial Union work. Gerhard B. Noll, a graduate student, who held the position for a year upon Mr. Fitzgerald's departure, is now succeeded by Mr. Terrell.

The new secretary is a graduate of Cornell college at Mount Vernon. He has been student secretary for Iowa, and during the past three years has been taking a graduate course in the Yale Divinity school. He now has the degree of bachelor of divinity from that institution. Y. M. C. A. methods have been his especial interest during his course.

He was the leader of the Iowa delegation in all their activities at the Lake Geneva conference in June. President Jessup first met Mr. Terrell by appointment in New York, and since that time University authorities have been endeavoring to obtain his services.

ONE ACT PLAYS

Christopher Morley
(Doubleday, Page, & Co.)
Reviewed by

Charlton Grant Laird

"Well, not exactly true, Dear, but interesting," Laura says in "Thursday Evening," the first of six "One Act Plays" by Christopher Morley, and the remark is not entirely inapplicable to the collection.

"That bird was crazy about having his windows lifelike," volunteers the window decorator who thinks that the Jacobean bedroom suite is the personal taste of Mr. Jacobean (pronounced like the vegetable) and the product of his factory in Michigan. "That's not art. That's vulgar. You don't want to make your windows too lifelike."

And this, too, is not inapplicable to the collection, when taken as an antidote to the former remark.

There is no great force in these plays—no swinging action, no vortex of circumstance, no grappling with immensity; but neither is there much use for this. Morley has caught the atmosphere of six pleasing situations as Clyde Fitch would have caught it, seen the ordinariness and the humor and the humanity back of the situations and couched the whole in a cleverness that makes good reading and should make good listening. Quite naturally this permits him to portray very human characters in a very pleasing fashion and when he stoops to the didactic, he says what many of us had not thought of and in a manner pleasing to most of us.

The plays are strikingly set: ceive the father-in-law and an Eve who "has lost some of her Garden of Eden slimmness"—the time is Genesis IV—16; Adam has attained a long red beard and Eve is "only fifteen verses younger."

The book has not a thrill in it, but anyone who can enjoy an Adam who believed in the stork and that Cain and Abel were a curse from God and not a habit and yell "hot dog" when he discovers his mistake; anyone who can recognize the high school actress that knows damn well the director wants her to flivver; anyone who can appreciate that the home, run like a clock, is really run like an alarm clock or can delight in Walt Whitman locking himself in the bathroom after breakfast and singing hymns, will find it a pleasure.

"Thursday Evening" as the dishes are to be washed in a newly-wed home with both mothers-in-law in the offing; "Rehearsal" on an empty stage, or "however your stage ordinarily looks when nothing is going on"; "Bedroom Suite" in the show window of a department store; "On a Shelf" among the stacks of a public library where the books loom ten feet high and dwarf the Marquis and the Widow as they come out of their volumes; "Walt," in the littered study of the poet; and "East of Eden" on the first sleeping porch in history a few miles out of the Garden as Cain and his wife are preparing to re-

It takes no great literary clairvoyance to assign "Sallie's Newspaper" to this genus. A millionaire heroine by the name of Sallie Flower owns a town called Seganku, Wisconsin, and is scheduled to wed a cheese-king, Dromillard Schmitt; that is enough to show that the author is out to keep the reader's attention till they part on the last page, and it is fully enough to establish the book's family tree.

Such a typical incident as the one in which a lady of prodigious strength rescues the hero who happens to be engaged in hand to hand combat by neatly plucking off his opponents' ear leaves no doubt as to the novel's literary relationship. The first act of the heiress on returning to the place of her nativity is to subsidize the town newspaper so that it can be run on her own ideas which include free advertising, no headlines, and the arrangement of news in alphabetical order; there follow many similar acts by the heiress and the editor for the edification of bored and blasé minds.

The author, Edwin Lewis, educator, scientist, philosopher, and Dean of Lewis Institute, has seemingly genuflected before all the modern shrines except that of art, and has received his reward, but "Sallie's Newspaper" betrays the story of his allegiance.

Literary Department Welcomes Contributions

The literary department of the Iowan will welcome contributions in the form of critical articles, book reviews, poems, short stories, and sketches. Contributions may be brought to the office in the journalism building (formerly Close Hall) or mailed to The Literary Department in care of The Daily Iowan.

Suggestions and criticism also will be welcomed by this department.

Install Students' Study Halls Here

Miss Bayne Will Supervise New Library Plan

New study halls which will accommodate over 300 undergraduates have been installed on the first floor of the old chemistry building, directly below the present reserve library.

The new halls will go into use for the first time when the University opens; they have been arranged and equipped this summer under the direction of John B. Kaiser, who has full charge of the University libraries.

An unusual feature of the new study halls will be the fact that they will also allow students to use books which are kept in the reserve library on the second floor. This will be accomplished by an elevator arrangement which will enable the hall supervisors to obtain the books from the reserve library.

Miss Helen Bayne will be the supervisor for the new undergraduate study halls, while Mrs. Bessie G. Loock will serve as her assistant. Miss Bayne has had a wide field of library experience in the Chicago public library, and she has also worked in the American Library in Paris. She has traveled widely in Europe, and was an instructor in French last year at the Iowa State Teachers' college. Mrs. Loock has had eight years of library and teaching experience.

Although the plan of supervised study halls is entirely new here, University officials believe that it will be of great value in aiding study on the part of students.

The supervised study plan will also give undergraduates the facilities for study that have in the past been provided only for graduate students and for the laboratory sciences.

Woman Graduate Is Reporter for Racing Stables

A woman as reporter for a racing stable—that's the job that Mary Kinnavey, a graduate of the University, and once a student of journalism here, holds down in Chicago.

Miss Kinnavey, who was one of the charter members of the University of Iowa chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalistic society, is now national president of that organization, and came to Iowa City last spring on her way to aid in the installation of the Grinnell chapter.

She has been connected with newspaper work since her graduation from the University, and she has, in addition to her work in reporting, found time to conduct various types of newspaper columns.

Begin Plans for Induction; Date Not Yet Settled

A committee for the University induction ceremony, at which University students take the "Pledge of Loyalty," will be appointed soon, and work will be begun on plans for the ceremony. No definite date has been chosen.

The purpose of induction, as defined by President Walter A. Jessup in a letter to the faculty, is "To knit the whole University together, through the taking of a common pledge of loyalty."

Voter for Forty Years Finds He Isn't Citizen

BURLINGTON, Sept. 18—John Thyne, prominent Burlington contractor, who has voted here for 40 years, believing that his father's naturalization in 1885 had conferred citizenship on his son, learned today during a court proceeding that he was an alien because he was ten months over twenty one when his father was naturalized and hence not a minor. Theyne and his wife, a native born Iowan, who lost citizenship by marriage immediately took out first papers asking for citizenship.

Daily Iowan adopts "Profit Sharing Club" plan for increasing its already large list of subscribers. For a period of a few short weeks the Daily Iowan will share its profits with a group of active solicitors who help them build up their business. Campaign to be strictly a business proposition. Remuneration will depend entirely on results produced.

Cash Commission to all who work—No strings tied to offer. Campaign starts at once. Enter your name or the name of a friend today.

$200.00 Cash Bonus Award

Work alone spells success. Each subscription secured counts as a unit of work and the solicitor who secures the most credit units gets the First Bonus Award in addition to cash commission. Figure it in dollars and cents. $200.00 for a few weeks work is something you cannot afford to pass.

$75.00 2nd Bonus Award

When the campaign ends in three short weeks from now someone will have $75.00 in extra money—just because they secured a few more subscriptions to the Iowan than the next solicitor in line. The one who secures the second highest number of credit units gets the money. It had just as well be you.

Candidates for organization prize will not compete for Bonus Awards.

$25.00 3rd Bonus Award

A third bonus of $25.00 will go to the solicitor who secures the third largest number of credit units. Twenty-five dollars added to the cash commissions will make a substantial salary for your spare time.

Busy People Do Things!
Cash in on your Spare Time

Candidates for organization prize are not competitors for Bonus Awards.

$450.00 for Radio Equipment

Two wonderful Radio Sets go as organization awards. Any sorority, fraternity, or other organization may enter the "Profit Sharing Club" and work for a $235.00 Jones Symphony Radio Set with complete equipment, including Thorola loud speaker. This is one of the finest sets on the market today and will make an enviable addition to the home of any organization on the campus. This splendid set will go to the organization that succeeds in securing more credits than any other organization competing. The organization securing the second largest number of credits will receive a Crosley Tridyne Special with complete equipment including the new M4 Magnavox. This set is the Great Crosley Company's very latest addition to their line and nothing could be more attractive to any organization that is looking for something good.

These machines have been purchased from and are on display in the Radio Department of The Auto Supply on South Linn street.

Definite Commission NO BLANKS

Carrying out the piece work basis as used in many factories each solicitor will receive a definite commission on each subscription secured.
A $5.00 twelve month's subscription delivered by carrier 25c com.
A $4.00 nine month's subscription delivered by carrier 15c com.
A Special Rate of $3.00 for mail subscription outside Iowa City pays 20c.
This commission will be paid regardless of the amount of business produced.
Bonus offers—addition.

HE WHO HESITATES IS LOST GET BUSY!

Outline of Campaign

From today, the opening date, until the close on October 25th, a regular credit schedule will be in force which will give to any solicitor a credit coupon of 500 credits for each $5.00 subscription and 400 for each $4.00 subscription. A special rate on mail subscriptions at $3.00 per year will give 300 credits. Six months' mail subscriptions may be taken at $1.50 and the regular credit given will be just half that for a full year's subscription. This will be known as the regular credit schedule and will be in force throughout the entire campaign.

In addition to this, however, the campaign will be divided into four periods during which extra credits will be given for securing subscriptions in sets or groups.

During the first period which ends at 9 p. m., Saturday, October 4th, each set of five subscriptions secured will give the solicitor who secures them 5,000 extra credits. Just so there are five subscriptions, they be new or renewals, and they may go to all different parts of the country.

The second period covering the time between October 4th and 9 p. m., October 11th, will give 3,000 extra credits for each set of four.

The third period will cover the time from October 11th until October 18th, during which 1,000 extra credits will be given for each set of three.

During the fourth period from October 18th until October 24th, no extra credits will be given but a special credit coupon for 40,000 credits will go to the producer of the greatest amount of business over all. 30,000 will go to the second and 20,000 to the third. These credits may go either to organizations or individuals.

Rules Governing Campaign

Anyone may enter their own name or the name of a friend. A solicitor need not be a student at the University. Credits will be issued on subscription secured in any place in Iowa City or outside territory.

In case of a tie for any award, one of equal value will be given to each of the solicitors tying.

The credits issued will be counted by a committee of judges to determine the winners of the bonus awards and the organization prize.

The "PROFIT SHARING CLUB" manager will go over the details with you and explain anything that you do not understand.

Subscriptions may be taken for periods of nine or twelve months cash in advance. Mail subscription may be taken for six months. The management may at its discretion add to the list of awards offered.

Any question that may arise will be settled by the manager of the Daily Iowan and his decision will be absolute and final. The Campaign manager reserves the right to reject the nomination of any solicitor, and workers in the campaign must expect to treat the work as any business proposition. The first thing to do is to enter your name by calling at the Iowan Office for a receipt book with which to secure subscriptions.

All solicitors must finish the campaign in order to be eligible for a commission.

APPOINT ERIC WILSON AS ASSISTANT TRACK COACH

WILL COACH YEARLINGS THIS FALL

Olympic Star One of Iowa's Greatest Track Stars

Eric C. Wilson, member of the American Olympic team and former captain of the Iowa track aggregation, has just been appointed assistant track coach at the University. Wilson will also have charge of the yearling track candidates this fall and probably will give instructions to yearling sprinters next spring.

Wilson was one of the greatest sprinters ever turned out at Iowa and was a sure point winner in the 100 and 220 yard dashes at conference meets. He is the holder of the Big Ten record in the 220 yard dash, boasting a time of :21 2-10. For two seasons, the Hawkeye star took first in the furlongs in the Big Ten meet.

He won a place on the American Olympic team in the 400 meter dash but failed by two inches to qualify for the finals in the Olympic competition as Imbach of Switzerland, winner of the race, established a new world's record of :28 flat, smashing the mark of Reldpath, former American star, which had stood for 12 years.

Veteran Eleven Is Back at Knox

Eleven Letter Men To Be Given Hot Fight By Yearlings

GALESBURG, Ill., Sept. 5.—With excellent prospects for Knox College to further demonstrate the advantages of the one-semester Freshman rule by a good showing in both the I. I. A. C. and Midwest Conference, Coach John Van Liew was completing preparations today for receiving the advance guard of his Rugby cohorts.

Sivash will take the field with a force of young veterans who closed a successful season for Van Liew last year in the face of competition that included the University of Iowa, Knox defeated Coe, Millikin, Monmouth, Northwestern and Lake Forest.

A candidate for the old berth of Adams, last year's captain, at center, is Willard Hardie, 200 pound Oklahoma all state center in prep, who did good work at guard last year.

Captain Doocy and a full eleven of men with some veteran experience went through spring practice in good form.

Although there are holes in the backfield and there is a berth or two in the line there were prospects of a hot fight for the places from the number who have expressed the intention of reporting for practice when College opens.

John Van Liew, former Champion High School and Des Moines mentor, will start his second season at Knox.

NEW MORNINGSIDE COACH
SIOUX CITY, Sept. 18. (A. P.)—Edward Pirwitz, last year's captain of the Morning Side college football team, has been appointed freshman coach at Morningside.

Sam Barry Shows 'Em He Can Play Some Great Golf

Captures Summer Tourney With Net Score of 67

Doc Fieseler Shows His Stuff, Winning Third

Sam Barry stepped out of his regular line of athletics during the summer to win the first open golf tournament of the University course, with a net score of 67, triumphing over Dr. O. L. Hoover and J. J. Lambert, dopsters' favorites. Bob Houston, placed second with 70; and Doc Fieseler third with 71.

Mrs. J. H. Scott won the woman's handicap play by returning a score of 89, defeating Miss Kenady, the only other woman contestant, who made a score of 104.

Coach Barry started off with a six at the first hole, after shooting a good drive off the tee. The next hole he parred three, and on the third and fourth holes, he made six's. At the fifth he made a perfect par four. The approach on the sixth hole bothered the champion, causing him to take six, and he finished the first nine holes in forty-five.

On the last half of the course, Barry took six on the tenth hole and four on the short eleventh. Showing championship form on the twelfth, he scored a birdie three. The next three holes, however cost him five apiece, the sixteenth four, and the seventeenth a par four. The eighteenth hole was hazardous and cost him six shots, making a total of forty-two for the last nine holes.

Houston, runner-up, bettered his usual card of 48 for nine holes, by making the first half of the course in 43. He made the last half of the course in 47, getting a total of 70, subtracting the 20 handicap. Dr. Fieseler shot around in 71, being allowed a 17 handicap.

The handicap given each contestant by Coach Charles Kennett was arrived at by the following procedure. Three cards of eighteen holes were turned in by each contestant. An average total score for the eighteen holes was computed and three-

The most loving love story.

The most human humor-drama.

The most splendid spectacle.

The most amazing thriller.

You have heard those who saw it at $2.20 prices tell how they thrilled over and over again at —the blazing prairie fire,

—the 200 wagons fording the river,

—the love kisses of Molly Windgate and the renegade, dare-devil, hero-scout,

—the buffalo stampede,

—the Indian fights.

You've heard them laugh 'til they cried describing how they roared at those quaint, tipsy, wilderness tricks of Ernest Torrence and Tully Marshall.

You have seen them wipe their eyes telling how they wept when pioneer women risked all for men they loved in the perils of the miracle-trip... when men sacrificed name and life for flower-faced girls in the white-topped wagons

McGRAW'S MEN HOLD SCANT LEAD IN NATIONAL LEAGUE RACE

Giants and Reds Split Twin Bill

New York Is Still in Lead by Half A Game

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The New York Giants divided a double header with Cincinnati today and regained their lead in the National league pennant battle by half a game. The champions dropped the first game to the Reds by a score of 5 to 3, but rallied to capture the second game 7 to 5, part of which was witnessed by the Prince of Wales.

It was the Prince's first glimpse of America's national game and he seemed to enjoy it. He stayed less than three innings, however, arriving unexpectedly while the Reds were at bat in the third inning and leaving in the fifth. The four run rally in the seventh inning clinched the game for the Reds and drove Howard Baldwin, rookie twirler, from the mound after he had pitched brilliantly for six innings.

Jack Bentley and Eppa Rixey, left handed stars, were both hit hard in the second game, the latter being hit by the Giants for fifteen safe blows in the seven innings he worked.

Brooklyn Wins
BROOKLYN, Sept. 18. (A. P.)—Brooklyn won both games of a double header with St. Louis here today 7 to 5 and 4 to 2 and advanced to within a half a game of the lead when the Giants split with the Cincinnati Reds. The first game was a 12 inning affair, the Dodgers getting victorious after a see saw.

Bill Doak out-pitched Dickerman and Dyer in the second game, Dickerman being taken out after the Dodgers had gained a two-run lead. The Cardinals bunched two singles and a triple for their two runs in the seventh while the Dodgers bunched four hits in the third and two each in the fifth and eighth.

CUBS SPLIT BILL
BOSTON, Sept. 18. Chicago divided a twin bill with Boston today. The Cubs won the first game by defeating Boston 4 to 3 in 11 innings. In the second game the Braves turned the tables when Genewich held the visitors to three hits winning, 3 to 1.

Yanks Maintain Tie by Winning

Go Ten Innings to Beat St. Louis Browns

(By Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 18.—The New York Yankees maintained their tie with Washington for leadership in the American league pennant race by defeating the St. Louis Browns today 2 to 1 in a game that went ten innings. The Yanks thus made a clean sweep of their series here.

A pass off Shawkey in the second inning with the bases filled gave the locals their only run. The game was scoreless then until the ninth when Bush, pinch hitting for Witt hit over the left field fence for a home run. McNally brought in the winning run, running for Hoffman, who had doubled, he advanced to third and scored on Scott's fly to Jacobson.

Both pitchers were in form, Wingard allowing five scattered hits and Shawkey eight. Washington and St. Louis open a three game series here tomorrow. Score: New York 000 000 001 1—2
St. Louis 010 000 000 —1
Two base hit, Hoffman; Home run, Bush; Sacrifice, Shawkey, Williams, Scott; Double plays, Robertson to Sisler; McManus to Robertson to Sisler, Ward to Pipp; Left on bases, N. Y. 5; St. Louis 8; Bases on balls, off Shawkey 1; struck out by Shawkey 4; Hit by pitcher by Shawkey (Wingard) by Wingard (Shawkey) Umpires Nallin, Ormsby and Owens; Time 1:52.

Senators Win Too
CLEVELAND, Sept. 18.—Washington made it three straight here today by scoring five runs in the ninth inning and defeating the Indians nine to five. George Uhls who had pitched fair ball up to this time allowed four hits in the ninth, gave a base on balls and hit two batters. The victory enabled Washington to remain in a tie with New York for first place in the American league race.

Cleveland led for seven innings. The Senators scored their first two runs in the fourth when Wade Lester a recruit first baseman made his first appearance in the league and pinch batting for Russell, singled with Washington runners on second and third. Oswald Bluege singled in the eighth with the same bases occupied to tie up the game.

Washington had to use three pitchers, both Marberry and Russell being hit hard. Score: Washington 000 200 025—9
Cleveland 211 000 001—3
Two base hits Rice, Ruel, Judge, McNulty, Uhler; Thike base hits, Summa; sacrifice, Harris, J. Sewell, Burns. Double plays, Ellerbe to Stephen to Burns; left on bases, Washington 1, Cleveland 10; Russell 3 in 1; Umpires, O'Connell and Rowland. Time 2:10.

Philadelphia Shatters Pittsburgh's Chances
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Philadelphia again shattered Pittsburgh's chances to gain the lead in the National league pennant race by taking the first game. After dropping the first game, 6 to 5, the Pirates came back in the second and by a ninth inning rally, won, 6 to 3. Carlson opposed Meadows in the box in this contest and worked hard to down his old team mates.

... Golf Tips ...

Editor's note: Following is an article written by Charles Kennett, Iowa golf coach, in which he states that some golfers on the University course have been playing what might be described as "dirty golf." Many players have been accused of forgetting their golfing etiquette and have been menacing the course by digging up the turf, and in many cases endangering other golfers by driving into them before they are out of range.

As a last resort, Coach Kennett is sending a warning that all people ignoring the rules and regulations of good golf will be expelled from the University course.

By CHARLES KENNETT
University Golf Coach
The game of golf is one of the most enjoyable sports of today and by far the most healthful of games because everyone can participate in it.

But—only when the players are real sportsmen—not when they are hogish—and that is a good name for some people who play the game. The University course was not built for one party. The following are some of the things that I have observed that are all against the ethics of good form, sportsmanship, and fair play:

Driving off the tee before the preceding players are well out of range (that means at least 230 yards from the tee); playing on to the putting greens before other players have holed out; trying over shots, or putting, when other players are waiting to play on.

Having lost their ball, not waiting for players behind to go through, or having asked players to pass, playing on, before they are out of range; cutting up large divots and not replacing them. This is very bad form not only from the point of view of the greenskeeper but from players who may find their ball in one of the holes where sods have not been replaced.

Unfair Methods
I have observed players, not only in practice games, to break the rules and what is far worse, deliberately cheat. I have seen players treading down the ground behind their ball on the fairway, in the rough, or on the putting green, push the ball with the club from a bad lie into a good one, and even tee the ball up.

In one meet, a player threw his ball out of a sand trap on to the green near the hole. In another case, a player had played his ball into some trees and pushed his ball from behind a root into a better lie. I could quote a number of similar cases, but this one is enough.

I appeal to all golfers of the University, who use the course, to assist in making the game the clean sport it should and can be.

A DEAD LOSS!

VACANT ROOMS! AND THE WORST OF it is it's a loss that should have been a profit. YOUR LOSS CAN BE STOPPED! AND your income can go on regularly, without losing a day's rent, if, as soon as you anticipate a vacant room, apartment, duplex or house, you let the students and people of Iowa City know about it—Put it before everyone in the city who rents.

THERE IS BUT ONE WAY TO DO THIS—order a want ad in The Daily Iowan. The most economical and best way is to order your advertisement for a week. Then, if it should require the full six days to locate a desirable tenant, you will secure the lowest rate; if you secure the tenant in less than six days, cancel your WANT AD and you will be charged only for the time it has run.

Newton D. Baker May Give Address Here During Next Month

Prominent Speaker Promised the Local Democratic Party

Baker, Walsh, Hylan Or Smith Will Address Voters

Claim State Men Hint That Baker Will Be Selected

Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, Governor Hylan of New York or Al Smith will give an address in Iowa City sometime during the coming month according to an announcement made last night by W. J. McDonald, prominent member of the Democratic party of this county.

Claude M. Miller, vice chairman of the county central committee and Mr. McDonald spent Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning in Des Moines conferring with state and national leaders in an effort to secure a nationally known speaker for the campaign in this county.

Local Men Hear Davis While in Des Moines, Mr. McDonald and Mr. Miller heard the address in the coliseum given by John W. Davis, democratic nominee, on Wednesday evening. More than 10,000 people heard the talk by Davis.

"It was a clear, forceful, straight from the shoulder talk. One of the finest I have ever heard," said Mr. McDonald, commenting on the Davis talk.

As a result of the conference in Des Moines, the two local men were assured that one of the famous four would speak in Iowa City. The possibility that Thomas J. Walsh, senator from Montana, will appear here is slight, since his time is taken up with the campaign in his own state.

Intimate Baker Will Come

State leaders intimated that Baker would probably be the man sent to make the address here. Assurance from the leaders that a nationally known speaker will appear practically completes the speaking program which local Democratic leaders have planned for their October campaign.

First of High School Mixers Is Welcome to New Students

According to the plans for the first mixer of the Iowa City high school, which will be held in the gymnasium tonight, a get acquainted program will be carried out. The mixer will serve as a means of acquainting new students with their fellow classmates and the school spirit.

Local Elks Give Aid to Students

Financial Assistance Extended to 11 Last Year

Eleven university students, both men and women, received financial aid during the past school year through the Elks scholarship fund which has been permanently established for the purpose of encouraging higher education.

The aid consists of loans, free from interest, which are to be returned according to the terms made by the student with the committee in charge of the student loan fund. The time is usually extended to give the student every possible opportunity to repay without crowding him unduly.

In order to take advantage of this loan a student does not necessarily need to be an Elk. Last year five Johnson county men who did not belong to the lodge received aid through this fund. Sums varying from $25 to $150 have been loaned during the existence of the fund and every loan has been returned according to agreement.

Student Elks are taken into the local club and enjoy the privileges of the Iowa City members.

Judge Ralph Otto, G. F. Reddick, Henry Walker, Glenn Kenderline, Otto Benner, Perry Oaks and Henry Louis are the members of the committee which is in charge of the student loan fund.

Convention Best Of Last Three

"Wallen Is Marshall in Big Parade Held 'Iowa Night'"

Wisconsin Wins First Prize in Parade; 100,000 March

Iowa City's delegates and legionnaires who attended the national legion convention at St. Paul returned to Iowa City yesterday. Nine members of Roy L. Chopek post and four members of the auxiliary attended the convention.

"Iowa Night," an annual Monday night event at every convention, brought honors to Iowa City when Allen Wallen, commander of the local post, was appointed marshal of the parade. More than 10,000 men from the Iowa department, two bands, four drum corps and two ladies' drill teams were in the parade.

Wisconsin "Puts It Over" The big day of the convention, Tuesday, found Iowa represented with thirty-nine posts in the afternoon parade. Wisconsin, represented by twenty posts, was awarded first prize in the parade, but as one of the local men said, "They'd sneak around the block and come in again."

The parade started at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and marching legions crowded the streets until late in the night. More than 100,000 legionnaires were in the parade. In the Tuesday parade, a float representing the "Spirit of '79" united with that of 1918, by the Racine, Wis., post, was given first prize. According to Allen Wallen, who has attended the national conventions at New Orleans and San Francisco, the St. Paul convention is the largest.

Local Delegates The delegates from Iowa City were W. R. Hart, Jr., and Allen Wallen. Iowa was represented by forty-two delegates. J. R. Murphy and William Wiese were colorbearers for the local post in the parades. Wiese carried the national colors and Murphy the post colors.

Legionnaires from Iowa City who attended were J. R. Murphy, William Wiese, W. R. Hart, Jr., F. J. Ziehamel, Walter Dolan, Charles Bowden, H. J. Dane, Allen Wallen, and Mr. Williams.

Auxiliary members who attended were Mrs. George W. Ball, Mrs. R. V. Campbell, Mrs. William Barsley, and Mrs. Allen Wallen.

Court Will Hear Testimony Today In Divorce Suit

The defendant's testimony will be heard today in the suit of Jesse Ward vs. Kathryn Ward for divorce. Mr. Ward charges his wife with cruel and inhuman treatment, alleging that she was unbearable to live with. The suit will occupy most of today's proceedings and probably some of Saturday's.

Witnesses are being called before the grand jury daily, which has been in session since Monday. It is hinted that they will return several indictments for bootleggers of Johnson county.

Lions-Rotary-Kiwanis Clubs Will Attend Ohio-Iowa Game

October 11 has been set aside for the annual Lions-Rotary-Kiwanis day. A committee has been appointed to secure seats for the group at the Iowa-Ohio game which will be played that day.

CHINESE FORCES CLASH ANNUALLY

"The revolution raging in eastern China is only illustrative of the condition which exists throughout the nation," said Clarence L. Foster, authority on Chinese conditions, yesterday.

"The Peking government is attempting to exercise its authority over the whole nation, but up to this time has been unsuccessful. On the other hand, it is unlikely that the Canton government will be able to overthrow the Peking authority.

"There's a revolution almost every year," he added with a smile. Mr. Foster recently returned from fourteen years of missionary work in the interior of China.

Sheriff Arrests Police Sergeant

Race from Washington To Omaha, Neb., Is Interrupted

Three days late in his trip from Washington, D. C., to Omaha, Neb., Harry Buford, a colored sergeant of the police force of Omaha, was delayed yesterday by Sheriff James Martin and arrested for speeding.

Sheriff Martin had been notified that a large car was approaching Iowa City on Highway 7 at a terrific rate of speed. The sheriff immediately drove several miles east of Iowa City to wait for it. As soon as the car was sighted, the sheriff made arrangements to halt the driver, if mere orders were not effective.

The colored sergeant, however, recognized the law and obeyed. He was brought to Iowa City and, after having established his identity by a long distance call, through which it was learned that he was already three days late in his trip to Omaha, he was released with the warning to step more lightly on the gas.

Buford had made the trip from Chicago to near Iowa City in approximately six hours and fifteen minutes, he claims, having left Chicago at 6 o'clock, Chicago time, this morning.

Mrs. Reynolds Chairwoman of 'Demo' Women

Thompson Gives Talk At Meeting on Wednesday

Mrs. John F. Reynolds of West Lucas township will lead the democratic women of the county in the campaign this fall. She was elected county chairwoman at a meeting at Reichardt's pavilion in the city park Wednesday afternoon. More than seventy prominent members of the party in this county attended the meeting.

Mrs. George M. Galley was elected to succeed Mrs. W. L. Bywater as committeewoman from the second ward in Iowa City.

Ralph U. Thompson of Muscatine, candidate for national representative from this district, gave a brief talk at the meeting. Mr. Thompson outlined his campaign plans in his address and pointed out that one of the main points in his platform was national conservation. He especially stressed the need to conserve power sites.

George W. Dvorsky, chairman of the county central committee, introduced Mr. Thompson. Claude M. Miller, vice chairman, and S. W. Mercer, gave brief talks.

Firpo Will Appear in His Own Defense Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine boxer, will appear in his own defense tomorrow at the hearing before immigration inspector, W. W. Brown, on the Rev. William S. Chase's charges that Firpo made false statements on entering the United States several weeks ago. Inspector Brown's report on the hearing probably will be sent to Washington next Monday, officials said.

Contempt For Dry Law Is on The Increase

Volstead Act Causes Increased Work For Sheriff

Half Police Arrests On Account of Liquor

"Violation of the prohibition amendment is on the increase; not on the decrease," emphatically stated James Martin when asked if the enactment of the Volstead act had increased the work of his office. In addition to Sheriff Martin's statement, the local police record from December 1923, to September, 1924, shows 301 arrests with 160 for intoxication. More than one half the total number of arrests were for liquor violations.

Sheriff Martin also pointed out that in addition to violations of the liquor law increasing, they find that where they pick up one violator, two or three more enter the game.

Lawless Element "We've always had to contend with an element that delights in seeing how far they can go, but it's worse since the eighteenth amendment," the sheriff continued. "There are lots of them under suspicion, but it is another thing to arrest and convict a man; suspicion is easy enough."

"The fellows that are violating the prohibition law are shrewd at any time, and when they get caught they usually manage to make someone else pay for the fine," added Sheriff Jim with a smile.

Few Second Times "After the first time, we usually find it pretty hard to get them again. When we do, it is because they like their stuff as well as their patrons."

The record of arrests made by local police officers, from December, 1923, to September, 1924, with the number of arrests for intoxication, is given below:

July	43
June	21

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18.—Funeral services were held here today for Frank Leroy Chance, baseball player-manager, who died here Monday night after a long illness. The funeral was semi-private, only relatives and friends attending.

Here are seven advantages of buying Zeigler

1. Very little ash.

2. Quick and responsive, with steady flow of heat.

3. Makes very little smoke, soot or dirt.

4. Naturally clean in ground and hand picked to insure absolute cleanliness.

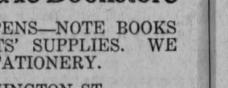

5. Dense and firm in structure. Stores well over long period. Very little fine coal found in storage.

6. A size for every purpose.

7. Coal is not dropped and shattered in loading to cars and it is carefully forked to remove all fine coal.

Ask your neighbor about Genuine Zeigler Coal. Examine it in our bins, try it, and you will find these seven points of quality very evident.

Thousands Use Tourist Park
Plan Improvement of Facilities Before Next Year

Thousands of tourists, at least forty students and innumerable children have camped in the park this summer, claims William Summerhouse, caretaker at the city park. "As high as twenty camps have been pitched for one night. It is impossible to give any figures on the number of persons since the park has no register, he said.

The city provides water, light, camping space and small cast iron camp stoves to all tourists free of charge. Camping is restricted to the area on the hill just west of the dance pavilion.

All Kinds of 'Em Students camping in the park all summer in order to attend the summer session were granted special permission by the park commission while other tourists are limited to a three day stay. Among the people who have enjoyed its privileges are traveling men, musicians, students, radio broadcasters and the casual tourists.

By next year it is hoped that a number of the roadways may be improved and that at least two more playgrounds installed. The animals in the zoo have suffered many losses recently and the search for bears is still on. Pheasants, alligators, and monkeys still remains.

Attractive Park The park was particularly attractive from a local standpoint because of the baseball, dancing and swimming facilities.

Here's to a Big Year for Iowa!

Never have things looked brighter for Iowa. The Team, they say, is going to surprise the world this fall.

The registration has exceeded the expectation of most of us.

The University is more splendidly equipped and manned than ever before.

Here's to a big year!
