Chekiang Armies Threatened With Loss of Shanghai

Reinforcements Sent to Check Kiangsu Advance

No Retreat in Sungkiang, Is Claim of Headquarters

Enemy Troops Lack Ammunition, Say Officials

(By the Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Oct. 8—The Chekiang province armies today were threatened with loss of the city of Shanghai for the second time within a month, and were rushing reinforcements southward to check the latest aggressions of their Kiangsu enemies.

Although Red Cross units who have been following up the fighting near Sungkiang, 28 miles to the southwest on the Shanghai-Hankchow railway line, were brought back to Shanghai today, defense headquarters at Lungwha, south of the city, denied there had been any Chekiang retreat in the Sungkiang sector.

It was admitted, however, that the Sun situation around Sungkiang, where the combined Kinagsu-Anhwei-Fukien forces have almost surrounded the city was serious. It also was admitted that reserves were being rushed toward Sungkiang to check the encircling movement of the enemy.

An official statement from Lungwha declared that the Kiangsu troops around Sungkiang were handicapped by lack of ammunition.

College Welcomes Suitable Housing

Second Floor of New Class Building Will Quarter Commerce Students

That section of the new recitation building soon to be occupied by the college of commerce will, in every respect, promote the maximum efficiency, according to a statement made by Dean Phillips, head of the college.

Using as it will the second floor, no lack of proper instruction facilities will be experienced.

An entirely new feature will be the work room, modeled after a scheme in effect in the University of California. Planned to economize all available office space, it will contain sixteen desks, at which the instructors will work. This room will open directly into the students' conference room, where the student will have an opportunity to discuss all difficulties and problems. Besides this there is also to be a battery of eight private offices.

A reference library and reading room will supply students with all the latest publications on businesss, economics and sociology.

The commercial museum at present in the liberal arts building, will be transferred to the south room at the end of the hall in the new structure. Additions will be made from time to time. The museum is to be in charge of Prof. C. W. Wassam.

The accounting laboratories will contain perhaps the greatest improvements. To these will be devoted two rooms which will also be used for recitation. The desks are designed on the order of those used in the Law building. Special filing devices for work being done will also be provided.

The seating arrangement in the recitation rooms involves a system of chairs with tablet arms, the chairs being immovably attached to the cement floor.

As to the exact date of occupation of the new rooms no definite decision has been made but it is thought that it will take place some time in November or December.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In a recent issue of the Iowan, the statement was made that Kenneth E. Griffin had been elected president of the freshman law class. The story should have said: Harold E. Griffen of Sioux City.

Big Shout Meeting Held On Campus Saturday Noon

A big pep meeting fellows, yessir a big one.

Saurday at 1:30 o'clock on the campus the Hawkguys have arranged for a good old get together.

There's to be a big picnic for the Iowa civic clubs before the meeting, and it's the Hawkguys' idea to get the students and these men together and unify them in spirit before the game. The band, in full froce, intends to help along this pep meeting.

The Hawkguys also promise some clever entertainment throughout the game.

One More Lap for Campaign Racers

Alpha Gamma Phi Is Leading Field in Iowan Contest

The campaign for cash shares in The Daily Iowan's "profit-sharing" club has little more than two weeks to go until the end of the race. It will end Homecoming. An unusual opportunity still remains for solicitors who have pep enough to make direct contact with the reading public.

Series Clubs Will Split $339,192.51

Players Will Share in Receipts of First Four Games

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—Washington and New York players will divide a fund of $339,192.51, it was announced today after the fourth world's series game, the last from which the players receive a share of the receipts. The winners will get $149,036.63 and the losers, $99,357.77.

The Giants have twenty-six eligible men, the Senators only twenty-three. Exact figures for each man man cannot be computed now because of the practice of donating lump sums toe certain ineligible players and attaches.

Brooklny and New York, second place clubs in the two leagues, will each divide $24,839.54. Detroit and Pittsburgh, finishing third, will each receive $16,559.63 to split.

The total players fund for 1923, the record year, was $362,783.04. Each winning Yank received $6,530 and each losing Giant was given $4,363. The Senators, because only twenty-three men are eligible to divide the smaller fund this year, will nevertheless, approach the record Yankee figure if Harris' team wins the series.

The defection of O'Connell and Dolan, who were removed from the Giant eligible list on the eve of the series after having been adjudged guilty of attempted bribery, has not only deprived the two men of a share of the proceeds but will add $400 to the winning share of each Giant now eligible and $300 to the losing share.

Southerners Hail Shenandoah as It Swings Into Dixie

Cities Receive Giant Dirigible With Open Arms

Flight of Ship Favored By Ideal Weather Conditions

(By the Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 7—Cities, towns, and villages of the southeast tonight were agog over the coming of the Shenandoah. As the giant navy dirigible swung down the Virginia valley bearing her name which is said to mean "daughter of the stars", southern folks were on the watch for her, computing the probable time when she would float over them.

It was a night of nights for the amateur radio enthusiast, as most of them were arranging to pick up her messages as she sailed steadily into Dixie.

Throughout the route which the Shenandoah was to pass, ideal weather was reported.

The ship passed over Danville, Va., at 8:07 o'clock.

Plans for the reception of the dirigible varied in cities according to the probable hour of her arrival at each.

Army officials here have estimated that she will reach Atlanta about 5:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

ABOARD THE SHENANDOAH, Oct. 7—Ideal sailing weather prevailed through the first twelve hours of the 9,000-mile journey from coast to coast of the big dirigible. Winds which are not felt on the surface were met in the upper level of the sky between 1,000 and 3,000 feet.

At 8 p. m. the ship was driving straight into a 120-mile an hour current. All five motors were going. The immense gas-filled tube with its tanks and gondolas was riding as smoothly as if in a bed of feathers going forty miles an hour. The ship at that time had crossed the James river at Lynchburg. Lights turned in the houses beneath and in the distance along the horizon could be seen the glow of cities and villages.

Aboard the big ship, limited as to quarters and with everything stripped down to the minimum of weight, the routine went on like any naval ship at sea. Green lights hung on port and her starboard lights glowed through the open windows of the control cabin forward and from the five motor cabins along the side. The hum of the motors reached to the shadowed surface of fields, hills, and forests beneath, while the silver tube slipped through the moonlight with its lights of white, red, and green clearly seen by those awakened by the strange acts of nocturnal droning from the sky.

Class Officers Petition Deadline This Afternoon

Four o'clock this afternoon is the deadline for petitions for class officers. A petition signed by twenty-five members of the class, and accompanied by a statement from the registrar must be in the hands of the Student Council by four o'clock.

Junior Dentists Elect Joe Shultz Class President

The Junior class of the college of dentistry held its annual election for class officer yesterday at 10 a. m. in room 111 of the dentistry building and selected the following:

For president, J. Everett Shultz of Luverne; for vice president, Le Roy F. King of Iowa Falls; for secretary, Wilbur P. McNulty of S. Wilmington, Ill.; and for treasurer, John J. Blodgett of Mason City.

Egypt Had Its Locusts, But Why-For Our Pesky Gnnats?

The gnats have come to college.

Al day they play tag, and at night they play possum.

No one knows where they came from. Not even Prof. "Bugs" Wickham knows what they are or where they're going. He's simply seen them dancing in the garden.

If they came for school or in schools they've learned plenty of ways to be pestiferous.

"Never say die!" they mutter. When one dieth, five spring up. Ten make a good meal on one person, and there are about twenty thousand persons in town.

Now they frolic among crowds listening to reports of the world's series. Here are others digging the gold diggers a little deeper. Even pedigreed dogs have received tar rubs for fees, when these gnats were really to blame.

They came, they saw, they're conquering, no timeandi aliquem. . . . While there's life, they live.

Cal Tells G. O. P. To Get Out Vote

Wants a Big Poll to Prove Sentiment Of Nation

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—Republican party efforts should be directed, in the opinion of President Coolidge, toward getting out the vote at this election. He has told party leaders that organization should be directed to this end, that the true sentiment of the nation may be registered in November.

Turning his attention to government business almost exclusively today, Mr. Coolidge directed the tariff commission to prepare additional data in regard to its report favoring a cut in the sugar duty and to submit figures comparing the cost of sugar production in Cuba and this country.

The president made it clear that in reaching a decision on the sugar duty he would insist on protecting the sugar beet industry of this country from any combination which might arise in Cuba or elsewhere with the purpose of controlling sugar prices.

Encouraging reports on the business outlook were presented to the president at the cabinet meeting his morning. Secretary Davis said employment was becoming more plentiful in most sections of the country.

Inquiries on the report of the federal trade commission to the senate charging unfair practices and price fixing by some manufacturers of household furnishings, with some of which the Aluminum Company of America is affiliated, brought a declaration at the White House that the report had not been received there.

Fans Will Flock to Hear Play-by-Play Reports Today

Capital city baseball fans today calmed back to their perches on top of the baseball world as a result of the Senator's tying the count with the Giants in the world series standing. Fans tonight are "down right sure" nothing can keep Bucky Harris' gang from winning out—at least as long as Goose Goslin remains in the batting order.

But one way to be sure of the outcome and of the playing of Goose and Bucky and Walter Johnson and Nehf is to listen to the play-by-play reports of the series which will be megaphoned from the hall of journalism from 1 p. m. until the game ends.

Shop Instructor Writes Poem for Oct. Publication

William L. Hunter, instructor of manual arts in the engineering shops, has contributed several poems to the Industrial Education magazine. His latest poem, "Your Shop", appeared in the October number.

Mr. Hunter received his training at the Iowa State Teachers college, doing his major work under Prof. Charles H. Bailey. After teaching a year he enlisted in the United States navy, where he was carpenter's mate in the aviation division. He saw England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, France, and Belgium while in the service. He was given an honorable discharge and later received a citation from Secretary Daniels. After coming back he did graduate work at the University of Iowa and has been retained here as a teacher for the past five years.

"Economic Co-operation" Cry Of Brookheart In Forum Meet

"Economic co-operation" was the battle-cry of U. S. Senator Smith W. Brookhart, presiding at the first open forum meeting under the auspices of the Iowa Forensic Union, yesterday noon in the natural science auditorium.

Senator Brookhart stated that the return shown by Secretary Herbert Hoover's bulletin on the total economic value of the United States for the past ten years has been but 5 and 1-4 percent annually, while the "steel trust" showe an official annual average profit of 20 percent, and the "aluminum trust" 24 percent.

"The basis of the co-operative idea," he said, "is that man shall hire capital, not capital the man."

Senator Brookhart expressed the following opinions on several campaign issues:

League of Nations: He would make economic co-operation the basis for a reorganized world league, believeing that the present League is an agent in the promotion of old, undesirable, autocratic policies.

McNary-Haugen Bill: He would have this "farm relief" bill amended so that the nation's people might become shareholders in the farm-financial organization, in this way initiating internal co-operation as the first step toward international economic co-operation.

World Court: He favors arbritration rather than litigation, and asers that William J. Bryan was the greatest single worker for arbritration measures, having engineered some thirty international treaties providing for the settlement of disputes by arbitration during the time he served as Secretary of State.

Esch-Cummins Bill: He would repeal this bill; establish by unanimous supreme court vote the right of Congress to reorganize the nation's railroads; liquidate their stock reimbursing each shareholder according to actually established values; reorganize the railroads with a nominal amount of stock and the balance in bonds at the available low rates of interest, abolishing the possibility of a great amount of watered stock in the reorganized companies.

Constructive Legislation: Pass the amended farmer's aid bill, with twelve to fifteen millions of dollars from the U. S. treasury to store and carry surplus products. Change the pre-war valuations as to cost of producing crops, since they have been altered—notably in the case of the cotton-growers, whose crops have been infested with boll-weevils which greatly raised the cos of production. Repay the funds furnished by the government as soon as sufficient stock in the national co-operative system has been sold to permit action.

Senator Brookhart left the city at 2:45 P. M. for Wilton Junction, where his next talk was scheduled. W. James Berry, Ll of Washington D. C. president of the Forensic Union presided at the meeting.

Pedagogs to Hold Conference Here October 23 to 25

Teachers of English And Speech Will Discuss Work

Weaver, Woolbert and Fries Bring Ideas To Institute

The annual English and speech teachers conference, which is ordinarily held in Iowa City in February, will be held here October 23 to 25, this year it was learned yesterday from university officials.

The conference of English and speech is an institute made up of lectures, round table, work with demonstration classes and personal conferences.

It is the custom of the university to bring to Iowa City each year a number of persons who are engaged upon work of importance to the English teachers of Iowa.

This year Professor Andrew T. Weaver, Professor of Speech at the University of Wisconsin, joint author with Professor C. H. Woolbert of the well-known manual "Better Speech", will be here. He has been engaged in the problem of supervision of Speech instruction in high schools, particularly in the University of Wisconsin. He is also engaged in the speech clinic at Wisconsin and has made important investigations in the field of corrective speech. He will probably speak on the topic "Speech Training.

W. Wilbur Hatfield of the Chicago Normal College will also address the conference. He is the editor of the English Journal and secretary of the National Council of the Teachers of English. He will speak on "Relieving Literature", "Practical Composition" and "Utilizing the Wills of the Pupils".

Hughes Mearnes, from the Lincoln school, Columbia university, at New York City, is on the list of speakers who will be in Iowa City for the conference. Mr. Mearnes is said to have been unusually successful in the teaching of literature. He will talk on the subjects, "Creative Reading, and Lincoln School poets."

Miss Martha Jane McCoy, a teacher in the University of Chicago high school will give speeches on "The Voluntary Project of the Measure of Appreciation in Literature".

Prof. C. C. Fries of the University of Michigan is also included in the list of visitors who will be here. Professor Fries offers as his topics "Formal English Grammar", Some Principles in the Teaching of Literature," "The reorganization of the high school course." It is felt that Mr. Fries will make valuable contributions to the conference, particularly to our own group of younger teachers.

Besides these speakers from out of town, several members of the Professor Mabie la'ol e i-TEAOI University staff will participate. Professors Mabie, Barrows, Trumbauer and Gray of the department of Speech, Professors Crawford, Sowers, Knott, Mott and certainly Mr. Carpenter of the University High School, whose work during the last few years in the training of teachers for high school has been gainingin power and distinction.

Applicants Begin Struggling Today For Class Offices

Applications for class offices begin their battle after the meeting of the students council at four o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Those applicants who have had applications sent in signed by twenty-five members of their class and accredted by the registrar, will be candidates for offices in the various liberal arts classes.

The names of the successful applicants will be listed in the Iowan and they will be voted upon Wednesday, October 15.

Notices of the voting places will be posted later.

McConnell Speaks At Dads' Day Fete

Religious Conference Held by Bishop This Week

According to Charles R. Sellers, A4 of Davenport, the McConnell Religious Conference will begin Saturday evening, October 11, at 6:30 o'clock, when Bishop Francis J. McConnell, resident bishop of the Pittsburgh area will deliver an address at the Dad's Day banquet, at Youde's Inn. The subject of his talk has not been announced.

An informal breakfast at Youde's Inn, Sunday morning, October 12, at 8:00 o'clock under the direction of Vivian Conrad, A4 of Burlington, will open Sunday's program of conferences. This meeting is open to students, faculty members, and religious workers, who wish to participate in the discussion of the current religious problems. Hugo C. Buck, CM4 of Calmar, and Helen Starbuck, A4 of Iowa City, will furnish students with tickets at 35c each.

The Vesper Services Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock, in the natural science auditorium will be Bishop McConnell's third appearance before the student body.

Union services at the Methodist Church Sunday evening under the direction of two student chairmen will conclude Suday's program. At this program one student will introduce the speaker and the other will have charge of the devotional services. Special music iwll be furnished by the Methodist choir.

Arrangements for Monday, October 13, are still in the tentative stage. An attempt is being made to bring Bishop McConnell before students of the engineer's college Monday morning. If plans can be perfected, Bishop McConnell, will deliver an address before them on the relationship between the professional practice and religion.

At 4 o'clock Monday afternoon Bishop McConnell will deliver an address the to the students in the law college.

Union service in the natural science building at 7:45 p. m. will mark the termination of the three-day series of religious conferences. Hugo C. Buck, CM4, of Calmar will preside at this conference and Judith Fornell, A4 of Pilot Mound, will lead the devotionals. Common student problems having religious significance will be discussed and a quetion box will be opened.

Charles R. Sellers, chairman of the program committee, announces his committee as folovs: Allan Dakin, A3 of Mason City; James Stewart, L3 of Runnell; Helen Starbuck, A4 of Iowa City; and Marion Ansel, A4 of Iowa City. Vivian Conrad, A4 of Burlington, chairman of the committee on arrangements will be assited by Bruce Potter, A4 of Harlan; Hugo C. Buck, CM4 of Calmar, and Judith Tornell, A4 of Pilot Mound.

"Goose" Goslin Clubs His Team To 7 to 4 Victory

Gets Four Hits in as Many Times at Bat

Play Game Today on Polo Grounds; Shift Tomorrow

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. — "The Goose" hangs high in Washington tonight for Leon Goslin, slugging pride of the Senators and favorite of their fans, clubbed the New York Giants into defeat today almost single handed, and put the American league champions back in the thick of one of baseball's greatest championship battles. Another record breaking crowd, exceeding 50,000 all told, stormed the Polo grounds and cheered the Senators as they pulled themselves together in spite of a makeshift infield caused by the loss of Peskinpaugh, battered three Giant pitchers, and captured the fourth game of the 1924 world series by a score of 7 to 4, the most decisive verdict of any game so far.

The series now stands at two apiece and the fifth game, which is likely ot witness a repetition of the opening struggle between Walter Johnson, the Senator's wonderful right hand veteran, and Art Neehf, brilliant Giant southpaw, will be played tomorrow at the Polo grounds. The battlegrund will shift back t Washington on Thursday for a sixth game is now assured with a likelihood that the series will go the limit of seven games.

Goslin Hits Well

Five of the Senator's runs today, alone enough to clinch the game, were accounted for by Goose Goslin, who hammered out four hits in as many times at bat, including his second homer of the series which scored two runs ahead of him in the third inning and gave Washington a lead which it never relinquished. While the slow southpaw curves of George Mogridge, and the relief pitching of Fred Marberry, again successful in his favorite role, kept the Giants in check, the Senators bunched their attack in three innings and Goslin was the dominating figure each time.

The offerings of Virgil Barnes, who retired after being bombarded for five innings, and Wayland Dean, who finished the game after Howard Baldwin had got through two innings unscathed, proved particularly delished sauce for Goslin. In addition to his homer, a terrific drive htat sailed on a line far into the right field stands, the Goose brought Harris across in the fifth after a wild pitch had let in McNeely and started another two-run rally in the eighth with his fourth hit, scoring ahead of Joe Judge on Oscar Bluege's third safe blow og the game.

Crowd With Senators

The Goose's spectacular slugging made him not only the hero of the day but also the idol of the crowd which after his circuit drive gave him ovation scarcely less vociferous than that of his own followers after his first homer, a potent factor in Washington's triumph on Sunday.

The crowd, as yesterday, was "with" the fighting Senators and their youthful pilot, Stanley Harris, who also was a scintillating figure at bat and afield today. The Giants came in for their share of cheering, particularly when in a fashion which has become typical to the series, they rallied in the closing innings, but the crowds' noisiest applause was with Washington and Goslin. There was another din of cheering for the Goose when he came out to the field after his homer and displayed his versatility by making a circus catch of a long drive off Wilson's bat.

Meanwhile the Giants were baffled by the southpaw shoots of Mogridge, former New York Yankee moundsman, who silenced the heaviest New York artillery with a puzzling change of pace and a slow ball. For seven innings the McGraw men gathered but three hits off Mogridge and two runs, one of which was due to an error, and the other to a two base blow by George Kelly but in the eighth the southpaw developed a sudden streak of wildness and despite a five run lead, was hastily withdrawn by Harris

The Shenandoah

THE long, slender body of the Shenandoah will nose its way over the southern and western states this week when it undertakes the longest flight ever attempted by a ship of its kind. Leaving Lakehurst, New Jersey, the navy dirigible expects to make the flight to the Pacific coast and back again to its base, a distance of approximately 7,000 miles, in seventeen days.

Commander Zachary Lansdowne who with a crew of forty men will handle the ship on its journey gives two reasons for this flight. He wishes to give the Western people a chance to see this monstrous ship, and to demonstrate that a craft such as the Shenandoah is not chained to its hangar. One of the chief arguments against these ships has been that they must stay close to their base in order to get back when fuel runs low. Commander Lansdowne desires to silence this argument by showing that the Shenandoah can operate at great distance from its home base. Although the great ship will be at mooring masts along the way, it will nevertheless be in the air continually until it lands on the Lakehurst field upon its return.

The Shenandoah, pushing her way across the continent, is but a symbol of this age of making and breaking records.

Student and Senator

SMITH W. Brookhart is standing upon the platform of the Natural Science auditorium. Before him are several hundred students. Mr. Brookhart is a member of the Senate of the United States of America; a member of the governing body of one of the greatest nations in the world. The young men before him are Toms, and Dicks, and Harrys. But these young men are as vitally interested in the affairs of the government of our nation and as essentially a part of it as is the Senator before them.

Mr. Brookhart speaks briefly. Then he steps back and the young men are given their opportunity. They question him; they attack or defend his theories; they laugh with him and at him. The Senator answers them: he meets some of their thrusts squarely, he hedges others, and both sides enjoy the fray.

Never before has a Senator of the United States met the students of our University in this manner. In Oxford university, England, such an open forum has long been the custom, but here it is a new order of things.

During the coming year other national figures will come to our University. Will there again be this meeting with the students, man to man? The Iowa Forensic Union and Mr. Brookhart have blazed the way. The Union stands ready to do its part in the future, and public speakers are usually willing, often anxious to meet the students in this sort of gathering. Will the students continue to support such affairs? Judging from the interest displayed yesterday they will.

East and West

MARK Twain was wrong when he said, "East ....west....and never the twain shall meet." There is the East with its trade marts; here is the West with its prairie lands. Over night the gap has been bridged. On Sunday afternoon President Walter A. Jessup left for Indianapolis, where he will officiate at the dedication of the new James Whitcomb Riley memorial hospital for crippled children.

Not alone for corn fields does this West stand. Springing from the soil of this fertile land, there arose this summer a vision of one of the largest medical units of a western hemisphere. In 1922-23, a gift of $2,250,000 was made to the medical hospital by the General Education Board and Rockefeller Foundation, and $450,000 annually for a five year term was shortly after appropriated by the Fortieth General Assembly. On June 17, 1924 the vision assumed shape, and ground was broken for the new general hospital and medical laboratories building.

Earlier than this misty vision was the enactment in 1915 of the Perkins Act, providing free medical treatment in the hospitals of the University of Iowa, to any Iowa boy or girl who is under sixteen and is afflicted with some deformity or is suffering from a malady which can be remedied. In 1917, the 37th general Assembly appropriated funds for the Children's Hospital without a dissenting vote, and by 1923 the original units were finished and new ones begun.

This week, at Indianapolis, in the midst of senatorial bombardments, hints of ball scandal, and rumors of Soviet China, a humanitarian monument to the memory of the children's poet, Riley, will be dedicated. Iowa's chances for a championship will not be mentioned there; the cheers from the world series will be but echoes. The cornerstone will be lowered, and the President will begin his address. So this man from the West, representing Iowa's pioneer medical college, will speak to the listeners from the East, and dedicate another lasting memorial to the crippled children of the world.

The cycle of fad is whirling. Iowa students will take up marathon swimming. Last year it was marathon dancing.

The United States will have three presidents after the November election. All of the major candidates are positive that they will win.

Now that it has been shown that an airplane can land and take off from a dirigible while in midair, we expect to hear of some aeronaut breaking his neck trying to steal a ride.

One kind of war we encourage—a gasoline price war.

Between the Senator and the Senators, students have found it a wee bit hard to concentrate on their studies this week.

The national political parties aren't even in it according to the lads that are oiling up the steam roller in the liberal arts election.

Lovely Labors Lost

SEEMS QUEER . . .

I always used to dress
In very latest styles,
Sporting checkered coats,
Or clothes for party wear,
With ranging shirts and ties.

Now all the while
Nobody ever said,
"How splendidly you look!"
(Lest they stir my conceit,
Which really I don't have,)
But just the same,
I seemed to draw the girls and girls and girls.

But now the times have changed,
Without good summer's pay
I cannot dress so well.
My girls have all been lured to other men. . .

But do you know what I've heard a lot of people say
These last few days I'm here
They say, "How great you look!"
—Most everybody does.
I can't help noticing
How much their praises help!

—WATCHMERE.

Now that Chris Morley is in France doing his colyum, we thought it behooved us to take a voyage likewise. We intend always to give our readers the best available in the way of colyuming. Motivated by this unselfish desire we exposed our life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness to the perils of a seventy-mile cruise on the railroad which goes in that direction.

We did this over-the-rolling-roadbed solely in the interests of the colyum—although we must admit that we enjoyed our sojourn in the foreign parts. For instance, Saturday night we—we didn't write this colyum.

A colyum written from so great a distance must have a delightfully exotic charm. Can't our readers sense the pervasively subtle scent of Grinnell's factory smoke, the obnoxiously strange scent as her college girls canter by?

Yes, a colyum written from such a distance must have a delightfully exotic charm.

And it's so safe.

Gentlemen:—

I am writing this unsolicited testimonial in the hope that some poor unfortunate who runs as he reads, may read and run to the corner drug store for your Family Size LYDIA GINGHAM'S HAIR OIL.

When my little grandchild was old enough to talk he called his father and myself, "Papa." I looked as young as my son. But the other day he noticed that my hair is thinning rapidly. So he said, "You are my grandpa, aren't you?"

Now I can stand anything except the jibes of the younger generation. I forthwith drank three bottles of your excellent preparation, and I am quite confident that by next week little Willie will no longer have occasion to call me "grandpa."

Gratingly yours,
CROSS EYES.

Civil Engineers Meet with Local Workers Tuesday

Swem and Nagler Give Talks; Visit Hydraulic Plants

Dinner at Red Ball Inn; Program Honors John Dunlap

The Iowa section of the American Society of Civil Engineering held their fall meeting in conjunction with the Iowa City Engineer's Club yesterday in Iowa City.

The meeting was held in room 317 of the new chemistry building at 2 p. m. The first speaker was A. R. Swem of Cedar Rapids. His topic was, "An Analysis of The Average Daily Discharge of The Cedar River." Professor F. A. Nagler, of the engineering college, gave an illulstrated lecture on "The Utilization of Surplus Water to Increase the Capacity of Hydro-Electric Developments During Floods."

Visit Elelctric Pants

Prfessor Nagler's paper was supplemented by a visit to the experimental hydraulic laboratory of the University and a tour of the hydro-electric plant at Coralville, conducted by C. H. Meyers, manager of the Iowa City Light and Power Company.

At 6 p. m. a dinner was given for the guests by the Iowa City Engineers' Club at Red Ball Inn. The program for the evening was in memory of John Dunlap, who was professor of sanitary engineering at the University several years ago. He resigned to become secretary of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and held this office until his death last June, as a result of injuries received in a rail road accident.

Speak on Dunlap

C. S. Nichols, professor of sanitary engineering at Ames, spoke on "John Dunlap as an Engineer". L. A. Canfield, president of the Canfield Engineering Company of Des Moines talked on 'John Dunlap as secretary of the Iowa Engineering Society.'"

The third speaker was Anson Marston, dean of the college of engineering at Ames and vice president of the American Society of Civil Engineers, who had for his subject "John Dunlap Secretary of the American Society of Civil Engineers". The last speaker was Wm. G. Raymond, dean of the college of engineering, whose subject was, "John Dunlap as an educator.',

The meeting was in charge of Professor E. L. Waterman, of the college of engineering, who is president of the Iowa Engineers' Cub and vice president of the seson. J. R. Wardle, chief engineer of Iowa Rail Road and Light Company at Cedar Rapids, is president of the Iowa section of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and R. W. Crum of Ames is the secretary.

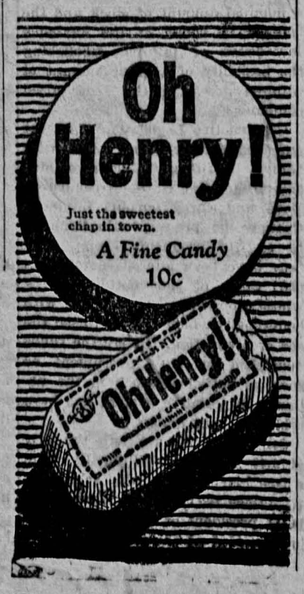
Other features are: "reekG Letter Houses," b yLeslie G. Moeller, with pictures of the new Kappa Kappa Gamma and Alpha Chi Omega sorority house, an thletic story by Howard C. Baldwin, and articles, "The Prince and Iowa," "Induction Ceremonies" and "Home coming."

The oIltorials are as follows: "Old oGld Citizen's Pledge," "An Iowan Speaks," "Journalism Over the Waves", "Alumni Notes in this Issue," and "What Fraternities Mean to Iowa."

There will be th ereguar features: On the Campus, iWth Iowa Writers, Alumni Notes, and the Radio program.



Charging Motor Car Mounts Curb; Death to Old Sign

Another institution joined those that have gone before, when the career of the huge book that marked the place of Ries bookstore on Clinton street for years, was blighted by the impuulse of a charging motor car yesterday. Since the store began serving the students of Iowa in 1879, signs have come and gone, but the old book has weathered more than its share of seasons. At the sunset of its existence, the mighty has fallen.

When Paul Schmidt found that his brakes had deserted him, his car mounted the curb and struck the iron post, and down came book, tradition, and all. The venerable sign is being repaired and classes will continue as usual.

Y. M. C. A. Plans Membership And Also Financial Drives

Tentative plans for the Y. M. C. A. membership and financial drive were briefly outlined yesterday afternoon, when the advisory board held its first meeting of the year at the Y. M. C. A. headquarters.

The drive will be launched Tuesday, October 14, and continue until Friday, October 17, according to Bruce Potter, student president of the Y. M. C. A.

In order to realize one of the most extensive programs ever outlined, and to open new fields of activity, yet undeveloped, the "Y" must use this means of seeking financial aid and student co-operation.

Y. W. Membership Drive Swings On

100 Women Working; Try to Canvass All Women

The Y. W. C. A. canvass of all University women who are not members of that organization was formally launched Monday afternoon and will extend through Friday of this week.

The canvass takes on the nature of a publicity campaign for the work of the Y. W. C. A., in that one of the main purposes of the drive is to acquaint all women of the University with the work and aims of the Y. W. C. A. as a campus organization.

The major object of the canvass is to give the new women, and others who are not members of the Y. W. C. A., an opportunity to gain a better understanding of the purpose. Approximately one hundred members are working, and an effort will be made to reach every woman attending the University who has not as yet had an opportunity to become a member of the student Y. W. C. A. of the University.

The committee in charge hope to make the drive this year more of a success than ever before and so to secure a larger and better membership than in former years.

If any woman who is interested in this work is not canvassed by the committees working, she is invited to call at the Y. W. C. A. offices in the liberal arts building and sign the necessary card testifying that she believes in the aims and purposes of Y. W. C. A.

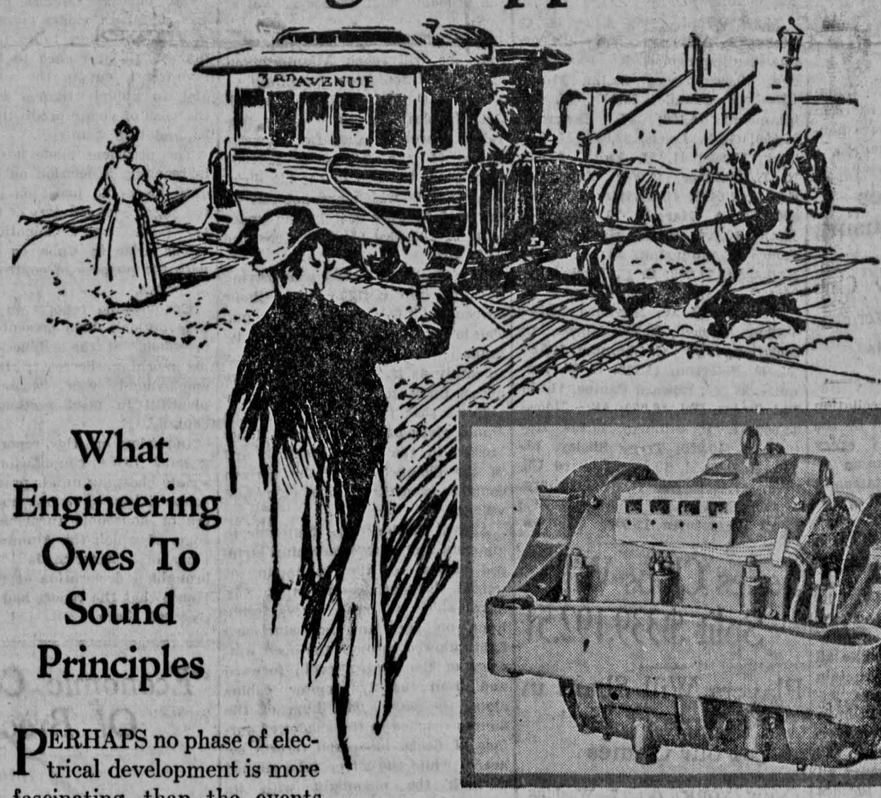
Something Happened in 1891



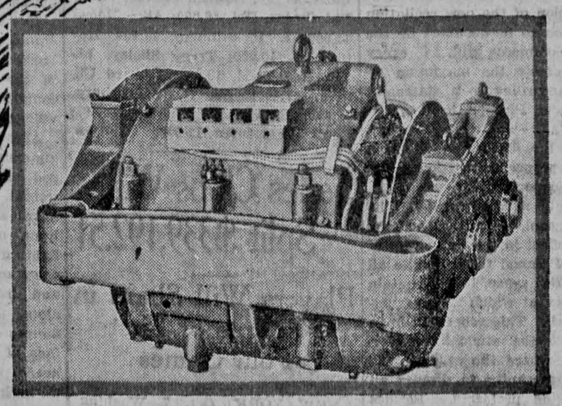
What Engineering Owes To Sound Principles

PERHAPS no phase of electrical development is more fascinating than the events leading up to the practical use of electricity as the motive power for street railway transportation.

It is a story of "midnight oil", hard thinking, extreme perseverance. No better example of the value of sound principles to present day engineering could be cited than the Westinghouse No. 3 Motor, as introduced in 1891.

Its design was so fundamentally correct and the details were so soundly worked out that subsequent developments of railway motors all followed the principles embodied in it. Now let's see what bearing this has had on modern transportation.

In 1700 the first permanently fixed rails made their appearance. In 1831, in New York, horse cars began operation. In 1834, after fruitless attempts to apply steam, compressed air, gas, etc., to these cars, a Vermont blacksmith, one Thomas Davenport, suggested that electricity be used as the motive power.



Westinghouse Motor, No. 3, the Progenitor of the Present Universally-Adopted D.C. Railway Motor.

The very first practical commercial dynamo, built by Gramme, in 1862, made this suggestion a possibility.

It was natural that George Westinghouse, with his intense interest in transportation, should take up this problem. From 1889 to 1891, he, with his organization, worked continuously to perfect a commercially practicable railway motor, and the famous No. 3, daddy of all street railway motors, was the result.

As mentioned before, the principles embodied in the No. 3, thirty-two years ago, are still in use, and at least ten prominent features of this remarkable motor are to be found in present-day types. A number of these early motors are still in operation—a tribute to sound engineering principles.

Chawa Kwai and Sponsor Party To Interpret Iowa Friendship

Women Proceed from Solemn Ceremony To Hilarity

Beginning in the glow of Japanese lantern and ending in the bright lights of the women's gymnasium, where the soft singing of voices has been replaced by the jumping jazz of a modern dance orchestra, is in a word the series of experiences through which the University woman will pass tonight.

At 7:30 the festivities will begin with the lantern procession, "Chawa Kwai", which will begin in the Y. W. C. A. office and march across the campus to the steps of Old Capitol. Songs which have come to have a peculiar meaning to the University student, will be sung during the marching. Mrs. Adelaide Burge, dean of women, will, at the end of the marching, tell the women of the beautiful Japanese custom from which our tradition has been an outgrowth.

Immediately after this solemn ceremony, the upperclass women will take their freshman charges to the women's gymnasium to enjoy the annual sponsor-sponsoree party. The affair is directed by the women's association and is an effort to bring the women of the University into closer relationships with each other. For this reason, a general invitation has been extended to all freshman women whether they have been appointed a sponsor or not.

The combination of the "Chawa Kwai" ceremony and the sponsor-sponsoree party is a feature new this year. It was done, according to the Y. W. C. A. and the women's association, the sponsoring organizations, to make more effective the efforts of these women to unite Iowa co-eds through friendship.

"Chawa Kwai" is a tradition of eight years' standing and is unique in its interpretation. The words themselves mean the lantern procession and are found in an old Japanese custom which originated with the tragic death of one of the goddesses of old Japanese superstition. She was killed during a heavy storm and her people, bound together by sympathy, looked for her far into the night with the aid of their varicolored lanterns. After that, each year, they repeated the procession in her honor.

And so the women of this University, under the leadership of the Y. W. C. A., perform this ceremony, yearly, to show the common sympathy between the women of all lands in the quest of that ideal, true fellowship.

The sponsor-sponsoree party likewise is an annual affair but has no traditional background. It is the first opportunity given to all the women of the University to meet each other socially in a function given entirely for them.

Freshman Laws Hold Election of Officers

The election for the class officers in freshman law have been completed and the following chosen:

New Union Gives Brookhart Forum

Forensic Group Has Senator as First Speaker

The Iowa Forensic Union established itself yesterday as a promising agent in literary society work on the campus, by presenting as its initial speaker Senator Smith W. Brookhart, who presided over an open forum meeting of University students and faculty-members at 12:45 in the natural science auditorium.

The Union, which has been in inception for some time, was fortunate enough in securing so well-known and dominating a figure in present-day American political activity for yesterday's meeting, in the opinion of officers of the organization when interviewed today.

"We are greatly pleased at the size and spirit of the crowd in attendance", said W. James Berry, Ll of Washington D. C., president of the organization, 'and shall present other speakers of interest before University audiences from time to time as opportunity as permits."

Taeusch to Speak At Cosmopolitans' All Student Mixer

Ukeleles will strum and banjos will resound to the plaintive strains of Hawaiian melodies at a reception to be given by the Cosmopolitan club next Saturday evening at 7:30 in the liberal arts drawing room.

The program includes, in addition to music by Hawaiian and Fillipino students, an address by Prof. Carl F. Taeusch of the department of philosophy, a feature dance, and short talks by Pedro B. Bascos A4, of Villasis, P. I., and Mrs. Sarah Huftalen G, of Iowa City.

The reception is planned primarily to provide an opportunity for American and foreign students to get acquainted.

Insect With 28-Syllable Cognomon Follows Advice of Gold Diggers

Arthropodzalinkis Lepidoptera Crustelacian.

Maybe they are and maybe they aren't but that doesn't prevent them from getting in your eyes, in your hair, in your ears, in your mouth—oh what's the use? If everyone in Iowa City doesn't know about the ravages of these blood-thirsty insects they must either be in the graveyard or wear a mosquito netting shroud.

Who hasn't walked down the street and had these insignificant but not unnoticeable invertebrates trying to follow the gold diggers advice and "dig a little deeper".

One might mistake them for a phylum of aves except for the fact that their propelling mechanism doesn't exactly resemble that of the commen birds.

Or again if it wasn't for the absence of a shell they could easily be mistaken for a member of the mollusca family.

No one in the University seems to know exactly what they are or from whence they came but were willing to bet that everyone is fervently wishing and praying that they will be completely eradicated, exterminated, exterpated, any thing to get them out of his life forever and a day. Dum spiro, spero.

Paging Radio Fan; Hospital Kiddies Will Enjoy Music

An opportunity to do a community service, awaits radio fans at the "Y".

Harry Terrell, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. said yesterday afternoon, "if I can enlist the services of a radio fan, who has a radio, the Y. M. C. A. will give concerts to the kiddies at the children's hospital."

Students interested in this and other phases of social service may consult Secretary Terrell at the "Y" between 8. a. m. and 10 p. m.

Mixer for Greek And Latin Classes Tonight in L. A.

The Classical club invites all students in the Latin and Greek departments to a mixer to be held tomorrow night in the liberal arts drawing room at 7:30 p. m.

Professor B. L. Ullman, head of the department, will give a short talk and Alone Selkirk, A4 of Fort Dodge, will give a reading. The remainder of the evening will be spent in playing old Roman games and singing songs from the Latin.

Hostesses at the party will be Rose Mary Black, A3 of Iowa City, Adalene Wagner, A4 of Van Horne, and Mary Agnes Flannagan, A3 of Iowa City, all officers of the club.

Latin Professors Go to Conventions

Two professors in the Latin department will be absent several days this week. Professor F. H. Potter left Sunday for Spencer, Iowa to attend a convention which is being held there. Professor B. L. Ullman, head of the department leaves Friday to address the Illinois Teachers Association which is convening at Galesburg.

We wonder if college days are really the days of that much-discussed "Reckless Age." Frosh Women Aid Song Book Sale

Vivian Conrad Talks; Iowa Band Plays; 53 Sales

The women's association scored another success when the University Song Book sale was reopened in the freshmen lectures yesterday afternoon and over fifty of the freshmen women present became owners of the book.

The great success of yesterday's sale was largely due to the music of the band which played 'Old Gold and On Iowa", and to the convincing talk given by Vivian Conrad A4 of Burlington. At the close of Miss Conrad's talk, members of the Staff and Circle sold fifty-three copies of the book.

Orders for books may be left at the women's association's desk in the liberal arts drawing room the remainder of this week.

Women Voters Meet To Discuss Parties And Major Issues

The league of women voters held their second meeting of the year Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in room 119 in the liberal arts building. Esther Marie Hansen, A3 of Greely, led the meeting which took the form of a discussion group.

The major party platforms were read and criticized. After the discussion it was decided that the candidates for president and vice president would be the topic of discussion at the next meeting which would be Monday October 13.

Bobbed hair, jazz music, bootleg booze — no wonder they call it "The Reckless Age." Plenty of good time awaits you if you plan to see Reginald Denny's first since "Sporting Youth" at the Strand next Saturday. Adv.

FRESHMEN BACKS PLUNGE THROUGH VARSITY LINE AT WILL

Yesterday's Practice Shows Line Problems

Lineup Against Ohio State Probably Will Be The Same as Against Southeastern Teachers

The Hawkeye line looked disappointing last night when put on defensive against the Iowa yearlings, who combined line bucks, end runs, and a barrage of the Ohio brand of forward passes taught them by Coach Sam Barry to march down the field with few stops.

The freshman backs found big holes in the varsity line, and had it not been for the sparkling defensive work of fullback Darrell Fisher, they would have looked much worse. The forward wall was slow and lacked aggressiveness.

Coach Ingwerson is none too optimistic over the prospects for a victory in Saturday's game, and is giving his men long and hard workouts. The Hawkeye coach found much to criticise as the yearlings tore through the eleven, and he put himself on the line of scrimmage to demonstrate personally proper blocking and charging tactics.

The lineup last night saw no changes, and it is probable that practically the same team which faced the Teachers will start on the gridiron for the Hawks Saturday.

Captain Parkin was again at quarter, with Graham and Schirmer halfbacks, and Fisher, fullback. Fry took Parkin's place at the pilot position for the latter part of the scrimmage but gave way to the fleet Charley Brookins. The varsity failed to show strength on offense against the seconds, failing on more than one occasion to make their downs. Daniels at guard and Galloway at tackle looked good with the seconds, and are making strong bids for regular positions.

Darrell Fisher is being groomed for the kicking job, and was sending the ball down the field for a healthy sixty yard average last night, with Parkin, Fry and Brookins on the receiving end. Fry and Fisher were given drill in dropkicking.

A hard scrimmage is promised for tonight and possibly tomorrow. The ghost ball will be brought into use for the first time this year.

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 7.—A. C. Bostwick's Shuffle Along beat a field of sixteen crack sprinters to win the $5,000 Capital feature of today's card here. Thetime for the six furlongs was 1:12.

Little Hawks Work To Beat Lone Tree

Souchek's Men Show Good Defensive Power

The Red and White eleven scrimmaged in dead earnest for over fifty minutes last night. Coach Souchek worked the men hard and when practice was over they were completely tired out. Iowa City High intends to be prepared when they meet Lone Tree.

The practice and scrimmage last night was not very fast but hard and heavy. Both first and second teams played a wonderful defensive game. The lines plowed well and men were downed in their tracks. A few long runs and spectacular plays were pulled.

Wonders were expected from Cadwaller, a new man, but so far he has been rather discouraged. He has weight and ability but he has not fit himself for the team as yet. His position as halfback on the first team was filled by McQuire.

Vestermark, guard, did not take part in the scrimmage on account of a shoulder injury receive in the Marion game. Gibson has been showing up well in his place.

Koza, who did not play a commendable game last Saturday, partially retrieved himself by downright hard work. His ability at running and giving interference was especially noticeable. However, he had some difficulty in keeping on his feet when going at top speed.

Sword Wielders Asked To Report For First Drill

Candidates for fencing team will meet this afternoon at four o'clock in Mr. E. G. Schroeder's office in the men's gymnasium. This call applies to all students who have had any previous experience either at the University of Iowa or any other school. From those who report a squad will bepicked to begin work for the fencing team this year.

The first fencing team to represent the University of Iowa will compete this year in several dual meets and the conference meet. Practice will begin as soon as the squad is selected. The team will be composed of three men, one for each of the three major divisions of fencing, foil, epee, and sabre.

Special equipment for the team is being imported from Paris, and some of it has already arrived. The University of Iowa is one of seven Big Ten universities that now have fencing as an intercollegiate sport.

A start was made in fencing last year at this university, when two representatives were sent to the conference meet at Chicago. Classes were held for beginners in the art of fencing, and a tournament was held at the end of the year. Among those who made the best showing last season and who are candidates for the team are: Robert McCrae A2 of Des Moines in the foils, Aaron Davis A2 of Fort Dodge and S. W. Scott A2 of Miles G. Lair A4 of McGregor in the in the epee event, and Charlton sabre. After December 1 classes will again be held for those who wish to start fencing. The fencing course this year will again be in charge of T. M. Ingersoll A4 of Algona.

Eight Intramural Swimming Meets Planned for Year

Hawkeye Marathon to Start October 13; Race Ten Miles

Eight meets will characterize the most ambitious intramural swimming program ever planned for this University. Beginning October 13, meets will be held practically every week until the holiday vacation period.

October 13 will see the start of the Iowa Marathon ten mile swim. A quarter mile will be taken each night until a total of ten miles has been reached by the competitor. Total time will determine the winners for the four medals and six ribbons. Any undergraduate can enter.

The annual novice meet will be held on the sixteenth of this month and includes standard crawl and breast events, as well as the dives, plunge, and backstroke.

On October 30 the fraternity relay will be held. November third will see the start of the first water polo tourney, with any social organization having the privilege of entering a team. Plaques will be awarded for first and second places in both events.

The intercollege relays will be held on November 6 and include a 400-yard medley relay and a 160-yard relay. Medals will be given to winners.

The varsity will battle the frosh on the 22nd of November, whil the all-University championship meet will be held on the 13th, after a pentathlon on December 4.

JAPAN'S FIRST AVIATRIX

TOKIO, Oct. 7: (AP)—Japan's first aviatrix, Miss Shigeno Kibe, 22 years old, will complete her course of training at the Munesato aviation school near Tokio within a few weeks. She is the first aviatrix in Japan.

New Pep Staff Will Lead Iowa Yells Saturday

The deaf and dumb yell and the siren will resound from Iowa field with a new vim and volume at the gridiron clashes of Old Gold this ed and by Saturday they will be fall. The organization of a new staff of yell leaders is being rushprepared to do their share to help Iowa "do her stuff" on Ohio State.

Final tryouts for the squad of twenty-five men who desire to make the leading staff, will be held in the natural science auditorium, Thursday afternoon, at five o'clock and from these men, twelve will be picked to help out the four old members of the staff, Gibbs, Cass, Rhynsburger and Chaffee. These latter four and Professor Edward C. Mable, of the department of speech, will be the judges of the new men.

Broadcasting material has been ordered with which it will be possible to broadcast all announcements, yells and otherwise, but as yet it has not arrived and may possibly not get here in time for Saturday's game.

Elks to See Fight at Atlantic on October 10

Articles have been signed for a ten-round go between Roscoe Hall and Kid Bige of Omaha at the Elks' club of Atlantic, Iowa, on Friday, October 10. Hall is boxing instructor at the University of Iowa and holder of the lightweight championship of the state.

The battle is to be the main event of the Elks athletic show and should be a real scrap as both of the boys ar fast, clever punchers.

Bige is reputed to be a clever boxer and a fair puncher and gave a good account of himself in matches with Ace Hudkins, Freddie Blanchard and Battling Strayer. This will be his first meeting with Hall.

Hall is in daily training with his sparring partner and roommate Bobbie Jubb, as he is expecting a real battle from the Omaha lightweight.

The first match of the all-university net tourney was played late yesterday afternoon by J. Lutz and A. C. Sorenson, Lutz winning in straight sets 6-2, 6-3.

The five rounds slated for the first round of the tournament will be played this week, according to E. G. Schroeder. Twenty-seven of the thirty-seven entrants drew byes and will compete in the second round.

Net men drawn for the first round were R. Chaffee and H. A. Parks, W. A. McCullough and C. VanMetre, P. K. Frazer and G. V. O'Neil, R. Netolicky and W. G. Sunstrum, O. H. Alderks and C. G. Phillips. Following are the players who drew byes: J. Fox and X. P. Boyle, Marshall Kay and A. A. Ohmann, J. Swartz and A. McCartney, Gerald Tyer and D. D. Davidson, R. J. McCloskey and E. J. Lampe, H. P. Hoffman and H. Buhmann, D. Brookman and H. Gordon, P. Shoemaker and N. McMahon, W. T. Hanson and E. G. Blackstone, R. Pease and A. J. Grother, L. Peterson and L. Montag, D. D. Durrell, J. Lutz and A. C. Sorenson, B. F. Baquiran and W. Beatty.

In the preliminary matches the winner must take two out of three sets, and in the finals three out of five sets. Play has already begun, the first round to be completed by October 11, and the second by October 18.

Ohio Scrimmages With Iowa Plays

Seconds Make Downs Using Hawkeye Formations

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 7.—Coach Wilce sent the Ohio State regulars through a hard driving scrimmage this afternoon against the second team, which used Iowa plays. After the second squad had made several first downs on Iowa passes and line plays in which the shift was used, the regulars were sent to the pits for tackling practice. A short signal drill ended the practice.

Sophomore Wins First Cross-Country Tryout Of Year

N. N. Johnson, a sophomore, was first in the initial varsity cross country time trials held last night, leading Captain Phelps, winner of the Big Ten cross country championship last year, to the finish. Van Ness was second and Terbell third.

The first seventeen men to finish were Johnson, Van Ness, Terbell, Marchi, Stonebrook, Phelps, Sorenson, Bender, Bright, Canby, Vestermark, Arrasmith, Gardner, Hunter, Carrol, Fitzsimmons and Richter.

Two Old Men Back For Cagers' Squad

Boyles and Strickler Form Nucleus for High Team

Dick Boyles, captain-elect of the Iowa City cage team, declares that the outlook is very bright for the Little Hawk basketball team this year. Some of last year's men are back and new men from other schools will guarantee a strong squad.

Through graduation the Red and White team lost only two strong men: Titus and Van Dyke. Wallen, a last year's star, is now attending S. Patrick's high and is lost to the team; maybe in the negative quality, for he may play on their team which in turn may play Iowa City high.

Boyles and Strickler are monogram men who are candidates for the team. Lorack, Shiley, Lindsley, Stutsman, Reed and Grandrath showed up well last year and will make strong bids for the team.

Three men: Kirchner, Ideman, and Vestermark, from other schools, are now holding positions on the football squad, and rre expected to build up the team. Kirchner has had two years' experience in Peterson high school; Ideman, cage work in Sheldon; and Vestermark played two years at Wilton Junction. Lockhart, another newcomer, has played two years on a South Dakota team and was captain one season.

Two good men, Carson and Amish, are out of this year's play because of the eight-semester rule. This rule was made at the State High School association by a number of small schools who happened to be the only ones at that conference. The next meeting will be in November, and many large schools will attend in an attempt to have the eligibility limited only by the age restriction of twenty-one years.

Whether these men play or not, Coach Souchek will have a large squad of experienced players to work with, together with many green men, and in all probability will be able to form a very strong team.

Thirty Work To Make Frosh Swimming Squad

Largest Number of Freshmen Ever Out Reports to Coach Ivan Klingaman In Daily Practice

Thirty frosh swimmers have been working out the last week under the watchful eye of Ivan Klingaman, freshman swimming coach. Fundamentals and rudaments of the game are being imparted to them, in the hope that a sufficient number will make the grade to the regular frosh squad.

The turnout is the largest that a freshman coach has ever had. Heretofore Iowa has been greatly handicapped in getting many freshman swimmers, due to the absence of swimming pools in high schools throughout the state. An early start in the season has been made in the hope of developing several swimmers.

A number of promising men have not yet attended their first practice. Coach Klingaman is anxious for all those who can swim or think they can to report for practice every night at four.

Those who are at present out for the squad are: J. E. Miller, Des Moines; N. L. Schomler, Cedar Rapids; Marion Taylor, Iowa City; E. R. Wycoff, Burlington; I. H. Khohn, Cincinnati; H. Boe, Soldier; A. F. Ewers, St. Louis; W. L. Clearman, Iowa City; Joe Colby, Marion; Joe Van der Veer, Cedar Falls; Paul Sheehan, Independence; Wm. Kregstin, Onawa; R. F. Estey, West Union; J. B. Kellog, Cedar Rapids; R. E. Blake, Volga City; D. H. Harman, Whiting; J. L. Edmondson, Milton; McMahon, Toledo; J. H. Wilson, Greene; A. L. Mitchell, Marshalltown; T. S. Dougherty, Missouri Valley; A. J. Wentzein, Gladbrook; S. A. Brose, Mason City; C. F. Baird, Kimball; R. C. Hoffman, Ida Grove; E. J. Marble, Luscomb; A. Nelson, Ida Grove; M. J. Carter, Des Moines; M. J. Murphy, Des Moines; G. L. Prudhon, Nashua.

Neilson Presents Several Plays to University Theatre

The Francis Neilson Theatre Collection of books which was begun last year as a result of a gift by Mr. Francis Neilson of Chicago, president of the Drama League of America, was augmented this year by a gift of four new plays by Mr. Neilson. These plays have not had had professional production and it may be that one of them will be shown for tryout performances here at the University Theatre.

The plays include "The Impossible Philanthropist," a comedy in four acts; "The Desire for Change," and "A Mixed Foursome," both three-act comedies, and in addition, his interesting satire on international politics, entitled "The Sin Eaters Hallowe'en."

If arrangements can be made all of these will receive tryout performances in the private presentations and possibly in the University Theatre series.

Ohio State "11" Boasts Number Of Stellar Men

By Russel Jones

The Ohio State University team that will trot out on Iowa Field next Saturday, fresh from its victory over Purdue, will have some outstanding players in its ranks. Led by Captain F. D. (Tee) Young, the invading gridiron warriers appear to be a formidable aggregation capable of playing a dazing and heady game.

Captain Young plays at the center position and is one of the best in the conference. He is six feet tall and weighs 188.

Another man who will doubtless prove a big cog in the Buckeye offense is Ollie Klee, considered as one of the near great in the Ohio institution. He has been following Old Man Hard Luck during his gridiron career, for whenever he was ready ot enter the Hall of Fame, something turned up to stop him. He is going strong this year, however, and appears to be on his way to stardom. He weighs 165 and stands 5 feet 8 inches.

One of the reasons why Purdue shot a blank while their opponents rolled a seven last Saturday, was fullback Marty Karo, captain of last year's freshman team. A pass, Hunt to Karow, led to the touchdown. Karow is twenty years old and weighs in at 173.

Iowa basketball fans will doubtless recall the towering center on the Ohio State team who came to Iowa City last winter as the leading scorer in the Big Ten. Harold (Cookie) Cunningham performs equally well on the gridiron with a height of six feet two inches to aid him in grabbing passes from a wing position and 197 pounds to help him get away with them.

John Wilson plays at the other wing and is a good example of the saying that youth must be served. Although only twenty years old, he has played two years on the varsity team and has displayed a heady game of football during that time. He weighs in at 173 and is six feet in height.

Taken all in all, the visitors appear to be a well balanced team, a team that is composed of the right sort of material to display a dashing and scientific game of football.

Hawk's Olympic Men All Reside In University City

Brookins, Wilson, and Coulter Bring Fame To "Home Town"

Four Hawkeyes made the American Olympic team that sailed for Paris in June. Strangely enough, all four of these men are from Iowa City. Two, Eric Wilson and Chan Coulter, are products of Iowa City Hi, while Charles Brookins and Pete Phelps have moved here from other sections of the state.

Eric Wilson evinced his sprinting ability at an early age. Perhaps his first attempt was at a long-forgotten Sunday school picnic. The competitors, two in number were Wilson and Irving Weber, former back stroke man on the swimming team. Wilson outdistanced his field for an easy first.

Next he was heard of as a high school sprinter during 1917 and 1918. In the hundred and two-twenty dashes Wilson placed second at the sectional meet held at Grinnell in 1918. He qualified in the finals of the state meet, but failed to place. One of his team mates was Frank Shimek, basketball and baseball ace, who went in for the pole vault.

Enters Iowa in 1919

In 1919 Wilson entered Iowa. As a freshman he was one of the fleetest dash men of his time. The following year he was a regular on the team, running the dashes and broad jumping. He made his first of three letters that year. His best time was in the hundred which he ran in :9 4-5.

During the next two years his pet event was the quarter. His time in this was :48 2-5 made in his junior year. This record has been equaled by only a very few dash men of the country. He also established University records in the dashes, running the hundred in :9 4-5, and the furlong in :21 1-5. During this time Paulu of Grinnell was Wilson's rival.

Paulu led Wilson several times, but finally Wilson took his measure at the conference. In the four hundred meter run at Cambridge, Wilson placed fourth. He was but a scant yard behind the leading man.

Chan Coulter, also of Iowa City high, ran the hurdles, sprints, and did the weight events in his senior high school year. Coulter, with his running mate, Jack Boyles, competed as Iowa City's lone representative in the state track meet here in 1921. The two of them amassed eighteen points and a second place for Iowa City.

Coulter Comes From West Point

Coulter entered West Point the following year, but left at the end of the first semester, to come to Iowa. As a freshman he starred in all the telegraphic meets. In his next year he came to the fore in the quarter and the hurdles. Here, last May he lowered the world record in the four hundred meter hurdles by eight tenths of a second. He won the quarter at the conference and at Cambridge placed third in the hurdle events. He is captain elect of the track team, and will play football for Bert Ingwersen this fall.

Brookins, whom Charles Paddock declared to be one of the greatest sprint stars in the country, came from Oskaloosa. He began his on the high school eleven, 1917. The next year he went in for tack but showed scant promise. He enlisted in the same year, was discharged in 1919, after playing halfback on the Great Lakes eleven, and entered Iowa in 1920.

Establishes World Record

In his first college competition Brookins tied the record in the fifty yard dash. Later, in the outdoor season he tied Wilson's record for the hundred, tied the conference mark in the hurdles, and established a new record in the same when he beat Gus Desch, of Notre Dame, by a scant yard at the A. A. U. events here.

In 1923 he established a world's mark at Michigan where he finished the low sticks in :23 2-10 seconds, two-fifths of a second under the old world record. In '24 he broke his old record, with a new one of :23 seconds flat. He ran on the relay team that set a world's record and capped his career by landing a berth on the Olympics.

The last of the quartet, Pete Phelps, hailed from Davenport. He starred in high school as a distance man on the Davenport track team, but moved to Iowa City when a sophomore in the University.

Iowan Staff Man Crashes Through

Bruce Gould Writes Article for Mercury Magazine

Mr. Bruce Gould of Des Moines, Iowa, former university student and member of the Daily Iowan staff, is listed among the contributors to the October number of "The American Mercury". Mr. Gould graduated from the university in 1921 with the B. A. degree in journalism. Aside from being on the Iowan staff he was business manager of "Frivol."

Mr. Gould showed the qualities of a successful writer when a young boy in highschool. He was editor of his school paper. After leaving the university he worked on the Des Moines Register, from there to the Boston staff of the United Press and finallly to the New ork Sun, where he now has the Wall street beat. His book reviews are contributions for the New York Tribune.

He married Miss Beatrice Blackman '21 of Ottumwa, Iowa, who was a member of the Kappa Gamma sorority. Mr. Gould is a member of Kappa Sigma and Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalistic fraternity.

In his article "Wells of Correct Though" in this month's American ercury, Mr. Gould throws a bright light on the real nature of our presidents as they stand free from the abuses and praises of opponents and friends. As he expressed it, ".. Even Presidents are not all pure gold; they contain an alloy of base and craven humanity." After making a study of the published writings of Presidents, Cleveland, McKinley, Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding, and Coolidge, Mr. Gould goes on to explain in his article the presidential attitude on all the important and sacred things of life —Patriotism, Love, Religion, politics, women, Honesty, Idealism, God, and Money.

Ames-Wisconsin Contest Proves Badgers Strong

Many Stars Numbered Among Aspirants for Badger Team; Coe Game and Rest Should Prove Valuable

By Al Masters

The Badgers looked mighty good last Saturday when they defeated Ames, 17 to 0. Coach Ryan has developed a powerful offense that will tax the ability of the best conference elevens to stop.

In Teckmeyer at center, Wisconsin has an unusually able man. On the offense, he can always be depended upon to make an accurate pass and to pave the way for off center plays. As a defensive man it will be noted that the strong Ames backfield made little or no gains through center. Belberstein at guard also comes in for his due share of credit. A bulwark on the defense, and a smashing, plunging offensive man who, when necessity demands, opens a hole for the whole team to walk through. Ryan has no fear for lack of tackle material. He has 268 pounds all done up in one suit. Schwartz at right tackle stands six feet four inches tall and has those 268 pounds. He is also a rather fast man for so great a bulk.

In Straubel, McMaster, Kasiska, Stanner, and Leitle, Wisconsin has tackles who are all above the average. The bulk of the large amount of material on hand for the Badger eleven are the wing men. Six first class men who are fast and rangy were used Saturday with equal satisfaction.

Doyle Harmon at quarter performed as expected. Doyle is a good field general and is a triple threat man of no mean ability. The outsanding stars of Saturday's tilt with the Ames boys are generally conceded to be Captain Jack Harris at half-back position, and McAndrews on the other half. McAndrews, the track star, used his speed to a great advantage in broken field running, intercepting six forward passes from Ames and preventing the farmers from scoring when a touchdown was imminent. It might aiso be said that McAndrews was the only one on the Badger squad who seemed able to fathom the brilliant aerial attack made by Ames.

While Ames outplayed Wisconsin the first three quarters, the great quantity of able reserves possessed by the Badgers guaranteed a certain victory over the exhausted boys from Iowa. Ames made a good showing against Wisconsin, but the Badgers will go better against Minnesota after they have had two weeks' practice and a game with Coe to perfect their defense and improve upon a most powerful offense.

Radio Notifies Dads of Plans

News Sent Over State Of Fun Pa Will Enjoy Here

Yesterday at noon WHAA, University broadcasting station, sent out the complete program for Dad's Day.

As nearly as can be ascertained thus far hundreds of dads will make Iowa City their Mecca Saturday. The fact that the number promises to be so large is due to the ready response of organizations and individuals to give the day wide publicity and encouragement.

To avoid conflict with the morning classes the big mass meeting is now scheduled for 1 p. m., to take place on the campus, in front of Old Capitol.

The Hawk Guys, assisted by the band, will then proceed to generate pep for the football game in the afternoon.

Tickets for a "Dad's Day Block" in the east stands are now being reserved at Whetstone's. It has been prophesied that these same stands have never been occupied by a more enthusiastic bunch of leather lunged rooters than will fill them Saturday.

Two full pages of the football programs are to be dedicated to the dads.

The complete toast program for the banquet which is to be held at Youde's Inn is now in the hands of Gordon Johnson, Ll, of Des Moines. The banquet tickets may also be secured at Whetstones for one dollar apiece.

It is urged that everyone fill in the blank which appears on this page,, returning it to George Hurley whose address is 714 N. Van Buren.

Need any love insurance? Or will the ole' pin stay where it is? Better get some good ideas from "The Reckless Age," Reginald Denny's first since "Sporting Youth" at the Strand next Saturday and Sunday. Adv.

The dental library, in the basement of the college of dentistry contains over 3000 volumes of specialized books on dentistry written by specialists of recognized authority in the dental field, it was announced yesterday.

Heads of the college of dentistry are following a policy of obtaining all authoritative books on dantistry as fast as they are written. By following his policy they hope to make the Iowa dental library one of the most complete.

Golf Club House Marks Start and Finish of Track

Races Can Be Watched From Coralville Road

When the present plans of the athletic department are completed, the University of Iowa will have the best cross country course in the Big Ten conference.

The course as laid out will start at the golf club house on the Coralville road, run west parallel to the road to the turn about a quarter mile from Coralville, then south to the Rock Island railroad tracks, then east parallel to the railroad to Melrose avenue. It then runs northeast, parallel to the avenue to the armory, then north to the armory to the club house, which marks the finish.

The course has been measured and found to be 3 miles, 597 feet long. Since the regular cross country distance is five miles, part of the course must be covered twice, the second lap being shortened by a direct cut from Melrose avenue turn at the Rock Island tracks, to the finish at the club house.

There is a hazard of four hills to be met by the harriers. Three small culverts have been built and the plan is to have sod laid over the entire track so that the route will not be damaged by wet weather.

It has the advantage over any other cross country track that has ever been used here in that it will allow cars to park along the Coralville road to watch the progress of the race and also the finish.

Three men may run abreast and the route has the added feature that it is entirely laid out on University property.

Preliminary work in surveying was done by sophomore engineers under the direction of R. B. Kittredge, associate professor in engineering, and F. E. Holmes, assistant professor in engineering. Much of the work in grading and sodding has been done voluntarily by the cross country squad.

Signs have been posted, giving directions and the location of bridges to aid visiting harriers, and, in short, when completed, it will set a new standard for cross country highways in the middle west.

Johnson Co. Democrats Razz Elephant Party In Rally

Cedar County Men Outline Democrat Party Platform

Kenderding Assails G. O. P. Record in First Campaign

Coolidge, Dawes, and Mellon Condemned By Speakers

Johnson county democrats staged the first of several campaign rallies at the Antioch school in Cedar township last night. The meeting was attended by a representative group of Cedar county farmers.

Glenn A. Kinderdine made the principle talk of the evening. He sketched the history of the democratic party and assailed the republicans record. Coolidge, Dawes, and the Mellon tax bill came in for their share of condemnation. He attacked particularly Dawes' bank activities.

Sam D. Whiting, candidate for state representative, also made a brief talk in which he pointed out the defects of the republican administration. He also stressed the importance of getting out to vote.

Samuel W. Mercer, Iowa City's candidate for state senator, also spoke very briefly as did several of the candidates for county offices.

Three more meetings will be conducted by the democrats this week at various points in the country.

Heavy Frosts Cut Corn Yield

Spring Rains Are Also Blamed for Crop Shortage

The 1924 corn crop will be only one-half or probably less than one-half of a normal crop, it was announced yesterday at the local farm bureau office. Killing frosts have been rather frequent during the last two weeks and have done much to lessen the crop.

The corn crop in Johnson county will be only a mediocre one due to the heavy rains last spring that delayed the growth of the corn and in many places washed out the plantings.

It will be at least two weeks before corn picking starts in the vicinity of Iowa City.

Extend Pleading Time of Defendants in Trade Suit

The defendants were given until Oct. 1, 1924, to plead in the trade suit of F. L. St6evens vs. Btliss Brohers by Judge R. G. Popham in circuit court yesterday.

The suit for replevin of the Northy Manufacturing company a corporation, vs. C. B. Russell, receiver, was dismissed by action of the plaintiffs, and the costs paid.

Judgement on one promissory note with interest was tendered against Fred Kessler yesterday by Judge Popham in favor of L. B. Kessler.

Mayor Harvat Approves Fire Prevention Week

Asks Local People to Aid in Lowering Fire Loss

Local firemen and Mayor Emma J. Harvat are asking local people to observe national "fire prevention week" by cleaning and taking proper precautions in building fires and caring for furnaces.

"A good system of fire prevention is an excellent and necessary thing for any city," Mayor Harvat said yesterday.

"There are undoubtedly many serious fires which can be averted by the observance of this week, for the average person needs such a reminder to check his carelessness," she pointed out.

Clark Asks Co-operation

Chiek J. J. Clark has given a number of "don'ts" for fire prevention and a thorough inspection of all buildings in the business district will be made this week. Fraternity and sorority houses will also be visited by fire inspectors. Chief Clark's twelve don'ts are:

—Don't decorate windows with cotton or inflammable material.

—Don't use cotton to represent snow. If you must have something to represent snow, use asbestos fiber.

—Don't permit children to play with matches.

Precautions Given

—Don't use kerosene to start a fire.

—Don't allow oily rags to accumulate.

—Don't use gasoline for cleaning near an open flame. One gallon of gasoline vaporized has an explosive power equal to eighty-three pounds of dynamite.

—Don't thaw frozen water pipes with a torch.

—Don't put ashes in wooden receptacles or against wooden walls.

—Watch gas jets.

—Watch smokers.

—Do not make the slightest change in electric wires without consulting an electrical inspector.

—A home of merriment is better than a home of mourning.

Woman Paralyzed In Car Accident Sunday

Two Cars Damaged in Smashup Near Tiffin

Mrs. Joseph Heisner, injured in an automobile accident near Tiffin Sunday morning, is in a critical condition at her home here. The left side of her body is paralyzed as a result of the accident.

The smash-up occurred on the river to river road near Tiffin at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Heisner were riding in a Ford car driven by Albert Davis. Davis claims that a Buick touring car, with an Omaha name plate, driven on the wrong side of the road, crashed into his Ford. The Ford was badly damaged. Four women were in the Buick.

Condition Serious

Mrs. Heisner was bro't to Iowa City and her condition has not improved. Davis received a sprained wrist, and his wife and Mr. Heisner were badly bruised.

None of the Women in the Buick were injured and refused to give their names. The Buick was brought to a local garage for repair and the women left for Chicago.

Information Filed

Since they refused to give their names, information was filed yesterday in the court of Justice T. E. Murphy against Mary and Minnie Doe and Jennie and Elizabeth Roe.

Bad Check Writer Gets Thirty Days

Arrested by Carroll for Failure to Heed Warning

The organization will participate in the noonday luncheon on thecampus with the other civic clubs.

The second of the series of craft talks was given by Mr. James Aldous, who talked on shrubbery and bulbs, and their care.

Mr. Charles F. Rock, of Chicago, field representative of the Salvation Army addressed the club, requesting the consideraion of he Kiwanis clug during the forthcoming annual appeal for funds to carry on the work.

German and French Generals Meet on A Pacifist Platform

BERLIN, Oct. 7. (A. P.)—Today's session of the world peace congress was thrilled by the presence on the speakers' platform of two generals who opposed each other at the front in the world war but who now entertain the same idea regarding peace. Both generals told the congress that their personal experience of war horrors made them convinced pacificists. The two peaceful warriors were General Verraux of France, commander of the Sixth Army division during the hostilities and now professor in a French military academy, and Gen. Von Schoenaich of Germany who was active on the Roumanian front during the war and who is now head of the republican guards.

He expressed himself as very favorably impressed with the talk. Dr. Hull who is conversant with European affairs, lauded Professor Wassam's presentation of conditions there.

Libraries Added to Elementary Schools

Extension Department Of Public Library Lends 350 Books

Extension departments of the city library have been started in the Horace Mann and Longfellow schools. Class room libraries have been opened in Kirkwood, Kellog, and Shimek schools. The big libraries ave 300 books and the smaller collecions about 50 books each. The books will be exchanged at the end of each semester.

Securing books for grade children was one of the problems which confronted the schools. The board of directors last year instructed Mrs. Jesse B. Gordon of the city library to try the extension plan for three months.

On Tuesday, Miss Lucille Davis, the children's librarian, will supervise the Horace Mann school, and on Thursday she will be at Longfellow school. The teacher acts as librarian in the class room extensions.

G. O. P. Raising Slush Fund: Bob

Asks Investigation by Committee on Expenditures

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 7.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette announced in an address here tonight that he had demanded an immediate and searching investigation by the senate expenditures committee to determine whether the republican national committee is raising an enormous slush fund to be expended "in buying the election in doubtful states."

In a telegram sent today to Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, chairman of the committee, the independent presidential candidate said he had urged him to issue subpoenaes for Wm. M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, W. T. Mellon, brother of the secretary of the treasury, Joseph R. Grundy, president of the Pennsylvania manufacturers association and S. D. Warriner, a Pennsylvania anthracite operator.

Senator LaFollette told the senate committee chairman that he had reason to believe a slush fund of four or five million dollars was being sought and that the campaign to raise the money was based upon the circulation of malicious slander and libel.

To the audience which heard him tonight the Wisconsin senator read a letter which he declared was being circulated by the ways and means committee of the republican national committee for Pennsylvania and which he added, was signed by Mr. Grundy.

A despatch from Washington appearing yesterday in a New York newspaper he said, stated that W. T. Mellon was assisting Mr. Grundy in raising $600,000 in Pennsylvania for use elsewhere.
