HAWKEYES SNOWED UNDER, 36-0

Old Gold Line Is Torn to Shreds By "Red" Grange

Proves All-American Calibre with Two Touchdowns

Game Advances Illini One Notch Nearer Championship

(By the Associated Press)

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 1.—With Harold "Red" Grange the unstoppable, continuing his flight to fame as America's greatest football star, Illinois moved a notch nearer the 1924 western conference championship today by crushing Iowa 36 to 0 before 45,000 spectators in the new Illinois memorial stadium. The game, a contest between master and pupil, ended in the complete rout of the Iowans who never seriously threatened except in the second period when they got the ball to Illinois eleven yard line and lacked the punch to move it another inch.

The Iowans, coached by Burt Ingwersen, himself a former star player under Robert Zuppke, coach of Illinois and later freshman coach here, were figured to stop Grange if any run in the Big Ten could do this seemingly impossible task. The Iowans failed like Michigan did on this same gridiron two weeks ago but they are happy tonight that they prevented Grange, the Illini's wild cat, from running wild as he did against Michigan. Superior interference for Grange as well as the other backfield stars, and brilliant forward passing enabled the "fighting Illini" to pile up the one-sided score.

Backfield Men Brilliant

Grange divided honors with his teammates, scoring two of the Illini's five touchdowns. Although the famous red head failed to break away for any of his marathon touchdowns he gained consistently at times, tossed three successful passes and never failed in the pinch. Parkin, Iowa's quarterback, who gained fame when he scored a winning touchdown against Yale in 1922, broke loose for some sparkling runs but his performance was overshadowed by Grange. The showing made by Zuppke's other backfield men was brilliant, McIlwain, who played two quarters with a broken hand, Schultz, Gallivan, Britton, Hall, Green and Perdunn gaining consistently.

The game as a whole was rather slow, both teams taking a great deal of time in calling signals. A high wind made punting a dangerous practice and it was this that gave Illinois its first touchdown early in the first period. An Iowa punt caught in the wind and went out of bounds on Iowa's 25 yard line. Two smashes at the line gained five yards. Grange then smashed through tackle for nine and then dashed through the same spot in an eleven yard run for the first touchdown before five minutes of play had elapsed.

"Red's" Passes Perfect

For a moment it appeared that Grange would repeat his feat of scoring four touchdowns in one period when a few moments after his first touchdown, he raced 18 yards in returning a punt. This started a march which landed the ball on Iowa's two yard line. On the next play Grange crammed the ball through the center of Iowa's line for a second marker.

Although he did not score the third touchdown, three forward passes dispatched by Grange took the ball to Iowa's three yard line in the first quarter and paved the way for Britton's successful smash at center. It was the first touchdown Britton ever made in a conference game and almost the first time he had carried the ball, except on passes.

Grange's passes were perfect, gaining 86 yards on two tosses to Britton and one to Kassel. A fourth grounded. Illinois tried only one more pass and that was intercepted. This gave Illinois a record of eighty

Butler Claims 350 Electoral Votes for Coolidge

McIntyre's Ankle Broken; Out for Rest of Season

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 1.—Special to the Iowan: Scott McIntyre, substituting for Raffensperger at left guard for Iowa, had his left ankle broken in the second quarter of the Iowa-Illinois game here this afternoon, and will be out for the remainder of the season. The other members of the team came through the game without serious injury.

The Iowa delegation staged a big parade after the game on the down town streets, much to the delight of the Urbana population. The loyal support given the Iowa team by its followers, even after a defeat was assured, caused considerable comment from the Illinois spectators.

Rev. Nutting Back From West Indies

Illness Causes Return Of Young Relief Worker

Rev. Willis Nutting, son of Prof. C. C. Nutting of the zoology department, returned to his home here, unexpectedly yesterday afternoon. The Rev. Mr. Nutting has been seriously ill in a remote hospital of the British West Indies, and plans to remain in Iowa City until he has recovered sufficiently to go on with his theological services.

Following his graduation in 1920, Willis Nutting sailed at once for England to matriculate at Oxford as a Rhodes scholar. He remained in Britain for three years and then accepted a post doing relief work among the starved refugees of Athens, Greece. Owing to his weakness he has, according to his father, Professor Nutting made no definite plans for the future, but shall remain at home.

Weller Honored; Named President

Iowa Professor Heads Summer School Directors

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 1 (AP)—At the conclusion of a three days conference of faculty members directly concerned with summer school supervision, Dr. Charles Heald Weller, professor and head of the history of art department, and University editor at the state University of Iowa was elected this coming year's president of the Association of Summer Schools.

Following Professor Weller's election which was greeted by the spontaneous applause of the members present, the announcement of the next annual meeting which is to be at the University of Virginia was made.

Injure Twelve, Kill Two in Ohio Ku Klux Rioting

Two Victims May Die; Military Forces Restore Quiet

Trouble Starts from Attempt to Stage Klan Parade

(By the Associated Press)

Niles, Ohio, Nov. 1.—Three men were killed here today, in clashes between Klan and anti-Klan forces over a Klan parade scheduled for this afternoon. All the killed were adherents of the anti-Klan faction. Twelve others were injured, nine of the victims suffering gun shot wounds, two of them being reported in a critical condition. The others were beaten by crowds. E. G. Victor of Farrell, Pa., shot in the heart and lungs, and Joseph Murphy of Niles with a bullet lodged at the base of the brain probably will die, hospital physicians say. E. E. Cope of Sebring, with a knife wound in the head, and Ellsworth Keyser of Youngstown shot through the shoulder, were reported in a serious condition.

Quiet was restored shortly before three o'clock by the arrival of two companies of guardsmen from Warren and Youngstown, nearby. Several other units arrived later.

Colonel L. S. Connolly, commander of the 145th infantry immediately took over the police authority and issued a proclamation placing the community under strict military control.

In spite of the assurance of the proclamation Captain R. Sullen of New Lexington made several impromptu speeches along the proposed line of march announcing that the parade was off and appealing to all citizens to go to their homes and preserve order.

The arrival of the troops was greeted with cheering and applause by the townspeople.

Youth First Victim

Governor Donahay's order mobilizing the troops came after several hours of intermittent rioting of increasing violence. It followed several urgent requests by Niles city officials and Sheriff Jno. E. Thomas of Trumbull county during the last two days, which the governor declined to heed, taking the stand that the local authorities had power and authority to control the situation.

Alumnus Exposes Freshmen Views

Impressions Written by Prof. Hardin Craig Are Featured

In "Freshman Viewpoints", in this week's issue of the Iowa Alumnus, one discovers intimate glimpses into the minds of first year students. Besides "viewpoints" of the following nature—"I really feel that I am just about a wart on a frog's leg up here. Boys and girls pop like toadstools. We all look alike."

The main feature of this issue is "Impressions of the English Conference," by Hardin Craig, head of the English department. Other articles are: "Clinton Organizes"; "Literary Magazine"; and "Another One on Jimmy", a story about "Jimmy", the former guardian of Iowa Field and Janitor of Old Capitol building, following one page to the athletic news of the week. It is a summary by Dr. E. W. Rockwood, one of Iowa's service men and a professor of chemistry and toxicology, who has been connected with the University since 1888.

The editorials concern "Teachers of the English and Speech Conference," "Alumni Directory Ready," and "Meet Us in Des Moines November 7."

They Do Come Back

With an adequate majority in parliament to work with it, Ex-Premier Stanley Baldwin (above) has only the perfunctory business of voting Premier Ramsey MacDonald and his labor cabinet out of office to resume the rulership of Great Britain, from which he was forced by MacDonald nine months ago.

Crowds of Iowa Students Swallow Defeat in Silence

Gridgraph, Radio, and Telegraph Spread Deep Gloom

While the shrieking thousands in the Illinois stadium watched their eleven shatter the Iowa line into bits yesterday afternoon, Iowa City, waiting before grid-graph, radio and telegraph took her defeat in sullen grim-lipped silence. As the score rose slowly like a thermometer on a hot summer morning, the barometer of Iowa's fell down, down, down, until at last interest died to indifference.

In front of the "Academy" groups of eager fans watched a shirt-sleeved clerk chalk a sarcastic "Iowa 0, 'Grange' 7" on the window and turned away shrugging their shoulders. At the men's gym the crowds followed the flickering light on the grid-graph that wavered with aggravating insistency on the line that marked the Illinois goal. Most of the fans kept a tight grip on their optimism until the score leaped to 26 and then comments became fewer and the crowd watched the light in dismal resignation. In the Iowan office cub reporter and editor leaned over the A. P. operator's shoulder with open-mouthed absorption in the fatal news that clicked out from the typewriter.

After the final flash the spirit of defeat settled like a pall over the campus. The streets were deserted. The corn monument, that had seen the howling crowd surge around its base at Homecoming stood silent and deserted with its red lights glowing in the dusk.

And so, while Illinois celebrates her startling victory, Iowa fans will come jogging home from the pilgrimage that ended so disastrously. When the cowbells toll the knell of parting day, the Fords, Cadillacs, and the buses will bring home weary-eyed rosters. There will be weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth.

That is what a 36 to 0 score does to Iowa City.

Find Automobile Salesman Dead; Skull Crushed

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 1. (AP)—The body of Carl W. Moore, automobile salesman of Hastings, Neb., who disappeared from his home October 16 was found tonight near Roseland, Neb. The body was discovered by an instructor in the Roseland schools.

According to the state sheriff's office, Moore had apparently been struck over the head, the blow crushing his skull. The body was found close to an infrequently road-way.

Moore was last seen alive leaving Hastings in an automobile with two strangers. His parents live at Hastings.

STECK OPTIMISTIC

(By the Associated Press)
DES MOINES, Nov. 1.—Victory is certain for the democratic party in Iowa at the election Tuesday, if the democrats will but "stand by the party," Daniel F. Steck, democratic candidate for U. S. senator declared here today.

Old Parties and La Follette All Claim Corn State

Republicans Predict a Ticket Plurality of 100,000

Brookhart to Carry by 200,000, Say Progressives

(By the Associated Press)

DES MOINES, Nov. 1.—Outlined in a statement issued by the progressive headquarters here today was the claim that a decisive lead in 65 of the 99 counties of Iowa and the winning of eight of the eleven congressional districts would be accorded Senators Robert M. La Follette and Burton K. Wheeler in the Tuesday election.

Notwithstanding the "statements of confidence" issued by the republican headquarters this week which the La Follette people characterized as "simply an effort to break the morale of the La Follette forces", the progressive statement declared that the third party candidates "will carry Iowa in Tuesday's election by a great majority."

The statement also predicted that Senator Smith W. Brookhart's majority will be in excess of 200,000. He will carry, the statement said, "at least 90 of the 99 counties."

"Progressives of Iowa" the statement concluded, "regardless of party, are united in support of the candidacy of Robert M. La Follette."

Y. Campaigners Ready for Drive

Dinner Pep Talks Put Kick in Leaders' Plans

Solicitors for the "Y. M.'s" finance and membership drive will hold a big conclave at Youde's Inn Monday evening at 6 o'clock, when about 150 picked men, bubbling over with pep and enthusiasm will sit down to a dinner.

Tentative plans for the dinner according to Richard Garlock, A4 of Maxwell, director of the drive, are: short, spicy talks by Prof. A. C. Trovbridge, of the department of geology, and Charles R. Sellers, A4 of Knoxville. Hugo C. Buck, C4 of Calmar will do the honors as toastmaster. Mr. Garlock hopes to add the name of G. W. Stewart, head of the department of physics, to the list of speakers.

Under the leadership of Majors Bruce Potter, A4 of Harlan, Allan Dakin, A3 of Mason City, Hugo C. Buck, C4 of Calmar, and Charles R. Sellers, A4 of Knoxville, captains and solicitors will vie with each other for first honors and an intensive campaign is anticipated from the first night of the drive.

Snowball Reynolds Claims Bill Tarr Actual Murderer

SIDNEY, Ia., Nov. 1.—"Snowball" Reynolds, on trial for the alleged murder of Al Weber, today testified in his own behalf and not only denied that he killed Weber but told a story of how he said Bill Tarr, Iowa's star witness, was the murderer. In rebuttal, state witnesses contradicted Reynolds testimony. The case went to the jury this evening.

Simons' Attorneys Make Motion for New Trial

DAVENPORT, Nov. 1. (AP)—A motion for a new trial and setting aside of the death verdict by a jury against Harlan (Gabe) Simons, convicted of the slaying of Orton Ferguson, was filed in Scott county district court today. The motion charges error on the part of the court in admitting as evidence the confession of the slaying made by Simons.

Judge A. P. Barker announced Thursday that he would pronounce sentence on Simons on November 5.

Baldwin Secured To Give 4 Talks

Oklahoma Will Open H. S. Conference November 7

Dr. B. T. Baldwin, director of the child welfare research station, will deliver four addresses at the annual meeting of the Oklahoma High School Conference to be held at the University of Oklahoma, November 7 and 8.

At the first general session, on Friday, November 7, Dr. Baldwin will address the meeting on: "What is a Normal Child?". His subject for the third general session on Friday evening, "Method of Diagnosing Superior Children", will be illustrated with slides.

On Saturday, November 8, Dr. Baldwin will address the fourth general session on the subject "Education of the Adolescent Child."

At the high school teachers' section on Friday afternoon, November 7, Dr. Baldwin will speak on "The Place of Educational Diagnosis in the Present Day Educational Process."

Arrest Brothers for Tragic Ending of Hallowe'en Prank

CORNING, Iowa, Nov. 1. (AP)—Vard Worstell, living near Carbon, regained consciousness this evening but is suffering internally, following an attack on him by Hallowe'en revelers at whom he fired when they tried to take his buggy from him early this morning. The Stearn brothers, 18 and 20, who were arrested after the attack, are said to have admitted taking part in the fracas. They are in jail here.

Grinnell Bank Closes Doors; Will Pay All Depositors

GRINNELL, Iowa, Nov. 1. (AP)—The Merchants National bank here closed its doors today. It was the largest bank here. Among its depositors were many students of Grinnell College. The bank's affairs are now in the hands of national bank examiners. Bank officials said the institution would be reopened soon and that all depositors would be paid in full. George Hamlin is president.

Party Standard Bearers Finish Campaign Drives

Coolidge Silent as Davis and Bob Play Final Scenes

Dawes Winds Up with Knocking Sham in Public Life

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The last big scene of American politics was played tonight with the whole country for its theater.

Two who have aspired to highest office—John W. Davis and Robert M. La Follette—summed up their cases at the bar of public opinion while in every state those who have taken lesser roles made their final bows to cheering millions.

After a Sunday's interlude the campaign will have its dramatic epilogue in election-eve addresses by President Coolidge and Mr. Davis, carried from coast to coast by radio, but a few hours before the voters march to the polls to record their decision.

Butler Sees Victory

From the supporters of all three candidates in the triangular fight for the presidency there came tonight new claims of victory. Chairman Butler of the republican national committee alone among the party chieftains issued a formal prediction, however, declaring Coolidge and Dawes would have more than 350 of the 531 votes in the electoral college. At the same time the republican congressional committee predicted that at least 248 republican representatives would be elected among the 435 that are to make up the new house.

John W. Davis chose Carnegie hall, New York City, for tonight's final platform speech in which he asked his fellow countrymen to decide the issues of the campaign on reason and conscience, rather than prejudice. Senator La Follette spoke in Cleveland's public hall, assuring a vast congregation of his supporters that their cause was the cause of the people and would triumph.

Dawes Hits Insincerity

Charles G. Dawes, who has headed the active stump campaign for the republican ticket, brought his fight to a conclusion at a night meeting in South Bend, Ind., with a speech again denouncing insincerity in public life and asking that the republican administration be retained in power.

Gov. Charles W. Bryan, at the same time, was saying his last words to the home folks in Nebraska and Senator Wheeler was appealing again to the voters of New York City.

Chairman Borah of the investigating committee meantime returned to Washington to confer with some of his colleagues but reached no decision whether to make a statement of his findings or let the testimony speak for itself.

Bob Still Confident

In Cleveland's public hall, where his independent candidacy was announced and the recent republican national convention was held, Robert M. La Follette closed his campaign tonight with a speech in which he reiterated confidence that he will win in the Tuesday election.

"The progressive tide is turning," he declared, "and will carry the progressives on to victory."

"But this is only the beginning of the fight. We cannot in one short struggle capture all the strongholds in which privilege has become entrenched. For more than fifty years the private monopoly system has been digging itself into the very heart of government. Its allies are in the executive department, in congress, and in the courts. They are in the state and city governments.

"They have spent millions in securing their present power, and they cannot be evicted in a day."

Social Committee Releases List of Approved Chaperones

Board of Censor Passes on 489; Lists Mailed this Week

Orgy of Parties May Follow Announcement; Junior Chaperones to Grace Dinners, and Senior Chaperones, All Dances

The official chaperon list, composed of the names of 425 senior and 64 junior chaperones, which has passed the board of censorship of the social committee, is being sent out to every fraternity and sorority by mail this week.

2 Lit Societies Pledge Members

Hamlin Garland and Octave Thanet Take Lead

For two weeks the literary societies danced and feasted in a whirl of rushing parties, and now each emerges victoriously with its list of new pledges. Forensic council restricted society parties to one in number, but undaunted by this ruling, they went ahead with open programs and consequently "kept within the law". Hamlin Garland and Octave Thanet societies are the first to pledge their members.

Hamlin Garland announces the following pledges: Phillis Giles, A3 of Pulaski; Geneva Colony, A1 of North Liberty; June Lingo, A2 of Muscatine; Maurine Marble, A2 of Lisco; Margaret Mathews, A2 of Centerville; Florence Parr, A3 of Tipton; Helen Andrews, A1 of Iowa City; Eleanor Voldeiger, A2 of Pomeroy; and Dagmar Nelson, A3 of Storm Lake.

The newly pledged of Octave Thanet society are:

Ella Kraushaar, A2 of Waverly; Hope Palmer, A3 of Tipton; Alene Baird, A3 of Denver, Colo.; Jeanette Henneke, A1 of Hannibal, Missouri; Alde B. Raby, A1 of Des Moines; Ruby Hirt, A1 of Hills; Florence Kelleher, A1 of Iowa City; Edna Durn, A1 of Iowa City; Margaret Plum, A1 of Iowa City; Marie Herzer, A3 of Des Moines; Alice Roose, A2 of Iowa City; Marjorie Sensor, A1 of Independence; Iduna Bertal, A3 of Pilleger, Minn.; Julia Field, A4 of Forest City; Gladysmay Novachek, A1 of Des Moines; Esther Fuller, A1 of Mt. Airy; Harriet Davis, A2 of Iowa City; Kaye Bowman, A3 of Utica, N. Y.; and Alice Weeber, A3 of Iowa City.

Elly Ney Appears In Piano Concert On Armistice Day

Elly Ney, the famous pianist who will appear here November 11, says, "Music is not primarily concerned with technicalities. It is a very great impression received by the composer. It is not to be disclosed by the intellect but should be comprehended by the soul."

"That is what you have in America now. You are a young people and you will listen to music with something of the fresh spirit of a child. You receive it into your heart."

"But she adds, 'You may lose this. Too much criticism, too much technical dissection, and you may spoil the natural impression. In Europe there are musical centres which are oversophisticated. But here you have not reached this stage. You are warmly appreciative and your critics listen well, too.'"

Student Nurses Forget Work in Halloween Capers

"Stay at Homes" Frolic at Gym Among Witch Enchanted Regions

The unhappy remnant of humanity not able to join in the general exodus for Urbana, took a new lease on life Friday night.

Following the strains of music issuing from the women's gym, the "stay-at-homes" entered an enchanted region where gruesome ghosts greeted them with a clammy touch, witches grinned wickedly from unexpected corners, and clown broke the awful spell with their foolishness.

Noise; the sidelines never made more. Every possible creation for the making of noise, and a few invented for the purpose, were in use.

Campus Celebrities Tell How And Why They Will Cast Votes

"Tubby" Griffen favors La Follette regardless of Iowa headlines. When asked why he favored La Follette, Griffen replied: "La Follette will not assent to anything that he does not think is right. The street-cleaner that orates for La Follette stands on the tariff question, and the like, but he does know that he will stand up for what he believes to be right."

Wayne T'iss, orchestra leader and man about campus, is voting for Coolidge for three reasons: "I am voting for Coolidge because I don't want the election to go to Congress, because the courts should not be limited in their jurisdiction, and finally, because the girls would adopt the LaFollette haircut, commonly called a pompadour, and that's all apple sauce."

Darrell Fisher says, "I'm a staunch old Republican and I'm going to vote for Silent Cal."

"Bugs" Sheldon is voting for Coolidge and Dawes. When asked why he was voting for Coolidge he looked the reporter straight in the eye, threw out his chest and said, "I am voting for Coolidge because he is a Phi Gam. (It seems that Cal has the Phi votes.)"

Hod Gordon, too, is voting for Coolidge. "In the first place I don't think any of the men are A1, but I believe in laissez faire. Coolidge has had two years experience while the others have had none. Therefore let him go on."

Jan Witwer, the best woman golfer in the University, is going to vote for Coolidge, that is, if she doesn't forget. "I will vote for Coolidge because he has such a brilliant record behind him. I'm going to vote for Steek because I don't like Brookhart."

Glee Clubs Hold Ensemble Dinner

Singers Will Attend "Il Trovatore" in A Body

Members of the combined University men and women's glee clubs, eighty strong, will banquet together Wednesday at 6 p. m. at Youde's Inn. The affair marks the opening of the glee club's social season. The dinner will be in the nature of a "Hello" exchange, and it is expected that every member of the two clubs will become well acquainted with every other member, during the course of the evening's program.

The dinner at Youde's will be followed by a theatre party at the Esler, where the singers will be treated to the performance of Verdi's opera, "Il Trovatore," by the Boston English Opera company. The theatre party will be something of a study-hour for the clubs, as they are at present working on the production of Gounod's "Faust". Prof. Walter Leon is of the opinion that the glee clubs will learn much in the way of what is expected of them in their operatic production, by attending the performance of "Il Trovatore".

Harold G. Reusehlein, A3 of Burlington, Wis., president of the men's club, is in charge of the dinner and theatre party. Reservations for the opera should be telephoned to him as soon as possible. Anne Doornik, A4 of Iowa City, is in charge of the dinner program.

Co-eds Differ on Party Club Query

Admit Other Pursuits When Questioned By Reporter

Were the women of the University wise or foolish for not having formed a La Follette-Wheeler or republican club as the men on the campus did? This question was asked by an inquiring reporter yesterday of different University women, and a few of the replies were as follows:

"It would be all right if anything could be learned, but the chances are that the members would be too one-sided and no real knowledge would be gained. No, the women were not foolish," said one girl whose parents are politicians.

A sophomore woman believes that a party club would be a good thing for the women, and every woman ought to belong to more than one party club in order not to become narrow minded.

When a student in one of the professional college was asked she replied, "The girls are too busy to spend much time along such a line. The campus is over-organized now so why start more clubs?"

A fair-co-ed said, University women are interested too much in other things, and there would not be enough to support such an organization.

One freshman said, I am not of voting age and if I were I wouldn't want to belong. Anyway college women have work to do."

SOCIETY

THE WEEK'S AMUSEMENTS

Local Movie Houses Present Brilliant Array of Pictures

"AMERICA!" David Wark Griffith's romance of the birth of America. In probability the great picture he has ever filmed, Griffith has given to the screen a dramatic, true version of important incidents in the early history of America. The picture comes to the Strand Wednesday for a week run.

The story for "America" was written by Robert W. Chambers. For the production of the picture Griffith and his players went to Lexington Common and the old Bridge at Concord; hung again the lantern of warning in the Old North Church; and Paul Revere again dashed through the night on his journey of warning.

Scenes that are dear to the heart of Americans are re-incarnated in "America." The savage winter at Valley Forge; the impassioned appeals of Patrick Henry; the dashing heroism of Morgan's Rifles, a little band of men who came from the obscure Virginia woods with "Liberty or Death" on their breasts.

Lionel Barrymore, Neil Hamilton and Carol Dempster are the featured players in Griffith's picture.

"Turnoil," from the story by Booth Tarkington, playing at the Strand through Tuesday, is an interesting story of an ambitious father and a dreamy, romantic son. James Sheridan, Sr., is insistent that his son Bibbs shall become a driver of men like himself. But Bibbs has different ideas about life and just then he is interested in an extremely good looking girl. Dad commands; Bibbs insists—the result is interesting.

"WELCOME Stranger," one of the greatest of stage plays, has lost none of its greatness in its screen presentation. It is a story of the effort of a Jewish shop-keeper to establish himself in a small New England town and reaction of the townspeople to his enterprise.

The role of Isadore Solomon, the merchant, is taken by Dore Davidson, who scored such a hit in "Humoresque." Florence Vidor and Lloyd Hughes, as Mary Clark and Ned Tyler, ably fill their parts as the girl in whose name the business deals are transacted and the son of the village banker.

The story includes the struggles Clem Beemis (William Mong) to finance the project of bringing electric lights to the town and the schemes of the "town powers" to prevent this. "Welcome Stranger" is now playing at the Pastime and will be kept there through Wednesday.

"Tarnish," a First National picture, will play at the Pastime next weekend, starting Thursday and continuing to Monday. The cast, including May McAvoy, Marie Prevost, Ronald Colman, Norman Kerry and Harry Myers, are ably fitted to interpret this play of modern conditions.

The story deals with the daughter of a once rich and beautiful Southern woman, who married a no-account dandy and was reduced to poverty by his indulgences. The daughter supported the family and the climax comes when she discovers that her father has given her money to a manicurist and when she decides her lover is of the same type as her father. Of course she finds out that he is simply the victim of the same woman with whom her father is infatuated and all ends happily with her decision that he was really not to blame.

"FEET of Clay," unusual to say the least! This latest creation of Cecil B. DeMille's will play at the Englert through Monday night.

Picturizing the gay, fast life of the richer set of today in a manner that is not too exaggerated, and a passion that is oftentimes real and found in every walk of life, DeMille has created a celuloid thing that makes one think, and think again.

Underneath the gay scenes of the picture, threads a plot that is given a delicate treatment. One of the greatest death scenes ever filmed is handled in a fashion that only DeMille could do and succeed. When Vera Reynolds and Rod La Rocque go down the long, long bridge of shadows; rejection because they took their own lives and long battle back through the shadows of death to life and the finish of their task.

Julia Faye, sacrificed because her own uncontrollable passion, plays a brilliant role. Rod La Rocque and Vera Reynolds are splendid in their parts.

"Minstrel Mimics," the DeMolay musical show, plays at the Englert Tuesday night and the Boston Opera Company holds the boards Wednesday night.

"Hot Water," Harold Lloyd's latest picture, arrives at the Englert Thursday for a week-end run. Enough sed, its Harold Lloyd's best laugh producer.

"HOW to Educate a Wife," one of Elinor Glyn's brilliant picture stories, plays at the Garden theatre through Tuesday night. Like most of the Glyn pictures, it is daring and interesting—and well picturized.

"Captain Blood," a romance of days when Spanish galleons sailed the Main, comes to the Garden next Wednesday for a long run. Like "The Sea Hawk," this famous story is by Rafael Sabatini and its success is heralded as equal to its famous predecessor.

Powerful romance of olden days is woven through the plot of slavery, piracy and gallantry—for all three are incorporated in this remarkable tale of the sea.

J. Warren Kerrigan as Captain Blood is a dashing figure and Jean Paige is a delightful heroine. The story does not resemble that of "The Sea Hawk."

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, is condemned as a slave to the Barbadoes by cruel King James. When a Spanish galleon attacks the West Indies colony, Blood and his fellow convicts rebel, capture the ship and paint a trail of revenge over the Main. When King James loses the throne, Captain Blood enlists in the English services and in a realistic battle of the sea, saves Port Royal for the Crown and rescues the girl he loves from French besiegers.

Nine-Year-Old Charity Sisters Give Bazaar for Perkins Child

"To the good little boy at this house, from his friends," expressed the sentiments of three little Iowa City girls between the ages of eight and ten who earned a widow's mite and bought gifts for a child in the Perkins Hospital, and another Iowa City child in a broken home.

The three little missionaries held a doll clothes bazaar and a show, which netted $2. They carried the profits to the secretaries of the Red Cross and Social Service League, at whose suggestion they went shopping and purchased a pair of small bed-room slippers and some stockings. Each little lady wrote a card and left their gifts to be delivered.

The Fall Carnival

Only a short time ago nature was spilling her paint box of colors in a profusion of glorious patch work pieces with which to clothe herself for the farewell carnival. The dance is over, now, and her costume has faded with the night. Like a cinderella, whose hour has struck, the earth is donning its ash-colored garment. The bright reds of the leaves are marred by the spots of dead brown. The sunny yellows, and soft lavenders of fall flowers have been washed out to be replaced by dulled and dying petals. The musicians have closed their instruments and are leaving. Their engagement of this season has come to its close.

Yet even as the winter is coming to demand its toll of longer nights and shorter days, of hours by the fireside instead of in the fields, of sun colored landscapes, the world is preparing for another spring. During the few remaining warm days the tulips are being planted. The trees are forming new buds that will burst into a mass of green when April comes again. The birds are going south but they will return in the first warm days of another spring.

With the changing of seasons there should be no sorrow, no regret. The approach of winter, bringing with it a realization that the carnival is over, should also remind us that we may look forward to the coming of spring again.

The philosophy of the seasons is immortalized in the lines written at the death of King Arthur:

"He was our king, our squire
He will be our king again."

Fraternity pledges are insisting that the next monopoly which the government attacks be the Iowa City "Paddle Trust", which charges 55 cents for those simple implements.

Note for automobile dealers: "reconditioned" is now a synonym for "second hand."

SORROWS OF A SUPER-SENSITIVE SOUL

All is ready. Tomorrow I am to meet Otto at the meadow with the watch and the rest of the things.

Tomorrow night we are to flee together. I am to go down to the little gate at the foot of the garden, and maybe Otto will be there he said.

Today I have wandered about the house and garden saying good-by. I have said good-by to my Tchupyska flower, and to the birds and the bees.

Tomorrow it will all be over.

FOUR BELLS

The catch is great. —Immediately canned. —Catches catch can. Hatch full of periwinkles, belly full of bean soup, crew full of prunes. Air is gettin' fresher, Count becomes more sour at every wave. I saw him on the bowsprit abaft. I caught a crab, says I. —Let me off this raft, old dog, or you'll catch hell, says he. —Oh, will I? says I. Matey has been prinkin' up of late, borrows all my clothes, he does. Matey, says I, matey, a sock on the foot is worth two socks on the jaw. —Aye, aye, says he. —My tie! says I. —Aye, aye, says he. —and that's that.

EDITOR OF "THE KITCHEN STAIRS"

Most dear:—
This morning the sun played caressingly upon the washings aflutter. A little girl gave an apple core to an old horse. The whole world seemed enamoured of the year, or, to put it differently, time laughed. And there was a note from you, but in a long envelope, which meant that there was a homing manuscript of mine. Feverishly I observed what manuscript it was: The one I sent you last spring, that vanished spring!

You said: "We are returning your story, which has proved unavailable and unnecessary, at once." My soul echoed your bold "at once." It should have been "at last." Hot words leaped to my lips. Suddenly I spoke all my feeling for you. "The utter pelican," I said. Nor do I regret my warm impulsiveness.

We once heard of a student who always entered the main door of the liberal arts and natural science buildings, but we can't remember where we heard it, nor who the student was.

We have acquired a little chemical knowledge as a protection against a wife, if we ever get one. The first time she cries we'll try this on her: "Stop crying! Your tears have no effect on us; what are they? A small percentage of phosphorus salts, a little sodium chloride. All the rest—water. Bah!"

The Ollivant Family Spend Day At the Scene of "Devil Dare"

Smuggling on the Sussex and Kentish coasts was, at its most flourishing stage, an export trade, practically all wool. When Napoleon was matching wits with Nelson in the English channel, the great days were over, but there was still a regular traffic between England and the Continent, writes Alfred Ollivant, whose picturesque smugglers, gypsies, and conspirators in his new novel, "Devil Dare" (Doubleday, Page and Company) step out of one of the most romantic and little read pages of English history.

"A HANDBOOK OF SHORT STORY WRITING"

Counsel for the Would-be Writer of Short Stories From the Editor of The Midland; John T. Frederick Writes A Concise, Helpful Handbook

Reviewed by Floy Davis

Professor John T. Frederick's "A Handbook of Short Story Writing" (Knopf) is one that is "different." It is brief; there are in all but eight short chapters. It is conversational in tone, with an undercurrent of humor that occasionally comes to the surface. The author, instead of theorizing and generalizing, has given in compact and directly fashion, the benefit of his own experience as teacher, writer, and editor. And he is concerned, not with stories that will sell, but with those that are transcripts of life.

In his own words, "If you want to write short stories primarily for money or 'fame' or God knows what else, I wish you joy of it, civilly but not too earnestly. But if you want to write because people and places are alive to you, because you have experience that demands expression, I promise that you will not be disappointed in the compensation that awaits your utmost effort. You may not immediately 'make' the Cosmopolitan or the Red Book or even the Atlantic Monthly; they will not be lacking who will tell you that I am doing all I can to keep you from it, and they may be right. But you will have a good time. You will discover that the world is a surprisingly interesting place, and that there are in it a multitude of new things."

Mr. Frederick takes up, in successive chapters, the aim and motive of short story writing, the writer's tools, those "improved and patented salt shakers with which to sprinkle the tail feathers of inspiration", themes and plans, point of view, characterization, setting, style, and beginnings and endings. The chapters are filled with suggestions drawn from the author's experience as to the meeting of the technical problems of the short story. But throughout these chapters he emphasizes the necessity of personal experience, in one form or another, of the thing written about, the ability to share the life of the characters, and to appreciate and characterize their inter-relationships and the environment in which they live.

His chapter on style, which he says may be of slight moment, and certain to meet with but limited acceptance, yet contains a definition of style which I feel justified in quoting, because if it does nothing else, it gives a clear idea of a subject about which most of us entertain on

Hallowe'en Pranks Made Campus A Lively Place in Good Old Days

Date—October 31, Time—11 p.m., Place—Iowa Avenue. Enter, a man in deep meditation. Suddenly, wham! About the man arises a cloud of what? It is white and certainly of a substance to cause a sickly choking feeling! Flour! Meditation changes to wonder, then to fury. An angry step forward, a windmill effect of arms waving. Then out of thin air, before the man arises a tree limb over which he makes an unwilling, but nevertheless remarkable swan dive, scraping his chin along the sidewalk, and removing the last vestige of his early morning shave.

"No, Hallowe'en twenty five years ago wasn't such a safe night for innocent townspeople to be out. In fact, it was quite disagreeable", said Professor Nutting, in recalling Hallowe'en in the good old days. "Students then seemed more prone to play 'kid-tricks'", he said. "It was merely typical of small college life and of a phase which they have now out-grown."

Hallowe'en twenty five years ago! How about it "old timers"—? It almost looks as though the "good old days" were changing for the better.

New Recitation Hall Makes Bow November Tenth

Two Top Floors Used Entirely for Classes

Large Fan Feature of Ventilating System

"Today, the new recitation building is practically completed; it needs only a few finishing touches," declared yesterday the superintendent in charge of constructing the chaste, puritanical recitation hall which completes the "five-spot" of the campus, as it stands to the northwest of Old Capitol building. Although not quite all the fixtures are installed in the building, it will swing its doors open to a rush of classes, about November 10th.

Finishing Touches
There is still a little marble work to be done and sweeping must be finished, but besides that only cleaning the windows remains to be done. Electric fixtures are now being attached.

The recitation hall will be one of the most complete buildings on the campus. It is finished throughout in quarter sawed oak with a marble base. French doors in the halls lead into the classrooms. The second and third floors are to be used entirely for recitation rooms. A novel feature of the new recitation building are the window frames on the stair landings at the front of the hall.

Lockers for Students
On the first and second floors are lockers for students. A large room for offices is situated on the north of the second floor. The recitation building has a sliding partition as an entrance to its library on the first floor. Large iron book racks will hold the books.

A large arch marks the entrance to the west side of the building. It is composed of Winona stone for wainscoting and railings. The stair treads and floor borders are light gray hard Tennessee marble. The ashler work, risers, base wainscoting, balustrade, and cap of stairs from basement to first floor are of cream color Mankate Travertine stone. For the corridors and steps Terrazza and Mosaic stone were used.

Ventilating System
The ventilating system is a distinguishing characteristic of the building. A large supply fan will deliver 70,000 cubic feet of air per minute. The air is purified by electricity and is equivalent to the fresh mountain air. 70,000 cubic feet of air per minute are washed by the huge air washer. Fresh air can be taken from out of doors the air may be recirculated again and purified by an electric purifier.

Two Carloads Pipe
Two car loads and a half of pipe and materials have been used in the heating and plumbing system. Steam is furnished from the power plant by high or low pressure in case of emergency. Radiators are all controlled by thermostatic air valves. A tunnel fifteen feet wide by six feet deep runs the full length of building and discharges into smaller ducts making what is called the Dunham system.

Literary Notes

ORIGIN OF SHERLOCK HOLMES

In "Memories and Adventures", his autobiography which Little, Brown & Company have just published, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle tells how he came to originate the famous Sherlock Holmes. "Gaboriau had rather attracted me by the neat dove-tailing of his plots, and Poe's masterful detective, M. Dupin, had from boyhood been one of my heroes. But could I bring an addition of my own? I thought of my old teacher, Joe Bell, of his eagle face, of his curious ways, of his eerie trick of spotting details. If he were a detective he would surely reduce this fascinating but unorganized business to something nearer to an exact science. I would try if I could get this effect. . . . What would I call the fellow? First it was Sherringford Holmes; then it was Sherlock Holmes. He could tell his own exploits, so he must have a commonplace comrade as a foil—an educated man of action who could both join in the exploits and narrate them. A drab, quiet name for this unostentatious man. Watson would do. And so I had my puppets.

DOYLE'S INCOME TAX
"Memories and Adventures" is filled with humorous little anecdotes of the author's experiences and tribulations. Of an income tax incident he says, "The first year the income tax paper arrived I filled it up to show that I was not liable. They returned the paper with the words "Most Unsatisfactory" scrawled across it. I wrote, "I entirely agree" under the words, and returned it once more. For this little bit of cheek, I was had up before the assessors, and duly appeared with my ledger under my arm. They could make nothing, however, of me or my ledger, and we parted with mutual laughter and compliments

"THE GLORY HOLE"

There are glory holes and glory holes, but the one that Stewart Edward White writes about is the small window through which one may look into the interior of a furnace. The fuel that feeds this particular furnace is Uncle Zeke's twelve million dollars. In his youth Uncle Zeke had run away. He returns fifty years later with a Paris accent, dog carts, flunkies, private secretary, elegant apparel, and imposing bank account, to select an heir from among his relatives. The effect of a sudden fortune on the typical American family in a typical small mid-western city is the theme of "The Glory Hole."

"SOME DO NOT"

Just as Joseph Conrad is taken from the contemporary scene, there begins in America the ascendancy of his collaborator, Ford Madox Ford, famous in Europe for as many years as Conrad. "Some Do Not" is a curious blend of vitriolic satire and glamorous romance, a story of a society with a hero who is much like Ford himself, a Galahad without illusions, a Rabelais with a tender quixotism.

Red and White Football Warriors Hold Davenport Gridders to Scoreless Tie Yesterday

Both Teams Lack Punch to Score Near Goal Lines

McGuire and Strickler Star for Little Hawkeyes

Iowa City high school's plucky football team held the heavy Davenport high school eleven to a scoreless tie on Shrader Field yesterday afternoon. The game was bitterly fought throughout, with the Little Hawks holding the advantage.

Both teams relied almost exclusively on line smashing to make their gains. Strickler crashed the Davenport forwards for gain after gain and McGuire and Kosa assisted him splendidly. Rath, husky half of the rivertown crew performed well for the Red and Blue. Brookhart and Kulp substituted for Campbell in the second quarter, added considerable gains in time of need.

In the final minutes of play Davenport recovered a fumble by Boyles and advanced the oval to the Red and White one yard line but failed to develop the necessary punch to carry it over after three attempts. Iowa City punted safely out of danger only to have the visitors kick out of bounds on the 4 yard line. From there the Hawk youngsters removed the oval out to the 15 yard line on line smashes.

Forward, Goldman and Dolezal opened holes in the Davenport line nicely to the advantage of the Iowa City backs. Play by play the game was as follows:

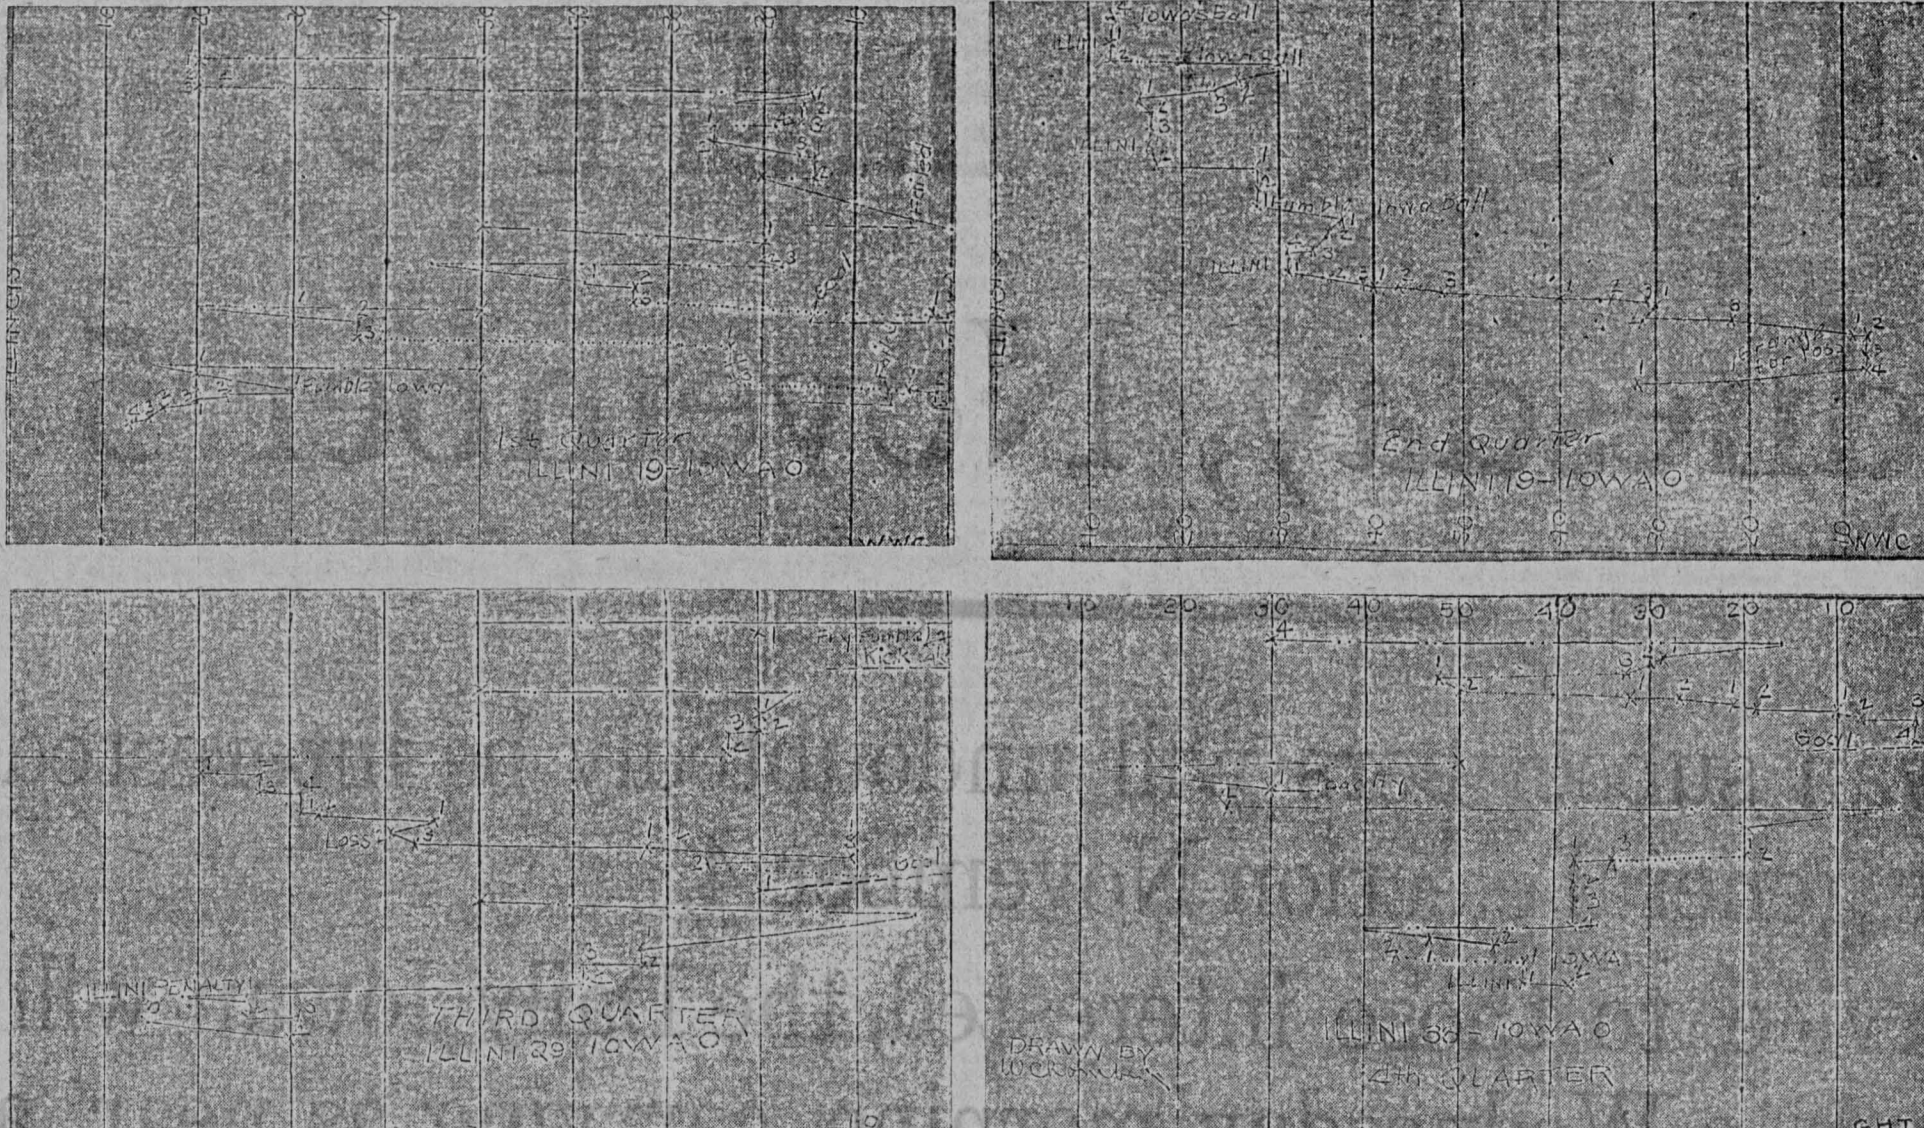

First Quarter

Davenport kicked to Strickler on the 1-yard line. Strickler returned 10 yards. The next three plays gained 3 yards for Iowa City. Kosa punted to Davenport's 40-yard line. Davenport failed to gain on 3 plays, and punted 30 yards. Iowa City's ball on the 40-yard line. Kosa made 6 yards on two line plunges. Strickler smashed the line for 6 yards. Adrian failed to gain on first play. McGuire and Strickler made eight yards through the line. Iowa City rushed steadily down the field on line plunges. Four plays netted Iowa City six yards. Kosa made no gain. Strickler hurdled the line for a two yard gain. Davenport made a desperate stand on their own 20-yard line and took the ball on downs. Davenport back made a first down on two line plunges, Iowa City held the River City men for no gain on the next play. Right end run netted Davenport 3 yards. Rath gained ten yards through the line as the quarter ended.

Second Quarter

Davenport's ball on the 50-yard line. Three plays by Davenport made 13 yards. Captain Slemmons took Reed's place at end for Iowa City. Iowa City held the Davenport team on four successive plays and took the ball on downs. Iowa City's ball on their own 20-yard line. Strickler rambled through for 16 yards. Next two plays netted Iowa City two yards. Kulp went in for Campbell of Davenport. Adrian, McGuire and Kosa carried the ball on successive plays and gained 7 yards. Strickler was injured after gaining two yards. Kosa punted, Davenport

Football Fans! Here's a Grid-Graph of Illinois Game

The Iowa has the complete graphic report by quarters of the Iowa-Illinois football game in the gigantic memorial stadium at Urbana yesterday. The straight line represents a gain from the line of scrimmage; the long dotted lines represent punts; two dots represent a gain from forward passes; dashes represent a goal from the field; the numbers represent downs when no yardage is gained.

carried the ball 14 yards on three plays. End of half, no scores.

Third Quarter

After the kickoff Davenport was forced to punt. Iowa City took the ball on their own 40 yard line. Iowa City fumbled and recovered for a loss of 15 yards. Kosa punted. Rath brought the ball back 15 yards. Davenport advanced the ball to their 40 yard line on line smashes. Davenport completed the first pass of the game for a five yard gain. The next plays were unsuccessful. Iowa City took the ball on downs. Iowa City worked a pass from the 52 yard line with Strickler doing the bulk of the ball carrying.

Fourth Quarter

Davenport carried the ball to Iowa City's 1 yard line and Iowa City took the ball on downs. Ball in the center of the field. Chance about the same. Souchek sent Boyles in at quarter for Kosa. Boyles punted. Rath came back three yards, and Kulp grabbed a pass out of mid-air for a 28 yard gain. Kulp and Tennebom gained 9 yards and Tennebom attempted two forward passes. The first was incomplete and Boyles intercepted the second and raced back to the Little Hawkeye 29 yard mark. Boyles fumbled and Davenport recovered, carrying the oval to Iowa City's 16 yard line. Kulp hit tackle for seven and Tennebom made it first down on the 9 yard line. Brook hart plunged to the one yard line but the Souchek pupils held and took the ball on downs. Boyles punted to the Iowa City 35 yard line and Tennebom signaled for a fair catch permitting Davenport to make a fair kick. Rath's punt rolled out of bounds on four yard line. Strickler burst through center for 8 yards and again for a first down. Boyles drove a yard as the game ended.

Final score Iowa City 0; Davenport 0.

Maroons Crush Purdue, 10 to 6

Avert Shutout with 40-Yard Pass for Touchdown

(By the Associated Press) Chicago, Nov. 1.—Purdue, fighting to the bitter end escaped a shut out by Chicago today when a forty yard pass, Harmson to Hogan was caught over the goal line by the latter just after the final pistol was fired. The score was 10 to 6 in favor of Chicago.

The ending was the most spectacular seen on Stag Field in years. The time keepers pistol was fired just as the ball settled into Harmson's outstretched paws on a perfect shot from Captain Claypool at center. The back waited until his end was clear then heaved the ball to the corner of the field where Hogan leaped high, pulled down the ball and fell over the line. Walle Marks, Harry Thomas, Graham Kernwein and Austin McCarty were the ground gainers for Chicago. McCarty scored twice and Thomas once on off tackle drives.

Cincinnati After Allison To Take Daubert's Place

San Francisco, Oct. 31 (AP)—Jack Hendricks, manager of the Cincinnati National league baseball club, is here today to dickeer for the services of Bert Allison, manager of the San Francisco club, who is wanted to take the place of Jake Daubert, first sacker of the Reds who died this year. George A. Putnam, secretary of the San Francisco club, was closeted with Hendricks for several hours during the day and admitted that the eastern outfit was seeking the Seals' skipper.

The Screen Epic of All Time CAPTAIN BLOOD

by RAFAEL SABATINI

A WORD FROM THE MANAGEMENT

"A few weeks ago it was my extreme pleasure to view a pre-release screening of "Captain Blood." It's a wonderful picture! Those who have read the book know the story to be the best thing Rafael Sabatini has written, and the screen presentation excels the story.

"Warren Kerrigan is greater than in "The Covered Wagon," and he has a fine supporting cast. But the sea scenes—the sea battles in color—the devastation of an entire fleet, the tremendous action throughout marks this picture as an epic. It's the kind of production every exhibitor is pleased to offer.

six yards in five passes against eight in seven tries for Iowa.

Both coaches filled their lineup with subs. Grange was taken out after playing three periods to be prepared for Illinois' game to be played in Chicago. Ingwersen replaced Parkin with Scantlebury who opened up the Hawkeye passing attack but to no avail.

Illinois scored 21 first downs to Iowa's five, and added to this advantage by making many of them consecutive. The game play by play was as follows:

First Period

Captain Rohusek of Illinois won the toss and chose to defend the south goal. Fisher kicked off to McIlwain, who caught the ball on his ten yard line and ran it back to the 15 yard line. Grange gained a yard, going around left end and McIlwain picked up a yard through left tackle.

Britton punted sixty yards to Parkin who was tackled by Hallon on the Iowa 15 yard line. Parkin went around right end for 8 yards but the ball was called back and Iowa penalized 5 yards for off side. Graham was stopped by Britton without a gain in a line plunge. Parkin also failed in a smash at the line. Graham punted out of bounds on Iowa's 25 yard line, the line partially blocking the punt. Grange tried to go around right end, but lost a foot. Grange broke through on the next play for nine yards, placing the ball on Iowa's 16 yard line. McIlwain smashed through right tackle for two yards but the ball was called back and Iowa penalized 5 yards for off side. This put the ball on Iowa's 11 yard line.

Grange smashed through right tackle for eleven yards, scoring Illinois first touchdown. Gallows blocked Britton's attempt to kick goal, making the score Illinois 6, Iowa 0.

Britton kicked off, the ball sailing over Iowa's goal posts. It was punted in play on Iowa's 29 yard line. Parkin lost two yards trying to slip around right end. Fisher picked up three yards on a dive through center. Parkin punted 35 yards to Grange who caught the ball on Iowa's 50 yard line and returned it 15 yards before he was run out of bounds. Five Iowa tacklers smashed into Grange without stopping him.

Grange broke through center for five yards placing the ball on Iowa's 32 yard line. Hancock broke through and stopped McIlwain without a gain on the next play. Grange threw a 15 yard pass to Britton, who ran 15 yards more placing the ball on Iowa's 2 yard line. Grange smashed through on the next play for his second touchdown.

Britton kicked the goal, making the score Illinois 13; Iowa 0.

Fisher kicked off for Iowa to Grange who caught the ball on the 20-yard line and returned it to Illinois 30-yard line. McIlwain gained 5 yards through right guard. Grange bumped into the Iowa line without gaining. Grange threw a 20-yard pass to Britton, who ran 15 yards before he was upset on Iowa's 28-yard line. Grange tried a long around left end and lost a yard when he was run out of bounds on Iowa's 29-yard line. Grange hit right tackle for three yards. McIntyre replaced Raffensperger and lost the ball and then was tackled before he could get the ball 9-yard line.

Britton's 27-yard pass off four yards was intercepted by Graham at left tackle, left 21-yard yard for line. Grange tried to break through Parkin's power of Iowa and time was left guard for Iowa. Grange threw a 15-yard pass to Kassel who ran six yards to Iowa's five-yard line. Mellwain smashed through center for two yards. Grange tried for a touchdown on the next play, making two yards and placing the ball about a foot from Iowa's goal. Britton smashed through center on the next play for Illinois' third touchdown. Britton missed goal, the ball hitting the upright and bounding back onto the field. The score: Illinois 19; Iowa 0.

Second Period Fisher kicked off to Hall, who caught the ball on his 8-yard line and ran it back to his 23-yard line. Mellwain fumbled going through right guard, Iowa recovering on the 30-yard line. Parkin grabbed off six yards, placing the ball on Illinois 17-yard line. Parkin ripped through center for three yards. Grange gained a yard through center. Parkin gained a yard around left tackle, placing the ball on Illinois 11-yard line, where the period ended with the score Illinois 19; Iowa 0.

Third Period Frye replaced Graham at fullback for Iowa and Graham replaced Dauber at left half. Raffensperger replaced Daniels at left guard. Muhl replaced Captain Rokusek at left end for Illinois. Britton kicked off for Illinois to Parkin who fumbled behind his own goal line and the ball rolled out to the two-yard line where Muhl recovered it. Schultz made a yard through center. Schultz put the ball two inches from the Iowa goal, but when Grange tried for a touchdown around left end, he was stopped by Otte. With the ball an Graham faked a pass, and then fumbled as he fell through the Illinois line. Mellwain recovering the ball on Illinois 14 yard line. Grange crashed through right tackle for five yards. Mellwain made one yard through right guard. He was tackled by Galloway on Illinois 20-yard line. On a fake punt, Mellwain broke through center for six yards giving Illinois first down on its 26 yard line.

Grange drove through center for a yard. Mellwain smashed through left tackle and fumbled. Dauber recovered for Iowa on Illinois 36-yard line. Schultz replaced Mellwain at right half for Illinois. Parkin went through right tackle for two yards. Graham broke through right for five yards. Parkin dove through center for a yard, placing the ball on Illinois 28-yard line. The Iowans had one yard to go to make first down. Graham failed to make the distance and Iowa lost the ball on Illinois 27-yard line. Schultz crashed through center for three yards. Grange slid off right tackle for six yards. Hall drove through center for the 39 yard line. Hall was injured on the play and time was taken out for him. He was replaced by Galloway. Schultz smashed through right tackle for three yards.

Grange shot through right tackle for six yards, placing the ball on Illinois 49 yard line. Schultz picked off two yards through center, giving Illinois first down on Iowa's 49 yard line. Schultz made six yards through center and was run out of bounds on Iowa's 44 yard line. Schultz jammed through right tackle for four yards. Grange went through right tackle for four yards giving Illinois first down on Iowa's 37 yard line.

Grange, skirting left end, gained six yards before he was run out of bounds on Iowa's 31-yard line. Galloway picked up three yards off left tackle. McIntyre, the Iowa left guard, was injured on the play and was carried off the field. Daniels replaced McIntyre. Grange cut through right tackle for 8 yards. It was another first down on Iowa's 19 yard line. Schultz smashed through center for a yard. Grange cut back through right tackle for five yards, placing the ball on Iowa's 13-yard line. Galloway added three yards. Grange attempted a pass but was tackled by Galloway before he could throw the ball and lost four yards, the ball going to Iowa on their 22 yard line.

Fourth Period Grange was taken out of the game at the start of the fourth period and replaced by Green at left half. Wilson replaced Brown at left tackle for Illinois. Britton kicked 60 yards to Parkin who returned 13 yards to the Iowa 28 yard line. Frye smashed left guard for two yards. Parkin made a yard off left tackle. Dauber replaced Frye at left half for Iowa. Graham punted 25 yards to Iowa's 46 yard line. Green hit right tackle for five yards. Galloway swept around left end for seven yards, placing the ball on Iowa's 33 yard line. Green hit right tackle for 8 yards. Galloway broke through tackle for four yards giving Illinois first down on Iowa's 21 yard line.

Galloway caught Grange before he could get started on an off tackle play, but Grange managed to pick up a yard. Schultz hit center without gaining. Grange crashed through right tackle for eight yards.

Green hit left tackle for four yards. Galloway smashed through right tackle for seven yards, placing the ball on Iowa's 11 yard line. Green crashed through center for 2 yards. Shively replaced Slimmer at left guard for Illinois. Galloway dove through center for seven yards placing the ball on Iowa's one yard line. Griffin threw Green for a yard loss on the next play.

Galloway crashed through right tackle for a touch down. Britton kicked goal making score, Illinois 36; Iowa 0. Carr replaced Kassel at right end for Illinois. Umrus replaced Roberts at center for Illinois. Fisher kicked off to Purdunn who returned it to Illinois' 33 yard line. Purdunn carried the ball on the next play but it was called back and Iowa penalized five yards for off side.

making an Illinois first down on its own 44-yard line. Galloway was thrown for a three yard loss trying a criss-cross. Grange gained six yards through right guard. Voters Urged to Use Machines

Device Facilitates Conduction of Election; County Auditor Explains Use of Ballot

Voters of Iowa City will be given the opportunity of voting either by ballot or by machine Tuesday.

Ballots will, however, be on hand for any voter who prefers them.

In voting a straight ticket all that is necessary is the placing of a cross in the proper party circle.

Use Machines To the uninitiated, the use of the voting machines is more complicated.

How to Vote a Straight Ticket Having closed the curtain, pull the party lever bearing the name of your party over to the right until the bell rings.

How to Vote a Split Ticket Having closed the curtain, pull the party lever bearing the name of your party over to the right until the bell rings.

Dan Cupid Beats Devil of Divorce: Score 14 to 1

Dan Cupid smiled benignly on the Johnson county recorder yesterday afternoon as he heaved the fourteenth marriage license record book on the dusty shelves with the rest of the musky books that lie untouched in the county's vaults.

Dan chuckled again and again as he thought of the 1,986 couples that were struck by his arrows and married in Johnson county since April 21, 1890.

His cherubian countenance assumed a graver look when he brushed the dust off one of the books on the shelves and saw the words "divorces granted" printed on the cover.

Humor and Pep Feature DeMolay Show Next Week

Eighty-two Roles in Four-Part Play Of Pep

Rolling humor, catchy songs, and clever dances feature the DeMolay show.

The show is staged under the direction of the John B. Rogers producing company, and is presented in four parts.

In the minstrel part are: Interlocutor, Harry G. Barnes; principal comedians, John Beck and Dick Davis; minor ends, Tom Cox and Walter Long.

Golf Gets Prominence. "A Day at the Links", the golf number, includes Helen Moffet and Albert Tanswell, principals; golf girls: Lucille Nelson, Orpha Schuppert, Ruth McGovney, Constance Herndon, Martha Mumm, Ruth Bywater, Faye Garner, and Elva Beckley.

Then to Cannibals. The soloist for the "Pop Pop Girls" is Marian Ansel and the chorus includes: Eleanor Waldschmidt, Cyrella Fahay, Jeanette Selby, Zella Hanna, Wilhelmina Grimm, Shirley Kinney, Genevieve Mincks, Helen Springer, Helen Yepsen, and Myra Willsey.

Chemistry Booster Is Slated to Speak

Represents $1,000 Essay Foundation Endowed by Garvan

"Chemistry for everybody" is the slogan of Alexander Williams, who will speak to Chamber of Commerce members at their noon luncheon Monday.

Mr. Francis P. Garvan was appointed alien property custodian of the foundation after A. Mitchell Palmer retired.

Mr. Garvan became intensely interested in chemistry while managing the German dye patents, taken over by the government at the beginning of the World war, and letting them out to private manufacturers in this country.

A $1000 prize is awarded in the Garvan Prize Contest each year for the best essay on a chemical subject.

Mr. Williams is expected to speak briefly to the city high school on Monday.

Democrats Hold Final Rally at Cloud School

Local democrats held their last pre-election rally last night at the Cloud school in Monroe township.

Major Parties Finish Drive

A small campaign rally by the democrats last night in Monroe township concluded the campaign activities of the two major parties in Johnson county.

A review of the campaign establishes superiority of the organization of the democratic party in this county.

Democratic speeches have been characterized, for the most part, by criticism in various forms of their republican opponents.

Letts-Thompson Race Close. Democratic speakers have taken pains to stress the fact that Judge F. D. Letts of Davenport is violating the Iowa constitution by running for office and maintaining his office as district judge.

Old Timers Hark Back To Football Days of '95

From Illinois back to Ames, Urbana to Iowa City, a stadium for 66,000 people to a field with a rope around it, 1925 to 1895!

Back in the 90's, athletic activity was strictly a student proposition. No faculty committee met in mysterious councils to select a football coach.

Dean Teeters Prizes Check Fifty cents for a ticket to a game sounds cheap enough in these 32 days but Dean Teeters prizes a check that he gave for two admissions, a one dollar check that came back uncashed because his first month's pay check hadn't gotten in.

And Football Changes Now intercollegiate football is an institution, a great system that had to begin somewhere, that evolved slowly and often painfully, painfully to the man who cast himself into the mass of feet and arms and legs, the rush and the crush that went with the flying wedge, the first and five system that pushed back and forth in the giant prize ring walled by a single rope.

Variety Ruled A coach for more than a few weeks was unthought of, and, at the time of the game with Ames, the man who happened to be professor of military tactics was serving as coach in his spare time.

Taxi War in Full Blast; Murphy Files Two Suits

Trouble Starts When Rock Island Lines Allot Cab Stations at Wright Street Station; Protests Also Filed

Suit was brought in district court yesterday before Judge R. G. Popham by C. A. Murphy, operating under the name and style of C. A. Murphy Taxi Line, through his attorneys, Wilson and Evans, against Vernon Oxley, also a local taxi-operator, who is represented in court by C. B. Russell and Ray Yenter.

This litigation is the culmination of an attempt of the Rock Island Railway Lines to allot certain stands near the Iowa City Rock Island Depot to taxicabs.

Murphy has brought suit to enjoin Oxley from using territory allotted to the Murphy Taxi Line. Oxley bases his case upon the contention that the railway company's allotment of space was illegal because the territory concerned, which is upon Wright street, lies on a public thoroughfare.

A similar suit has been filed by Murphy against Lloyd Strickler, operator of the Checker Cab Company. Wilson and Evans represent Murphy; C. B. Russell and Ray Yenter will appear for the defendants.
