Six Soloists Take Part in "Messiah"

Chorus to Sing Famous Songs at Vesper Service

The soloists for "The Messiah" which will be presented at the Christmas vesper service Sunday are: Esther Dyke, A3 of Iowa City soprano, Mrs. Mildred Blaujous Paddock, contralto, Eleanor Chambers, A4 of Corwith, contralto, Wesley Drummond, A3 of Spirit Lake, tenor, Marlin Lerch, A1 of Davenport, tenor, and Eric Erickson, G of Iowa City, baritone.

The chorus is loved because of the traditions and memories associated with it. It is customary to rise during the singing of the chorus.

Psychology Head Once Student Here

Miles Former Research Fellow at Iowa In 1913

Prof. Walter R. Miles, who will lecture on "Some Present Day Psychologists Who Have Contributed to Psychology" in the small auditorium of the new chemistry building at 9 o'clock this afternoon, was a research fellow at the University from 1910 to 1913 and received his A.M. and Ph.D. degrees here during that time. He came here from Penn College, at Oskaloosa, Iowa where he held the position of professor of psychology and education.

At present professor of psychology at Leland Stanford University, Dr. Miles is conducting research on metabolism and nutrition along much the same lines as is Dr. Francis G. Benedict, who lectured here a short time ago. He is also experimenting on pitch singing, sensory thresholds, and the psychological effect of alcohol. Before his entrance into Leland Stanford University he acted as research psychologist at the nutrition laboratory of the Carnegie Institute.

Notre Dame is Only "11" to Place More Than One on All-Star Team

After a great shuffling of names in which stars from every eleven in the country have been given consideration, the Iowan comes forth with the best all-American which has gone to the press this year. Coach Knute Rockne's Notre Dame eleven is the only team to win two places. Harry Stuhldreher, one of the greatest quarterbacks in years, is made captain of the mythical eleven. Crowley is the other Notre Dame man to win a place.

Lowell Otte, star Hawkeye end, is given a place on the first team, with the versatile Wakefield of Vanderbilt at the other wing. Both men were unanimous selections in their section of the country and are great wingmen.

McGinley of Pennsylvania and Weir of Nebraska win the tackle posts. The big Weir is a great fighter and played brilliantly in every game this year. McGinley is a great tackle, and was one of the few men who were unanimously chosen on all-eastern elevens. Garbisch of the Army and Abramson of Minnesota are at the guards. Garbisch, although a center had to be shifted to guard to make way for the brilliant Lovelace of Yale at the pivot position.

New Law Bulletin Will Appear Soon

Article on Iowa Code Of Interest to Lawyers

"The Iowa Law Bulletin," which will appear soon, contains several interesting features. The article which will be of most interest to followers of the law profession is the discussion of the new Iowa Code, containing notes and articles. This is of extreme importance and interest, because of the fact that the state of Iowa has had no written code for 25 years. This article also includes a review and a discussion of the new rules of the Supreme Court of Iowa, adopted to accompany the Code. It also contains a brief explanation of the new index.

There are two other leading articles and several minor discussions and comments on recent cases. The first of the leading articles deals with the liability of county officials in Iowa for injuries arising from bridge accidents. It traces historically the origin and evolution of the rule in this state that the county is liable for the negligence of its officers in such cases, and concludes with a consideration of recent decisions of the Iowa Supreme Court which overruled the former doctrine, after it had existed for over a half century.

Commerce Department Drops Plan of Radio Conference

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12, (AP)—Reallocation of wave lengths to radio broadcasting stations as recommended by the recent national radio conference to the secretary of commerce has been abandoned by the commerce department.

The plan which was devised a short time ago has already been rendered obsolete by the increasing number of broadcasting stations and the demand for wave length assignments the department said today.

PAY TRIBUTE TO BELMONT

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—Subway trains throughout Greater New York halted for one minute at 4 o'clock this afternoon while funeral services for August Belmont, "father of the city's subways" were being held in the Cathedral of St. John, the Divine.

Attention Radio Fans! Earn University Credit by Air

Radio addicts will be given a chance to gain a little of the higher learning in the pursuit of their hobby, and school marks a chance to brush up a bit, when the University starts a sort of aerial correspondence school, the second semester. Enclosed in the next extension division service bulletin will be an announcement of radio courses. The University will take its place with the Universities of Nebraska and Pittsburg in offering instructions on the waves of the air. It is expected especially to benefit the teacher who has been in the school service and in college intermittently for the past twenty-five years, trying to earn a degree. Two lectures a week of fifteen minutes each is not a difficult means of receiving two hours of university credit, and one week's time credit.

Postal Rate Raise Has Cal's Support

Increase in Postage To Add to Pay of Employees

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—Legislation proposing increased postage rates on practically all classes of mail except the letter mail to take care of pay advances for postal employees is expected to have an active administration support as a result of a White House conference today between President Coolidge and a dozen republican senators.

The conference was called by the executive after the blocking in the senate yesterday of efforts to postpone action on the president's veto of the postal pay bill, passed at the last session.

Hospital Houses Seven Students

Seven students are ill in the University hospital at the present time. This list is composed of Richard Leffler, A1 of Ainsworth, Lowell Peterson, M2 of Laurens, Joy Brownlee, A3 of Pomeroy, Evelyn Crane, A3 of Holstein, Ernest Weiskreher, A4 of Iowa City, Harold Graber, M4 of Stockport, and Mildred Patschke, A1 of Marion.

Yuletide Spirit In Evidence at Cotillion Party

The spirit of Christmas in the form of sparkling Christmas trees, enhanced by overhanging masses of green, tastily trimmed with red streamers and long icicles, featured the Sophomore Cotillion in the men's gym last night. Wells and his band rendered the necessary strains while the 300 couples shuffled about the dimly lighted hall. Most of the gowns in evidence were brought out from last year's wardrobe, the owners ostensibly hesitating in order to ascertain just what the prevailing fashions were before purchasing the new evening frocks. A few, three perhaps, dared venture on the floor wearing gowns of white; these evidently having read the fashion magazine to learn what was being worn this season.

Shake Mortimer's Charges of Graft On Witness Stand

Testimony of Forbes Trip Admitted to Be in Error

Testimony Alteration Has Bearing on Conspiracy

(By the Associated Press) CHICAGO, Dec. 12—Elias H. Mortimer's story of graft, corruption, waste and collusion in the veterans bureau during Charles R. Forbes' term as director, was modified in important detail today from the witness stand in federal court.

Completing their five day cross-examination of Mortimer in the trial of Forbes and J. W. Thompson, contractor for conspiracy to defraud the government, defense counsel drew from the witness the admission that his entire testimony before the senate committee last year in relation to a trip with Forbes to Atlantic City, N. J., in March 1922, was in error.

He made no such trip, he testified but repeated testimony concerning a trip to the same city with Forbes in May and June of the same year. James S. Easley Smith, counsel for Forbes, asserted the repudiation of the senate testimony concerning the March trip will have an important bearing on the entire story told by Mortimer about his regulations with Forbes.

The fabric of Mortimer's story in the light of the report of the March trip leaves the sequence of events in an order indicating that Forbes was approached in the matter of profit splitting after Mortimer had arranged all details of the plan with the contractors, the defense declares. The previous sequence brought Forbes into all the preliminary conversations and nothing up to the alleged agreement.

The alteration of the testimony is viewed by the defense as bearing directly on the question of the conspiracy between Thompson and Forbes, the charge on which the trial is based.

Law Classes Hear Faville Next Week

Will Speak on Ethics And Procedure in English Courts

Judge Frederick F. Faville of the Iowa Supreme Court, will deliver a series of seven lectures at the University of Iowa Law College in the coming week. This year will be the fourth consecutive year that Judge Faville has lectured to the law students of this University.

The subject of the first six lectures will be "Legal Ethics and Procedure in the English Courts," while his seventh, to be delivered at 7:15 p. m. Wednesday, Dec. 1, in the Law Library, will be based on what he saw and learned in England last summer, when he was asked on two occasions to sit with the judges on the Court of Kings bench and the Court of Appeal.

Dean Henry C. Jones, believes that Justice Faville's lectures Wednesday evening will be of decided interest to students expecting to enter law in the future, and he extends an invitation to everyone interested to attend.

Maulsby Radios Talk on Dailies

Claims Morning Paper Better Seller Than Evening Paper

"Is there something in the Iowa night air—so helpful to the tall corn—that aids an evening paper, and hinders a morning paper? What is the difference between a morning and evening newspaper?" Prof. William S. Maulsby, of the school of journalism, answered that question in his lecture entitled "Morning and Evening Newspapers," which was broadcast from WHAA, the University station, yesterday noon.

Professor Maulsby said that although the evening papers of the United States outnumbered the morning papers four to one, 1610 to 426, they have not quite twice as large a circulation as the morning dailies, which in round numbers is approximately 20,000,000 to 11,500,000 daily copies.

6 World Powers Form Opium Trafficking

IM-K Speakers Put New Life in Punishment Topic

Announce Results of Audience's Vote Tomorrow

"Split-team" debate scored a decided success in the Iowa-Kansas contest held last evening before a large audience in the liberal arts assembly hall. The votes of the audience are being counted and the result will be announced tomorrow. The question was "Resolved, that capital punishment is a good public policy."

Humor, logic and statistics vied for supremacy in the speeches, which were generally consistent and kept debate fans as well as attendant speech-classters thoroughly interested for over an hour.

Highlights from the speeches follow: "No wrongly convicted prisoner can be paroled from his grave that the discovered malefactor may take his place."—Dorothy Chapman of Iowa, for the negative.

"Eight of the United States within the past ten years have abolished capital punishment and found it necessary later to be restored."—Ferris E. Hurd of Iowa, for the affirmative.

"Forty persons were caught picking the pockets of an English crowd whose eyes were raised to the 'crime deterring' sight of a pick-pocket swinging from the gallows for his crime!"—William Kahrs of Kansas, for the negative, who also remarked drily, "There's little chance to reform a dead man!"

"We are the most lawless nation on the face of the earth. Nearly ten thousand murders occur in the United States each year, and New York and Chicago average one murder apiece every 24 hours."—Richard Shankland of Kansas, for the affirmative.

Botanist Tells of Famous Parks

Interesting Account of Tourist Life Given

"Everyone who goes to Yellowstone wants to go back," asserted Miss Isabel Nauerth, graduate in botany here in 1921, who talked on "National Parks" before the Botany club yesterday.

Miss Nauerth took her audience on a trip through Glacier and Yellowstone national parks, with a knowledge of the journey due to the summers she has spent as a nature guide.

Her duties at Glacier were to conduct the "guides," as all tourists are called, on trips through the pine forests. "Most people are surprisingly good walkers when they make up their minds to it," said Miss Nauerth, and the Canadians and English, who come to Glacier in great numbers, are the best hikers of all."

Yellowstone has a unique camp service which includes the furnishing of camping places, meals, and entertainment for the tourists. The work in these camps is all done by college people who go out there for recreation.

"The spirit of good fellowship and the democratic attitude among these people is really remarkable," said Miss Nauerth. "They are all college students and on one plane."

Miss Nauerth will give further information about the work to all those who are interested in getting in the park service at the office of Dr. Wylie in the old science building at 10 o'clock this morning.

Porter Hopes to Air U. S. Views

Declares Organization Of Group Step Backward Since 1912

(By the Associated Press) GENEVA, Dec. 12—A prepared opium group, consisting of six of the most powerful nations of the world, has been formed in consequence of a campaign by the first opium conference," declared Representative Stephen G. Porter, of the United States, in presenting chapter I. I. of the American proposals to the International Opium conference plenary session today.

Chapter I. I. provides for agreements establishing almost complete government monopoly on importation, sale and distribution of opium.

"I regard the organization of this group," Representative Porter said, "as a decided step backward in our endeavor to suppress the opium traffic and by reason of the agreement, the world is further from the goal than in 1912, when the nations agreed that the use of prepared opium should be permitted only temporarily and decided upon preventative measures for its effective suppression."

Representative Porter was sharply opposed, at least as regards the procedure he intends to employ by Holland, Great Britain, Japan, Portugal, France, Japan and India, only Uruguay, Brazil and China coming to his support at today's session.

Nevertheless, he is confident that a way will be found to permit the American viewpoint to be aired in the conference.

Four additional speakers will explain their attitude toward the American proposal, when the conference meets tomorrow.

The Daily Iowan

OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1924.

NIGHT EDITOR
C. C. Smith

Library Day

THE 1924 bulletin of the university libraries gives some valuable suggestions for the use of the advantages and privileges here furnished students.

1. Take time regularly each week to read books on some subjects entirely outside of your regular work.

2. Make the acquaintance of some of the standard magazines which you have never read before.

3. Watch the books which are placed on the new book shelf and also choose for home reading books from the special cases in the general reading room which are kept filled with interesting titles.

4. Throughout your university course learn to use books as tools and as sources of information. Such knowledge will always be of value in countless ways.

5. Learn to know books as friends. Experience the sheer joy of reading and the inspiration that comes from intimate contact with the great minds of all ages.

The suggestions are admirable. It goes without saying that a great advancement in the cultural attainment of the average student would be realized if each one were able to successfully follow out even the first admonition. But it is sad truth that university students do not read beyond the required reference for class work. It is a popular opinion that only the elect read more than twelve books from pure choice during the four years of their college terms. Are students mental sluggards?

"Many students think of the libraries only as study halls or as places to do required reading," the bulletin continues. "Others, especially those busy in the professional schools, rarely enter the general library during their university careers. These students are overlooking a fine opportunity to extend their interests and broaden their lives."

Probably there are many students who have thought of the libraries only as study halls and as places to do required reading—and who will say they are not happier because of it? For it is a grievous thing to think of all the hidden treasures the book-shelves hold, when there are some fourteen prepared recitations to make a week with a minimum of a half dozen hours of laboratory work. And for many there is outside work tacked on. Afterwards campus activities clamor for attention, and there is a lecture or a play or a concert or a dinner or a dance.

There are plenty who "watch the books that are placed on the new book shelf" with a longing that is pure pain, and who struggle against the weakness for taking out books which would tempt them daily away from notebooks and texts. Will not some exponent of humanitarianism arise in the convention of the association of college presidents and move the monthly observance of "Library Day?" It would be a day when all regular work would be taboo, and the great minds of all ages would be "at home" to guests.

Experience Unnecessary

THE phrase "Experience Unnecessary" has brought more sorrow to innocent job seekers, searching for easy money, than any other phrase which has ever been used to bring the gold fish into the net.

It is a consistent snare, which is uniformly successful in dragging the unwary into something which looks rosy but fades out. It has been used for ages, and still is a successful hook.

Man learns very slowly from the experience of others. His memory is dull. Generation after generation succumb to the same extravagances and the same follies. Today we have confidence men; gold bricks are still sold; fake stock salesmen flourish, oil promoters drive Cadillacs; medical quacks summer at Newport; and the names of Ponzi and Koretz are magic.

The terrific plunger and the hard worker in any field of work often come so suddenly to success that the mind of the average man is dazzled by the glamour of the success and misses the background of hard work. So the two words "Experience Unnecessary" seem plausible enough—and another sucker goes down.

Why not cut down the naval appropriation and establish a cross-word puzzle secretary in the cabinet?

Suggested study for advance thesis: How many people are killed each year in attempting to drag a loaded gun after them through a fence? And why?

Women to Direct Physical Training Conference Today

Mass Athletics and Posture Will Be Discussed

The women's department of the first annual state conference on Physical Education which is being held in the Old Capital at this time, will have charge of the program for today. This conference opened on Thursday, and will close with the Wabash-Iowa basket ball game at the armory this evening.

The opening day was taken up principally with addresses of welcome and discussions of organization. In the evening, a mixer was given by the department of physical education for the purpose of suggesting to those who were present various kinds of entertainment suitable for use at high school parties.

A round table discussion was held yesterday morning, and a luncheon at noon was held for the members attending this conference. Program and problems of physical education, in high schools and colleges were the basis for the discussion in the afternoon and evening.

To-day, the meetings will be held in the women's gymnasium instead of the Old Capitol building where previous discussions have been held. Mass athletics for girls will be discussed by Charlotte MacDougall, of the physical education department of this university. Rachel Sickman also of the University of Iowa, will have charge of the discussion of posture training. A conference section for men will be held at the same time in the men's gymnasium and will be under the direction of the Physical Education department for men, at the University of Iowa.

Janse Out as Hawkeye Basketeers Crash Cage Lid in Wabash Game Tonight

Canned Heat

By Kennett Swenson

At last the Daily Iowan comes forth with an All-American. We have been waiting for this startling exposure with abated breath, so to speak. But then it takes time to look over the other selections and to pick out a team from them.

We might pick an All-American if we dared, but since we didn't see every player in the country and haven't time to look over the 1,922 other All-American selections, we won't.

If all the time that is wasted by sport scribes in picking all-star teams was applied to the more useful task of digging ditches it would be an awfully big ditch.

After looking over the All-Conference teams we have decided that Albon Holden has picked the best possible combination. He places Hancock, Parkin, and Otte on his first team.

Again the White Sox have a new manager. We hope that Eddie Collins will last the season out. But the player-managers seem to be making good, especially the second basemen. Look what Stanley Harris did with the Senators.

For the benefit of the visiting "Wake," this column is misconducted by W. Kennett Swenson. No help needed.

Bogue doesn't look good to us, but we have never seen anything of him but the name. We couldn't put him on an All-American because we think every All-American should be set forth only when flanked with eleven pictures.

Being president is getting to be a paying proposition. Someone picked up a dime Coolidge dropped and returned it instead of adding it to his own treasury.

Nebraska has a hard time getting into the Big Ten. People like to think about Big Ten leaders, cleaning up on Valley teams, but if it happened to be a case of the Cornhuskers and one of the weaker of the ten, the ambulances might be running in the other direction.

An eastern paper says that half of the students at Northeastern university, where ever that is, that could not swim in September can now navigate the entire length of a Y. M. C. A. pool on Huntington avenue. In these cool days, we'd think a pool on the avenue would be full of liquid ice than of swimmers.

Smith Likely to Start at Forward On Hawkeye Five

The Hawkeye basketball team will swing into action tonight in the opening game of the season with the Wabash college quintet of Crawfordsville, Indiana as the opposition.

The hopes of the Old Gold were slightly dampened when it was learned that Captain Hector Janse has been troubled by a recurrence of his recent illness and that a high fever has weakened him to such an extent that Doctor Plesler may decide to keep him on the side-lines.

The probable line-up of the Iowa team will be Laude and Paul E. Smith at forwards; Raffensperger at center and McConnell and Van Deusen at guards.

Coach Barry declared he will be satisfied if his men come through with the long end of the score. Wabash will come to Iowa City direct from Madison, where they met the Badgers last night. With two games to their credit, the Indiana crew has a slight edge over the Iowa aggregation. The Wabash lineup will probably be Captain Chadwick at center, Robinson and De Vol, forwards, and Cowan and Coffel, guards.

N. E. Kearns of De Paul will referee, and H. V. Millard of Illinois Wesleyan will umpire tonight's game which is called at 7:35. High school principals and physical education teachers are expected to be in attendance at the game following the close of the conference on physical education.

Tennis Association to Solve Tyro Row of Player-Writers

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—Solution of the player-writer issue, which has agitated tennis circles for the past year, is expected to result tomorrow from the action of the legislative committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association.

William G. Tilden, national champion and the most conspicuous of player-writers, came into conflict with the U.S.L.T.A. last season.

Watson, Carroll to Get Frosh Awards

Awarded annually to the freshman having the highest scholastic and athletic standing in football, basketball, baseball or track, two silver cups won last spring by L. F. Carroll of Dayton, and M. C. Watson, of Irvington will be presented to the men between halves of the Minnesota-Iowa basketball game at the new armory, January 5, 1925.

It is probable that "I" blankets purchased from the proceeds of the "I" blanket Hop will be given to the football letter winners at this time also.

SUE ON BRIDGES

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Wickham Bridge & Pipe company today went into court in its effort to collect for eight bridges, built for the county.

Hey, Bogue, and Nevers are the Stanford hopes against Notre Dame. And they are all fullbacks, a sort of trimvirate to match Layden. It's hard to tell whether Hey or Hay or Whoa would be most effective. Hey doesn't expect to stop the horse-men anyway. He's one of those defenseless fullbacks like Chicago puts out.

(By the Associated Press) NEW YORK, Dec. 12 — Charles Paddock, famous California sprinter who won the 1924 national championship, and Loren Murchison of Newark, 1923 national champion, will make a seven-months' tour of the world next year, giving exhibitions and appearing in various national competitions.

Then plan to sail from the Pacific coast in January, stopping in Honolulu, then going to New Zealand, Australia, Japan, and continuing to Europe where they will appear in Germany and Sweden among other countries.

The athletes plan to return to the United States early in August in time for the national championships at San Francisco.

To Sound Big Ten Officials On Rotating Grid Schedules

CHICAGO, Dec. 12 (AP)—A round robin discussion of changing Big Ten football schedules, was launched today at a meeting of representatives of Chicago alumni of eight of the Big Ten universities. A rotating schedule was suggested, whereby schedule mentors would be required to arrange games with each of the Big Ten eleven once in each two years or possibly each three years. A questionnaire was decided upon for circulation among the alumni groups.

St. Pat's Smother St. Mary's Five by 33 to 13 Tune

The fast St. Patrick's team triumphed over the St. Mary's quintet last night in a thrilling battle, 33 to 13. The game was harder fought than the score indicates, but the superior teamwork of the Irish was too much for their opponents.

The St. Mary's men battled hard but they could not penetrate the five man defense of St. Pat's, consistently, although they sank some pretty shots from a distance. Bauer and Bock, St. Mary's forwards, bore the brunt of the attack for their team, getting most of the points and doing some fine work on the defense.

Malone and Clark of St. Pat's garnered most of the counters for their team, but the entire five showed a keen eye for the basket, each one of the regulars getting at least one marker.

Captain Malone of St. Pat's was high scorer with fifteen points, sinking six baskets, and three foul throws. Clark, his teammate, was next with four field goals.

Councilmen Approve Zoning; Expect Popular Endorsement in Ten Years

With One Exception, Aldermen Recognize Necessity of Housing Law

Unofficial approval of a zoning law for Iowa City has been expressed by a majority of the city councilmen. With the exception of H. C. Smith, who has refused to make any comment, all have declared themselves favorably disposed toward zoning.

Mr. Smith, when asked yesterday to state views said, "I do not care to express any opinion at the present time nor do I think any of the other aldermen should."

M. O. Roland, in discussing the situation said, "I haven't gone into the matter very deeply as yet, so I am open to conviction, I do believe, however, that Iowa City needs a housing law."

"I am in favor of a zoning law," said A. V. Sidwell. He granted that a zoning ordinance might appear to be a hardship on some property owners for a short time, but added, "I believe that in ten years such a law would be approved by practically everyone."

W. J. Hayek expressed his approval of zoning in general. He said "I think a zoning ordinance is a good thing, but Iowa City is so peculiarly situated that any ordinance drawn up should be made to fit the city; we should not make the city to fit the ordinance."

Endorsement of zoning was given in earlier interviews by the three remaining aldermen, B. V. Bridenstien, Dr. J. P. Mullin, and F. H. Randall.

Action of Council Accepts Addition of Brooklyn Park

Delay in Filing Claim May Mean Loss for Concrete Firm

Resolution Passed to Accept Deed for Needed Land

Brooklyn Park addition was added to Iowa City last night when the council passed a resolution accepting the deed which conveys the necessary land to the city.

A claim of $5696.17 was received from the Zedler Concrete Co. against Ryan and Fuller for concrete sewer pipe used in the construction of the west side sewer. The city attorney was instructed to notify the attorney for the claimants and they were too late in filing their claim.

The remainder of the meeting was concerned with routine business. A petition for a street light at the corner of Ferson Avenue and Grove street was referred to the light committee.

Notice was received by the council of an increase in the phone rate of telephones in use by the city. The former commission rate will be abolished. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

A petition was received from V. J. Moravec asking permission to build a portion of his cistern under Malden Lane. The petition will be considered.

U. Hi Play Scores Decided Success

"Three of Us" Given At High School Auditorium

"The Three of Us," meaning the three MacChesney's, was put on last night by the junior class of the University high in the auditorium of the Iowa City high school. The financial success of the play is largely due to Helen Hurt, who had charge of the ticket sales.

"The Three of Us" is a play in which there is opportunity for character work. This was very successfully demonstrated by Charles Stenmons as "Sonnie MacChesney" and Viola Stevens as "Maggie." Undoubtedly a large part of the success of "Maggie's" character can be attributed to her makeup, especially her headdress, which was a typical "Maggie" coiffure.

Santa Fears Shortage Due To Heavy Drain by Co-eds

"Is there anything left for me, Santa?" asked a fat little boy with a double look in his eye as he approached Santa yesterday.

"Yes, there will be if these college girls don't ask me for too many pairs of silk hose or too many diamond rings."

"Aw shucks! Christmas ain't for big folks anyway!" Santa Claus laughed a merry laugh which shook his stomach like the proverbial "bowl full of jelly" and replied to the dejected retreating figure, "well I guess they have to have their share too."
