Journalists Will Give All-University PicaBall Tonight

Bohemian Atmosphere To Prevail at Dance

Feature Number and Dim Lights the Attractions

This morning is the eclipse of the Sun; tonight comes the Pica Ball. At nine o'clock the first all-University party sponsored by the associated students of journalism will be held in the men's gym.

The spectacular row, just one flight above the Bohemian garret is an excellent place to view the dancers, listen to the harmonious melodies, and watch the special features of the dance. The shell will be open tonight to all holders of two bit tickets.

Bulletin. Seventeen guiny sacks will be used as material for tablecloths. In addition, fifty bales of straw will be utilized in decoration and in securing a Bohemian atmosphere. Lanterns for ceiling lights will no doubt create a fetching effect, and will harmonize with the hand-painted sidewalls.

Wayne Tiss and his ten artists are ready to step forth in their special costumes to furnish inspiration for flea hopping or the like.

A few tickets remain at Whetstone's and Iowa Supply for the early comers. Programs may also be secured there.

No fancy dress, or costume, are needed for the PicaBall will be informal.

Epidemic of Flu Sweeping Tokio

727 Deaths Reported in Last Twenty Days

TOKIO, Japan, Jan. 23 (AP)—There have been 727 deaths in the past 20 days in Tokio from contagious influenza according to an official report. An erroneous statement published yesterday said the dead had numbered 4,700.

The alarming increase in the death rate from this disease is attributed by officials to the continued drought, and high winds scattering the dust from the area burned after the great earthquake of September 1923.

Myers Discusses New Methods of Blood Examination

Tests Highly Significant Part in Treatment of Diabetes

New methods of blood examination in patients suffering from diabetes, nephritis, or gout were discussed by Dr. V. C. Myers, professor of bio-chemistry, in his lecture on "The Value of Chemical Blood Examination" last night.

He said that these new tests made it possible to detect excess sugar in the blood even if no outward signs could be observed.

Dr. Myers gave a brief outline of the history of the new methods of blood examination, the developments of which are largely due to Folin, Benedict, and Van Slyke.

He stressed the importance of these new blood tests to physicians and surgeons before diagnosing cases pointing out several instances in which probably fatal operations were avoided through their use.

Cerny Arraigned for Refusal To Answer Census Questions

Charles Cerny was arraigned in Justice B. F. Carter's court Thursday afternoon under charges of refusing to answer questions asked him by a census official. Cerny's defense was that he believed the official to be outside his jurisdiction. He also said that he and his wife had been troubled considerably with strangers visits to his house in the past. He was released.

'No Hard-Hearted Loan Scheme,' Borah

"The United States has displayed none of the qualities of an exacting creditor," said Senator William Borah of Idaho to the Senate Wednesday in his capacity of chairman of foreign relations committee. "I undertake to say that the settlement with Great Britain is the most generous proposition for settlement of international debt that can be found anywhere in history."

Register January 28 to 31, Dorcas

Directions for Every College Given Below

General procedure for the second semester registration at the University is divided into three stages. First, securing of registration materials at the registrar's office; second, filling out of the registration blanks (which must be completed before commencing the final stage explained below.)

Registration for the colleges of liberal arts, education, commerce, and the graduate college takes place Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, January 28, 29, 30, and 31. H. C. Dorcas, University registrar, says every student should have tuition money ready.

He gives these directions for registering:

Directions
 "Students must first secure a tuition card in University hall. Enter southeast entrance, down half flight, turn to the right, and then north along the corridor. Fees are paid at the secretary's office."

Next Go to Checkers
 "Next go to the checker's counter, in room 7 opposite the secretary's office, and deposit registration coupons, class cards, receipted fee-cards, and change in registration and department permit cards (if any). Await return of coupon 1 and your class cards bearing the

Feathered Hero Of Verdun Goes West With Honors

Carrier Pigeon, Honored Guest Of Army Dovecotes Dies. Of Old Age

TOURS, France, Jan. 23 (AP)—A hero of the war, cited in an order of the army and decorated for exceptional bravery and gallantry at Verdun, has just died of old age. He was ten years old.

His name was Carrier Pigeon No. 183 14 AF and attached to one of his legs he proudly wore a ring, equivalent to the Medaille Militaire, awarded to him in June, 1916, with the following citation: "On three different occasions, during the battle of Verdun, under heavy fire ensured the rapid transport of very important messages. In particular carried to headquarters the communications of Major Raynal, defender of Fort Vaux, on June 3, 1916, at a time when the major's troops, completely surrounded, were deprived of any other means of communications. The flights were done under most unfavorable atmospheric conditions."

Since the Armistice the pigeon had been kept as an honored guest in the army dovecotes.

Sloan Leaves Thursday to Seek Health In Extended Rest Cure in Western Iowa

Thinks Eclipse End of World; Sells Property

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 23—ALVEA T. Smith of the town of Greece near here has sold his furniture and his cow, killed his pigs, and wound up all his personal affairs, in readiness to greet the eclipse of the sun tomorrow. Promptly at 8 a. m. tomorrow the world will end, he prophesied.

Senate Clears Way For Postal Boost

Look for Changes in Several Sections Of Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—The postal pay rate increase bill was given a clear road in the senate today when a point of order against all the proposed rate advances was defeated 50 to 29, although considerable debate and some changes in these provisions are in prospect.

Further consideration of the measure went over after the votes which came late today and there is a likelihood also that Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire in charge of the bill, will permit it to be laid aside tomorrow for the war department appropriation measure.

Eleven democrats and one farmer laborite Johnson, of Minnesota, joined with republicans in defeating the point of order against the rate increase section which if sustained until the House, which has not yet received it from committee, could act on the bill.

Day at Washington

The Senate again debated the French war debt.

The Senate election committee recommended Senator Mayfield of Texas be seated.

Secretary Hoover agreed to aid in the campaign for rebuilding the Louvain library.

Additional opposition developed to the confirmation of Attorney General Stone as a Supreme Court Justice.

Arguments on the motion to squash the naval oil indictment were heard in District of Columbia supreme court.

The senate intercommerce commerce committee voted in favor of reducing rates of money loaned by the government to railroads.

Commissioner Burke of the office of Indian affairs asked the House Indian subcommittee to dismiss charges of maladministration of his office.

The United States and Netherlands governments agreed to arbitrate the question of sovereignty over the Island of Paltas in the Philippine archipelago.

Action on the nomination of Charles B. Warren to be Attorney General was held up by a Senate subcommittee on insistence of Senator Walsh of Montana.

Radio, Now the One Halks Knows How Other Half Cries

Crib-cards and tips have long been used by students in last feverish minutes, but radio is certainly something different.

This idea was introduced to France by a young Strasbourg medical student. This aspiring Alastian installed a radio receiving set under the table at which he was doomed to undergo a crucial written test. He then arranged with a friend so that he might be coached from the outside.

Somewhat, the student met with difficulties. Perhaps there was too much static, other stations may have gotten on his wave length, or what is more probable, the cheery and friendly voice breathing words of encouragement may have reached not only his ears, but those of the reigning powers.

The "crib" was discovered, the faculty horrified, and the affair, according to a French dispatch, "is likely to be aired before the minister of public instruction."

Whets' Iowa Supply All Journalists

Prof. Sam B. Sloan, of the department of English, who has been granted leave of absence, will leave the University Thursday to remain with relatives in eastern Iowa, where he hopes to regain his health. Although still uncertain of his plans for the future, he expects to rest for some months in Magnolia, Iowa, near Council Bluffs, so that he may return to teaching September.

Prof. Hardin Craig, head of the department of English, will take over Professor Sloan's two sections of the nineteenth century novel course for the coming semester. The combined enrollment of the English novel course is 281.

The advanced novel course will be temporarily in charge of Marlow A. Shaw, associate professor of English. Miss Estelle M. Boot, associate in the English department, will teach Professor Sloan's essay course next semester.

Professor Sloan, who for the past twenty-six years, has been identified with the English department, came to the University of Iowa in 1899 from the University of Nebraska. His courses for many years have centered around the development of the English novel.

Thirteen Petitions Filed on Friday

Yesterday was Friday all day at the court house. Thirteen petitions were added to those already filed, several of the clocks stopped again, and the board of supervisors announced the salaries for the coming year.

The thirteen petitions involve a sum approximately $25,000 dollars. Eight of the plaintiffs are asking judgment on promissory notes and the others are filing for overdue accounts.

Appeared in "Milestones"

In his work in the amateur theatre, he played the part of John Rhead in "Milestones," the first production which Professor Mabie directed in his work in the speech department at the University of Iowa, April 19, 1921. He also played Leonato, Governor of Wexling, in Shakespeare's "Much Ado about Nothing."

The former play was produced eleven times in several cities about the state.

Can't Get Enough Pie, Ice Cream at Parsons College

FAIRFIELD, Ia., Jan. 23. (U.P.)—Walter Krafka, of Ottumwa, a freshman at Parsons college here, claims to be some pie-eater. One evening recently he munched up ten huge pieces at the Grissom cafeteria—all these after having just eaten a substantial supper. A waiter inquired the pie-eating stunt.

A few weeks ago, Harry Hanks, also a freshman, consumed a gallon and a quart of ice cream on a wager.

"Now Catalogue People, 'I. Q.' Children; Jefferson Plain Humanitarian" — Muzze

"Everything in this age is measured quantitatively, everything is tagged, numbered and catalogued. Men are estimated by the number of dollars they are worth. Universities are measured by the number of students enrolled. Even the IQ's of little children are measured to the second decimal point," said Prof. David S. Muzze of Columbia university in his talk on "Thomas Jefferson" last night.

"A group of historical figures were sent to me and I was asked to number them in regard to their greatness, assigning short reasons for doing so. I might just as well have tried to number Venus De Milo, Moonlight in a Garden, Mont Blanc and the Aurora Borealis in regard to their beauty, giving short reasons for doing so." In this way Professor Muzze shows the difficulties that confront the historian.

Humane Man First
 In the picture that he presents, "Thomas Jefferson was the humanitarian, not the politician. He says, "Thomas Jefferson was the humanitarian first, the politician later, a man whose principles were sublime, but whose politics were far from impeccable."

"His three guiding lights were freedom in government, freedom in religious worship, and public

"Richelieu" Can't Appear; Sueppel, Star of Play, Dies

Give Some Other Play For the Theatre Patrons

"Richelieu" will not be produced. Due to the death of Francis N. Sueppel, who was to have played the part of the Cardinal, Prof. E. C. Mabie, director of the play, has stopped rehearsals, February 11 and 12, the dates set for the presentation, will be left open on the schedule of University plays, but theatre patrons will be given some other production later in the season.

Players Plan Memorial

Plans for a special meeting of the University players in memory of Mr. Sueppel are in progress and will be definitely decided in a short time. This seems fitting since Mr. Sueppel worked with and knew a great many of the players.

The part of the cardinal was one of the three major interpretations which Mr. Sueppel had planned to give. It was the one in which he was most interested and expected to be his greatest. He had already played the first two, the part of Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice" and that of Peter Teagle in "School for Scandal." Rehearsals were in progress on "Richelieu" when his death occurred.

In a detailed statement, Stecher said he had repeatedly urged Bergdoll to return to the United States and face the jury, and that their differences on the subject had caused them to separate in Germany two and one-half years ago.

Stecher's relative, Leroy Delinger, Assistant United States district attorney, said he remembered every incident from the time Stecher, with the draft dodger beside him in prisoner's uniform, fled from the Bergdoll mansion at Wynnefield, a suburb of this city, leaving behind them two army sergeants who had been detailed to guard Grover while he searched for a supposed pot of gold he told authorities he had buried in the hills of Maryland.

Attorney Says Bill Not Legal; Governor Will Sign

TOPEKA, Jan. 23 (AP)—The state supreme court will have to decide the right of the state legislature to appropriate a daily expense allowance for its members.

Faced by the opinion of Attorney General C. B. Griffith that the measure passed by both houses is unconstitutional, Governor Paulsen declared tonight that he would sign the bill tomorrow.

Mr. Griffith wrote a letter to Norton A. Turner, state auditor, appraising him of the legal department opinion, and suggesting that he withhold the payment of the five dollar daily allowance provided by the bill.

Stecher Gives Up; Left Bergdoll Two Years Ago He Says

Former Chauffeur to Draft Evader Under Arrest

Claims He Tried to Get Grover Balk for Settlement

(By the Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23—Eugene Stecher, chauffeur and companion of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, millionaire draft evader, surrendered to the United States district attorney here today.

Stecher, who is to have alleged to have aided Bergdoll in his escape from the United States, was formally placed under arrest in two indictments charging conspiracy and harboring of fugitive, and was held in $10,000 bail by Federal Judge Dickinson.

Asserting he had left Bergdoll in Germany, Stecher said he returned to this country by way of Holland, England and Canada wandering about Philadelphia for the last ten days unrecognized, with only Mrs. Simon Bergdoll, mother of Grover, aware of his presence here.

In a detailed statement, Stecher said he had repeatedly urged Bergdoll to return to the United States and face the jury, and that their differences on the subject had caused them to separate in Germany two and one-half years ago.

Stecher's relative, Leroy Delinger, Assistant United States district attorney, said he remembered every incident from the time Stecher, with the draft dodger beside him in prisoner's uniform, fled from the Bergdoll mansion at Wynnefield, a suburb of this city, leaving behind them two army sergeants who had been detailed to guard Grover while he searched for a supposed pot of gold he told authorities he had buried in the hills of Maryland.

500 Send Basket Men Off to Illinois

Janse Promises Fight For Championship Possibilities

Five hundred students gathered at the men's gymnasium last evening to demonstrate that they are behind the Hawkeye basketball team in its game with the University of Illinois tonight at Urbana.

Hector Janse, captain and forward player, pledged the team to do its best in the game tonight, and to fight the Illini as Hawk eyes can fight. And the 500 responded with cheers.

Sam Barry, mentor, who gave Iowa a championship team promised the team would do its best, and the 500 wished him well.

Memories of the great pep meeting last fall that sent a racing, fighting Hawkeye machine against the Wolverines were recalled when "Stub" Barron, captain of the football team in 1915, stressed the need of "Five men in every play" if the team were to down the Illini.

"Jimmie", Laude gave a short talk. Arthur Shepherd, A3 of Ottumwa, presided at the pep. Bob Chaffee, A3 of Iowa City, and Jack Marshall, A1 of Chicago, were the cheer leaders. The University band furnished the music.

The team will return at 3:41 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Wright street station.

Remains of Alois Reed Will Be Taken to Davenport Today

Alois Reed, 817 Ia. Avenue, who died Thursday at his home, was one of Johnson county's oldest residents, having resided here for more than forty years. At the time of his death he was eighty years of age.

Mr. Reed was born in Germany in 1845 and came to America in 1885. Surviving are his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Henry Meeth of Lebanon, Mo., and Miss Pauline Reed of Iowa City.

The remains will be taken to Davenport this evening for cremation.

AIDS HOUSING ACT

DUBLIN, Jan. 23 (AP)—Empty British military barracks in the Free State are being largely used to diminish the housing shortage. Dublin barracks are being converted into dwellings for the working classes, and this plan is being followed also in the provinces. The army barracks in Tipperary have been handed over by the government authorities to be used as dwellings for the townspeople.

A grant of $25,000 has been sanctioned from the unemployment fund, and this will be supplemented by a further grant to Tipperary of $7,500 from the housing act fund.

LONDON, Jan. 23, (AP)—

Because of the heavy press of business on the Pacific cable, occupying it to the limit of its capacity, the Pacific Cable Board has decided to call for tenders in the near future for duplicate cables which will be in use inside the next 18 months.

Urges Recognition of "Moral Obligations" in France's War Debt

Release Woman After She Falls Ill in Prison

LAWRENCE, Kan., Jan. 23 (AP)—Mrs. Mary A. Eggenston, who was arrested here yesterday as a result of a commitment issued from the office of the county attorney, was allowed by the county officials to go to her home today after agreeing to pay for the services of the special guard.

Mrs. Eggenston contracted a severe cold in the jail and was shown leniency.

The county attorney here consented that she had been pardoned by former governor Davis for an offense which she alleged she had not committed. Mrs. Eggenston was convicted of an attempt to kill her suitor with poisoned wine. The Davis pardon is said to state that she was convicted of attempting to commit murder.

Senator Recalls Revolutionary Aid

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Recognition of "moral obligations" on the part of the United States to France in consideration of the latter's war debt because of loans and gifts to the colonies during the revolutionary period, was urged upon the senate today by Senator Bruce, democrat, Maryland, in a speech challenging statements made yesterday by Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee.

Before the second day's discussion of the subject had ended Senator Borah had made it clear that his position has not changed as Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, had made a plea for cessation on what he termed the "unnecessary and unproductive debate." The latter said he favored collection of the French debt, but desired that the United States display a generous spirit in the matter.

Decrying what he termed an attempt to "bellite" French aid to the colonies, Senator Bruce read numerous excerpts from contemporary authorities both in the United States and abroad as tending to prove that the assistance of money and munition advanced by France were the results of "deep popular sympathy held by the French people," rather than their government's jealousy of Great Britain.

Oui! Oui! France Smiles at Tourists But Not Refugees

PARIS, Jan. 23 (AP)—The French government has no desire to hinder or check the arrival of foreign tourists, Camille Chautemps, minister of the interior, has explained in a letter to the president of the Nice Chamber of Commerce, who had expressed fear that certain regulations in course of preparation would affect the tourist trade unfavorably. Veracious formalities for a temporary document, he says, obtainable from hotel keepers, which will take the place of the identity card.

M. Chautemps feels, however, that owing to the fact that the foreign population of France has recently been composed of refugees from various European countries, a closer check should be kept on immigration. Some of these refugees have willingly accepted the burdens which accompany residence in France in the matter of formalities and taxations. Others, on the contrary, have shown no desire to comply with the regulations; they do not register their addresses, obtain identity cards or pay taxes.

Failure to produce receipts for income and other taxes will be followed by a refusal of the authorities to issue or renew the foreigner's identity card.

Convention Draws College Delegates

MT. VERNON, Ia., Jan. 24—Nearly 250 delegates from twenty-five Iowa colleges are expected to attend the annual conference of the state volunteer movement to be held at Cornell college, here February 13, 14 and 15. The Cornell Y.M.C.A. and the student volunteer organization will be in charge.

Speakers include Robert P. Wilder, New York, founder of the movement, Dr. Ida Belle Lewis of China, Warren, Lewis of the national volunteer organization. The convention is non-sectarian.

Scabbard, Blade Guests at Military Ball, February 6

Thirteen Universities To Send Delegates To Convention

Cols. Duncan, Tolman, Major Peyton Also Are Expected

Delegates to the seventh corps area convention of Scabbard and Blade, to be held at the University February 6-7, will be guests at the Military ball. Other guests expected are: Maj. Gen. George B. Duncan, stationed at Omaha as commander of the seventh corps area; Col. Robert G. Tolman, national president of the organization; and Major Peyton, Federal Inspector.

Thirteen schools in North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Arkansas, and Iowa will send delegates to the convention.

Scabbard and Blade, the national honorary military society, was founded at the University of Wisconsin in 1905. There are at present fifty-six active companies. The company installed at the University last spring is the fourth company of the first regiment, each chapter being called a company.

The local organization will be host to the visiting delegates at a banquet at Hotel Jefferson on Friday evening, February 7.

Wisconsin Women Bob Hair Against Statutes of State

Are Iowa women being shorn of their locks illegally? That is the case in Wisconsin.

This startling discovery was made by Assemblyman Henry Staab of Milwaukee, after a thorough search of the statutes on barbers and barber shops. There is no statutory provision for bobbed hair among women.

Barbers, under the law, are not permitted to clip the hair of boys under ten, so boys under ten are in the same fix as bobbed haired women.

If ignorance of the law is no excuse, then there must be hundreds of newly made criminals. The question arises, who are the guilty ones, the barbers or the women who insist upon short hair and well-clipped necks?

W. A. A. Notes

The ticket sale for the W. A. A. vaudeville was started intensively after the meeting last Wednesday. Every active member of the organization was given two tickets to sell, and a corps of fifteen women will be selected by Evelyn Harter, A4 of Iowa City, chairman of the ticket committee, to conduct the sale.

The vaudeville is scheduled for February 9, and will be given only on the one night, instead of two, which has previously been the custom.

The final draft of the W. A. A. constitution has been completed, and many have obtained from Mabel Quiner, A4 of Des Moines. Every member of the organization is expected to purchase one, and become familiar with its provisions. It was quite completely revised this year, under the supervision of Miss Elizabeth Halsey, head of the physical education department, and contains some new features.

Basketball and swimming practices will be carried on during examination week the same as usual, unless otherwise specified by the teachers in charge of the classes.

Women who are still working for W. A. A. entrance points will find that points made in one semester do not count for initiation in the succeeding half year. Any woman who has completed her points should see Anne Doornink, A4 of Iowa City, concerning initiation at some early date.

Harper's Bazaar Stuff Taboo at Pica Ball Tonight

Fashions for the PicaBall will not be copies of "Harper's Bazaar" cover designs. Rather, they will be advance indications of "what the well dressed woman will wear" this spring. Co-eds who have just obtained light frocks in almost any color to open the party season, will have their first opportunity to display them at this time, while dresses of dark crepe, and similar fabrics will be good, as always.

The informality of the party might be indicated by the presence of Kasha and flannel, sport dresses in the popular colors of powder blue, orange, and canary yellow. The ever smart ensemble suit in spring materials, will no doubt be there.

Greenwich village, dressed up for company, will be the spirit of the party; or perhaps, Greenwich village, as it would like to be, if it dared admit it.

Students Register Now for Peace Oratorical Contest

The first call for registration in the Peace Oratorical contest was issued yesterday by Mr. W. Arthur Cable, of the department of speech. Students who wish to register for the contest will find Mr. Cable at his office in room 201D of the natural science building.

Graduates Fill Gap Left in Faculty by Beams Resignation

Two graduate assistants have been appointed to fill the vacancy left in the department of romance languages through the marriage of Miss Beatrice Beam. Those who will take the place of the former instructor are Marcellano Gonzalez, of Humacao, Porto Rico, who has been doing graduate work in the language department, and Kathleen McKay of Glendale, California.

Miss McKay is at present a senior in the college of liberal arts, but will receive her degree at the February convocation. The work now done by Mrs. Beam will then be divided among the instructors in the department.

Cuban Doctors Endorse Progressive Legislation

HAVANA, Jan. 23 (AP)—Legislation designed to improve working and living conditions of women and children in industry, and of men laboring in the cane fields and sugar mills, was recommended in a series of 58 resolutions adopted by the Cuban National Medical congress which has just closed its sixth annual session here. The congress especially would have hours of working women and children regulated, and favors a law requiring working women to cease work for four weeks before and after childbirth.

Glee Clubs Start Work on 'Pinafore'

Tryouts Continue This Week for Places On Cast

The University glee clubs have begun work on the production "Pinafore" by Gilbert and Sullivan. The evening following the production of "Faust" the men were called for the first rehearsal. A joint rehearsal was held Thursday evening. "Pinafore" will be given some time in the spring.

The women's glee club has taken in four new members and the men's seven during this first week of trials. Prof. Walter Leon is still holding tryouts and will continue to do so for several days.

School Enlarged

MARCUS, Ia. Jan. 23 (UP)—The local school has hit upon a novel plan to care for the overflow school population of this community. Without funds at present to build a larger building, the school directors purchased a school building, which has been merged with a consolidated district. The abandoned building was moved here, joined to the present building, wired and heated. It now serves as the manual training department and makes just enough room for Marcus' school population.

Prepare for Leadership

BUSINESS leadership is a matter of mental training and ability plus a knowledge of business principles and their practical application to business life.

In addition to your undergraduate work, which should serve as a solid foundation, it will be well to consider the advisability of special training which will help to cut off years of apprenticeship in the business world.

Babson Institute offers an intensive training course of one or two years—which teaches the fundamental principles of business and how to apply them in the daily conduct of commercial affairs?

By laboratory methods the student is shown and taught the principles of Executive Management which have built many of America's leading concerns.

Babson Institute is conducted for the purpose of aiding young men, who are to occupy positions of responsibility and trust to fill such positions ably and with credit to themselves.

"Students Should Go Through Junior College Before Entering Universities"

"Fewer Drunks in School Nowadays," Says Rev. Reed, "And More Come Here To Get Something Done"

"Every student should attend a junior college before entering a university career," says the Rev. Mr. Reed, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. "The advantages of this course are self-evident. The student has acquired a knowledge of the world and has some of the exaggerated ideas of his own importance removed by contact with the world. The close supervision he will be subjected to will take the place of what he otherwise must learn by painful contact with upperclassmen."

Do Away With Roustabouts

It is also possible, Mr. Reed thinks, that the more objectionable students thus will not enter universities. "The tendency to send an erring youth to college to cure him of his faults will also be eliminated because under this system his defects will be either cured or he will be eliminated."

"In spite of his rather radical attitude on this point, Mr. Reed is a strong champion of the younger generation's ambitions. He thinks that the majority of the students are coming to college to acquire an education and not to enjoy themselves as so many people would believe."

Less College Carousing

"In spite of all the literature printed on the subject of college intemperance, there is less drinking among the students of today than twenty years ago," he says. "As a class," says Mr. Reed, "the students of today are an upstanding class of young men and women with a firm reverence for God and authority."

Portugal Turbulent

LISBON, Jan. 23 (AP)—In the nine years since 1915 Portugal has had seven presidents, and 40 different cabinets.

The uncertainties of politics in Portugal, and turbulence in the life of the state, are pointed out by a local newspaper which recounts 20 armed uprisings in the country since 1911. Also seven attempted uprisings were successfully resisted.

The Finns boast of being the most literate nation in the world. They point with pride to the fact that their little country has 75 bookshops in the cities, 219 in the country, 400 bookstall agents and some 820 newsstands.

Harvey Thinks U. S. Trapped by Europe

George Harvey, former ambassador to Great Britain and regarded as the nation's leading champion of the Coolidge administration.

provided a sensation with a recent editorial in The Washington Post denouncing the Paris agreement and suggesting nullification. The heading of his signed editorial was significant: "America, duped. Trapped by European diplomats in Paris. Atrocious agreement. Waiving independence. Leaping into the cockpit in Europe. Is there no way out?"

ASKS WORLD-WIDE NEWS SERVICE TO SOLVE PROBLEMS

An international news service, through which the people of the world will be given unbiased, uncolored accounts of world affairs is suggested by Dr. Wolfer, who spoke in Harris hall, at Northwestern university, recently.

Political expediency has long been supposed to be a necessary criterion in judging what news should be allowed to go on the wires. Although the censorship which nations feel is necessary in order to allow the public to read only what the governments feel is safe for it to read is more obvious during times of war, there is a no less active censorship in operation in times of peace.

If a truthful international news sheet could be established, much of the jealousy between the nations, the mutual distrust and animosity which now exists, would be done away with, Doctor Wolfer thinks.

England Aids Australia to Care for Immigrants

MELBOURNE, Jan. 23 (AP)—The British government will advance Australia approximately $5,000,000 for every 14,000 immigrants sent to Australia from England, according to an agreement. The money will be used for public improvements, such as water-works, roads, railways, land clearing and housing in sections where immigrants settle, and in otherwise providing opportunities equal to those of native Australians.

America Places 143 Divorce Cases In Paris Courts

No Special Legislation Governs American Divorces Abroad

PARIS, Jan. 23 (AP)—American divorces granted in the Paris courts during 1923 numbered 143 out of a total of 7,064. While the percentage of American divorces as regards the total number seems relatively small, it is much more important when one considers that all the divorces obtained by other foreigners of all nationalities during 1923 amounted to only 151.

No special legislation governs the issuing of divorces to American citizens in France and none is in course of preparation.

After the MeAdoo-Huger divorce in 1923, which caused some criticism, it being claimed that the existing laws had not been observed, the then Premier Poincare ordered an investigation to be made at the court house, "into the facility with which divorces were granted to Americans in France."

The inquiry proved that both MeAdoo and Huger had legal domiciles in France and that a duly registered certificate thereof had been filed.

The present legislation in France provides that in the applications for divorces emanating from American citizens, the laws of the various states in which they live in the United States, shall apply.

The men's varsity glee club of Northwestern university is making final preparations for its trip to the Pacific coast January 28. All necessary funds have been raised, the personnel of the club who will make the trip has been determined, and other minor details of the west journey are completed. The first stop of the club is scheduled for Onawa, Ia. Other appearances include those of the following cities: Omaha, Holdridge, Neb., Boulder, Colo., Salt Lake City, Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Salem, Ore. Purple swimmers will accompany the club to compete with universities, colleges, and clubs in centers where the glee club appears.

A decision to make fraternity dinner dances informal this year was reached at a meeting of the interfraternity council at Coe college. The motion to dispense with the formal part of the dinner dances came when members of every fraternity agreed that expenses should be held down. The council believes that with the co-operation of the sororities, the charges may be adjusted to within reach of the college student's pocketbook.

Coe college students are greatly agitated over the method of disposing of seats for basketball games at the Cedar Rapids institution. The crowded condition at games has put seats almost at a premium. Town people are charged 75 cents for the game and 25 cents for a reserved seat. Fifty cents is charged to students who wish to sit in the reserved section. At a recent game, most of the seats were reserved, and many students were turned away unless they bought a reserved seat. "We're paying some $20 a year for support of athletics. We think we're entitled to a seat without paying anything more," seemed to be the general opinion of students who protested according to The Coe College Cosmos, college paper.

What Do You Want? What Do You Have?

Trading what you have for what you want is a custom people have practiced for centuries, but only recently has it been brought to a real system.

Now, by going about it in the right way, anyone with anything he doesn't want—can find the very person who does want what he has—and has what the trader would rather have.

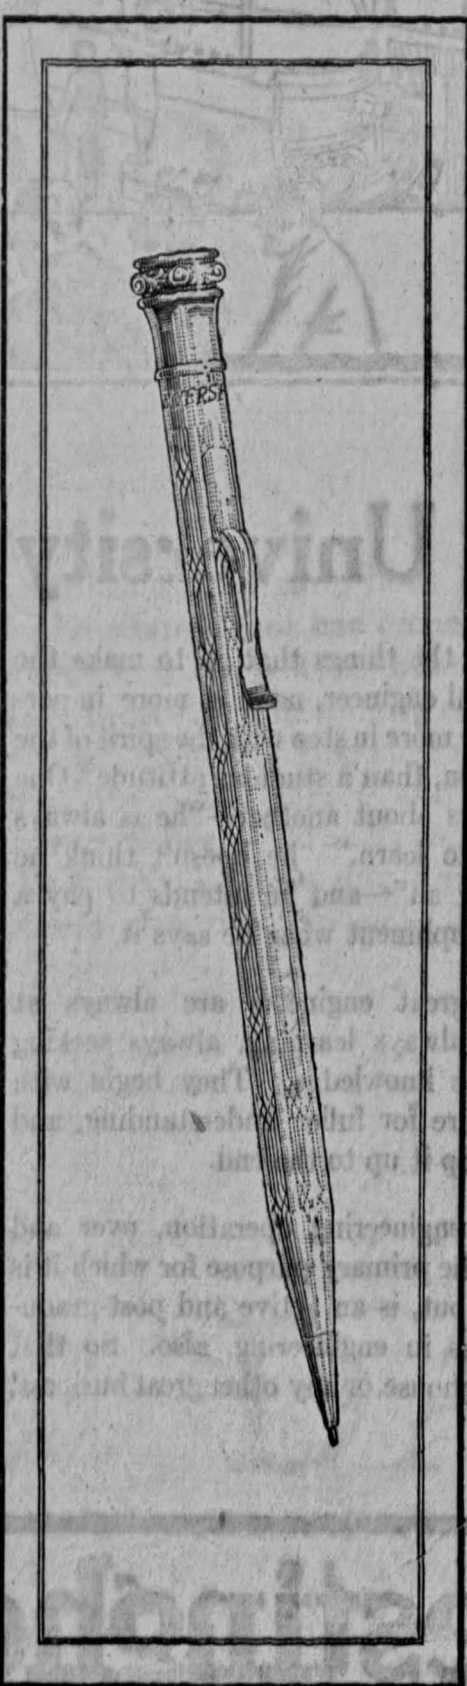

Sometimes, 'tis true, more than one trade is required to secure exactly what is desired, but even so—it's far easier and sometimes more speedy than selling outright.

The method that makes trading easy these days is the "For Sale or Exchange" columns of the IOWAN. A WANT AD here really gives you double service. It enables you to sell if possible, if not, gets you the best trade.

The Bear Performs

THE bear raged and tore and then rewrote the opera. That is the beginning of the newest chapter of Alex in Blunderland.

For "local poets" in that land of the red flag are striking out and revising all parts of the old Russian musical classics that no allusions to the ancient monarchy may remain to offend the hearts that flutter under soviet coats.

"A Life for the Czar" is the latest martyr to the cause. It is now known as "The Scythe and Hammer" and the poor Czar hasn't been left a line. He has been cast out bodily from the opera which has charmed not only Russia but all of Europe for the last century.

The Czar is not the only one who has suffered. Verdi, Rossini, and Donizetti would scarcely recognize their masterpieces and Mascagni would find only remnants of his "Cavalleria Rusticana."

The world progresses and makes ready to read Mencken's revised edition of the Bible.

Dad Petted Too

PAPA and Mama weren't so slow with the petting either.

So intimates Ed Howe, a pioneer Kansas publisher, in a recent magazine article which rather exposes the petting skill of the much-whitewashed Victorian age.

A kiss was a kiss as much then as now—the greatest difference which Ed mentions is that in the palmy nineties petting was not listed among the polite daytime occupations (whereas now it supposedly is), and the active work of the process was carried on by the men (Ed intimates that now the women do something more than encourage the men). The technique seems to have improved, but the main principle remains the same. Then it was buggy parties, not blanket parties, and the automobile as a petting cage had not yet been developed.

Mr. Howe should beware. His revelations are bound to cause consternation among the members of younger generation. It is terribly demoralizing to an age to discover that it isn't nearly as wicked as it once thought itself.

Coca Colas or Moonshine?

BOOTLEGGING in Iowa may not be such a popular vocation in the future should the bill introduced in the general assembly by Representative Lafe Hill of Floyd county become a part of the Iowa law. Both the bureau of investigation and department of justice are backing the proposal.

The clause of the new bill provides for the publication, in every county in the state, of the facts in every case where a person is convicted of bootlegging, these facts to be good evidence in persistent violation cases. In addition, any person leasing a building to a violator of the Volstead act becomes a party to the act himself. Previously the owner of the building could plead ignorance of the violation.

The second clause should curb the indiscriminate leasing of buildings, and should check the sale of liquor in regular establishments. The first clause, through publicity, should also tend to stamp out the illegal sale of bootleg.

Machinery and laws which will absolutely squash the bootleg business cannot be perfected overnight, nor in five years, in a country as large as the United States. But some day Iowans will be drinking coco colas instead of moonshine.

An Over-worked Congress

VOCIFEROUS jeers and taunting cat calls are apt to be the response to the statement that the congress of the United States is over-worked. The statement should be modified a bit. It has too many duties for the good of the country, though apparently it is able to find time for bacchanalian revelry, if we may believe the testimony in the Scott case.

A member of the university department of political science recently in Washington reports that he found on visiting the Senate that they were engaged in one of the innumerable investigations in which that body takes such a delight. According to his report the entire day was spent in the investigation, but the next morning the senate passed 136 bills. At noon it adjourned for the rest of the week so that the House could catch up.

It hardly seems that even a group of United States senators could pass 136 bills in four hours, and know much about the bills they were passing.

Apparently the heavy press of social duties at Washington can not be relieved. It would seem that the next best remedy would be to require Congress to devote its time to legislation. Among the duties of the senate at present are its numerous investigations, the approval of thousands of appointments, reports from governors of American possessions, and a host of other non-legislative functions. If some of these responsibilities were removed perhaps the Senators would have time to study legislation.

The crooks in the eastern cities are beginning to threaten the prestige of their western brothers. Now we learn of the pickpockets who robbed the policeman who was sent on their trail.

"And a little child shall lead them." A local item states that Mrs. L. H. Lyons spent Sunday in Fredonia with Mrs. Jacob Lamb.

Lovely Labors Lost

Last night we met a very charming girl who has promised to write some poetry for the colyum. You have no idea how hard we had to work to elicit that promise. It just shows how we exert ourself to give our readers the best in the market.

When we called her charming we meant charming to the ordinary mortal. While we are willing to admit for the time being, until we get more data, that we are mortal, you all realize by this time that we are not, in any sense of the word, ordinary.

We are willing to confess to you, quite confidentially, that we cannot be charmed. In fact, we have in mind a book which we are going to write some day, to be called "The Charm of the Uncharnable."

Like all of our projected books, it will be a good book. Only our innate modesty prevents our saying that it will be a great, nay, an epochal book.

It is disconcerting to be so inhibited by modesty when one has a great truth to impart.

This frank admission of not having been charmed will probably get us in an awful mess with this girl. Some things are so hard to explain—especially to a girl.

Jennette writes us that she made a great resolve. We made a willow whistle once, but a great resolve is too ambitious an undertaking for our feeble powers. We are going to have Jennette take a picture of her great resolve and send it to us.

We have a sneaking suspicion that it should be capitalized. We mean capital letters, you know. We don't dare pun any more in the colyum or we'll get our combination brain case-counenance removed at the dinner table.

Not that it would be a great loss. We haven't anything to keep in the case, and even Keats wouldn't have called as a joy forever.

But most things that Jennette does should be capitalized (see preceding explanation) because they are such important things. They make us feel infinitesimal.

That big word meaning little reminds us of infinity, and the power of "apple sauce" as an exclamation—hitherto overlooked by cross-words. We wish that we could tell you about apple sauce and thus widen the otherwise esoteric appeal of this reference—but it is a very personal affair.

But it is embarrassing to be in the midst of a very serious discussion and have some hungry one ask for apple sauce.

To get back to Jennette's letter—she asked whether we were delirious or just drunk the last time we wrote to her. Of course the only possible interpretation of that is that she thinks our letter a work of art, for true art is unconscious, and both delirium and intoxication are unconscious states.

The lugubrious part of it is that we were neither delirious nor drunk. The former is as unthinkable as the latter is impossible. —EM QUAD

Bill Up to Reduce State Bank Losses

If Passed, Depositors Get 75 Percent of Losses Quickly

(By the Associated Press)

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 23.—A plan by which it is hoped to reduce the losses incurred by depositors of insolvent banks to a low percentage and in some cases probably no loss at all for the depositor, was presented today to a joint meeting of the house and senate banking committees.

It is anticipated that under the reorganization plan depositors will be immediately guaranteed seventy-five percent of their represented assets. A waiver would be signed to turn over to the trustees the remaining twenty-five percent to be converted into cash.

Depositors Force Reorganization When the depositors and creditors representing eighty per cent of the deposits and unsecured general credits of a bank that were placed in the hands of the banking superintendent by a court order enter into an agreement of reorganization, the court shall have power to approve the reorganization and order it placed in operation, the bill provides. The remaining depositors would be compelled to acquiesce to the decision of the court but not before objections had been heard and a decision rendered.

The proposed bill, written by Banking Superintendent Leach and Attorney General Gibson and accorded considerable favorable reception in the meeting today, aims to reduce receivership and substitute reorganization and probable ultimate soundness. The four who spoke for the bill today—Mr. Gibson, C. S. Foster, and J. W. Parden of the banking department, and Fred Warner, secretary of the Iowa bankers association,—all stressed the importance of "reorganization instead of receivership" as a means toward continued public confidence in banking.

Receive 75 per cent at Once Mr. Gibson declared that most receiverships came from quick liquidation and less money, and that nearly always depositors receive but 75 per cent in the end. Under the proposed plan, he said, depositors would receive seventy-five per cent immediately and the "remainder when the frozen assets—which cause most bank failures—have been liquidated."

"The state banking department," Mr. Gibson said, "has reorganized nearly twenty-five banks since May, 1923, and they now are all sound."

Berlin Holds Fair To Exhibit Old Postage Stamps

BERLIN, Jan. 23 (AP)—Every variety of postage stamp that was ever issued by German states or the German federal government was on view at a postage stamp fair held here this month in commemoration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Universal Postal Union.

The fair was devoted exclusively to German philately. The vicissitudes of the World War found expression in the numerous surcharges of Belgian, French, Polish, Rumanian, Russia and other issues by German post offices in occupied areas, and the surcharges of British, French, and Belgian post offices on stamps of the German colonies.

There was eloquent testimony of the hectic conditions of the inflation period by the infinite variety of new issues and surcharged old issues that succeeded each other almost before the ink was dry.

Some exhibitors made a specialty of collecting the temporary stamps of military internment camps, such as Ruhleben, during the World War. Others collected nothing but the registration stamps of German cities. One collector seems to have spent a lifetime discovering the delicate differences of color in certain stamps, such as the 1 1/4 shilling violet of Hamburg, issue of 1864.

Applicants for London Police Force Represent Many Walks

LONDON, Jan. 23 (AP)—Times have changed since Gilbert and Sullivan wrote that song "H. M. S. Pinafore" to the effect that "a policeman's lot is not a happy one," or there would not be so many applicants for the 1,000 vacancies every year on the metropolitan police force.

Among the candidates for jobs this year are solicitors and stock brokers' clerks, medical students, electrical engineers, schoolmasters, farmers' sons, professional golfers, soldiers and sailors. Successful candidates get three pounds weekly during nine weeks' instruction duties and ten shillings more when passed as efficient.

Students Register Kick on Military Drill in Schools

TOKIO, Jan. 23 (AP)—The proposed institution of military training in the middle and higher technical schools has aroused violent opposition among students, many intellectual societies and in the bulk of the native press. Student bodies have sent deputations to the war department to register their objection to the plan, and a number of educators have made public addresses or contributed articles to the newspapers against it.

The supporters of the plan maintain that it has no essential military objective, but is intended as a substitute for sports and to invigorate the youthful mind as well as body. "We have studied how the American authorities are, through military discipline, trying to keep the spirit of the nation vigorous, steady and energetic," said General Baron Tanaka, former minister of war, "and we have found their system so clever that we intend to copy it. To impute any intention to us of making preparations for war is absurd."

Latvian Law Restricts Sale of Alcoholic Drinks

RIGA, Jan. 23 (AP)—The Latvian parliament has passed a law forbidding the sale of alcoholic drinks at educational institutions, at theaters, exhibitions, fairs, in provision shops, on board vessels in inland waters, on railway trains and in railway stations.

Furthermore, the sale of alcoholic drinks is forbidden on Sundays and holidays in the exclusive shops where they may be obtained on week days.

German on Fence In Prohibition Fuss

Cites U. S. Rum Fleet, Booze Fighter Troubles

BERLIN, Jan. 23 (AP)—The prohibition issue is gradually becoming a live one in Germany. During the campaign for parliament recently closed the anti-liquor interests for the first time tried definitely to compel parties and candidates to declare where they stood. Most persons queried were able, however, to sidestep the issue without losing any votes.

The stories they read about rum runners and booze fighters in the United States are cited as evidence that prohibition cannot be enforced.

Among the demands put forward by the German prohibition forces are the following: An embargo upon all intoxicating drinks imported from other countries; immediate closing of all saloons of a shady character; restriction of liquor production to the quantity essential for medicinal and religious purposes; sequestration of all breweries and distilleries; socialization of restaurants and hostleries; strict prohibition of the sale of intoxicating drinks to boys and girls under age.

Most German people favor the last named of these demands, but on the whole are skeptical as to the practicality of prohibition.

German Near Beer

BERLIN, Jan. 23 (AP)—Much comment has been caused in Germany by the extensive advertisements of a company producing a new beer containing only one-half of one percent of alcohol. Brewers are up in arms, as they see a prohibition movement behind this beverage with the small alcoholic content. It has, however, the endorsement of many doctors and physical educators.

Found! Collection Of 300 Rembrandt's Hidden Etchings

LONDON, Jan. 23 (AP)—After being stored in two wooden chests at a bank for seventy years, a collection of etchings including 300 by Rembrandt, saw the light of day at auctions in London recently, and realized $170,865.

The highest individual price paid for a Rembrandt was $18,000 for "Arnoldus Tholinx." Three others entitled "Christ healing the sick," "Christ before Pilate" and "The Three Crosses," each brought $5,775. Dutch buyers eagerly competed with English collectors for possession of these almost forgotten works of the old master.

The collection had been made in the early part of last century by Edward Rudge of Abbey Manor, Evesham, whose outlay is believed to have been little more than $2,000.

20,000 Mines Still Floating in Baltic Since World War

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 23 (AP)—Twenty thousand deep sea mines are slowly rising to the surface in the Baltic and adjacent waters and are becoming a formidable menace to shipping, according to A. Flaes, Netherlands consul-general in Hamburg.

Mr. Flaes says that during the war 60,000 mines were laid between Bergen, Norway, and the Baltic archipelago. Forty thousand of them have been recovered in some way or other; mostly, it is assumed, through the erosion of chains securing them. The rest still unaccounted for.

Of all the things that go to make the successful engineer, none is more important, nor more in step with the spirit of the profession, than a studious attitude. is, of its very nature, a University where theory and practice combine to make bigger, broader and more practical engineers.

The courses in this University are not limited to prescribed subjects nor terms—the subjects are almost infinite, and the semesters are endless. Men with the weight of years on their shoulders work and learn side-by-side with those whose day has just dawned.

The great engineers are always at school, always learning, always seeking for more knowledge. They begin with this desire for fuller understanding, and they keep it up to the end.

This post-graduate school fits men for almost anything. Fits them for it, and makes them continually fitter. Out of this continuing fitness have grown the engineering accomplishments on which this institution has grown. It is, perhaps, one of the great educational institutions of its day.

Any engineering operation, over and above the primary purpose for which it is carried out, is an active and post-graduate class in engineering, also. So that Westinghouse, or any other great business,

DES MOINES, Jan. 23.—Iowa's 1924 products are valued at $570,816,000, according to the report of the combined federal and state crop reporting bureaus.

Bushels of corn produced in 1924 amounted to 304,752,000 as compared with 436,432,000 bushels in 1923. The approximately 132,000,000 less bushels of corn are worth about $13,000,000 more than the 1923 crop.

In oats Iowa leads the nation with a production of 248,282,000 bushels; worth $111,727,000. This is an increase in value of forty-five percent over 1923.

Sheep and lamb feeding was reduced by 73,000 head January 1, 1925, a report of the United States department of agriculture says.

Iowa hog production is on a decline, a report of the United States department of agriculture says. The report says that the number of pigs saved for Iowa of the 1924 crop was 25.4 percent less than the 1923 crop.

Loan Swells Swedish Debt STOCKHOLM, Jan. 23 (AP)—Sweden's national debt increased during the month of November by 111,600,000 crowns to 1,737,600,000 crowns because of the dollar loan floated in the United States.

'Postal Raise Not Fair for Papers'

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts declared in the senate that proposed postal rate increases are unfair to newspapers.

PAJAMAS SOLVES CO-EDS PROBLEM FOR LATE RISING

A Knox college co-ed, zealous in her college work, has solved the problem of enjoying the very last moment of sleep before an 8 o'clock class and at the same time not missing the class.

Miss Gladys Hackman, a pretty junior student, arising a few moments before 8 o'clock one morning and not having time to dress in street clothes, slipped a long fur coat over her pink silk pajamas and hurried to her classroom.

The president said it was not against college rules for co-eds to go to classes in pajamas, but it was a breach of good etiquette.

Professional Registration Registration for the colleges of law, pharmacy, dentistry, and applied science takes place Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, January 29, 30, and 31.

Students in these colleges secure tuition cards and pay fees in the secretary's office exactly as stated above," says Mr. Dorcas. "But instead of visiting the checkers, they deposit their receipts fee cards at the office of their dean, and there fill registration coupons completely, accurately, and neatly."

Medics, February 2, 3, 4 Registration for the college of medicine takes place Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, February 2, 3, and 4.

Tuition cards are secured in University hall, and fees paid at the secretary's office by the same procedure followed by the students in other colleges and they also deposit their receipted fee cards at the office of Dean Dean.

Late Registration In regard to late registration, Mr. Dorcas says, "Defer registration cards are not to be given for the purpose of enabling students, otherwise ready to register, to postpone the payment of fees. Students who register late should pay the late registration fee; and if anyone is convinced that he should not thus be held responsible for his late registration, he should immediately file his petition for late registration, as soon as possible, reviewing the circumstances, so that a refund of the late fee may be made if warranted. The decision on this issue will be based on the merits of each individual case without prejudice of any kind."

Those who receive defer registration cards should be sure to confer with the deans of men and women before preparing their study lists on upper faces of coupons 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5. These students may arrange their study lists and pay fees without a late charge during the first week of the second semester, within the dates shown on the defer registration cards. If, however, a student registers after the expiration of the period of time thus indicated, he must pay a late fee."

Czar Called Himself Master Of Russian Empire in 1897

LENINGRAD, Jan. 23 (AP)—The Revolution Museum has received an interesting document from the Moscow government. It is the census return which was filled in by the czaristic family in 1897. The answer of the then czar and czarina to the question, "What is your profession?" was "Master and mistress of the Russian empire."

Hawkeye Quintet Primed to Down Illini and Retain Lead in Big Ten Race

Klingaman's Green Caps Clash With Dave's Veterans Today

A meet with the freshmen will be on the varsity swimming card this afternoon. Eight events will be gone through following the University III meet. After the swimming proper the water basketball men will play.

Most of the freshmen have recovered from the effects of the vaccinations of several weeks ago. Ungles, Carter, and Miller will form the trio who will probably score more against the upperclassmen. The varsity will present practically the same men that they had in the Wisconsin meet. McClintock, Hoffman, and Lamberg will swim free style. Captain Ashton will do the back stroke. Lake will plunge, and Hogan do the remaining event—the breast stroke.

Bob Killbrow, ineligible for the Wisconsin meet, will compete though his eligibility may be questioned the second semester. Killbrow does both dives, and free style events. Trager will dive with him.

Coach Armbruster will hold several such meets before the conference battle with Chicago on Feb. 7. Tomorrow, the varsity should practically double the score of the freshmen.

Volley Ball Tourney Part International Y. M. Competition

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 23 (AP)—A volley ball tournament at Des Moines on May 8-9, state and national holding tournaments, basketball tournaments, and international swimming championships will be included in the program of the 1925 series of what is said to be the largest group of national and international indoor competitions in the world, was announced today by the Athletic League of the Y. M. C. A. of the United States and Canada.

These events, according to Dr. John Brown, Jr., secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Athletic League of the United States, will begin in February and extend over a period of months.

Novelty in Women's Gloves LONDON, Jan. 23 (AP)—A new idea has been developed in gloves for women's wear. They are made of artificial silk with invisible, finger tips. The fabric tapers off into invisibility at the finger tips, displaying in a subtle way the natural fingers.

Ruby's Unbeaten Men Hold 1 Game Lead on Iowa Five

Primed to notch their third win in the Big Ten conference race, ten Hawkeyes left last night for Urbana. A victory over the orange and blue means at least temporary leadership in the conference, and a good lead in the percentage column as every other quintet has suffered at least one defeat.

The Illini, specializing in 27 to 16 victories, defeated both Chicago and Northwestern, and closing a close battle against the Hoosiers, with a smashing flood of baskets looped the mesh, sufficient for a 34 to 24 win.

The work of Coach Ruby's men has been sensational, considering that six of last year's letter men were lost in graduation. Their offense is of the smashing type that has found little difficulty in getting through the guards for shots directly under the hoop. Seven of Illinois baskets against Chicago were short "spots" obtained by clever passing through the blue's defense. Their ability to get started early in every game before their opponents get organized has been a big factor in their wins.

Martin Dangerous Player Kassel, end on this year's grid team, is used with Reynolds at center, for the tip-off. After the tip he has been dropping back to a standing guard to allow Martin to play the floor.

But, it is his ability to put the ball through the basket that gives him the scoring end of the floor. Jimmie Laude and Captain Janso may locate the hoop for enough counters to keep the goose egg in their lose column.

The spirit of the Old Gold quintet has improved this week: It will be five fighting Hawks that line up against the Illini tonight. The Iowa offense is smoother than the Purple and Blue advance but is playing on a foreign floor which places it under about a ten point handicap. The Iowa guards have a problem before them, for Martin, a first year man for Illinois, has been swishing the ball through the net consistently. As the receiver of a short pass which drives underneath the backboard he caught four baskets in the first half of the game with the Purple.

Ruby's Men Play Rough Game But the hacking and hip blocking is being watched closely by Big Ten officials. When Illinois broke the jinx to win from Chicago, fourteen personal fouls were called on Coach Ruby's men. Reynolds, who started at center, was put out after four personals, and Kassel, who relieved him, made a couple of flying tackles, strutting Barnes all over the gymnasium.

The Iowa guards do not play a rough guarding game but their smothering of dribbling forwards was complete until the Creighton slump. The control of the tip-off, often the difference between defeat and victory, is uncertain. Reynolds, the Purple and Blue pivot man, was out jumped at Chicago and it is believed that Raffensperger will be able to give the ball to his mates on the jump. In both the Purdue and the Creighton contests Captain "Hee" anse began the scoring with a dizzy loop shot from the center directly after the tip-off. Stillwell, tip-off man for Illinois last year, was a giant who used sheer physical height and arm length under the basket.

"Raff" Groomed for Battle "Jimmie" Laude, plainly "off" in the Creighton game, is expected to get hot and display the same form which gave him the lead in the individual scoring column of the conference until last week when Hagerger of Michigan passed him.

The brunt of the Illini attack will be born by Raffensperger who will have a hard task cut out for him in keeping Martin and his running mates from tipping the ball into the net on "follow-in" shots. The husky Old Gold center has been the key to the Iowa offense in gathering the momentum for the Barrymen attack, and has been groomed the past week for the job of keeping the ball in Iowa's possession.

Young to Referee Although the smoothness which characterized the Hawkeye advance in the Purdue game has not returned, the drills the last few nights have shown a little improvement. Coach Barry is worried at the raggedness in dribbling and passing which has superseded the weaving dribbling offense.

The game which has a great bearing on the Big Ten conference race will be handled by Young of Illinois Wesleyan, and Reynolds of Chicago. Coach Barry, Dr. Fieseler and ten men, Captain Janso, Laude, Raffensperger, Van Deusen, McConnell, Phillips, Boyson, Smith, Jensen, and Hogan left last night at midnight for Urbana.

City High Swamps U. High; Wins 29 To 8; Koser Out

In the most one-sided contest between the two schools in recent years the speedy Iowa City High basketball team smothered the crippled U High cage five under an avalanche of baskets in their game last evening and won by a 29 to 8 score.

Minus the services of their star forward and captain, Mort Koser, the U High boys put up a valiant fight during the first few minutes, but they slowly succumbed before the speedy floorwork and unerring basket eyes of their opponents, and after the first five minutes the outcome was never in doubt.

7-2 First Quarter The game started slowly with close guarding featuring the play of both teams. After about two minutes had elapsed, Hunter, U High forward sank a basket on a follow-in shot and put his team in the lead for the only time during the game. A little later Boyles caged a free throw for his team's first marker, and after that the Red and White quintet registered with monotonous regularity.

The score at the end of the first quarter was 7 to 2 and at the half Iowa City had increased the lead 13 to 4. At the beginning of the second half the U High boys staged a short rally when Dennis dribbled in for an easy shot and a moment later registered via the free throw route. The attack did not last long, however, and Strickler soon got into action and the score continued to mount.

Hicks Team Demoralized The work of Strickler, Little Hawk forward, was the outstanding feature of the game. He shot them both long and short and from all angles, and besides this played an excellent floor game. Captain Boyles also did some extraordinary work, getting four baskets and a free throw and keeping his man in check all through the game. The good defensive play of the Red and White is shown by the score of their opponents, and the earmark of the entire aggregation was well above par.

Coach Wayland Hicks' cagers seemed to be demoralized after the first quarter and their play was not the best they are capable of exhibiting. Their play was poor, and they seemed handicapped for lack of space in the execution of their plays.

Coach Soucek sent in his second string during the final moments of the game, but the gun cut short

East Des Moines Hi Tank Men to Buck Current Here

One more advancement in high school swimming will be signalled this afternoon when the University III swimming team will compete against East Des Moines HI at 2 p.m. This is one of the first dual meets ever held among high schools in this state and is the first time that a Des Moines school has come here for a dual meet. Dope favors the Des Moines aggregation.

Captain Bell, of University III, has been out for the last few months, due to an abscess of the ear, and cannot compete today. The majority of the local tankers have experienced little competition, moreover. Nelson and Edwards seem to be Iowa City's best bets.

May Discover a Flying Finn at Relay Carnival

A "Charley Paddock" or a "Flying Finn" may be discovered at the University Relay Carnival, February 7th.

The military company which has never grabbed honors in the event is very likely to break the tape ahead of the best of the Greek letter teams and the quad.

Three times a week, covering the distance from the east extremity of the campus to the New Army prospective winners train in just the type of atmosphere that developed Paavo Nurmi, the man who runs like a machine.

Each military company has been invited to hold tryouts and to enter a six man team.

The quad may also include future cinder, men for Iowa and should push both the winners of the other sections with their sextet chosen from 325 available men.

The University Relay Carnival has been the means of uncovering many varsity point winners and it is not likely that this year will prove an exception.

Walsh Plus Four Horsemen Equals Clever Cage Five

DEBUQUE, Ia., Jan. 23.—Captain Walsh and the "four horsemen" of Notre Dame football fame, comprising the basketball team, will aid in the dedication of Columbia college's new gymnasium, on Feb. 7, according to the revised schedule issued here for the 1925 basketball season.

The revised Columbia schedule lists twelve more games to be played. The season closes March 1 with Loyola university at Chicago.

Ten of the remaining games are scheduled with members of the Western Collegiate Interstate conference.

Track Men Daily Getting Ready for University Meets

A squad of well over 100 varsity and freshman track candidates are out in suit every afternoon, getting in shape for the all-University meets, and the first conference meet which is a little less than a month distant, The University Relay Carnival on February 7 is the first competition of the year. On February 14, the varsity and freshmen will clash in a dual meet, which will serve as a partial try-out for the Wisconsin dual the week after.

Because the new track at the armory has not settled in the best shape, the surface being somewhat easily cut up, the runners have not been progressing at the clip suitable to Coach Bresnahan. Three loads of clay will be worked into the cinders this week-end to improve the track's surface.

Sprinters have been having fast starting drill with gun shots for more than a week, and distances men have been having fairly hard work-outs. The shot putters, under the direction of Coach Thomas Martin, have a large squad at work, but jumpers and vaulters are not being pushed for it is yet early in the season.

Path of Eclipse This Morning

If climatic conditions on the earth's surface are favorable, the sun this morning will appear in eclipse, the moon passing before it. The eclipse will be at its maximum at 7:54 in Iowa City, according to Donald H. Menzel, instructor in astronomy. The above picture shows the path of the eclipse from east to west.

Starting well before sunrise the eclipse will be visible in Iowa City when the sun first shows in the east at 7:20 o'clock this morning. It will reach its maximum at 7:54 o'clock and then on will recede until 9:03 o'clock, at which time the moon will clear the sun.

Photograph Eclipse "It will be easy for even the most casual observer to notice that the edge of the moon is very rough, which is due to mountain ranges on the moon's surface. Those who wish to take photographs can get pretty results by setting their cameras at the smallest and fastest exposure possible. The chief work of the astronomy department here will be in recording the exact time at which the moon's shape is clear, or leaves the sun." "This is the first total eclipse of the sun since September 10, 1923, at which time in this vicinity the sun was 56 per cent eclipsed. The sun was also in another eclipse on June 8, 1918, at which time the totality of the eclipse in Iowa City was 83 per cent."

(By the Associated Press) IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich., Jan. 23.—When the partly eclipsed sun pops up over the eastern horizon at 7:11 a. m. tomorrow morning, with the moon taking the part of the supernumerary in the great celestial drama, a group of prominent astronomers atop Tewaboc Hill near here will be ready to make observations from which they hope to gain additional and valuable scientific knowledge. The success of their efforts will be entirely dependent upon weather conditions and tonight it appeared that the element would be anything but favorable for the work.

Yerk Sends Expedition The local expedition is under the direction of officials from the Yerkes observatory of the University of Chicago. Members of the party are Professors Oliver J. Lee and Frank P. Ross in charge of the station, Dr. S. A. Barrett, director of the Milwaukee public museum and affiliated with the Yerkes staff, and Dr. Frank B. Urie, of the Elgin Watch Company.

While the reports were pessimistic for the success of the project the astronomers refused to harbor fears of a total failure, since they asserted it is likely there will be a rift in the clouds of sufficient duration to permit conclusions at least of part of the work planned. Study of this eclipse, the astronomers declared, may aid in solution of the age old question as to whether the action of the sun causes variation in the earth's climate. During the period of darkness, Venus may be seen to the right of the corona Mercury, beyond Venus, and Jupiter a little below it. Vega, a flaming star, will appear overhead, and Altair, said to be the brightest star in the solar system, nearby. Tonight the half million dollars of equipment was guarded by a lone watchman supplied by the county.

Educated Farmer Able To Meet Competition Scientifically

"Education for the farmer today is a necessity more than ever before," said Prof. J. C. Cunningham in effect in his address before the Farmers Institute yesterday afternoon.

Cunningham outlined a course of instruction for the farm boy of today, which if followed, at least in a general way, will equip and enable the rural man to fight his battle for himself.

The course gives the farmer intensive training in his work and a knowledge of his duties as a public spirited citizen.

Election of officers was held over until today.

Francis Sueppel Dies Suddenly From Heart Failure Yesterday

Is Forced to Give up His Life's Ambition, Lead in "Richelieu," When Stricken At Rehearsal

Francis N. Sueppel, aged 64, died at his home here yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Death resulted from heart failure. Mr. Sueppel was taken ill Thursday evening while attending a rehearsal of "Richelieu."

For years Mr. Sueppel has been interested in every dramatic production or organization in Iowa City. During the next month would have realized the ambition of his life, to play the lead in "Richelieu."

"One of the greatest ambitions of my life was to play Richelieu and now it is realized," said Mr. Sueppel a few days ago, commenting on his role in the coming University theatre production. His interest in the play was so great that he memorized the lines last summer before a definite date had been determined for its production.

Taken ill at Rehearsal While attending rehearsal Thursday night he was taken ill and forced to leave. His condition became worse and he died at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Francis N. Sueppel was born in Iowa City on August 14, 1860. He has lived here all his life except four years which he spent on his ranch at Flathead Lake, Montana. He attended St. Mary's parochial school and took special work in the University. He was affiliated with the Knights of Columbus, the University Players and was also a member of the St. Mary's choir for forty-six years.

Directed Lyceum Mr. Sueppel was director of St. Mary's Lyceum company for more than twelve years. He was secretary and treasurer of the George Hummer Mercantile company, which was later absorbed by the Samuel Mahon company. For the past few years he has been employed by the Iowa City Street Railway Co.

Surviving relatives are Father Joseph, George, John, Mary Sueppel and Mrs. Otto Schultz, all of Iowa City.

Funeral services will probably be held Monday morning from St. Mary's church. Burial will be in a Oakdale cemetery.

Four Linn County Farmers Fail to Answer in Census

Four arrests of Linn county farmers were made Thursday by United States Deputy Marshal M. L. Healy on charges of refusal to respond to questions asked them in the farm census. The census is now being conducted by the agricultural department.

The census taking in Johnson county is in charge of L. R. Morford of Iowa City with headquarters in the Johnson County Savings Bank building. Blank schedules are now being sent. Farmers ignoring the blanks are subject to a penalty of arrest and punishment. No trouble is anticipated in this county.
