

Former Governor Davis Faces New Bribery Charges

Warrants Issued for Arrest of Chief Advisor

Alleges Pardon Bribe Was Solicited by Peterson

(By the Associated Press)

TOPEKA, Kansas, Jan. 28.—Jonathan M. Davis, former governor of Kansas, will be arraigned in the court of Topeka tomorrow with Carl J. Peterson, his state bank commissioner and chief advisor, to answer to charges of bribery. Warrants for their arrest were issued today on complaint of Capt. W. A. Smith, assistant attorney general, after attorney general C. B. Griffith had secured permission from Governor Ben S. Paulen to investigate and prosecute where he deemed proper.

It was the second criminal suit brought against the former governor in little more than two weeks. Two hours before he retired from office Governor Davis was arrested with his son Russell on conspiracy and bribery charges which alleged that Russell had accepted $1,250 for delivering a pardon to Fred W. Pollman, convicted banker.

Solicited $2,500 Bribe
The complaint filed today was based on an affidavit made by Anthony L. Oswald Hutchinson, attorney, who stated that Peterson solicited a bribe of $2,500 for a pardon for his client Walter Grundy then serving a penitentiary term for bank embezzlement. It was alleged that Peterson was acting as "agent" for the governor.

County attorney Paul Heinz and his assistant, Ed. Rooney, last Monday refused to undertake the prosecution at the attorney general's instance.

Grundy Not Pardoned
Grundy was never pardoned Governor Davis having denied the plea a few days before his term expired. The complaint charges soliciting a bribe while the previous suit now awaiting trial at the April term of court charged the ex-governor and his son with soliciting and accepting a bribe.

Although the attorney general has repeatedly stated that he had ample evidence to institute proceedings in two cases the complaint today made no mention of a second affidavit in the official's hands. The latter, signed by C. H. Bartholomew of Wichita, alleges that he paid $1,250 to Rufus O. Johnson, convicted banker of Oulney, then on parole, and that the money ostensibly was to be divided among Johnson, Peterson and Governor Davis for securing a parole for Ernest Bartholomew his son.

No Studying in U. S. Frats, Says Ex-Premier's Son

(Milwaukee Journal)
San Francisco, Calif.
American college fraternities and sororities afford "too little privacy" to serious minded students, Malcolm Macdonald, son of Ramsay Macdonald, former premier of Great Britain, declared in an address in San Francisco Sunday, in which he compared the university systems of England and the United States.

"At Oxford," Macdonald said, "a man lives alone in the living quarters of one of the twenty-two different colleges forming the university. He has a lock on his door and if he chooses to study night and day he can do so without interruption and with complete privacy."

Macdonald declared there was not a single fraternity or sorority chapter house in Great Britain.

Chose Two Iowans For Science Posts

Seashore and Wylie Vice Presidents of Science Group

Prof. C. E. Seashore and Prof. R. B. Wylie of the University of Iowa, have been elected vice presidents of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, according to word just received here.

They automatically took these posts when Professor Seashore was elected head of the psychology section of the association and Professor Wylie was elected head of the botany section.

Although the elections occurred during the holidays at Washington, D. C., when 5,250 members of the association held their annual sessions, the election announcements have just been made official. Twelve scientists from the University of Iowa attended the meetings.

Professor Seashore, head of the department of psychology and dean of the graduate college, is recognized as one of the foremost psychologists in the world. He was born in Sweden, educated at Gustavus Adolphus college and Yale and came to the University of Iowa in 1897. He is chairman of the division of anthropology and psychology of the National Research Council and was president of the American Psychological Association in 1911. He is widely known for his writings on psychological topics.

Professor Wylie was also elected general chairman of the Botanical Society of America at the Washington meeting. He will preside over the sessions of the botany section when the association meets next winter at Kansas City.

Mrs. Reeves Goes Daily To Make State Laws

WENATCHEE, Wash., Jan. 28 (AP)—There's nothing in it but fun, Mrs. Frank Reeves of this city declared as she left here to serve her second term in the Washington state legislature. She is one of the three women members of the house all re-elected, and one of the five democratic members. She sits in the same chair as did her husband before she succeeded him.

Mrs. Reeves' pay will be $5 a day for the session of two months held every two years at Olympia. She will have to pay just about that for a room, she explained, and what with entertainments, dress and food, must expend as much more daily.

Ensign on Leave At Columbia for Second Semester

Expects to Return to Teach Here Next Summer

Prof. Forest C. Ensign, of the department of education, will leave the latter part of the week on a semester's leave of absence, for Columbia university, New York City, where he will be a visiting professor in the teachers' college.

Professor Ensign received his doctor's degree from Columbia, and now he goes to teach in his alma mater. He will report next week to give courses on the subject, "History of Education," and a few classes in the "Principles of Education."

Professor Ensign expects to return in the summer to give courses in education during the summer session.

No Light Thrown On Herrin Deaths

Coroner's Jury Will Turn Noncommittal Agreement In

(By the Associated Press)
HERRIN, Ill., Jan. 28.—Grooping through a maze of indefinite testimony concerning the deaths of S. Glenn Young, Klan liquor raider, deputy sheriff Orr Thomas, and two others in Saturday night's shooting affray, the coroner's jury was faced with the prospect of returning a noncommittal verdict when it adjourned here tonight.

Of all the fourteen witnesses heard today, only one man was able to say he saw a shot fired, but he had no idea which of the two leaders fired first or which killed the other.

All of the witnesses called the first day told stories that coincided in most details with the version told by Young's close followers. Today the other faction was expected to present its version of how the four men came to their death.

BOTANISTS MEET FEB. 2

The next meeting of the Botany club will be held in room 206 of Old Science building on February 2 at 4:10 o'clock. The speaker will be announced later.

Before and After Is Exam Question; Grade Average Now 2.7; After 1.45?

Time: Exam week.
Place: Living room of any Frat house (the university variety).
Setting: (The Iowan has only one set, so the scenery will remain the same for all three acts.)

ACT I
House President, drowsing complacently in the biggest overstuffed chair: "Yeh, we'll only raise that good old grad average to about 2.75. Thought for a while we wouldn't make it but that Strumph is all right at the grades even if he don't get us any drag with the girls."

Critics Praise Albert Ward in "Processional," New York Play

"There should be special mention, too, of a marvelous minor bit by Alan Ward as a soldier who was killed."

This quotation, taken from Heywood Brown's review of the New York performance of "Processional," shows what success Alan Ward, a former student in the University, is achieving as an actor. Many people in the University will remember him as Albert Ward, but Alan is a better publicity name than Albert, and for professional purposes the change was made.

Out of twenty-two members of the cast, "Al," as his friends call him, was the only one besides the four leads to receive mention by Heywood Brown. This fact, with the personal praise that he received from such well known persons as Theresa Helburn of the Theatre Guild and Alfred Lunt, is especially significant as an indication of his chances for greater success.

A short time before Mr. Ward received his part in "Processional," he was offered the position of director of plays at the University of Utah, but refused it.

Mr. Ward has played many parts before University audiences. He was cast in the role of Michael Dean in "Mater" by Percy MacKaye, and did outstanding work in "Beyond the Horizon" by Eugene O'Neill, "The Bath Road" by Francis Neilson, and "The Faith Healer" by William Vaughn Moody. He also played the part of Gratiano in Shakespeare's "The Merchant of Venice" and Captain Hardy in "The Copperhead," by Augustus Thomas. He was a charter member of the Purple Mask and a member of Sigma Pi social fraternity.

Yale Dean to Talk At Commencement

Charles Brown, Iowa Grad, to Deliver Baccalaureate

One of the University of Iowa's famous alumni, Charles Reynolds Brown, dean of the school of divinity at Yale university, will be the baccalaureate speaker here on June 7, 1925, according to announcement made today.

Dean Brown received two degrees from Iowa, the bachelor of arts degree in 1883 and the master of arts degree in 1886. He has received honorary degrees from several of this country's leading universities.

He was pastor of the First Congregational church at Oakland, Calif., from 1896 to 1911, and has been dean of the Yale divinity school since. His eminence as a divine has been amply indicated by the demand for his services as a special lecturer. He is the author of a number of books on religious topics. He was moderator for the National Council of the Congregational church from 1913 to 1915.

Registration on Full Blast; Will Wind Up Saturday

Necessary Material Is Still Available at University Hall

Fees Will Be Assessed In Office of Secretary Bates

All students who have not secured registration materials may do so now at the office of the registrar, room number 1 in University hall. All new students will also receive materials in that office. Students will fill out schedule of courses and have fees assessed. Then go down the corridor north to room number 2, Secretary Bates' office, and pay fees.

Checkers in Room
All liberal arts, commerce, and graduate students will report to room number 8, where checkers will approve schedule and class cards. Students will turn into them all materials, with the exception of class cards, which will be kept by the student and given by him to instructors.

Freshmen and sophomores are required to continue in each course and section for which they were registered the first semester. Each junior and senior now registered for an inseparable year course must continue in the same course and section unless the head of each department concerned authorizes the change by signing his initials opposite the substitute course.

If advisors advocate the change of a year course under the faculty regulations, obtain on coupon two the signature of the advisor approving the entire study list, and also the signatures of the heads of all departments concerned opposite the substituted course.

Opposite all courses in which there have been no changes, the student writes his own initials.

War Wounds Prove Fatal To Speedy Irish Swimmer

BELFAST, Jan. 28 (AP)—The death from war wounds of Major George Shannon Dockrell, hailed as Ireland's greatest swimmer, occurred recently. Major Dockrell went as a boy to America, where he met C. M. Daniels, the great American swimmer, whose style he adopted. Although he was only 18 years old, he won three places in three American championships.

On his return to Ireland in 1906 he introduced the "crawl stroke," made a clean sweep of all British records for the next six years and was the first Irish swimmer to make the 100 yards in 60 seconds, made a clean sweep of all British team in 1912 and frequently represented Ireland at water polo.

Major Dockrell was the son of Sir Maurice and Lady Dockrell of Monkstown, County Dublin.

Japan's House of Peers May Have Power Curbed

TOKIO, Jan. 28 (AP)—The reform of the House of Peers probably will be the most important problem to come before the Diet at its impending session. The reform bill probably will come up in March and, according to the Japanese press, may create the gravest crisis that the coalition government has faced.

At present the House of Peers has virtual control of the Diet and can block the lower house on any point. A change in the powers of the two houses will be attempted. The essential objective, however, is a change in the manner in which the membership of the upper body is selected. At present half the members hold office by hereditary right, and the other half is equally divided between those appointed for life by the Emperor and those elected by large property owners. The proposed reform contemplates the reduction of the first half to about one third of the membership, to be elected by peers from among their ranks, and reduces the imperial appointees to the same number but for terms of only seven years. The remaining seats would be elective.

Nation's Expense Account Shrivels

Administration Plans Drive on Federal Payroll

(By the United Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Summoned by President Coolidge to new efforts for economy, administrative heads of the government today took stock of their departments and prepared for another drive to cut expenses.

The immediate goal, which the president set last night in a speech to the semi-annual business meeting of the government, is to bring expenses for the current fiscal year within $3,000,000,000.

A smashing drive on surplus personnel on the federal payroll, to weed out the unnecessary and ineffective, will be undertaken at the president's direction.

The president's request to bring expenditures within the $3,000,000,000 limit is to fulfill an expressed wish of the late President Harding to reduce the cost of government to that sum during his administration. It will require an additional saving of approximately $2,000,000 under present contemplated expenditures or about 2 percent of appropriations.

Mr. Coolidge vigorously announced his determination to cut the government payroll. "We have superfluous employees," he said. "It is an unpleasant and difficult task to separate people from the federal service, but it can be done. I advised federal administrators to plan to operate with a smaller personnel than is now employed."

The president's whole address was centered on a warning that the nation's prosperity and consequent ability to pay more taxes was not to be taken as any indication that the administration's economy policy was to be in the slightest degree relaxed. On the contrary, the president said, economy is just beginning.

Walking "Champ" Loses But Nurmi Breaks Two More

Ugo Frigerio, Italian Ace, Drops First Start in U. S.

Two Night Card Puts Twelve Records Into Discard

(By the Associated Press)
MADISON SQUARE GARDENS, Jan. 28.—The phantom feet of Paavo Nurmi clipped off two more world's records tonight in another amazing flash of speed that left all opposition far behind, but America tasted the sweets of international triumph for the first time during the indoor season, when Willie Plant, American walking ace, conquered Ugo Frigerio, Italian holder of the Olympic cup.

Frigerio's his total world's record performance up to fifteen in nine races, Nurmi set marks for one and one quarter, and two and one half miles in a race which Jole Ray dropped out after four laps.

Plant wins by hundred yards. But the crowd of 12,000 got its greatest thrill when Plant's decisively conquered the picturesque Frigerio and established a world indoor record for 5,000 metres.

Plant walked away from his famous European rival to win by 110 yards in a race which lost its third entrant unexpectedly when George Bouding, Canadian veteran, an Olympic champion of 1912, was forced to withdraw because of a physical breakdown.

Nurmi and Frigerio were the central figures in the closing Melrose drama which altogether witnessed the shattering of four more world's indoor marks, and the equalling of one other twice.

12 Records, Smashed
The total for the two nights' program presented twelve world's record performances with Nurmi holding three and his countryman Willie Rittola four, all made in his three mile race last night.

The fourth world's record was accounted for by Georgetown university's crack two mile relay team which scored its own standards by covering the distance in 7:44, while the 50 yard hurdle record of 6 and 1/2 seconds was equaled in a trial heat by Charles Moore, Penn State, and in the final by Herb Meyer, Newark A. C., who just did so at the tape.

Plant's time of 22:56 and 3:5 established a mark for the 5,000 metre walk which has not been raced before in doors. Nurmi's indoor records were 5:50 1/5 for the mile and a quarter, and 6:39 2/5 for one mile and a half. Both eclipsed records formerly held by Jole Ray.

Coolidge Wants Quick Work on Agricultural Recommendations

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—The legislative recommendations of the agricultural commission were transmitted to congress today by President Coolidge with a request for their enactment "at the earliest possible date." In a brief message sent to both house and senate the president not only urged prompt action but took occasion to express confidence in the commission and its findings.

Postal Increase Bill May Make Senators Keep Awake
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—A night session of the senate tomorrow to hasten action of the postal pay and rate increase bill was threatened today by Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire, in charge of the measures, after the day's discussion had failed to bring a vote on any of the pending amendments.

A vote is in order tomorrow on the proposal of Senator George, democrat, Georgia, to reduce present second class rates on advertising class sections of publications to those in effect before July 1, 1920. The bill provides for a slight increase in these rates.

An American Art

IN a recent periodical, one of the fashionable literary Reds made the statement that America has no art and is not developing any. The statement is not true, for America does have the beginning, at least, of an art, and she is rapidly adding to it. The trouble is that the critic is looking for the wrong kind of a characteristic. America will not develop an art that leans clearly one way as Russian plays and novels lean toward sordid realism. That is not the way with America. She will employ the Melting Pot methods, mixing together all that comes her way from foreign countries and turning out a product clearly stamped, "Made in U. S. A." It may be influenced by all the arts of Europe, but it will resemble none of them. It may have the essence of all the movements of the modern stage, but it will be a new movement in itself. It will be an art saving of Ford cars, of Eversharp pencils, and of I Q's but at least it will be the semblance of an art.

Auto Accidents

THE number of motor vehicles in the United States in 1924, as shown by registrations for the year, totaled 17,700,179 or a gain of approximately 16 per cent over the total of 15,222,658 recorded in 1923.

The number of fatal traffic accidents in 1924 totaled about 24,000 or a gain of approximately 6 per cent over the total of 22,600 recorded in 1923.

This year will undoubtedly show a continued increase in cars and in fatal injuries, to say nothing of the many serious injuries which are not fatal. A comparison of the two sets of figures shows that the increase in fatal accidents lags behind the increase in the number of cars. This is encouraging but nevertheless the fact that 24,000 persons lost their lives in automobile accidents in 1924 is appalling.

Speeding and violation of traffic rules are the principal, but not the only causes of accidents. There is need for an accurate and comprehensive report upon the causes and conditions of accidents in order that the evil can be dealt with intelligently.

Mental and physical tests of applicants for licenses are becoming more and more a possibility. Various legislatures will consider such bills this year. Nine states already have provided for the testing of eye sight.

Styles in Faces

THE millenium will come; the handsome man is on the way. He is heralded by Sir Arthur Keith of London, who insists that since man, in the last centuries, has refrained from gnawing his meat on a bone, as he did when he banded talk with the dinosaur, his personal beauty is increasing.

Sir Arthur believes that the latest face favored by the most discriminating, is narrower, and its mouth is smaller. And he goes on to explain that nibbling at eclairs and tittbits is so far removed from animal-like gnawing at a bone, that a race of Apollos is certain to result.

There will follow panic among Americans; there will be savage discarding of wads of gum, . . . bankruptcy of the Wrigley company. The Iowa farmer will plant his vast acres in alfalfa and beets, and mourn the passing of a splendid old tradition, corn on the cob. Gnawing the Iowa fruit on its ear is too akin to the primitive to pass muster with Sir Arthur. There will be a revolution in the land. America will become a nation of gaunt-eyed narrow-faced Apollos. The minenium will come.

True Democracy

AT a banquet of alumni returned for home-coming, a well known journalist said something like this—"Why do we come back to the old campus year after year? Not to see a new building or two; not to see the growth of the institution. We come back to see a game played across the white lines where every player, white or black, rich or poor, is under exactly the same rules—the only place in the world where such a thing can be seen."

The thought staggers us for a moment. We are Americans and America is the home of equality. Then we remember our Jim-Crow cars in the south; the failure to provide adequate school privileges for colored children; the denial of the right of suffrage and other glaring inequalities. We remember the social discriminations that open many doors to wealth and family that are closed tightly to more able persons outside the pale. We remember the cross sections of life with the lines of caste tightly drawn.

But off the football field, the white man and the black man, the sons of the millionaire and the miner, the blue-blooded New Englander and the sons of southern Europe stand side by side on the same team and work for a common end. The individual counts only for the success of the team. They all look alike after the first few minutes in the mud. The black makes the way clear for the white man, and the white man makes a path for his dusker brother. The football field is the only place where true democracy is being tried. It works there. Why not give it a trial in real life? The experiment has warranted further trial.

Queer Chokers, Tiny Flowers, Fluffy Fans, and Shawls Are New Accessories for Formals

At least half the pleasure in wearing formal dresses comes from the fascinating little accessories which go with the well appointed formal costume. The powers who design our fashions must have been aware of feminine humanity's falling when they appointed the costume jewelry for the winter season.

Chokers still hold their place of undisputed popularity, but in a variety of new colors and materials. Colored pearls, in almost any color, but especially in that ravishing shade of new blue, take first honors. With them may be used bracelets, combs, and fans all matching the color scheme of the entire costume. The combs, like the chokers, are of one solid color, set with brilliants in either white or the corresponding shade. Fans are smaller this year, and are fascinating bits of fluff and ivory, in the gayest shades of the rainbow. Large rings complete the necessities for costume jewelry, and they may be real, with white gold settings, or lovely imitations set in silver.

The old-fashioned trend, which some of this year's dresses typify, is emphasized by the use of flowers in the hair. Anything from the tiniest forget-me-nots for the bobbed-haired blonde, to a full blown rose for the long-haired brunette will be extremely good this year. Wide head bands, in silver or gold cloth, as well as the ever popular tiny wreaths, are fitting accessories for any costume.

Slippers are still of silver and gold cloth, but will be rivaled by the rather new idea of silver kid. Large brilliant buckles, of colors or white, are again in prominence. Ethel Barrymore, in the "Second Mrs. Tanqueray," wears white satin slippers with large rhinestone buckles in the first act, and later in the play, wears black satin slippers with brilliant buckles. A very new, but unfortunately rather expensive idea for formal footwear uses rhinestones and brilliants to trim the slipper itself, over a background of silver cloth.

Scarves of filmy shaded chiffon hold that popularity which never quite disappears. However, the large Spanish shawl, with its gay fringe and embroidery, is quite the best thing for an evening wrap. Last, but not least, Paris hints that the dresses themselves will not be short, never above twelve inches from the floor, and for the old-fashioned type, much longer than that.

Musical Magazine Prints Article of Prof. Kwalwasser

Discusses Jewish Folk-songs in Current Issue

An article on "Jewish Folk-Songs and What They Reveal," by Jacob Kwalwasser, associate professor in the music department, appears in the January issue of The Musical Quarterly. It contains an analysis of the content of musical productions of the Jews and an explanation of their characteristics.

The first part of the article deals with the rhythmic, melodic, and harmonic nature of these songs, while the second part deals with the racial characteristics of the Jew as revealed by his musical expressions.

Mr. Kwalwasser attributes the lack of ruggedness and rhythmic stamina in Jewish folk songs to occupations and residence of the Semites for the past 2,000 years. In the middle ages the Jews were restricted and excluded by the trade guilds from nearly all industrial occupations and prevented from owning land. The only occupations left open, then, were domestic trading, money, and the learned professions.

Even now, when they are permitted to own land, they do not turn to the soil, but prefer the occupations in the city to which they were forced by circumstances. Sedentary occupations are not conducive to rhythmic virility. City dwelling, for many centuries, has also robbed the Jew of his musical ruggedness.

Mr. Kwalwasser points out that the persecution of the Jews is written indelibly into these folk-melodies. The anxious trend reveals not only the supersensitiveness of the Jew, but also how centuries of struggle have taken his complacency from him. The Jew is the most nervous, and in so far the most modern of men. Mr. Kwalwasser contends that music reveals the history of a race, and although unconscious, it is a reliable datum in the study of the psychology of the race.

Cosmopolitanism Features W. A. A. Show February 9

Oriental Dances Will Lead Off Unusual Elements

Songs and Dialogues Offered in Show At Englert

Cosmopolitanism will be the outstanding feature of the W. A. A. vaudeville which will be held on February 9, in the Englert theater, under the auspices of the athletic association. Special dances from the Orient will be used, to rival the Russian ballets, and the American vaudeville.

The unusual variety of the features for the vaudeville will make it necessary to have most of the costumes specially made for the occasion. They will be designed by the members of the cast for the various acts.

To carry out the vaudeville idea, songs and dialogues will be presented, as well as the feature dances. The tumbling acts which were so well received at the time of the Halloween party will be introduced again, but with an entire change of program.

The Egyptian dance will be one of the prettiest acts, with its harem ladies, shifting lights, mysterious Buddha, and the animated frieze. A close rival for honors will be the butterfly feature, where fairies and Brownies will entertain with their clever pantomime. Short curtain acts will prevent the customary wait between scenes.

Tickets for the vaudeville are now on sale, and may be procured from the Iowa Supply company, Whatstone's, University Book Store, or any member of the athletic association.

China Wars Hit Paris Fashions

Chinese Silks With Solid Colors Are In Favor

PARIS, Jan. 28 (AP)—China's civil war has had far-reaching effects in Paris fashion centers, influencing everywhere the selection of materials for spring models already in the course of preparation in the great dressmaking houses in spite of the fact that the winter season has barely got under way.

Far eastern silks, of Chinese color designs and bearing such names as China crepe, crepe Majunga and Chin-Chin, are being extensively used in the creation of delectable modes to be launched at Auteuil and Longchamps next spring, in what promises to be one of the liveliest seasons for feminine raiment.

Solid colors such as gray, sky, blue or pale green, with wide borders done in hennas, yellows and soft shades of lavender predominate.

Some carry designs so large that two or three patterns would make a gown for a petite person. One pattern is a large yellow sunflower with a brown center on a white background. Another sample of the Chinese influence is a large all-over pattern done in three different colors. The first row is in black and white; the second and middle strip in black, red and white and in the final pattern green is added.

The Formal Season Is Almost Here

And Milady's thoughts are turning to adornments for this festive season.

A meeting of the Disabled American Veterans will be held at the American Legion hall, Wednesday, February 4th, at 7:30 p. m.

Seven contestants were entered in the tryouts. The speakers and their subjects were: Mary Louise Kelley, "A telephone romance"; Clara Corlett, "Katrinka's Visit to New York"; Martha Mumma, "Hagar"; Faye Gardner, "Mary Carey"; Ellen Jones, "Strongheart"; Pearl Saverald, "Dey Ain't No Ghosts"; Catherine Ball, "An Aspiring Dishwasher".

The contestants were assisted in their preparation by Harry G. Barnes, instructor in public speaking. The tryouts were held under the chairmanship of Virginia Kennedy, a member of the public speaking class.

Only a few of the closest friends of the couple were present, or knew of their honeymoon plans. This is Gloria Swanson's third matrimonial venture. Her first husband was Wallace Beery. Her second, Herbert K. Sornborn, recently divorced Miss Swanson on a charge of desertion.

The Washington chapter was represented on the toast program by Alex Miller, of that city, and other talks were made by Dr. Lester A. Royal, of West Liberty, who accepted the charter, and County Attorney C. A. Stafford, president of the Muscatine Rotarians. A musical program and dinner were also on the evening's program.

The West Liberty club was organized during the past winter by Doctor Bywater, who was honored by being made special representative of the district governor, of the eleventh district of Rotary clubs.

Station KFQP, owned and operated by Carson brothers, broadcast Otto Michels and his seven piece orchestra last night. The program consisted of popular musical selections.
