

THREE FIRES SWEEP GREAT PLAINS

House Passes $29,000,000 Budget Measure

Cut 100 Mile Path on Nebraska-Dakota Line

Cut Out $275,000 Replacement Fund for University

Figure New Taxation Rate at 9.14 Mills

Sum Well Distributed Among State Departments

(By the Associated Press) DES MOINES Ia., Mar. 26—The first bill drafted by the new state budget department which includes recommendations for state expenditures for the biennium beginning July 1 next, emerged from the house of representatives late today after three days consideration in executive session, with little material change in the aggregate appropriations. It accepted by the senate the reduction in the mill tax sought to be affected by budget director Hogue will be realized.

The measure which was passed by a vote of 98 to 1 in the lower chamber distributes among the various state departments approximately $29,000,000 or $4,000,000 less than the amounts raised by the millage tax before the biennium ending next June 30. The rate of taxation necessary to carry out the recommendations of the budget director has been estimated at 9.14 mills, a reduction of two mills from the last biennium rate and inasmuch as the bill passed today reduced the budget director's total estimate by $78,000 the rate of taxation he sought to establish is likely to prevail.

The biggest reduction made by the budget director's recommendations was in the item proposed for the University of Iowa. It called for appropriation of $275,000 dollars as a replacement or contingent fund. This item was eliminated after a lengthy debate.

Some difficulty was also encountered when the appropriation for Iowa State College was under consideration but the total for that institution also was reduced. The contingent fund requested by the budget director being cut to $150,000.

The State University not withstanding the big reduction in the elimination of the replacement fund will receive $215,000 more than it was given during the present biennium. The budget director had recommended an increase in the University appropriation totalling $490,000.

The aggregate appropriation for Ames is $150,000 less than the budget proposed.

Richtmyer Talks Here on X-Ray

Graduate College to Sponsor Lecture by Physicist

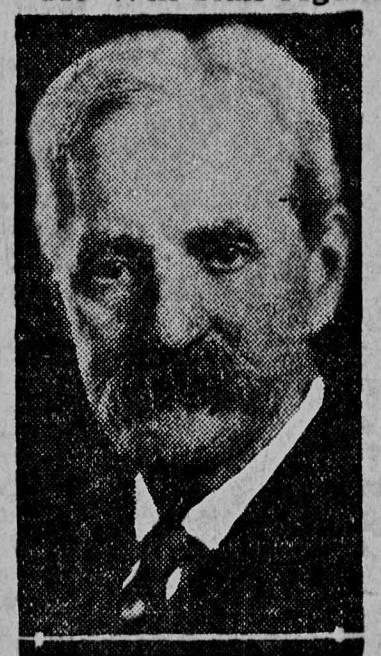

Professor F. K. Richtmyer, the national president of the society of Sigma Xi, a distinguished physicist, will give a lecture under the auspices of the graduate college in 301 physics building, Saturday at 7:30 p. m. on the subject, "The Absorption of X-Rays."

Professor Richtmyer's lecture will be upon his own researches which form an important part of our present knowledge of this field. The lecture is open to the public, but will be technical in character.

Professor Richtmyer has been active not only as an investigator, but as an organizer of research in the physical laboratory at Cornell university.

He was one of the founders of the Optical Society of America and has held important posts in the National Research council in Washington.

Cummins Announces He Will Run Again

Albert B. Cummins Senator Cummins announces that he will run for Senator in 1926 to succeed himself. His chances have not been predicted.

Cummins Promises to Run in 1926

Senatorial Situation Said to Depend on Brookhart Fight

(By the Associated Press) DES MOINES, Ia., March 26—When Senator Cummins announced he would be a candidate to succeed himself in 1926, provided his health maintains, the whole subject of senatorial candidates was revived with enthusiasm in the political quarters here.

For a time this winter the subject was informally discussed, but there was no definite pronouncement, merely an intimation.

Outcome Depends on Brookhart. Some political observers contend that the whole senatorial situation in 1926 depends entirely upon the outcome of the Brookhart-Steck contest. Friends of the senator say Mr. Brookhart will be a candidate against "all comers" if the senate decides against him relative to his race with Daniel F. Steck of Ottumwa in the November election.

Senator Brookhart himself has intimated he will "seek vindication" from the people if the contest goes in favor of Mr. Steck.

If the contest is decided in favor of Senator Brookhart the field will be open, without injection of the Brookhart element, to Senator Cummins and those aspiring to his seat.

Cummins Support Uncertain. Whether anyone will oppose Mr. Cummins for the republican nomination has not yet been definitely ascertained. There is a group of well-known political leaders pushing the candidacy of former Governor N. E. Kendall although the former governor has declined to look favorably upon the move. Another group looks to Governor John Hammill as a possible candidate.

Starbuck to Give Sioux City Talks

To Address Teachers' Association and Kiwanis Club

Prof. Edwin D. Starbuck, of the department of psychology and philosophy will go to Sioux City on April 2 for a series of lectures. Two addresses on research work in the graduate college will be delivered at Morningside College on April 2, and two before the Northwestern State Teachers Association are scheduled for the next day, April 3.

The Kiwanis Club of Sioux City has also secured Professor Starbuck for a talk during his stay there.

Noll, Shuttleworth, Jenkins, Hancher, Return for Drive

Iowa City, Mecca for Veteran Union Majors

Campaign to Open at Banquet on Monday

Former majors, men who have made the past campaigns of the Memorial Union a series of successes, but whom graduation has scattered throughout the mid-west, are returning to Iowa City during the coming week-end in the persons of Vergil Hancher, Gerhard Noll, Craven Shuttleworth and Bert Jenkins.

Drive Opens Monday. Iowa City will be their Mecca Monday evening for at that time the keynote of this year's drive for the Union will be struck, which campaign when completed will perchance pave the way for the construction of a second wing to the building which is now rapidly taking shape at the northwest corner of the main campus.

Was All-Around Athlete. Bert Jenkins who is now athletic coach at Coe College is one of the best all-round athletes Iowa has ever graduated. Besides being a member of the football and basketball teams during his college career, he has served as assistant football coach and as freshman basketball coach. While a member of the football team he played the position of quarterback. During his brief stay at Coe he has coached championship teams. He is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Hancher Still Heads Drive. Hancher was master of ceremonies of last year's drive and will continue in that capacity this year. He is a '24 graduate of the college of law and since his graduation has been affiliated with the law firm of Kush Butler in Chicago. He is a member and former president of Sigma Nu fraternity, was elected to A. F. U. during his senior year in the University, and spent two years abroad in study at Oxford, England, being a successful candidate for the Rhodes scholarship. For a short time during his law college work he assisted in instructional work in the department of political science.

Noll leaves a teaching job at Saganaw, Michigan, to return to Iowa City on the eve of the union drive. His special line was athletics, he being a member of the Iowa relay team which was responsible for slashing conference records a couple of years ago. He served for some time as secretary of the university Y. M. C. A. and was a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. Previous to taking the teaching position at Saganaw Noll held a commercial position with Killans in Cedar Rapids.

Shuttleworth is at present practicing his profession of law in Cedar Rapids. He was a member of the Old Gold football team which defeated Yale and was a familiar figure on the gridiron during all his three years of eligibility as an Iowa athlete. He is member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

Senior Invitations Available; Covers Embossed in Gold. Senior invitations for commencement must be ordered before spring vacation at the University book store according to an announcement made yesterday.

The invitations this year are in two styles, one leather-covered, and one paper-covered. The prices are the same as last year.

The front of the program will have a design in relief of Old Capitol, embossed with gold.

Currier Girls Back Debaters

Supporting the Iowa-Minnesota Debate en masse, Currier Hall has voted to sell tickets, play hostess to the Minnesota team, and attend the debate in a body.

This was decided last evening at a house meeting at which Miss Mildred Freeburg, debate coach, presented the project to the dormitory girls.

According to the plan for playing hostess to the visiting team, the girls will sell three tickets each, and a special section of the auditorium will be reserved for the Currier girls.

Evelyn Harter, formerly president of Women's Forensic Council, Marjorie Buhler, of the Iowa-Minnesota debate team, and several extemporaneous speakers, won the entire support of the group for the plan.

Ramona Evans was elected by the mass meeting to take charge of the ticket sale and head the committee to execute the hostess duties.

Faversham, Anglin Booked for City

Play in "Foot-Loose" by Zoe Akins, April 14

Through arrangements effected yesterday by Nate Chapman, William Faversham and Margaret Anglin will appear in Iowa City at the Englert theater on Tuesday, April fourteenth.

Miss Anglin and Mr. Faversham, supported by a metropolitan company, are making a rans-continental tour in "Foot-Loose," a comedy drama of intrigue by Zoe Akins, author of "Declasse" and "The Varying Shore." Miss Akins recently lectured in Iowa City. This city has been included in the tour that will take these two favorites to the Pacific coast and return.

Two players of the prominence and ability of Margaret Anglin and William Faversham are seldom seen together here. Miss Anglin recently toured the country in "A Woman of Bronze" and has been a great favorite ever since she scored an unusual hit in "The Great Divide."

William Faversham has for a score of years been constantly before the public in successful plays. In recent seasons his activities have been confined to the larger theatrical centers, but he is known in this territory through such hits as "The Squaw Man," "The Faun," "Lord and Lady Algy," "The Hawk," and in previous years as the leading man and famous matinee idol with Charles Frohman's Empire theatre company. Previous to this tour "Foot-Loose" has never been seen outside of New York city where it was rated as a success by critics and public alike.

The play is built around the unhappiness of two married couples, both of whom are so hopelessly mistreated that their lives seem practically ruined. The four people decide to better their condition, and after a lengthy conference resolve on divorce and re-marriage as the most satisfactory way to reach happiness. But difficulties arise when legal grounds for divorce are sought and from then on the play progresses rapidly with clever lines and much satire on existing marriage and divorce laws.

One of the obstacles to divorce which comes up in the matter of "eligion. Mary Chadwick is an Episcopalian and finds that her church will marry only the innocent party to a divorce. This brings up the question of who will be the guilty party; shall she desert her husband or must her husband desert her? Thus one situation after another is created which requires clever handling to clear up.

Near Record Crowd. The theatre was filled almost to capacity, the audience being but a slight number less than the one which attended "Begger on Horseback," the record crowd of the season.

The setting used for "Why Not?" was that of a well-to-do American home. A plain box was used on the stage and very little unusual lighting effects were required. Ray Halcombe acted as stage manager and Walter Dehner directed the lights. Prof. E. C. Mable handled the performance. "Why Not?" will be repeated tonight. The curtain will rise at 8 p. m.

The next play to be presented by the University Theatre will be "The Silver Box" by John Galsworthy. This is a social problem play, the setting of which takes place in England. It is a criticism of existing social conditions and takes up the difference in the treatment of the rich and the poor.

Usual Mencken Unlike Mencken of Books--Canby

An interesting light was thrown on the personality of H. L. Mencken, supposedly one of the most vicious and radical of all American critics, by Henry Seidel Canby, editor of the "Saturday Review of Literature," New York, and the principal speaker at the recent writers' conference.

In an interview yesterday, he said, "the Mencken which one meets on the street is nothing like the Mencken which one finds between the covers of his books. Mr. Mencken is a chap of very pleasing personality and much more peaceful in his conversations than in his essays. Nothing will make Mr. Mencken angry quicker than to tell him of the legend that he is a German who came over to America at the age of thirty."

"Mencken is essentially American in everything he does. He has lived all of his life in Baltimore and he is quite American in demands. The reason that he adopts his extremely critical methods of approach to everything, is that he is, figuratively speaking, trying to put a burr under the tail of Pegasus and by so doing he is getting a decided reaction."

Butler Addresses Law Students on Value of Service

"Absolute Integrity, Courage, Faith Necessary"

"Must Take Client into Consideration"

100 Percent Integrity

Service was the theme of Rush C. Butler's talk to the students of law, last night in the law library. He spoke of service, not from a selfish view, but from the broader sense which includes the lawyer's clients and everyone else with whom he comes in contact.

"The three requisites of service are absolute integrity, courage, and faith," said Mr. Butler.

By absolute integrity he did not mean ninety-nine and forty-four hundredths percent, he continues but one hundred percent; a truthfulness which is the foundation of a man's character and reputation, courage to face life's problems and difficulties, and faith in human nature and in himself.

"Love of the profession," he said, "is an essential to success. A man should be so anxious to go out into practice that he can hardly wait until he has finished his education. If there is doubt in anyone's mind of his love of the profession, she should not attempt to follow it."

Why Not? Gives Clever Satire on Modern Divorce

University Theatre to Present "Silver Box" April 1 and 2

With a cast of experienced amateur actors in a comedy of amusing situations, the University Theatre presented "Why Not?" to a large and responsive audience last night in the auditorium of the natural science building.

The play is built around the unhappiness of two married couples, both of whom are so hopelessly mistreated that their lives seem practically ruined. The four people decide to better their condition, and after a lengthy conference resolve on divorce and re-marriage as the most satisfactory way to reach happiness. Roosevelt Party to Leave April 11

CHICAGO, Mar. 26 (AP)—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt tonight announced details of the expedition, in which he and his brother Kermit propose to traverse sections of the Himalayas and Turkistan, which have unknown to white men since the days of Marco Polo.

Plans for the trip were made here today at a conference with the Field Museum authorities. The expedition will leave April 11.

The company, Colonel Roosevelt said, will be assembled in Bombay, India, where attired in native costume he and his associates will set out on an inland journey of a least 1500 miles.

Indian Reservation Laid Waste; Three Villages Burned

Forty Mile Gale Fans Flames; Telephone Lines Down

(By the Associated Press) WHITE RIVER, S. D., March 26—Three prairie fires were raging in the Rosebud reservation tonight while ranchers and Indians were fighting desperately to check the flames.

Three inland villages had been returned to ruins by blazes, and one report received here told of a woman and two small children being burned to death at Tuthill, a small town in Bennett county.

The villages reported swept by the flames are Vetel, Tuthill, and St. Francis.

The fires have already covered over 100,000 acres and were sweeping over the state borderline into Nebraska.

Urgent calls for help were sent out from ranchmen in the threatened districts. Heavy losses of farm and ranch property have been reported. One of the fires, fifteen miles southwest of White River, has covered a large area and has become uncontrollable, due to the high wind. The second fire started in Washbaugh county, forty-five miles southwest of White River, yesterday and was still burning tonight. This fire has already covered a distance of seventy-five miles and is at the Nebraska line near Valentine, Nebraska.

The third fire started this morning twenty miles west of White River. It has covered many miles of prairie land.

Reports as to the extent of the conflagration could not be confirmed owing to the fact that all telephone lines in the district are down.

One report had it that the devastated area running through the Rosebud reservation was one hundred miles long and nearly as wide.

Jazz-Killer Breaks Down Twice Outside Courtroom

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 26 (AP)—While the machinery of the law shaped a jury in the superior court here today to try her on a charge of murder, Dorothy Ellingson, who two months ago at the age of sixteen said she shot her mother rather than stay at home away from the night life of San Francisco, sat through the proceedings trembling, twisting the handle of her handbag. Twice she fainted, both times outside the courtroom after the crowd had cleared out.

Language Teachers Open Investigation

Standardization of methods of teaching foreign languages and requirements for students is the purpose of a special committee for investigation along these lines, which met in Chicago a few days ago, with Prof. Charles E. Young, of the romance language department representing Iowa.

The immediate problems confronting the committee necessitate the adoption of standards for teaching modern foreign languages in colleges, universities and high schools. First, a decision as to the relative importance of speaking or reading the language studied will be discussed.

Of most interest to the university will be the attempt to develop the so called attainment tests by which students are classified according to ability and training. Professor Young expects to send in copies of the tests which have already been used here, as a basis for classification. He will also send lists of teachers and schools from this state who will contribute such information.

Should a teacher of an elementary course in French or Spanish be required to have a fluent command of the language, will be the third issue. Professors Bush and Wilson, of this university, recently sent out questionnaires on this subject.

Dean Seashore Still Absent From Office Duties Yesterday

Dean Carl E. Seashore, dean of the graduate college, who contracted a severe cold Monday and was forced to leave his office, was unable to return to his work yesterday. It is probable that he will return to his duties either today or tomorrow.

Valentine, Neb., March 26—Prairie fires raging along the South Dakota-Nebraska border since late yesterday, tonight remained uncontrolled after devastating an area estimated at 100,000 acres, lying largely in the Rosebud Indian reservation at Pripp, S. D., and was moving eastward along the Niobrara River, fanned by a strong north-west wind with an estimated velocity of forty to fifty miles per hour.

The fire started northwest of Cody, Nebraska, and soon gained such headway with the aid of the gale-kick that women and children at Cody and Menzo were rooted out of bed and all men citizens of the towns went to combat the flames which for a time threatened destruction of both places.

Tonight practically every man in Valentine was out fighting menacing flames, and volunteers were rushed from all towns in this part of the state to aid in the attack to extinguish the blazes which have done an unestimated amount of damage in South Dakota and northern Nebraska.

Reports as to the extent of the conflagration could not be confirmed owing to the fact that all telephone lines in the district are down.

One report had it that the devastated area running through the Rosebud reservation was one hundred miles long and nearly as wide.

To Open Grave of Mrs. McClintock Will Examine Body And Dr. Olson's for Poison

CHICAGO, Mar. 26—The graves of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock and Dr. Oscar Olson will be opened and their bodies examined for evidence of poison or other unnatural cause for death under an order signed late today by Coroner Oscar Wolf. Exhumation will be started Friday afternoon. Mrs. McClintock was the mother of "Billy" who died last December of typhoid fever which the state charges was caused by germs fed him by William D. Shepherd, his foster father.

Dr. Olson, brother of the chief justice of the Chicago municipal court was the McClintock family physician, and also died under mysterious circumstances according to his brother.

Shepherd who was refused release on bail yesterday in criminal court was identified today by a man who said he believed Shepherd "looked like" the man who purchased a microscope from his firm.

The Hard-Boiled Senate

VICE-PRESIDENT Dawes is preparing to take his fight with the senate to the people. The senate is all wrong, and Mr. Dawes believes, having failed himself, that the people can save the senate and make that august body what Mr. Dawes wants it to be.

But the senate is unmoved. It is hard-boiled. It has had experience with executives who thought the senate ought to be saved. Woodrow Wilson broke himself down trying to save the senate. General Dawes' job may be just as hopeless.

Kellogg's First Test

PRESIDENT Coolidge has ordered Secretary of State Kellogg to make a study of the foreign situation in view of calling another conference for the limitation of armaments this summer. The problem facing the new secretary is no easy one. Many technical details must be mastered, and the attitude of every country concerned must be studied. One of the questions which is likely to come up is that of the airplane. The signatory powers of the last conference succeeded in limiting the tonnage which could be carried by aircraft, but nothing was said about the numbers of airplanes which each country could manufacture and maintain in its defense programs. Another conference is likely to bring forth some pleas from American statesmen for the limitation of the number of aircraft maintained by other nations.

Cruiser and submarine tonnage is likely to receive some consideration also, and the maze of technical details which surrounds this subject alone will require the best efforts of the new secretary.

Mr. Kellogg rather labors under a handicap by having been preceded by a man whose ability as a diplomat and statesman was so great. The work of Charles E. Hughes in handling the first conference for the limitation of armaments was masterly and commendable and the results of the conference held under his leadership were historically noteworthy.

Kellogg's critics have predicted that American foreign policies would no longer be determined with the certainty and firmness which characterized the department of state under the guidance of his predecessor. However, if the new secretary is able to call a conference of the greater powers and secure an additional reduction of armaments over that made under the treaty at Washington, he will have met his first great test and will have proved beyond a doubt his ability as a statesman and a diplomat.

Defense of Jazz

PAUL Whiteman, one of the greatest jazz orchestra leaders, said recently that reformers are making a mistake when they blame jazz music, so-called, for the alleged wildness and carelessness of American youth. He also says that jazz music is the only representative American music—"the only music that fits the spirit of our red-blooded Americans."

There have been reformers in every generation. The youth of every generation has been the butt of a great deal of criticism for one reason or another. Something has always been blamed for the downfall of youth. In this generation, it happens to be jazz music. Whiteman sarcastically remarked that he could remember way back when ice cream social received the blame. A hundred years from now something entirely different from jazz music may be causing the waywardness of American youth.

Whiteman's observation concerning jazz as the representative music of America ought to create some discussion among students of music. There are probably many things that could be said for and against it. Jazz is distinctly American, and is heard and enjoyed wherever Americans congregate. If it is not the real American music, what is? Or have we any?

Spring

"The soote season, that bud and bloom forth brings,
When green hath clad the hill and eke the vale;
The nightingale with feathers new she sings;
The turtle to her mate hath told her tale."

These lines written over three centuries ago by the Earl of Surrey can be read with understanding today as we see the white clouds drift over the blue space of sky and feel a little more warmth in the sunbeams. We can almost picture Surrey himself in the gay days of his youth passing down the road between the green hedges of Elizabethan England, bound perhaps on some tender errand and musing on the "green" that "hath clad the hill and eke the vale."

Spring has ever been the season for light thoughts and day dreams. It is the season when mankind pauses for a moment to dream in the consciousness of a new and subtle freedom, when youth finds its daily tasks harder and more irksome than ever before. It would seem that on the face of the common feeling which seems to pervade the thoughts of man, a feeling of a bit more unselfishness and generosity toward the rest of the world, that spring would be the ideal time for settling some of the difficulties which now perplex the nations of the earth.

It is at least to be hoped that this spring, which begun so auspiciously with sunshine and clear skies may be a season of better international understandings. If such a condition were to result it would certainly be one of the most memorable in history.

Poison Cases

A GALLON bottle of oil of mustard and ammonia, upset when the vault of a bank in Good Thunder, Minnesota, was blown by safe robbers recently, so completely filled the room with fumes that the robbers were unable to get into the vault, according to press dispatches.

This method of fighting bank robbers is one that the chemical warfare department of the United States army might install as a peace time means of justifying its existence. The way in which the chemical service is injecting itself into almost every phase of industrial and commercial life was explained by Major Mason who visited the university recently and staged a chemical warfare exhibition.

Gas has been a great aid in fighting and checking the boll weevil in the south, and in the timber countries the fire fighting advantages of chemicals has been proved. Poisonous gas has almost entirely freed the Philippines of rodents that destroy sugar cane.

The Turning Leaves

Vice-President Charles G. Dawes, whose great-great-grandfather, the son of a Boston tailor, shares with Paul Revere the fame as one of the patriots who on the eve of April 19th, 1775, started out on his ride to warn the residents of Lexington and Concord of the approach of the British troops, has accepted an invitation to speak at the 150th celebration of the battle of Lexington and Concord.

Allen French, the Concord author, in his timely new book, "The Day of Concord and Lexington," just published by Little, Brown & Company, says of the Vice-President's ancestor: "William Dawes, Junior, was, like Paul Revere, an experienced express rider for the Whigs. Just turned thirty, he had lately thrashed a soldier who had insulted his wife, and had been concerned in the successful plot to steal from under the eyes of a guard the cannon belonging to the artillery company commanded by the Tory, Paddock. In lifting the cannon he had silently to endure the pain of having his cuff button embedded in his wrist. When the wound troubled him, he went to Warren to have it dressed, when his refusal to tell how it had been injured was as good as an explanation to the keen doctor. Dawes was therefore just the man for Warren's needs, and served him well at such a time. For disguise, he had been accustomed to travel as a farmer or miller, often with a bag of meal behind him on his horse; perhaps on this occasion he dressed the same part. We are told that he arrived at the 'lines' on the Neck at a time when the gates were open for the passage of some regulars, and Dawes, 'Attending their motions apparently as a spectator, was allowed by the connivance of the guard at the gate, who was privately friendly to him, to pass out with them.' So much for the coolness of the man whom Warren had chosen, and such was the result of Dawes' evident habit of scraping acquaintance with such of the soldiers as he found to be friendly fellows."

ON GINGHAM TIES

The Result of Assigning a Reporter to Write a Feature Story on the New Gingham Neckties.

"The gingham dog and the calico cat,
Side by side on the table sat....."

The gingham tie and the calico bow,
Neck on neck.....tied just so!

Striped and checkered—any kind,
Don't cost much, so rest your mind.

There goes one.....bless my soul!
Looks just like a barber pole!

And that one there with little checks,
How the men will deck their necks!

Another one.... I must confess
Just like Bridget's wash-day dress.

Good style? Iowa City merchants say:
"Just the latest—Buy one today."

Calico?—No—but just to show
How much about them boys really know

I'll tell you what my editor said,
As across the office, me, he led:

"See".....(pointing to a tie of gingham)
"Calico ties.....the boys all fling 'em!"

Laughed I, "You mean that stuff?"
And—oh well—enough's enough.

Iowa City Undermined Like Famous Parisian Underworld

The whole town is undermined. Underground tunnels six feet high and six feet wide form a network of passages over (or rather under) the entire part of the city in which there are University buildings. One could go from liberal arts through a warm, dry, cement-floored, steam-heated, electric-lighted tunnel to the Old Capitol, the medical laboratories, down to the laundry, the heating plant, or even to Currier hall.

About twenty years ago two tunnels were dug from the heating plant to all of the University buildings. Hot air passed through one of these underground ways to heat the class-room and office buildings. The other was used for ventilation.

Today new tunnels, filled with large steam pipes, join the various campus buildings. The heat is almost unbearable, yet men work in them daily, keeping the pipe joints and connections in shape for continual use. One man said that he spent three months of last winter in these tunnels. Why go to Florida when such an opportunity offers itself at our very feet? someone asks.

The old tunnels are still used for ventilation and are cleaned out at regular periods.

Child Development Added to Home Economics

The "engaged girls" courses will be offered to summer school students for the first time in several years. The Home Economics department has yielded this year to repeated requests from students and others to give courses in this field.

"Engaged Girls" Not Expected
The engaged girls, however, are not apt to be those who will benefit from this, according to Prof. Frances Zull, head of the department.

"We expect two main types of students," she said, "those women now in the business, who will come back to brush up and bring themselves up-to-date, and those who are working for their degrees, and will take this as an opportunity to make a few hours of credit."

New Child Training Course
The brushers-up will find a new side to Home Economics, if they take the six weeks course in Child Development which will be given by the Child Welfare Research station in co-operation with other departments. The parts which will be especially good for them are Child Psychology, under Dr. Bird T. Baldwin, and Child Feeding, by Dr. Amy Daniels. Specialists from different parts of the country will lecture in this course. Among them will be Dr. Helen T. Woolley, of the Merrill Palmer school, of Detroit. Mrs. Sidonie Gruenberg of the Child Study Association of New York, and Dr. Lois Hayden Meek, of the American Association of University Women." All the regular courses of the department will be offered and the regular teaching staff retained. The prerequisite courses will be given also, for beginning Home Economics students.

Leah Rose Elected New President of Forensic Council

Officers Make Formal Appearance at Lit Mixer

Leah Rose, A2 of Iowa City, was elected president of the woman's forensic council at a meeting of that group yesterday afternoon. Other officers elected at that time are Catherine Richter, A3 of Dav- enport, vice-president; Dorothy Holdoegel, A3 of Rockwell City, treasurer; and Elizabeth Klueck- hohn, A2 of Eagle Grove, secretary. These officers will assume their duties at once but will not be formally introduced to forensic groups until the all-lit mixer which will be held March 31 in Hep hall.

Another feature of the mixer will be the presentation of the new lit- erary society plaque to the Hamlin Garland literary society members who will retain it until the end of this year, when the 1925 award will be made.

Canoeing Class for Women Added by Miss Halsey

In order that co-eds may learn the care and handling of a canoe, Miss Elizabeth Halsey, head of the depart- ment of physical education for women is organizing a class in canoe- ing. This is a University sport of- fered as an elective in the physical education department.

The only requirement for en- trance in the class is that the stu- dent be able to pass a swimming test as follows. She must be able to swim 100 yards or five times the length of the pool after being pushed into the pool at the deep end. Follow- ing this she must be able to contin- ue swimming, treading water or floating for fifteen minutes. Any stroke may be used in this test with the exception of the back stroke.

The class will be held in the after- noon and will be under the super- vision of Miss Charlotte MacDou- gall. The instruction will include the use of the canoe, the care, and the various methods of paddling. The technique used in the class will be that which has been used in various girls' summer camps about the country, and is patterned after the fashion of efficient guides, some of the ideas coming from Maine.

New Y.W. Officers and Cabinet Plan Week-End Meeting

To Discuss Work for Coming Year With Miss Summers

The old and new cabinets and councils of the University Y. W. C. A. will be entertained at a house party at Red Ball Inn this week-end. It will begin with lun- cheon Saturday noon, and end the following noon. The purpose of the affair will be to give the newly elected officers an idea of what will be expected of them for the coming year.

The committee in charge of the house party is Margaret Sayers, A4 of Jefferson; Mary Goody- koontz, A3 of Boone; Frances Rose A3 of Shellsburg; and Pamela Du- laney, A2 of Sergeants Bluff.

The cabinet which will attend the party has recently been appointed by the new president. Members are: religious education, Helen Cole, A2 of Woodbine; social, Fran- ces Rose, A3 of Shellsburg; Com- munity work, Edna Weststrom, A3 of Madrid; world fellowship, Edna Miller, A3 of Brooklyn; fin- ance, Eva Threlkeld, A3 of Charl- ton; and membership, Mildred Eck A2 of Des Moines. The elected officers, who have not yet been installed, are Pamela Dulaney, A2 of Sergeants Bluff, president; Eleanor Thomas, A1 of Fort Dodge, vice president; Margaret Triplett, A3 of Storm Lake, secretary; Mary Goodykoontz, A3 of Boone, treas- urer; and Margaret Sayers, A4 of Jefferson, U. R. representative.

Who Has Right to Declare War Is Question in Co-Eds' Minds

To whom should be given the power to declare war? Is this an inalienable right of congress or should such questions be submitted to a referendum of the people? This is the question that Iowa co-ed debaters will argue with women from Minnesota on the evening of April 3.

The teams have been chosen af- ter a series of intensive tryouts. The negative team, which will go to Minneapolis to meet the Minne- sota affirmative team will include, Marjorie Buhler, A4 of Atlanta, Ga.; Lillian Spalla, A3 of Britt; and Dorothy Chapman, A4 of Bona- parte.

The affirmative team which will clash with the Minnesota represen- tatives on the home floor here is composed of: Ruth Tamlin, A2 of Missouri Valley; Lucile Duke, A4 of Birmingham; and Irene Bowman, A3 of Iowa City.

This is the first time that an Iowa-Minnesota public discussion has been scheduled for co-eds.

Next year, Wisconsin plans to enter the conflict so that the af- fair may become an annual trian- gular meet.

Dean Kay and Miss Daley Express Views on Senior Memorial Plans

"It am for it certainly," responded Dean George F. Fay, dean of the college of liberal arts, when asked concerning the practicability of the senior memorial tax plan. "It is a type of thing that is done in all the larger institutions and is undoubtedly the best plan to follow."

The dean went on to say that the danger in selecting class memorials lay in the fact that in a great many cases trivial things were chosen for this purpose. He advocated the careful choice of some permanent object and mentioned the bronze plaque in the Old Capitol, given by the class of 1910, as example of this sort of thing.

Miss Clara May Daley, of the history department, in discussing the idea of the tax, stated that while it was perhaps the most feasible plan, it would in some cases in-

Balfour Installs Jewish University

First of Kind Erected on Oriental Soil by Orientals

JERUSALEM, Mar. 26—The Hebrew University of Jerusalem, which is to be opened here April 1 by Lord Balfour, who comes from London especially for this purpose, is the first European institution of its kind, says the university committee's announcement. "to be erected on oriental soil by an eastern people, who, after 2,000 years absence, are returning to the east with the culture of the west."

On Mountain Top

The university occupies the summit of Mount Scopus, just outside the gates of the ancient city, overlooking the city of David, and in the distance may be seen the mountains of Moab and the Dead Sea. The aims of the institution were outlined at the laying of the cornerstone in July 1918 by Dr. Chaim Weizmann, member of the central board of directors, as follows:

"A Paradox"

"It seems at first sight paradoxical that in a land with so sparse a population, in a land where everything still remains to be done in a land crying out for such simple things as ploughs, roads and harbors, we should be creating a center of spiritual and intellectual developments. But it is no paradox for those who know the soul of the Jew. It is true that great social and political problems still face us, and will demand their solution. We Jews know that when the mind is given fullest play, when we have a center for the development of Jewish consciousness, then co-incidentally we shall attain the fulfillment of our material needs."

Unifying Center

"Our university, formed by Jewish learning and Jewish energy, will mold itself into an integral part of our national structure which is in process of erection. It will attract all that is noblest in Jewry throughout the world; a unifying center for our scattered elements. There will go forth, too, inspiration and strength, that shall revivify the power now latent in our scattered communities."

Brookhart Gains Two Votes in Boone Recount

DES MOINES, Mar. 26 (UP)—Two votes were gained by Senator Smith W. Brookhart in a check of the voting machines at Boone, Ia., according to an announcement today by Louis Cook of this city.

Cook represents Brookhart in the contest for a seat in the United States senate which is on between Dan Steek of Ottumwa and Brookhart. Steek is represented by Maurice Cahill of Cedar Rapids.

Muhaska county machines are to be checked during the latter part of this week. Those at Dubuque were recounted some time ago in order to release them for a local election. The greater part of this work will not be undertaken for about three weeks, Cook declared today.

Students Becoming "Undignified," Eat Ice Cream Cones on the Street

Popularity of Kids' Luxury Increases, Warm Weather Aids Confectioners

"Primarily and specifically, a cone is a solid generated by rotation of a right triangle about one of its legs," said Noah in the antediluvian days of his dictionary.

But locally and specifically, a cone is a symbol of Iowa corn-fed hunger, a sure sign of spring, a means of defecating from the torridity of spring fever.

"Two years ago, students feared for their dignity, and stayed in the store to eat their ice cream cones," said a clerk in one of the stores. "But now they venture on the streets with whole handfuls for the fellas," and walk down the street licking one. And it isn't just the boys, the girls do it, too."

Two stores in Iowa City have each sold more than 250 ice cream cones daily this week, most of them to students. Another shop sells about seven pounds of almonds a day, and almost as many peanuts.

"Students eat salted nuts three or four times a day sometimes," said the proprietor of one shop.

Toasted sandwiches, "B and B's" lettuce-and-tomato sandwiches have had great popularity since warm weather arrived, local dealers say. "And salads—we sell four times as many."

"Contrary to popular opinion, candy makes more sales than it did a month ago, and boys buy more of it than girls," was one opinion voiced. "But maybe the girls eat it."

Fresh limeade, milk root beer, and chocolate milk shakes have been the popular drinks. "Of course there are malted milks—and they like them thick."

"This is the time of year when girls begin to reduce," one waffer laughed. "They confide to us that I'm not eating regular meals

Petrified Trees Resist Blizzards, Rains of Nevada

TONOPAH, Nev., Mar. 26 (AP)—That there is a petrified forest, one of the most beautiful in the country, within 40 miles of Tonopah, is a fact not generally known. More than 100 petrified trees are still standing, just as they grew originally. Little has been written about this forest on account of its inaccessibility.

The unique forest covers several hundred acres. The ground is strewn with the fossilized bones of animals, and here and there are small caves. The entrance to the forest is through a small canyon which widens into a river bed which, in design, reminds one somewhat of the Grand Canyon.

Lambert Cracks Mark for 500 Yard Swim; Pentathlon for Tankers Completed Today

One University swimming record went by the boards in the Pentathlon swimming races run off yesterday in the men's pool. Lambert, swimming his 500-yard race, reeled off the distance in 6:35, bettering the former record of 7:7-9 held by Ivan Klingaman and established last year.

Competition proved stiffest in the 200-yard breast stroke yesterday. Carter, Marble, Lambert, McClintock and Murphy all turning in fast times for the event. The fancy diving event, consisting of four required dives was also run off during the afternoon.

This afternoon will complete the annual Pentathlon swim as the 500-yard free style is the only race which remains to be completed. An Olympic trophy will be awarded to the high scorer of the contest besides medals and ribbons for others placing near the top.

Phi Deltas Take Opener

D. T. D. Falls in "Football" Game; First of Pan-Hel Cage Tourney

Phi Delta Theta trounced the Tau Deltas, 20 to 15, in the opening game of the pan-hellenic basketball tournament at the men's gym last night.

Willow Scantlebury proved his worth on the basketball floor as well as on the football field, his shooting being a feature of the game last night. As football players, Scantlebury and Leland Parkin, also in the Phi Delts line-up, were rather rough basketeers.

Kirk Yerkes, forward, on their quint. Men were thrown for losses, line plunges and tackles were frequent, and Hoffman, referee was bowled over in the rough and tumble contest.

Most of the scoring was done in the first half of the game, the period ending with the count at 19-11 for the Phi Deltas. The Tau Deltas scored 4 to their opponents 1 in the last half.

The lineups were as follows: Phi Deltas, King, Reeves and Scantlebury, forwards; Foster, center; Parkin and Harkins, guards; Tau Deltas, McCord and Yerkes, forwards; Finley, center; Hines and Van Oosterhout, guards.

Hawkeye Backers Fear for Iowa's Chance in Relay

Fears that the Iowa mile relay team, a failure on indoor tracks will not rally enough to put up a stiff defense for the travelling trophies of the Kansas and Drake Relays are creeping into the Hawkeye track camp.

This is a crucial year for at the Kansas Relays, Iowa needs but one more win to take the big Outland challenge cup won by the teams of 1923 and 1924; and at Drake the John L. Griffith trophy, a poised bronze statue of Mercury is at stake having been likewise won by the consistent teams of the past two years.

The 1923 team of Morrow, Noll, Brookins and Wilson holds the Kansas Relay mile record of 3:22 6-10 and the Drake Relay mark of 3:16 9-10, which is also a world's intercollegiate record.

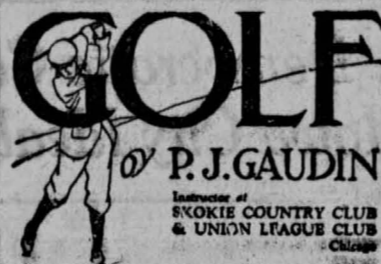

Year of Discouragements From the pinnacle of the track world of the middle west in the mile relay, the Hawkeyes descended far down the scale as a result of the year's indoor season. No suitable winning combination was uncovered and the best performance was just slightly under 3:30.

Wisconsin and Illinois won easily in the dual meets, the team was sixth at the indoor conference after the lead-off man had taken a bad spill while at the Illinois Relays, where for the past three years Hawkeye quartets have been supreme, a team was not even sent in the race for injuries had robbed the Iowans of two of the leading runners.

The best remaining 440 men went into the medley relay instead, and after that race were forced to sit idly by and see the Georgetown team shatter the record of 3:26 set by the 1923 Hawkeye team. An Iowa anchor man failed, to break a tape on indoor tracks this winter, a most unprecedented performance.

Will Concentrate in Drills In the next two weeks, each Bresnahan will give his squad of eight quarter milers much attention and will try to mold a team which will show signs of life. While the material is nothing phenomenal, it is felt that concentration and the fact that the Iowans always go better on outdoor tracks will bring results.

GOLF

By P. J. GAUDIN

8-Putting Grips. Perhaps because it is the most important, the putting grip has not yet been mentioned. The reason for this omission is that the natural putting grip is the best; provided of course that it takes the club back and forward at right angles to the line. It will be well, however, to test out some of the recognized grips.

Must Test Grip It is best to begin with your natural grip, whether the two-V grip, the Vardon or the interlocking. And now comes a radical statement: The grip used in driving cannot be used without change in putting. The reason is that the club must come up in the middle of the left palm instead of lying along the base of the fingers. In order to keep the face of the putter at right angles, the positions of the hands on the shaft must be changed.

Move the left hand a trifle to the left and the right hand a trifle to the right. You may find that this must be continued until the hands are on opposite sides of the shaft. The only possible method is to test this out until the right positions are found. It may be that the best position will be with the left hand well down on the left side of the shaft, and the right hand comparatively near the top.

Work for Easy Action The putter must be grasped only with a firm enough grip to control it. A tight grip will certainly interfere with the wrist action, the only one there should be during the putting swing. The chances are that this will be a two-handed grip, both hands and wrists doing an equal share of the work.

This could be changed somewhat by extending the right forefinger down the shaft and letting that finger do the major part of the work. Several notable good putters, including Walter J. Travis, use this method, but it never has become popular.

Perhaps the better suggestion is to make the grip more left-handed by overlapping two or even all the fingers of the right hand over the left. This is very effectively used by many fine putters. Perhaps the best suggestion of all, however, is to make the put right-handed, using a grip that will be described in another article.

Hammer, Javelin Throw Raise List to Total of Nine

Two more events were added to the program of the sixteenth annual interscholastic invitation track and field meet which will be held at Iowa City on May 2 when Coach George T. Bresnahan announced today that the javelin and hammer throw would be placed on the entry blank.

These events do not appear on the program of the state championship meet conducted by the Iowa High School Athletic Association but the Hawkeye coach feels that there is interest in them in the high schools of the state.

Both Events Safe He thinks further that with these events playing a prominent part in intercollegiate athletics that prep school athletes will have the benefit of experience when they come to college if they are allowed to compete in the javelin and hammer in high school.

Arguments against the project seem to be that they are dangerous to athletes and spectators but athletic directors maintain that under proper supervision the javelin is no more dangerous than the discus throw which is well established in high school meets while the hammer throwers perform within a wire cage closed on three sides.

List of Events The revised program for the Iowa meet now contains nine track events and seven events of the field, a total of sixteen. They are 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash, 880-yard run, one mile run, 120-yard high hurdles, 220-yard low hurdles, half mile relay, one mile relay, shot put, hammer throw, discus throw, javelin throw, high jump, broad jump, and pole vault.

Mitt Artists End Fights for Week

The final bouts for the week in the University boxing tournament were held yesterday afternoon in the men's gym. Two fights made up the program which was given at 3 p. m.

In the first event H. Myerly won from A. M. Houser by a shade after four rounds of rather poor fighting. Each man missed numerous punches and many times pushed his opponent around the ring rather than hit him.

The second bout was a middleweight affair between Morrett and Roote. Both men had won their encounter the previous Tuesday. Morrett won the first round by a shade with several hard jabs.

The second was a draw with the advantage if any going to Roote. The final stanza was another close round with Morrett having the advantage. However Roote's previous lead gave him the fight on points.

The next matches will be held next Monday afternoon in the boxing room of the men's gym according to Instructor Roscoe Hall. The semifinals will be reached by the Tuesday before vacation if everything goes according to the coach's plan.

Brookins Asked to Perform in Special Race at Waukon

Charles R. Brookins, world champion low hurdler who is beginning to get in shape for several races this spring and for the National A. U. championships at San Francisco on July 4, has received an invitation to run an exhibition race at a meet at Waukon on May 15. He has not yet decided whether he will be able to accept.

The bid came from "Deke" Wolters, former Ames athlete and conference 440 and 880-yard champion of 1922 who is now director of athletics at the Waukon high school. Last year at a similar meet, Gerhard Noll, Iowa relay man ran a special quarter against Wolters himself.

Kennett Issues Call for Frosh Golf Candidates; Hopes for Big Turn-out

Coach Kennett has issued a call for all freshman golf candidates to report to him this afternoon between 2 and 5 o'clock at the golf course. The coach hopes to find some Hagens and Hutchinsons among those who report for freshman duty this year who, under Kennett's tutelage, should develop into strong prospects for next year's varsity team. This is the first and only official call which will be issued.

Prentiss Leads Iowa City Five

Star Back Guard Chosen at Basket Ball Banquet

Robert Prentiss, back guard on the 1924-1925 Iowa City High School basketball team, was last night, elected to lead the Little Hawk five during the coming season, at the annual Red and White cage banquet.

Although playing his first year of high school basketball, Prentiss developed into the mainstay of the Iowa City defensive combination, this season and held down some of the best forwards in this section to a minimum of baskets.

Three Regulars Lost Of the five men who performed on the first team of this year, only two will be back—Captain-elect Prentiss and Koza, forward. Captain Boyles, Strickler and Vestermark will be lost. Boyles and Vestermark through graduation and Strickler because of the ninth semester ruling.

Coach Henry C. Soucek, however, has a great deal of material from which to build his next year's quintet. Hooker, the only other letter man besides the first five, Judy, Idema, McGuire, Stevens, Lorack, and Crain, all from the reserves of this year, will report again in the fall.

STETSON

MOST young men today know the importance of looking fit. Good appearance counts much in the game of life. The young man who dresses with taste has a decided advantage.

But—it is surprising how little thought the average man gives to his hat. It is his crown, yet he seems to stop dressing at the neck.

Be careful in your selection of your headwear. When you buy a hat, select a Stetson. Its style is right, its quality means long wear.

Community Chest Begins to Fill; First Installment Brings $3000

Every Old Subscriber Renews Subscription With Amount Equal to Last Year's Donation; $10,000 Quota

"More than $3,000 has been received by the Community Chest committee from the first 178 letters which have been sent to the old subscribers to the budget," stated Col. Morton C. Mumma yesterday.

The Colonel continued in effect that letters would be mailed to all other former subscribers in the near future. In this way, the work of putting on a drive for the whole amount, about $10,000, is materially lessened.

This year, the Welfare Bureau has included the restroom in the city hall operated by the King's Daughters with in the Community Chest budget, for about $500.

This, with the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and the Social Service League, make up those organizations which will receive aid through the Welfare Bureau and the Community Chest.

Iowa City High Leads Schools in Bank Deposits During Third Week

Teaching Thrift Aim of System Recently Installed; Banner Won by Class With Largest Percentage

For the third week in succession the Iowa City high school leads in the amount of deposits in the newly installed banking system in the public schools of the city.

Longfellow leads the grade schools, with the sum of $25.04, followed closely by the junior high, with $24.45, according to the results compiled by the Johnson County bank late yesterday afternoon. The figures probably err in some instances as they have not been thoroughly checked up. But the approximately amounts are:

Table with 2 columns: School Name, Amount. Includes Iowa City high school ($80.51), Longfellow ($25.04), Junior high ($24.45), Horace Mann ($17.83), Henry Sabin ($14.60), Kellogg ($5.12), Shimek ($2.73), Kirkwood ($1.66).

ten. After the deposits have been made, the room having the largest amount for the percentage of enrollment receives a thrift banner.

VIENNA, March 26 (AP)—The use of tobacco is increasing enormously in Austria. Although the population today is 6,750,000, the state factories now turn out more cigars than they did before the war when the country had a population of 52,000,000.

John J. Carroll, Democratic Candidate for Mayor, Calls Iowa City Ideal for Home Life

By RACHEL HAWTHORNE

"I have never believed that the students of the University and their problems have made Iowa City any more difficult a place to live in or to administrate than any other city of its size," said John J. Carroll, democratic candidate for mayor, who as one of the community's pioneer business men has watched a continued growth and development of the city for something more than forty-five years.

John J. Carroll

Students Obey Laws

"Educated people above all others know the laws," continued Mr. Carroll, "and I believe that they abide by them. I have had a son and daughter graduate from the University and so am used to association with students, and feel that I understand them fairly well."

Mr. Carroll speaks with the authority which comes from long years of keen observation. Coming to Iowa City with his parents and seven brothers and sisters from Canada in 1876 at the age of seven, he entered the public schools and was graduated from the Iowa City Commercial College in 1888.

Following a four year period spent in the laboratories of the American Glucose company at Peoria, Illinois, Mr. Carroll returned to Iowa City, and has been a resident of the city since that time.

Develops Meat Business The next eighteen years were spent in developing a retail meat business known as the firm of Smith and Carroll which was situated on the corner of College and Dubuque streets.

Old-Fashioned Gallusses Come into Their Own in Fall Styles for Men

Although men pretend to scoff at the dictates of Dame Fashion, the he-man of the campus, who scoffs at the dumb styles of woman does listen to her commands. Here is the proof.

Stroll past any of the windows of the local clothiers and amidst the colored assortment of haberdashery arranged against the lighter background of the grey suits, the humble suspender comes again into its own.

"But, why?" comes the inevitable query. The why and wherefore of the return of the supporting bit of elastic comes from Dame Fashion's orders that the fashionable man of to-day must be tall, or at least he must appear so. "Tapering trousers and the suspender will be used to give an increased height effect in all the fall models of men's fashions," says an advanced style report.

First U. High Team Wears Blue Monogrammed Sweaters

Navy blue sweaters with white letters "U. H." are now seen on the first team of the University high basketball team. Although the school cannot furnish sweaters to the athletes, the students ordered sweaters alike and are now wearing them in honor of U. high.

Diamond Men Get First Spring Call

Three outstanding city baseball leagues of last year's season, the Boy Scouts, the Sunday schools, and the Twilight League received their first call to the diamonds this week.

Troop nine of the Boy Scouts, representing St. Patrick's school, won the championship of the Boy Scouts last year and were given the championship medals awarded by the Iowa Supply. Medals will be given again this year to the winners.

The Twilight league champions of last year were represented by the State Employees and won the loving cup. This is a travelling cup presented by the Iowa Supply, which becomes the permanent possession of the organization winning the trophy three times. It is expected that some new teams will enter the Twilight.

The Sunday School league promises to put some strong teams in the field covering their particular league. Most of these games will be played on Saturday mornings.
