Candidates for Soph Oratorical Begin Tryouts

Eighteen Contestants Give Speeches Today

Preliminary Contest Necessary for First Time

Eighteen sophomores will compete in the preliminary tryouts of the sophomore oratorical contest today. This is the largest number which has ever entered this forensic event in the history of the University and for the first time a preliminary contest is necessary.

Those entered in the contest will meet at 3 p. m. in the liberal arts assembly hall and draw places for the order of speaking.

Manuscripts must be limited to one thousand words and they must be original compositions. A cash prize of twenty dollars is offered to the winner of first place in the final contest which will be held on the evening of Friday, May 8.

Those who will speak in the preliminaries this afternoon and the titles they have selected for their orations are as follows:

Albert S. Abel, of Monmouth: "The Constitution, the charter of American liberty"; Dwight M. Bannister, of Ottumwa: "This Intellectual"; Charles M. Burns, of Okoboji: "The Ascent"; Louis Carroll, of Davenport: "America and the League"; Edwin H. Cates, of Colfax, Ill.: "The American Soldier"; Ligouri T. Flatley, of Desmar: "A Practical Plan for Peace"; Walter Grau, of Denison: "The Land of One Hundred Million Kings"; Elmer E. Johnson, of Orient: "The Protection of Wild Life in North America"; Donald R. Lemkau, of Muscatine: "In the Last Analysis"; Professor W. Maynard, of Hawarden: "The Keystone"; Harold R. Nelson, of Douds: "The Dream of Universal Peace"; Eugene K. Richter, of Creston: "Education Today—Physical or Mental"; Donald P. Rosenbaugh, of Greenfield: "Seeds of War"; Lee H. Selman, of Chicago, Ill.: "The Aboriginal Hijackers"; Fred J. Stevenson, of Manchester: "War and Population"; Paul Toomey, of Iowa City: "Insurance Against War"; Harold W. Vestmark, of Iowa City: "The Ethics of the Professional Man"; and Earl W. Williams, of Cedar Rapids: "The Constitution and Freedom."

Secretary Kellogg declared himself tonight to be heartily in favor of America participating in an international tribunal for the settlement of international disputes, addressing the delegates of American society of international law. Kellogg Asks for Participation in Foreign Disputes

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—Secretary Kellogg declared himself tonight to be heartily in favor of America participating in an international tribunal for the settlement of international disputes, addressing the delegates of American society of international law. Mr. Kellogg asserted it was "strange that though we are approaching 1926 in the United States, one of the leading countries in arbitration is not a member of any international court."

Des Moines 'Upper Crust' to Appear Before Grand Jury

DES MOINES, April 27 (AP)—Twenty of Des Moines "400" will be summoned before a federal grand jury tomorrow. It was announced tonight, for questioning in connection with charges of liquor law violations pending against George Fox, alleged salesman for a New York liquor vendor.

The names were contained in a list found in Fox's baggage when he was arrested a week ago.

Academy of Sciences Considers Two Theories

WASHINGTON, April 27 — The results of experiments which support the Einstein theory of relativity were laid before tonight's session of the annual meeting of the national academy of sciences.

In the absence of Dr. A. A. Michelson, head of the University of Chicago physics department, because of illness, his associate, Professor A. H. Compton, read his paper entitled "The Latest Trend of the Einstein Theory" which determined that when the earth is going forward in a straight line the velocity of light is apparently affected and that rotation has no effect in the light velocity.

Dr. Michelson's experiment, conducted in connection with Professor Gale, dean of the graduate school of science, of the University of Chicago, indicated the truth, Mr. Compton said, of the theory that the ether does not go along with the earth.

Dr. C. E. Seashore of the University of Iowa presented photographic records of the voices of a number of singers to variation in various voices of singers.

Dental Museum to Get Glass Cases for Early Tools

Two new glass cases have been ordered for the dental museum which is housed in room 116 of the college of dentistry. One of these cases will be a wall case with a mirror back, while the other will be a low table show case.

The dental museum is made up of antiques which have been donated by numerous dentists throughout the state.

In these cases will be placed various styles of plugger mallets, turnkeys, the first steam casting pad, and other dental instruments which were used in the early days.

Dr. O. E. Schlanbusch, assistant professor in the college of dentistry, is the director of the museum. Last summer he spent five weeks gathering in promised donations.

Burke to Talk at Dental Seminar Thursday Evening

Des Moines Mayor to Quiz Police and Fire Chiefs

DES MOINES, April 27—Heads of police and fire departments as well as all patrol men who were on duty in the areas where fiery crosses were burned last Thursday night are to be called before the city council in an investigation started at the request of Mayor Carl Carver today.

The mayor charged safety commissioner Jennings, reputed member of the Ku Klux Klan, with failure to take any action on protests by citizens. The crosses were lighted on numerous public school grounds and in the east side negro quarter, where a demonstration resulted in a threat against the life of a policeman.

The first printed advertisement appeared in an English newspaper 273 years ago. It told people about a new book and where to get it.

The immediate sales on that book showed that a lot of people were glad to have this information.

Soon other advertisements appeared. Book lovers looked forward to them for news of the latest and best books.

Now hundreds of advertisements carry news of buying interest to thousands of students and towns people every week. The thrifty housewife reads them every morning for information in the business of running her home. The careful student reads them for news of the best buy in clothes, his various needs, and pleasures. The advertising columns of the DAILY IOWAN offer invaluable aid to the students every year while he spends the $1000 that the average student spends each nine months.

Johnson County League of Women Voters Best Organized in Country

Mrs. Volland, Iowa's Delegate to National Convention, Tells of Comments Made on Bulletin of Local League

While Iowa is one of the most poorly organized states that met at the national convention, Johnson county has one of the best organized League of Women's Voters in the United States, said Mrs. Roscoe Volland, who returned this week from Richmond, Virginia, where she served as Iowa's only delegate to the national convention of the League of Women Voters.

"The Johnson county league received much attention in the addresses of the national officers and from the individual delegates," Mrs. Volland continued. "This was mainly due to the Bulletin of the Johnson county League."

The representatives of many of the states came to me for information concerning our bulletin. To the ladies of the east it was unique and I had some trouble in making them understand that the editing of it was the work of one person, who did it without remuneration."

home campuses. Steps were taken toward the organization of a national league of college women, which shall meet at the same time as the National League of Women Voters.

College Convention
Preceding the convention at Richmond, Mrs. Volland attended a convention of the Association of College University Women which was held in Indianapolis, Ind. The main work accomplished in this meeting was the clearing of the debt on the national headquarters at Washington and the discussion of world peace. The associations are taking up this work through the granting of international fellowships.

An interesting reunion took place in Indianapolis, when Mary Evert Ewig, Anna M. Klingsenghagen, now dean of women at Oberlin, and Mrs. Volland, all former deans of women at Iowa, met. "We were three former deans of Iowa, having our reunion at the University of Indiana," laughed Mrs. Volland as she told of the trip to the University

In the New Voters' section, forty-one colleges were represented. Women from the University of Nebraska, Northwestern, Brown University and Bryn Mawr told of the methods used in the education in citizenship among women on their at Bloomington. As a conclusion to her trip, Mrs. Volland spent two days in Washington. Here she was given an audience with President Coolidge, and a private interview with Mrs. Coolidge. She also attended the last suffrage dinner, which was held in the Hall of the Allies at the Washington Hotel. This dinner was attended by approximately 1000 women.

It was supposed to be a dinner on "looking backward," as Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt termed it. "The first part of the convention has been given to looking forward," she declared "we shall spend this time in reminiscing."

"So we spent from 1:30 that afternoon until 5:30 reminiscing," concluded Mrs. Volland.

One of the main speakers at this dinner was Harriet Taylor Upton, who visited Iowa City on her way to Richmond.

Construction of the west side sewer at Benton and Riverside streets was begun yesterday under the supervision of City Engineer Young. He expects to complete the job this week.

Mrs. Butler of Des Moines Wins Radio Memory Contest

Mrs. Iva Hamilton Butler, of 911 West 2d Street, Des Moines, Iowa, was announced today as the winner of the $300.00 cash reward in the Music Memory Contest, conducted by radio during the month of March by the Brunswick-Balke-Colender company. Mrs. Butler is a music teacher in Des Moines.

Frank Carter, Justice of the Peace, Deals Out Gas and Law to Residents of Iowa City

Down in the Hawkeye filling station on Linn street, a genial, pleasant-faced man serves out both gas and justice to the people of Iowa City. With a merry twinkle in his eye, and always something worth while to say, Frank Carter, Justice of the Peace, has faced the problems of a long career with the keen judgment which only a good lawyer possesses.

"I made up my mind to be a lawyer," said Mr. Carter, "when I was a very small boy, and I never thought of any other kind of a life job after that, although my mother once earnestly pled with me to become a Methodist minister."

"I grew to manhood near the small town of Fredonia, Kansas, and about the time I was eight years old, a prominent lawyer of that town, by the name of Kirkpatrick was pleading before a jury in a big railroad case. My step-father was much interested in the affair, and when he drove to hear the trial, I went along with him. I hung on my step-father's hand when we went in and it happened that just at that particular moment Kirkpatrick was making his speech. After the session was over I rode almost home without saying a word, but before I got out of the wagon, I said, "Pa, I believe when I get big, I'll be a lawyer. I later became Kirkpatrick's partner."

"The first thing I ever did in court after being admitted to the bar was to defend a man charged with murder. He was found guilty of fourth degree manslaughter, and sentenced to eighteen months in the penitentiary, but I got him out after he had served four months of his term. That was the beginning of my career as a criminal lawyer. I was elected county attorney, but I was always a failure as a prosecutor, for my sympathies were all with the person convicted."

Mr. Carter was born 54 years ago on a farm near Fredonia, Kansas. In spite of many handicaps he was graduated from the state normal school, and later from the state university. A position with a Kansas City law firm opened up a career for Mr. Carter in that city which culminated in his being elected one of the judges of the circuit court in 1908.

Mr. Carter left the active practice of law some years ago, and previous to the war, held extensive land and cattle interests in Texas. He came to Iowa City a few years ago and was elected Justice of the Peace last November.

Parent-Teacher's Elect Officers

Chose Mrs. Slemmons for General Chairman

Mrs. M. E. Slemmons was elected general chairman of the Iowa City high Parent-Teachers' Association for the 1925-26 school year at their meeting last night. Other officers chosen were: Mrs. J. W. Howell senior class chairman; Mrs. R. E. Jones, junior class chairman; Mrs. M. P. Kirchner, sophomore chairman; Mr. Hanley and Miss Padou, faculty members, were elected treasurer and secretary, respectively.

Aside from the elections a talk on "The Modern Girl" was given by Miss Estelle Boot, professor of English at the State University of Iowa. The Welsh quartet, composed of J. W. Howell, D. T. Davis, E. J. Hughes, and I. R. Rowland,

Twenty Cars Tagged by Police in Parking Drive

Twenty cars were tagged last night by the police department for parking on the streets over night. None of the owners were fined, since it is the first offense.

There is a city ordinance forbidding cars to remain parked on the street over night and the police department is going to enforce this ordinance.

"all Welshmen," sang a variety of songs for the Association.

"We are very proud that we are leaving $124 in the treasury for the officers to begin work with," said Mrs. M. F. Lewis, retiring president of the club. "Although at the beginning of our year there was a deficit of $60, the remainder of the debt of the new encyclopedias purchased by the Association for the high school, we have paid it off and are leaving $124 in the treasury."

Robbins Brothers' Circus Here May 6

To Give Free Street Parade at Noon Wednesday

The Robbins Brothers four-ring circus, which comes to Iowa City Wednesday, May 6, claims to be the world's largest show giving a free street parade.

Among the distinctive events are the mammoth pageants, the Arabian nights, the Historic Review of America, herds of performing elephants and seals, Ponca Bill's Wild West shows and an exceedingly large menagerie of kangaroos, ostriches, camels, lions, leopards, polar bears and monkeys.

Aerobic Stunts
The circus carries sensational aerobic acts including the famous Matsumoto family from Tokio, Japan, and an Arabian tribe of tumblers.

The street parade is said to be over two miles long. All of the animal cages are thrown open to the public.

The Parade of Nations, according to the management, is one of the most beautiful features of the show. All of the prominent nations are represented by beautiful tableaux wagons. The natives of these countries are either on the wagons or walking along the sides. The wagons are valued by the Robbins

Brothers at $100,000. The show opens promptly at the conclusion of the parade at 12:30. Two performances are given, one in the afternoon and one in the evening. An up town ticket office will be maintained on the day of the show. Reserve tickets may be obtained there for the convenience of those who desire to avoid the rush at the ticket office. The price will be uniform at both places.

Come and Make Your Own Bargains!

During April's Last Three Days

We've a splendid store-full of Women's Apparel, Accessories and dry goods for the coming Summer season, and instead of limiting folks to the special bargains that we ordinarily exploit, we have decided to let you

Pick Your Choice of the Store

And then, to make this event still more startling and vastly more satisfying than any sale you probably ever attended, we are going to give you the opportunity to

Say for Yourself HOW MUCH PRICES SHALL BE CUT

Did you ever hear of such a sale as this before? Did you ever know of such a chance to SAVE MONEY ON JUST THE THINGS YOU WANTED TO BUY? It doesn't seem possible that you ever did. But it is just as simple as this.

The More You BUY the More You SAVE

There are two ways that you can INCREASE THE PRICE CUT for your purchase. The first is to buy EVERYTHING YOU NEED during these three days, so that the purchase will all be made at once. The other way is to BRING A NEIGHBOR WITH YOU and make your purchases together.

The following is the way the savings are determined during these THREE APRIL DAYS—Tuesday 28, Wednesday 29, and Thursday 30.

ON ANY PURCHASE UP TO $10.00 . . . 5% discount	Purchase of $30 16% discount
Purchase of $10 to $15 10% discount	Purchase of $40 17% discount
Purchase of $15 to $20 12% discount	Purchase of $50 18% discount
Purchase of $20 to $25 14% discount	Purchase of $75 19% discount
Purchase of $25 to $30 15% discount	Purchase of $100 or more 20% discount

These larger discounts for the larger purchases are earned by those who secure them, because the larger purchases reduce our cost of selling, by saving the time of salespeople and reducing the transactions and deliveries for that amount of money. Thus we are able to give back to you what you save for us.

Don't Look for us to Limit Your Bargains Here—Remember that You Have YOUR PICK OF THE WHOLE STORE! And Your Purchase Sets the Prices! COME EARLY TODAY!
