Generally fair Thursday. Friday probably fair, not so cool.

Rain Fails to Halt Students' Ardor for Senior Day Events

Jessup Warns Seniors Against Wrong Life Aims

All-Senior President Is Presiding Officer

Rain could prevent a parade, but it could not dampen the ardor of juniors and seniors at the fourth annual Senior Day yesterday morning. The rain, "quite in accord with tradition," upset other plans, and they fled in to the tune of "The Law School Goes Marching Along," rather than to the martial strains of the band.

The program certainly was a success," stated Dean George F. Kay, of the college of liberal arts, last night. "When the students show so much interest, there is no reason why Senior Day should not be one of the most significant events of the year. It certainly was worth while to dismiss classes while students listened to such a talk as President Jessup gave."

After the meeting was called to order by the presiding officer, Hobart Dawson, all-senior president, the senior speech was given by Charles Sellers. "We seniors have profited by the advantages our predecessors strove to achieve for us, and we must pass on our heritage enhanced."

"At least, learn to spell and utter the words that express your relationship to the University," was the first admonition made by President Walter A. Jessup in his "Message to Seniors." "That's one of the things I hope every Senior (Continued on page six)

Bird T. Baldwin Speaks at Texas

Tells Teachers and Parents of Child Study

(By the Associated Press) AUSTIN, Texas, April 23.—With the adoption of a nationwide legislative program at the morning session, delegates to the national congress of parents and teachers this afternoon turned their attention to the more intimate details of home life when the departmental discussions were continued.

Dr. Bird T. Baldwin of the Iowa Research station of Iowa City, national chairman of the child development division of the congress, discussed his work and described his course of child study for use in child groups.

A Year Ago Today

Richard H. Atherton, A2 of Daventry; Richard Romey, A2 of Mason City, and Kenneth McDonald, A2 of Iowa City, were elected by a sweeping vote to the Daily Iowan board. Over 1700 votes were cast.

Eighty-six persons were killed in a cyclone that swept over the southeast section of the country. The reported dead and injured steadily increased as messages were received from all sections of the country. Property destroyed in Columbia, S. C., alone exceeded $1,000,000.

Preparations were being made for the annual Iowawa.

The way was cleared in both houses for the passage of the Soldiers' bonus bill that has been debated for several days. It was sent to President Coidge.

The tenth annual Teachers' conference opened today. Prof. E. H. Lauer presided at the first session. A varied program had been planned.

"The Dover Road," by A. A. Mine, an interesting comedy of situations scored a big success. This was the last University play of the year.

Speaks for Iowa at Northwestern

Lassen Goes to N. O. L. Tonight

Meets Representatives of Five Other Schools

Arnold A. Lassen, A3 of Avoca, chosen as the best orator in the best orator in the University in the recent University Oratorical contest, left last night for Northwestern university where he will represent Iowa in the annual Northern Oratorical League composed of the state universities of Iowa, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Northwestern.

The winner of first place will receive a cash prize of $100 while second place carries with it an award of fifty dollars. The prizes are taken from a fund established by the Honorable Frank O. Lowden former governor of Illinois and an alumnus of Iowa University.

Lassen will speak on the subject, "The Permanent Court of International Justice." All the orations must be original. Besides winning first place in the University Oratorical Lassen represented Iowa last year in the state peace contest, won first place in the sophomore oratorical, of 1924, and also won first in the freshman oratorical of 1923.

The six contestants will be judged by a faculty representative from each of the universities entering men. Professor E. C. Mable will represent Iowa in that capacity. Professor W. A. Cable of the department of speech has been coaching Lassen in preparation for the N. O. L.

The University of Iowa has won first place in the N. O. L. three times since 1902. In that year Edwin K. Brown took first, Paul S. Collier was adjudged the best man in 1910, while Robert Anner carried off premier honors in 1919.

Elsa Kelm Won "Follies" Prize for Best Costume

The Iowan gave Elsa Biering, A4 of Des Moines, credit for having the most original and beautifully executed costume in "The Follies." Instead Elsa Kelm, A4 of Alden, and Lynn Ties, A1 of Mason City, were awarded the prizes.

Accident Driver Is Called "Reckless" Arrested 5 Times

Witnesses Say Cedar Rapids Man Was Intoxicated

Russell's Condition Not Critical Says Late Report

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., April 29.—H. C. Andrews, local coal dealer, whose automobile injured nine persons when it plowed through a number of passengers waiting to board a street car last night, was charged with reckless driving today.

An X-ray examination of H. Russell, of Marchantown, University student, whose skull was believed fractured, revealed that he suffered serious cuts about the head but no fracture. It is believed he will recover.

Two witnesses came forward this afternoon to make affidavits that Andrews was intoxicated at the time of the accident. This he denied, saying he staggered after leaving the car because of the shock he received. This is the fifth time he has been arrested for violating traffic laws, police records show here.

Mary MacSwiney Will Continue Tour Without Passport

CHICAGO, April 29 (AP)—Miss Mary MacSwiney, Irish republican leader said tonight that she had "no passport to enter this country, did not need any, and had no intention of ever getting any."

Miss MacSwiney made this statement at her hotel as she prepared to depart for Minneapolis to continue a lecture tour of this country in behalf of the Irish republican cause. She was discussing the action of immigration officials in questioning her about her passport and her entry into this country.

Balloon Travels 3000 Miles With Note from Alsager

A toy balloon, one of hundreds released in Alsager, England, was found in Sheboygan, Wisconsin, recently with a note attached, asking the finder to notify a party in Alsager. Gus Eichstidt, who found the toy in his front yard, answered the note and received in reply a clipping from a newspaper theorizing on whether the balloon crossed to America over the Pacific ocean, a journey of some 14,000 odd miles, or was blown over the Atlantic, a distance of about 4,000 miles.

The balloons were sent out apparently with the idea of seeing which would travel the farthest, and up until Eichstidt reported his find, the record rested in Holland.

Exams May Not Be Fair, Says Ruch

Writes Book on "Improvement of the Written Examination"; Suggests Changes

That numerous coterie of boys and girls who complain that their school examinations are not fair have a case against the old system, according to Prof. G. M. Ruch of the college of education, who has just written a book on "Improvement of the Written Examination."

"Improvements in examination methods have in general lagged behind improvements in teaching methods, curriculum construction, and school administration," Professor Ruch declares.

Then there is the matter of examination grades, also a prolific source of discontent among youngsters. Professor Ruch records the fact that various tests have shown that whether a student gets an A or flunks a course depends upon who his teacher is.

Since calling attention to this situation does not seem to solve the difficulty, the Iowa professor suggests objective examinations that will give the student a square deal.

Students to Issue Oxford Paper

The Community Newspaper class of the school of journalism will take charge of the May 7 issue of The Oxford Leader, and will do all the editorial and advertising work on the paper.

Students will go to Oxford two or three days next week, and will publish the paper in its usual form, with only a few minor changes. The student staff will probably print an eight-page paper instead of the usual four.

Leslie G. Moeller, A4 of Spencer, is editor-in-chief of the issue, while Allan D. Masters, A3 of Shenandoah, will be business manager. Students who will assist in the work are: Elizabeth Brown, G of Sioux Falls, S. Dak.; Dorothy E. Wilson, A4 of Mason City; Wayne Tiss, A3 of Mason City; Aileen Gillespie, A3 of Los Angeles, Calif.; Audrey Von Housen, A3 of Milford; Raymond P. Moore, A3 of McClusky, N. Dak.; and Zoe C. Lemley, J4 of Brighton.

The taking over of this issue of The Leader is a part of the plan used by the school of journalism for giving students actual laboratory work on other newspapers. Students issued the Des Moines Register for Saturday, April 11, and will also take over the May 9 issue of The Cedar Rapids Gazette.

State Meeting to Attract Dentists

Faculty Members to Take Charge of Four Clinics

A large number of the dental faculty, and a few of the Iowa City dentists will take part in the program of the sixty-third annual meeting of the Iowa State Dental Society which will be held at Hotel Savery, at Des Moines, May 5, 6, and 7.

Four clinics to represent the University District will be put on by members of the dental faculty. Dr. A. O. Klaffenbach, and Dr. P. W. Richardson will give the application and technique of Steele's facings-pontics with porcelain tips, assisted by four senior dental students R. C. Kinney, A. Eason, J. A. Walters, and G. F. Livermore.

Dr. E. T. Hubbard and Dr. C. L. Fenner will give a joint clinic using models to illustrate the steps taken in the construction of full dentures. Dr. A. W. Bryan will talk on "Making Practical Use of the Clinical Pathology Laboratory in Diagnostic Work," while Dr. C. L. Drain will discuss "Children's Dentistry."

Dog Fish Obtained for Museum Group; Unusual Specimen

"Bow-fin," or "Dog Fish," Is Newly Acquired Possession of the University Museum

A "Bow-fin," or "Dog Fish," is the newly acquired possession of the University Museum. This fish was caught by Mr. Fred Seemann about fifteen miles north of Iowa City, and contributed to the museum by him.

The fish is eighteen inches long, and weighed two pounds. This particular specimen has very bright green fins.

This is not a game fish, and at one time it was a fairly abundant species but has rapidly decreased in numbers because of the polluted waters. Prof. Homer R. Dill, director of the museum said it was fortunate for the museum to get such a fine specimen. Zoologists are particularly interested in this fish because of its relation to earlier types.

The "Bow-fin" will be mounted and added to the series of Iowa fishes which is being collected for the museum.

Tax Fat People? Doctor Advocates Weight Reducing

Why not put a tax on fat people?

That is the suggestion offered by Dr. Lulu Hunt Peters, well-known dietitian and author of several books and newspaper articles on health.

Epidemics, foreign immigration, and other harmful things are prevented and curbed by governmental action; why not force fat people to reduce, is the logic offered by Doctor Peters. "Fat causes death in hundreds of thousands of cases," she stated in a recent lecture. "It prevents the individual from working and from enjoying life."

"Causes of Elimination of Students in the Engineering College" by Oliver Ohmann.

"Sound Localization: A Critique of Method" by C. A. Rucknick.

"Objective Study of Speed and Accuracy in Typing" by L. Ackers.

"Muscular Fixation in the Stutterer under Emotion" by Lee Travis.

Now It's Photographs of Your Voice

Travis, Psychology Student, Makes Study of Stuttering; Collects Voice Pictures

It may seem strange to have your photograph sent by radio, but it is equally as mysterious to have a picture taken of your voice.

Mr. Lee Travis, research student in the psychology department has enough pictures of voices to fill any family album of moderate size. He has been making a close study of the nature of stuttering and one of the most recent conclusions of his experiments is that the stutterer does not have as great a speaking range of the voice as the non-stutterer.

The experiment is being aided by the use of a photograph machine

Cats! cats! Do you have any cats? Fraternities, sororities, private homes and medics who possess particularly inquisitive or knowing cats will find a ready market for them at the Daily Iowan. Theta Sigma Phi headquarters.

Pussy-cats, tom-cats, matleasers, —in fact any kind of cat with claws and a critical attitude toward life will be welcome.

Cat-Nip, the catliest publication since Noah's wife wrote gossip into the log-book of the Ark, will be out Monday.

Hush money has already been resolutely refused by members of the organization. Acts and deeds have been recalled out of the past which the perpetrators thought had long ago received a decent burial. Campus organizations notable for their still-life poses will be shown up.

The expose will carry illustrations further illuminating the juicy bits gleaned from the public and private life of campus notables.

It will be printed on yellow newspaper, Daily Iowan size, and Cat-Nip will be sold on the campus May 4 by members of Theta Sigma Phi and Matrices, for ten cents a copy.

Editor to Talk at Journalism Dinner

"News Accuracy" Subject of Speech by A. F. Allen

Dinner talks, entertainment, mixer and dance will be crowded into one evening by the Associated Students of Journalism tomorrow night.

The speaker at the dinner which is to be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 6 o'clock will be A. F. Allen, editor of the Sioux City Journal. He will talk on "Newspaper Accuracy."

Potential reporters and other freshmen interested in journalism will be guests of the A. S. of J. at the feast. Mildred Augustine, A3 of Ladora, will play the xylophone as part of the entertainment program, and the Baird-Roach combination will complete it with some of their favorite stunts.

The mixer and dance which follows the dinner will be free and will take place in the literary society rooms in the journalism building. Wayne Tiss, A4 of Mason City, has charge of the music.

Tickets for the dinner are 60 cents, and may be gotten from the office of Prof. Charles Heald Welleser, in the journalism building.

Expect Seniors' Announcements in Short Time

All leather announcements have been spoken for, but there are a few paper covered announcements that can be secured by leaving an order at the bookstore at once.

Churchill's Budget Displeases Liberal and Labor Parties

Sir Alfred Mond Says Re-Adoption of Gold Standard Unwise

Objects to Tying England's Money System to U. S.'s

LONDON, April 29 (AP)—The spokesmen of the liberal and labor parties lauded an attack upon Winston Churchill's budget when the house of commons reassembled today.

Phillip Snowden, who was held the official chancellor of the exchequer in the labor government and turned the public purse strings over to Mr. Churchill when the conservatives returned to power, declared that it was "the worst rich man's budget ever introduced."

Sir Alfred Mond, who has held numerous high offices in previous governments, doubted the wisdom of the country's return to the gold standard, saying it would tie the British monetary system to that of America and make the London bank rate more subservient to Wall street than it had been in the past. "In order to obtain a purely sentimental result."

He pointed out that although this country's two greatest and gravest problems were industrial depression and unemployment, the Chancellor of the exchequer had given no indication of how he proposed to deal with them. Not one penny had been allotted from the large expected surplus for dealing with unemployment. The six pence reduction in income tax he considered insufficient to produce any actual effect on the industry.

Both liberals and laborites objected to the re-imposition of the McKenna duties and imperial tariffs, while the conservatives who spoke on the subject, thanked Mr. Churchill for reviving them.

Bulgarian Revolt Imminent, Report

Life Held Cheap, Say Investigators of Outrages

LONDON, April 29.—The two members and a former member of the British parliament who visited Sofia, Bulgaria, immediately after the recent bomb explosion in the cathedral and remained to study the situation, today again described conditions as they found them.

The description was given in a report which asserted that the existing Bulgarian government had caused the death of many thousands of persons and will surely ultimately arouse a volcanic upheaval.

The report was signed by Joshua C. Wedgwood and W. MacKinder, laborite members of parliament, and Lieut. Col. Malone, a former coalition liberal member.

The country, said the report, was under martial law. Life is held cheap in Bulgaria. A distinguished foreign resident said murder in the street excites as little attention as a minor street accident in London.

Songsters Offered Return Engagement

Playing before an audience that packed the auditorium of the Benjamin Franklin high school, the University glee clubs presented the final performance of "Pinafore" Tuesday evening. That it was well received was evidenced by the fact that the clubs were offered a return engagement next year. It was the opinion of both Prof. Walter Leon and those who saw the 2 performances that the latter was even better than that presented here.

The ticket sales, according to a statement made by Mrs. P. G. Clapp, exceeded the expenses of the production by a good margin.

DES MOINES, April 29 (AP)—Clearing weather tonight and continued low temperature promoted a renewal by weather bureau officials of their earlier warning that a frost might be expected over most of northern and western sections of Iowa.

The "Pinafore" Abroad

NO SOONER had the members of the University glee clubs returned from Cedar Rapids than wet blankets were heaped upon the idea of taking University organizations out of town to give performances. The fact that while in that city, three members of the group were injured by a skidding car seems to some to be sufficient proof that the trips should be abandoned.

In drawing such conclusions, these well meaning critics have picked up one poor nugget to prove that the mine is worthless. They think that because there was a slippery street in Cedar Rapids, the system involved was wrong in bringing these students to a place of danger.

They fail to notice that the whole thing was an accident, that it could have happened just as well in Iowa City, that every precaution was taken by those in charge to bring the group safely home, that as a result of the trip the University gained a goodly number of supporters and friends among those who enjoyed the production of the opera.

These out-of-town trips are one of the finest ways in which to show people of the state that the University is not entirely given over to theory—that it teaches not only what can be done, but also how to do it. D. E. W.

Poor Perspective

THE DAILY READER of a newspaper who turns to the salacious details of a London scandal or to the sordid account of Chicago's last axe murder, was disappointed at the news bannered Tuesday, "Great Britain Returns to a Gold Standard."

No sensation there! No lace negligee, no dainty grey slippers. There was no punch for him in a statement in which the world of intelligent financiers, economists, historians, is interested. The news sense of the average clod has been dulled by constant reading of crime and mesalliances. Concerned with strife within his own state, he has lost all perspective on affairs of international significance.

When the armistice was signed in 1918, all the nations of Europe turned to their treasuries and found them bare. The money of the world had flown to U. S. vaults to pay for the supplies which ran the war. Europe was faced with the problem of building up her industries when she had no money. The value of a circulating medium of a nation is based on the credit guarantee of the money which lies in its treasury. Europe had little money, little credit. She had great debts to meet, and nothing with which to meet them.

So for six years European exchange has fluctuated. Marks have fallen, francs have tumbled, and England, France, Germany, Italy, Sweden, Denmark, have watched the American dollar sit high and dry on the money bags of the world. By rigid economy and heavy taxation, European nations, with the exception of France and Germany and Russia, have raised their currency from the financial slough into which they dropped, up to parity. It took them six years, but they did it. On April 29 (Wednesday), the English pound returned to $4.86, its value before the world war. Supported by a $300,000,000 credit extension from the United States, Great Britain is lifting her heavy taxation, slackening up her economies, preparing to watch her gold exports; proudly she is watching her pound, now at par, take a footing with the American dollar.

The announcement of Winston Churchill was accompanied by the word from the smaller fry that they, too, are ready for a gold standard. The sterling currencies of Sweden, Austria, Hungary now become gold. Canada is ready with her gold standard, as are Australia, New Zealand, Holland, Dutch East Indies. The export of gold which has been curtailed will begin again. Movement of gold out of a country is indicative of the stability of its exchange, and the invulnerability of its credit. The election of Von Hindenburg shook France down to her fingertips. News of a return of these nations to the gold standard, insuring more stability and facility of international trade, has stirred the intellects of the whole world.

That Crime News!

ONLY 22.5 per cent of the front page space of eight leading eastern newspapers is devoted to crime news, according to a recent survey of the Wharton School of finance and commerce at the University of Pennsylvania.

In the survey, crime news was interpreted to include all police news, criminal court proceedings, and accident cases with criminal aspects, so that the rating of the survey would seem very fair.

News of politics and government occupied 38.5 per cent of the front page, and foreign news 12.5 per cent; news of accident had 13.5 percent, with other classes of news only scattering small percentages.

Considering the recognized demand of readers for something spectacular and compelling in their news, the percentage of crime news does not seem high. The fact that the percentage of political and governmental news is much higher is very encouraging, as is the showing made by foreign news.

The survey also disproves the frequent assertion that newspapers play up crime news too much. On the contrary, facts show that the better newspapers are to be commended for the way in which they keep crime news down. L. G. M.

Fritz and Francois

VON HINDENBURG has been elected for four days, and the world still revolves on its axis. What a disappointment for Germany's enemies! There was much excitement and some bloodshed at the polls. It is true, but we in the United States slay more persons daily with automobiles. And now dispatches indicate that the German leaders are going to work together harmoniously under their new president. In fact Germany seems to be the least disturbed of all nations over the election results, and France, of all foreign nations is the most perturbed.

It is a strange relationship that exists between France and Germany. Jealous, hateful, suspicious, belligerent, mistrustful of one another, they are continually at sword's points. If they are not actually in conflict, they are in disagreement. It is a serious and a pitiful plight for two nations to live in, but there seems to be no immediate escape. The feeling between the two nations is an affair of long breeding, a vital part of the national heritage.

According to Professor Bose, an expert in the field of international politics, the German election is "the inevitable reaction to the Versailles treaty." France has crowded Germany until a move toward greater independence was necessary. And before that Germany had been pressing France, and before that . . . Thus runs back a long story of conflicts and jealousies and hatreds.

And what will be the effect on France? The majority of opinion seems to indicate that the relations between the two countries will change little except toward clarification and definition. The German spirit will be unified and strengthened by the new leader, and France will suffer the same reinforcement of national feeling. The Dawes' plan will probably not be affected.

Germany will not be greatly shaken. Pledged to support a Republic, surrounded by friends of republican government, Von Hindenburg is not likely to attempt to swing the nation back to monarchy. There will be machinations by the monarchists behind his back, but the republicans have also a bag of tricks to combat such proceedings.

At any rate, Germany has shown a sharp turn from communism, and she is safer in the hands of Von Hindenburg than in those of the communists. And what if she does go back to a monarchy? Her people have had enough taste of freedom to prevent their groveling under the heels of a monarch again. If they have a monarchy, it must be a limited one, and this form of government is one of the most successful types in existence.

Apparently the immediate results are to be nothing startling, but what will be the ultimate outcome? Will France and Germany eventually forget their differences and live together as peacefully as do this country and Canada? Or will one entirely dominate the other? Or will some new power subdue them both? There lies a great problem for the diplomats of the world. There is a puzzle for the League of Nations to help solve. When some peaceful and permanent relationship can be effected between these two powers, the European situation will not be half so tangled. A. F.

U. S. Opens Mails to Purified Issues of Harvard Sheets

Acting-solicitor Donnelly of the post office department informed the Boston postmaster late today that he would not refuse to accept the magazines for mailing. He pointed out, however, that persons mailing them accepted full responsibility for any violation of the law involved.

The acting-solicitor made no ruling with respect to the magazines in connection with the criminal section of the law, explaining that any action along that line was the duty of the United States attorney for Massachusetts.

When the April 15 issue of the "Lampoon" appeared in the newsstands in Boston and Cambridge police seized the copies, the Boston postmaster sent a copy to Washington with a request of an opinion as to whether it was mailable under the postal laws.

The post office department ruled that it should be barred from the mails.

Lampoon, Advocate May Again Reach Outside World

WASHINGTON, April 29 (By the AP)—The mails were opened today to the two magazines published by Harvard university undergraduates, the "Lampoon" and the "Advocate," which have created something of a sensation in Boston and were held up by the postmaster there because of the character of some of their contents.

The "Lampoon" however, will bear the scars of censorship.

Initiate Five New Members at W. A. A. Picnic

Krieg, Stoner, Fahey Starbuck, Andrews Honored

Rain, cold weather and the beleaguered atmosphere of Iowa City yesterday did not interfere with the annual picnic. Although the affair could not be held at the city park as was originally planned, the scheduled base ball game and picnic supper at the women's gymnasium was attended by a large majority of the association members.

The two sides of the base ball game were captained by Marie Stoner, A1 of Corydon, and Frances Day, A2 of Osage. Miss Stoner's team carried away the honors with a final score of 16 to 10.

Five candidates who have secured the required number of points necessary for initiation were taken into full membership in the association. Those who were initiated include: Marie Krieg, A3 of Burlington; Marie Stoner, A1 of Corydon; Dorothea Starbuck, A1 of Iowa City; Cyrilla Fahey, A3 of Sioux City; and Helen Andrews, A1 of Iowa City.

Genevieve Harter, A3 of Iowa City; and Anne Doornick, A4 of Iowa City, who represented the University of Iowa at the athletic conference of American college women held at the University of Illinois the first part of April, reported on the conference. Approximately 150 delegates were present at the conference and represented the colleges and universities of twenty-three states.

Following the report of the conference, Miss Harter presented athletic numerals awards to the members of the association who have won them during the past year in either hockey, field ball, swimming or volley ball.

45 Attend Open Meeting of Ero Literary Society

No evidence of the senility and decay with which campus pessimists characterize literary societies, could be found in the spring open meeting of Erodelphian held Tuesday evening in Ero Hall. The 45 active members and guests there were additional proof that women's "blits" are not ready to trail off with the "Howling 400" into oblivion. The following program was given:

The convention at Coe will be held May 8 and 9. Several delegates, chosen at the council meeting, will be sent.

To Relate Religious Ideas of Indian Political Leader

Dr. E. Stanley Jones, missionary from India who will speak in the Methodist Church Sunday, knows personally the most prominent political figure in India today, Ghandi. Dr. Jones will devote most of his Sunday evening lecture to him.

Ghandi once told Dr. Jones that there were four reasons why it would be impossible for India to resist Christianity. He said Christians should live more like Christ, should practice religion without adulteration, should put emphasis on love, and study non-Christian religions to broaden their viewpoint.

In direct contrast to Russia's political leader, Lenin, stands Ghandi who is religious and sin-

Cast and Splints Harass 3 Hurt in 'Pinafore' Crash Cedar Rapids Driver Is Detained on Four Charges

Stretched on a cot in the University hospital with his leg in a plaster cast, Koza Fujita, S3 of Tokio, lies with the roar of that chaotic moment when he, with eight others, was mowed down by a car in Cedar Rapids, Tuesday evening, dining in his ears. His leg is fractured, which means that it will be weeks before he can walk again.

In St. Luke's hospital at Cedar Rapids, Earl L. Russell, A1 of Marshalltown, is in a semi-serious condition with two bones in his head broken, and a broken wrist. It was feared that Russell had sustained a fractured skull, but reports from Cedar Rapids late yesterday afternoon were to the contrary: It was stated that he was conscious during the entire day and was resting comfortably.

That is the aftermath of the disaster which overtook some of the members of the cast of "Pinafore," when they were returning from a performance of the opera at the Benjamin Franklin high school Tuesday evening. Student and townspeople had crowded up to the entrance of a waiting trolley car when the car, driven by Harold C. Andrews, a coal dealer, crashed into the group, throwing some of them clear and dragging several across the entire intersection.

Beatrice Denton, A1 of Iowa City who received minor bruises and is suffering from general shock, received a fractured skull, but reports from Cedar Rapids late yesterday afternoon were to the contrary: It was stated that he was conscious during the entire day and was resting comfortably.

turned to her home from Cedar Rapids yesterday, accompanied by Mrs. P. G. Clapp, who had remained in that city overnight.

Paul L. Bickford, A1 of Creston, who, when struck by the car, was knocked to the ground, and sustained a scalp wound. Although unable to attend classes yesterday, his injury gave him no particular discomfort.

Andrews is being held on four charges, that of failing to stop when passing a street car discharging or taking passengers, and reckless driving, these two being entered on the police court books. The latter two offenses, charged by the county attorney, are: Imperiling life and limb by imprudent, careless and speedy driving; and ignoring a street car taking on or discharging passengers. He was granted a hearing for May 1.

Close Prep Meet Entries

Belle Plaine and Marengo Last to Sign for High School Classic

With hall entries in and the program at the printers, thirty-one schools will send three hundred men to Iowa City on Saturday to compete in the sixteenth annual interscholastic track and field meet. Included on the list are many schools which have not had men at the Iowa invitation affair in 1925.

Last minute entries from Belle Plaine and Marengo were accepted by the management. The final list of schools now is: Belle Plaine, Britt, Burlington, Cedar Rapids (Clinton) Cedar Rapids (Washington) Clinton, Davenport, Durant, Grinnell, Hartwick, Iowa City, Kalona, Marengo, Marion, Marshalltown, Mt. Vernon, Muscatine, Nora Springs, North English, Olds, Taylor, Traer, University High, Victor, Wapello, Washington, Wellman, West Branch, West Chester, Wilton Junction, and Winfield.

Plaine, Cedar Rapids Grant, Cedar Rapids (Washington), Davenport, Iowa City, Marion, Muscatine, Nora Springs, Traer, University High, Washington, West Branch and Winfield. Cedar Rapids (Washington) is the holder of the record of 3:35 4-10 made in 1922.

Vernon, Muscatine, Nora Springs, Traer, University High, Victor, Washington, Wellman, West Branch, West Chester, Wilton Junction, Winfield.

Muddy Track Halts U. Championships

A cold day and a rain-soaked track caused the postponement of the concluding events of the University track and field championships until Thursday afternoon. They were originally scheduled for Wednesday.

All competitors took only a light limbering up work on the track. Danger of pulled muscles from the cold kept the men well in check. The time schedule for the remaining events is:

- Track Events
- 4:15—440-yard dash.
- 4:30—220-yard hurdles.
- 4:45—Two mile run.
- 5:00—Half mile run.
- Field Events
- 4:15—Discus throw (West Side Field).
- Hammer throw (West Side Field).
- Broad Jump (Iowa Field).

Stage Mid-Western A. A. U. Track and Field Meet on Iowa Field on June 20

Rotary Club Traveling Trophy Awarded in Feature Javelin Event on Saturday

Competition for the Rotary Club traveling cup which is awarded annually to the best non-varsity javelin thrown, will be held on Iowa Field on Saturday afternoon. The event will be staged between events of the sixteenth annual interscholastic track meet.

The cup, which was offered for the first time last year, was won by John Nolan of Guthrie Center who is therefore not eligible for competition again.

X-Country Race on May 9

Winners of Hill and Dale Event to Get Rich Awards

A silver statuette eight inches high is the prize to be awarded the individual winning first place in the first intramural cross country run on May 9, the race being sponsored by the Iowa Cross Country club.

The statuette, together with gold, silver and bronze medals of a distinctive design for second, third and fourth place men arrived yesterday. The awards will be displayed in Whetstone's window, beginning today.

Course About Two Miles

Fraternities entering men in the cross country affair will be given eight points per man up to three men which are to count toward the participation trophy. In addition to this ten points will be given the fraternity team of three men who have the best record in the run, and five points to the fraternity team taking second.

The course, one and seven-eighths miles long, for the cross country run May 9 will begin on Iowa Field, going out the north gate, west across the Iowa avenue bridge, south down the river road to filling station, back to Burlington street, east across the Burlington street bridge, back into south gate and finish on Iowa Field. The course will be marked off with flags.

It is planned to make this spring run an annual affair. All men in the University who have not won an "I" or a "C" in cross country are eligible for the race. The event will be held over a two-mile course along the Iowa river, with the start and finish on Iowa Field. The race will be held during the time of the dual track and field meet with Illinois.

Organized to stimulate interest in cross country among the runners of the University, the race is expected to attract a large entry list. The trophy which is retained each year by the winner is to be known by the name of the varsity cross country captain for that year. This year's trophy is therefore designated as the Phelps trophy, while the one for 1925 will be known as the Marchi trophy.

Eighteen Events to Keep Cream of Mid-West Busy

The Mid-Western Amateur Athletic Union track and field championships will be held on Iowa Field, June 20, according to an announcement from Coach G. T. Bresnahan today. The meet is open to registered amateur athletes residing in the states of Iowa, Nebraska and North and South Dakota.

Eighteen Events

Ten track and eight field events will be on the program. The addition of the five mile run, the 440-yard hurdles and the hop, step and jump make the card slightly different from that of the conference track programs.

The events are, 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash, 880-yard run, one mile run, five mile run, 120-yard high hurdles, 220-yard high hurdles, 440-yard hurdles, one mile relay, shot put, discus throw, hammer throw, javelin throw, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, and hop, step and jump.

According to tentative plans, official A. A. U. certificates will be awarded to the first four men in each event. Athletes may enter as members of teams or as unattached competitors. The closing entry date has been set at June 13.

Nebraska Will Enter

It is expected that many college men of the district will be in the meet, because it is only one week after the National Collegiate A. A. championships at Chicago. It is likely that athletes will stop off in Iowa City before they return to their homes.

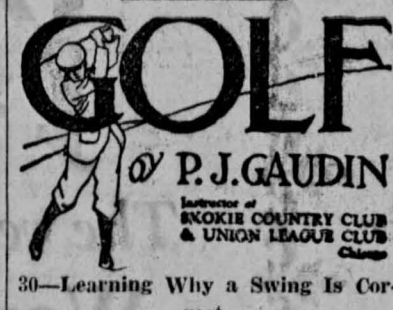

Members of the University of Nebraska team will be among the athletes competing. The outstanding men of the Iowa track team will remain in Iowa City for the meet after their intercollegiate competition ends at Chicago at the National Collegiate on June 13.

Hawks Hold Six Marks

Shortly after the Mid-Western A. A. U. was organized in 1922, the first meet was held at Des Moines. At this affair, University of Iowa athletes won the majority of places. In 1923, Omaha was the host and the Hawks again won the affair, scoring 69 points to Nebraska's 30 and Drake's 19 markers.

Last year, the sectional trials for the American Olympic team for athletes in the district took the place of the regular title meet.

Six of the records are credited on the books to University of Iowa performers. They are: 100-yard dash, 59.8-10, C. R. Brooks; 220-yard dash, 22, E. G. Wilson; 120-yard high hurdles, 35-6-10, H. A. Crawford; 220-yard low hurdles, 23-8-10, C. R. Brooks; one-mile relay, 3:27-2-10, Morrow, Noll, Coulter, Wilson; hammer throw, 117 feet 9 inches, L. C. Belding. All of the marks were registered in the 1923 meet at Omaha.

has attained his or her skill because of the ability indefinitely to duplicate a good swing.

It is also a fact that 51 per cent or more of the ability of the star golfer is because of his ability to think. Players of the ability of Walter Hagen and Chick Evans come very close to doing the exact thing over and over when the circumstances are practically the same. In driving practice balls from a tee, for instance, it is highly probable that moving pictures of them would not show any perceptible variation, provided there were no adverse wind conditions.

If the wind is variable one might see a slight variation in grip or swing. Jock Hutchinson, for instance or in the height of the stance, has a natural flat swing. If he is faced with a head wind from the tee, his only change, in order to keep the ball low, is still further to flatten his swing. Hagen and Evans make no perceptible change when they want a low ball except to stand an inch or two further forward with reference to the line of flight.

Even such slight variations as these are not recommended to the average player. One must be far ahead of the average class to get any benefit from a change of the regular methods. The well-advised average player will stick close to the methods which he has found best for his particular case. Otherwise the case will correspond to that of Joe Kirkwood, who might easily have become a world's champion if he had not experimented with every possible way of making a shot until his weakness is that he knows too many ways of making any shot.

MOTOR BUSES INCREASE

Buenos Aires, April 28 (AP)—Motorbus accidents are increasing at such an alarming rate in Buenos Aires that the municipal authorities have been obliged to take hasty measures to assure the safety of the passengers using the busses. Several hundred are now in operation and collisions and upsets are of almost daily occurrence. The accidents are attributed to the light construction of many of the cars.

Malmesbury, Wiltshire, England April 28 (AP)—The authorities of this city have set themselves the task of ascertaining the color and cut of the whiskers worn by King Athelstan, who died in 925. A fund has been subscribed for the erection of a stained glass portrait to King Athelstan in the local town hall. Hence they want to know what he looked like in order that his portrait may do him honor.

Ingwersen, Barry to Officiate in High School Cinder Path Meets Next Saturday

Two University of Iowa major sport coaches will officiate at track meets on Saturday when Coach Burton A. Ingwersen of the football team goes to Council Bluffs and Coach Sam Barry of the basketball team travels to Mount Vernon.

At Council Bluffs, Ingwersen will act in the capacity of referee and starter of the second annual Council Bluffs high school relays. He will make the trip with Charlie Brookins, who is scheduled to appear in an exhibition 220-yard low hurdle race at the meet.

The Cornell-Carleton dual meet will be handled by Coach Barry at Mount Vernon on the same date.

Iowa Works for Irish Mix

Notre Dame Boasts Real Nine; Split Even Last Year

With the abandonment of the game with Kansas because of rain and wet grounds, the Iowa ball team is looking towards the tilt with Notre Dame on Friday and the game with Minnesota on Saturday. Both games will be played on Iowa Field.

Irish Return From South

Coach Vogel had his men ready to send them against the Jayhawks from the Southwest and the invaders had arrived from Ames where they played earlier in the week, but the elements intervened. It was the first time this season that Iowa had a game cancelled on account of the weather.

While not a great deal is known of the strength of the Notre Dame nine for they have played no middle western teams, they will not bring a weak outfit to Iowa City on Friday. The Irish are returning from a long training trip in the South in which they were successful in winning the majority of their games. Georgia, whose team bested Michigan, was decisively faced by the men from South Bend.

Split Even in 1924

Iowa nines usually meet Notre Dame on the diamond every year. In 1924 the Hawkeyes played good ball to win 3 to 2 at South Bend in a game in which a second-string pitcher showed his prowess. But at Iowa City the Iowans were not so good and a prolonged streak of hitting which sent the Iowa infield up in the air gave the Irish team a 9 to 6 game.

New Ideas in Literary Magazine

New ideas—new writers—new books in review—new verse forms—to match the newness of spring, will enliven the pages of the next issue of the Iowa Literary Magazine.

Elaborate verse forms, besides free verse, will be a feature: "The Old Philosopher," by Helen Monosmith, employs Pontoum, an intricate French form; a quatrain by Iduna Bertel is called "Interim"; Warren Van Dine and Douglas Lamont have contributed a sonnet and a lyric, respectively.

Three new writers, Ray E. Holcombe, who has written a play; Marquis W. Childs, instructor in the department of English, who contributes a short story; and Doris Rae, author of a poem, will be among the contributors.

The latest books of Floyd Dell, Edith Wharton, Knut Hamsun, Sinclair Lewis, and Ford M. Ford have been reviewed. New reviewers are Margaret Hill, Mary Sheridan, and Katherine Macy.

The editors of the magazine, Evelyn M. Harter and Charles Brown Nelson, have each written editorials for this issue.

Parade of Nations Features Pageant

Circus to Have March Robert E. Lee Main Figure in Line

One of the distinctive characters standing out in the huge pageant of Historic America given by Robbins Bros. circus here May 6, is that of Robert E. Lee.

He is an important part of the pageant and comes into the arena astride of his white horse, as the band plays "Dixie."

There are 1000 people connected with the circus. Its special trains arrive early in the morning. There are three herds of elephants. The show is the largest in the world, giving a free street parade, according to the publicity agents.

This march is a replica of the nations of the earth, called the Parade of Nations. It is a mile in length and has within it all the splendor and the beauty of the orient, coupled with the quaint customs and unique situations of the European countries.

The various tableaux wagons are among the most beautiful ever built. They were designed by European artists.

Then there are the cowboys of the Ponca Bill's Wild West, the Indians of the Sioux reservation and the wild animals in their cages open to the sight of the public coupled with dromedary camels, three herds of elephants, the kangaroos, the ostriches, seals, polar bears, monkeys, and many others.

Two performances will be given by the show—afternoon and evening. Tickets are on sale at the up-town ticket office.

Professors Starve Next Week

Stranded on the barren shores of Lake Okoboji, without food for three days! That is the possible fate of two Iowa professors when they visit that lake next week.

"Doctor Stromsten and I intend to go to the Lakeside Laboratories on May 7 to stay for three full days," explained Dr. Robert B. Wylie, head of the department of botany, "but the thing that most concerns us now is how to get enough food to last those three days. The lake is deserted at this time of the year, and we will be miles away from any town, without a car. We will surely need a first-aid kit of some kind."

Dr. Frank A. Stromsten, curator, and Doctor Wylie, director, will visit the laboratories in order to carry out collections and make observations in relation to a number of researches being made by these scientists and their students.

"From the standpoint of a collector, it is very important to get collections at the beginning of the season," said Doctor Wylie, "the summer records are fairly complete, but those of the spring and fall are lacking."

While they are there, Doctor Wylie and Doctor Stromsten will engage men to clean the campus of five acres and let the contract for a new roof for the main laboratory building.

Iowa City Hi Plans for 'Junior-Senior'

Upper Classmen Hold Annual Dance at Youde's Friday

The "Junior-Senior," an annual dinner-dance for the upper classes of the Iowa City high school, will be held tomorrow night at Youde's Inn.

After dinner stunts will take the form of a radio program, supposedly broadcast from Station ICHS. Burton Bowman will act as official announcer. Mrs. W. J. Weber, president of the Iowa City school board will give an instructive talk, "Building Your Own Set." Other toasts will be "Tuning In," by Betty Baxter; "Static," Miss Porter; and "Signing Off" by Dick Boyles.

At eight o'clock the scene will change from the Inn to the Iowa City high gymnasium, where the couples will dance twelve numbers to Wayne Tiss' music. Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Dutcher, Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Bywater and Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Baxter will chaperone.

Art students, under the personal supervision of Miss Otto, have made the booklet-programs. The sole use of red and white materials in the decorations successfully carries out the school colors.

Robert Prentiss, Victim of Accident, Rests Easily

Robert Prentiss, son of Dr. H. J. Prentiss of the medical department, who was seriously injured when he was struck by a car, while he was playing ball in the City park Tuesday afternoon, is reported to be resting easily in a local hospital. His left leg is in a cast and it is expected that he will have to remain in the hospital for some length of time.

The leg was not broken, doctors report, but the knee is badly twisted and there are other injuries of a serious nature.

The victim of the accident, is one of the most prominent athletes of the Iowa City high school and will act as captain of the 1925-26 basketball squad.

State Board Exams Follow Semesters

Dents to Take 2 Sets of Quizzes Next Month

Semester examinations will come for the "dents" the last week in May, and will be followed by the sophomore state board examinations, and the senior state board, the latter to secure a license to practice dentistry in the state of Iowa.

The seniors head the list in the college of dentistry with ten semester examinations to write, while the juniors will take nine. Such subjects as oral surgery, special therapeutics, dental pathology, pedodontia, prosthetic dentistry, general hygiene, and operative dentistry will be covered.

The freshman and sophomores have only five finals to write. The freshman will write on dental anatomy, chemistry, visceral anatomy, histology, and anatomy, and the sophomores on metallurgy, anatomy, crown and bridge technique, physiology, and general pathology.

Sophomore dental students with passing credit for faculty finals will be recommended to the Iowa state board of dental examiners, which will meet here June 1. The state board examinations will cover the following subjects: anatomy, physiology, histology, chemistry, and metallurgy. The board subject must be either taken at the end of the sophomore year or at the time of the senior board, if a license to practice in Iowa is desired.

The senior state board consists of examinations on all phases of dentistry, and four clinical requirements which are: first, cavity preparation and foil operation; second, gold crown; third, inlay or amalgam filling in two surfaces; and fourth, set up of teeth.

'Full House' Gets Extensive Praise

St. Patrick's Seniors Give Play for Adults

Bits of Irish humor and comical banter added a truly ridiculous trend to "A Full House," a farce given last night by the senior class of St. Patrick's high.

The players, representative of the best dramatic ability of the graduating class, were coached by Miss Josephine Daus of the University of Iowa. Tuesday the play was put on for the children of the school, in order that last night's performance might be for an adult audience.

Florence Wallace, as "Susie," a maid from Sioux City, undoubtedly had the most finished interpretation of the whole cast. Her voice and action were indicative of unusual amateur skill.

Structurally the play has one main plot and several sub-plots which require a thorough understanding of every part by each actor. In practically all conversations there was "freppyn" spontaneity and realism, but bits of pantomime were sometimes uncertain.

The play centers about a theft of jewels and a pack of love letters. Through a comical misunderstanding, two romances were almost shattered and several of the women were on the verge of nervous collapses. Grips were exchanged by pullman travelers, and the whole becomes a very tangled, complicated affair.

The players who helped tangle affairs were: Clarence Johnston, Florence Wallace, Adeline Black, Evelyn Witte, Constance Ford, William Wallen, Joseph Welsh, Francis Tobin, Paul Wilkinson, John Malone, Paul Clark, Mary Kelly, Mary Hogan and Marie Stafford.

University High to Hold Summer Session This Year

A summer session of the university secondary schools will be conducted this year. The high school session will begin on June ninth and the elementary school session on June fifteenth.

School work is carried on only during the morning hours, leaving time for the pupils to do other work or to play during the afternoons. All regular high school courses will be offered. Three grades will be in session; the first, third, and fifth.

Teachers regularly employed during the school year will teach during the summer session. There will be no tuition charge and the text books are furnished.

Grace Voss Chosen New Dean of Women at U High School

Miss Grace Voss of Marshalltown has been chosen to succeed Miss Marjorie C. Moore, A4 of Iowa City, as dean of women at University high school for next year.

Miss Voss is a graduate of Cornell College and is now engaged in Y. W. C. A. work at Marshalltown. She has also had some experience in teaching. Miss Moore is planning to teach elsewhere next year. This place on the faculty of the school was created only this year.

Miss K. Irene Bowman, A3 of Iowa City, will serve as librarian of the University schools next year. Miss Bowman has had library experience in Mason City and will assume her duties in the fall when school opens.

State Meeting to Attract Dentists

Dentures, Dr. Earl S. Smith, will give an illustrated lecture on "Some of the Underlying Basic Principles in the Construction of Partial Dentures." At this meeting also Dr. Clarence Fenner, with the use of prepared charts, models, and graphics will present the well known ideas of Dr. Cummer, of Toronto, Ontario on the subject of design and technique and construction of parts.

Dr. R. A. Fenton before the section on Oral Surgery will give a paper on "Cysts," using lantern slides to illustrate his talk.

City Dentists Attend Among the city dentists who will take part in the Cedar Rapids Dental Society group clinic at the meeting will be Dr. W. L. Schenck, showing investment method and inlay castings; Dr. W. E. Spence the use and abuse of gold crowns; Dr. R. H. Volland, on inlay direct; Dr. E. A. Rogers, of the dental faculty will present in this group also the "Roentgenographic Study of Oral Conditions."

On Wednesday evening of the meeting will be the annual jamboree banquet at the Hotel Ft. Des Moines. The guest of honor will be Dr. Charles E. Woodbury of Council Bluffs. After the banquet prizes won in the general clinics will be awarded, followed by dancing.

The annual meeting and dinner of the Xi Psi Phi fraternity will be held at the Harris-Emery Tea room on Monday evening May 4. The night before the dental society meeting opens.

Contribute to Society "Not individual aggrandisement, or self-expression—what you get out of society—but your contribution to society, is the purpose of your education at the University. You have a certain responsibility in helping the world in its search for true relationships.

"Are you worth the cost of educating you? The state of Iowa would be barren without the graduates of the University, but you must make these arts and skills you are acquiring of service to society, and then we need not fear for the University. Resolve to be a source of pride to the University now and forever," President Jessup said in closing.

Reports were heard of the work of senior committees, and an open discussion permitted Vernon Sharp, L3 of Rolfe, to relate a far-fetched fable of a senior who sought refuge in a hollow log during one of frequent spring rains. Unfortunately the log shrank, and the senior was unable to dislodge himself. Then a thought came to him that he had not paid his senior memorial tax, and the poor captive felt so small that he easily wriggled out of the log.

After two musical numbers by Mrs. Florence King Ronald and Miss Geraldine Mars, the following junior and senior prizes and honors were announced by President Jessup: Chi Omega prize of $15 to senior woman having the best standing in economics, Frances Nies; Samuel L. Lefevre memorial prize, $20, to winner of the Freshman oratorical prize, Charles B. Nutting; Walter A. Jessup prize of $25 to the winner of the University oratorical contest, Arnold Lassen.

Luther A. Brewer honor key in journalism students having the highest grades, also general ability and promise, Albert Fuller, Leslie G. Moeller, and Dorothy E. Wilson; artistic reading contest, by forensic league, Margaret Blackburn; Lowden prize to J. M. J. debating teams, Allin Dakin, Floyd Racker, Noel T. Adams; Phillip C. Walker, Charles Burns, and Frank Horack, Jr.; Purple Mask honorary dramatic society prize, Margaret Blackburn, Paul Foley, Harvey Carter.

Then the band played and the assembly sang "Old Gold" and seniors and juniors filed out of the auditorium and down the steps with the smell of damp slickers in their nostrils and the unanimous judgment, "best Senior Day ever" in their ears.

Manuvres Please Wilbur

WASHINGTON, April 23—Regardless of whether a definite decision can be reached as to which side won the Hawaiian war game, Secretary Wilbur said today the manouvers would be justified if nothing more was shown than that the United States fleet can function as a unit under approximate war conditions.

Donald Ackerson Dies in Far West

Psychology Professor Learns of Death of Only Son

Mr. and Mrs. Lutan Ackerson were called to Eugene, Oregon, Tuesday, by the death of their five year old son, Donald. Mr. Ackerson is an assistant in the department of psychology.

The Ackersons received a telegram from Mr. Ackerson's parents, with whom the child had been living to past few months, saying that the boy was seriously ill. Two hours later they received the message that he had died. They left immediately for the west and were accompanied as far as Cedar Rapids by Mr. and Mrs. Giles M. Ruch, also of the University faculty.

The cause of the child's death was an obstruction of the throat from which he had been suffering for only two days.

Mr. Ackerson who is an assistant professor of psychology, is a newcomer to the University this year. His wife came here to live during the latter part of December and left the son for a stay with his grandparents in Oregon, where he has remained ever since. The Ackersons have one other child, a daughter who is nearly a year old.
