Tubb Rejects $100 Offer of Board in Damage Suit; Sues

The damage suit of Joseph Tubb vs. the Johnson county board of supervisors was resumed at yesterday's session of the district court. The board offered to pay Tubb plus six per cent interest from Aug. 10, 1921. Tubb has refused the offer and is taking the case before the court. The trial will be continued in today's session.

Sixteen Win Debate Trials for Teams

Winners Enter Finals to Choose Squad of Nine

The gubernatorial debating ability of the female sex received a severe setback when, after two days of try-outs, the debate team squad was cut to sixteen—fourteen men and two women.

Forty persons aspired to make the teams that will argue for Iowa against Cambridge, Minnesota, and Illinois and gave five minute speeches on one of the following subjects: Resolved: that this house pities its grandchildren; that democracy is a failure; that the future depends more on the arts than on the sciences; and that all immigration barriers should be raised.

The remaining sixteen will be matched into teams for the finals to be held a week from now.

Rhine Pact Draws Attention of Europe

LOCARNO, SWITZ., Oct. 6—Germany and the Allies today took up for discussion in the second session of the Security conference the thorny points of the Rhine pact of guarantee.

Many Hard Problems
The more difficult questions include the problem of satisfying France and her allies, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia on the matter of French military support in the event of aggression against them.

France Gets Protection
Hence France and her eastern friends will enjoy protection, general in nature, once Germany subscribes to the pact and the Germans were not slow to point this out today.

W. A. A., Y. W. Sponsor Party Ninth Annual Chawa Kwai Celebrates October 14

The ninth annual celebration of Chawa Kwai which is to be given Oct. 14, will be sponsored by the women's association and the Y. W. C. A. Chawa Kwai is an old tradition which has served in recent years as a means of acquainting the freshmen women in the university with the upperclass women and creating a feeling of friendliness among new students.

The tradition is borrowed from an old Japanese custom, and is connected with a story which tells of a beautiful Japanese princess who was killed in a heavy storm. So great was her loss felt that her people, bound together by sympathy, searched for her far into the night. The words Chawa Kwai mean "a lantern procession."

The freshmen women will meet in the hall of liberal arts building at 7:15 and will march across the campus carrying lighted Japanese lanterns. They will stop in front of old capitol where there will be a short program, and the tradition of Chawa Kwai will be told. Afterwards there will be a sponsor-party, in the women's gymnasium, with the Y. W. C. A. and women's association in charge.

Each upperclassman will be in charge of a sponsor and is to be responsible for showing her a good time at this party.

They were accompanied by Miss Ardis Hollingsworth, 44 of Iowa City, and William H. Presnell, M3 of Algona. They will be at home in Downey after November 1.

Lace Tuckers, Ribbons, Garnish Fall Gowns

By MME. LISBETH

In these degenerate days when women will not stay in the home but insist upon going forth and poking their dainty noses into all the business that used to be the exclusive concern of men, they must be able to do a quick sartorial change comparable to a man's donning a clean collar and fresh tie which converts his business suit into a costume suitable for social purposes.

So the sartorial artists have created the lace collar and vestee or jabot which converts the plain frock suitable for business or shopping purposes into the dressy type for luncheon, tea, matinee or restaurant wear. The old-fashioned lace tucker of years ago was used for the same purpose by the stay-at-home damsel.

The collar and vest of lace (left) may be worn as a "choker" when it is worn with a black satin tie. Rolled low it's a pretty adornment for the tailored frock, and on still other occasions it may be turned back in quaint colonial style. Even more simple but especially decorative is the collar and panel of lace (right). Both of these sets are worn over black satin gowns.

Something a bit different is illustrated on the right. It is the fluffy and beruffled collar and sleeve set combining an embroidered panel with frills of plain material. The sleeves are attached to the collar, and, as the picture shows, they may be worn with a sleeveless tunic or may be utilized to convert a sleeveless afternoon frock into one suitable for street wear.

Sets for outdoor wear that give a smart touch to the tailored suit or coat consist of hat and neckpiece. One sports set seen in London recently consisted of a hat of mauve velvet with wool motifs embroidered in fuchsia shades and tinsel threads over a foundation of mouffin with collar to match.

Now, Phidias Krinkle, early in his college course, would have no fills, either as regards scholarship and studies, or equipment. Hence, we found him (that is, some one did) buying a pen for $1.37—today only—and putting the difference between that and the price of a Parker Duofold in books—good books, too, let it be understood. And passing charitably over some profane lapses, he got along with it till graduation, and then some. We're liberal—it would make a mark when you pressed it, frequently. But Krinkle, with this penny-grasping trait, went bankrupt three years after graduation. And he never did amount to much after.

Jack Free, on the other hand, had an eye to quality, beauty, and—oh yes—quality. His second week in college found him with a Parker Duofold. Makes no difference if he did steal it—he knew what sort to steal, and the victim bought another Parker, anyway. Well, to coin a phrase, that was just like Jack, and he graduated and signed his first check with a flourish and a Parker. And, due to its being admitted in fairness by all, to this belief and insistence on quality at all costs, he went stony broke in two years.

So there really was little advantage in the Parker Duofold over the orphan pen, except having something decent to write with during the period mentioned.

Harold Lloyd's best. That is what "The Freshman", the latest film of the always clever Harold, is deservedly called. This time you see him in the guise of what the press notices call a "sport model freshman"—about the best description that could be applied.

His ideas of college life have all been derived from fiction and a certain moving picture he's seen, not once, but half a dozen times.

Equipped in killing attire Harold comes to Tate, the town which has a "very large stadium with a university attached", and starts to win instant popularity with his gay, kidding manner and a debonair jig and handshake he practices on everyone he meets. It takes about two minutes for the collegians to "get" him. From that time on with mock earnestness the students, male and female, accept him at his own valuation and what happens to Harold is much like what he hoped would happen until—

The light of understanding blindly crashes over his suddenly and painfully awakened eyes, and he realizes he has been a great boob instead of a great boy.

Law Students Get Real Experience Under New Plan

A plan is being put into operation by Professor Sharp which will give members of the law college an opportunity for some practical experience in handling problems of law. The general scheme is to divide the first and second year students of the law school into groups which will compete in arguative supposititious cases. The students will prepare arguments as they would for an actual appeal to the supreme court. Each man will investigate the law, help write a brief, and finally argue his case before a judge.

The students registered for the competition have been grouped into ten clubs containing one hundred thirty-eight members. Each of the clubs has been named after a noted Iowa judge, lawyer, or teacher. Every member of the competition must argue at least one case during the year.

The plan has been adopted from a similar one that has been in operation at the Harvard law school for many years and which has met with great success.

This model of the spillway at Keokuk is installed in the hydraulic laboratory at the west end of the university dam and is one-eleventh of the actual size. Studies are being made which involve the investigation of the efficiency of the Keokuk spillways in discharging the water, the design of the spillway piers, and the erosion of rock at the apron of the dam. Tests of this nature can be carried on with greater facility, accuracy, and decreased cost than they could be on the original structure.

Complete Plans for Second Union Unit

Bids Will Be Opened Morning of Homecoming Day

Final plans and specifications for the second unit of the five-unit Memorial Union, the first of which is near completion, have been drawn up, Rufus H. Fitzgerald, director, announces. The bids will be opened and the work of construction awarded at a meeting of the board of trustees of the university on the morning of Homecoming, October 17.

The second unit will be directly east of the first and will face Madison street. The two buildings will be joined, although the second will tower above the first by 26 feet. It will be as high as the liberal arts building, containing four stories and a basement, or a "river floor," as Mr. Fitzgerald terms it. The ground floor will be used as a large auditorium for all-university gatherings. Leading out from the second floor of the lower unit and facing the spacious assembly room from a raised height, a speaker's and musician's balcony is to be built. It will be made of bronze and is to be highly decorative in design.

The sessions were spent in hearing reports of officers. A recommendation was presented asking that an endowment be created to support the fellowship which is given annually by the society to a college graduate for study at the state university of Iowa.

The World Series

THIS afternoon the Pittsburgh Pirates, champions of the National league, and the Washington Senators, leaders of the American loop, will get together in the Smoky City for the initial contest of the world's series.

For the next week the annual baseball classic will hold the attention of the sports world and will dominate conversation and the press all over the country. From Washington we hear complaints from the diplomatic ranks of the lack of interest shown by the natives in the French war debt, the air investigation, and other prominent topics of the day, but these same serious-minded individuals will leave their offices and their duties while they throng the baseball parks or mill about the scoreboards to watch the swaying fortunes of the home team.

The realist and the materialist stand back with a contemptuous sneer as public interest turns to that which seems to them to be but a low grade form of entertainment. Why should they watch nine high-salaried fools from the home town knock a ball around a high-priced lot while nine other high priced fools chase it? No, they have more important business to attend to.

Nevertheless their neighbor, who is a baseball fan, smiles piteously at them and continues on his way of folly. To him these athletes are intelligent, hard working men, who draw pay because they are able to do well what the rest of us would like to do.

To him the game is not a hit and run affair, but a fascinating pastime that brings thrills to his heart. A spectacular catch or a long hit are not mere bits of physical prowess, but feats that he admires as much as any successful business deal or diplomatic stroke.

After all, considering the infinity of this universe, why is not the work of "Babe" Ruth, Ty Cobb, and their companion diamond satellites as worthy in their way of our admiration and reverence as the deeds of diplomats, inventors, generals, financiers and other prominent figures of the practical world?

What Iowa Men Have Done

IN Doctor Fieseler's office in the Men's Gym hangs a sign, "What Iowa Men Have Done—Iowa Men Can Do." Beneath the sign is a great frame filled with pictures of Iowa's heroes: the Devines, Slater, Locke, Brookings, Wilson—all of them have made their last record or plunged the line the last time for "Old Gold!"

What a groan escaped Notre Dame backers when the "Four Horsemen" galloped away from the South Bend institution. But in their first game this season they discovered that they had another troop of cavaliers.

Two years ago that auburn-haired ice-man, Harold Grange, had not appeared on the sports horizon.

Slowly but surely the history cycle is bringing us back to the days of the Greeks. Training fastidiously, they developed their bodies to the same high state of perfection as their mental faculties. The great athletic programs of great universities, their intra-mural sports, their intelligent system of physical education, are fitting men to follow in the footsteps of those Great and Near Great who preceded them.

What Iowa Men Have Done—Iowa Men Can Do.

A Punch in Politics

STUDENTS who never know any class affiliation except through the registrar's office, who are never approached by a class officer except at election time or when there is something to pay, wonder what class politics are all about.

Slackers?

Well, their time is valuable. They cast their civic votes not because they are interested in the game of politics but because they hope something progressive in the way of government will come of it.

"But the game has to be learned," the potential congressman will protest.

"Oh, does it?" Our disgruntled students thought it came without learning. They remain unmoved. They would visit the preschool if they could find the time and would be admitted. That would be interesting. But class election! Let the little boys have their red wagons, even if they do run people off the walk! Why vote? There's too much else to think about.

Slackers?

That all depends on what could be accomplished through class organization.

The Third Term

PRESIDENT Calvin Coolidge, the economy expert, is now whirling through the middle west en route to the Legion convention in Omaha. On every hand he receives the plaudits of the people who congregate at every station to watch the chief executive as he passes through their village or city. For the time being he is given front page space usually devoted to naval disasters, rum running, and oil scandals. And it is a welcome change from the sordid and tragic chronicles of the past.

It seems a little early to be looking ahead to the presidential election of 1928. Politicians do not think it so, however, and the stage is already being set for a struggle which will place another of America's third rate men at the helm of the ship of state. Al Smith, New York's and Tammany Hall's favorite, has already unofficially opened his campaign by an address to Illinois democrats. And there are others of varying hue who are secretly casting covetous eyes upon the white mansion in Washington.

The president's trip to Omaha is a great tribute to the men of the American Legion. It is a great honor to the people of the west. It is a distinction for the state of Nebraska. But more than any of these it is a step toward the launching of Mr. Coolidge's campaign for a third term in 1928.

Open House

THE sorority open house, the collegiate medium for soothing that get-acquainted desire aroused each fall when a new crop of girls and boys descend upon Iowa City for a year's residence, was initiated Sunday afternoon with the customary formalities. The excitement and attendant procedure produced in any fraternity house when the awaited invitation is received results in an expenditure of energy and loss of motion worthy of a better cause. The person of each pledge is adorned with the latest styles in men's clothing and he is instructed in the proper and orthodox method of grasping the right hand of a lady as he passes down the too-soon-ending line of sisters.

Open house as an institution was created for the benefit of freshmen in attempting to aid them to take a part in the social life of the university. Too many freshmen, however, become altogether amalgamated into collegiate society and lose sight of the fundamental purpose for which they attend the university, to secure intellectual training for later life. They make open house simply the genesis for a plunge into a series of dates which precludes any hope of attaining scholastic goals or prominence in activities. A student who permits social enjoyment, timely as they are, to occupy the paramount position in the four years he will spend at the university, must of necessity leave without partaking of the genuine and lasting benefits the university has to offer.

Midwestern Gold

IN reading the last few chapters of "Green Bush", by John T. Frederick, one may experience a positive ecstasy of feeling for the soil-sense created in the book. This is what attracts eastern publishers to middle western novels—the lusterless but luminous intensity that is the soul of the prairie earth and sky, and as the charm of a Venus de Milo is the soul of Greek art—a something that is recognizable by outsiders as different yet belonging so appropriately as to deserve the name of "culture." Iowa's sons and daughters are not apt to realize that in part their prided wealth consists of the expression of their riches in books like this.

Poems That Live

Afternoon on a Hill

I will be the gladdest thing
Under the sun!
I will touch a hundred flowers
And not pick one.
I will look at cliffs and clouds
With quiet eyes,
Watch the wind bow down the grass,
And the grass rise.

And when the lights begin to show
Up from the town,
I will mark which must be mine,
And then start down!
—Edna St. Vincent Millay.

CHILLS and FEVER

My dear children, today we have the poet's corner. In the course of human events, it seems periodically necessary for all of us to blow off steam. Hence the Pyramids, and these following opuses. In order to foster competition for potential contributors we refrain from comment, but always reserve the right of the last word. Ready, Mr. Orchestra?

THE ONE WOMAN

She sits in the corner
Of the boarding house parlor
And smokes with a calm, untroubled air.
Roomers may come
And roomers may stay
For many, many months.
But she sits there in the corner.
And smokes,
And s'o'e's
While I wonder vaguely
If 'plust' equals $.

—Selected.

WASHING MACHINES

Wage slaves, filthy with sweat and grime,
Stand round and curse the town.
The manufacturer, fat and swarthy,
Drives a Packard, while wage slaves stand
And utter vile oaths there.
Peace, progress, prosperity!
And they sold another million dollars worth
Of washing machines.
But wage slaves, filthy with sweat and
Grime, know not of unearned money nor
Booze that rots the soul here
While men stand on street corners there.

GARBAGE CANS

Oh, sing me a song of the garbage can
With its overloaded ballast of ripened
Fruit, and coffee grounds, rotten tomatoes
And spoiled meat.
For I sing of things unsmelled and yet untasted
In this blatant bucket, neatly galvanized.
This is America! Hurray, hurrah!
Let not the patriot be afraid,
For the garbage can stands in the corner
Of the lot,
With its ripened cargo of fruit
And coffee grounds, rotten tomatoes
And spoiled potatoes.
—In Mr. Whitman's best manner.

YE LIBRARY

Flashing blurbs of witch hazel light,
Visible above, dark at the right . . .
Comes white flesh soft and seductive
But no one knows or gives a damn
So let us hew
To the old raggedy machines
And let the keys fall
Where they may
For no one gives a damn.
—as Mr. Cummings would have it . . .

ROUND AND ROUND

"Rimes are the rudders of verse"
The verses of the modern pote,
The things he labels "free."
Resembles much a little boat
That's rudderless at sea.
The pote rides in his cockleshell,
Not knowing where he's bound,
And tossed about from swell to swell,
Goes round and round and round.

You see them bobbing everywhere
Upon the lithy main,
And no one seems to know, or care,
If they get home again.

Now those who wish may put to sea,
And pitch and toss and roll
Like Grothius' celebrated Three
Who voyaged in a bowl.

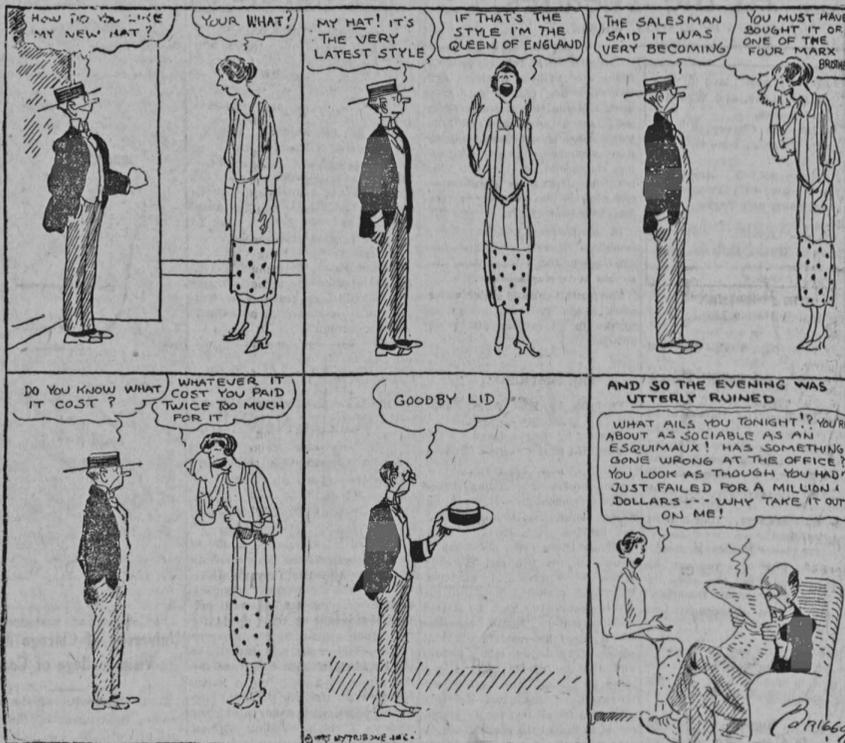

Give me to steer a steady barge
Through meadows green and cool
That's hauled along a grassy marge
By Pegasus my mule.

—THOMAS DEWAR

For several years Bradfield has headed the research expedition that has encountered seventeen dugout rooms and burial pits.

Iowa Co-eds' Hair Dress Much Like That of Ancient Greece

Egyptian women wore it oiled close to their heads. Hottentots let their kinky locks fly in the breeze, and ladies of George Eliot's day had a fringe of corkerew ringlets across their brows and dangling in front of their ears. Iowa co-eds do all these things and more. We see them curled, frizzed, shingled, and even short of all the gods gave them to make them beautiful. The tendency on the campus this fall seems to be toward ears. Not tips of ears or bits of ears, but entire ears and then not even the intricate shell-like interior part which anatomists marvel at, but the ugly unromantic backs: for example, that girl in front of the liberal arts building the other day who wore all the hair she had in two spiky little curls on either cheek. From behind, the view was one of a vast incompassable waste which had nothing but the curve of a diminutive shingle to relieve the monotony. The ground, or front view, was marvelous, but her whole appearance was that of a beautiful garden and prosaic back yard. Others not so extreme, had a general impression of campus hair was one of something absent. There is no objection to shingle back, there are many beautiful heads on the campus. But the girl must be beautiful or careless who will let her good looks be stylish. "Moderation in all things," said the Greeks. This said that Greek men, about 500 B. C., wore narrow bands of precious metals across their shingles, to keep them from some sort of curls that they would wear, in place. How about the next formal girls?

OTHER CAMPUS YARNS

Homecoming at the University of Wisconsin will be October 17 this year and Dad's Day will be November 14. Last year these dates were practically reversed. Plans for Dad's Day are already in progress and invitations will be issued to the fathers of all students by President Frank.

Professor Perkins of the University of North Dakota urges the students to strive for general honors in scholastic attainment. These honors are under three heads; doing work of superior excellence in major work, doing original or research work of merit, and completing a systematic course of reading under the auspices of the honor committee. Candidates for honors have to have an average of at least 78 in all subjects and an average of 92 in their major and one minor subject.

The University of Denver has recently compiled statistics to show how much a college education costs. They find that the average college man spends $600 a year while the coeds can seldom get along on less than $800. A resident student can get along on $500 if he does not pay room and board. Fraternity men spend more than non-fraternity students. The lowest estimate given for him was $300 and the highest was $1300.

Delta Kappa is a new local fraternity organized on the campus at the University of Missouri. It is an organization of the members of the De Molay House which was established at Missouri in 1921. During its four years' existence on the campus this house had among its members a Rhodes scholar, a member of a senior honorary literary society, debaters, athletes, and honor scholars, and so the University is sure that Delta Kappa will make good as a fraternity.

Mme. Schumann-Heink will open the musical season at the University of Wisconsin when she appears there for a concert Nov. 18. Mme. Schumann-Heink is one of the greatest contraltos of the present day.
Pan-Literary council at Coe College hopes to have a lecture given Oct. 19 by Mrs. Alne Kilmer, widow of the well-known poet, Joyce Kilmer.

Nickname Jones at California School

Out on the Pacific coast where the University of Southern California football team has already won three games in two weeks, they have nicknamed Howard H. Jones, former Iowa coach. He is called "Execute" — because of his habit of constantly telling the players to execute their formations. The word was a familiar one on Iowa field when Jones was here.

The Trojan team defeated Whittier, 74 to 0 and California Tech, 32 to 0 on the same afternoon two weeks ago and last Saturday rolled over Pomona college, 80 to 0. Utah

Prince of Wales Sleeps During Festival of Harvest

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 6 (AP)—While cabinet ministers, diplomatic functionaries and thousands of school children anxiously awaited the arrival of the Prince of Wales to attend a school festival arranged in his honor during his visit to Buenos Aires, the heir to the British throne slept profoundly in the magnificent private residence placed at his disposal during his stay here.

Tired out by a ceaseless round of official functions, the Prince refused to leave his bed at the early hour the school feast should have begun which nevertheless was carried out in his absence.
Iowa Legion Ranks Second in Enrollment Percentage
DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Iowa department of the American Legion continues among the leaders in membership standing. Only New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois rank higher than this state in total enrollment. South Dakota is the only state that has a percentage of world war veterans in the Legion than Iowa.

Morningside Harriers Drill Hard for Des Moines Meet

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Oct. 6 (AP)—Cross-country candidates at Morningside are hard at work with their preliminary drills, hoping to round out a team that will justify participation in the North Central Conference meet at Des Moines early this month. Outstanding performers include Donald MacIntosh of Livermore, Roy Hanson of Ponda, Donald Hunter of Charter Oak, and Ingram of Sioux Rapids.

Norman Brown's Column on the Why and How of Football Rules

Minimizing "Dirty Work"

Football leaders are alive to the fact that the very life of football as a popular sport depends upon eliminating from it the "dirty work"—unnecessary and unsportsmanlike roughness. It is impossible to eliminate all of it. It must be said, however, that the vigilance of the officials of the games and the attitude of the greater portion of the coaches on the matter have kept this unpleasant feature minimized.

The rules specifically state that there must be no striking with the fists or elbows. "Kneeling" is forbidden. This refers to the practice of kicking an opponent with the knee, as it were, or of projecting the knee intentionally in such a manner that an opponent will strike it.

Kicking, of course, is forbidden. So is the practice of striking with the hands while they are locked during the player's efforts to block an opponent not carrying the ball. It is an offense to strike an opponent in the face with the "heel" of the hand.

These infractions are considered serious enough to warrant the disqualification of the player offending and the loss by the team on which he plays of half the distance to its own goal line.

Special rules have been introduced to eliminate other features of roughness, such as running into the player who has just kicked the ball.

(More of these tomorrow.)

Hall Trades Swats October 17 With St. Paul Battler

Local Boxing Mentor, Experienced in Manly Art

Roscoe Hall, University of Iowa boxing coach and state lightweight champion, will tangle with Rusty Jones, rugged St. Paul battler, in the main event of the Cudahy Athletic Club boxing show to be staged at Sioux City, Iowa, on October 17. This will be Hall's first fight since he rocked Jack Humphreys to sleep with a smashing right cross early in the fourth round of a battle at Des Moines last August.

Jones, Real Performer

"Rusty" Jones is one of the best lightweights in the twin cities and has beaten some tough men. He holds a decision over Ace Hudkins, Pacific coast champ, who is a leading contender for the lightweight crown which Benny Leonard left vacant when he retired from the ring last year.

Jones also holds a decision over Johnny O'Donnell, another tough lightweight scrapper, and a short time ago he held Russ Leroy, the hard hitting South Dakota lightweight, to a draw in a Sioux City ring.

Although Roscoe Hall, who besides being the university boxing coach is also a pre-medical student, has only fought a couple of times in the last six months he has been in over one hundred ring battles and has defeated some of the best men in the lightweight division. Hall is well known and popular in Sioux City boxing circles as he has already appeared in nine battles there.

Hall Starts Work

Hall started working out last week and although his training grind may be held back a bit by a slightly strained shoulder muscle that he received in a workout Monday he will be in condition to give the fast and clever Twin City scrapper the battle of his life when the two crawl through the ropes for their battle on the seventeenth.

Local Merchants to Banquet Ball Club

Merchants of Iowa City will give a banquet Thursday, Oct. 15 in honor of the Independent baseball team at the Jefferson hotel. The Independents, in spite of reverses at the beginning of the season, have come out with a very good record, having won eleven games and lost four.

Keota won two and lost one to the Independents; Wilton lost two and won one; Solon lost two; Atkins lost two; Riverside won one; Marengo lost one; West Liberty lost two; and Tipton lost one.

At the banquet to be given the Independents, the matter of providing a ball park to which admission may be charged will be acted upon. The Iowa City boys are now circulating a petition to enable them to move the bleachers now located in the City park to the Carnival grounds south of Iowa City. They intend to lease the grounds and use it exclusively for a ball park. The Independents want the bleachers moved, according to V. R. Miller, secretary of the club, so that they may be insured against another team organizing to play in the City park.

Men who have been responsible for the showing of the Independents this year and who will be honored at the banquet are: Clark, Wampler, Schriber, Seemuth, E. Hayes, C. Morningside Grid Men Real Students

Average Maroon Star Is Better Than "C" Scholar

(By The Associated Press)

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Oct. 6—Members of the Morningside college football team, contrary to the general belief concerning college athletes, are a versatile lot, and win honors on the campus and in the classrooms, as well as on the gridiron, according to statistics on scholastic averages given out by the registrar.

Fifteen members of the Maroon football squad, all of them star gridiron performers, were chosen at random and their scholastic records for the past year examined to determine an average grade record for the squad. The investigation revealed that the 15 men received a total of 17 semester hours of "A" grade, 184 hours of "B" grade, 179 hours of "C" and 44 hours of "D" during the last school year. A rough average of the total record gives an average record for each individual of one hour of "A", 12 hours of "B", 12 hours of "C" and 3 hours of "D".

Every one of these men is doing outside work to earn a part of his college expense. Most of the football men work in the kitchen or wait tables at boarding clubs.

The University Y. M. C. A. announces through Marvin Thomas, of Council Bluffs, head of the children's hospital entertainment committee, that the entertainment work carried on at the hospital among crippled children will be extended to include the children of the University hospital.

The preliminary program given in the boy's ward at the University hospital, Thursday evening, consisted of three reels of motion pictures, "The Land of the Pilgrims" and one reel of "The Prince of Wales". If present plans develop, University talent in dramatics, reading, singing and instrumental music will be added to the program, making them similar to those given at the Perkins Hospital by the Y. M. C. A. during the year. Raymond Powell, of the tour, will be in charge of the program and will be assisted in the motion picture work by Fred Lewis, A1 of Davenport.

Entries Coming in For Greek Harrier Meet, October 15

Four fraternities have signified their intention to enter teams in the first annual intra-mural cross country run which will be held Thursday, Oct. 15. The start of the race will be on the Iowa avenue bridge then south to Burlington street, then winding around the Quadrangle, finishing on the Iowa avenue bridge.

A miniature Olympic plaque, submitted in the Arts contest in conjunction with the Olympic games in Paris last year will be awarded to the winning team. Providing twenty-five or more athletes compete, individual and team medals will also be given.

It has not yet been decided if points toward the intra-mural cup will be awarded.

A fraternity may enter as many men as it desires, but only the first three to finish will be counted as a team.

Johnson Will Pitch First for Senators

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 6 (AP)—Walter Johnson will pitch the opening game and the Washington Senators will have their full strength on the field against the Pittsburgh Pirates for the start of the world's series tomorrow. The University of Engineering

Of all the things that go to make the successful engineer, none is more important, nor more in step with the spirit of the profession, than a studious attitude. One man says about another—"he is always willing to learn," "he doesn't think he knows it all"—and he intends to pay a high compliment when he says it.

The great engineers are always at school, always learning, always seeking for more knowledge. They begin with this desire for fuller understanding, and they keep it up to the end.

Any engineering operation, over and above the primary purpose for which it is carried out, is an active and post-graduate class in engineering, also. So that Westinghouse, or any other great business, is, of its very nature, a University where theory and practice combine to make bigger, broader and more practical engineers.

The courses in this University are not limited to prescribed subjects nor terms—the subjects are almost infinite, and the semesters are endless. Men with the weight of years on their shoulders work and learn side-by-side with those whose day has just dawned.

This post-graduate school fits men for almost anything. Fits them for it, and makes them continually fitter. Out of this continuing fitness have grown the engineering accomplishments on which this institution has grown. It is, perhaps, one of the great educational institutions of its day.

Senators Will Win Say Campus Lights

By TED SWENSON
If contemporaneous Iowa City opinion, professional and amateur is any criterion, Washington will win the world series from Pittsburgh in the annual classic which gets under way this afternoon in the Pirate stronghold.

Five of the six men interviewed, favor the American League entry to repeat its victory of last year, when the New York Giants were nosed out in a spectacular seven game series.

Coach Otto Vogel, Hawk baseball coach, places great stress on the outcome of the first game, in determining the ultimate winner. Although prejudiced in favor of the National League, having played for the Cubs, Vogel figures the Senators, the strongest team on paper, "Everything depends upon the game today," said Vogel, "If the Pirates win they will have an excellent chance of coming through the rest of the series, while a Washington victory will upset them. While they might blow up, the National League are a hard fighting bunch of youngsters who will scrap every minute of the time."

Barry Likes Senators
Coach "Sam" Barry, Hawk baseball mentor in 1923, believes that the experience of the Senators will prove the deciding factor in the games this year. "I believe that the strain under which the Pittsburgh club will be laboring this afternoon will pave the way for a Washington win in the first game," said Barry in speaking of the outcome of today's game. "Johnson is a better pitcher than Lee Meadows, and he will instill confidence into the Senator lineup, this afternoon."

The older and more experienced Washington team should prove more than a match for the young and untried Pittsburgh club," concluded Coach Barry.

Eddie Flinn, captain-elect of the Old Gold nine sides with Coach Barry in the matter believing the Senators will cop the pennant. "I figure Washington to win the series through superior pitching," said Flinn in commenting on the chances of both teams. "The dope shows that there is little to choose between the two teams as regards fielding, and hitting strength, so everything else being equal, I think the pitching of Johnson and Coveleskie will turn the trick."

"Dad" Too
E. G. "Dad" Schroeder adds his voice to the Washington standards, stating that the series will go the full seven game limit, but slightly favoring the Senators. "Washington has good fielders, good hitters and veteran team that should come through over the less experienced Pittsburgh club. However I figure the series to go the limit, with the title decided in the last game," said "Dad" in lining up with the Washington forces.

Three Veterans Back
Capt. March, F. O. Terbell and R. K. Stonebrook, the veterans of last year, are almost certain of positions on the team for this year. Among the sophomores who are reporting and show promise are M. E. Ekstrand of Fort Dodge, A. E. Montgomery of Fairfield, H. J. Claesen of Pomeroy, M. G. Speers of Centerville, L. E. Hinn of Davenport, W. C. Elliot of Iowa City, W. I. Logue of Estherville, W. W. Crissman of Cedar Rapids, T. L. Blakey of Keosauqua, and J. E. Shilling of Rock Valley.

Bergstrom, 1924 Frosh Star, Unable to Report
Now that the cross-country team has changed the scene of its activities to Finkbine Field, Coach George T. Bresnahan has gradually been increasing the length of the workouts. The varsity squad will soon be running the three mile course, the work so far having consisted mostly of shorter runs, interspersed with a little speed on the hills.

Harriers Increase Length of Drills as Season Nears
Bergstrom, who performed well on the crack freshman team of last year, has been unable to report because of his heavy schedule in the medical college; Butterfield, another promising harrier of the frosh team of last year has been turning out daily for full track, and it is thought that he may change to cross country before the first dual meet. Kohl and Beatty, middle distance men on the 1925 track team, have been able to stand the pace and will undoubtedly fight it out for a position on the team.

Two Practice Runs
Coach Bresnahan is well pleased with the prospects for the season but is still calling for more men, as this year ten men will compose a team instead of seven.

Wireless Picks Up Distress Flash; Patrol Boat Sinking
NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP)—Coast guard patrol boat 191, operating from the base at Atlantic City was reported sinking about one hundred miles southeast of Cape May, N. J., in a distress message picked up tonight by the Independent wireless corporation. The message was sent out by the steamer Porto Rico, which was in the vicinity.

SIoux CITY, Oct. 6 (AP)—Two records were broken at the Sioux City stock yards yesterday. More cars of stock were received than on any day in the history of the live stock industry and more cattle were received than ever before.

Harrier Meet, Homecoming

Last year Iowa City high defeated the U High team by a score of 12 to 9 and naturally the University High boys want to revenge that defeat on Homecoming morning.

Fans Jam Gates for World's Series Tickets

Washington fans are backing the Griffen to repeat their victory in the world's series. The only regret is that there aren't enough seats to go around. Photo shows the continual stream of fans that jammed the ball park entrance way as soon as the sale of tickets opened.

Gale Fry, New Grid Star on Drake Team

DES MOINES, Oct. 6 (Special)—Coach Ossie Solem believes he has uncovered a new Bulldog gridiron luminary in Gale Fry of Kalona, Iowa.

Fry, a junior in the law school at Drake University, was on the varsity squad for the last year. He failed to get into enough games last season to earn a letter but that was because his competition on the Blue and White squad was unusually keen.

In his last two performances for the Bulldogs at Gainesville, Fla., against the University of Florida last Thanksgiving, and against Washington university at St. Louis last Saturday Fry displayed such unusually good ability as a field general and player that he has practically clinched a regular berth this season.

On any day in the history of the live stock industry and more cattle were received than ever before. Six hundred and twenty two cars of stock were brought in by the various railroads, eclipsing the previous record, established in October 1918 by 37 cars. Cattle receipts amounted to 14,588. The former record was 13,089, on October 16, 1916.

There were 525 cars of cattle, nine cars of calves, 87 cars of hogs, 27 cars of sheep and four cars of horses included in the days receipts.

League Heads Pick Umpires For World Series Contests

UMPIRES from both the American and National League for the world series have been named by the league presidents.

Ban Johnson Saturday nominated C. B. Owens and George Moriarity to represent the American League. John Heydler named Charles Riegler and Barry McCormick from the National circuit.

How Are You Preparing to Earn Next Year's College Expenses?
The scores of college men who earned their 1925-26 college expenses by representing COSMOPOLITAN, KEEPING and COSMOPOLITAN magazines last summer are "all set" to try out next summer and repeat their phenomenal success of 1925 with individual earnings as high as $100 for eleven weeks work.

Botany Department Receives Valuable Plant Collection
A large collection of plants and greenhouses in Chicago has been brought to Iowa City for the botany department by Prof. Walter L. Loehwing. Professor Loehwing has charge of the plant material in the botany department of the university, due to Chicago's plan for the collection. He is also arranging for a large number of plants which are to be donated to the department here. The collection will include living specimens of important gymnosperms from various parts of the world.

Saturday's Lineup Still in the Making

What are Billikens, anyway? Webster doesn't know. Perhaps those devilish looking dolls, with protruding noses and obstinate cowlicks are called Billikens. Well, whatever they are, Coach Burton A. Ingwersen is taking chances with them. The St. Louis University football team is nicknamed "Billikens" and the coach is playing safe.

In other words, the Hawkeyes are being put through strenuous paces this week in preparation for the St. Louis game Saturday. They may be worse than Arkansas and they may be good enough to scamp Iowa, but if they do it will not be Coach Ingwersen's fault.

Praxy Backs Johnson and Senators in Series Games
"I am strong for Walter Johnson and hope that Washington wins the world series," said President Walter A. Jessup when interviewed last night on the probable world series winner.

Condition of Iowa Athletes Wins Many Games for Hawkeyes
Did you notice the amount of time taken out by Arkansas in today's game as compared to the time taken out by Iowa? Yes, there is a vast amount of difference and you will follow Iowa athletic teams in all branches of sport. You will find that this ever holds true. It is responsible for this? Well, it has had as much if not more to do with the wonderful showing of Iowa athletic teams during the past few years than any other reason.

Pair Entries for Women's Net Tryst
The first round of the women's tennis tournament is to be finished by the end of this week. The sixteen contestants for the open doubles are drawn as follows:

- Section I: Roose and Brooker, Millet and Millet, Lang and Lang, Meinhardt and Carpenter.
- Section II: Beard and Bartz, Farrar and Day, Prunty and Davis, Burtis and Springer.
- Section III: Andrews and Cox, Rose and Starbuck, Clarke and Streng, McKellar and McKellar.

First Battle of Series in Smoky City Stronghold

home town rosters letting loose a spirit of the type that marked Washington's first pennant victory a year ago, were apparently willing to back their opinions in substantial fashion.

As a matter of fact, Johnson's selection as Washington's first pitcher and the reliable reports that the "Big Train" is "right" have influenced Washington's legion of followers to offer odds in some instances seven to five.

The majority of expert opinion favors Washington to retain its championship but there is no lack of Pittsburgh money.

In pre-series speculation tonight, the proposal condition of both teams was a subject of keen discussion. Both will have their full strength upon the opening field of battle, but both also will face some handicaps, with Washington seemingly up against the severer difficulties.

Rawlings Out
Pittsburgh has lost her star utility infielder, Johnny Rawlings, who will watch the series on crutches from the grandstand as a result of a broken ankle, sustained several weeks ago. Eddie Moore, who replaced Rawlings at second base also will start under the handicap of an injured thumb on his throwing hand but Washington has three semi-casualties among its stars.

Young manager Harris himself, shortstop Roger Peckinpaugh and Stanley Coveleskie, veteran right handed twirler counted upon to share the main burden with Johnson.

Of the three, Harris with a badly swollen middle finger on his right hand, seems the most handicapped and may not, in fact, be able to last through the entire series. He admits this himself.

Coveleskie has recovered from a sprained back but there remains some doubt whether he will be at his best. The Senators' chances will suffer a sharp reaction if he isn't.

Peckinpaugh's ankle has again shown signs of weakness, and there is the possibility that in a quick fielding play he may sustain the same sort of injury that forced him to the bench last fall.

Washington's prospects depend a great deal upon these men—all the major cogs in the team. Before an attack—and should one or more of them fall to be at his best, the world's champions' stock will tumble, in spite of the fact that Harris has much better reserve material for emergencies than he had a year ago.

Senator Supporters Confident
Washington supporters feel that if their club was able to survive triumphantly last year's series after having a badly pitched up infield, the same winning streak can be kept up now with capable reserves on hand.

Stanley Harris will have his heavy hitting array in action tomorrow to combat the Pirate attack. He decided today to put Joe Harris, a strong stickler in right field in place of Sam Rice, who will move over to center to relieve Earl McNeely, whose $50,000 hit won the last world's series but whose stick work has fallen off considerably this season.

With the exception of Rawlings, Pittsburgh will have the identical lineup which carried the club to the pennant. While it has not been through the tests which the Senators have met the Pirate club excels in speed and batting punches, these being factors upon which much hope is based.

In Cuyler, Carey, Traynor, Wright and Barnhart the Pirates have an array which has bottled down all opposition thus far backed up by a pitching corps which ranks among the best in either league, although no star with the outstanding achievements of Johnson or Coveleskie.

Meadows, tomorrow's choice is the most experienced and steadiest of the staff. Vic Aldridge and another seasoned right hander is generally picked to twirl the second game against Coveleskie while the third contest in Washington Friday, barring postponements here, will be a southpaw battle with "Dutch" Ruether of the Senators opposing Emil Yde, young Pirate port side.

home town rosters letting loose a spirit of the type that marked Washington's first pennant victory a year ago, were apparently willing to back their opinions in substantial fashion.

The majority of expert opinion favors Washington to retain its championship but there is no lack of Pittsburgh money.

In pre-series speculation tonight, the proposal condition of both teams was a subject of keen discussion. Both will have their full strength upon the opening field of battle, but both also will face some handicaps, with Washington seemingly up against the severer difficulties.

Rawlings Out Pittsburgh has lost her star utility infielder, Johnny Rawlings, who will watch the series on crutches from the grandstand as a result of a broken ankle, sustained several weeks ago. Eddie Moore, who replaced Rawlings at second base also will start under the handicap of an injured thumb on his throwing hand but Washington has three semi-casualties among its stars.

Of the three, Harris with a badly swollen middle finger on his right hand, seems the most handicapped and may not, in fact, be able to last through the entire series. He admits this himself.

Coveleskie has recovered from a sprained back but there remains some doubt whether he will be at his best. The Senators' chances will suffer a sharp reaction if he isn't.

Peckinpaugh's ankle has again shown signs of weakness, and there is the possibility that in a quick fielding play he may sustain the same sort of injury that forced him to the bench last fall.

Washington's prospects depend a great deal upon these men—all the major cogs in the team's defense and attack—and should one or more of them fall to be at his best, the world's champions' stock will tumble.

Stanley Harris will have his heaviest hitting array in action tomorrow to combat the Pirate attack. He decided today to put Joe Harris, a strong stickler in right field in place of Sam Rice, who will move over to center to relieve Earl McNeely, whose $50,000 hit won the last world's series but whose stick work has fallen off considerably this season.

With the exception of Rawlings, Pittsburgh will have the identical lineup which carried the club to the pennant. While it has not been through the tests which the Senators have met the Pirate club excels in speed and batting punches, these being factors upon which much hope is based.

In Cuyler, Carey, Traynor, Wright and Barnhart the Pirates have an array which has boiled down all opposition thus far backed up by a pitching corps which ranks among the best in either league, although no star with the outstanding achievements of Johnson or Coveleskie.

Meadows, tomorrow's choice is the most experienced and steadiest of the staff. Vic Aldridge and another seasoned right hander is generally picked to twirl the second game against Coveleskie while the third contest in Washington Friday, barring postponements here, will be a southpaw battle with "Dutch" Ruetter of the Senators opposing Emil Yde, young Pirate port sider.

Meadows is the most experienced Pittsburgh crow and unless weather conditions are unfavorable, will be in the opening lineup.

World's Series of Last Year, Second Million Dollar Mix

1923 Attendance Is Still Unsurpassed in Baseball

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Baseball's second million dollar series came into being in 1924 when the Washington Senators defeated the New York Giants in four of seven games for the world's title.

Despite the fact that the attendance was almost 20,000 smaller than in 1923 when the entire six-game series was played in New York's gigantic parks, the total revenue reached the record of $1,033,104 as against $1,063,815 received the previous year.

At that, the attendance was the second largest in the history of the game for a series, excluding that of the eight-game all-Polo Grounds classic of 1921 when 269,977 were entertained. The Giants and Senators performed before 284,693 in seven contests.

Forbes Field at Pittsburgh, where the National League half of the series will be played this year, will care for about 45,000 when temporary seats are constructed, about 5,000 less than the Polo Grounds' capacity.

New York's 1923 series still holds the record for single day attendance with 62,817 at the Yankee stadium for the fifth game while fully 50,000 others clamored for admittance. The receipts for this contest were $201,459, more money than reached the coffers in the full six-game series of 1918, the war year, in which the Red Sox defeated the Cubs.

Former Hawk Grid Star Hurt in Gun Battle With Bandits

Dr. Henry R. Gross of Chicago, a graduate of the University of Iowa of 1910 and captain of the Iowa football team in that year, was seriously wounded Sunday while battling with three Chicago bandits. Dr. Gross, at the time of his injury, was accompanied in his auto by his wife and two men.

Dr. Gross outwitted the bandits by firing first and killing one or their number, but further battle instantly killed one of the men in the physician's auto and Dr. Gross himself received a serious bullet wound over the heart.

Dr. Gross in addition to being elected captain of the Iowa football team was in the same year named a tackle by Walter Eckersall, of the mythical all-American eleven.

Cubs, White Sox Tangle in Annual City Series Today

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Cubs and White Sox will start their annual city series tomorrow playing the first game of a seven game series at the White Sox park, weather permitting.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, Cubs' pitching ace, probably will be gitted against Ted Blankenship of the Sox. As manager Eddie Collins of the White Sox will be missing from the lineup, due to injuries, fans regard the teams as evenly matched.

Lineup the Making

Webster doesn't knowing dolls, with protruding eyes called Billikens. Well, when A. Ingwersen is taking the Louis University football team the coach is playing safe.

eyes are being put through some preparation for the St. Louis game than Arkansas and they may not, but if they do it will not be a permanent job.

Condition of Iowa Athletes Wins Main Games for Hawkeyes

Did you notice the amount of time taken out by Arkansas in the game taken out by Iowa? Yes, there is a vast amount of difference and you will follow Iowa athletes in all branches of sport. You find that this ever holds true. It is responsible for this? A man who has had as much if not more than the wonderful showing of Iowa athletes during the past few years than any other person.

Since Dr. Walter Fieseler has over the position as medical supervisor the physical condition of Iowa athletes has been the envy of teams they have met. In 1924 Iowa football teams won the entire championship and at the end of the year only thirteen men were eligible for monograms which meant that these thirteen men were practically all that were used the season.

Other teams are the same. The Iowa had her championship basketball team in 1922-23 it was rarely that a substitute was needed. Iowa has beaten not a few games for teams because of better physical condition of her own men. It means a lot to a coach to be able to use the same combination in a game and not have to substitute because his men are out of shape.

St. Louis U. Boasts High Powered Corps of Coaches

News from St. Louis University where they are all excited about the Iowa game on Saturday, indicates that the Billiken eleven will be well-coached one. Dan J. Savary, St. Ignace college, Cleveland, head mentor while Harvey B. All-American center at Notre Dame in 1923 is line coach.

Play Stiff Schedule Savage has been at the Missouri institution since 1921 and during four seasons his teams have won seventeen football games, have nine and tied three. Notre Dame, Georgia Tech, and the U. S. Military Academy are among the opponents of the Billikens and while both teams were able to whip St. Louisans, neither could resist a large score.

Last spring, when Coach Otto Vogel's Hawkeye baseball team stepped over at St. Louis to meet the Billikens on the diamond, Coach Savage brought forth a nine man trimmed Iowa, 8 to 4. Now will bring a football team to visit relations with Iowa, with a lapse of eighteen years. The game was a 29 to 0 win for the southerners.

Won 8; Lost 3 The St. Louis record for 1924 was: St. Louis, 8; Missouri, 0; St. Louis 0; U. S. Military Academy 17; St. Louis 26; Missouri 14; St. Louis 18; Loyola 13; St. Louis 7; University of Detroit 13; St. Louis 18; St. Louis 7; St. Louis 9; Michigan State 10; St. Louis 18; Oglethorpe 6; St. Louis 13; Centenary 24.

Erect Gold Star Markers for Johnson County Heroes by Nov. 11

Set 44 Posts at Intervals Along White Way No. 7

Plan City Memorial; Suggest College Park for Site

Gold markers for each of Johnson county's forty-four soldiers who died in France during the World war will be placed along White Way No. 7 by Armistice day, Nov. 11, as part of a state wide movement of Iowa to pay tribute to its war heroes.

Set at Intervals

The markers, which will be placed at regular intervals across the state, about seven to the mile, will have a blue field on a white marginal band. The circle will be sixteen inches in diameter and will be set on a five-foot steel post, placed in a concrete base. The circle field will be of copper steel with a heavy enamel face.

Each marker will bear the name of one man, the lettering of which will be in gold on a blue field. The name will appear large enough so that it can be read in passing. On the reverse side of the marker will be sockets for a flag.

Display Flag

On Memorial day, Armistice day, and other patriotic days, each marker will be decorated with an American flag. As the highways are improved, trees may be placed by each marker to insure permanent memorials.

For various reasons the raising of funds for the movement lagged for a while. Johnson, Scott, Guthrie, Cass, and Dallas counties have raised their quotas, but Pottawattamie county has raised only a portion. Polk county has quite a little work to do yet. Palo Alto, Monroe, and Dickinson counties, although not directly on either of the memorial highways, will probably ### place their markers along the Jefferson highway. Not much work has been done as yet to help along the cause by counties bordering the Jefferson highway.

City Memorial Planned

Iowa City, Davenport, Des Moines, and Council Bluffs hope to have city memorials in addition to the highway memorials. College park, in east Iowa City, has been suggested as a suitable location here. It has been brought out that each of the eighty-eight trees in the park could be dedicated to one of the forty-four fallen heroes of Johnson county, and a central memorial displaying Iowa City's loyalty could be erected.

Mrs. P. H. Baxter, 214 E. Court, had charge of putting Johnson county over the top in raising its quota. The state commission as appointed by former Governor Kendall is: Mrs. Lou McHenry, a sister of Senator A. E. Cummins, chairman; Adj. Gen. L. G. Lasher, Frank N. Miles, J. H. Hoffman, Des Moines; Bert Halligan, Davenport; Dan Steck of Ottumwa; Hanford MacNider, Mason City; and W. D. Archie, Corning.

Hog Prices Hold Up; Cattle Trade Weak

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP)—Swine trade had an encouraging undertone especially where weight was concerned, the 270 pound class of hogs reaching 12.70 with a 12.75 top. Supply was moderate and everybody wanted a few on a steady to strong basis. Bulk of the crop sold at 12.40 to 12.70.

Cattle trade was comatose after the Monday groud, considerable state stuff lying around. Fresh receipts were mainly grassers and Wisconsin stuff. Below the 14.00 line it was a weak trade, the proportion of sales above 11.00 being small. Live muttons were steady, a spread of 15.00 to 15.50 taking most of the killing lambs with picked lots to city butchers at 15.75 and light feedings lambs at 15.90.

Issue Hunting Licenses

Fifteen dollars were added to the coffers of the county yesterday when fifteen people took out hunting licenses. The last one yesterday to make a contribution to the county was Chas. H. Berry, who paid his dollar to secure the license.

Strikes Out Ten Men in Fine Exhibition Before 45,000

(By The Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 7 — The great right arm of Walter Johnson repulsed the Pittsburgh Pirates today in their first hot bid to board the world's championship baseball craft now named by Washington's gallant and seasoned battlers.

Strikes Out Ten Men in Fine Exhibition Before 45,000

Striking out ten of the bold buccannere and twirling with superb coolness and effectiveness in every crisis, Johnson held the National League champions to five scattered blows—one of them a booming home run by "Pie" Traynor—while Joe Harris, Sam Rice and Ozzie Bluege led an attack that accomplished the downfall of Lee Meadows, bespectacled veteran, and also found its mark among the curves of "Jug-handle Johnny" Morrison, who took the mound in the ninth after Meadows had given way to a pinch hitter.

Johnson Unchanged

For Johnson today had all the "smoke" of his famous speedball as well as the baffling change of pace that has helped him keep the peak and rule as one of the marvels of the national game in spite of nearly a score of years in the big league service.

Johnson Unchanged

The Pirates trained their biggest guns on "Old Barney" but they could not find the range except for the one stroke put through by Traynor, who got two of the quietest of safe blows obtained of Johnson and figured as the only successful gunner for the Pittsburgh firing line. The others found a mark occasionally, but their aim was not true. More often they punched in vain at the air for Johnson among his ten strikeout victims, twice numbered "Kiki" Cuyler, Clyde Barnhart and Glenn Wright—three of the heaviest weapons in the Pittsburgh arsenal.

First Inning, Washington

Gov. Pinchot threw out the ball and his control was good, the throw reaching Meadows, Rice up, Wright threw out Rice at first, Rice hitting the first ball pitched.

First Inning, Pittsburgh

Moore up. Johnson flung over a few fast balls as Moore walked to the plate, Bill Johnson's first pitch spun around Moore's neck, Rice came in fast and took Moore's fly.

If there is a question in your mind as to the IOWAN'S supremacy in its field compare it with other college newspapers.

We invite comparison. Here are some features to look for in the IOWAN which other college or university newspapers do not offer.

- BRIGGS (world's greatest humorist)
- KIRBY (cartoonist for the N. Y. World)
- CENTRAL PRESS (the story in pictures)
- FULL LEASED WIRE (all the news)
- OFFICIAL BULLETIN (official university news)
- NORMAN BROWN (authentic football dope)
