Dakin Elected to Senior Presidency

Kutsch, Smith, Morrison Chosen as Other Class Leaders

Liberal arts students turned out 1,115 strong yesterday at the annual class elections held in the liberal arts lounge room between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Allin Dakin, of Mason City, who was elected president of the senior class, is president of A. F. I., president of Y. M. C. A., president of Seabard and Blade, member of the Irving Institute, president of Phi Delta Gamma, professional fraternity and member of Sigma Nu, social fraternity.

J. Howard Sheldon, Webster City, elected vice-president of the senior class, is a member of A. F. I., editor of the 1925 Hawkeye, member of Sigma Delta Chi, received a cross country "I" and is a member of Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity.

Julia Dondore of Iowa City, who was elected secretary and treasurer of the senior class, is a member of the Ebrodelphian literary society and Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

Paul Smith heads Juniors

George Van Dusen of Anamosa, vice president for the juniors, is an "I" man in basketball and is a member of Chi Kappa Pi. Paul Toomey of Iowa City, elected secretary of the junior class, is president of Phi Gamma Delta, member of the Forensic council, University Players board and Newman club.

Sophos Chose Football Star

For the sophomore class, Nicholas Kutsch, Sioux City, three numeral man, member of the varsity football squad and of Kappa Beta Psi is president, Clarence Andrews of New London was elected vice president and Frank Cuhel, Cedar Rapids, captain of freshman track team for 1924 and member of Phi Kappa Psi was elected secretary and treasurer.

Morrison Leads Freshmen

Freshman officers are: Donald Morrison, Traer, pledged to Sigma Xi, president; Forrest Twogood, Sioux City, pledged to Phi Delta Theta, vice president and Dorothy Gillis, Osage, pledged to Alpha Chi Omega, secretary and treasurer.

Of the 1,115 votes cast, 222 were from the senior class, 218 from the junior class, 306 from the sophomore and 369 from the freshmen. Sixty-four ballots were scratched. Ballots were designated scratched for three reasons: the failure to write the name at the top of the ballot, failure to check the name for whom the vote was cast, and irregularity, such as marks on the ballot in addition to those necessary to make the ballot valid.

Law Votes Struck Out

Early yesterday afternoon eighteen freshman law votes were struck out because of a misunderstanding on their part of the decision made by H. C. Dorcas, registrar, and George F. Kay, dean of the liberal arts college, that freshmen registered for law would, as in the past, not be allowed to vote at liberal arts elections.

The committee on elections was Philip Adler, Myrna MacCreedy, Richard Atherton and Allin Dakin. There were twelve ballot counters, three to a class. The polls were completely free from violations of the voting rules. Voters were taken into the polls four at a time and according to the committee on elections, "the polls were not jammed at any time."

Freshmen showed the least ability at voting, having scratched twenty-five of the 369 votes cast. Eleven were scratched by seniors, fourteen by juniors, and fourteen by sophomores.

Man Dies of Burns After Shock From 13,000 Volts

DES MOINES, Oct. 8 (AP)—P. R. Wildfang, 23, of this city, died late today as the result of burns sustained when he came in contact with a wire carrying 13,000 volts of electricity.

Wildfang, an employee of the Des Moines Electric company, was working near the top of a pole when he is thought to have slipped and fallen across the wire.

3 Political Parties Fight for Offices

Machines Grind Votes in Annual L. A. Struggle

By CLARKE J. McLANE

The election yesterday showed the opposition that the Pan-Hel group on North Dubuque street are not as dead as some might wish them. The ticket elected was a mixed up affair. Pan-Hellenics, non-Pans and independents, all placed a number of their candidates.

A few campaigners were about the campus, both early and late. The earliest one was an independent, who served as the official alarm clock for the boys at the Quadrangle. "Tramping down the halls and banging on the doors, he asked all who would listen, and some who wouldn't, for the support of his group. The freshmen voted, in most cases, as they were told.

The new president of the senior class ran on an independent ticket, but was also supported by the Pan-Hel group. The vice president and secretary-treasurer were non-Pan-Hel people.

The president and vice president of the junior class were non-Pan-Hel candidates, while an independent candidate was elected secretary-treasurer.

In the sophomore class, the president and vice-president are non-Pan-Hel candidates. The third member was a Pan-Hel man.

In the freshmen class the non-Pan-Hels elected the president and secretary-treasurer. The Pan-Hels carried the vice presidency.

Wednesday night the phones were kept busy with calls from groups offering their votes to the highest bidder. The Pan-Hel group did not know how the independents were standing nor who they were lined up with. A report spread that the Pan-Hels had split and part were going to the non-Pan group and the rest to the independents.

Blood and Thunder Campaigns Things of Past in L. A. Elections

By FRANK EYERLY

The passing of election day with its attendant glory of electioneering, sly remarks about "things being sewed up tight," and wild, wild work on the part of certain campaign celebrities brings forth memories of other elections, when men were really men and election day meant something.

Take 1921, for example, when the well-oiled pan-Hel machine took the enemy to the mat and pushed a complete ticket across the line.

Pulls Pitcher's Battle From Fire in Eighth Frame

Wright and Judge Also Slam Out Homers During Game

(By The Associated Press) PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 8.—Undaunted by their first setback, the Pirates sailed forth today, armed to the teeth, and came home with the booty of the second world's series battle after a rousing hand-to-hand grapple that was packed with thrills down to the final throw.

On the hazy battleground of Forbes Field, flanked by a wildly cheering throng of 43,000 non-combatants, the bold buccaners turned the tables on their Senator conquerors of the day before, broke up the sharp shooting of one of Washington's biggest guns, Stanley Coveleskie, and took the second game of the championship conflict in a novel finish with a home run finish by "Kiki" Cuyler, and the southeasted pitching of Vic Aldridge turning the tide victoriously.

Outcome in Doubt

The final verdict was gained only by a narrow margin of 3 to 2 with the outcome in doubt until the last put out, but it was enough to put the Pirates on even terms with the world's champion Senators as the rival forces set sail tonight for the capital, prepared to renew the engagement in the third tussle at Griffith Stadium tomorrow.

There was a double portion of disaster for the Senators, as they withdrew toward their home port, for besides losing the game and their brilliantly won advantage of yesterday, their ranks suffered a hard blow in the loss, at least temporarily, of Ossie Bluege, star third base guard.

Aldridge Hits Bluege

Bluege was hit just back of the ear by one of Aldridge's fast in-shoots in the sixth inning and forced out of the game while Buddy Myer, an untried recruit, took his place on the field. Bluege dropped as though shot and it first seemed that he was severely hurt but he recovered sufficiently to walk from the field to the clubhouse. There, though still in a daze, physicians discovered no apparent danger in his condition. He left shortly after the game with his team mates to board their Washington train but doubt remained as to whether he would return to the lineup tomorrow in spite of Manager Bucky Harris' optimism on this subject.

FIRST INNING

WASHINGTON—Rice up. Aldridge took a brief warmup after he got to the box, and after Grant-tham conferred with Aldridge a few minutes Rice took his position. Rice up. Ball 1. Aldridge's first pitch was wild and Traynor rushed over to talk to him. Ball 2. Strike 1. Ball 3. Strike 2. Wright threw out Rice at first.

Stan Harris up. The Pittsburgh infield kept talking to Aldridge. Ball 1. Strike 1. Foul, strike 2. Harris fouled the ball trying to bunt. Stan Harris went out on strikes, swinging a foot over Aldridge's drop ball.

Goslin up. Goslin hit a long fly to Carey and the Pittsburgh crowd cheered for a full minute. Aldridge worked nothing but a curve ball all through the inning.

NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS

PITTSBURGH—Moore up. Strike 1. Moore bit into a fast breaking curve. Ball 1. Peck threw out Moore at first.

Carey up. Strike 1. Strike 2. Carey struck out on three pitched balls.

Covy kept the ball around Carey's neck.

Cuyler up. Ball 1. Stan Harris threw out Cuyler at first. It was

Police Disregard Epperson as Clue

Carlisle Straw Stack Victim Unknown as New Clues Fail

(By The Associated Press) COUNCIL BLUFFS, Oct. 8.—Police here do not believe the body of the woman found in a strawstack near Carlisle is that of Mrs. Epperson of this city. Friends of Mrs. Epperson said she had been seen here since the body was found.

George Curtis of Glenwood, father of Mrs. Epperson, says he believes his daughter is still in Omaha or Council Bluffs.

DES MOINES, Oct. 8 (AP)—Officers of Polk and Warren counties who have sought the identity and the slayer of the woman whose burned body was found under a straw stack at Carlisle, Iowa, July 24, today said the mystery might be near solution.

Husband in Penitentiary

The body is believed to be that of Mrs. Pearl Epperson, or "Mae Carlson" of Council Bluffs, wife of Harry Epperson, a prisoner at the Fort Madison state penitentiary. Epperson at the penitentiary, said he had been trying to get in touch with his wife since last June, at which time she was either in Council Bluffs or Omaha. He has served about nine months of a sentence for forgery.

Descriptions of the slain woman sent out by the state bureau of criminal investigation tally with the description of Mrs. Epperson, even to the teeth, color of hair and bits of clothing that were salvaged from the partly burned straw stack.

Unsigned Letter Clue

Officers today turned again to an unsigned letter from a person supposing to have been an eye witness when the woman was killed because of her knowledge of incriminating activities of the slayers. They said this theory would be returned to in another attempt to solve the mystery.

Bishops Declare Brown Guilty of Heresy Charges

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 8 (AP)—The House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America today approved the finding of a court convicting Bishop William Montgomery Brown of Heresy. More than two hours was occupied in executive session and Bishop Brown addressed the house of bishops on his case. It was announced that the vote was 95 to 11 in favor of approving the court's findings.

The next step in the "Brown case" must be taken by the presiding bishop, the Right Rev. Ethelbert Talbot, Bishop of Bethlehem. The presiding bishop was notified by the house of bishops of its approval and he may pass sentence at his pleasure. No date was set. It was said, for pronouncement of the sentence, which would prevent the convicted bishop from exercising the functions of his office.

Engineers Will Not Help in Decorating for Homecoming

Withdraw Support as Committee Cuts Appropriation

Homecomers this year will miss the corn arch that has in the past spanned Washington street at the corner near the hall of engineering. The corn monument, another tradition of Homecoming, will be erected as usual, but it will be assembled by other than students of engineering. A new ruling by the Homecoming committee which prohibits the use of its funds by private organizations is held responsible for the changes.

Recent Treatment

The engineers' decision to play no part in the decoration for Homecoming was announced yesterday by Hildreth A. Spafford, S4 of Iowa City, president of the associated students of applied science. The engineers feel, according to Spafford, that they have been treated unfairly in having their appropriation taken away from them, since in the past they have done a major part of the decorating.

Engineers Do Work

Prior to last year the expense of erecting the corn arch had been borne by the Homecoming committee, with the engineers doing the work. Last year the engineers and the committee split the expenses. The Homecoming committee this year regards the arch as an individual decoration, and as such refuses to finance it.

A second feature which will be missing this year is the electric sign on top of the physics building. The expense for this has been paid by the engineers, through their association.

To Boycott Badges

The engineers also announce that they will take no part in the sale of Homecoming badges. The badges are sold by the committee to defray the expenses of Homecoming, the major part of which is decorating. Speaking for the association, Spafford declared, "As the Homecoming committee gives no funds toward the arch, it need not expect any support from the engineers in the sale of Homecoming badges."

Five Names Swell Staff of Hawkeye

Further appointments on the 1927 Hawkeye staff were made yesterday by Merrill S. Gaffney, A3 of Mason City, editor-in-chief. Those named to positions were: William B. Baird, A4 of Mason City, art editor; Mary Ann Cotton, A3 of Miami, Fla., assistant art editor; Russell E. Westermeyer, A3 of Davenport, snapshot editor; Esther Edwards, A4 of Sylvia, Kansas, assistant snapshot editor; and Kermit McFarland, A2 of Gowry, assistant sports editor.

There are still several positions open to sophomores and freshmen according to a statement made by Gaffney. Anyone who wishes to work on this year's book should see him within the next two or three days at the Hawkeye office, second floor of the Journalism building.

Winn Frees Self From Robbery and Charge of Arrest

BURLINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—Harry E. Winn, railway mail clerk, tonight flatly denied the story that he had been arrested charged with robbing the mails, and that he had been held to a federal grand jury, placed under bond or had ever taken a package from the mails. Mr. Winn is boy scout executive in Burlington and has been so for seven years. During that time, he says, frequent complaints have been made that he was holding two positions in violation of the United States civil service regulations.

Several years ago, according to his statement, he was asked to tender his resignation to the railway mail service. This he declined to do and proved to the satisfaction of his superiors and the postoffice inspectors that his boy scout office was not a remunerative position and that he received only expense money for his scout work. But, he adds, the agitation continued and yesterday, upon finishing his run at Ottawanna, Minn., he was met by postoffice inspectors who took him before the chief inspector at St. Paul where he was charged with holding two positions.

Sly 'Wolf' Slinks No More; Returns to Surrender Self

Chicago Crook Hides in Mexico Two Years; Now Ill

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—John W. Worthington, the "wolf of LaSalle Street" who for two years has evaded a federal prison sentence, today voluntarily returned to Chicago to settle his score with the government.

After successfully evading arrest for two years, "the wolf," one of the most colorful figures in the criminal history of the country, came back broken in health, practically penniless and believing himself near death's door.

Returns to Die

He came to make his will, to make his peace with his government, and to die behind prison bars. With him came his daughter Alice, who has shared in his adventures and misfortunes.

Worthington's attorney was summoned to "the wolf's" hotel room. He said that Worthington is partly paralyzed and was brought from Mexico on a stretcher. Worthington fled to Old Mexico from the coast. Worthington asked the attorney to draw up his will, declaring he believes he had but a few days to live. The attorney said he expected to go before Federal Judge Adam C. Cliffe to ask for a thirty day stay of execution before his client enters prison.

Once Wealthy

"The Wolf's" dramatic return to the city where he amassed a fortune estimated at one time at more than $1,000,000 was no less dramatic than the exciting life that he led here.

Beginning his fortune with a $5 bet at a race track Worthington branched out into the brokerage business when he amassed enough money from gambling, opened offices in La Salle Street and apparently was a reputable broker with a substantial fortune when the government about five years ago, charged him with using the mails to defraud.

Worthington waged a long and bitter legal battle to escape the penitentiary. He was convicted and sentenced to serve two years in prison. He fought to the United States Supreme Court where he lost a year ago but in January of this year, received a stay of sentence when his physician believed him to be dying of diabetes.

Other charges were brought against him in St. Louis and California but his illness kept him out of jail and he went to Los Angeles to recuperate. From Los Angeles he fled to Mexico last June.

Tribemen Threaten

Because of the threats of a few members of the Walpai tribe of vengeance if Sufyanmie is executed, every precaution is being taken to avoid trouble. Sufyanmie is twenty-six years old, and was a star athlete while attending the Sherman Indian school at Riverside, Calif., and the Haskell Indian institute.

Duncan Scoffs at Threatened Peek Into Administration

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 8 (AP)—Major Gen. Geo. B. Duncan today characterized as "silly" the demand of Col. R. B. Macrorie of Davenport, Iowa, that charges against General Duncan's administration of the 7th army corps area reserve officers affairs be prosecuted.

"The whole thing is silly," Gen. Duncan said. "If he has taken the matter up with the war department through the Iowa delegation then we'll let the war department handle it."

Friends of Gen. Duncan today said one of the chief difficulties in connection with the reserve officer problem was to prevent the efforts of certain persons securing reserve officers status and then using their positions to exploit themselves politically.

Candidates Start Runs for National Offices After Air Debate

(By The Associated Press) OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 8.—The American legion accorded Colonel William Mitchell, the army's outspoken critic of the nation's aeronautical policy, a measure of commendation today when it unanimously adopted a resolution recommending one of his plans for rehabilitation of the national defense by creating a separate cabinet office to have control of three equal branches, army, navy, and air.

In three days of heated committee hearings which continued until a moment before the legion's first aeronautical committee was brought up on the floor the resolution was fought over and rearranged until it was found acceptable to all parties to the dispute which has ranged over Col. Mitchell since the legionnaires assembled here last Monday.

Action Was Dangerous

Thereby what had promised to be one of the hardest contests ever witnessed on the floor of any of the seven national conventions of the legion was averted. The situation was regarded as dangerous until the actual recording of the vote and the convention was in a state of breathless expectancy as the motion for adoption was passed. The delegates hitched their chairs forward and squirmed about as they scanned the room for some figure to arise and lead the fight which had threatened all week.

Careful Preparation

The leaders had worked so well, however, that none of those who firmly asserted that they would fight on the convention floor for open endorsement of "Colonel Billy" offered to open hostilities.

It was the consensus that nothing immediately might be expected to result from passage of the resolutions and that the step advanced would require years of constructive effort.

Leader Satisfied

The Mitchell leaders expressed satisfaction with the resolution, however, saying that it was all that could be expected at this time and to have inflamed the legionnaires by an open floor fight would not have worked for international harmony and unified action.

With the serious Mitchell out the way, the legion's attention was turned to the last item on its program, tomorrow's election of national officers.

Start Election Moves

Various state delegations had refrained from caucusing until after the Mitchell incident was safely past and tonight delegations headquarters were scenes of intense activity as the leaders sought to gain strength for their candidates.

Edward Spafford of New York, backed by the solid strength of the New York delegation; John McQuigg of East Cleveland, Ohio; and Howard V. Hauge of Chicago, sponsored by a united Illinois delegation, were the three outstanding leaders in the contest tonight.

Spafford was advanced as a last minute candidate last year at St. Paul when James Rain was elected. Tonight the plan was to get his name quickly before the convention with Alabama yielding to Massachusetts for the nomination.

McQuigg's strength also was evident, with Savage apparently dropping into third position with an outside chance to obtain the legion's greatest honor should the other two develop a deadlock.

Discuss World Relations

The resolutions committee presented a resolution which substituted for another proposal of "immediate adherence of the court of international justice as set up by the League of Nations" approval of a plan to have the legion favor United States adherence to a court of international justice, but without indicating any definite court.

The work of the legion's world peace committee and the permanent committee on foreign relations was ordered merged.

Date for W.A.A. Carnival Set To Hold Gymkhana on October 31 at Gymnasium

Gymkhana is being put on for the second time by the W. A. A. on October 31. The Gymkhana is a carnival with dancing and picturesque booths the main attractions. Those who wish to dance pay for their dances by klans, Elizabeth Abel, A4 of Des Moines, is the general manager, and Helen Meinhard A4 of Storm Lake, assistant manager.

Plans are being made for large Iowan booths for Homecoming day. One booth will be on the campus and one on the athletic field, Thelma Shlomer A2 of Cedar Rapids will be in charge of the campus booth.

New rules have been made for entrance points gained in swimming. Fifteen times within six weeks was required, but now the time has been extended to ten weeks. Any girls who wish to enter W. A. A. may do so by swimming fifteen times in ten weeks.

Hockey and volley ball tournaments will be held the week of November 15. This will give time for girls to practice nine times before the tournaments and thus be eligible for teams. Upperclassmen are urged to come out Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 o'clock; freshmen and sophomores on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays at 4 o'clock. Miss Clarke is the hockey coach.

Dorothea Starbuck, A2 of Iowa City, was installed as head of hockey, and Elizabeth Abel, A4, as vice-president.

"Can't Tell Girls by Clothes" Say Iowa City's Women Salesladies

"You can't tell a Phi Beta Kappa by the clothes she wears," say the salesladies in the women's shops of Iowa City. "We used to recognize them as soon as they came in the door. They wore manish shirtwaists and wanted plain, durable clothes. They gave more attention to their studies than they did to their appearance and one could see grind written all over them."

Now the more brilliant a girl is the better selections she makes of her clothes, and the farther she makes her money go. You can't tell a member of the upper ten from a dumb bell on the Iowa campus. They all look alike and they all bear the same stamp of clothes and cosmetics except that the brainy ones sometimes look a little more intelligent. A prof can't give the A's to the girl who appears in last year's styles any more. If she's good enough to pull high

"Win My Heart by Food," Advise Co-eds Claiming Collegiate Hobby

What is the collegiate hobby? Don't call a psychologist to solve this weighty question; one word is sufficient—eating. Students differ in their preference for clothes, parties, battered old Fords, or anti-volstead beverages, but they are all interested in the eternal question, "When do we eat?" Any hour of the day we can find a few undernourished youths and maidens imbibing liquid sustenance in an ice cream parlor or one of the other food dispensaries. "Pass two co-eds on the street and nine times out of ten you hear one say, "And the food, it was simply marvelous! Chicken croquettes, and pineapple ice and—." The old story; someone has found the way to her heart by the simple expedient of feeding her.

Summer and winter trade thrives. In warm weather traffic is congested along all the main streets by swarms of students childishly chewing ice cream cones. The ten cent store gathers in stacks of shining nickels and dimes; cash contributed by hungry collegiates to swell a millionaire's coffers and eventually add another story to the Woodmen building. The furnished hordes pour out of those welcoming red-laden down with peanuts, molasses kisses, and fig cookies (10c a box for 25c).

Girls who find time hanging heavy on their hands, buy a basket of lettuce and make a few sandwiches to nourish their starving housemates. Candy stands, popcorn wagons, and sucker stands all flourish at the Athens of Iowa simply because "food" is the passion in every university heart. Heaven bless the man who said, "Eat, drink, and be merry," for his words long outlive those of the old pessimist who croaked, "Weep for the night is coming."

Co-Eds Petition for Y. Membership 108,000 Form Personnel of Y. National Organization

During the week Oct. 8 to 15, every woman on the university campus, who has previously been a member or expects to become a member of the Y. W. C. A. is asked to call at the office of Miss Summers, Y. W. secretary and place an application for membership. This applies to all women connected in any way with the institution, both faculty members and students.

The plan for membership this year has been radically changed. It has been the purpose of the Y. W. to acquaint the students with the purpose, work, and ideals of the association, during the past week. This has been done by various representatives visiting the homes of the groups on the campus, telling them of the important part which the Y. W. plays on our own campus as well as at all colleges and universities in the country.

The question is being asked of all women: "Do you wish to become a member of a national organization which has a membership of 108,000 students?"

It is an organization, which, on our own campus, through the freshman commission, attempts to make adjustment of freshmen to the campus by giving mixers, assisting during registration, and finding work for those students who wish to earn their way. Last year the association found employment for more than 200 students.

The Y. W. furnishes an experience by which women can become more effective in their home communities, and creates a feeling of world fellowship. The association expects to have a much larger membership this year. All women wishing to become active members of the Y. W. are urged to place their applications this week, in the office next to the liberal arts drawing room.

eriship, declared the election procedure unfair and illegal and threw the petitions into the waste paper basket.

This was the year The Daily Iowan boldly condemned crooked politics, declaring:
"That petitions gave clear evidence of a bungling machine. Names were forced in a bungling way; law students and graduate students signed petitions to help liberal arts students; names were written into the petitions two and three times."

"That year no election was held in the liberal arts college.

In 1923 the pan-Hell boys and the opposition divided honors with the following boys taking high office in the classes: Wayland Hicks, senior president; Wesley Fry, junior president; Ray Dauber, sophomore president; Edwin Beebe, freshman president.

Only 637 votes were cast in the liberal arts election of this year; lack of interest being largely due to the troubles of the previous year. Last year the election totals took a sharp turn upward and 1,019 votes were cast.

Lowell Otte, star of the grid-iron and poet, was elected president of the senior class, C. Esco Obermann carried the junior presidency; Leonard Haffensperger was elected sophomore president and J. M. Kennedy became herdsman for the fresh multitudes.

Such were the heroic contests of yesterday.

Formerly, class elections in the liberal arts college were marked with heroic stumping, advertising worthy a tobacco salesman, and blatant "platforms" and "programs."

The Daily Iowan, during the campaign of 1921, carried advertising from the more progressive candidates, flowing with such alluring promises as "we stand back of Iowa" and "we are 100% for green caps."

The totals for yesterday's election, only 1115 votes, in a university that has been growing by leaps and bounds for the last ten years, reveals that "the vanishing voter" is vanishing from college campuses as well as civil life.

Russet and Gold

LOOKING about the campus with a speculative eye when the leaves are turning russet and gold one may receive some impressions not wholly in keeping with the season. The thronging halls and campus, the great variety of educational interests, the pleasing display of new autumn gowns so carefully planned during the summer months, the popularity of the "pin-hangers,"—in all of these there is a vivacity which the fall of the year cannot do. No campus note, in fact, is more surprising than that which marks the easy air of familiarity with which these newcomers acquaint themselves with the methods of registration and the intricacies of curricula. It would be more fitting to say that the freshmen are fresh than to say that they are green, and to hear an upper-classman making an undue amount of depreciatory comment on first-year students causes one to sound carefully for unripeness in the critic himself.

The term "fresh" may imply any one of several qualities. It may even be applied to the four square inches of features which a freshman girl, or any other girl, can see in a one-inch mirror, the maintenance of which area requires cultivation every two or three minutes. It might be termed freshness, too, that which lulls to ease any rudiment of lofty purpose a freshman may possess.

"Gee, I got that same dope when I entered high school," was heard after the first freshman lecture. "Cutting" the next one was then seriously discussed. If this is not greenness then it is premature sophistication. One wonders with the speaker of the occasion what Commencement day in this university will mean for these young people.

Not all telltale evidence, however, is stacked against the freshman. There is, of course, the student (or, more properly, the pupil), who in twelve or more years of training has never learned how to study. She twiddles a gold pencil on a cord, screws it back. She points desperately to a place on a map as if the memory of its location depends upon the force with which she strikes it. The next instant she is comparing notes with a classmate on the benefits to be derived from certain modes of hair-dress. As you pass her in the hall you catch bits of conversation like this: "An' I just let my ears show a tiny little bit."

Contrasted to this is the student who passing lightly down a flight of stairs is overheard to exclaim: "Oh, there is so much to learn. Every day I feel like I had lived—" The rest of it and her enlightened countenance and the experiences of her student life would make a most interesting story, one is bound to believe.

Although the student body, because of its conspicuousness, must of necessity receive first attention, there will be plenty of room to view the institution at an opposite angle, scrutinizing its chiefs. Autumn impressions may not include them all, but they will guide to a general opinion of the spirit which is imbibed from the daily contact of student with professor. There is an attitude of interest which is very refreshing, especially among the more experienced of the faculty. It is maintained by some that the memory of youthful inclinations, sentiments and feelings is least often retained among the scholarly professions. If this is true the University of Iowa must consciously be proving the rule by exception.

A great university is like a great individual: it is ever forming and being formed into something new and different. The merest glance over the annals of this institution will confirm this. As universities go Iowa is neither the great metropolis with its tumultuous progress, one hardly knows whether, nor yet is it the quiet countryside where the imprint of God's hand is not obscured by the hand of man. It represents the growing community on its journey between town and city, with all prospects ahead and many substantial traditions behind. For those who seek there is the possibility of finding the benefits of both extremes in its varying moods.

Post Office Department

If the Iowa City post office were to employ the little device used by the telegraph companies to show their speed in handling messages, a tab on a special delivery letter to Davenport last week would read:

ACTUAL TIME OF TRANSMISSION

28 HOURS

The letter in question was mailed special delivery at the post office Sunday morning at 8 o'clock and reached its destination, Davenport, at noon Monday. It reached the Davenport post office on the 11:25 a. m. train and was delivered in less than a half hour after arrival. The letter missed three trains to Davenport and was put on the fourth train after its posting.

A rush package of pictures from a Davenport photographer to The Daily Iowan last week which reached Iowa City at 3:41 a. m. was delivered to the office at 6:15 o'clock—the special delivery press package being the last one to be delivered.

A student reaching the post office with a laundry bag when the one central window is closed, either after 6 p. m. or any time on Sunday, cannot mail the package because there is no chute for laundry bags. Thousands of laundry bags have been mailed here for years, yet the post office has not yet provided a chute for their mailing.

A great deal of the delay in handling special delivery messages would be eliminated if there was an aperture in the post office here especially designed for them. The public which can differentiate between service enough to use special delivery can post its letters in a separate chute. This would obviate the necessity of sorting specials from the first class mail. The newer post offices, as at Colorado Springs, not only have openings for specials, but have chutes for city, east, west, and Colorado mail as well.

In spite of the air mail, the efficiency of the post office department is concurrent with its seal which shows a pony dispatch rider galloping along a log trestleway. The post office could well adopt a new emblem, say, the airplane: then live up to its seal.

The Perpetual Crusade

NEW YORK has launched another campaign directed toward the abolishment of crime. Were this the first of its kind, the public might register a somewhat optimistic outlook. In view of the fact, however, that more time has been spent in inaugurating similar campaigns than has been spent in introducing actually effective measures, only one sane prediction can be made: at least, the results of New York's newly-planned efforts cannot be any more of a failure than the hundreds of similar crusades throughout the country!

One glance at a New York paper is adequate proof that that city is in immediate need of some sort of crime check. In a recent edition of the most sensational New York paper the first two pages were devoted almost entirely to crime news. Perhaps this fact accounts for the fact that that paper "has more than double the circulation of any other evening paper!" Matters might be simplified in all campaigns against the prevalence of crime, should punishment be interpreted literally by those whom we call enforcers of the law. "Punishment" which foreshadows merely the parole of the criminal has no tendency toward decreasing crime, whether in New York, or on the Pacific coast, or in Iowa.

New York has the public's blessing in the inauguration of her organized endeavor to bring an end to the crime wave, and it is to be hoped that she will manifest the same enthusiasm in carrying on the campaign that has been shown in launching it.

A girl's kisses are like pickles in a bottle: the first is hard to get but the rest come easy.—Passing Show.

"Laff That Off!"

A Scottish farmer, upon being elected to the school board, visited the village school and tested the intelligence of the class by the question: "Now, boys, can any of you tell me what neathing is?"

After a moment's silence a small boy in a back seat arose. "It's what ye g'd me the other day for holding your horse."

Poems That Live

Vigil

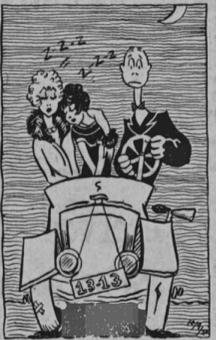

Here, where the pale stars weave the gloom into a cloak of silver rain, the first wet violets sadly bloom for you again.

They have been waiting for long hours tossing about in the gaunt cold; and even the boldest of flowers grow tired and old.

Now as the wind goes singing on, they bow their heads in the cool grass, waiting for steps through the still dawn that never pass.

—Oliver Jenkins, in "L'Alouette,"

OTHER CAMPUS YARNS

Wraith Idea All Wrong

Rhodes scholars are not so wealthy as people think according to Professor R. H. Coon of the University of Indiana. Their scholarships entitle them to $1850 a year which seems quite generous to American students but it merely pays expenses at Oxford. Professor Coon attended Oxford himself on this allowance and he says that expenses are so much higher there that it is hardly sufficient.

Frost Promised Paddling

Senior men at the University of Kansas have decided to enforce the rules they have made for the freshmen with severe punishment to consist of a paddling for all who break rules. The only exception to this punishment will be offenses, such as going through entrances forbidden to freshmen. This rule will not be rigidly enforced on account of possible fires. Some of the rules which the freshmen consider hardest are those which forbid any contact with their co-ed friends.

Pittsburgh Stadium Seats 70,000

A new stadium has recently been dedicated at the University of Pittsburgh. It has a seating capacity of 70,000 and is considered one of the best in the country.

Frost Given Fellowship

Robert Frost, the New England poet, has been given a permanent fellowship in letters by the University of Michigan. He is to have no definite schedule at Ann Arbor but will lead group studies in literature. Mr. Frost has written poems on New England farm life and in addition to his contributions to literature, he has held a chair at Amherst college for several years.

319 Pay Late Fees

Three hundred and nineteen students have had to pay the late registration fee at Ohio State University this year. This amounts to $155 which shows that late registrations are profitable from the university's point of view.

Kansas Stages "Pajama" Parade

Every man who is a student in the University of Kansas, whether he be a green freshman or a senior has to appear in the annual night shirt parade which follows the first football game. Every man has to don his favorite pajamas and parade the streets of Lawrence at 7:30 p. m. The band leads this weird procession and immediately following the parade all the participants are entertained at a feed at the Chamber of Commerce.

Sends Forty Delegates

Forty high schools from the state of Illinois will send delegates to the fifth annual convention of the Illinois High School Press Association. The dates are October 8, 9, and 10. Dean H. F. Harrington, of the Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University, will be the principal speaker. Albert Britt, newly elected president of Knox college, will also address the high school journalists. A prize contest will be held in which awards will be made for the best manual, the best magazine, and the best newspaper.

Current Comment

MISSOURI AND MEXICO

This country and Mexico, for the first time, are to exchange professors. The University of Missouri is to send to the University of Mexico the dean of its school of journalism, Walter Williams, president of the Press Congress of the World. It will receive in return Dr. Jose Casaurano, secretary of public education, himself an experienced journalist. This exchange offers a stimulating prospect of further intimacies of contact, and the better understanding that always issues from knowledge. The unofficial envoys are qualified to dispel long-heralded prejudices, due in no small degree to the fact that it is so many miles between Chapattepec and Washington. Many who should have been friends to both lands have done their part to muddy the waters of the Rio Grande. These two men, accustomed to present facts in a clear, straightforward fashion to as many as can read and digest them, will have a valuable mission to perform for those who in Mexico as well as in Missouri really want to be shown where and what the truth is.

CHILLS and FEVER

WHEN THE BUZZER BALKED

'Twas the second week of school. Your feet itched to be shuffling to the syncope of Chapin and his gang. The sacred hour of nine approached, ushered in by rain, rain, then more rain. A faithful "Lizzie" was chartered for the occasion, but alas, she failed to percolate. A cab hailed; arrived only thirty minutes late. Ah, ha! at last she blows.

"Carrier,"

"Be out in a minute." The buzzer buzzed but room dark and no response. Girl and date gone—

But not so. Next morning brought to light a mixup in names and the wrong buzzer had buzzed. Thus was ruined a perfectly good dance date. Ach Louie, ain't college hell? —A. Non.

CRIME NEWS

Class elections are now a part of the school's unwritten history; the institution is saved; twelve young persons of possibilities are now in charge of the destinies of the lazy arts school.

Consistent with long established custom, we spent the greater part of the day in bed, carefully propped up with pillows, and reading a humorous volume entitled "Duties of Citizenship." Later in the day we came down to Reich's with an "independent" friend and listened to him elaborate on the perils of machine politics.

Ho, hum.

SOCIAL JOTTING

Here's a tip worth clipping for your boy scout handbook; if the recent onslaught of the Iowa City booze squad has eliminated your supply of "ready-to-drink" just stagger over to the library and read the Gordon gin advertising in London "Punch." See if it doesn't settle your thirst.

ANNUAL NOTE

It has been called to our attention that a prominent North Clinton street sororal group has received its annual blonde; this time she hales from the progressive wilderness of the LaFollette school. Many thanks, doc.

PAN-HELL GOSSIP

One of the girls in the Kaydee house (you guessed it the first time) has written, protesting at the actions of one of the sisters who insists on monopolizing the house davenport and den every evening between 9:30 and 10:30. Seems that the sister doesn't date and is doing the "dog in the manger" trick. We will award one unused copy of "Poems of Passion" to the person submitting a workable suggestion for the elimination of this individual from the house shrine.

PHILOSOPHICAL ITEM

From the highly respectable pages of the N. Y. Journal we glean the following, from the pen of the rightly distinguished Frank Crane: "The absence of love is the first thing to be suggested by the cynic and is the most potent of beliefs."

Then, are we to attribute the Doctor's tempestuous optimism to his prolific love-making powers while a youngster?

ANGELINA'S ANSWERS

Yes, Leighton, you will find Mr. Menecken's definition of the Puritan mind in the American Mercury for October on page 241.

SHADES OF HOMER!

A recent advertising sheetlet contains early announcements of Miss Ruth Suckow's new novel, "The Odyssey of a Nice Girl."

It is the story, so we are told, of "a nice girl who strives . . . to escape from the confining environment into which she has been born to the freer, more independent and finer life which she knows lies just beyond her horizon."

That's what we thought, when we entered the university.

LITERARY ITEM

"So fate jested with this grim man of the desert, as he folded the willowy form of Lillian LoPez in his arms."

This psychoanalytic observation appears in one of the novels, not yet written, about the wide open spaces of the west, where men are men, and women are terrible!

BOOK REVIEWS

Oh yes! We musn't forget the restricted list, which we promised to publish serially. Today we mention Harry Kemp's "Tramping on Life," one of the most pungent autobiographies ever written. The next will appear in "an early issue" as the Satevepost is wont to say. —F. R. E.

Today when Iowa City takes of its Pajamas there goes on display the official 1926 Overcoats.

Add, in telling you to expect great things, we have not rouged the lily or perfumed the rose—

We have been ultra-shrinking and violet like in our proclamations.

THESE COATS ARE WONDERFUL!
So different and De Luxe that man or monarch never before entered such palaces of protection.

We are expecting you to expect great things—to-morrow!

According to a statement from the p. a., next to the Bible Harold Bell Wright is the best seller in the world. Maybe so. An adaptation of his latest contribution to American contemporary literature is being shown at the Garden over the week end and so all his multitudinous following will "just have to see it."

The picture has some wonderful shots of scenery in it; also a ride by the U. S. cavalry to save the heroine, and all that. Also Raymond Hatton.

The film is of the type of the other Westerns that Paramount has been making lately, that is it is not an ordinary two-gun man, ten buckets of blood, affair but is more or less convincing.

Bessie Love, as a daughter of the old sod, comes out to the country where men are men and women are rare, in search of her brother. He, it turns out, is a cattle rustler, but Morgan, his former employer, tries to hide it from the girl, whom he has fallen in love with. She finds it out but her brother is killed in a gun battle. Everything comes out O. K. in the end with all parties satisfied with the exception of the villain, who of course, gets his.

Warner Baxter, as the "Big Boy" is pleasing and Bessie Love fits her part well. Raymond Hatton provides much of the comedy as the hypochondriac from the East.

Cold Rain Fails to Halt Hawkeyes; Billikens Arrive Today

Baseball Practice Will End Saturday

Practice for varsity baseball candidates and for freshman battery men will end on Friday afternoon until the indoor season. Coach Otto Vogel announced today. Uncertainty of the weather which has been cutting attendance at the drills is given as the reason for the cessation of the drills.

Although the Hawkeyes have not worked long this fall, Coach Vogel feels that something has been accomplished which will aid the men in the spring campaigns.

Varsity to Meet Freshmen Golfers in Tryout Match

A golf match between the varsity and the freshmen squads will be played Friday afternoon at 2:30. This match is to be a tryout for the teams.

A large number of good men have been turning out regularly for golf. Those on the varsity squad are: W. F. Vernon, W. J. Tompkins, Earl Beman, Robert Silbert, John Webber, E. G. Barton, L. G.

Schrader, T. Ellison, W. C. Tyrell, Vernon Lisle, Donald Barnes, Joseph Barnes and Standish Lambert.

The freshmen candidates are: E. Schott, R. Miller, D. Jenkins, C. Moyer, H. Allen, S. Nelson, K. Anderson, R. Bleschhoff, J. Shirley, A. Hass, P. Butler, William Heuser, J. E. Fennell, and Dean Howe.

The men have been playing over fifteen holes as only six of the new holes are ready for use. The entire eighteen will be thrown open when Finkbine field is formally opened Homecoming Day.

Ferguson Will Face Kremer on Mound in Third Contest

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 8 (AP)—Managers McKechnie of Pittsburgh and Harris of Washington, said after the Pirates' victory in the second world's series game today that they would continue right hand duels, at least in the first contest at Washington tomorrow.

Ray Kremer, youthful Pittsburgh moundsman, will face Alex Ferguson, obtained by the Senators from the New York Yankees this season formerly pitcher for the Boston Red Sox.

Nevers, Greatest of Primeval Fullbacks

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

When Luis Firpo, mighty mauler of the Pampas flashed across the fistic horizon in meteoric style biologists called him a "throwback to the primitive."

Ernie Nevers, wonder fullback of Stanford University, therefore, may well be termed a throwback to the mass play days.

Fullbacking, as far as steam-roller line crushing tactics are concerned, was relegated to secondary importance with the opening up of the grid game some years ago. The sturdy, low crouching, charging husky gave way to rangier type of runner—the triple threat man.

And then, three years ago, into the midst of these leaders of the open game—their dashes, light-footed, forward passing gents—came Nevers, who, by the mighty power of his legs, the bone bruising jolts of his muscle-wrapped shoulders, and 150 pounds of brawn to back these up, threw a long and dark shadow over the "modernists."

Never is ranked today by all football authorities as the greatest fullback in the game.

True he carries the versatility of the average backfield man, but he has won his place in the fullback sun with his line plunging.

The opposing linemen's impression of Nevers in action is much like that of an impending meeting with an enraged bull.

Nevers, ball in his arms, strikes the line low—the way Ted Coy and the other old heroes did. His knees pumping up and down as he plows into the human wall ahead of him, literally strike his chest, so low does he run. These same knees, striking the opposition with trip-hammer force, are his best interference.

This is his third year on the Stanford varsity—and in both preceding years he has drawn mention on practically all All-American selections. This despite the fact that both his ankles were broken last season and he was unable to play a full game until the intersectional clash at the close of the year with Notre Dame. He was the outstanding star of this game, which Notre Dame won.

Nevers' athletic efforts aren't confined to football either. He is a brilliant basketball player and pitcher on the Stanford nine.

Savagemen Prepare to Take Week Scrap From Hawkeyes

Stan Harris' first assist in the series. NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS.

SECOND INNING

SENATORS—Judge up. Ball 1. Strike 1. Ball 2. Aldridge kicked claiming that it should have been a strike. Strike 2. Foul. Judge got a HOME RUN into the right field stands. He caught a fast curve on the end of his bat and the ball sailed high and far.

Joe Harris up. Strike 1. Ball 1. Joe Harris shot a fast grounder past Wright for a base.

Bluege up. Joe Harris was thrown out stealing. Smith to Moore. Ball 1. Ball 2. Yde is now warming up for Pittsburgh. Barnhart took Bluege's high fly. Peck up. Ball 1. Ball 2. Traynor threw out Peck and Grantham made a glove hand stop. Traynor's wide throw. It save Traynor's error.

ONE RUN, TWO HITS, NO ERRORS.

PITTSBURGH—Barnhart up. Barnhart sent out a fly to Rice, hitting the first pitched ball. Traynor came in for a cheer as he stopped at the plate.

Traynor up. Ball 1. Ball 2. "Covie" kept the ball around Traynor's neck. Bluege stopped Traynor's hot smash and threw him out.

Wright up. Wright crashed single to right.

Grantham up. Strike 1. Grantham swung viciously at a spit ball. Covie tried to pick Wright off first. Foul, strike 2. Foul. Grantham was scattering the customers in the boxes with foul balls. Ball 1. Wright went to second on a passed ball. Foul. Grantham is having trouble seeing Covie's damp flings. Stan Harris made easy work of Grantham, throwing him out at first.

NO RUNS, ONE HIT, NO ERRORS.

THIRD INNING

SENATORS—Ruel up. Strike 1. Aldridge kept the ball on the inside. Ball 1. Strike 2. This was a sweeping curve. Ruel fanned again, being fooled by Aldridge's drop ball. Ruel kicked to Umpire Owens.

"Covie" up. Strike 1. Strike 2. Ball 1. Ball 2. Covelicki also went out on strikes.

Rice up. Rice slashed a line single into center, which Aldridge had to duck.

Stan Harris up. Aldridge tried to get Rice off first. Ball 1. Again Aldridge tried to pick Rice off first. Strike 1. On a balk by Aldridge Rice went to second. Ball 2. Ball 3. The ball unstopped Aldridge. Strike 2. Wright threw out Stan Harris at first and the danger was over.

NO RUNS, ONE HIT, NO ERRORS.

PITTSBURGH—The sky was now becoming overcast with a pall of smoke. Smith up. Ball 1. Strike 1. Smith 2. Smith got a line single into left and this started the Pittsburgh crowd howling.

Aldridge up. Strike 1. Strike 2. Aldridge forced Smith, "Covie" to Stan Harris.

Moore up. The Senators had a double play in sight but Harris dropped the ball and got Smith at second. Moore up. Foul, strike 1. Strike 2. Ball 1. Moore struck out, hitting at a spittal which struck in the dirt before the plate.

Carey up. Carey singled into right, Aldridge stopping at second. Cuyler up. Ball 1. Ball 2. Strike 1. Cuyler forced Carey, Peck to Stan Harris.

NO RUNS, TWO HITS, NO ERRORS.

FOURTH INNING

SENATORS—Goslin up. The two pitchers were going along nicely and the fans prepared themselves for another moundsman battle. Strike 1. Ball 1. Ball 2. Ball 3. Strike 2. Wright made a beautiful stop of Goslin's seeming hit, and then got him by a quick throw. Goslin claimed that Wright's throw drew Grantham off the bag.

Judge up. Strike 1. Barnhart robbed Judge of a two base hit with a running catch.

Joe Harris up. Ball 1. Strike 1. Strike 2. Aldridge is hearing down with every pitch. Ball 2. Joe Harris singled off Traynor's glove, it was a line smash and Traynor went into the air after it.

Bluege up. Foul, strike one. Aldridge tried to get Joe Harris off first and Harris gave him the laugh. Cuyler took Bluege's long fly which looked as if it was going into the stands for a home run.

NO RUNS, ONE HIT, NO ERRORS.

Confident They Can Do Better Than Arkansas

The Hawkeyes were all warm today afternoon. Literally warm, of course. A cold rain fell and the coaches donned great lined coats. However wet the squad's ardor was not the least dampened, and they were the abused front with a determination that portends disaster for the optimistic "Billies" tomorrow afternoon.

The practice was not long but was plenty stiff. Blocking and some tackling, and lots of help by the coaches occupied the part of the session. The backs some kicking and passing and, Rolie Williams' yearlings made up to the guillotine. The varsity pranced over them, and they fresh took the bladder for a few downs.

The Hawkeyes will take a limbering-up this afternoon, and then the St. Louis collegians try their cleats in Iowa Field.

The Billikens will arrive tomorrow twenty-seven strong, accompanied by Coaches Sammie Brown. The men who will come from St. Louis are Captain Macclott, Russ, Levis, Kapl, Rippstein, Zuggel, and O'Brien; halfbacks; Fitzgerald, Kahle, Sney, Stanton, Hurl, and Strands; Clark, Blum, Higl, Braeckel, Ryan, Albin, Kearns, Simon, tackles; McCarthy, Starn, and Wentker, center; O'Brien, quarter, and Oreluis, fullback.

News from the South contains the information that the Billikens are confident of giving Iowa a better battle than did Arkansas last week. This is not a pretentious statement, if it is thoroughly analyzed. At that, Coach Ingersoll men have a bad defeat to even for in 1906 St. Louis was a 21-0 winner right here on Iowa Field.

Print "Old Gold" in Magazine Form

"Old Gold," a magazine of athletics and physical education published by the division of physical education of the university, will be the press and will be mailed during the next few days. This is the first issue of the publication since it was enlarged from a page newspaper to a thirty-page magazine.

Copies will be mailed free to interested alumni of the university to all "I" and "L" men, to school principals and directors of physical education in Iowa and selected list of those people who sign interest in the athletic coaching course last spring. 4,500 will be distributed this month but thereafter subscriptions will be received at the rate of one dollar for the year's issues of which there will be six or seven.

Articles in the October issue cover several phases of men's women's athletics, Gordon L. G. T. Bresnahan, J. M. "Sam" Barry, Dr. W. R. Fieseler, Elsie Beth Halsey, Rachel Sietman, E. Wilson and K. E. Griffin are contributors for the first issue.

Mail Enlarged Edition Out for First Time This Month

The semi-annual Quadrangle tennis tourney scheduled to start next week ago has gotten under way and eight of the first round matches have been played off. Mark Watson, proctor of the Quadrangle and winner of the tournament, is yet to play his first-round match.

Watson's opponents have been "laying" for him, and are preparing to fight to the last ditch to win the crown of supremacy from the head, where it has rested. Quiggle, Reynolds, Stanford and Armstrong have been playing consistent tennis and seem to have the best chance of "taking" Watson.

Doris and Harris drew byes in the first round. The scores so far are as follows: Drucker defeated Watson 6-2, 6-2; Quiggle defeated Watson 6-2, 6-0; Hoesch defeated Scott 2-6, 6-3, 6-2; Dvorak defeated Palmer 6-0, 6-0; Armstrong defeated Scott 9-7, 6-0; Stafford defeated Whitebook 6-2, 6-1; Slavin defeated Murphy 7-5, 6-3; Moore defeated Goodman 6-1, 6-4.

Death Takes Man Who Put Gold Leaf on Capital Dome

DES MOINES, Oct. 8 (AP)—Defoli, who placed the gold leaf on the state house dome, died at home in Seattle yesterday, according to word received by relatives here.

Bresnahan Cards Eight Track Meets in Fall Campaign

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 8 (AP)—Satisfied with his latest backfield experiment, Peplaw, Graham, Murrell and Joe Sting, Dr. Clarence Spears today focused attention on the football, end, and Ben Allison, guard, found themselves hobnobbing with the first stringers. The elevation of Tuttle and Allison, furnished another clew to the starting lineup which will take the field against Grinnell in the second test of the Gopher team Saturday in the Memorial Stadium.

On Foreign Fields

CHICAGO, Oct. 8 (AP)—Despite a drizzling rain which slowed up the field considerably and made practice unpleasant, Coach A. A. Staggs of the University of Chicago put the Maroon gridmen through a strenuous defensive drill today.

The entire scrimmage was devoted to defensive forward passing, the yearling squad using every conceivable pass formation and keeping the ball in their possession throughout the drill.

The varsity regulars managed to break up a number of the pass plays before the ball was thrown, pinning the dispatchers for four and five yard losses.

Today's scrimmage was the last hard drill before the Ohio State game here Saturday.

Fraternity Swim Relays Scheduled for Last of Month

On October 31 the second annual inter-fraternity swimming relays will be held. The first relay of the kind was held four years ago under the auspices of Coach David A. Armbruster. Since then, the relays have been discontinued, but were again started last year.

The competition last year was as close as possible from the first, and when the final races were held, the pool room was filled with enthusiastic rosters. The Sigma Alpha Epsilon team, made up of John McClintock, Ed Sheakley, Jack Krumviede and Joseph Vander Veer, won after a close race. The Kappa Sigma and Sigma Phi Epsilon were the runners-up. This year these fraternities will again have strong teams entered.

There will be a better chance for each fraternity this year with two relays on the card instead of one. The 160 yard relay, with four men to a team, and a medley race with three men, will be on the program this time. The 160 yard relay, the crawl stroke will be used while in the medley, three strokes will be used; 60 yard back stroke, 60 yard breast stroke, and 60 yard crawl stroke. The winners of each relay will be awarded a plaque, but there will be no individual medals given.

Coach David A. Armbruster hopes for twenty-five entries this year in place of the eleven of last year. There will be a fifty cents entry fee to help defray the expenses. Entries can be made in the physical education office with E. G. Schroeder, director of the men's gym, not later than Oct. 25.

The preliminaries will be held on Oct. 30 at 4:00 p. m. in the men's gym. On Saturday, Oct. 31, four teams will swim the finals of each event.

Anyone is eligible except men who have won their letters in swimming.

Copies will be mailed free to interested alumni of the university to all "I" and "L" men, to school principals and directors of physical education in Iowa and selected list of those people who sign interest in the athletic coaching course last spring. 4,500 will be distributed this month but thereafter subscriptions will be received at the rate of one dollar for the year's issues of which there will be six or seven.

Articles in the October issue cover several phases of men's women's athletics, Gordon L. G. T. Bresnahan, J. M. "Sam" Barry, Dr. W. R. Fieseler, Elsie Beth Halsey, Rachel Sietman, E. Wilson and K. E. Griffin are contributors for the first issue.

Mail Enlarged Edition Out for First Time This Month

The semi-annual Quadrangle tennis tourney scheduled to start next week ago has gotten under way and eight of the first round matches have been played off. Mark Watson, proctor of the Quadrangle and winner of the tournament, is yet to play his first-round match.

Watson's opponents have been "laying" for him, and are preparing to fight to the last ditch to win the crown of supremacy from the head, where it has rested. Quiggle, Reynolds, Stanford and Armstrong have been playing consistent tennis and seem to have the best chance of "taking" Watson.

Doris and Harris drew byes in the first round. The scores so far are as follows: Drucker defeated Watson 6-2, 6-2; Quiggle defeated Watson 6-2, 6-0; Hoesch defeated Scott 2-6, 6-3, 6-2; Dvorak defeated Palmer 6-0, 6-0; Armstrong defeated Scott 9-7, 6-0; Stafford defeated Whitebook 6-2, 6-1; Slavin defeated Murphy 7-5, 6-3; Moore defeated Goodman 6-1, 6-4.

DES MOINES, Oct. 8 (AP)—Defoli, who placed the gold leaf on the state house dome, died at home in Seattle yesterday, according to word received by relatives here.

Hunters Expect Big Season—River Hits High Mark for Year

Sale of Licenses Greater by 427 Than Last Year

County Gets $1,327 for Permits So Far This Year

Hunting licenses issued to date for the current season have netted for the county $1,327, figures at the county recorder's office show. The number issued so far, 1,327, exceeds the total for the like period last year by 427.

Since the season opened, scarcely a day has passed that hunters have not paid in $15 for licenses, the records show, while for many days the totals reached as high as $40. Various reasons are ascribed by the county officials and hunters for the rush for licenses. Last year the document covered hunting only, while this year it covers fishing as well. Hunters are predicting an excellent season ahead. Rabbits are reported plentiful in the country and a large influx of ducks is expected, the birds being said to be plentiful in the north.

Car Strikes Post

Slight damage was done to a Buick sedan driven by Mrs. R. A. Kuever yesterday afternoon when she struck a concrete light post at the corner of Iowa avenue and Madison streets, after being forced onto the center parking to avoid striking a car driven by E. B. Klingman. No one was injured.

K. P. Lodge Meet

Members of the Knights of Pythias lodge held their regular meeting last evening at the K. P. hall.

Glaspie and Piper Reported Better at Hospitals Yesterday

Wallace N. Glaspie, of Hills, and Ray A. Piper, Iowa City, were reported better at local hospitals here yesterday. Mr. Glaspie, who was struck by a Ford sedan while fixing a tire here Wednesday, has passed the critical period, physicians believe. It was feared that he had suffered internal injury, but no complications have developed as yet.

Mr. Piper, who was burned about the face, hands, and legs, last week when gasoline vats exploded in the cleaning shop of the Unique cleaners, is much better.

Take Resignation of Rev. Sherck

Lutherans Authorize Nomination of Successor

Acceptance of the resignation of the Rev. C. H. Sherck, pastor of the First English Lutheran church, tendered some time ago, was made at a congregational meeting in the church parlors last night. The church council was also authorized to take steps toward the nomination of a candidate to fill the pulpit. The resignation of the Rev. Sherck, who has been here for nine years, came as a surprise, several weeks ago. It is to be effective on or before Jan. 1. The Rev. Leamer, of Des Moines, president of the Iowa synod of the United Lutheran church, was present at the meeting.

Rural Carriers Use Autos to Take Mail Despite Recent Rain

Despite the recent heavy rains, the nine rural mail carriers out of Iowa City are still using automobiles in delivering mail on their routes. There has been very little delay, for the farmers have cooperated with the postoffice department by taking care of the roads.

Carriers are requested by the postoffice department to report all unfavorable conditions.

Traffic Violators Face Mayor's Ire

Police Make Effort to End Parking Law Infringements

As evidence of a warning from the city hall that the traffic ordinance relating to double parking is to be enforced several autists were brought before Mayor J. J. Carroll yesterday charged with its infraction. Among the violators were several women, all of whom were released after a warning from the mayor.

The law provides that in residential districts all cars shall be parked parallel to the street at a distance of not more than six inches from the curb; and that in the business district cars shall be parked at an angle of forty-five degrees and at a distance of not more than six inches from the curb. The ordinance also provides that no persons shall be allowed to leave an engine running if the car is unoccupied.

Astronomy Professor Speaks at Rotary Luncheon

Modern novelists, who vividly, though carelessly, depict scenes wherein lovers sit in a garden while the full moon descends over the western hill were exposed by Charles C. Wylie, professor of astronomy, speaking at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club yesterday.

He asserted that by the time the moon descends behind the western hills it is almost sunrise and that the lovers would doubtless have left the garden by that time.

Tell Time by Stars

Professor Wylie began his speech by giving a simple account of what the untrained eye can see in the sky, discussing some of the beautiful constellations to be seen in the autumn sky and some of the principle planets. In some detail, he explained how to tell time by the stars, using the big dipper as the clock and the northern star as the guiding hand.

A beam of light, he explained, can traverse the distance between the moon, the nearest body to the earth, and the earth in three seconds, traveling at the rate of 186,000 miles per second. It would take a million years for a ray of light to travel the distance between the earth and the star now known to be the farthest from the earth.

Tonight's Light Ancient

In other words, the light now seen in the stars started toward the earth about the time Columbus discovered America, or when William the Conqueror crossed the English channel and conquered the Saxons in England.

Guests of the club were Dr. W. N. Plimpton of Glenwood, the guest of President Walter A. Jessup, and Dr. A. F. Bennett of Iowa City, the guest of Frank Zeltamel.

Airmail Delayed

Unfavorable weather conditions for flying, due to the rain, halted the westbound air mail plane at Chicago last night. It did not leave for Iowa City. The eastbound ship, due here early yesterday morning, was delayed and arrived at 10:45 p. m.

Woman Alderman Speaks at Club

Miss Gallaher Discusses Local Problems

Ruth Gallaher, alderman-at-large, in a talk given before the Iowa Women's club yesterday, outlined the different forms of city government and the various municipal problems confronting the city council.

She spoke of the need for signal lights to control traffic, and asserted that the problem confronting the council just now is the kind of lights which can be bought for the money which Iowa City has to invest. As for traffic rules in general, she said that they had already been made, and that it was up to the mayor and police force to enforce them.

"City governments," said Miss Gallaher, "have degenerated in power since the days of the city state in Greece and Rome. Then, the city had full control; now the city is limited a great deal in power by the state legislatures."

She discussed the various forms of government, the commission plan, the city manager type, and the mayor-council plan, the latter the type now used in Iowa City.

Doctor Sues Family for Professional Fees

Dr. F. E. Burbank, of Oxford, filed suit against Wesley Sedlack and wife for $62.95, which he alleges is due him for services rendered, with District Clerk C. F. Benda yesterday. Walker and Ries are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Rain Halts Work on Dam at Foot of Burlington St.

Highest Stage of River for Entire Season Reached Monday

After being unusually placid all summer, the Iowa river has again asserted itself with such vehemence that work on the Burlington street dam has been discontinued.

Last Monday the water reached the highest stage to be recorded all summer, according to Prof. Floyd A. Nagle, of the school of engineering, and at present the flow is two times that of normal.

Because of the exceptionally low stage of the river all summer the height of the water at this time is much more noticeable. Professor Nagle said. Work on the dam has gone forward with rapidity all summer due to the low stage of the river.

The necessary delay in construction is expected to continue for two or three weeks at least, because the river has raised enough to flood the coffer dam. Work on the heat tunnel has been extended underneath the dam and the contracting company was preparing to run the tunnel around the power house when the height of the water prevented.

Professor Reilly, government observer, predicts showers for the next few days, but no steady rain. Slight rains, however, will be sufficient to keep the water up indefinitely.

Librarian to Attend Regional Conference

Mrs. Jesse Gordon, city librarian, leaves Saturday for Sioux City, where she will attend a regional meeting of the American Library association, which will be held there Oct. 13 to 17.

This meeting, the first of its kind, will take the place of the annual state meet of library workers in Iowa, which had been held heretofore.

City Church Sends Four Delegates to Unitarian Meeting

The Rev. Arthur Weatherly, Waldo Regginnitter, Mrs. J. J. Runner, and Mrs. Amanda Webb will represent the local Unitarian congregation at the forty-eighth annual conference of the Iowa Unitarian association at Sioux City, Oct. 26 to 28.

Mr. Regginnitter, who is president of the Iowa Conference of Unitarian Young People, which met at Humboldt last June, will present his report of that meeting the last day of the Sioux City meeting.

Rev. Weatherly will leave next Monday morning for Cleveland, O., where he will attend the general Unitarian conference.

Legion Elected for National

Avoid Dissention on Mitchell Case

Register 37,155 and Say 40 Per Cent Not Reported

(By The Associated Press) OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 9.—The American legion's seventh annual convention ended today with the election of John R. (Go-Get-Em) McQuigg of East Cleveland, Ohio, 59 year old lawyer and banker, and wounded overseas engineer, to the honor of national commander.

His election was assured long before the end of the first roll call of states was announced and his two opponents, Howard P. Savage of Chicago and Edward Spafford of New York, successfully moved that the election be made by unanimous vote. The vote was McQuigg 661, Spafford 224, and Savage 55.

Thus ended what was termed by many the legion's most harmonious convention, despite the fact that it was convened and operated four days under a storm cloud which threatened to send the delegates into a terrific fight.

Escaped Mitchell Split The matter of commendation for Col. William Mitchell, severe critic of the nation's aerial defense, was the rock of dissention which was revealed.

The hands at the helm of the legion suited a course that kept so clear that the matter was not brought to the floor of the convention and was disposed of in committee by remedying adoption of one of Mitchell's proposals, that for a department of defense with control over three equal branches, air, navy, and army, but without naming him.

Select National Chaplain James F. Burton, Des Moines, Ia., was chosen adjutant and Robert P. Tyndall of Indianapolis will be national treasurer.

The Rev. William Patrick of San Francisco, Cal., was elected national chaplain.

A sister of Jack London, the late noted novelist and short story writer, was chosen to head the women's auxiliary of the American legion. She is Mrs. Eliza London Sheppard of San Francisco.

Auto Camp Killer Hangs After Wife Tells About Crime

FOLSOM, Calif., Oct. 9 (AP)—Alfred Bollinger, a slayer of Alex Summers in an auto camp ground near Marysville, was hanged in the state prison here today. His wife, who revealed the crime for which Bollinger paid the penalty, claimed the body and has arranged for a funeral. She declared at the time she told of the crime that she feared Bollinger would kill her, because she said three of her previous husbands had been slayers.

Mrs. Bollinger described how her husband killed Summers on the morning of April 27, 1924, buried the body in a slough, donned the victim's clothes and moved on to other towns with the victim's horse and wagon.

Number of Inmates and Cost in State Prisons Increasing

DES MOINES, Oct. 9 (AP)—A study of the records shows that Iowa penal institutions house slightly larger numbers of inmates now than they did ten years ago, and the cost of maintenance of the prisons and reformatories has increased somewhat per capita.

In this state, the average daily population of the state prison in 1915 was 530. For the fiscal year ending in June, 1925, it was 530. This would indicate that about the average number of older criminals were being imprisoned, the institution being only for prisoners of thirty years or more, unless they are convicted of serious crime. The average per capita cost ten years ago was $276. It is now $240 a year.
