

Helen Oils Backhand for Court Favorite

Fandom Expects Lenglen Victory; Injury to American's Knee Believed Serious

NEW YORK, Feb. 15—Not much more than four years ago a little dark haired girl in pigtails came out of the west to startle the tennis world with the beginnings of a campaign which led her to the national championship. Tomorrow this same girl, now a matured woman and experienced star, will hold universal attention as she gives battle to the foremost woman player of Europe, the generally recognized champion of the world.

Helen Wills, 20 years old, of the United States will face Suzanne Lenglen, 26 years old, of France, in a struggle as dramatic as anything tennis has ever staged, one that has aroused scarcely less excitement than a heavyweight championship prizefight or a world series baseball game.

Experts Predict Lenglen Victory
Abroad, the tennis public at large as well as experts, are convinced of Suzanne's invincibility. Even in this country, fandom concedes the French star an advantage while also "rooting" for "our Helen". Nearly all of the experts have predicted a Lenglen victory.

The general disposition among experienced observers here is to concede Miss Wills only a "fighting chance". But at least one outstanding critic, George M. Wightman of Boston, believes that the American girl "has better than an even chance". Mr. Wightman looks upon the contest as "anybody's match" with Miss Wills harder hitting, likely to prove decisive. Among the warring fraternity, however, the odds are about 3 to 1 in favor of Lenglen.

Helen Has Driving Game
The experts generally, such as "Big Bill" Tilden, Wightman and Sam Hardy, agree upon one point—that Miss Wills' chief chance to victory lies in the crushing power of her driving game; a smashing attack backed by aggressiveness, which, they believe, may pierce Suzanne's defense or upset her uncanonical control.

That Miss Wills herself knows this to be her best bet is evidenced by the manner in which she has brought to the fore force of her dynamic stress into play in advancing to the finals at Cannes. The steady improvement in her control and effectiveness as the all-important duel with Suzanne approached has tended to heighten the confidence in America's champion.

Represent Different Types
Two more opposite types, in play as well as in personality, have seldom been brought face to face in a battle for tennis honors of the world. Suzanne's temperament is an unusual definite and nervous, plays a dynamic, brilliantly versatile game. Helen, cool and self-reliant—she has been nicknamed "Poker-Face"—depends upon the steady and consistent power in her strokes, delivered with almost masculine severity.

To sum up the chief qualifications of each, Helen's stroking "pace" is her greatest asset, plus a keen fighting spirit and steady nerves while Suzanne's advantages lie in her speed of foot, strategy and experience, supporting an unusually effective and accurate bag of strokes.

Tennis fans who expect to "listen in" for the result of the Wills-Lenglen match probably will have to combine it with their radio setting up exercises tomorrow morning. The contest is scheduled to start at 11 a. m., Riviera time, or 6 a. m., eastern standard time, and would be completed probably between 7 and 8 a. m., when such broadcasting stations as are on the air will be devoting their time to physical culture programs.

CANNES, France, Feb. 16 (A.P.)—A pale watery moon this morning led tennis fans to fear that rain might cause a postponement of the Lenglen-Wills match.

CANNES, France, Feb. 15 (A.P.)—The injury to the knee of Helen Wills, received when she fell during her match with Didi Vlasto today, was more serious than was first thought. Notwithstanding her courageous statement that she was unharmed, it develops that she suffered a rather deep gash on the right knee. The wound bled profusely and it is thought the knee may be sore and somewhat stiff when the American champion meets Suzanne Lenglen tomorrow.

The French dinner, which lasts for two hours, from noon until 2 p. m., was responsible for the wound not being attended to immediately. Miss Wills and her mother and friends went to four drug stores, but found them closed for luncheon. It was 2 p. m. when the fifth drug store was visited and the proprietor gave the knee the required attention.

Veteran Debaters Argue Question of College Athletics

Kansas and Iowa Split Teams to Discuss Both Sides

All athletes who wear the old gold "I" or numeral sweater, will be admitted without charge to the natural science auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock when Kansas and Iowa "split" teams and debate on the resolution: "This house views with alarm the tendency of American colleges and universities to stress intercollegiate athletics."

The Audience Decides
Both before and after the debate, the audience will ballot on the question, and the team that causes the most number of votes to be shifted to its side will be declared victorious. An open forum will be held and questions from the audience will be received.

Charles Nutting, A2 of Iowa City, and John C. McMinn of Kansas will show that college football has become unduly professionalized and that college athletics in general get too much publicity.

K. Irene Bowman, A4 of Iowa City, and Leland Barrows of Kansas will take the negative side of the question and endeavor to prove that the "athletic side-show" has not replaced the "main circus". According to David Armbruster '21, formerly University of Iowa debater and now coach of the Old Gold swim team, the negative will have the best side of the question. He termed it a "live question for debate."

Iowa's Veterans
Iowa will be represented by two debaters experienced in the forensic field. Charles Nutting was the freshman oratorical contest last year and also debated on freshman teams, and in literary society work. K. Irene Bowman is a veteran of several debates and in the Iowa-South Dakota woman's debate of last year was paid a special tribute by the single expert judge who criticized the contest.

Prof. C. S. Tippetts of the commerce department, a former Princeton debater and member of Delta Sigma Rho will preside at the debate. Holders of debate season tickets will be admitted on coupon three.

"Frvol" Frolics With University Take-Off Number of Magazine on Sale Tomorrow

The spring issue of Frivol, university fun publication, appears tomorrow to relieve the monotony of February's weather, and if promises of the editors are to be believed, the placid surface of campus life will be hit by a tidal wave of satire and sarcasm.

This issue of Frivol has been labeled the "Take-Off Number," so-called because the magazine has attempted to remove the veil of secrecy and enchantment that surrounds certain campus characters, organizations and university customs.

Malice Toward None
"To know the truth is to know all," was a remark of some importance made several years ago. Frivol's editors have attempted to apply this bit of philosophy to the task of razzing the university. As a result of their labors they have composed an index to all the follies of college life, revamping Lincoln's phrase to read "With malice for all and charity for none."

Sorority Problems
High spots in the issue include a page of "Famous Outdoor Sports," a generous burlesque section which hits everything from A. F. I. to the Iowa Literary magazine, pages devoted to the sorority problem on the campus and innumerable other features.

Part of the issue has been preserved as a secret, in order that the lives of the editorial force might be safe until the issue goes on sale.

First Protestant Leaves Mexico on Government Orders

EAGLE PASS, Texas, Feb. 15 (A.P.)—Accepting the ultimatum of the Mexican government which gave them twenty-four hours to leave the country, The Rev. J. L. Phillips, president of the Peoples Institute of Piedras Negras across the Rio Grande and three teachers of the college crossed into this city today.

The school was established in 1912 and has been supported by the Methodist Episcopal church, south. The action of the government follows others which have been promulgated against catholic priests but it is believed to be the first ousting of protestants.

More than 200 students were left without tutelage when the teachers departed.

Man Learning to Walk; Crippled for 15 Years

DES MOINES, Feb. 15 (A.P.)—Through the nearly miraculous working of modern surgery, which rebuilt his legs that were crushed in a mine accident near Grimes, fifteen years ago, Walter T. Keith, now almost 40 years old, is just learning to walk. Seven months ago, hopelessly crippled, he entered the University of Iowa hospital. A few days ago doctors removed the heavy casts and told him he would again be able to walk. Today he was standing on his feet, and with the aid of canes and crutches, learning to hobble across the floor.

First Shipment of Furniture for Union Installed

Twenty-three thousand dollars worth of furniture, of which the first shipment arrives tomorrow and the last March 15, will be placed in the lounge room of the Memorial Union. The outlay, which is only part of the furnishings provided for the building, consists of sixty-seven pieces of furniture and fourteen rugs.

The furniture in detail includes ten large davenport, four wing chairs, seven highboys, five walnut tables, two octagon writing tables, fifty-four upholstered benches, four fireplace benches.

The furniture will be arranged in groups at each fireplace, in the middle of the room and one at each end. The seating capacity in the lounge room will be for 167 persons. Davidson Furniture company of Des Moines is doing the furnishing.

M. Briand Opposes Opponents' Plans Stands Against Attempt to Restore Normal Financial State

PARIS, Feb. 15—Premier Briand took a strong stand in the chamber today against opponents' endeavor to restore normal financial conditions. He reproached the socialists with dodging responsibility of participation in the government when it was offered them because the difficulties made such participation unprofitable.

The necessity of governing France could not be disregarded at the behest of any single party, he declared, and if the socialists desired to remain outside the majority which would save the financial situation, it would be done without them.

The chamber's action today in the way of amendments and rejections reducing the yield of the new tax measures to virtually nothing and brought M. Briand again to the floor with the declaration that the deputies were assuming a grave responsibility in refusing to vote the new resources which the government demanded.

Drink From Bottle Proves American Guiltless of Crime

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 15 (A.P.)—Drinking from a bottle alleged to have contained a fluid intended to embalm the head of Gen. Francisco Villa, helped to free Louis E. Holmdahl, an American and his Yaqui Indian companion, Alberto Corral, when they were arrested on charges of having looted Villa's grave, Holmdahl said today.

The grave was opened and the head severed. It was reported the head was being sent to a Chicago scientist for examination.

When they arrested him, Holmdahl said a mob of nearly a thousand excited persons gathered about the jail in Parral, Mexico, and prisoners believed they would face a firing squad. A bottle of distilled water for their storage battery was sent as evidence of their guilt.

The officials called chemists to analyze the contents of the bottle, but Holmdahl picked it up and drank from it. This, Holmdahl said, convinced the officials that he and his companions had nothing to do with the looting of the grave. They had just returned from inspecting Corral's mining property in the mountains and passed Villa's grave soon after the looting was discovered.

Holmdahl expects to return to Mexico in a few days.

Experts Talk at German, Romance Language Parley

Chicago, Wisconsin, Minnesota Send Speakers

Prof. Hayward Keniston, Prof. A. R. Hohlfeld, and Prof. Colbert Searles, will be among the speakers of the modern language conference to be held here Feb. 26 and 27 under the supervision of the extension division and departments of German and Romance languages.

Hayward Keniston, professor of Spanish at the University of Chicago, will give talks on both Friday and Saturday. Professor Keniston is a Harvard graduate. Before he was appointed as Spanish professor at the University of Chicago he held the same position at Cornell university, N. Y., and was dean of the graduate college there.

Diplomat in Italy
When he broke out he went to Europe with Prof. Stephen H. Bush, head of the Romance language department here. Professor Keniston was speaker for the Italian embassy in Italy. He has published works on Italian and Spanish literature.

A. R. Hohlfeld, head of the department of German in the University of Wisconsin, spoke here some time ago on "Faust."
Leipzig Graduate
Professor Hohlfeld received his degree in the University of Leipzig in Germany. He taught in England and was a student in Paris. Before coming to Wisconsin in 1901 he taught at Vanderbilt university. Professor Hohlfeld has held the position of president of the Modern Language association of America.

Another graduate of the University of Leipzig who will speak at the convention is Colbert Searles, professor of Romance Languages at the University of Minnesota. Professor Searles taught in Indiana, Arkansas, and Leland Stanford before he came to Minnesota in 1914. He specializes in literature of the seventeenth century and has written books and articles on the subject.

William R. Boyd Stresses Need of Intellectual Drill

"In this materialistic nation we should put out the jazz and seek spiritual salvation," declared William R. Boyd of Cedar Rapids, of the state board of education, Sunday afternoon at vesper services.

"The world today," he continued, "is being more and more spiritualized. We are losing sight of the individual. The system is so intricate that if something goes wrong in the industrial machinery everyone immediately suffers."

He explained that with the advance of inventions, the amount of manual labor has been lessened so that the worker of today enjoys shorter hours, higher wages, and a better standard of living than ever before.

Human Nature Unchanging
"The next twenty-five years may witness an added change in labor, when work may be accomplished by merely pressing a button. When this comes about, will we use our added leisure to build up character or will we waste it?" asked Mr. Boyd.

Changes have taken place in the physical world but not in the spiritual world, he pointed out.
"Opinions as to what is moral or immoral change with the ages, but human nature does not change," he said. "There is not a character in the Bible or Shakespeare that does not have its counterpart in the present age."

Living in Fast Age
"The world is living in a fast age, and the greatest thing for the present generation is to seek hard work and not to avoid it."

Mr. Boyd declared that wisdom and experience should be our guides, that Lincoln's inaugural addresses and speeches are fountains from which we may draw wisdom. He also stressed that there is at present a tendency to make things easy and that the disciplinary subjects in the schools have given way to trivial matters.

Invocation was given by the Rev. Robert Reed, and the men's glee club sang "The Lamp in the West."

Big Ten Plans to Abolish Drinking

Will Attempt to Stamp Out Drunkenness and Betting at Games

In an attempt to stamp out drunkenness and gambling at Big Ten football games, the Western conference athletic association plans to seek cooperation of the alumni and outside football fans attending Big Ten games next fall. A letter explaining the seriousness of the situation and asking the help of those attending the games will be sent to each applicant for tickets to next fall's games at each of the Big Ten schools.

Dr. Belting Outlines Plan
According to the plan as outlined by Dr. Paul E. Belting, director of athletics, each of the Big Ten athletic directors will write a letter explaining his views on the subject. From these ten letters, Major Griffith, athletic commissioner of the conference association, will write a composite letter. Copies of this composite letter, bearing the signatures of the Big Ten athletic directors and that of Major Griffith, will be sent to ticket applicants next fall. This plan of stamping out what conference officials believe a serious menace to college athletics was adopted at the December meeting of the Western conference athletic association. The attitude of the association is that alumni and other fans should play the game on the sidelines as "squarely" as they expect the players to do on the field. They believe that in drinking and betting at the games the fans are not doing this.

Seek to Curb Gambling
The seriousness of celebrations at some college athletic contests is shown by the occasions noted by the association where drinking has in some cases even resulted in deaths. Gambling, which is admitted by the association, is seeking to curb by this new plan to be inaugurated next fall, has been described by sports critics as one of the greatest menaces to the future welfare of amateur athletics.

"Katy" R.R. Head Retires on May 1

Whitehead, Successor, Been With Firm for 33 Years

NEW YORK, Feb. 15—Closing a career of fifty years of service with the railroad, C. E. Schaff, president of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad company, today announced that he would retire on May 1. He will be succeeded by C. N. Whitehead, who in his thirty-three years with the "Katy" has climbed from messenger boy to the post of legislative vice president.

Mr. Schaff recently celebrated his seventieth birthday and it is understood that he wishes to pass the reins of leadership to younger hands.

Mr. Whitehead is 48 years old and has worked up through all departments of the road, beginning with the messenger service and proceeding to the positions of secretary and treasurer, assistant to the president, vice president and executive vice president. Although the Missouri, Kansas and Texas is one of the units on L. F. Loree's proposed southwestern merger, it is considered probable that the road will continue to operate for some time under its present management and that many of its officers will be retained to guide the destinies of the new system.

Fail to Change Air Mail Headquarters

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (A.P.)—An effort by Senator Howell, republican Nebraska, to prevent removal from Omaha to Washington of the headquarters of the New York to San Francisco air mail route was defeated today by the Senate without a record vote.

Howell offered an amendment to the post office appropriation bill to eliminate a $50,000 item for the personnel and traveling expenses from Omaha to Washington of the headquarters force in that city.

America Welcomes Antioch Rescuers

NEW YORK, Feb. 15—The nation through New York, today flung wide its arms and took to its heart Captain George Fried of the liner President Roosevelt. It also heard as heroes, his crew which transcended traditions in rescuing twenty-five seamen from the sinking British freighter, Antioch, in mid-ocean on Jan. 27.

The Roosevelt steamed slowly up from quarantine with two empty bunks—those of the two men who lost their lives in the first rescue attempt.

Crushed Roses
Hooping whistles, bright bunting, roaring cannon and the spoken words of high officials—these were the outward manifestations of honor. Silent handclaps, brimming eyes and wistful, understanding looks—these were the tributes from seaman to seaman, which brought a lump to Captain Fried's throat, and set his crew to stirring nervously in the limelight of acclaim.

First to go over the side from the tug, Macon, which bore the official party to meet the Roosevelt at quarantine, was Mrs. Fried. Hat in hand, flushed and embarrassed, Captain Fried stood at the head of the gangway and took his wife in his arms. A dozen roses which she wore were crushed in the embrace, and a host of cameramen shouted in glee as pictures were snapped.

Twenty-One Guns
While Captain Fried and Chief Officer Miller received an official welcome from Grover Whalen, representing Mayor Walker; Admiral Charles L. Plunkett, representing the navy; and General Charles E. Summerall, representing the army, the Roosevelt prepared to get under way. Planked to right and left by the Macon and the navy tug Iuka, both bright with bunting and tinsel with bands, and with a navy cutter leading, the procession started up the harbor.

Everything that floated, from wasp-like speed boats to palatial liners, greeted the Roosevelt enroute. A twenty-one gun salute, greatest honor of the nation accorded, boomed from Governor's Island. The din was increased by aircraft, which thundered overhead, skimming the top mast of the rescue ship. The fireboat John Purroy Mitchell, throwing graceful plumes of water from every nozzle joined the review, which swept majestically up toward Hoboken on the Jersey shore.

Two Empty Berths
On the hurricane deck of the Roosevelt, fifteen bewildered seamen looked out from the harbor—attempted to joke and subsided into silence. Each wore a gold medal appended to a bright red ribbon, an official decoration of the British government.

Down in Captain Fried's cabin, nestled among other gifts, reposed two more medals. Their owners, Uno Wirtman, master at arms, and Boatswain's Mate Ernest Heitman, will never wear 'em for Wirtman and Heitman made the supreme sacrifice—often demanded of those who sail the seas.

"The best men on the ship," said Chief Officer Miller, his voice husky. "One double hero" was among the crowd. He was fourth officer Frank Monroe Upton, holder of the congressional medal of honor which he won during the world war.

Not a word was spoken of the rescue by the crew during the celebration.

Houses Stand Pat On Tax Cut Action

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15—Senate and house conferees on the revenue bill stood pat at their opening meeting today behind the action taken by their respective chambers on the measure, involving a difference of $125,000,000 in tax reduction for this year.

While the senate representatives are expected to make considerable concessions on the reductions voted by that body in addition to those approved by the house, and thus bring the measure closer, at least, to the limit of tax relief declared safe by the treasury, the conference today developed no agreement along these lines. Secretary Mellon has been represented as holding that a total reduction of $350,000,000 is all the treasury can stand without danger of a deficit, whereas the senate increased the total from $330,000,000 as voted by the house to $456,000,000.

The house today ordered the bill sent to conference without debate and by almost unanimous vote, and representatives of the two branches of congress immediately went into session and for two hours discussed their differences. After their conferences, both groups of conferees held separate meetings, with a compromise involving concessions on each side expected within a few days. This would permit the senate and house to ratify the agreement and send the measure to the White House for the signature of President Coolidge in time to assure tax reduction by March 15, when first income tax returns are due.

Dancing Dates Back to Practices of Animals; Rooster Charlestons

Dancing is a courtship stunt which dates back to the earliest practices of the higher animal types. Perhaps our present fondness for this mode of entertainment is a proof of our relation to the birds and animals who carry on their courtship by means of the dance.

Had we lived in this mid-western prairie country when civilization was not so highly advanced, we might have seen the dancing prairie-chicken suitor. In early days when Iowa had thousands of prairie chickens there were great assemblies at dawn where the male "strutted his stuff" to attract the female hens. What the basis of judgment was we do not know but undoubtedly the hens had some method of classing the best dancers.

Turkeys Do Strutting
Domestic fowls of our own day go through much the same process. Roosters make fantastic movements with their wings and balance insecurely on one foot or crow lustily to demonstrate their lung power to the admiring hens. Turkeys proudly spread their fan-shaped tails and do a sort of strutting dance to the accompaniment of "gobble, gobble, gobble."

If the human race has developed its passion for dancing from watching animal performances, they must have conceived the idea very early. From Grecian times on down through the middle ages dancing was an accomplishment in which even children were trained very young. Apollo, the god who embodied the ancient ideal of manly charm, was the patron of dancing.

Charleston Like Roosters Dance
In courtship during the last four centuries any gallant nobleman had to have tersichorean ability. If Prince Charming had not been able to lead Cinderella through the mazes of the dance at her first ball, there would have been no fairy story. Charles Brandon started his courtship of Princess Mary Tudor by teaching her the new French dances. Mary's husband, Louis XII, died trying to keep up with the strenuous dancing parties given by his young wife.

But the courtship dance has not died with the passing of royalty. At times we can almost believe that the dancing art is returning to its primitive origin from which it evolved. The modern young man is partly chosen and judged by his ability to do the Charleston which is not wholly unlike a rooster's performance. Indeed a day might come when sheiks would assemble on those same hillsides where once the prairie-chicken made his romantic appeal and with the rising sun casting a rosy glow on his strange gymnastics, woo his lady through the romantic appeal of the courtship dance.

Bridge Fans Add Leaf to Notes on Rules Saturday

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—A revision of the rules of auction bridge toward simplified scoring was announced today, following a conference of experts Saturday.

The scoring of honors was changed to give all honors, regardless of suits, an equal value. No change was made in honors at no-trump. The following rule was adopted:

"Honors are scored in the honor or score of the side to which they are dealt; their value is not changed by doubling or redoubling. All honors held by each side are scored according to the following table:

- "1 in one hand, 3 in the other, count 30 points.
 - "1 in one hand, 2 in the other, count 20 points.
 - "1 in one hand, 3 in the other, count 40 points.
 - "2 in one hand, 2 in the other, count 40 points.
 - "2 in one hand, 3 in the other, count 50 points.
 - "3 in one hand, 4 in the other, count 80 points.
 - "1 in one hand, 4 in the other, count 90 points.
 - "3 in one hand, 5 in the other, count 100 points.
- Minor changes with regard to revoke penalties were also made. A revision of the revoke rules also was made, so as to make the penalty one trick, to be scored by the innocent side, eliminating the former penalty of 50 points. The revoking side may score only honors held for the hand.

Watched Those Within Prison; Now He's Looking Out

FORT MADISON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Lawrence M. Meyers, today is inmate of Fort Madison prison walls where he served for many years as a guard. He served a five-year sentence last week for passing weapons to an inmate of the institution.

While a prison guard, Meyers was given the task of examining prisoners who returned each day from work outside, thus preventing the importation of weapons into the institution. He discharged his duty faithfully until he fell a victim to the tale of buried treasure related to him by a long-term negro convict. The cache of this supposed treasure was said to be somewhere in Missouri.

Meyers, according to the story told in court, was to receive $15,000 or half of the loot if he would help the convict to escape. Meyers agreed, but was caught in the act of passing a gun to the negro.

"Trial of Meyers started in district court here last week but was called off when he changed his plea to guilty after a jury had been nearly obtained.

Blind Veteran Appreciates Radio Broadcast of Memorial Dedication

Though totally blind as a result of a bullet wound; and several hundred miles away, Hans Johnson, Civil war veteran of Peterson, Minn., was one of the audience that participated in the dedication program of the Memorial Union last Saturday. According to a letter received by Pres. Walter A. Jessup, this old veteran "listened in" over WSIU and heard the praises of the speakers for the bravery displayed in the war in which Mr. Johnson lost his sight.

Below is a copy of the letter: President State University, Iowa City, Iowa. Dear Sir: It was with great interest and appreciation I listened to your program at the dedication of your Memorial building yesterday. I am a veteran of the Civil War, a member of Company I, 27 Iowa. I am totally blind as the result of a wound received at the battle of Pleasant Hill, Louisiana.

Preparing New Coal Rate Table in Board Office

DES MOINES, Feb. 15 (AP)—A comparative coal rate table is now being prepared by rate experts in the office of the state board of railroad commissioners. It will determine what further action is to be taken by the commission in regard to recommendations of the agricultural and industrial commission appointed by Governor Hammond affecting coal shipments. Dwight Lewis, chairman of the coal board announced today.

This table will show evidence of discrimination against Iowa coal shipments sufficient to warrant further investigation by the commission, doubt as to discrimination, or the table may show that, in fairness to all concerned, a hearing may or may not be advisable.

"If from the face of the table it appears that a hearing should be had in the matter and if after hearing it is found that discrimination exists in rates against the Iowa product in favor of coal from other states, the commission will do all in its power to remove such discrimination," Mr. Lewis said.

The table will be completed next week.

Physic Exhibit New Attraction in Engineers' Week

As a new attraction on the exhibit program of Mecca week this year the physics department will join the engineers in their annual "open house" on March 27, the last day of Mecca week. Prof. G. W. Stewart of the physics department has assured the committee in charge of the Mecca exhibit of the co-operation of his department.

Particular attention will be paid to the demonstration of such phases of the study as are regularly taught to the sophomore engineers in their physics course.

Professor Stewart also promises a display of spectacular physical phenomena consisting of unusual effects in acoustical study, physical properties of matter, optical illusions, color spectra, and similar interesting phenomena.

Increase Duty on Straws

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Under the flexible provisions of the tariff act, President Coolidge today ordered the duty on men's straw hats, valued at $9.50 or less a dozen, increased from 60 to 88 per cent ad valorem.

After Fifteen Years in Show Business, Preaches to Profession

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—Fifteen adventurous years as a circus man, traveling in every state, and many more as a leader in the progress of vaudeville have been crowded into the life of Edward F. Albee, a small, gray-haired man, who today sits in a Broadway office and preaches to members of his profession.

Heads Keith-Albee
As head of an internationally known vaudeville organization, the showman writes few letters that do not contain some reference to the Bible. As a result they have become known as sermons and more than one minister has used them in pulpit deliveries.

"I really think the world is getting better," reads a typical excerpt from one of his recent letters to an artist. "Vaudeville is certainly improving, due to the men waking up to a realization of their obligations to each other, and if nothing happens to disturb its present tranquility, I look for conditions to exist which will be a lesson to all men.

"Be just, love kindness and walk humbly with your God is a good precept toward peace and happiness."

Albee was a boy of sixteen when he joined P. T. Barnum's circus at Lowell, Mass. He went in as a handy man, which means that he carried tent poles, helped look after the animals and sold tickets. Two years later he was in charge of the side shows, with forty men under him.

In 1883 he became associated with B. F. Keith in Boston at a salary of twelve dollars a week. Keith had a small museum which was losing money and he asked Albee what he could do to put it on a paying basis.

Used Mansfield as Model
"I told him that the trouble with his show was that people were ashamed to be seen entering it," Albee related, "and that we would have to find some excuse for them. At the time, Richard Mansfield was playing there in 'Mikado' and I hit upon the idea of forming an opera company for the museum."

"To be brief I got the company together and rehearsed 'Mikado' a week, taking the members to hear Mansfield each day. I had $500 with which to stage the production."

Famous Players
"We charged an admission of ten cents and the production proved such a success we had to call the police to clear the streets. Soon we were giving ten performances a day.

"Among the players I had then who later became famous were Raymond Hitchcock, Weber and Field, the Cohen family—George was a small boy—and Montgomery and Stone."

Soon the company expanded its operations and had opera and vaudeville companies playing in Philadelphia and New York. Today it is known as the Keith-Albee circuit, with Albee as president, and is represented in hundreds of cities.

Literary Societies Present Program for Council Tea

The Women's Forensic council entertained the members of the literary societies at a tea yesterday afternoon in the sun-parlor of the Memorial Union. Each society was represented in a program given by members of the different groups.

The Erodeophian society was represented by Celestine Vosmek, who gave a reading; Valentine Reverie, a tableau, was presented by Octave Thonet; Luene Davis, Hesperia, sang; Thelma Fleck and Barbara Kitteridge, members of Hamlin Garland, gave an interpretive dance; Olene Moen, Athens, sang; and Genevieve Lewis, Whitby, gave a reading.

Catherine Richter, vice-president of the council poured, and other officers were in the receiving line.

Guests of the council attending the tea were Mrs. E. C. Mable, Mrs. A. C. Baird, Miss Helene Blatter, Miss Helen Langworthy, and Miss Margaret Blackburn.

Dunes Will Become Sage, Belief Voiced by English Doctor
LONDON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Charles Darwin and Sir Isaac Newton were backward children, it is pointed out by Dr. A. F. Tredgold, a specialist, who contends that many school dunces today will become great men.

"The dull boy who is made to wear the fool's cap in classes in the future will be able to beguile the tedium of his penance by reflecting that his stupidity may some day make him famous," declared the physician, addressing the Women's Sanitary Inspectors at Bedford College.

The backwardness of Newton and Darwin, he said, was due to late development of their mental powers.

New Spring Modes Alive With Color

Chris Yetter Returns With Distinctive Style Motifs

Mr. Chris Yetter has returned from New York, enthusiastic about the new dresses and coats—the Fabrics, styles etc.

He states that "bright colors are featured, as well as the sedate navy and black in both Spring dresses and coats. In dresses, pleats and circular cuts give width to the skirts. Long, full sleeves, with embroideries win marked favor. The cape backs and other adjuncts that accentuate the general soft flowing effect are much used.

Further, in dresses "flared skirts, apron fronts, flat backs, ruffles and overskirts predominate.

"High neck lines are in vogue. The sport frock of the coming season is in the two-piece over-blouse effect.

"Fabrics for the new frocks are georgettes, crepe romaine, printed crepe, flat crepe, satins and tafetas. The popular shades are opal gray, toast, tan, bois-de-rose, phantom red, Britanny blue, lovebird green, miami rose, black, navy and La Valliere. Greens, too, are being selected freely.

"For evening says Mr. Yetter, bouffant frocks are popular. While coats of crepe, corded tweed and camel's hair show slight flare, patch pockets, boyish lapel and smooth slim shoulder, and in a rippled or belted back.

"Scarfs are much to the fore and are designed to be worn tied at the back or front, the scarf often manipulated so as to be worn in high collar fashion.

"Jaunty suits of imported tweeds, or in plain navy and hair line serge coats are imported tweed and camel's hair show slight flare, patch pockets, boyish lapel and smooth slim shoulder, and in a rippled or belted back.

"The new coats that are holding the center of the stage, cape effects are playing quite a part. Embellishments, embroideries and furs adorn the new spring dress coats. The materials are pique, twill, charmeuse, willow rep and basquera. Swagger coats of imported tweed and camel's hair show slight flare, patch pockets, boyish lapel and smooth slim shoulder, and in a rippled or belted back.

Scientist Explains Uses of Bakelite to Chemists Here

Telephones, Cigarette Holders, Castors From Material

The romance of the development of a product with a wider range of uses than almost any other material from a substance that experienced chemists declared unworkable only a comparatively few years ago, was traced by R. C. Shuey of the Bakelite company in a lecture on the development of Bakelite in the chemistry auditorium last night.

That this metal-like substance of unusual strength, durability and insulating qualities is the material of a thousand uses as is claimed for it by the Bakelite corporation was graphically demonstrated by Mr. Shuey through lecture, picture and demonstration.

Uses Varied

There is hardly a human being in any civilized community it was brought out, who does not come in contact with a product of this material at some time during the day's activity. Bakelite is used in the manufacture of toilet articles, telephones, furniture, electrical apparatus, automobile parts, musical instruments, cutlery, and furniture. Probably two thirds of all tube radio sets are constructed of Bakelite parts and panels.

Journalists Plan Practical Courses in Summer Work

Journalism students in summer sessions will have an opportunity to get practical experience in newspaper offices according to Prof. Frederick J. Lazell, of the school of journalism.

"We will conduct the work the same as field courses in geology," he explained. "Students will be sent to nearby newspapers as reporters under our supervision to get practical experience. The Daily Iowan will be published by students who choose to remain here as usual. Full university credit will be given to students who work in other towns." According to the plan that has been worked out students will spend the first two weeks of the summer session in the regular journalism classes, the second two weeks on a newspaper, and the third two weeks in the classes. This plan will be in operation during both terms of the summer session. Students may work on either daily or weekly papers.

Physicians Doubt Recovery of Six in Mine Explosion

Officials Scout Theory That Gases Caused Fatal Blast

(By The Associated Press) BELLAIRE, Ohio, Feb. 15—Further investigation of the cause of the explosion in the Powhatan mine, sixteen miles south of here, which caused the death of one miner and injury of twenty others today, was temporarily halted tonight pending the arrival of the state mine inspector.

A coroner's inquest held late today cast doubt on the theory that the explosion was caused by open lights carried by the miners.

The mine was not known to be gaseous, and miners testified that a number of men with open lights had been in the mine for some time previous to the explosion. The explosion occurred soon after the day shift of 600 men had gone to work. All escaped through an air shaft, however, with the exception of the one man killed, Louis Baranoff Powhatan. Physicians tonight said the recovery of six of the men injured was doubtful.

Delegates Return From Convention

Local Representatives Hear Church Heads at Parsons

Bernice Davies, G of Emerson, and Pier D. Aldershof, A2 of Iowa City, returned from Fairfield yesterday, where they attended the State Student Volunteer convention, in progress at Parsons' college during the week-end.

Various phases of student volunteer work were taken up by the conference at the sessions. Church leaders, national secretaries and workers from the foreign missionary field were present to address the students from the colleges and universities of Iowa.

A luncheon and a banquet were given Saturday in honor of the visiting delegates. At the banquet program following the banquet, Edna T. Miller, who attended the university last year, and is now in school at Penn college, at Oskaloosa, was one of the main speakers.

At the election of officers Miss Miller was elected alumni secretary. She was not a candidate for reelection as vice-president, the position she held last year, as she will be graduated from Penn college this June.

Princeton Scientist Gets "Inside Information" on Atom Composition

(By The Associated Press) PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 15—One more barrier has been removed from an understanding of the invisible universe of the atom by a Princeton university scientist, according to an announcement made at the university today.

The forces within the atom, which hold together the protons and electrons—positive and negative charges of electricity, of which all substance is composed—for the first time, have been measured and correlated with atomic theory in the Palmer physical laboratory by Dr. Carl T. Compton, professor of physics and his associates, the announcement said.

This has been done by obtaining exact quantitative information regarding the energy in the various states of activity in the hydrogen atom. Dr. Compton's experiments confirm the theoretical explanation of the composition of the atom made by the Danish physicist, Bohr, which has been the subject of debate between chemists and physicists and hitherto not confirmed by direct measurements.

The last first round game of the elimination contest and the final sectional game will be played Tuesday night. The two semi-final contests are scheduled for Thursday night, and the final meet of the tournament will be held some time next week.

The sectional game will decide the champion for Section I. The two contesting teams, Phi Epsilon Pi and Sigma Chi both defeated Theta Tau, the other team that originally was tied with them for first place.

The winner of this contest is the one picked to go through to the finals and a probable win in the completed tournament.

The games scheduled for next week are: Phi Epsilon Pi vs. Sigma Chi, Wednesday night at 7:15 o'clock. Alpha Sigma Phi vs. Delta Upsilon, Wednesday night at 8:00 o'clock. The winner of the sectional game vs. Delta Sigma Delta, Thursday at 7:15. The winner of the other Wednesday game vs. Phi Kappa Psi, Thursday at 8:15 o'clock.

Each of these evenings 25 cents admission will be charged one or both games. The officials will be K. McFarland and C. S. Roberts.

Flanigan Assumes Hall's Position as Boxing Instructor

Jimmy Flanigan of Sioux City, a sophomore in the college of liberal arts has been appointed by Physical Education department to succeed Roscoe Hall as boxing instructor at Iowa.

For the past two years Flanigan was chief sparring partner to Hall when he was training for his fights. His experience as a professional fighter made him a logical successor to Hall.

Flanigan does not intend to make boxing his profession but does it to earn his way through college. Besides being a clever boxer, Flanigan is a good athlete. Last summer he served as life guard at the Sioux City municipal swimming pool.

U. High Battles Tigers Tonight

Invaders Boast Strong Quintet; Defeated Locals Once

Coach Kelly's Washington high Tigers of Cedar Rapids will invade the new University high gym tonight for their second game of the season with the Blue and White basketball team. A month ago the Tigers defeated Engess's team 30 to 10 on the Washington high floor and Engesseth fears his team will be met for the Tigers when they play here tonight, after recent victories over Dubuque, Boone and Ottumwa.

The University high squad went through a short workout last night with most of the attention being directed to some scheme for stopping Cummins, the Tiger star who has run wild against every opponent this year.

There is one ray of hope for the local preps in tonight's game. There is some doubt that three of the Tigers best players will be in the game tonight. The catch to this Blue and White hope, however, is that like Knute Rockne's Notre Dame football teams it's hard to tell which is Washington high's first team.

This will be the only game that Washington high's cage team will play in Iowa City this season. In the past, Washington high athletic teams have earned a nationwide reputation winning several national championships in football, basketball and track.

Net Battle of Century Finds Suzanne Heavy Favorite to Win

By TED SWENSON Helen scores more than this number of games against the French idol, this writer will be greatly surprised.

"Little Poker Face" as she is called, will enter the battle with the odds decidedly against her, Riviera gamblers offering 11 to 3 that Suzanne's flashing racket will turn the trick.

If Helen can control her line splitting forehead drives, and can weather the storm of shots that the fleeing French girl will send at her, she should make it an interesting match.

But it is hardly to be expected that Suzanne's reign will be interrupted by the California lass, as she has had only a few short weeks of practice on the Riviera courts.

Mlle. Lengien has one of the most terrific overhead smashes in modern tennis, her overhead work comparing favorably with many of the men stars. Helen made the mistake of lobbing to Suzanne in their mixed doubles match. Lengien's cut-like speed, and deadly accuracy enabled her to annihilate these soft returns.

Local tennis fans, while pulling for a Wills victory, are not optimistic about the match, realizing that the great Suzanne is all that newspaper reports have asserted her to be.

Helen's backhand is said by French net critics to be the most powerful ever displayed by a woman player on the continent, not excepting Mlle. Lengien. Her forehead driving is also terrific, astounding the thousands of foreigners who have seen her perform.

It would seem a conservative estimate of the skill of the two racketeers, to place the score at 6-2, 6-3. If

Hawk Paddlers Clash With Norse Merman Saturday

Northwestern Battle Puts Armbruster's Men on Edge

Although the Iowa swimmers did not win the dual clash with Northwestern tank aces last Saturday they gave the boys from the Purple Institution plenty of hair-raising competition in every event on the swimming program.

Little credit was meted out to Coach Armbruster's Hawk paddlers for the impressive showing his tank men made in the 300 yard medley relay, which was taken by Northwestern in new intercollegiate record time, only after the Hawk tanksters had themselves covered the distance fully two seconds under the old record of 3:20 4-10 set by the Michigan medley trio several weeks ago. The time of 3:23 4-10 registered by the Iowans was but one fifth of a second slower than that of the Purple swimmen who took the race by inches.

Coach Armbruster is highly elated over the manner in which his men have improved in this event considering the fact that they were clocked at 3:35 1-10 seconds against Chicago a week ago. Standish Lambert probably tore through the most brilliant race of his entire three year career under Hawkeye colors.

Frosh Guards Unable to Stop Van Deusen

Iowa Ace Continues Scoring Rampage Began in Michigan Game

With two successive victories having been chalked up against Big Ten opponents in as many weeks the Hawkeye cagers are more than anxious to make it three at the expense of Northwestern this Saturday night. With this thing in mind the Barrymen started their week's work with a lot of pep and drive last evening.

Monday night usually means a light workout, but not so yesterday. Instead of the customary limbering up exercises Coach Barry chose to send his men through a thirty minute scrimmage with Coach Rollie Williams' freshmen acting as the opposition.

Rollie instructs Frosh

While Rollie was instructing the frosh with Northwestern plays, the varsity was busily engaged in improving their basket eyes so as they will be able to greet the Purple in the same manner as they were treated at Evanston three weeks ago.

When Rollie finally turned his charges loose on the regulars an interesting battle ensued. The two squads kept close together from start to finish with the Iowans holding a slight margin throughout.

Van Deusen, who showed up so well in the Michigan game continued to run wild against the yearlings. Time and again Van scored baskets and try as they might the first year guards could not hold him in check. Smith worked at "Buz" Hogan's guard last night and may get a chance to show his stuff on Saturday night against the Wildcats.

Indoor Net Stars Reach Third Round in National Meet

Tilden Takes Matches With Usual Ease

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—Play in the national indoor tennis championships reached the third round today with only one serious casualty. The outstanding stars of four nations survived the first and second rounds with little difficulty, only four matches going beyond the two set limit.

William T. Tilden, II, of Philadelphia, holder of the national outdoor title, won his first and second round matches, losing only three games in the four sets. Vincent Richards of Yonkers, N. Y., eliminated his opponent in the first round without losing a game, but was carried to a 6-4 to win the first set of his second round match.

Gene Lacoste, French Davis cup star, had little difficulty surviving his first round match but a youthful New Yorker worried him somewhat in the second round by winning six games in the two sets.

Jean Borotra of France, defending champion; Maurice Ferrier of Switzerland; Erik Worms of Denmark and Jacques Brugnon of France, came through the first round, as did Francis T. Hunter of New Rochelle. The one up set of the day, the elimination of Fred C. Anderson of New York, runner-up to Borotra last year, by Merritt Cuyler, seventh regimental armory star, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Carpenter's Thin Clads May Meet Tigers Tomorrow

University High may meet Washington high of Cedar Rapids in a dual indoor track meet in the new armory here tomorrow night.

If negotiations for the meet are completed it will be shortened and the relay races, and some of the field events will be omitted in order that the men on University high's small squad will not have to compete in more than one event.

The Blue and White team is entered in the state indoor meet to be held here next week and for that reason Coach Carpenter does not wish to push the stars of his small squad too hard just before the state meet. Coach Carpenter does not expect to win over Cedar Rapids, if the teams meet, but he does look for the relay team to score in the state meet and expects Cozine, Blue and White distance ace, to place high in the mile and in the half in the state affair.

Van Deusen Tops Hawkeye Scorers

Phillips Takes Second After Van Makes Comeback

Last Saturday evening George Van Deusen went on a scoring spree and as a result he is now leading the Hawkeye cagers in the number of points scored so far this season. Up until last week end "Hefty" Phillips, Iowa's sharpshooting substitute, had been way out in front. "Van" now however leads him by a scant three points. The scoring to date is as follows:

Dope Favors Iowa in Illinois Dual

Hawk Grapplers Meet Powerful Illini Mat Team

With the Gopher pelts tucked safely away Coach Howard and his grapplers are getting ready to invade the Illinois camp Saturday. Logan and Strubbe, Iowas turnabout 125 pounders will mix in the only try out bout tonight to decide who will journey to Urbana.

Iowa is facing the strongest team that they have bucked up against this year, neither team having been defeated as yet. The Hawks have an old grudge to settle to even up the defeats that have been meted out to them for the past three years.

Illini Lose Star

After comparing the results and comparative scores of the two teams it is hard to tell who will come out wearing the laurels of the battle. Illinois defeated the Gophers by the same score that Iowa did but have lost Geis, their great 158 pounder who was the only man in the conference to humble Grattan last year, since then.

It looks like Iowa should draw first blood when Weir and Thacker mix in the 115 pound class. Weir has been undefeated this year winning from all of his opponents by a large advantage. The 125 class which is Iowa's weakest strong hold should go to Illinois by a decision according to advance dope. When Captain Michael and Kenny mix two of the best men in the conference will be seen in action. Kenny is a clever and more scientific wrestler than Michael but Michael's fight and endurance should counter balance that advantage. One thing is sure that the bout will be hotly contested on both sides with little advantage for the winner.

Beers Should Win

Beers, Iowa's flashy 145 pounder should have little trouble in winning from the Illini, who was defeated by Peterson of Minnesota, who was in turn thrown by the Hawk. This match should end with five points to Beers' credit. Then from the veteran Grattan Iowa hopes for at least a decision from his less experienced opponent.

Voltmer in the 175 will have a hard time to ward off Humphry of Illinois. A great deal will depend upon the breaks. If Voltmer gets behind another decision is liable to be chalked up for Iowa. The heavy weight class is another doubtful match. Yegge of Iowa has won every match this year but Shively also has a clean record. According to comparative scores Shively has a slight advantage but, who can tell?

When the straight-8 blows a shoe

BEFORE you even look for the jack or tire-tools, tuck a neat wad of Prince Albert into the muzzle of your jimmy-pipe. Light up . . . and get yourself in the frame of mind where a flat tire is "all in the day's work." Talk about a loom-chaser!

P. A. simply knocks troubles for a row of plished-steel mudguards. Its cool, soothing smoke percolates into your system, the sun crashes through the clouds, and everything is hotsy-totsy. Yes indeed, Fellows, Prince Albert is great tobacco.

And paste this in the fly-leaf of your thesaurus: P. A. can't bite your tongue or parch your throat, no matter how hard you hit it up. The Prince Albert process flunked Bite and Parch on their first examination. Get a tidy red tin of P. A. now and see.

PRINCE ALBERT
 —no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tiny red tins, pound and half-pound tins, humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-wickster top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

University Makes Effort to Eradicate Smoke; Rushes Plant Construction

Two hand-stoked boilers in the university heating plant, which now belch out clouds of smoke, are likely to be in operation yet next year, despite the efforts to eliminate them, according to Prof. E. P. Fleming, who has charge of the construction of the new heating plant.

Bids for the new plant will be opened today at a meeting of the state board of education in Des Moines, and the plant is scheduled to be in operation by next winter, but the old boilers will be needed during extremely cold weather.

Wants Boilers Out
President Walter A. Jessup has sought to put the obnoxious boilers out of operation as soon as possible but plans for getting along without them are still unsettled.

President Jessup was out of the city yesterday and could not be asked about the efforts to eradicate smoke. The new plant is to furnish all the university heat eventually. All stoking will be done by machinery and smoke will be practically eliminated.

As long as furnaces are stoked by hand there is likely to be smoke it is believed. One shovel full of coal thrown on a large hand-stoked furnace will produce clouds of smoke.

Can Prevent Smoke
There is no such thing as a smoke consumer, though there are smoke preventers, according to engineers. Even careful stoking will not prevent smoke in an essentially smoky boiler furnace.

Local physicians divided on the question of the harmful effects of smoke. One throat specialist asserted that coal smoke does real damage. It is irritating to one who has asthma or bronchial trouble.

Another local specialist believes that the coal smoke here is not in large enough quantities to be injurious.

Dan Cupid Runs Rampant Over St. Valentine's Day

Deadeye Dan Cupid got in some real target practice over the week-end around Johnson county when the little bow and arrow artist took advantage of Valentine's day and crashed eight of his shimmering darts into four pairs of palpitating hearts.

The four bashful couples were victims of Cupid's unerring accuracy are the following:

Erma Yenter, 23, of Oxford, to Milo J. Novak, 23, of Iowa City; Arthur F. Rosenbaum, 23, of St. Louis, Mo.; Rosella Wilson, 22, Kalona, to Lawrence Stransky, 26, of Lone Tree; Alma Holst, 20, of West Liberty, to George L. Ralland, 20 of Lone Tree.

Continue Divorce Suit Until Today

Absence of Reporter Hinders District Court

Death of a relative of Miss Maud McBride, official court reporter, and the inability of the court to obtain the services of another recorder caused a rather quiet morning and afternoon session in district court yesterday.

After a jury was impaneled the divorce action of Magdeline Sherrett, Iowa City, against Ralph Sherrett, Rock Island, Ill., was continued until this morning because of the inability of a witness to attend trial. Mrs. Sherrett asks divorce on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Following are a list of jurors who were selected for civil duty Monday: George Westfall, Fairmont township; R. L. Leamer, West Lucas; Neil Kinsey, Iowa City; Addie Anthony, Clear Creek; Anna Peterson, Iowa City; W. A. De France, Iowa City; Mattie Johnson, James Rogers, Iowa City; J. M. Tobin, Iowa City; S. L. Gringer, Liberty; Ed Squire, Iowa City; and Clarence Smith, Iowa City.

Announces Dead Line for Payment of License Fees

According to C. L. Berry, county treasurer and collector of auto license fees, 6,316 car owners in Johnson county have paid the 1926 tax on motor vehicles. There are 1,414 motorists in this county from whom the collectors have not heard.

Of the 7,800 cars in operation, the greater percentage are Fords, with Chevrolets running a close second. The oldest car operating in this county is an Oakland manufactured in 1909. Collector's records show it to be in good running condition.

All applicants for licenses who fail to pay their fees by May 1 will be notified by the county treasurer, and if payment is not in the hands of officials by May 15, their names will be turned over to the sheriff.

Leonard Roe Faces Grand Larceny Bill

Accused of grand larceny in a grand jury bill, Leonard Roe, 30 years old, was taken into custody yesterday by the sheriff. His bail was set at $2,500, and he was held in the county jail until it can be procured.

Walter Rowe, who it is alleged was an accomplice of Roe, was arrested Saturday and held under the same bond. Trial of the cases has not been set.

Woodmen Down Legionaires in Opening Pinochle Game

The Modern Woodmen team defeated the American Legion team in the first round of their four-game pinochle tournament last night with a total score of 125,980 against the Legion's 121,420, a lead of 4,560 points.

James Laughlin with 6,080 points was the high-point man for the Woodmen and Clem Boyle with 7,320 points for the Legion.

The second game will be held at the Woodman Hall Feb. 25. After the last game there will be a "feed," the cost of which is to be paid for by the losers.

Enter Hospital

Mrs. Martha Cox, and Mrs. Robert O. Hughes, 311 East Fairchild street, were admitted to university hospital yesterday.

Harold Bolender, M2 of Northwood, was readmitted to university hospital Sunday.

Mrs. N. E. Keenard, 32 North Capitol street, is a patient at Mercy hospital.

Reports Collision

George Ramsey, 624 South Lucas street, reported to police yesterday that he and Dr. W. E. Gordon, 516 Muscatine avenue, had a collision when their cars smashed together on Linn street. There was no damage reported.

Want Copies

So popular was the talk of W. T. Casey, secretary of the county good roads association, broadcast by WSUI during the road campaign, that he is receiving requests for written copies of it. He is a graduate of the university and a Sigma Chi.

Engineer Outlines Factors in Road Issue's Success

Guarantees Construction as Approved by Voters

Speakers at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon yesterday expressed the general idea of what "getting out of the mud" means. The campaign was reviewed by County Engineer E. M. Griffith and the opinions of those active during the campaign were expressed.

"Why the program went over" was the idea of the county engineer's talk and his reasons were:

First, that the general election of 1924 gave the county a board of supervisors with the initiative to start something and the tenacity to finish it; second, that the county and city committees were efficient in doing their part.

Little Opposition
Third, that there was little organized opposition; fourth, that the road committee was headed by men whom the people trusted; and last that the people believed in the program.

"The next problem," continued Griffith, "is to carry out the program and we shall endeavor to follow out the campaign issues to the letter. Construction will be finished in six years, however, the work will be delayed some in '26. We expect to have an improved road to Cedar Rapids and to Solon by the end of this year."

Avoid Detours
"In arranging the construction program, detours will be reduced to the minimum," he said, "and especially in the case of the Red Ball and Muscatine roads."

The first real objection to the program as it stands, "is that it will take too long to complete. This is not because the work will require six years but because the bond issue can not be extended beyond the legal limit. If it were not for this the time of construction could be cut in half."

Other Counties Busy
The second objection is, what will we do at the county lines? But ten counties have been awaiting the result of the Johnson county bond issue and since it has succeeded they are now considering bond issues."

Griffith expressed his disapproval of the state's or Governor John Hammill's plan of state road improvement. "With the state contingency fund now $150,000 short, after Johnson and Clinton counties have together secured $700,000, it is likely that the matter will be taken up at the next session of the legislature."

His opinion is that the governor privately hopes that other counties will follow the example of Johnson and Clinton.

Jones Satisfied
A number of the men who were behind the program then expressed their opinions. R. P. Jones, chairman of the county board of supervisors, said, "We are satisfied with the result."

M. W. Davis, a farmer and head of the good roads committee, said, "Nothing in my life has pleased me more than the success of the bond issue," and expressing the sentiment of both farmers and the committee, he added, "We are grateful for your support."

John Dwyer, another farmer and member of the committee, said of the program, "It's the greatest thing that has ever happened in Johnson county."

Farming Bettered
"The farm has been a pleasant place to live but with good roads it will be much more pleasant and convenient. We are grateful for the support of the city," was William Casey's opinion.

Prof. R. M. Perkins, a force behind the program, declared that the campaign had developed a county consciousness and a county spirit which should be preserved.

"There has been a tendency toward distrust between county and townspeople but the slogan 'get out of the mud' has welded both together. It would be worth while to adopt a slogan or motto to keep alive the county spirit that the result of the campaign has developed."

Circulates Petition for Fire Apparatus

With his ardor formed by the Engert disaster Saturday Fire Commissioner Paul Schmidt is circulating a petition for the purchase by the city council of an aerial ladder truck to be added to the present fire equipment.

Yesterday the petition had over 100 signatures, but there seemed to be some objection to the proposal, many persons being of the belief that a service truck, a less expensive piece of apparatus, would better fit the needs of Iowa City.

Mrs. McLaughlin Succumbs Sunday

Burial at Clear Lake; Leaves Daughter Mrs. Horack

Mrs. Mary Moore McLaughlin, 65 years old, died Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. H. Horack, at 228 N. Gilbert street, after a long illness. She was born in Salem, Iowa, and had made her home with her daughter here for the past twelve years.

Brief prayer services were held at 5:30 p. m. Sunday at the Harmon funeral home with Dr. Arthur L. Weatherly, of the Unitarian church officiating.

The body was taken to Clear Lake yesterday afternoon accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Horack, the former a professor in the law college. Interment will be at Clear Lake this afternoon.

Send Plane Here for Body; Drops 20 Miles Away

Pilot Unhurt; Remains Sent to Capital by Train

A private airplane sent from Des Moines at noon yesterday to carry back the body of Donald Fines, 7 months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Emmett Fines, of Des Moines, who died yesterday at the children's hospital, was forced down twenty miles out of Iowa City and failed to reach here.

The plane was scheduled to arrive at the air field before 3 p. m., but at that time word was received by Charles A. Beckman, of the Beckman funeral home, that the plane had been damaged when it landed so that further flight was impossible. Neither the pilot nor the passenger were injured in the forced landing. It is not known here exactly where the plane dropped.

The body was sent to Des Moines last night by train.

E. T. Lies to Speak on Public Recreation Here Wednesday

Eugene T. Lies, of the Chicago branch of Playgrounds and Recreational association of America, an authority on community recreation, will give two talks here Wednesday, Feb. 17 at 2 p. m. and 4 p. m. in the south room of Old Capitol building.

Mr. Lies will speak at 2 p. m. on the subject of recreational leadership especially for those majoring in physical education and at 4 p. m. his talk will be a round table discussion open to the public on the subject of community recreation. The Boy and Girl Scouts are especially invited to be guests at this discussion.

Mr. Lies has been lecturing over the state in the interest of the Iowa Tubercular association on the subject of playgrounds as a preventative for tuberculosis.

Brennan Gets Bond Cut to $15,000

Reduction of the bond of George L. Brennan, held at the county jail on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder, was reduced from $20,000 to $15,000 yesterday by Judge R. G. Popham. Brennan had not raised the new bond last night.

Daughters of American Vets Hosts to Civil War Soldiers
