Fast Times as Gophers Defeat Iowa Natators

Sports Writer Predicts Iowa Victory Tonight

Noise Galore Expected in Battle With Northwestern

By LAWRENCE EVANS

Col. Morton Mumma should marshal the best noise making units of the R. O. T. C. for action this evening. If advance predictions come for anything there will be a finish to Iowa's two day sport carnival that will make Nero look like a piker, so the roaring cannon and blasting bugles will be entirely in place. Iowa and Northwestern basketball teams are scheduled for a battle royal with the Hawks pronounced as the most likely to remain in the ring after it is all over. A probable score is 27 to 25 in their favor.

Professor Mable and his stagecrafters should particularly enjoy the business, for there will be more hidden motives at work than ever occurred to Shakespeare. Revenge will stalk the length and breadth of the floor, love of country will rise from every pulse in the wooden strip, notable personages will strive for glory, and Iowa will take another chance at winning first place in the circuit.

The Moon May Rise

The recent visit of Chuck McConnell's boys to Evanston, where they failed to give the natives even an anxious moment, will be back of the revenge motive. Iowa can't have all the revenge though, Northwestern has vowed to make good the name of "Moon" Baker, who didn't make a basket during the previous onslaught. In fact "Moon" may be here to do it himself. He hasn't been billed, but a Northwestern dispatch stated that he was to take an exam to remove his ineptness after a two week rest. That times if for this week end but it is not supposed that our visitors will provide such an unpleasant surprise.

Then there is the fable of past years to uphold. It was way back before 1917 that the school of riots was riotous enough to make Iowa say "nuff" in basket ball. Even if that record now lies with the Engler theatre, our home form performance is noteworthy. In addition, there is this year's general "A" record. But as they say in the Journalism school, "so your's old comp" and employ the theory in this manner. Suppose a fellow should be shooting dice and roll a "seven" twelve times in succession. Would you bet that he would roll another "seven" on the thirteenth try? No, neither would Alvin Dakin.

The Stars Will Twinkle

Then there will be the personal pantomime. The Big Ten Weekly says that if Fisher, pivot of the opposing storm, isn't an all-conference center, then there isn't an all-conference team. Iowa fans will say even more for McConnell. Fisher's usual quota is six or seven baskets. Tonight he will have to talk it over with Charlie first, and the crowd should devour the treat.

Plenty of Thunder

Coaches Mather of Michigan and Meanwell of Wisconsin state that Northwestern is without question the strongest team that ever held seventh place. At the start they had a cyclone offense and a defense like a freshman boxer. Of late their barbed wire entanglements outshine the heavy artillery. Only one team has held them below 30 points.

Big, Dark Clouds

Rusch, the new moon of the outfit, made five two pointers his first evening of exercise. White and Fisher are the best in the conference and Christian and Mathews are two three year guards who can do a left shoulder arms with their arms tied behind their backs. Mentor Maury Kent is an old Iowa man. He wouldn't give up an Iowa Sunday to win the game of course, but he does know Coach Barry's system. Altogether it looks as if the hoodoo man will have to be at work to make the score prediction come true.

Hill Brothers Star in Great Work of Northmen

The Hill brothers swimming team from the University of Minnesota last night emerged from the water of the Iowa tank on the large end of a 44 to 25 final score after having set a new American collegiate record in the medley relay, and after lowering the conference time in the 160 yard relay by two and one tenth seconds set by Northwestern men last year in the conference meet.

The time registered by the Gophers in the medley race will stand as a new American collegiate mark, if approved by the board on collegiate records, but the time of 1:16.2 seconds set in the 160-yard relay will unofficially stand as a new Big Ten conference record unless the performance is repeated in the conference meet held at the close of the season at Ann Arbor.

Coach Armbruster's men took three of the eight events on the tank card, Carter grabbing the 200-yard breast stroke event in impressive style, setting a new university mark of 2:45 for the distance. Lambert touched the end of the pool just a few feet ahead of Bjornberg, Minnesota ace, in the quarter mile grind and Jimmy Lutz edged out Carter, who holds the A. A. U. junior diving title by a scant point and a half for first honors in the spring board event.

Sam and Jim Hill handed the gallop to the limit. The Illinois coach, like President Coolidge, is not given to effervescing from the umphs (Indian word meaning mouth) but he puts out a team year after year which does not have to take a rear seat for anyone.

Bearing in mind that old Latin axiom "Errare est humane" (to do a sports contest correctly is ticklish business) the results of the Iowa tank card are as follows:

Wind Change Saves Davie From Raging Fire in Everglades

PORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP)—A change of wind tonight thwarted an Everglades fire back into the wilderness after it had for a time threatened the town of Davie. The damage was confined to an area of 25 square miles.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP)—Fire sweeping the eastern fringe of the Everglades near Fort Lauderdale tonight threatened scattered homes, orange groves and sugar plantations, meagre reports received here said.

The flames, according to the reports, were sweeping over an eighteen mile area, sending dense clouds of smoke high into the air, which could be seen from Fort Lauderdale and Miami.

Volunteer fire fighters were dispatched from the United States fire marshal's office in Fort Lauderdale tonight, after the blaze, smouldering for three days, became alarming.

The fire has centered a short distance northwest of Fort Lauderdale.

Girl Driver Kills Boy

SIoux CITY, Feb. 19 (AP)—Dell O'Connell, 15 year old Rodney girl confessed to police tonight that she drove the automobile which ran down and killed three year old Joseph Wheelock as he stepped from the curbing to the street here last night.

"College Education Enables Humans to Live Actively, Usefully"—A. Britt

(By The Associated Press)

GALESBURG, Ill., Feb. 19.—The answer to the question "What is the good of a college education?" was given by Albert Britt, former New York magazine editor, in an address here today at his inauguration as the tenth president of Knox college. He was graduated from Knox in 1898.

A college education "is to enable human beings to live interestingly, actively, usefully and on the highest plane of which they are capable," he said.

The college is valuable only as it serves the needs of its time, he said, defending the right of the liberal cultural college to exist in the face of growing commercialism as advanced by vocational institutions.

The fields of the two are separate; "to learn to make a living or to learn to live expresses the differences between them," said Mr. Britt. "Rightly applied there is no conflict. There can be no thorough living without a vocation."

Instead of highly specialized experts in one particular field, President Britt believed it is the function of the cultural college to turn out graduates in every line of thought. Carrying out this idea, he would eliminate over emphasis of departments and break down the partitions separating one course from another. The value of a course, he said, is not how many experts it can turn out, but in how wide a knowledge it can impart.

Baker Elected to Presidency of Y. by Good Majority

Stanfield, Ashenfelter, Groth, Hurd, for Other Offices

Charles L. Baker, A3 of Fontanelle, was elected president of the Y. M. C. A. for the coming year at the election held yesterday. Baker received a good majority over his opponent, Jack Stanfield, A3 of Mason City, who will serve as vice president.

The vote for secretary was very evenly divided, Birchard Ashenfelter, A2 of Boone, winning a three-vote majority over his opponent, Fred Schneller, A1 of Mason City.

Alton O. Groth, A3 of Saint Ansgar, was elected assistant treasurer, defeating Howard McHugh, Cm3 of Spencer, by a small number of votes.

Hurd on Advisory Board

Of the four candidates running for representation on the Y. M. C. A. advisory board, Ferris E. Hurd, A3 of Northwood, had the largest number of supporters, while Raymond Powell, Cm3 of Montour, received the next highest number of votes.

The other two candidates for this position, Alvin G. Keyes, L2 of Cedar Rapids, and Karl E. Volding, M2 of Woodward, received about an even number of votes.

Hart, Winslow, From Faculty

Prof. Clyde W. Hart and Prof. Earl M. Winslow, both of the college of commerce were elected to serve on the faculty advisory board the coming year. Other faculty members who were given a number of votes on the ballots are Mr. Dale Yoder, and Prof. Clarence W. Wassam, of the college of commerce, and Prof. A. O. Thomas, geology.

The newly elected members of the cabinet will begin their duties March 1. The remaining cabinet members and department heads will be selected by the new cabinet members and the advisory board.

Terrell Comments

Baker, the new president commented on the election yesterday: "I certainly appreciate the confidence the men of the university have reposed in me by placing me in the leadership of the Y. M. C. A. With the advanced program now under way in our new quarters there is a place for every man who is in earnest to bring about a bigger and better student body and university."

Expect Opposition for Dickinson Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Indications became more definitely apparent today that the Dickinson bill to deal with the farm surplus problem will in its present form, encounter rough going in the house agriculture committee.

It was disclosed that the executive committee of the National Grange was not in complete accord on the measure, and Representative Oldfield of Arkansas, the democratic whip, and chairman of his party's congressional campaign committee, introduced a bill to farm relief somewhat similar to one recently presented in the senate by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, democratic floor leader. The bills sponsored by the two democrats differ from the Dickinson measure as to the method of disposing of the farm products surplus.

Restrict Sale of Aspirin in Pool Halls, Cigar Stores

DES MOINES, Feb. 19 (AP)—Selling of aspirin in pool halls, cigar stores and restaurants is forbidden in a ruling handed down today by Stanton Faville, assistant to the attorney general.

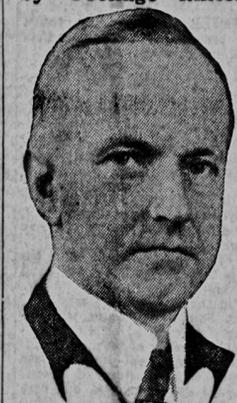

An opinion written for the state board of pharmacy examiners says only licensed pharmacists and physicians or persons working under their direction may sell the product.

Coolidge Backs Debt Settlement Plans for Italy

President Thinks That Ratification Will Benefit World

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—President Coolidge feels that failure of the senate to ratify the Italian debt settlement would serve to relieve Italy of any obligation to negotiate an agreement.

The president is confident that favorable senate action on the Italian agreement will be obtained, although he appears to be somewhat disturbed over the opposition which has developed.

Appeals to Democrats

He is convinced that prompt disposal of the question would be to the best interests not only of the United States and Italy, but of the entire world. Ratification of the agreement, which has been approved by the house and is pending in the senate, would be in the president's opinion of benefit to the [TURN TO PAGE 2]

Hic! Gin Scandal Stirs Anti-Beer League Home

WESTERVILLE, Ohio, Feb. 19, (AP)—This Ohio village, the home of the Anti-Saloon league of America, and the world league against alcoholism, is in the throes of a liquor scandal.

The village marshal, Harry Nutt, has been summoned to appear before Governor Vile Donhey, to tell why he knows about the raid on his office by state prohibition agents, aided by a woman, who admits that she often had been used by the agents to get evidence against liquor law violators.

Wylie Discusses Evolution in Plants

Fourth Zoology Club Lecturer Reviews Other Talks

A string of wagon teams hauling all the corn produced in one season in the state of Iowa would reach three times around the earth and contain 480,000,000 bushels of that famous Iowa product, according to Robert B. Wylie, head of the botany department, who lectured in the chemistry auditorium on "Some Evolutions of Plant Evolution" last night.

If all the protein, carbohydrates and fat which was produced by this same crop were loaded in the same way, the teams would extend sixteen or eighteen times around the earth. However, much of this energy is dispersed and lost in the stems, leaves and husks, while some of the crop is destroyed by insects and plant disease, according to Professor Wylie.

Growth of Science

So far, science has only made a beginning in interpreting and finding out facts, but the method of common sense does away with many difficulties.

Professor Wylie found three fundamental things bound up in the preceding lectures; the concept of indefinite space, which explodes the ancient Ptolemaic theory that the earth is the center of the universe; the principle of infinite time, which demonstrates that the earth has been in existence for long ages; the principle of infinite life, for scientists believe that life has existed for at least a billion and a half years, and the more they study, the more time they add to this estimate.

Shows Lantern Slides

As an example of this expanding thought and vision, the botanist has found a half billion kinds of plants of all sizes. He sees many, but many more so small that they escape the most powerful microscope lens.

Professor Wylie finds the job of the botanist harder than that of scientists who deal with animal life, as we have an instinctive knowledge of animals while we know but little about plants.

In the course of the lecture the speaker showed by means of lantern slides the course of plant life from the simplest one-celled plants through the non-green fungi, algae, mosses, ferns, sequoias, conifers, and seed bearing plants.

Crossing of Plants

As an example of present plant evolution, he explained the crossing of two species of wheat resulting in a grain favorable to the Canadian climate, called the Marcus wheat. This bit of plant evolution took only thirty years, and was accomplished by the segregation of certain characters.

The result of plant evolution has been to make the small herbaceous plants win out over the larger varieties, as the walnut trees giving way to the clovers.

While change in the past has been governed by nature, man is the one that is making the changes today. He will make the plants he wants not interfere with by the course of nature, and it remains for the future to discover whether or not this course shall be the best.

Iowa Corn in Chicago

CHICAGO, Feb. 19 (AP)—A large percentage of the corn arriving in Chicago is from Iowa and shows a wide range of quality, mostly low grade with a high content of moisture. As it has 23 to 25 or more percentage of moisture it must be sold to the best bidders and ranged down to 45 cents.

Recess Appointment Gets Blow in Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Efforts of President Coolidge to have the senate confirm his recess appointment of Thomas F. Woodlock of New York, as a member of the Interstate Commerce commission received another and unexpected setback today with the voting of an unfavorable report by the senate interstate commerce committee.

The division was 7 to 6, whereas an unofficial poll some time ago had shown a margin of one for a favorable report. The nomination now goes back to the senate which failed to act upon it when it was first presented at the last session of congress.

Maniac Rifleman Shoots One More

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 19 (AP)—Ross W. Johnston, railroad detective, was shot four times by a man with a 22 calibre rifle in the railroad yards in Southeast Council Bluffs late tonight. He probably will die, physicians said. Police of the two cities were working on the theory that the shooter was the so-called "maniac rifleman" who has terrorized Omaha five days.

Johnston was shot four times from behind a pile of ties a few feet from him. He said he heard no report but heard the mechanism of the weapon. Omaha police have declared the rifleman here used a silencer. He was shot in the back, the left shoulder, right elbow and right hand. He whipped out his own weapon and fired twice as his assailant ran into the darkness, but believed he did not wound the man.

Doctors picked a .22 calibre pellet from Johnston's hand at the hospital to which he was taken and immediately operated to save his life. The bullet which struck his back, however, was feared fatal.

Chief Patrick Assails Air Service Critics in Statement of Conditions

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—The army air service "is not nearly so bad off as some of its critics and some who claim to be its friends would lead one to believe," its chief, Major General Mason M. Patrick, told the executives' club today.

"Amid the storm and stress," said General Patrick, "we have gone ahead as quietly as possible, standardizing aircraft and are getting somewhere."

"If our critics and friends will kindly take a seat somewhere and wait while we convalesce they will find we were not nearly so ill as they've thought."

"There has been some rather sharp differences of opinion about our aerial defenses. The basic reason for these differences flows from the conception that different men have of the importance of an air force during time of war. The decision rests with congress, which will probably take its stand somewhere between the extremes of the enthusiasts and those who call themselves conservative."

Agreement Lists $381,000,000 Tax Cut in 1926

Both House, Senate Representatives Compromise

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Tax reduction amounting to $381,000,000 this year and $343,000,000 thereafter was agreed upon today by senate and house conferees on the revenue bill.

This compromise, which must be ratified by both branches of congress before the bill becomes law, represents an increase of about $50,000,000 over the total written into the increase by the house, but is $75,000,000 less than described as acceptable to the administration as within the limits the treasury can afford.

House conferees forced the restoration bill, with some modifications of taxes on inheritances, automobile passenger cars, admissions and dues, which the senate had voted to repeal. Senate conferees, on the other hand, obtained greater reduction in some of the surtax rates than were voted by the house.

Effective March 15

The compromise measure will be placed before the house for ratification Monday or Tuesday. If approved it will be taken to the senate the following day and upon its approval there, it will be sent to the white house for the signature of President Coolidge, which is expected to make it law in ample time for it to become effective before first income tax installments are due, March 15.

While considerable dissatisfaction was apparent on both sides as a result of the inheritance tax compromise which involves allowance of a retroactive cut in this tax, leaders expected immediate ratification of the bill by the two chambers.

The conference agreement on the points in dispute follows:

Restoration of the modified inheritance tax rates

Restoration of the modified inheritance tax rates voted by the house, including the provision allowing 80 per cent credit on account of state inheritance tax payments.

Retroactive cut in the inheritance tax

Whereby the increased rates in favor of the lower rates in the voted in 1924 would be eliminated 1921 act.

Allowances of the increased reductions in the surtax rates

Apply on incomes between $25,000 and $100,000, as voted by the senate. This involves a saving of $23,000,000 annually to taxpayers in this class.

Repeal of the capital stock tax

As voted in the senate. Increase of the corporation tax, now 1-2 per cent, to 1-3 per cent for this year and 1-2 per cent thereafter.

Restoration of the ten per cent tax on admissions and dues

But with an increase in the exemptions to apply on tickets costing 75 cents and less, rather than 50 cents and less, as voted by the public.

Restoration of the automobile passenger car tax

With the rate reduced from five to three per cent.

Retroactive reduction in the gift tax

To make the lower rates in effect on inheritances in the 1921 law effective. This tax, as far as the future is concerned, is repealed by the bill.

Increase of from $50,000 to $100,000 on the exemption from the inheritance tax.

"Maniac Rifleman" Shoots One More

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 19 (AP)—Ross W. Johnston, railroad detective, was shot four times by a man with a 22 calibre rifle in the railroad yards in Southeast Council Bluffs late tonight. ## Outside, Please

THOUSANDS of otherwise sane individuals grope in dim incapacity to realize that anything of importance to the general public concerns themselves. They are one reason for Chicago's continued orgy of crime, for dark and ex-dark street lamps in Iowa City, and for the ungoverned mob that disgorges from the armory after each basketball game like frenzied steers stampeding from a corral.

Deluging down the narrow-planked bleachers with a recklessness that Barnum and Bailey could never have afforded to permit in the circus tent, the crowd pours toward the east door like cascading liquid in an inadequate funnel. In little more than fifteen minutes an audience of more than 5,000 persons streams from the building, principally by one exit, an inconceivable orifice between fifteen and twenty feet wide. During the two or three minutes while each person is part of the densest mass of two or three hundred bodies, the pressure is intense—and dangerous. Ejected at last from the point where the doorway releases him from the crush, he is forced at actual running speed down an inadequately lighted wooden walk with steps at irregular intervals.

This barbaric and uncouth epilogue has come to be staged at the close of each basketball game by a supernumerary mob of student barnstormers forcibly accompanied by a meager cast of faculty members and townspersons. It is presaged and intensified by the throng which invariably violates the ingeniously worded but impeccably spiritless request of the athletic department, carried on each program:

"Sportsmanship . . . is shown by everyone keeping their seats and staying for the final gun. Don't be a quitter and leave."

The whole after-game performance—deeply grooved in local minds as unavoidable, perhaps, because it has been so often repeated—is unsafe, unpardonable as the wilful conduct of intelligent and theoretically educated persons, and as unnecessary as it were for a University Theatre audience to rush the exits after the final curtain, trampling downstairs whatever hapless minority there should be physically unable to battle for safety in the surging tide.

Why all the hurry—where's the fire?

Applesauce for the Gander

C action barring the Countess of Cathcart from the United States because of confessed adultery, the French press waxed sarcastic. "What would happen in the United States," asks Clement Vautel, playwright and author, "if the French authorities deported all divorcees and divorce seekers disembarking from every steamer and expelled the well known actresses, movie stars and 'society women' who come to Paris to raise Cain all night long in Montmartre and the Latin quarter. Let us expel all these," he continues, "and while awaiting boats look them up in St. Nazaire prison."

Clement Vautel evidently thinks that such action would bring great hardship on our country. Yet in reality it might be one of the best things which could happen, and would be an act for which we should be grateful to France. In his account, however, M. Vautel hastens to add that he is only "kidding," which was wise, for most of the economical French realize all too well how much American money is spent in their country by these same divorcees.

If there were fewer Renos, Montmartres, and Latin quarters to which our divorcees could flee; if the French would "push their virtue further," it might be easier to correct some of the social evils of the day.

The Charlestoners Forsake Nature
THE present generation is too deeply interested in how to remove cigaret stains, cure chapped knees, and do the Charleston, to get close to the great outdoors and natural life and appreciate the creator," is the sad lament of D. D. Conger, of Ida Grove, former secretary of the Isaak Walton League, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

If Mr. Conger's contention is true that we are a frivolous lot of fun loving individuals, who seldom take life seriously, then America is doomed. Will the towering giants of physical proress seen on the athletic fields of our great American institutions of learning pass forever from us and future generations become a puny and listless group of spineless individuals along side of our own generation? We think not.

We admit that the girls "roll their own," do the Charleston, and a few foolish, bobbed-haired youngsters blow rings of cigaret smoke just to be clever—but we deny the allegation that American youth has forgotten nature.

It is true that the average American prefers flivvering to a long hike over the rugged paths of nature in quest of adventure and the discovery of natural wonders, yet it is only fair to reflect that we are in no immediate danger of physical degeneracy so long as our great American institutions of learning require two years of physical training for young women and an equal period of compulsory military and physical training for young men.

Athletic coaches and physicians as yet are unruffled over existing conditions, so why should we become unduly concerned? There seems to be no alarming lack of interest in the major outdoor sports of baseball and football and in the minor sports of golf, tennis, swimming, canoeing, track, and skating.

If American youth chooses to engage in other outdoor sports, abandoning long wearisome hikes, need we worry about the vitality of future generations? Our grandfathers and grandmothers took their recreation in their own way, which was probably different than that of their forefathers, and there is no good reason why present youth cannot do likewise.

The Governmental Beehive

A CERTAIN well-meaning and far-sighted welfare worker, seeking some governmental aid for the betterment of working conditions of federal employees, was somewhat shocked and no doubt disgruntled by the rabid outburst his suggestion evoked from Representative Davey, democrat, from Ohio.

The petulant gentleman from Ohio issued a sweeping statement in which he condemned the civilian employees of the government for "including the greatest bunch of loafers, time-killers and buck-passers, I have ever seen under one banner." He further suggests the cutting off of "100,000 drones, who eat the taxes."

He points out that the office worker puts in only about seven hours actual working time each day and has thirty days vacation and thirty days sick leave, besides numerous other afternoons off.

Perhaps there is a great deal in what the Buckeye representative has to say. But there must be something said on the other side. No one yet has retired on the savings gleaned from years of work for the federal government, unless he stayed so long that his days of usefulness were over. Then the civil service would give him a pension, which is taken from the individual's salary every year.

Government work, particularly in the offices, demands a higher degree of intelligence than that of the average manual laborer. While in the employ of the government it is almost necessary for one to keep out of any other vocation, particularly if this business might attract the annoyed attention of the politicians, and even then the fate of the worker is constantly in their hands.

When the Ohio representative talks of cutting off all government employees who fail to earn their pay, he is hitting close to home. If there is any working man in the world who does less than the average representative or senator for the salary he gets, it must be John D. Rockefeller or Red Grange. Mr. Davey should remember that crude and antiquated warning to persons in glass houses, not to throw stones.

Tune of Auld Lang Syne

THE average undergraduate sees too much of: The reserve library; The zoology laboratory; The inside of the American government text;

Red ink criticisms of theme readers; Sombre faced professorial mines of knowledge; Clinton street; Syllabi; Card catalogs; Eight o'clock classes; Contour maps; Psychology notes; Examination schedules; Literary society halls; Registration lines. . .

The average old grad would give happily of his priceless-an-hour business or professional time for a chance to improve the casual acquaintances he made with these collegiate accessories in the old days when he got his liberal education.

Mussolini has put down the blackhanders in Italy. Now Chicago is going to send him a shipload of Sicilians to play with for a while.

Fred G. Beale, who robbed a grave in order to cremate "himself" in an automobile fire, and collect insurance, is arrested. "Life Hereafter" is also policed, it seems.

Dear Countess Cathcart: I beg you not to think I am a snob. It is not that I seek to eschew your company, but only that my own children are too much like yourself. Frankly yours, Madame U. S. A.

Extreme ignorance and extreme wisdom are similar deformities. They prevent a normal focus of the vision.

The Y. M. C. A. elected a president last night.

The dear paper reported that "Charles Baker has taken part in the Y. M. C. A. work since entering the university. MOST of his time has been spent in sick and hospital visitation work."

IS there something unhealthy about Y membership?

AFTER calling his sweetheart the breath of his life, the Beta held his breath!

If I were a man

PROOF of the ability of a state university to promote applause, as demonstrated by the Sunday Register's advertising.

"From the four corners of the state beauties flock to colleges and universities.

"In the photograph section of next Sunday's Register will appear pictures of SEVEN CHARMING University of Iowa co-eds."

NOW for several years we have questioned the existence of "seven" beauties on the campus, and here the blamed Register comes along and boldly says that we are wrong.

WE offer a reward of a cigaret to the lucky man who guesses who the author of this bit of verse is, if someone doesn't beat the winner to the office.

THE TRAFFIC COP OFF DUTY
The traffic cop, he bawled them out—
The rich, the great, the low—
At once they'd all be loudly shouting
And tell them where to go.
He merely had to wave his hand
Both men and women to command.

All day beneath his awful eye
The populace was swayed,
Men stammered out their reasons why
Some left-hand turn they'd made,
And every living soul was meek
And scarcely dared to him to speak.

But when the shades of evening fell
And the moon had loudly shouted
The little wife he loved so well
Feared neither "go" nor "stop."
"You're twenty minutes late," said she,
"I couldn't help it, dear," said he.

And then she told him what was what
As does your wife and mine,
But did he answer? He did not.
He sat him down to dine,
He'd given her upon his knife
And meekly listened to his wife.

THE GREAT OPEN SPACES
After a somewhat harrowing trip to Denver, Nan slipped away from the Pullman and searched for a hotel.

Being discreet she got into a taxi right after leaving the union depot knowing that little girls are sometimes in danger if they spend time loitering about a strange city.

The taxi travelled for several hours, when, with uncanny foresight, Nan suspected foul play and demanded that the driver stop.

"Heh, heh," was his reply, as he gave the machine another pint of gas.

Nan attempted to wrench the door from its hinges but to no avail, so she composed herself, resting for the time.

Soon the car drew up before a deserted cabin on the outskirts of the city. Signs here and there announced the opening of a new subdivision.

The door to the car opened and before Nan could say "Skat" someone had seized her by her shoulders and blindfolded her so she could see nothing whatever.

She was picked up in the arms of a tall man and carried, kicking and protesting all the time, into the house, where she was unceremoniously dumped on the floor in a room and left.

Presently she heard someone rapping softly at door.

OTHER CAMPUS YARNS

Hell-Week at Des Moines
It's Hell-week in Des Moines and neighborhood housecats are disappearing into cellars of fraternity houses in the scratched and bleeding arms of pledges who have spent the night in search of Tabby.

All the Drake frats have the idea and when the supply of cats "in the rough" runs low, they steal those of other fraternities. Pussies in the capital are leading a hectic, nay, a hellish life. Maltese and black cats are mostly to be desired—they're so hard to see at night, say the actives, and make the pledges carry their spurs, as well as their scratches.

Dollar a Day Dope
Some statistical mind at Des Moines University has estimated that it costs the student there only $1 a day to live, or a total of $300 for the year. The University of California comes across with an estimate that $561 is the minimum expense.

Coe Politics Run Aground
Senior class politics at Coe failed even to get the necessary nominations for class president, although the other classes have elected their officers with no difficulty.

Only one nominee for senior class president succeeded in getting his petition signed by twenty-five class members in time for election this week. Consequently the senior election has been postponed until Thursday of next week. Let us hope.

The Romance of The Atom
Dr. Karl T. Compton of Princeton has succeeded in separating an atom into its two parts—an electron and proton, by the use of electricity. He applied an external electron charge which gives the electron or outer portion an added impetus in its revolution about the center proton and causes it to revolve in an ever increasing larger orbit till it flies off. And behold that which is the proton is left.

This confirms the theory that each hydrogen atom is like an inconceivably small solar system with the positive charge revolving around it.

Experiment will make clearer the conditions of internal activity in substances when they undergo a chemical change.

Yale, Harvard at It Again
Not only do Yale and Harvard fight athletically—but pressily. Yale is trying to abolish the compulsory chapel attendance rule, and the Harvard Crimson recently aided the cause by sending an editorial to the Yale News.

The News accepted the editorial and then told Harvard they hadn't chosen the proper method to help Yale politely thanks Harvard for their well meaning but mis-directed efforts and editorial battles continue.

At Agnes Scott College
On Monday, Feb. 22nd, Agnes Scott College, located at Decatur, Ga., is going to have a Founders' Day program in which all former Agnes Scott students from Maine to California will join. The college glee club will broadcast that night at 8 o'clock. Atlanta time, from the Atlanta Journal's radio station, WSB.

J. W. Taylor, father of the dead man, who was responsible for the exhumation of his son's body yesterday, declared he expected to "see the thing through," adding that the "autopsy demonstrated to his mind that his son was beaten to death. He was in conference with authorities today.

After conferring with Sheriff Henry Cobb and coroner W. F. Rick, county attorney W. H. Shaw announced that the attorney general would be asked to make a complete investigation.

An examination made by a physician and a coroner's jury revealed numerous external marks on Taylor's body and legs.

Letter to the Editor

To the editor:
The editorial "A Family of Honor" was admirable. A similar course was pursued by Mark Twain and Levi P. Morton, afterwards governor of New York state and vice president of the United States, who gave a dinner to his creditors, each of whom found under his plate a check for his claim.

Fields Open for Home Economists

G. Carlson Names Opportunities in Business

Opportunities for women with training in home economics in the business world were emphasized by Gudrun Carlson, educational director of the American meat packers association, in a lecture to students of the home economics department yesterday afternoon.
"Although the business field in the home economics line is comparatively new," she said, "there are many openings in large concerns for experienced dietitians, research workers, lecturers and demonstrators."
"Women's magazine's have regular departments for experienced writers and authorities on home problems, and packing companies hire women for demonstrating and advertising their products."
Miss Carlson gave an interesting demonstration on cutting of meats Thursday afternoon in the home economics auditorium. She is now on a lecture tour through the middle western universities.

Oh, What a Gal is Mary! She Sees All, Knows All and Tells Nothing

By HAZEL WARREN
And along came Mary! You know Mary, the little brunette who has been the chief attraction at Reich's for the last three years. If you don't know her, without a doubt she knows you. And beware! She may know more about you than you know about yourself.
Fred, to Mary, might be the leader of Sousa's band, a tachi-strope, a new long range machine gun, but, nevertheless, Mary's observational powers have given her a keen insight into human psychology. "I usually can tell just about the kind a person they are by the people they come in with. And one look at them tells me what they are going to order. They usually order the same thing in the same way every time."
Get the Low-Down from Mary
The crowd who feels that her "hero" isn't being true to her but is unable to find out for sure with whom he is "stepping out" would do well to go to Mary. If anybody "two times" she knows it. Her psychic powers enable her not only to delve into the dark pasts of these "collich" boys but she can also foretell with remarkable accuracy what the future holds for them. Whether it is money, fame, or position she does not say. She may even know with whom the prominent athlete will dance at the Pica ball. Mary doesn't call this ability. "Anybody could tell if they could only see how they flirt in here some times," she says.
The members of the male sex are not the only ones who have reason to fear Mary's seeing eyes. If she desired, what interesting tales she could tell of the afternoon tete-a-tete staged in the roomy back booths. Between the hours of four and six there is always a rush for the rear of the building. But there is a limit to all things. Only a certain number can be accommodated. The others disappointedly walk out to find room elsewhere.
Afternoon tea in tete-a-tete is not the only attraction. Any hour in the afternoon little wreaths of smoke may be seen slowly rising over the tops of the booths. An eavesdropper might hear high pitched voices discussing the adorable

R. O. T. C. Notes

1172 men have registered this semester for military training. The correct number has not been ascertained as the medical unit has not submitted the report of its strength. As in former years the total number is slightly less than the one of the first semester, when 1230 undergraduates were enrolled in the military department. Classifying the totals according to the different units the infantry leads the list with 855, the engineers are next with 239. The dental unit numbers eighty-one and the medical unit which last year was 107, has not made its attendance report as yet.
In accordance with the classification of the men, the totals run 888 in the basic units, and 283 in the advanced groups.
The entire basic units, consisting

Morris, Moody, Captain Richter, and S. Hill grabbed the 160 yard relay, the start of the dual clash by fully three-fourths of a length of the tank from the Iowan quartet composed of Lambert, Killebrew, Pattison, and Krohn. The Norsemen took the lead from the sound of the gun and continually gained ground until the finish.
Carter had little trouble in annexing his five points in the 200 yard breast stroke against Purdy and Rush who swam for the Minnesota school and finished in the order named. A new mark of 2:46 in the swim is credited to Carter who also held the old university record time of 2:47.6 seconds.
Captain Johnny McClintock entered the 40-yard swim handicapped by a recent attack of sinus trouble but he nevertheless pushed Sam Hill every inch of the distance. The Minnesota tankman tore through two lengths of the Iowa pool in 18.6 seconds, probably the fastest time ever recorded in the university pool since the exhibition race here two years ago when Welsmuller was timed in 18 seconds flat.
Slambang Standish Lambert finished first in a close quarter mile swim ahead of Bjornberg, the Gopher bet in the longest, Morris (M) finished second with an average of 82. Barnacle, the second Minnesota entry in the spring board competition did not finish on the bottom as his name would lead one to believe but he was given third honors with a final score of 67.15 per cent. Britton took fourth place.
The summary:
100-yard relay: won by Minnesota (Morris, Moody, Richter, and S. Hill) Time 1:16 2-10. Iowans, but does not set in the longest conference record of 1:18 4-10.
100-yard breast stroke: Carter (I) first; Purdy (M) second; Rush (M) third. Time 2:46. New University record.
40-yard dash: S. Hill (M) first; McClintock (I) second; Morris (M) third. Time 18-10.
40-yard swim: Lambert (I) first; Bjornberg (M) second; Lucke (M) third. Time 1:52 2-10.
100-yard dash: Moody (M) first; McClintock (I) second; Bennett (M) third. Time 1:55 2-10.
Fancy diving: Lutz (I) 82.5 first; Caret (M) 82, second; Barnacle (M) 67, third.
Medley relay: won by Minnesota (J. Hill, Purdy, S. Hill) Time 3:17 8-10. Lowers the American collegiate record for the event.

President Cites Austria
It was pointed out at the white house today that, until the Mussolini government became established in Italy, no disposition had been shown to fund the American debt. The question, he said before the American commission by the Italian representative was considered, as the president sees it, by a bipartisan commission of experts who had original courses of information on Italy's capacity to pay.
It was also recalled that a twenty year moratorium was extended to Austria, although that nation was not allied with the United States in the world war, and it is the president's conviction that congress should be willing to extend leniency toward Italy, which was a comrade in arms.
Even if the senate should reject the agreement, Mr. Coolidge is confident that a large vote will be mustered for ratification, indicating to Italy, in view of approval given by the house, by the debt commission and by present sentiment in the United States is favorable to the pact.

WATERLOO, Iowa, Feb. 19 (AP)—Paul Talley, 18, bell boy in a hotel here, and a cousin of Marion Talley, the 19-year-old prima donna, is also making a bid for fame. He has been taking violin lessons for nine years and according to his music teachers has also developed a very good voice. Since his father died a year ago, young Talley has been taking care of his mother and invalid sister through his work at the hotel, and has managed to continue his music work also. He has had several singing and playing engagements in this part of the state and has been well received.
The Talley's came here from Kansas City.

Pre-Historic People Dined on Diet of Beans and Corn

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 19 (AP)—The modern scientific dietitian would have had a great opportunity to practice his vocation among the mound builders of prehistoric times. Beans and corn were the only things about which they knew much.
Habits of the pre-historic peoples are described at length in a new history compiled by Harold L. Madison, curator of education of the Cleveland Museum of natural history. Mr. Madison said there is little doubt but that the mound builders were a race of American Indians.

Welfare Station Gains Associates

Lora Hadley and Ella Day to Take Positions

Two appointments have been made at the child welfare station which bring to the university Ella J. Day as research associate at the station and head of the home management in the new pre-school home laboratory; and Lora Hadley as field organizer in the investigation of the rural child in Iowa.

Miss Hadley has been for the past three years state director of child welfare in New Mexico. She organized the psychological health clinic in Des Moines in cooperation with Dr. Rhuel H. Sylvester. As field organizer in the investigation of the rural child, she will carry on the work which the station has been conducting the past three years in Sumner and Cedar counties. She takes the place of Ruth Haefner who has been granted a leave of absence to become field visitor for the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial in New York City.

Pre-School Laboratory Miss Hadley received her M. A. degree from the University of Pennsylvania and was later a graduate student here at the Iowa station. Miss Day is a graduate of Cornell university. She has pursued work for a year at the Merrill Palmer school and at the University of Michigan.

The pre-school home laboratory, of which Miss Day will be in charge, consists of a remodeled eighteen-room building on East Market street where fifteen children from two to three years attend daily from nine in the morning until four in the afternoon. The diet of each child is under the direction of Prof. Amy E. Daniels. Two senior students from the department of home economics assist in the preparation and serving of the noon-day lunch.

The department of education at Smith college offers six fellowships of $700 each and three scholarships covering tuition for college graduates to those who wish to do specialized work in the field of education.

Three scholarships are given for graduate study in the general field of education. Appointments to these fellowships and scholarships will be based on academic records, personality of the applicant, adaptability for the work and professional experience along educational lines.

New Quarters Foretold Coming Success of Pharmacy College

The college of pharmacy at the University of Iowa will rank among the best two or three schools of its kind in the United States when it moves into new quarters on September 1, is the belief of Dean Wilber J. Teeters. The new structure is being added to the north of the new chemistry building on Capitol street. It will contain the best equipment that can be obtained.

The old chemistry hall which is now occupied by the college of pharmacy will be remodeled into a reserve library and study halls. Desks and lockers will be available for students who wish to study there rather than in their rooms.

Westward Ho! The growth of the college has been rapid during the past few years. Last fall the length of the course was increased from two to three years. Next fall the college will occupy the ground floor and basement of the building now under construction while the second floor will be used by the biology departments. This move is another evidence of the westward movement of the campus which is marked by the field house, hospitals, and Memorial union.

Maintain Dispensaries

One phase of the work required of the college of pharmacy is the handling of all drugs used in the hospitals and in the student health clinic. Preparations made by the senior students are used in this manner. Two dispensaries are operated by the college. Joseph Prifer directing the one at the children's hospital, and Mable Newquist managing the one at the university hospital.

The college also maintains a drug service station which has been in existence since 1905. In the last six months this department has filled 5,584 prescriptions exclusive of the orders placed by the hospitals and student health. Thirty thousand items are kept on hand at all times.

Peoria Central high of Illinois, the other out of state entry in the meet, will be unable to compete Monday because of temporary suspension by the state athletic association of Illinois.

While the meet is an invitation affair sponsored by the University of Iowa it is sanctioned by the state interscholastic association and the Shattuck team is complying with all the state eligibility rules in its entries. The cadets are also competing under the sanction of the Minnesota state high school athletic association.

Entries Close Monday

POSITION WANTED
Student wants full time employment either day or night on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Phone 621.

The Irish were in hot water most of the time and had the gasping spectators pleading with them to "Stop him!" The "him" was Captain Yeager, rangy center for the red-sweated aggregation. He was a capable individual, when it came to heaving in the counters and five times in the first half he turned the trick. But St. Pat's heeded the call of the spectators in the last half and held the troublesome Davenport to a single free throw.

That free throw was a memorable event, however. It came when the score was tied at 22 all and but a minute left to play. St. Patrick's lost the game at that point, but before another thirty seconds had elapsed, Kelleher, Irish center, twirled for a pretty ringer and put his mates in the lead. Not satisfied with his single performance, he repeated a few seconds later and dropped in the sphere as the gun went off. That was when St. Pat's won, and it was their twelfth consecutive triumph for the season.

Yeager went on a scoring rampage at the beginning of the next quarter and with the aid of Powers he piled up a 17 to 7 lead over the Irish. Baskets by Pugh and Glasgow and a free throw by Kelly cut the lead to five points at half time.

Things began to happen when the teams swung into the final stanza. Two baskets by Ruhl and a free toss by Casserly gave the Juniors 22 points. Kelleher got a basket and the Irish likewise had 22. A foul on Yeager gave the lanky center a chance to put his team in the lead and he took advantage of it. But the Irish refused to be downed and Kelleher did the rest.

Yeager was high point man with five baskets and two free throws. He secured eleven points in the first half, but was unable to get a chance to shoot in the second.

For St. Patrick's Glasgow was high point man with four baskets. The Summary
St. Patrick's (23) St. Ambrose (23)

Glasgow L F Casserly
Kelleher C Yeager (4)
Kelly (c) R G Powers

Free throws—Kelly 2, Ruhl 2, Casserly 1, Yeager 2.
Personal fouls—Pugh 2, Kelleher 3, Kelly 1, Grady 1, Casserly 2, Yeager 2, Williams of Wisconsin.

It was at this juncture of the game that "Two-gun" Burger began to live things up a bit. He and McGuire stood by the basket and hooped the ball through the net for two field goals apiece. On top of this Burger counted four times on free throws, which made him high point man for Iowa City with eight points.

At the end of the game the score board read a tie at 19 all, so referee prepared to play an overtime period but in a check up with the official scorer it was found that Iowa City lacked one point of tying the score.

For Iowa City, McGuire, center, and Burger, forward, played a good brand of basket ball and had the most luck in finding the hoop. King, forward, and Auten, guard, displayed the best basket ball of the evening for the Little Pioneers. Auten's guarding was the feature in holding off the Red and White offense until he was removed from the
