Cock Robin's Murderer Another Alien Who Some Feel Should Be Deported

English sparrows are the Mormons of the bird world. Like those courageous settlers of the Salt Lake district, they are not contented with one family of offspring but have five or six different broods each season. However they limit themselves to one mate and in that respect their resemblance to Mormons does not hold.

When agitated housekeepers complain about the numerous sparrows in the garage or when the head of the family attacks a sparrow's nest with the rake, it is seldom realized that we actually invited these little invaders into our country. In 1850 eight pairs of English sparrows were imported into the United States but they died out. Even then it was not too late to drop the experiment but Americans never rested until they made a second importation in 1852 which proved only too successful.

When there were practically no game laws to protect our native birds there was a statute which forbade anyone to shoot an English sparrow. In Philadelphia citizens even undertook a campaign to exterminate the butcher birds because they ate sparrows.

Not to be outdone by the east, Iowa City conformed to the new bird craze and introduced English sparrows into its sacred precincts in 1851. The German jeweler who sent for them and brought them in here might have saved his trouble, since they were spreading so rapidly that we actually invited these little invaders into our country. In 1850 eight pairs of English sparrows were imported into the United States but they died out. Even then it was not too late to drop the experiment but Americans never rested until they made a second importation in 1852 which proved only too successful.

Committee Heads of Y. W. C. A. Give Reports for Year

The heads of the various departments of the Y. W. C. A. gave reports of the work accomplished during the past year at the regular Wednesday afternoon meeting. This was the last meeting before the election of new officers for the coming year.

The head of the Finance Department, Lulu Klense, A3 of Davenport, vice-president Eleanor Thomas, A2 of Fort Dodge, head of the Membership committee, Mildred Eck, A3 of Des Moines, chairman of Social Committee, and Frances Rose, A4 of Iowa City, gave detailed reports of the work done by their respective departments.

The most outstanding feature of the year's work was the inauguration of the optional system of membership whereby the applicant must fill out a questionnaire before becoming affiliated. From this questionnaire the purpose of the local association has been derived. This will be submitted to the National convention this spring. Each association has been asked to make out a basis on which they would like to work. Pamela Dilaney, A3 of Cleveland, president of the association, presided over the meeting.

The election of officers will take place next Wednesday at 4:15 in the liberal arts building. Registration for voting must be done on Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday of next week in the Y. W. C. A. office.

Find Charred Body in Passage to Still

ATHENS, Ohio, Feb. 24 (AP)—In a cave reached by a 50 foot passage way, fourteen inches high, prohibition officers Monday found the charred body of Frank Lenigar, 26, and the unconscious form of his brother, Amos, 23.

People living in the vicinity had reported there "was something queer" in the cave. The dead man apparently had been overcome by fumes from a gasoline stove used to operate a still, then burned in an explosion of the stove.

The cave was elaborately fitted up for making liquor. Six barrels of mash were found. Everything bulky, the officers said, must have been knocked down, carried into the chamber and assembled there.

An admirer has made the following statement of Mr. Alexander's work on the state Capitol of Nebraska, one of the most beautiful buildings in the west, still in the process of construction: "He has as much and perhaps more to do with making the Capitol the beautiful building that it is, than any other one man."

Kansas Debaters Arrive for Clash

Women Join Forces in Verbal War Over Athletics

"Resolved that intercollegiate athletics should be abolished," will be the subject of the debate between the University of Iowa and University of Kansas debaters in the natural science auditorium at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Josephine Wortman, A3 of Iowa City, supported by a Kansas woman will defend intercollegiate athletics and Henry N. Neuman, A2 of Davenport, allied with a Kansas man will endeavor to undermine their argument by condemning them. A debate concerning the same question will be broadcast from Lawrence, Kansas, over the radio at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

The debate this afternoon is the first of a group of three contests for Iowa debaters this week.

A trio of Irene K. Bowman, A4 of Iowa City; Mary K. Fagan, A2 of Casey, and Adria Pease, A2 of Blairburg, will journey to Galesburg, Ill., the latter part of the week and take the affirmative side of the question. "Resolved, That the rights of foreigners to extra territory in China should cease," in a luncheon debate before a Galesburg women's club on Saturday afternoon.

The negative team composed of Dorothy J. Anderson, A2 of Iowa City, Esther Fuller, A2 of Mount Ayr, and Ruth Tamisa, A3 of Missouri Valley, will bring the negative side of the question before another Galesburg women's club on Thursday evening.

Scientists Schedule Baconian Club Work

Nutting to Lecture on Lowest Forms of Animal Life

"Some Remarkable Structures in the Coelenterata" will be the subject of an informal talk by Prof. C. C. Nutting, head of the zoology department, before members of the Baconian club tonight in room 107 of the natural science building.

These animals are the lowest of the many celled forms, but include some of the most complicated cells, structurally and mechanically, according to Professor Nutting. This subject has claimed his major attention for the last thirty-five years, and he will illustrate his talks with sketches.

Rule Out Formal Talks

At the suggestion of Professor Nutting, the Baconian club is beginning a new experiment next meeting. Some members believe that the custom of formal lecturing has been causing a decrease in the attendance of the meetings; therefore the club is going back to its old method which invites free discussion and informal voluntary reports from various departments.

Prominent Presidents

Practically all the prominent scientists on the Iowa campus have at one time been president of the club, and the speakers in the recent series of lectures on evolution are former presidents.

Raiford Discusses Nitrogen on WSUI

Chemistry Professor Names Properties in Radio Talk

"Nitrogen is a constituent of some of the most delightful perfumes and also of many compounds with an utterly disgusting odor," said Prof. L. Charles Raiford, of the chemistry department, over WSUI yesterday.

Has Many Uses

Nitrogen is an essential constituent of the most potent of medicines, and also of the most deadly of poisons. As cyanide it extracts our gold, and as gun powder it drives our bullets, while as nitro-cellulose it furnishes moving picture films and many other articles.

War Needs Large Amount

The experience of Germany during and since the war period furnishes a striking example of how the nitrogen requirements of a nation may be met when access to the natural sources of fixed nitrogen is cut off.

Produce Huge Tonnage

The approximate capacity for this industry is at present 400,000 tons, while the amount estimated for her requirements in 1923 was 295,000 tons. The difference is absorbed by her chemical industry, and the lesson is that these facts make a most remarkable demonstration of the connection between chemical science and natural existence, and the extent to which industry can make use of the facts and principles formulated by pure science.

Refuses Alimony in Divorce Suit

Iowa State Agent Hopes to Clear Up Sioux City Murders

Killer Started Career by Shooting Horse; Served 4 Years

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 24—Frank Carter, self confessed "sniper" who killed two and wounded two here and at Council Bluffs last week, today was identified as Louis Clark, parole breaker from the Fort Madison, Iowa penitentiary in 1920. With this identification Nebraska and Iowa authorities hope to clear up a long list of crime including the double murder in a Sioux City hardware store last August.

Was Hired Hand

According to Yackey, Clark was hired by Schoenman as a hired hand. They had a trivial quarrel after which Clark one night went to the pasture and killed a cow and horse. He was arrested and convicted at Orange City.

Revives Howard Shooting

He said Verne Schoenman shot and killed Howard and afterwards said he mistook Howard for Carter-Clark who, he said, threatened to "set me." Hi Yackey hopes to prove through Carter-Clark that no such threat was made and that there was no enmity between them.

U. S. Will Attract World's Chemists at Five Meetings

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (AP)—Chemists from all parts of the world will attend five great gatherings this year in America.

The first will be the Spring session of the American Chemical Society to be held on April 15, at Tulsa, Okla., at which the chemistry of oil and its by-products will be discussed. This will be followed by a symposium in which five noted foreign chemists and twenty-one leading American chemists will participate at Columbia University, July 6 to August 12.

In August, a world symposium on chemical warfare will be held at the 1926 conference of the Institute of Politics at Williamstown. Many American chemists contend that chemical warfare is more humane than warfare with shrapnel and bullets.

The Fiftieth Annual Convention of the American Chemical Society will be held in Philadelphia during the week of September 6. At this convention bio-chemists will tell how they are searching for the secrets of life in the activities of living cells.

In the week of September 13 the first meeting in this country of the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry will be held in Washington.

Former French Nobleman, Now Museum Director, Had Varied Life

DES MOINES, Iowa, Feb. 24 — For more than fifty years Prof. Joseph Steppan, director and chief taxidermist of the Iowa state museum, here, has quaffed his drinking water from a collapsible silver cup, presented to him by the late Crown Prince Rudolph of Austria in 1875, when Steppan accompanied the heir to the royal throne on a big game hunt in Africa.

Bagged 27 Tigers

The royal big game hunt in Africa lasted more than a year and a half. Trophies were obtained on all the larger wild animals of the "dark" continent, their heads were mounted and brought back to the royal hunting lodge of the Prince near Vienna. The expedition brought down twenty-seven tigers, and many elephants, rhinoceri, hippopotami, and zebras.

Fought Duel

Steppan is perhaps the only man in Iowa who ever engaged in a duel. While still in the Austrian army, a major, the husband of a pretty woman, many years his junior, challenged Steppan to an affair of honor, as a result of a misunderstanding in their domestic affairs. They met in the usual fashion. Steppan, as the challenged party should have been allowed the first shot, he says, but this privilege was given the major. He refused to fire in turn but threw away his weapon, angered by

An Anniversary and a Nativity

THIS morning's observance of founders' day is doubly significant. It marks not only a commemoration of the seventy-ninth anniversary of the founding of the University of Iowa—but it is the first ceremony of its kind to be planned in entire detail by members of the student body.

The period since the last university birthday has been one of unusual promise and noteworthy fruition. Concrete evidences of the intangible expansion of opportunity for students at Iowa abound—in the massive skeleton of the new hospital against the western sky; in the attractive and popular initial unit of the Memorial Union; in the amazingly many-roomed new chemistry building; in the remodeled and greatly enlarged Quadrangle; in the graceful and much-needed university hall; in the new library study rooms; in the new model university schools building; and in the plans for a field house, heating plant, reconstructed university hospital for use as a women's dormitory, and a campus beautiful by new walks and landscaping.

So often "bigger and better," the slogan whose spirit was so pointedly and ably assailed Tuesday evening by the winner of the Walter A. Jessup oratorical prize, means nothing more nor finer than mere quantitative increase in mass. Yet Iowa's faculty and instructional staff again and again has proven itself able to step into a sphere of increased facilities and added responsibility in a manner thoroughly indicative of almost unlimited personal initiative and capacity. The "student on one end of a log and Mark Hopkins on the other" type of learning, symbolizing the personal element of instruction, has less chance of survival in mean, crowded quarters fitted inadequately than in the modern, convenient classrooms and laboratories which are becoming the rule on the Iowa campus.

Coincident with Iowa's material growth, however, it will be fatal if there is not developed in her students a new and compelling urge toward intellectual integrity and attainment—an attitude of self-reliant endeavor uncommonly fostered fully enough in the home. Toward this second and more essential goal, student management of such functions as today's observance is an initial step not for a moment to be regarded as insignificant.

Perversity of Professionals

NOTHING in this so astonishing world is so astonishing as the topsyturvydom of professional men and women in applying their own craft to themselves. Consider a few of the perversities of professionals:

1. THE DOCTOR—"They are the worst patients we have," remarked an Iowa hospital superintendent. Doctors have a cultivated fear of the operating chamber and are often the most noisome cases on a surgical floor. They are restless individuals when in hospital, scold their physicians, and keep most of the nursing staff on edge.
2. THE ARTIST—It needs but a glance at the students going and coming from the Chicago Art Institute to discover that they are the farthest from well-dressed people. Take the art student here and the same is true. The dress of artists is either too eccentric or too polychrome for humdrum taste.
3. THE DENTIST—Ask your dentist how he likes to have a fellow D.D.S. work on his teeth and he will invariably tell you that "it nearly sets me crazy." The littlest urchin is more than likely a better patient in the chair than a dentist.
4. THE MOVIE HERO—The unctuous hero with shoe-polish on his hair, whose casual glance enslaves the extras, is more than likely an active member of the Association of Hen-pecked Husbands. The "constant lover" in celluloid usually is the most inconstant of husbands.
5. THE LAWYER—He is the greenest witness at a trial. The attorney who directs days of cross-examination is himself the veriest tyro when he is put on the stand.
6. THE RESTAURANT OWNER—Ever eat with one at a strange restaurant? He knows how this file was cooked or might have been spoiled; he knows that the lettuce is two days old; that the toast is buttered with culled butter; and so on. He can enjoy no other food except his own.

Thus the list could be made up indefinitely. Familiarity in each case has not only bred contempt, but distrust. The anesthetist shuns the dentist shies at the whirring burr; he is too schooled in causes and effects. So one finds the most confirmed misogynists among writers of love stories, and the sobriest of men among bartenders. In ignorance there is yet bliss.

Loyalty Crescendoes

A LITTLE over a year ago, when the Iowa glee club stepped out upon the stage of Orchestra Hall, Chicago, at the intercollegiate glee club contest, and sang "On Iowa" they were greeted with feeble, desultory applause from the scant dozen alumni who were on their feet in the audience. The Wisconsin club, on the other hand, received a tremendous ovation from the hundreds of Badgerites who packed the hall to back their university representatives.

The contrast in the display of the much-touted "school spirit" drew rather pointed comment at the time, from both the audience and members of the club.

This year the same thing occurred, with, however, a marked crescendo from the Iowa aggregation in the audience. Proportionately, the welcome given the two clubs was the same. And Wisconsin took first place—the second time.

The deductions which can be drawn from that sort of situation are obvious. While it is not true that the unstinted applause given the winning club in any way affected the decision, an ovation of that kind was a certain exhilarating influence on the singers themselves. It inspires them to their best efforts—gives them confidence in their ability to win the coveted "first money."

In the intercollegiate glee club contests held up to the present time the support given the Iowa club has been unworthy of the resident alumni group representing this university in Chicago. The entertainment given the club this year by Rush Butler has been the most optimistic sign of crescendoing loyalty of the alumni thus far. Subsequent contests will decide whether that spirit will wane or grow.

The Ghost Sniper

THE city of Omaha is at peace once more. The phantom marksman who roamed at night, has been caught. Formerly an Iowa farm hand, he was transformed into a most sensational and terrifying figure through an insane desire to kill, a Reising gun with a silencer, and an unerring eye.

For ten days he has had the river city in an uproar. The police force was doubled, but they worked in vain to catch the man. People stayed at home evenings and kept the shades drawn. Business fell off and the shows and churches were deserted. One man had an entire city covering before him.

These people, who had been accustomed to protection from lawbreakers of various other sorts all their life, were stricken with fear at this new and unreasoning menace. Man stands in abject awe before the weapon of the thief who will kill in the course of his operations. He cowers with fear before the bad man, who has vowed revenge for some real or fancied wrong. But he shrinks in hopeless and desperate horror before this phantom of the night, who wanders about shooting at will and killing people in cold-blooded glee.

The man's uncanny cunning kept him free from the clutches of the shrewd detectives of the city, but his downfall came when he ventured into the open. Away from the noise and roar of the town is the peaceful country. Nature seemed proud of this haven of quiet and is ready to protect it from any menace that may appear.

Sincerity is the language of purpose, expediency the language of ambition.

The great should always suffer defeat. Somebody has to, and they take it so much better.

An ambitious town and the soot nuisance is like the man for whom there was no room in the family car,—the blame cannot be shifted.

When a man reaches the pinnacle of fame, shall we not divide the honor with the woman who bore him and instilled in him a desire to rise to the heights?

Governor Hammill is acting on the safe side, no statements now, wait until after election. A very good policy. Then he won't have to overwork his forgetter, as some of our senatorial candidates will have to do.

Laff That Off!

The Gov.—"Son, you should be very proud of our family tree."
The Boy—"Well, I don't know, it's pretty shady."
—Burr.

Poems That Live

Pioneers

Pioneers, O Pioneers!
Bring the wagon, yoke the steers,
Cast behind all doubts and fears!
Forward, through the waiting years!
Pioneers, O Pioneers!

'Tis your toil shall break the road;
'Tis your backs shall bear the load;
'Tis your souls must feel the goad!

Where ye sow shall others reap;
Others laugh where ye must weep;
But your deathless souls shall keep
Vigil through the waiting years,
Pioneers, O Pioneers!

Snap! Crack!
Thud and thwack!
'Tis the chancy of the plains—
Never, never, turn we back!
O'er the trails that rise and dip,
To the whistling of the whip
And the clanking of the chains—
Snap! Crack!
Thud and thwack!

Sing the chanty of the plains—
Never, never, turn we back!

ROYAL NEIGHBOR MASK DANCE

(North Kossuth Record)
The local Royal Neighbors entertained the Modern Woodmen and their friends at a masquerade dance Wednesday. Several Women from out of town were present especially Titonka and Ledyard.

We learn that about ninety men's tickets were taken at the door. These shiekies won't stay away.

"And the Worst is yet to come," said the sausage-maker as he began his day's work.

EXTRAVAGANCE CHARGE FLUNG AT UNIVERSITY

—Daily Iowan.

2540—Attack Perennis—These are half-hardy perennial charges usually grown in legislative committees and can be grown to produce fruit the first year of office if sown early. Very perishable.

2541—Attack Biennis—Everlasting charges against the university (assorted) have become popular again; winter bouquets of your own growing make an attractive present for re-election.

2542—Surprise—Very popular with state senators in certain sections. Should be given much light and time to bloom. Old Gold color.

TO AN "EASTERN 'CO-ED' STAR"

When your sweetie turns you down
Some nice day,
Should you tell the world your troubles
Right away?
Should you hope and life's ambitions
Fade away?

My blonde sweet heart turned me down
Just today,
And with words that were so subtle
In a way,
That I stood wondering cownlike
WHAT to say

For a moment, When I found,
Sad to say,
It had been bad and virgin women
Like to play,
It provoked some meditation
If I may

Be permitted arrogation
To this day,
It recalled forgotten old flirtations
Back to stay
For awhile. (Yet apparently her manner
Was not gay).

So thought of places, near and far
Mandalay,
And of women,—Eloise and Eleanore,
But still was she to be forgotten
In a day?

—Dilly Willy.

THE GREAT OPEN SPACES

"My God," Nan heaved. "It is he. It is Theobald. He has found me out." Nan broke out in perspiration. How could she keep mum about this? All through the long journey in the Pullman, his red beard had haunted her.

She would awaken at night to feel its silken stubble grazing her cheek; once she thought she had it in her grasp. In the diner she would see its scarlet fibers trickling down, down, into his soup. Now he had knocked. She would have to sit and watch him again, and not reach out her hands to yank it. And in that brief case he would have all those letters she had written to the Delt at Ames.

In a panic, for she hadn't had time to dress yet, she thought of her aunt Susan, good old Susy, with her wooden leg, and goitre. Susan had always told her to beware of bearded men; Uncle Hartley, he had had a beard and he died of barber's itch.

Nan tried hard to think fast. It was strain. The doctor had cautioned her against overwork. A devastating idea bit her on the sofa. What should she do? What would aunt Susan have done? What would Emile Post do? If she had been a Gamma Phi it would have been different, but she was not. Nan clasped her P. O. P. pin . . . this bearded man . . . he had called without her inviting him. Should she or should she not let him in?

The knocking grew in volume. Soon the door would be down.

The all-university pin marathon now stands:

MOVIE OF A MAN AND THE ELUSIVE COLLAR BUTTON

Current Comment

COLLEGES EAST AND WEST

(The Harvard Crimson)
Stewart Briscoe's current articles in the Boston Herald comparing Harvard and the University of Michigan, contain pertinent contrasts by Dean Hugh Cabot '94 of the Ann Arbor institution, and Clarence C. Little '10, its newly chosen president.

Mr. Little finds the western undergraduate unassertive, Michigan students do not, as at Harvard or Yale, "pick up the colleges by the scruff of the neck." Rather do they "feel that it is something of a distinction to be in college at all." Yet it is the new president's opinion that, whereas at Harvard, the "authorities are satisfied for decades," there is at Michigan "the fearlessness to try new things and, if necessary, to discard them."

It seems paradoxical to say that where a student body is described as unassertive, it is that where the undergraduates are continually "picking up the college by the scruff of the neck" there is conservatism. However, Mr. Little speaks as an experimental educator. He has schemes on tap for "a two year term" to complete "primary" work, for a selective system "to grade entrants accurately, and for dealing properly with women's education." An administrative officer who wishes wide scope for experimentation must employ pliable materials.

Even so it seems odd to describe as out of touch with innovation or wedded to things as they are, one of the first American colleges to abolish compulsory chapel apply the tutorial system to American mass education, and to initiate the free cut system. Although President Little's descriptions of Michigan explain a state of affairs too little known in the east, his reference to Harvard hardly create a recognizable portrait for the present generation of undergraduates.

The balanced comparison seems to be that in the west, the newness of the college tradition makes the undergraduates less at home, and gives the authorities a sense of power to create and re-create at will; while at Harvard, the presence of deep roots, prevails upon the authorities to give the status quo the benefit of doubts. Upon Harvard students, the effect of her heritage is to breed a familiarity that makes criticism easy as well as a respect that limits the likely learn tricks of pedagogy and organization from such as the University of Michigan; but she exists as less of a scholastic laboratory than her western sisters and more of an educational institution.

KENTUCKY DEFEATS MOB

(The Chicago Tribune)
Kentucky used the protective force of its State militia to give Edward Harris, negro murderer and rapist, a trial and save him from lynching. It was a quick trial, with a plea of guilty and hanging sentence—but the mob did not get him.

Harris killed a white man and his two children and attacked the wife. The justice usually administered in the South to such a negro criminal involves a mob, a smashed jail door, a rope, and a nearest telegraph pole. Kentucky, calling 1,000 guardsmen into service at a cost to the State of some $30,000, is establishing a new civilized order in place of barbarous methods of lynching.

Kentucky's example is the best argument yet offered against the Dyer bill.

The Dyer anti-lynching bill is pending in Congress; its aim, to empower the Federal Government to arrest and prosecute those guilty of aiding in a lynching. The Dyer bill is bad because it delegates to the central government police powers properly belonging to the State. It should be defeated, but Southern States, to justify their opposition, must demonstrate that there is no necessity for outside law to step in.

At the Theatres

By RUSSELL WILSON

THE COHENS AND KELLYS

THE CAST
Nathan Cohen . . . George Sidney
Patrick Kelly . . . Charlie Murray
Mrs. Cohen . . . Vera Gordon
Mrs. Kelly . . . Kate Price
Terrence Kelly . . . Jason Robards
Nannie Cohen . . . Olive Hasbrouck
Tim Kelly . . . Mickey Bennett
Sammy Cohen . . . Bobby Gordon
Milt Goldberg . . . Nat Carr

Using the same plot motive that formed the basis for "Abie's Irish Rose" "The Cohens and Kellys" makes about the same kind of a picture. In this instance however, it is the daughter of a Jew and the son of an Irishman who are afflicted with that peculiar disease called love.

The comedy seemed to reach the risibilities of last night's optience and the laughs were numerous. It can be imagined what comic situations are possible in two races who lose no love for each other.

The production is well cast with George Sidney, Charlie Murray, and Vera Gordon doing the best work. Mickey Bennett, the freckle faced youngster who started his screen career in "Big Brother" plays the pugnacious Irish lad to perfection.

The two young lovers are separated by the breach between the families until, after a secret marriage, Nannie presents the Cohens and the Kellys with a grandchild. The infant serves to patch up matters in the end, and there is peace in both families.

Complications in the form of a two million dollar legacy for Cohen and his consequent removal from Second avenue and the clothing business to a mansion and leisure service to keep the plot moving at a fairly rapid pace.

DAVENPORT, Feb. 24 (AP)—Officials at radio station WOC here have as yet received no word of the reception of the international program broadcast from here last night. A program of dance music was broadcast from midnight until 3 a. m. and was relayed on two wave lengths by station WGY, Schenectady, N. Y. Arrangements have been made with telegraph companies in those parts of the world to relay quickly any report of reception of the Davenport program.

Russian Symphony Choir Pleases

(Continued from page one) of an organ, progressing into various changes of key without the slightest deviation in pitch. And that in itself is proof of complete mastery of choral singing as every musician is well aware. This quality was brought out strikingly in those numbers hummed by the choir. The effect produced was exactly that of a stringed orchestra, with the resonant bass of almost unbelievable range completing the illusion.

Despite their quiet impassivity, the members of the choir did not fail to flavor their performance with the magnetism of their personalities. This was particularly true of the soloists. There was Madame Fedorova, comely and regal in red gown and flashing head-dress; Ivan Steschenko, a powerful, rather diffident giant, who permitted himself the barest shade of a smile as the audience thundered its approval of his booming bass; Dmitri Creona whose clear, confident tenor revealed an infinite range of dramatic possibility. The entire chorus in fact, sang with a fervor and feeling that could not have been assumed for the mere sake of appearances.

Provides for Increase

University of the Future Nears Reality

(Continued from page one) Founders Day of 1925 was filled with numerous conventions and conferences in connection with the colleges of the university. Important medical, dental, and language, conventions, were held during the year. Researches of all sorts were conducted.

Library Grows

During this year of activity, the university library has expanded its departments to eighteen and enlarged the number of books.

BEHIND THE SCREEN

Being a younger sister of a movie actress is almost bad as being the youngest son of a king who has ten children.

Dorothy Gish is forever putting herself in the background and applauding the work of her sister Lillian. Dorothy might have done some good dramatic work herself, but she sticks to comedy preferring to believe that all the talent in that direction has been concentrated in her Lillian.

Shirley Mason has never been as prominent as her sister, Viola Dana. Diana Kane is determined not to trade on her sister's name, so she adopted a new one. You know she's Lois Wilson's sister.

Ora Bara, sister of Theda, is a newcomer, but not as a vamp. Another recruit to the movies is Ada May Vaughn, sister of Alberta. Ada May has been acting as her sister's manager, now she's going to step out and try her hand at the movie game.

Constance Talmadge is the exception that proves the rule about younger sisters having a hard time of it in the films.

Seems as if the brothers are determined to get a little attention, too.

King Melghan, brother of Tom, has signed a contract with Columbia Picture Corp. to act in "Sweet Rosie O'Grady." He is said to look a great deal like Tom, only younger.

Cleve Moore, another member of Colleen's family, had a part in her recent picture, "We Moderns."

Are they going to become successful or will they be overshadowed by their brothers?

COMING FILMS OF INTEREST

"The Mysterious Island," by Jules Verne, starring Lon Chaney.

"The Winning of Barbara Worth" a Samuel Goldwyn picture, with Vilma Banky.

"That's My Baby," with Douglas McLean and Margaret Morris. Paramount.

"The Wilderness Woman," First National, with Aileen Pringle, loaned by M. G. M., and Chester Conklin.

"A Music Master" for the screen is being sought by Fox. They have bought the screen rights to the play in which David Warfield endeared himself to theatregoers of a decade ago.

The same company also is in search of a "Captain Flagg" and a search work in character study, under the supervision of Prof. Edwin Starbuck.

The memorable year saw the opening of the new university high school and doubling the accommodations of the quadrangle, men's dormitory.

Bids are out for a new heating plant, which will supply all the buildings on the campus with heat, and will be completed at a cost of $215,000.

INTIMATELY PERSONAL

How are directors made? Well, Tod Browning, Lon Chaney's guiding hand was an actor, carnival barker, contortionist and globe-trotter. . . . Doris Kenyon is studying voice under the late Caruso's tutor, Pucetto. Doris sang in a church choir before she became an actress. . . . Constance Talmadge is an American again. Her marriage to John Plafoglou, tobacco merchant, made her a citizen of Greece. Her divorce didn't restore her rights. So she had to go through an examination like an immigrant before she could get an American rights back. . . . And speaking of naturalizations, Dorothy Mackall is now a Yankee. She was born in England.

Dorothy Gish has evidently scored a hit in her first English film, "Neil Gwynne," since she will return to England in March to make three more pictures for Wilcox Productions.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., 24 (AP)—A federal warrant for the arrest of Charles Ponzi, "financial wizard" on charges alleging use of the mails to defraud, was issued here today at the request of post office inspectors.

The federal warrant was issued in connection with Ponzi's real estate dealings by which he sought to sell lots for ten dollars each with the purpose, he declared, of paying back creditors who lost in his international repouy coupon activities in Boston.

Plan on Seeing This Great Show

Two Great Defensive Teams to Meet in Chicago-Iowa Contest

Iowa Still in Race for Big Ten Title

Illinois Now Leading Conference by Narrow But Comfortable Margin

By LAWRENCE EVANS
The Verdun and Gibraltar of the Big Ten are slated to do battle in our armory Saturday evening. The great Chicago defensive works who has held most of its opponents to less than twenty points will be on hand to see if they can keep the scoring possibilities of the Hawk floor as darkly veiled as "Chuck" McConnell's boys have been able to.

All of the big city athletes could fill in as Swiss guards and taken collectively they present more entanglements than a marriage license. That doesn't mean they lack basket shooters however, for Zimmerman ranks with the best in the mid-west in point production. Captain "Babe" Aleya, captain and center is one of these elongated gents who can slop in baskets with their eyes closed, from between their legs, with one arm tied behind their back, or fix Houdini up yourself.

A Co-Ed!

Opposing teams always watch him as though he were a co-ed, W. A. A. mod, slaken hose of lightest beige, facing the breeze with spring, 1926, skirt length. Attendees at the tilt two years ago will remember how Aleya twanged the hoop with fancy shots from off the floor or with his left mitt. They look forward to a revival.

St. Mary's Loses at Cedar Rapids

Rally in Final Moments Gives Home Team Victory

CEDAR RAPIDS, Feb. 24 (Special)—The St. Patrick's basket ball team of this city won a closely contested game from the St. Mary's team of Iowa City here tonight by a 24 to 20 score. The first half was a closely guarded affair ending 7 to 7.

In the final period play speeded up considerably and just a short time before the end of the game the count stood twenty all. At this juncture a short shot plus two free throws gave the home team a four point lead, which the visitors could not overcome.

Bauer and Chudacek were the best for the visitors, while Nolan and Malloy divided honors for the home team.

The lineup: St. Mary's (20) St. Patrick's (24)
Chudacek RF Nolan
Bauer LF Yount
Belger C Malloy
Wellner RG Wellner
Bock LG Gillen

Summary—Substitutions: Rock for Nolan, Larkin for Nolan, Murphy for Yount, Knolls for Malloy, Shipley for Wellner, Fay for Belger. Field Goals: Bock 2, Bauer 4, Chudacek 3, Nolan 4, Yount 1, Malloy 1. Free throws: Bock 1, Chudacek 1, Nolan 1, Yount 2, Malloy 7, Gillen 2. Personal fouls: Belger 4, Chudacek 3, Nolan 1, Yount 1, Malloy 1, Gillen 1. Referee: Evans (C. R.)

The complaint was based on a news story in which the name of each was prefixed with that of a well-known Oklahoma outlaw of early days.

Forty Teams Enter Illinois Relays

PART OF ARMORY, UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

Central Press Photos

URBANA, Ill., Feb. 24—The pick of track athletes of the middle west as well as a scattering of stars from the east and south, will take the mark at the famous indoor relay carnival of the University of Illinois on Saturday, Feb. 27.

The Illinois classic is the largest indoor relay meet in the country. It is staged in the big Illinois armory, 200 by 400 feet, all clear from columns or supports. The racing is on a cinder track six and three-quarters laps to the mile.

Among the institutions which will send teams are Michigan, Chicago, Ohio, Iowa, Purdue, Minnesota, Northwestern, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Notre Dame, Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa State, Kansas, and Kansas Aggies, Drake, Kansas State Teachers, Marquette, Washington, Creighton, Ohio Wesleyan, Haskell, Carleton, Lombard, Cornell, DePaul, Des Moines, Monmouth, Knox, Michigan State Normal, Emporia State Teachers, Bradley and a group of high schools.

The meet will bring together more than 500 athletes, representing at least 50 institutions.

There will be special interest in the appearance of two athletes who have just made notable records—Kueck of Kansas State Teachers, who now holds the world's record in the shotput, and Harrington of Notre Dame, who established a new world's intercollegiate record in the pole vault in the Illinois-

Notre Dame dual meet.

Kueck will meet some good rivals in the person of Dauber of Iowa and Lyon of Illinois. The latter, a sophomore, established a new Illinois indoor shotput record of more than 45 feet on his first appearance.

Richerson of Missouri is another good man with the shot.

Guthrie, Ohio's high hurdler, and Werner, the Illinois racer, who was second to Guthrie in the conference race last June, will probably have a great race.

Bring Alpha Sig, Delta Sig Quints Together Tonight

Greek Teams Battle in Final of Frat Tourney

Tonight the Alpha Sigma Phi tribe will meet the Delta Sigma Delta knights on a common battleground at the men's gym in the final game of the interfraternity basket ball tournament.

The war whoops of the braves on the sidelines will cheer the picked battlers to fight all the harder for the crown, which doesn't happen to be scraps this time.

Delta Sigma Delta will have a slight advantage over the opposition but there will be a tough odd battle just the same.

The Delta Sigma Delta line-up will probably be: King and Miller, forwards; Morsch, center, and Sals and Sawdy, guards. This is one grand defensive aggregation, and this is where they will have the advantage over the other camp. Geiger, star forward for the Alpha Sigs specializes on short shots. Sals, the other guard for the dent combine is about due to make another string of baskets also. In his first game he came through with five of those things!

The quintet from east College St. may be made up of Geiger and A. Sals, forwards; Nelson, center, and Oehert and Bauman, at guards. These men will be down for blood with their tom-toms and tomahawks. Geiger has a very sore arm from the last game and some other young blood may be in his place during the initial part of the scrimmage.

The officials that will have charge of this nice quiet evening affair are C. S. Roberts and K. McFarland. And as usual all the tribesmen that want to see their foes meet their friends must deposit the sum of 25 cents at the door. The wild west show will start promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

Frosh Telegraphic Track Meet Started

Run Off Half of Events in Badger Indoor Clash Yesterday

The Iowa-Wisconsin freshman telegraphic meet got under way at the armory yesterday when the first half of the events were run off. The meet closes this afternoon when the pole vault, high jump, 880-yard run, shot put and the two mile run will take place.

F. H. Brady, freshman harrier star of last fall, won the mile handily, followed by J. McCammon and D. H. King. The forty yard dash was won by G. C. Armstrong with three men tying for second place, G. Baird, C. Fisher, and T. J. Bunn. In order to break the tie, the race will be run again this afternoon. Armstrong also placed first in the forty yard high hurdles followed to the tape by Peterson, Fletcher, and Allison.

As all the sprinters are taking part in the broad jump the event was not finished but Armstrong is also showing his heels to the field in this class. The quarter mile was a dual between C. Fisher and G. Baird, who tied for first honors in this race. F. J. Henly placed third with D. L. Godlove in fourth position.

Twogood Elected Freshman Captain

Star Forward Selected to Lead Yearling Outfit

The captaincy of the Iowa freshman basketball team has been conferred by the men on Forest F. Twogood of Sioux City, forward for Coach Williams' quintet. The new leader is a freshman in the college of liberal arts.

Twogood came to Iowa with a great high school record. In the season of 1925 he was picked as a forward on the all-state second team. He is one of the best developments of "Pinky" Greene, former Ames basketball captain who is now coaching at Sioux City.

Standing over six feet and weighing about 180 pounds, Twogood is an excellent prospect for the Hawkeye varsity team of 1927. Both Coach Sam Barry and Rolfe Williams speak highly of his work in scrimmages against the varsity this season.

U High Trackers Make Excellent Record Indoors

Failure to find the baskets brought a 14 to 9 defeat to the university high basket ball team in their game at West Liberty Tuesday night, the last battle of the season for the local prep before the sectional tournament. Coach Engereth's team won an easy 16 to 6 victory over West Liberty high here early in the season but their offense failed entirely on the West Liberty floor Tuesday.

West Liberty scored 12 of their 14 points in the first half, and the Blue and White lost their chance for victory when they missed nine free throws in the second while holding West Liberty to only two points in the entire period.

University high will play Muscatine there a week from Friday in the semi-finals of the sectional tournament. The Blue and White team drew a bye in the preliminaries of the tournament.

Season Open; Umps Sue Publishing Co.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Feb. 24 (AP)—The baseball season got away to an early start today. Edwin P. Gaffney and Gerald Hayes, who call balls and strikes in the Western League were opposing the Oklahoma publishing company. The game was started in a district court room and Judge Ladius Babcock and twelve jurors were acting as umpires. Gaffney and Hayes alleged the Oklahoma City, Daily Oklahoman made libelous statements regarding the accuracy of their eyes during the close of the 1925 season. Each sued for $5,000 damages. U High Drops Last Battle of Season to West Liberty
Coach M. F. Carpenter's University high school track team has ended the present indoor season, and will turn in their suits and be given a brief rest until outdoor activities begin.

The U. high cinder artists have engaged in three meets, two of which were duals with Cedar Rapids and Iowa City highs, the other competition was found in the Iowa university interscholastic track and field meet. Although both dual meets were lost by narrow margins, the work of the local preps was far above par, as they were running against the two best high school teams in the state. The work of Carpenter's men in the state meet last Monday was a caping climax to their season, for they gathered twenty-one points to tie for third place, and tied for first place in the medley relay, which gave them a handsome bronze trophy.

The running of Cozine, in the mile and half-mile has been unusual for a high school lad, his record in the longer race being four minutes twenty-nine and four-fifths seconds. Brown who tied for individual honors on Monday, has done well in the dashes and the low hurdles. When the team gets outside even better performances are expected as several track men will be recruited from the basket ball squad. Coach Carpenter plans on scheduling about seven or eight meets during the outdoor season. The meets that he is planning on entering are Anamosa interscholastic, Muscatine interscholastic, Grant Quadrangular, Iowa state meet, Iowa university interscholastic, Chicago national, and possibly one or two dual affairs.

Hawk Team Fires 7781 in Seventh Corps Area Match

Score Should Rank Iowans in First Four Places

The Iowa rifle team has just completed firing the seventh corps area targets and has turned in a total score of 7781. Last year, the Iowa team turned in a score of 7597 which won them third place in the meet among sixteen teams competed.

Minnesota won the match last year with a total score of 7756. With the score just completed, the Iowa team should at least place in the top four this year, which will give it the chance to compete in the national match. Missouri will no doubt win the corps area match with a score of 7800 or better, since they defeated the Iowa team last week with a score of 3847 to 3772. This is the highest score which has ever been turned in against Iowa by any team and shows that Missouri evidently has one of the strongest teams in the country.

Lumir E. Milota, Cnd 4 of Oxford Junction, was the individual high scorer in the corps area meet. Turning in a score of 795 out of a possible 800 and dropping only five points on eight targets, he has an excellent chance of setting the individual high score of all who competed from the sixteen different teams entered in the match.

Zoning Heads Delay on Titzell's Permit

Commission Claims no Request yet Filed at City Hall

Iowa City's zoning commission and contractor O. H. Carpenter are still deadlocked on the granting of a permit for the construction of the proposed $70,000 Titzell apartment building at the corner of Burlington and Summit streets.

Late last night C. A. Dutcher, City Inspector, said that no action has been taken since the meeting of the zoning commission on Tuesday when the question was discussed. The absence of two members of the commission caused further action on the matter to be held up at that time.

According to Mr. Carpenter, the permit for the building was refused by the commission. Members of the commission have countered by declaring that no request has been filed with them.

The plans of Dr. F. C. Titzell, owner of the Summit apartments on the same location, are for a three story building similar to the present structure.

Rehearsals are scheduled for the local prep auditorium every day from now until March 10, the date for the presentation of the play.

Storms Delay Mail Plane; No Air Service Yesterday

No air mail for Iowa City last night. The westbound plane, which is due here about 8 p. m., reached Chicago and did not leave because of the storm. The east-bound plane due to arrive at Iowa City about 4 a. m. was forced to land at Salt Lake City, Utah, until the weather became permissible for flying.

Solnar Jury Grants $1,675 to Claimant

Mrs. Theresa Solnar was granted $1,675 by the decision of the jury yesterday afternoon after asking for $3,000 from the estate of her grandmother, Mrs. Frances Solnar, who died last spring.

The claimant sued for compensation for the care which she declared she gave her grandmother for several years before her death.

Research Earns Honor for Child Welfare Associate

Because the National Vocational Guidance association regarded her research as one of the few original investigations of recent times, Mrs. J. Benson Wyman, research associate at the child welfare station of the University of Iowa, was one of the three people invited to read papers at the annual meeting of the association in Washington D. C. last week.

The subject of Mrs. Wyman's research was "The Measurement of the Interest of a Twelve Year Old Child." Mrs. Wyman was unable to comply with the invitation personally but Prof. Giles M. Ruch of the psychology department of the university went to Washington and read the paper for her.

The other papers read were, "Brief Survey of Recent Research in Character and Attitude Measurements" by Goodwin E. Watson of the teachers college at Columbia, and "A Proposed Scale for Measuring Character" by Mark A. May, also of Columbia.

Local High School Yearbook Soon Will Be "On the Press"

Work on all departments of the Iowa City high school annual is progressing rapidly. Various cuts have already been received from the engravers, all senior pictures, as well as the "kid" pictures of the seniors have been finished, and the plates are in the hands of the staff.

Pictures of the track and basketball teams were taken this week for the Red and White annual. Other pictures of athletic organizations in the local high school were "shot" last semester and more will be taken soon so that work on the athletic section may be started immediately. Various organization pictures have also been taken.

All pictures were taken on the third floor of the high school building and will therefore represent a true part of the school life.

Cockney Grets Queen's Visit to Clinic of Babies

LONDON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Queen Mary heard more cockney today probably than on any other day of her career during her visit to Poplar in the east end. The occasion was the Queen's inspection of the Baby clinic at St. Katherine's college, the oldest philanthropic foundation in the kingdom.

Democratic Poplar is populated by workers and did not appear disposed at first to show enthusiasm about royalty.

As the queen passed from one group of women to another, chatting with the mothers and chucking the babies under the chin, she heard such exclamations as "Ain't she lovely?" "Oll' me, she's a bit of all right, ain't she?" "Give 'er a clap; she's worth it," followed by cheers as the queen drove away.

Delts, Sigma Nus Win in Pan-Hel Tourney

The Pan-Hel basket ball tournament opened last night when the Sigma Nu team trounced the Phi Deltas 25 to 18 and the Delta Tau Delta aggregation downed the Phi Psis in an overtime period 11 to 10. The games consist of three ten minute periods and the men seemed to be in poor condition to stand the workout for so long a time. The Sigma Nus led their opponents most of the way, but the other fray was a nip and tuck battle from start to finish.

Precipitation Cracks Four Year's Mark

Chicago Corn Sales Slowed up by Mud

CHICAGO, Feb. 24 (AP)—Corn is stubborn and while most of the local traders are bearish they were less disposed to press the selling owing to indications of lighter receipts for a short time. Receiving houses reported fewer drafts and advices of shipments from the country than for a week or more. This was attributed to the low price at which the off grades have sold of late and to bad country roads checking hauling by farmers in Iowa. Discounts were firmer yesterday on the lighter offerings.

Alpha Sigmas Lead Iowa Free Throwers

Alpha Sigma Phi made the highest team score from this institution in the national free throw tournament being handled through the interfraternity athletic manager.

The team made a score of 339 shots out of a possible 525. The team consisted of Lansberg, Agard, Tagge, Van Haltern, Drum, Nelsen and Hunter. The scores were sent in and now the team is waiting hopefully for news from South Carolina, where the national free throw committee in charge is located.

County's Farmers in Best Financial Condition in Years Say Authorities

The fabled March lion and lamb may do what they wish with the weather but will have no effect on the financial condition of the Johnson county farmer. In former years the interest payments on farm mortgages falling due on the first of March were hard to meet. But this March the farmer is in better condition than he has been for the last four years in the estimation of County Agent Harvey Hunt.

Frank C. Carson, vice president of the Johnson County Savings bank sums up the situation as follows: "Johnson county stands in the banner class. This immediate rural community has made a marked and noticeable advancement in the last year and is headed toward a new prosperity. March first has always been a standard for the set time that real estate mortgage interest is due and payable and there seems to be a disposition on the part of the borrowers of having made full arrangements to meet this interest demand. This condition did not exist, however, during the past few years and this being true is convincing evidence sustaining the foregoing statement.

"The greatest element entering into this forecast for better economic conditions of the farmer is the abnormally high prices of pork for the past year and a half. Of course, other factors such as chickens, eggs and the large increase in dairy interests have been large contributors toward better times for the farmer."

Episcopal Rector Will Conduct New Testament Study

Rev. Harry Sherman Longley, rector of the Trinity Episcopal church, will conduct a study of the new testament during the Lenten season, the first meeting to take place this evening at 7:30.

It is the Rev. Longley's belief that no one can say he believes or disbelieves in Christianity unless he has studied Christianity's text book, the new testament. "This," he believes, "is a day when men are questioning the Christian religion from their own viewpoints without much knowledge of Christianity itself."

These Thursday evening classes will include a study of two of St. Paul's letters, the Synoptic gospels, and the gospel of St. John. Classes will be preceded by a short service and the singing of familiar hymns.
