

Deny Mistrial in Hall-Mills Case

Council Closes Case in Fall-Doheny Trial

Defense Will Begin Presentation of Evidence After Ten Minute Re-Examination of Senator Walsh Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1—A new guide post in the legal wilderness which was centered in the oil reserve leasing policies of the Harding administration, was reared in the supreme court of the District of Columbia today when government counsel virtually completed their case in the Fall-Doheny conspiracy trial.

The defense will begin presentation of evidence tomorrow after a ten minute re-examination of Senator Walsh of Montana, the senate oil committee's prosecutor on technical points three years ago.

Half a dozen witnesses were called for the prosecution today in an effort to establish personal responsibility of former Secretary Fall of the interior department for the major developments in the oil leasing program.

Cross-Examining Defense In every case, the defense, on cross-examination sought to establish that the intimate contact maintained by the navy department with negotiations involving naval reserves were such as to render impossible any collusion between Fall and Edward L. Doheny in the interest of Doheny's Pan-American petroleum company, lessee of the Elk Hills reserve.

A letter from President Harding, dated June 7, 1922, to the senate, in response to reservation requesting information on the leasing policy, was offered by the defense.

"I think it is only fair to say in this connection," the letter read, "that the policy which has been adopted by the secretary of the navy and the secretary of the interior in dealing with these matters was submitted to me prior to the adoption thereof, and the policy decided upon and the subsequent acts, have at all times had my entire approval."

"Preferential Rights" Given Previous evidence by the prosecution had fixed the date of the Pan-American company's contract for the Pearl Harbor, Hawaii naval storage base, as April 25, 1922. This contract gave the Doheny interests "preferential rights," on such portions of the California naval reserve as might be thereafter opened to leasing.

Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy when Fall was a member of the cabinet, told the jury that his recommendation that secrecy be preserved in negotiations for the Pearl Harbor project, was dictated by national interest, since the plans had come originally from the navy's war plans division.

Harrell Testifies Senator Harrell of Oklahoma, testified that Fall told him on Dec. 11, 1922, the date of the Elk Hills lease, that the interior department acted only as business agent for the navy in the administration of oil lands. In response to Harrell's request for light on the leasing policy, Fall advised the senator to communicate with the president.

Edwin Booth, solicitor of the interior department under Fall, testified he never had been asked for an opinion on the legality of the proposed Elk Hills lease.

Representatives of four oil companies and of one construction concern presented correspondence to the interior department protesting against its method of handling leasing applications.

Clark Receives Letter J. W. Clark of Pueblo, Colo., mining attorney, said he was advised in a letter signed by Fall in March, 1922, that the department proposed not to develop the naval reserves "more rapidly than necessary."

Paul Shoup, president of the Pacific oil company, said the Elk Hills land lease to the Pan-American company at the time of the lease covered by an agreement between his concern and the interior department under which each party covenanted not to begin drilling operations within six months notification to the other.

Shoup said such notice never had been given. He added he would like to have had an opportunity to bid on the land covered in the Pan-American lease had he been apprised by the department that the land was in the lease bidder's market.

More Letters Read S. D. Wibb, president of the Eight Oil company, Bakerfield, Calif., testified he was advised by Fall on Oct. 7, 1922, that the navy and interior departments did not then contemplate additional leases in reserve number one.

Breach Over Use of Surplus Funds Widens at Capitol

Parties Split on Issue; Democrats Cry for Tax Reduction

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1—The breach between republicans and democrats over how to tap the treasury surplus to the best advantage to the taxpayer's pocket book widened today at the capitol.

House democratic leaders, after a conference came out in favor of an immediate $350,000,000 cut in tax rates, while republican party chiefs stoutly maintained that they would oppose a new revenue bill at the approaching session.

The democratic program, drafted by minority members of the house ways and means committee, which has initial jurisdiction in tax matters, is based on an agreement reached between Representative Garner, Texas, ranking democrat on the committee, and Senator Simmons of North Carolina, who heads the minority membership of the senate finance committee.

Democrats to Cut Taxes Under the democratic proposal the 13 1/2 per cent corporation tax would be cut probably to 11 per cent. The plan was made public by Chairman Oldfield of the democratic congressional committee who said:

"The exact rate of the corporations tax was left subject to determination after further figures for which the treasury has been asked are available. It was the sense of the conference that the treasury will have a surplus at the end of the present fiscal year approximating a half billion dollars and that further relief to the taxpayer ought to be given without delay."

Republicans Oppose Reduction Even before the democratic program had been announced, Speaker Longworth, after a visit to the White house, asserted that he was opposed to tax reduction at present, and felt the treasury surplus should either be applied to President Coolidge's tax credit plan or to reduction of the public debt.

The democratic plan also will encounter the opposition of Chairman Madden of the house appropriations committee, who holds that the Seventieth congress would present the right time for a new revenue law, although, in his opinion, the president's proposal should be enacted at this session.

Both Madden and Longworth contended it was impossible to estimate returns under the present revenue act and the congress must go slow for that reason.

Disfavor New Bill Chairman Green of the ways and means committee and Representative Tilson, republican leader, also take the position that the time is not ripe for a new tax bill. Besides endorsing the democratic tax reduction plan, Representative Hull of Tennessee, a minority member of the ways and means committee, feels that the condition of the treasury would permit "substantial tariff reduction and a permanent internal tax reduction of one per cent on corporations totaling $100,000,000 and the repeal of remaining temporary war taxes on automobiles, admissions, and certain minor items aggregating $105,000,000, or a total of $205,000,000."

"This would leave sufficient treasury surplus leeway for tariff reduction and farm relief and also to guard against a treasury deficit," he asserted. "Sporadic internal tax rebates from year to year, such as President Coolidge has proposed, throw open the door to frequent wide-spread controversy and wrangling."

Italy Signs Treaty With Albania at Tirano Nov. 27

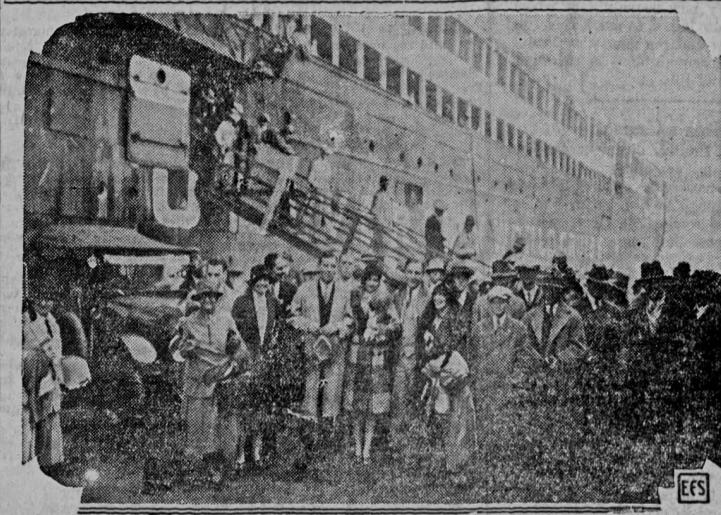

Follows Italian-Balkan Policy of Mussolini; Differs From Other Friendship Treaties

ROME, D. C., Dec. 1—Premier Mussolini's policy of linking Italy with the Balkan nations by treaty of friendship and cooperation, has been new fruit in the signing at Tirano of an Italian-Albanian "pact of friendship and security."

The treaty was signed Nov. 27, and official announcement was made tonight. The pact, will be registered immediately with the league of nations, differs from those already existing with Yugoslavia, Greece, and Rumania, in that it is based on a unilateral guarantee by Italy of Albania's territorial integrity and on a mutual agreement to refrain from making treaties with other nations affecting the reciprocal interests of Italy and Albania.

Hunt Heads Trade Commission WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—C. W. Hunt of Iowa, will serve as chairman of the federal trade commission during the coming year. He was designated today under the commission's plan of rotating the chairmanship among members.

Students of Floating University Feted in Japan

American students aboard the "floating university" are being joyfully received in the Orient, where the pioneer cruise of this educational innovation is attracting much attention. Photo just received shows students going ashore at Tokyo to see the sights.

Lake M. Crookham, of Oskaloosa, a member of Delta Upsilon, and a sophomore in the university last year is one of the students who threw his duffel bag aboard the "school ship."

Queen Marie Goes Home From Paris

Son Does Not Greet Mother; Trouble Rumored

PARIS, Dec. 1—Bound for Bucharest, Queen Marie of Rumania, with Prince Nicolas, Princess Ileana and her entourage and car, full of trunks left Paris at 9 o'clock yesterday evening.

The Queen had a final animated talk with the correspondents who crowded the platform below the car window, out of which she leaned.

There were inquiries by the correspondents as to what had taken place between the Queen and her son, the former crown prince Carol when they met this morning, but Marie tossed her head and replied: "I really cannot discuss that."

Carol Absent The former heir to the throne did not see his mother when she arrived last night from Cherbourg, nor did he put in an appearance at her hotel today. So, the Queen this morning drove to Neuilly, a suburb, where Carol resides. The meeting between mother and son took place in a private room at a restaurant at the edge of the Bois de Boulogne.

For the greater part of an hour they were together, but nothing is known of what passed between them.

Marie Prepared In conversation with Madame Helen Vaccresco, the Rumanian poetess, the Queen, speaking of her problems at home remarked: "It will be very difficult, but we have been through many difficult times before, and I hope will go through to the end."

Considerable surprise was expressed by those at the station that Carol did not see the Queen off for Bucharest, as he did on her departure for America.

Gibson Laughs at Poisoning Charge

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 1 (AP)—Billy Gibson, manager of Gene Tunney, and Ray Campbell, the heavyweight champion's personal representative, in a statement tonight scoffed at the charges of Captain Chas. J. Mabbutt that Jack Dempsey was poisoned the day he lost his crown to Tunney.

ROME, D. C., Dec. 1—Premier Mussolini's policy of linking Italy with the Balkan nations by treaty of friendship and cooperation, has been new fruit in the signing at Tirano of an Italian-Albanian "pact of friendship and security."

The treaty was signed Nov. 27, and official announcement was made tonight. The pact, will be registered immediately with the league of nations, differs from those already existing with Yugoslavia, Greece, and Rumania, in that it is based on a unilateral guarantee by Italy of Albania's territorial integrity and on a mutual agreement to refrain from making treaties with other nations affecting the reciprocal interests of Italy and Albania.

Hunt Heads Trade Commission WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—C. W. Hunt of Iowa, will serve as chairman of the federal trade commission during the coming year. He was designated today under the commission's plan of rotating the chairmanship among members.

Dempsey Poisoned?—No. News Story "Lot of Bunk"

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—Sergeant Mike Trant, Chicago detective and Jack Dempsey's body guard, always takes cream in his coffee—and so he termed today as "a lot of bunk" a statement by Captain Charles J. Mabbutt, generalissimo of Jack Dempsey's training camp, which was printed in the Baltimore News.

The statement said that Mabbutt, Jerry the Greek, Dempsey's trainer, Dempsey himself and Trant had breakfast together the Saturday morning preceding the fight with Gene Tunney and that all except Trant were made ill by what Mabbutt believed was poisoned cream served with coffee. Trant the statement said, did not use cream and was not made sick.

"I always take cream with my coffee and tea," Trant said tonight. "Furthermore, I don't remember seeing Mabbutt at any meals with the Dempsey party. He ate in another part of town."

Search for Rum Runner Carrying Kidnapped Men

Schooner Disappears in Gulf of Mexico After Capture by Government Boats

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 1—The three masted schooner Arseno J., believed to be carrying two kidnapped prohibition men, tonight was the object of an extended search into the Gulf of Mexico, with all available revenue cutters and patrol boats called into service.

The schooner, an alleged rum runner, disappeared from anchorage off the Mississippi coast today after it had been captured by a patrol boat and J. B. Matthews, assistant prohibition administrator of New Orleans and a machinist's mate, had been stationed as guards while the patrol boat visited port to retail.

When the patrol boat returned, the ship was gone. Believing that it had been recaptured by the alleged rum runners, other cutters and patrol boats were called from Biloxi, Miss., and Galveston, Texas, to aid in the search.

Shortly after the disappearance of the vessel was reported, O. J. Jackson, local prohibition administrator, said he received a report through coast guard sources that the vessel had been recaptured by the Tallapoosa and taken in tow. Later she received a second report that the vessel had broken tow and again was at liberty.

Future Teachers to Meet This Afternoon

A meeting for all students who wish to secure teaching positions for next semester or next year will be held at 4:10 o'clock this afternoon in the natural science auditorium. Deap Paul C. Packer and other members of the college of education will speak. The work of the committee on recommendations of teachers will be explained, and registration blanks will be available. Juniors who expect to teach after graduation are also invited to be present at this meeting which is the only one of this kind that will be held this year.

Phi Beta Kappa to Initiate 19 Tonight

Drake President Will Speak at 150th Anniversary

Nineteen members will be initiated into Phi Beta Kappa honorary scholastic fraternity, tonight in Old Capitol when the society gathers to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the fraternity. Daniel W. Morehouse, president of Drake University, will speak on "The Influence of Astronomy on Human Thought."

Initiation will start at 7:15 in the south senate chamber. After the initiation the group will go to the north senate chamber to hear President Morehouse. The public is invited to attend the program in the north chamber, which will start at 8:30 o'clock.

Although the actual founding of Phi Beta Kappa was on Dec. 5, no available time other than today could be chosen for the holding of the 150th anniversary celebration. President Morehouse is the discoverer of the Morehouse comet, which came to light in 1908, and is president of the Iowa Academy of Science, as well as a fellow of the British Royal Astronomical society. He is also member of Phi Beta Kappa and of Sigma Xi, honorary scientific fraternity.

Roll of Initiates Grace L. Hines, G of Strawberry Point; Charles H. Sandage, G of Lamoni; the following were chosen on the basis of their grades up to graduation at one or the other summer convocations, 1924: Elizabeth Bierman, G of Cherokee; Alton O. Groth, A4 of St. Ansgar; Edith Jane Hanna, Clarence W. Knudson, G of Clinton; Donald R. Lemkau, A4 of Muscatine; Mrs. Vesta Cooper Tliger; Anna Ruth Whitfield. Those elected on their standing as the five highest in the present senior class are: Roy L. Krueger of Keokuk; Leah E. Rose, of Iowa City; Herman J. Smith, of Des Moines; Gwenneth Stewart of Cedar Rapids; Harry C. Thatcher, Jr., of Ruthven.

Elected on the basis of three years liberal arts work plus one year in law, medicine or applied science are: Ester Maree Calkin, Lynn Dale Coffman of Des Moines; Harold E. Haymond, M2 of Minburn; James J. Lutz, M2 of Des Moines; and William W. Wertzbauger, S3 of Iowa City.

Dr. Frank T. Breene, dean of the college of dentistry, is attending the meeting of the Dental Educational council of America, in New York city, as a representative from the American Association of Dental Schools. Dean Breene will return to Iowa City the first of next week.

Today's Editorials

- Finding Ourselves "He Pursues No Path" Nose-in-the-Air The Star's Crusade The Great God Bluff

State Fails to Have New Trial Declared

Begin First of Summing-up Speeches in Hall-Mills Trial; Case Will be Given to Jury Friday, Indicated Today

Simpson to Seek Foreign Jury; Expects an Acquittal

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 1 (AP)—Senator Alexander Simpson tonight said that he would ask for a foreign jury to try the alleged murderers of Edward Wheeler Hall, the three defendants now on trial for the murder of Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, at Somerville.

Senator Simpson, special prosecutor, in the Hall-Mills case, said he would go before a supreme court justice in Trenton and ask for a jury other than in Somerset county to try Mrs. Hall, Henry Stevens and Wm. Stevens, as he felt that there would be an acquittal in the present case.

SOMEVILLE, N. J., Dec. 1—The state's failure to have mistrial declared today in the Hall-Mills case, allowed the trial to progress to the speech-making stage. The first of a series of extended summing-up speeches was begun this afternoon with indications tonight that the case would be given to the jury Friday.

All of tomorrow and a portion of next day are expected to be occupied with addresses to the jury.

The application for mistrial was denied by the court without comment. Only a part of the first speech was delivered today, Robert H. McCarter opening for the defense, holding the floor at the close of the court day when he had spoken for two hours and fifteen minutes. He will speak probably for another tomorrow, and will be followed by Clarence E. Case, to continue the defense summing up.

Accuses Jury of Sleepiness The state's application for a mistrial was made at the opening of court, Simpson accusing the jury of undue sleepiness, and of hostility to the state's cause and also charged that the jury was inadequately guarded. Affidavits were submitted from newspaper reporters and detectives that certain jurors had been seen nodding.

Committee for Farm Aid Meets in Windy City

DES MOINES, Dec. 1—The administrative committee of the committee of twenty-two will meet in Chicago Saturday, preparatory to urging passage of farm relief legislation in the December session of congress, Frank Warner, of Des Moines, secretary of the committee, announced today. The members of the sub-committee are George N. Peek, of Moline, Ill., chairman; Ballard Dunn, of Omaha, Charles V. Trux, of Columbus, Ohio, and Waldorf Lindstrom of Pleasant Lake, Ind.

It is probable that at this meeting a time for a general meeting of the whole committee, now known as the north central states agricultural conference, will be fixed. Mr. Warner said. It likely will be held either in Washington or Chicago and will probably be followed by the whole committee's going to Washington at the opening of the December session to press immediate farm relief legislation.

Steven's Diary All Right Eldridge W. Stein, an expert on claims of the state that enlarged photographs of finger prints used by the defense were "distorted," found nothing wrong with the 1922 diary of Henry Stevens. State hand writing experts had found flaws in the entries under date of September 14, the night Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills and the Rev. Edw. W. Hall were slain.

Henry and William are charged with the murder of Mrs. Mills. Mr. McCarter launched into a terrific arraignment of many of the 100 witnesses used by the state. At the outset he declared that James Mills, husband of the slain woman, was in better position to know of a love affair between his wife and the rector than was Mrs. Hall.

Finger Print on Calling Card The lawyer made an extended attack on Edward H. Schwartz, Newark finger print man, when he reached the finger print testimony of the state, that the print of Willie Stevens' finger appears on a calling card found near the body of the slain minister.

"I charge with all the solemnity that is in me, that that card is a forgery," he declared, as he waved the calling card high in the air. For nearly two hours he scored stories told by state's witnesses connecting the defendants indirectly with the crime.

Mrs. Mary Demarest, who made three appearances on the stand as a state witness, was stated in a lighter vein, the attorney charging her with a fondness for having her picture in the papers.

McCarter said near the close of his effort today that tomorrow he would take up the testimony of "Mrs. Jane Gibson, alias Mrs. Jane Easton, alias I don't know how many other things."

Deputy Sheriffs' Testimony Heard in Murder Trial

DES MOINES, Dec. 1 (AP)—Routine questioning of officers who participated in the eight day search for Wm. Boyd, a quadron, occupied most of today's session of Boyd's trial here on a charge of slaying deputy sheriff Dewey Marshall, Des Moines, last October.

Three deputy sheriffs were closely questioned by the prosecutor in connection with the state's contention that money had been taken from Marshall's clothing after he was slain at Boyd's home when he and Grover Brent, a Sedalia, Mo., officer went there to arrest the quadron on a larceny warrant issued in Missouri.

The three officers testified that Marshall's left trouser pocket had been denuded and that the linings had been pulled out. They said the slain deputy usually carried money but not direct evidence was given to bear out the testimony of Brent that Marshall had money on him at the time of the shooting.

Low Temperatures Herald Real Winter

Relief to Come Late This Evening; One Death Recorded

CHICAGO, Dec. 1—December and real winter weather arrived simultaneously in the mid-west today. Old man winter, three weeks ahead of the time set for his arrival, sped eastward tonight with prospects that by tomorrow the most severe cold of the season will extend from the upper Mississippi valley to the Atlantic seaboard.

Temperatures tonight in the middle west were expected to hover from zero to around fifteen above but a little relief was promised Thursday evening when winds were expected to shift to the northeast.

Zero Weather Today the front of the cold wave advanced southward into the middle west and eastward over the upper Great Lakes region with a line of zero temperatures extending through southern Minnesota while even lower readings prevailed from the upper Mississippi valley to the Great Lakes region but precipitation in the form of rain or snow was light.

In Iowa a drop of nearly fifty degrees in temperature was recorded since yesterday when the mercury stood around 60. Crookston, Minn., reported twenty six degrees below zero.

Warmer Tonight Reaction from the wintry blasts is expected to be evidenced tonight, appearing first in the extreme upper Mississippi valley, and gradually spreading eastward.

Lake vessels were cautioned to remain in port because of the gale over the Great Lakes region. The first fatality due to the cold was reported here today when a poorly dressed laborer was found dead beside the tracks of the railroad by which he was employed. Death was attributed to exposure.

Elect South Dakota Man Head of Agriculture Agents

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—A. W. Palm, of Watertown, S. D., was elected president of the national association of county agricultural agents at the opening of a two day annual convention here today.

The Daily Iowan

OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER
UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

Published every morning except Monday by Student Publications Incorporated, at 125-130 Iowa Avenue, Iowa City, Iowa.

Entered as second class matter at the post office at Iowa City, Iowa.
Subscription rates: by mail or carrier, $5.00 for 12 months; $4.00 for academic year. Single copies, 5 cents.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Charles H. Weller, chairman; Ewen M. MacEwen; Raymond B. Kittredge; Sidney G. Winters; John H. Powell; Marshall C. Watson; Earl E. Beman; Marion M. Rambo; Alvin E. Hickerson.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor: Elvin J. Tilton
City Editor: Katherine Y. Macy
Night News Editor: Merrill S. Gaffney

BUSINESS STAFF

Business Manager: John F. Webber
Circulation Manager: W. Harry Harper
Classified Advertising Manager: Edwin B. Green
Advertising Assistant: Ernest H. Gardner
Advertising Assistant: Norville E. Davis
Advertising Assistant: James W. Blackburn
Advertising Assistant: Robert V. Sichert
Advertising Assistant: Frederic A. Schneller
Advertising Assistant: William C. Hageboeck
Advertising Assistant: George W. Olson
Advertising Assistant: Charles S. Gallaher

Thursday, December 2, 1926

NIGHT NEWS EDITOR

Merrill S. Gaffney

Finding Ourselves

CIRCUMSTANCES and environment play a leading role in our vocational dramas. The majority of us are what others decide we shall be. It is astounding how many sons follow a profession or trade because "Dad was" or the "family planned on it." But in one field, we seem to be in the midst of a sort of negative reaction. That is in agriculture. Fewer sons and daughters are turning to farming as a vocation than ever before in the history of the country. The percentage of urban population has increased enormously in the past few decades.

But this situation may not be as critical as some of the "calamity howlers" would have us think. Life is largely a process of adjustment, and many of the successful men of today did not find themselves until they were well along in life. Most people do not start out and follow through to their goal in a straight, unwavering course.

Might this perhaps not be the situation as it exists relative to the farm problem? A large per cent of those who are flocking to the city will perhaps discover that they do not like it so well after all, and in the process of "finding themselves" many find themselves back on the farm.

"He pursues No Path"

"DON'T agree with anything," says George Bernard Shaw.

Thus he ranks himself with the Chinese philosopher, Kwang, Sextus Empiricus, H. L. Mencken, Sinclair Lewis, and H. G. Wells.

Kwang, in one of his philosophical treatises, tells of knowledge ascending the Imperceptible Slope, where it happened he met Dunn Inaction. He addressed him saying, "How do we know the Tao? Where is the path of the Tao?" Dunn Inaction gave him no reply. Not only did he not answer, but did not know how to answer. Knowledge then ascended the height of the End of Doubt, where he saw Heedless Blurt. To him he also put the question. Heedless Blurt at once replied, "Ah, I know and I will tell you." But while he was about to speak, he forgot what he wanted to say. Knowledge returned to the palace of Ti and there saw Hwang-Ti. Hwang-Ti said, "To dwell nowhere and to do nothing is the first step; to start from nowhere and to pursue no path is the second step. Dunn Inaction was truly right because he did not know the thing. Heedless Blurt was nearly right because he forgot it. I and you are not nearly right because we know it." This is the classification which George Bernard Shaw has given himself. He is a skeptic.

Shaw has refused the money prize connected with the Nobel literature reward. He made his radical statement of skepticism which he was asked if he agreed with Sinclair Lewis, who refused the Pulitzer prize on the ground that prizes were bad for literature. Shaw had never heard of the Pulitzer prize. We cannot class him with the cheap yellow journalists whose every act is planned with the thought of ensuring sensational publicity.

Like Rudyard Kipling and Sir James Barrie, Shaw hates telephones. Telephone calls to the Shaw home are usually answered by his secretary or housekeeper. James Barrie has his telephone number listed in his butler's name. They are consistent. Shaw did not refuse the Nobel prize because he hoped to gain the attention of the world in a new way. He "pursues no path."

Nose-in-the-Air

THE snobs of this world are one of life's most pathetic spectacles. They present examples of repression, fear, and narrow egoism, any one of which can make a tragedy out of an otherwise successful life.

They have failed to learn the most important of all lessons—that every living person is interesting. Life in its pure form means nothing at all to them; only class distinction is significant. They like to think of themselves as the true aristocrats, far too sensitive and fastidious to tolerate any mode of living other than that prescribed by their chosen leaders. In his Portrait of a Lady, Henry James says that "the essence of the aristocratic situation" is "to be in a better position for appreciating people than they are for appreciating you."

And in their complete failure to grasp this truth, the pathetic snobs lose all chance for realizing their only ambition. To deliberately ignore any part of life is the most foolish crime a man can commit. To throw away a possible experience is to be wasteful with the only truly valuable commodity in the world.

"Remember," says Edna Ferber in So Big, "no matter what happens, good or bad, it's just so much velvet." Remember, every new acquaintance, rich or poor, educated in college or educated in a factory,—every new acquaintance whom you can appreciate is just so much velvet in the game of life; and the man who throws away a possible acquaintance is throwing away the wealth of life.

The Star's Crusade

WHEN Joseph Pulitzer died, someone has said, newspaper crusading ceased. But not so; the Kansas City Star last week launched a campaign in Kansas for a state system of paved roads. The Star accomplished its purpose and there is no secret about it.

And when this particular paper sets out to do something, or to have it done, that thing usually is accomplished. It made a clean city of a mud hole. It cleaned up the corrupt politics in Kansas City. It caused parks and boulevards to be built to make the city one of the most beautiful in the country. It virtually built the great convention hall there. It led Missouri to build the paved highway between Kansas City and St. Louis. It went far toward building the new and unique memorial to the soldiers in its city, and it is whispered that the Star had a strong hand in getting the president to deliver the Armistice day address at the dedication of the memorial monument, Nov. 11.

Kansas seems in a fair way to have a system of paved roads the like of which is found in no other state. And this latest campaign of the Star will mean that the Santa Fe trail and three other trails which cross Kansas will be paved, an obviously great attraction to tourists. And thanks will be largely due to the steadfast Star.

The Great God Bluff

MANY students, especially those who anticipate a literary career, have an idea that a good "line" is more to be desired than a reserve of actual knowledge; that a clever bluff is more admirable than a less brilliant array of hard facts. They place all of their faith in the maxim "style is the man," and forget that "knowledge is power."

"Tell me your subject, state to me your own conclusion; and I will guarantee you a good argument," is the general attitude. Any man who requires actual information in order to carry on a snappy discussion is below par.

The average man of the streets has always an opinion on every matter. Socialism, spiritualism, short skirts, and the League of Nations—no subject is so complex or so serious that he cannot form a very definite, hard-set opinion about it after reading one article or hearing one discussion. And once this opinion is formed, no logic can shake it from its firm position. Like Bill of Dera Mabel fame, he is "as firm as the Rock of Gibraltar."

"If you are the cream of America, God pity the skim milk," said one of our critics in speaking of college students. But if we cannot depend on college-trained men to take a scientific attitude with regard to public matters. God pity all of us.

How many of us have sat in pained disgust while some self-appointed critic of affairs in general has aired his half-baked views. How many of us have desired mightily to inform him that his ignorance was appalling and that he would do himself a favor by keeping still. But, alas, how many of the same "us" have, with the slightest encouragement, lifted our voices blithely on some subject about which we were completely uninformed.

Said Robert Louis Stevenson: "The first duty of any man who is to write is intellectual. Where he has even a fear that he does not wholly understand, there he should be wholly silent."

The public man with a "line" should feel a deep responsibility. He should be as wary of contributing that "line" to a false cause as he would be of donating funds to some dangerous enterprise.

If she hadn't been a goose, the one that laid the golden eggs would have laid them where nobody could have found them.

No professional reformer ever could have been a pretty round-faced baby.

Nobody is so jealous of his rights as one who doesn't deserve any.

—ZOE AIKEN, in Palms.

Poems That Live

Lyric

With my love beside me,
I have often said:
Of what might betide me,
I shall have no dread.

But he is sitting yonder,
And I am sitting here,
Trying not to ponder,
Trying not to fear.

—ZOE AIKEN, in Palms.

Official Daily Bulletin

The University of Iowa

Bulletins and announcements for the Official Daily Bulletin column must be in the office of the university editor, Prof. Charles H. Weller, room 101 Journalism building, by 4 o'clock in the afternoon to appear in the following morning's Daily Iowan.

VOLUME 1, No. 49 DECEMBER 2, 1926

FACULTY OFFICIAL NOTICES

AMERICAN CHEMICAL SOCIETY

The Iowa section of the American Chemical Society will hold its regular meeting Thursday evening, Dec. 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the chemistry building. Dr. C. W. Balke of the Pansteel Products Co. of Chicago will speak on the subject "Metallic Tantalum." The Pansteel company produces the well-known Bakelite Radio Power Units and Eliminators, and part of the talk will be devoted to the use of tantalum in these instruments. The public is invited.

J. L. WHITMAN, secretary

PHI BETA KAPPA

Business meeting and initiation will take place at 7:15 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 2, in the south chamber of Old Capitol. A public lecture in celebration of the sesquicentennial of the society, will be delivered in the senate chamber of Old Capitol, on the same evening, at 8:30. The speaker is President Morehouse of Drake University, and he will speak on "The Influence of Astronomy upon Modern Thought." The general public is cordially invited.

PUBLIC LECTURE

Mr. Lansing B. Bloom will deliver an illustrated lecture entitled "Indian and Spaniard in the Southwest" in liberal arts auditorium, Friday evening, Dec. 3, at eight o'clock. The lecture is under the auspices of the Iowa Society of the Archaeological Institute of America, but interested students and residents of Iowa City are invited to attend.

ROY C. FLICKINGER, president

SECOND BACONIAN LECTURE

The second Baconian lecture will be given by Prof. Benjamin F. Shambaugh on Friday evening, Dec. 3, at 7:00 p.m. in the chemistry lecture room. Professor Shambaugh will speak on "The Direction of Political Thought."

MEETING OF PROSPECTIVE TEACHERS

There will be a meeting of all students who are interested in securing teaching positions for next year, Thursday, Dec. 2, at 4:10 p.m. in the natural science auditorium. Dean Packer and other members of the education staff will speak. Material for registration with the Committee on Recommendation of Teachers will be distributed at that time.

UNDERGRADUATE ACTIVITIES

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB INTERNATIONAL NIGHT

The Cosmopolitan club will give a public entertainment Friday night, at 8 o'clock in St. Patrick's auditorium. The program is entitled "Glimpses of the World" and portrays various scenes and customs in Oriental and European countries. Tickets at 50 cents may be secured from the University Book store, Y. M. C. A., or members of the club, or at the doors on the evening of entertainment.

All members of the club will meet at St. Patrick's auditorium Thursday night for rehearsal. MENA S. LARDIZABEL, president

PHI DELTA GAMMA

Phi Delta Gamma will hold its regular meeting Thursday, Dec. 2, at six o'clock at Youde's inn. All members and pledges are requested to be present.

L. PAUL TOOMEY, president

ZETAGATHIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

Zetagathian will hold its regular meeting Friday, Dec. 3, in Zet hall at 8:30 sharp. A pledge program is the feature of the evening and all pledges are required to be present unless they have been excused.

PROCTOR W. MAYNARD, president

A. F. I.

Important meeting of A. F. I. this afternoon at 4:15 at the Iowa Union.

PETER JANSZ, president

PHILOMATHEAN

The Philomathean forensic society will hold a joint meeting with the Rhetorical literary society at 7:45 p.m. Friday, Dec. 3, in Philo hall. A program has been arranged. A business meeting will be held immediately after the joint meeting, at which time election of officers will take place.

JOE MUSIC, president

MORTAR BOARD

There will be a meeting of Mortar Board this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Iowa Union.

LEAH ROSE, secretary

IRVING INSTITUTE

Irving Institute will hold election of officers for the winter term Friday, Dec. 3. The meeting will start promptly at 7:30, adorning in time to allow members to attend the "I" Blanket Hop.

PHILIP W. ALLEN, president

Y. W. C. A. DISCUSSION GROUP

The question to be discussed by the Y. W. C. A. discussion group Thursday, Dec. 3, at 4 p.m. is "What are the bases for congenial companionship among men and women?"

DOROTHY WILSON

FRENCH CLUB

There will be no meeting of the French club Thursday evening, Dec. 2, because of the installation of the national honorary Romance language fraternity that evening. The next meeting of the French club will be Dec. 16.

JAMES D. McDOWELL, president

HESPERIA

There will be a meeting of Hesperia literary society in Hep-Zet hall, Thursday, at 7:30 p.m.

MUSIC RECITAL

The weekly recital given by students of the music department will be held in the liberal arts assembly room as usual, instead of in the Iowa Union lounge as announced last week. The recital will be Friday, Dec. 3, at 4:00 p.m.

KAPPA PHI

All Kappa Phi members and pledges who plan to go to the university play, please put your ticket in for another evening than Wednesday so as not to conflict with the regular meeting. LEONA BOHACH, sec'y

UNDERGRADUATE MATHEMATICS CLUB

The Undergraduate Mathematics club will meet Thursday afternoon at 4:10 in room 301, physics building. Mr. Blue will speak on "Number Systems." C. R. WILSON

THETA SIGMA PHI

Theta Sigma Phi will hold its regular meeting at noon Thursday, Dec. 2, at Copper Kettle tea room. ANNE BEMAN, president

Radio Notes

RADIO NOTES

LWF CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 1.—At a radio convention held in this city recently, the operator of an amateur transmitting station installed at the convention headquarters for the purpose of relaying free messages for the delegates, was much surprised on glancing over one of the messages to notice that it was a proposal of marriage to a young lady in a nearby city. After being assured by the sender that the message was genuine and in good faith, the operator sent it off, not expecting to hear any more from it. It was therefore something of a shock to receive the next day a message from the young lady stating that the proposal was accepted! The operator, whose name happens to be Storck, is now wondering if his name associated with the incident should be considered as a favorable omen.

FOOTBALL RESULTS RELAYED

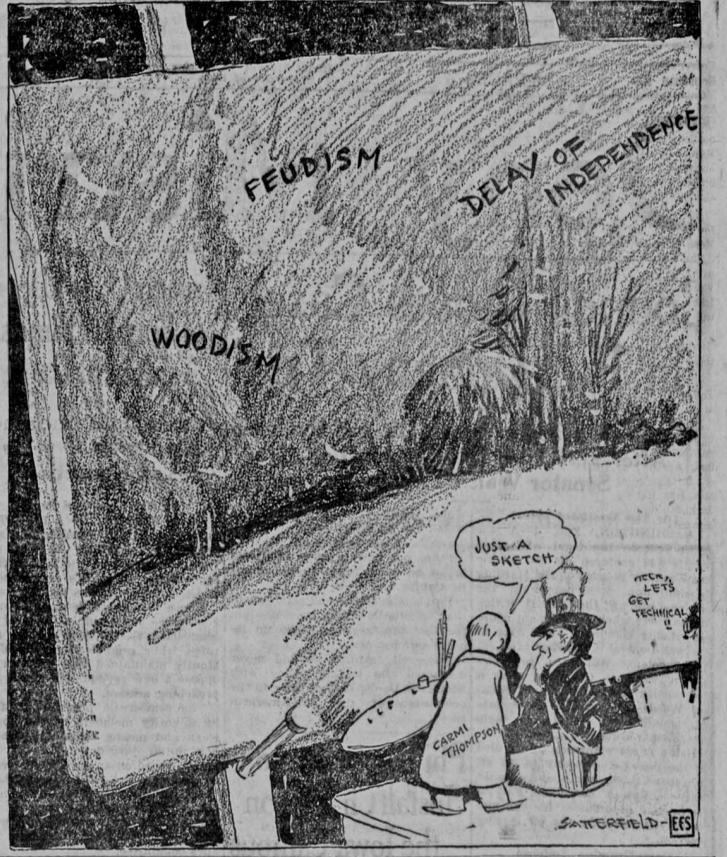

TROY, N. Y., Dec. 1.—Complete play-by-play scores of football games played this season by Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute have been transmitted direct to the short-wave stations of the other colleges participating in the game through the Institute's amateur station 2S2. The service proved entirely satisfactory, and will probably be resumed along more inclusive lines next year. Where games are played with colleges not operating radio stations, it is planned to enlist the services of amateurs of the American Radio Relay League to forward the scores.

"N THE ARTIC

MARYVILLE, Mo., Dec. 1.—When S. F. Martin, a local amateur operating station 9CKS, received a message recently to be relayed through his station he was somewhat disconcerted to note that the address was simply "in the Artic." Remembering, however, that the Canadian government steamship "Boothie" was at that time in Artic waters, and knowing also that this ship had a short-wave radio outfit on board similar to his own, he immediately put his set into operation in an effort to get in communication with the boat's operator. After a few hours he was successful, and passed the message to the "Boothie." A few days later he was agreeably surprised to get an acknowledgment saying that the message had been delivered to the proper party, a Royal Northwest policeman on duty in the Far North, who in thanking the amateur operator wished to explain that this message was the second one he had received from home in two years.

AN ARTIST COMES HOME FROM THE PHILIPPINES

By Satterfield

CHILLS and FEVER

A FEW ADS FROM THE LONDON TIMES

GENTLEMAN IN STRAIGHTENED circumstances with own nursery and faithful "Nannie" would undertake bringing up of child from birth (not adoption); highest credentials given and required.

In that case, we suppose the "Nannie" would be the goat.

DANCING, LATEST BALL-room. New, quiet Charleston. Experienced teacher gives individual private lessons own home.

It takes England to perfect a "quiet Charleston."

LONDON PRINTING HOUSE requires gentleman to influence printing from first class houses only for good remuneration.

It's an advertising manager they want; don't let these foreign languages confuse you.

A KIND FRIEND SUGGESTS THAT PERHAPS THE REASON MISS LEAH ROSE MADE PHI BETA KAPPA WAS BECAUSE HER SISTER WAS THERE ALREADY. ANOTHER EXAMPLE OF CONFUSING HONORARY ORGANIZATIONS: PHI BETA KAPPA AND MORTAR BOARD HAVE ABSOLUTELY NOTHING IN COMMON.

I asked my girl to go to the Blanket Hop, but she says, "No, she's off those blanket parties."

How about the e-ed who thought all the Kappa Sig was mathematics because they lived at the Quadrangle.

May we breathe a word of thanks for our proof-reader last night. We actually recognized the material which we had written in the preceding afternoon. It is little things like these that bring a flicker of sunshine into the chilly atmosphere that most proof-readers leave. We are seriously considering spending our revenues from our Spanish estate on a large butcher knife with which to annihilate those who wantonly and with malice aforethought re-write our stuff to suit their whims.

HAVE A HEART—OPERATORS AND PROOFREADERS WOULD HAVE TO WORK OVERTIME TO "GET 'EM ALL" OR ANY CONSIDERABLE PORTION OF 'EM.

SOME EPITAPHS
Come shed a tear
For Willis James,
He left the Chi O
House in flames.
To Z. T. A.
No one was dearer
Than Annabelle
She looked in a mirror.
And Sig Alph weeps
For Marcus Rake
Got indigestion
Eating cake.
And the loyal patriot
Perry Snivel,
He died a laughing
When he read Frivol.

Who's Who AT IOWA

With the efficient and considerable help of Leland Parkin this column wishes to present its selection of the 1926 mythical All-Conference football eleven. Now that Mr. Eckersall, Mr. Brown, and others have picked Big Ten teams and have disagreed widely in so doing, we feel that the best selection is yet to be chosen. And having weighed carefully the qualities of each candidate, we believe that this team is the most formidable one which could be selected.

Many critics have placed Karow, Baker, Almqvist, and others in positions on mythical elevens, which they did not occupy on their respective teams. This raises the question, could an end be chosen as center, or a tackle as fullback? With this in view we here present the 1926 All-Conference Eleven.

HE—LET US TURN OFF THE LIGHTS.
SHE—WHY?
HE—SO I CAN KISS YOU.
AND HE WONDERED WHY SHE SMACKED HIS SASSY FACE.

Osterbaan, Michigan
Fisher, Northwestern.
Tackles,
Gary, Minnesota.
Nelson, Iowa.
Guards,
Meyer, Ohio State.
Shively, Illinois.
Center,
Truskowski, Michigan.
Quarterback,
Friedman, Michigan. (Captain.
Halfbacks,
Gustafson, Northwestern.
Wilcox, Purdue.
Fullback,
Joesting, Minnesota.

Why Osterbaan and Fisher? Both are excellent ends. The former is undoubtedly the best in the conference while Fisher is almost his equal. Both are rare forward pass receivers, good defensive men, and equally fast in the field.

Gary and Nelson? Both are big aggressive fellows, splendid tacklers, who can vary their position either way.

Meyer and Shively? The former outshone his teammate Hess, in the Ohio-Iowa game. The latter is rated among the possible all-American men this year. Both are able guards, big, and fast.

Why Truskowski? The best running center in the conference, an accurate passer, and a great defensive man.

Friedman is unquestionably the brainiest player in the Big Ten, a field general par excellence, and a wonderful dropkick, and passer. Gustafson is the hardest running back in the conference, a good receiver of passes, and an excellent blocker.

Wilcox was Purdue's best bet all season. He is a triple threat man. (Turn to Page 3)

Who's Who AT IOWA

With the efficient and considerable help of Leland Parkin this column wishes to present its selection of the 1926 mythical All-Conference football eleven. Now that Mr. Eckersall, Mr. Brown, and others have picked Big Ten teams and have disagreed widely in so doing, we feel that the best selection is yet to be chosen. And having weighed carefully the qualities of each candidate, we believe that this team is the most formidable one which could be selected.

Many critics have placed Karow, Baker, Almqvist, and others in positions on mythical elevens, which they did not occupy on their respective teams. This raises the question, could an end be chosen as center, or a tackle as fullback? With this in view we here present the 1926 All-Conference Eleven.

HE—LET US TURN OFF THE LIGHTS.
SHE—WHY?
HE—SO I CAN KISS YOU.
AND HE WONDERED WHY SHE SMACKED HIS SASSY FACE.

Osterbaan, Michigan
Fisher, Northwestern.
Tackles,
Gary, Minnesota.
Nelson, Iowa.
Guards,
Meyer, Ohio State.
Shively, Illinois.
Center,
Truskowski, Michigan.
Quarterback,
Friedman, Michigan. (Captain.
Halfbacks,
Gustafson, Northwestern.
Wilcox, Purdue.
Fullback,
Joesting, Minnesota.

Why Osterbaan and Fisher? Both are excellent ends. The former is undoubtedly the best in the conference while Fisher is almost his equal. Both are rare forward pass receivers, good defensive men, and equally fast in the field.

Gary and Nelson? Both are big aggressive fellows, splendid tacklers, who can vary their position either way.

Meyer and Shively? The former outshone his teammate Hess, in the Ohio-Iowa game. The latter is rated among the possible all-American men this year. Both are able guards, big, and fast.

Why Truskowski? The best running center in the conference, an accurate passer, and a great defensive man.

Friedman is unquestionably the brainiest player in the Big Ten, a field general par excellence, and a wonderful dropkick, and passer. Gustafson is the hardest running back in the conference, a good receiver of passes, and an excellent blocker.

Wilcox was Purdue's best bet all season. He is a triple threat man. (Turn to Page 3)

University Club Entertains at 7:30 on Friday after 5:30, the University club hostesses will be Mrs. Adam Washington, Mrs. Mary Thompson, Mrs. May Gardner, and Mrs. the assisting hostess.

Iowa Women's Club Meet With Mrs. The Iowa Women's Club will meet at 7:30 o'clock, Mrs. May Gardner, and Mrs. the assisting hostess.

Yetties Entertain at Dinner Bridge Mr. and Mrs. Yetties entertained a group of dinner-bridge at the Yetties. The bridge was for scores and Mrs. Ray Slavata Jack Moulton.

Cine-K whole Fascinating—delicious movies

He

Gillette Burgess m the Goops famous * * But it remained for an Iowa man to exemplify the Goop in Real Life

It is a Sad Story But here it is As a misgu freshman h missed the "I" Blanket when a Sophomore too busy with the books and as a Ju too busy with a parol da when he wa Senior his intention were good he came to with a head a day Late Don't Be A Goop!

In The World of Society

University Club Entertains at Tea
On Friday afternoon, Dec. 3, from 3:30 to 5:30, the members of the University club will have a tea. The hostesses will be Mrs. Erwin K. Mapes, Mrs. William J. Dennis and Mary Thompson. Catherine A. Mulvan will talk about her work in foreign universities, at 4 o'clock.

Iowa Women's Club Will Meet With Mrs. Amish
The Iowa Women's club will meet with Mrs. Adam Amish, 1012 East Washington street this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Judge Milton Remley will talk to the club on "Iowa City." Mrs. May Flinn, Mrs. Jennie Gardner, and Mrs. J. O. Long are the assisting hostesses.

Yetters Entertain at Dinner Bridge
Mr. and Mrs. Chris Yetter entertained a group of friends at a dinner-bridge at their home last evening. As the bridge game high honors for score were won by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Slavata and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moulton.

Mrs. Ernest Thomas Entertains L. T. Club
Mrs. Ernest Thomas, 433 S. Governor will entertain the members of the L. T. club at her home tomorrow afternoon. The afternoon is to be spent in playing five hundred, the game beginning at 2 o'clock.

Child Study Club to Meet
Members of the Child Study club will meet for luncheon Saturday noon, at the Iowa Union. Miss Elizabeth Halsey, director of physical education for women, in the university, will speak on "Administration of the Law of Physical Education in the State."

Kappa Kappa Gamma
Lenore Newcombe, A4 of Iowa City; and Martha Mumma, A2 of Iowa City; acted as hostesses at the third of the weekly "at homes" given by Kappa Kappa Gamma yesterday afternoon. Miss Florence Musson, the house mother opened, and informal dancing was enjoyed by the guests.

Iola Club to Hold Election
Mrs. George A. Stevens will be hostess to the members of the Iola club at her home in University Heights at 2 o'clock today. Election of officers will take place. A social hour will follow the meeting.

Iowa City Woman's Club
Mrs. Arthur Weatherly, 10 S. Gilbert street, will be hostess to the public welfare department of the Iowa City Woman's club tomorrow afternoon. The meeting begins at 3 o'clock. Mrs. F. A. Stromsten will speak on "Conditions in Iowa City as Found by Federal Agents." Mrs. Kendrick is chairman of the meeting.

Hesperia Holds Poetry Meeting
Hesperia literary society will hold a poetry meeting in Hep hall Thursday evening. Sarah Marie Cook will be in charge of the program, which is as follows: Origin of Poetry, Margaret Stehn; The Old Poetry, Jeanne Doran and Doris Marshall; Comparison of Old and New Types, Sara Marie Cook; The New Poetry, Margaret Eohland and Hazel Kline.

Grigsby-Musgrove
The marriage has been announced of Guida May Grigsby, daughter of Mrs. D. D. Grigsby, Chicago, Ill., to Arfax Musgrove, also of Chicago. The wedding took place at the Second Baptist church of Chicago, Nov. 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Musgrove are former students of the University of Missouri. Mrs. Musgrove has served as secretary to Dr. N. G. Alcock of Iowa City for the past three years. Mr. and Mrs. Musgrove will make their home in Chicago.

Alpha Delta Pi
Veda and Leta Dove and Lucille Bouffé were dinner guests at the Alpha Delta Pi house last evening.

Delta Tau Delta
Jack Delaney was a dinner guest at the chapter house last evening.

Sigma Kappa
Sigma Kappa announces the pledging of Helen Westfall, G, of Indianola.

Alpha Xi Delta
Marion Rambo was a dinner guest last evening at the Alpha Xi Delta house.

Theta Tau
Theta Tau announces the pledging of W. Waldo To'ne, S4 of Iowa City, and Paul B. Towne, S1 of Iowa City.

Phi Mu
Phi Mu is holding a Christmas bazaar Saturday at Sidwell's to raise funds for charity work.

Phi Omega Pi
Phi Omega Pi announces the pledging of Helen Brown, A3 of Washington.

Vera Hood, A3 of Independence, is a dinner guest at the chapter house this evening.

Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic fraternity announces the election of Charles Nutting, A3, Iowa City.

SALLY'S SALLIES

Long skirts caught germs; short skirts catch men.

Mrs. Kirby Entertains
Forty-three at Tea
Mrs. Thomas J. Kirby entertained forty-three guests at a tea yesterday afternoon at her home, 732 Bowers street.

Mrs. Charles Robbins, and her daughter, Jane, assisted as parlor hostesses. Dining room hostesses were Mrs. Forest C. Ensign, Mrs. Paul Packer, Mrs. Harry A. Green, Mrs. Ernest B. Horn, Mrs. Fred E. Holmes, and Mrs. Frederick B. Knight.

Mrs. Meardon Entertains Ten
Mrs. William Meardon, Muscatine road, entertained ten guests at a luncheon at her home yesterday noon. The afternoon was spent at a social time.

Entertain J. B. Club at Bridge
The members of the J. B. club were entertained at bridge by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Evans of Coralville, at their home last evening. Honors for score were won by Chris Serup and Edward Wren.

Mrs. Van Epps Entertains Women's Aid Society
Mrs. Clarence Van Epps, 430 N. Clinton street, entertained the members of the Women's Aid society of the first Presbyterian church at her home yesterday afternoon. Mrs. E. M. McEwen was in charge of the meeting. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Robert S. Hunter, Mrs. John Buck, Mrs. C. W. Bothell, Mrs. Fred Davis, Mrs. Rigler, Mrs. J. B. Van Horn, and Mrs. W. C. Caldron.

Methodist Student Council to Dine With the Rev. Fort
The Rev. and Mrs. Charles E. Fort are entertaining the members of the Methodist student council at dinner at 545 this evening in the Methodist student center, 129 N. Dubuque.

Methodist Sunday School Class Holds Party
Members of the Colony class of the Methodist church were entertained at a class party at the church parlors last evening. Eleanor Loche is the teacher of the class.

Davis-Shibley
Pearl Davis, daughter of Charles D. Davis, 722 Rundell street, and Millard V. Shibley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shibley of New London, were married at the Buena Vista Memorial Presbyterian church of Chicago, Nov. 27. The Rev. Henry Hepburn read the double ring ceremony. Merna Shibley, Strawberry Point, and John B. Van Dyke attended the couple. After the ceremony, the bridal party were entertained at the Edgewater Beach hotel, Chicago.

Mrs. Shibley is a graduate of the Iowa City high school and Brown's business college, and is a former student of the university. She has been associated with the Compton book company of Chicago for the past few months.

Mr. Shibley is a graduate of the New London high school, Fort Madison business college, and of the college of commerce of the university. He is a member of Phi Delta Gamma, honorary forensic fraternity. Mr. Shibley is now employed in the commercial department of Marshall Fields, Chicago.

Theta Xi
The Theta Xi's will give an informal Christmas dance at the chapter house on Dec. 18. The traditional Christmas tree will be one of the main features of the party.

North Scott Society Circle to Meet Today

The members of the North Scott society circle will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Westcott, E. Iowa City this afternoon.

Christian Church Group to Meet This Evening
Members of the Rachael Carrel division of the Christian church hold their regular meeting this evening at the home of Mrs. J. L. Whitman on Seventh and Court street. Following the 8 o'clock supper there will be a program under the leadership of Lula M. McCune. The Rev. LeRoy Munyon will give a report of the convention held recently which he attended at Memphis, Tenn.

Misses Anderson Entertain Missionary Society

The members of the Young Women's missionary society of the Methodist church were entertained last evening by Delvena Anderson and Louise Anderson.

Delta Gamma
Dinner guests at the Delta Gamma house last night were Miss Elizabeth Conrad, chaperon at the Kappa Alpha Theta house, Anne Eeman, Dan Dutcher, Bernard Tone, and Wendell Savary.

Professor Monroe Discusses Foreign Education Methods

"The American school child is taught to look upon life as a great adventure from which he may get all the zest that he wishes," said Prof. Paul Monroe, of Columbia university, in a talk yesterday afternoon to a large number of students and others interested in education.

Having made an extensive study of foreign educational systems while in Europe, Mr. Monroe made a comparison of the methods there and here, choosing as his subject, "Some Problems of Education from an International Viewpoint."

"European educators are of the opinion that the American school child is taught to guess, and take a chance," said Professor Monroe. "In Europe if the child gives a wrong answer, he is punished, as he is expected to know it or else not answer."

Free Education Recent
Having given a historical background for his subject, the speaker pointed out how education had been neglected until recently, and that even the early American leaders did not realize its value except possibly for the success of a democracy. New York did not have free schools until 1867 and New Jersey until 1869.

"In Europe the school teacher is a state official and gets his education, salary, and pension after retiring, paid by the state just as does a man who enters West Point in this country. As living conditions are very difficult in Europe, a young person is often glad to become an employee of the government, even at a low wage, as he is sure of a job for life," said Monroe.

Advanced Work at Nine
Mr. Monroe pointed out that the European school program is a matter of political concern and that a child who wishes to carry on advanced education must be selected and start preparing for it at nine or ten years of age.

As there are no requirements for entrance in the advanced and technical schools of Russia, conditions are bad. The intellectual class has been deliberately driven out there, and although there is some ability among the masses of common people, it will probably be a long time before a return can be made to normal.

Professor Monroe is a member of the Institute of International Education.

Who's Who Names Fifty-Nine Iowa Faculty Members

Two Iowa City Men Also Honored in 1926-27 Book

The University of Iowa has the distinction of having the names of fifty-nine men and women of the faculty in the new 1926-1927 Who's Who in America.

Who's Who is published every other year and those eligible for admission are divided into two classes: (1) those who are selected on account of special prominence in creditable lines of effort making them the subjects of extensive interest, inquiry or discussion in this country, and (2) those who are arbitrarily included on account of official position—civil, military, naval, religious or educational.

New Features in Book
The book this year is bound in a new size and has an added feature of the names of the children of those mentioned in the biographies in the book.

The book of 1924-1925 contained the names of sixty-two members of the university faculty but the list this year is practically the same.

Lists Iowa Professors
The names of those of the university and how they are classified are as follows: John F. Frederick, author; Fred E. Haynes, sociologist; Frederic G. Hilbee, educator; F. E. Fiorack, political scientist; H. Claude Horack, professor, law; Ernest Horn, professor, education; Ralph E. House, professor, Spanish; Gilbert L. Houser, biologist.

Walter A. Jessup, educator; Harry Jones, law school dean; John B. Kaiser, librarian; George F. Kay, geologist; Byron J. Lambert, civil engineer.

Thomas H. McBride, educator; V. C. Myers, biochemist; Charles C. Nutting, zoologist; S. T. Orton, psychopathologist; Paul C. Packer, educator; G. T. W. Patrick, university professor; J. Newton Pearce, chemist.

Edwin F. Piper, educator; Harry G. Plum, professor, history; Henry J. Prentiss, anatomist; Henry L. Riets, college professor; Elbert W. Rockwood, chemist; Ernest A. Rogers, educator; W. T. Root, professor, history; Charles J. Rowan, surgeon; Carl E. Seashore, college dean; B. F. Shambaugh, university professor; Bohumil Shimek, botanist.

E. D. Starbuck, college professor; Arthur Steindler, orthopedist; Geo. W. Stewart, physicist; Wilbur J. Teters, educator; E. N. S. Thompson, educator; A. C. Trowbridge, zoologist; Jacob Van Der Zee, professor political science.

Judge Wade's Name Appears
C. H. Weller, archeologist; Ruth Wheeler, chemist; Edward Bartow, chemist; G. G. Benjamin, professor, history; Walter P. Bondwell, professor, law; B. T. Breese, dental surgeon; Stephen H. Bush, college professor; E. W. Chittenden, university professor; Philip G. Clapp, musician; Hardin Craig, college professor; Lee W. Dean, surgeon; Forest C. Ensign, professor education; Burton P. Fleming, engineer; R. C. Flickinger, university professor; Arthur H. Ford, electrical engineer; William R. Whitels, surgeon; E. F. Wickham, entomologist; Charles B. Wilson, university professor; Sherman M. Woodward, engineer; and Robert B. Wylie, university professor.

The names of two Iowa City men are also contained in the book, Martin J. Wade, judge, and Milton Remley, lawyer.

Freshman Hockey Players Lose to Seniors, 2 to 1

Ruth Bruechert, A4 of Omaha, Neb. led her band of senior hockey cohorts to a 2 to 1 victory over the fast and eager, but less experienced freshman girls, captained by Lorraine Hesalroad, A1 of Newton, in the final game of the class tournament yesterday. The goal which won the game was made in the second to the last minute of play.

Since Friday, Nov. 26, when the seniors and freshmen both overcame their opponents, the middleclassmen, on a field covered with snow, intense interest has been forming between the rivals for the finals, but the snow was too deep to play. Monday, however, the freshmen sent a challenge to the seniors which was accepted and resulted in the match being played off last night without either team having had any practice for over a week.

Today, Prof. Elizabeth Halsey, head of the department of physical education and Adele Kimm, hockey coach, will choose an all-star varsity team which will be honorary only. The ability of a number of the freshman and senior players revealed in last night's game assures them places on the team.

The playing was quite jumbled and the members of the teams did not have good cooperation. Hard, long shots way ahead of the players caused much unnecessary chasing up and down the field and tired the players.

The first goal by the seniors came to dishearten the frosh shortly after the start of the game. No other goal was made during the first half and the ball was far from either goal most of the time.

In the second half, the frosh made a surprise goal and held the seniors until the last two minutes of play when a moment's hesitation by the defense in getting the stick on the ball as it rolled toward the goal caused them to donate the seniors a goal and the game.

Forty-four girls will be awarded 100 points toward and "I" sweaters as a result of the tournament and 11 freshmen will receive 1930 numerals.

Four Co-eds Attend Alumni Dance, Fair

Edna Cantwell, A3 of Davenport, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Jane Shoentgen, A2 of Council Bluffs, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Elizabeth Morgan, A2 of Newton, Delta Gamma; and Margaret Johnson, A2 of Waterloo, Kappa Kappa Gamma, will attend an alumni dance on Friday Dec. 3, and the Fair on Sat. Dec. 4, at the alumni reunion at St. Catherine's school in Davenport.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—In one of the most unusual divorce cases on record, James Hamby, a deaf mute, was granted a divorce decree from Mrs. Johanna Hamby, also a deaf mute, on grounds that his wife continually cursed him in the sign language.

Who's Who at Iowa

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 2) no small degree, and is a fast and shifty runner.

Joesting, the greatest line plunger in the country, wins the fullback berth with little competition. Not only is he invaluable for his offensive ability but for his worth as a defensive back as well.

Parkin will long be remembered by Iowa football fans for his stellar work on the Old Gold gridiron. He was captain of the 1924 team, all-conference back the same year, and was also chosen on some all-American selections. To him the most memorable game was Iowa's defeat of Michigan, 9 to 2, on the latter's field in 1924. This victory marked the first time that Michigan had been beaten on their home gridiron for several seasons, and the team played as if inspired by some being to accomplish that end.

Parkin was born at Epworth, Iowa, in 1902. He attended East High, Waterloo, graduating in 1921. Here he played four years of football, captain his senior year, and four years of basketball. He came to Iowa in the fall of '21 and won numerals in football, basketball, and baseball. He played two years on the Iowa varsity football team under Howard Jones, and the last year under Burton Ingwerson. He coached freshmen football here this fall.

Parkin is a member of Phi Delta Theta, social fraternity, Hawkeye Club, A. F. I. He was president of the sophomore class, liberal arts, and was chairman of the freshman party.

Pi Beta Phi Christmas Bazaar and Bridge Benefit

SAT., Dec. 4

2 to 5

From The Paris Cleaners Phone 68

For YOUR Home This Christmas, a Cine-Kodak —for personal movies

Cine-Kodak outfits are Christmas gifts the whole family will use and enjoy. Fascinating days MAKING your own movies —delightful evenings SHOWING your own movies on your own screen. We're ready here to show you the Cine-Kodak equipment—stop in any time. Complete Outfits, $140.00 up.

Henry Louis Druggist
The Rexall and Kodak Store
124 East College

Gillette Burgess made the Goops famous  But it remained for an Iowa man to exemplify the Goop in Real Life. It is a Sad Story But here it is  As a misguided freshman he missed the "I" Blanket Hop when a Sophomore he was too busy with the books and as a Junior too busy with a parlor date when he was a Senior his intentions were good but he came to— with a headache a day Late. Don't Be A Goop!

Don't Miss the 'I' Blanket Hop is Friday, Dec. 3 see the 1927 Football Captain Dance to DEXTER'S BAND All for $1.50 Tickets Limited to 500 What's — A. F. I. Members

THAT MID-MORNING HUNGER can be best appeased with a cup of our Delicious Hot Chocolate Just enough to satisfy for a time, yet not enough to spoil your noonday lunch. WHEATSTONES Three Stores

HUMPHREY Radiantfire
Give Them Comfort—the Most Satisfying Gift of All The ideal gift for the family is one that will give everyone the greatest joy not only for this Christmas season but for many years to come. Radiantfire means complete comfort—convenience—a real saving in money in Spring and Fall and a cheery fireplace you will use throughout the winter. This marvelous gas fire gives you healthful radiant heat—prevents colds from stuffy rooms—makes a fireplace beautiful whether in use or unlighted. There's a Model to Suit Every Need and Every Pocketbook Iowa City Light & Power Co. A United Light Property

The Parisian Miss Adopts This New Sailortie by I. MILLER Fifth Avenue
The Beauette
Saucy bow! Dainty opera lines! The spirit of youth invades the Mode—and secures a charming prize in this smart little slipper for afternoons! Match your holiday slippers with Domy's Beautiful Hosiery—silken, colorful, and long-wearing. Domy Boot Shop Feminine Foot Wear 128 E. Washington

"The Petter"

By BEATRICE BURTON
Author of "Love Bound," "Her Man."

Copyrighted by Johnson Features, Inc., 1819 Broadway, New York.

CHAPTER LXIII
On Sunday night George Leet came to see Merry. He came promptly at eight o'clock.

He had been coming every Sunday and Wednesday nights for almost six years—and he always came at eight o'clock.

George was a man of habit. He did everything according to some kind of clock-work plan that he had thought out carefully, beforehand.

One of his carefully laid plans was that when his invalid mother died, he would marry Merry Locke.

When that would be he did not know, of course. But when it finally did happen he was sure that Merry would be waiting to fall into his arms.

He was sure, too, that Merry cared for him. She let him hold her soft slim body in his arms, she let him print timid luke-warm kisses on her round red mouth, and certainly no nice woman lets a man do those things unless she expects to become his wife!

And so, George had the shock of his life that Sunday night, when Merry came downstairs and seated herself just inside the door of Momm's old-fashioned parlor.

For the chair where she sat was in plain view from the room where Momm and Mr. Hefflinger were sitting—and much as George wanted to kiss Merry, he did NOT want to swept sky. "George, I have something I want to say to you."

"The night, 'Lay on, Macduff!'" answered George, who quoted bits from Shakespeare whenever he could. He tried to take his sweet-heart's hand in his, but Merry drew it gently away from him.

She was silent for a minute or two. She hated to do the thing she was going to do—the thing she was going to say.

"George," she repeated, "do you like me lots?"

In the darkness George's face turned toward her, and she knew there was utter surprise written on it.

"Haven't I told you so a thousand times?" he asked. "Why?"

"Because," Merry faltered, "because—"

Then she suddenly made up her mind to have it over with, as soon as possible.

She stopped and stood against some white fence pickets that edged the sidewalk. She was standing in the glare of an arc light that touched her hair with gold and shone like silver on her soft cheek. She had never looked lovelier to George Leet.

"I'm not going to marry you, after all, George," she said to him quietly.

He looked at her face in the dimness for a long time. Even in the golden half-light from the swinging street lamp, he could see the determination on it.

"What's happened? Has somebody come between us?" he asked. It was not his way to say much, at any time. And just now he was, as he told himself, "knocked foolish."

"No, no one, at all," she told him. No one had come between them. The thing that had come between them was nothing more than a picture likeness on the front page of a newspaper.

Merry looked at that picture of Tony Gaines late that night, when she was ready for bed. Standing before the dresser in her room, she held it between her hands for a long time.

"You did it!" she said softly, "you, Tony Gaines!"

Australians Comment on American Schools, Sports, Knowledge, Girls

By RALPH YOUNG
Clever—yes, witty—decidedly so, jolly—indeed. All of these adjectives and innumerable other words could be applied to the conversation of the three debaters from Australia. A serious thought now and then, only to be chased away by a clever bit of repartee gave me a hint of their style of debating.

Interesting, fascinating; unlimited words could be used to describe the three men as they talked to me, all the time hurrying back and forth, higher and you, in a desperate attempt to strangle into stiffbosomed shirts, patent leather shoes, and all that goes to make up formal attire.

The burden of the conversation was carried by McIntosh, lawyer and athlete, short and sandy-haired, who seemed to do a dozen different things at once.

Seasons Are Opposite
"You will realize that our seasons are opposite from yours and that right now we are traveling through America during our summer vacation," was his explanation to my inquiry as to how they were able to miss so much school.

"We start our school year in March and continue on until December, when we are dismissed for our summer vacation. This would be the same as a team from here coming to Australia during your summer months. When you arrived you would be coming into our coldest weather, which, by the way, is not as cold as you have here, rather more like the climate of California."

"We differ from your school system in another respect, and that is that we take our examinations at the start of the school year, instead of the close. Heffwood," pointing at the captain of the team, "takes his examination when he gets back home. He is planning on a three months study in New York, of journalism and the business side of journalism."

All Graduate Students
McIntosh and Godsal are graduate students in the University of Sydney. McIntosh is studying for the law school, and Godsal receiving his degree from the college of medicine.

"Another strange thing about your American universities is what seems to us, the smallness of your campuses, and the fewness of your buildings. In Australia, Sydney for example, we have only 2,500 students, but we have a larger campus and more buildings than any school that we have yet visited. And even then they complain that they are crowded."

"We have what is called the English system for housing our students. We have dormitories for different denominations. They are run somewhat similar to a fraternity."

Like Fraternities—And Girls
"I like your fraternities very much," was his answer to my question about our college fraternities.

"Our university girls are not as good as yours, for the simple reason that girls in Australia go to school for an education. Take your own girls that have had five years of Latin, five years of Greek, five years of history. As a rule they aren't good looking are they? Well that is our type of university girl."

Publishers Offer $500 Essay Prize

Contest Results From Comment on Play Presentation

A bulletin announcing a $500 prize contest by Boni and Liveright, publishers, in regard to Theodore Dreiser's "American Tragedy," has recently been placed on the bulletin board in the law building.

The prize is to be given for the best essay on the controversial topic, "Was Clyde Griffiths the central figure of 'An American Tragedy,' guilty of Roberta Alden's death and therefore subject to the penalty of capital punishment for first degree murder?" The contest is the culmination of a vast amount of comment and discussions, increased by the present presentation in New York of the drama from Dreiser's book.

Boni and Liveright have inaugurated the contest for the purpose of solving the problem from both the legal and social aspects. Essays must be submitted by Dec. 31, 1926 by anyone interested in either one or both of these points of view, or in any other factors that enter into the judging of a criminal.

Jury judges have been chosen to judge the manuscripts. From the legal standpoint, Arthur Garfield Hays will judge. Mr. Hays is a member of the National Committee of American Civil Liberties union, and last year was in charge of the defense at the Scopes' trial in Tennessee. Bishop William Montgomery Brown, formerly Bishop of Arkansas, will judge from the humanitarian point of view. Heywood Brown, who writes the column, "It Seems to Me," in the New York World will pass on the literary merit of the essays.

An additional feature of the contest is the announcement by Boni and Liveright that, if there are a sufficient number of manuscripts submitted which in their content or literary merit justify such a procedure, the best will be published in book form and a royalty of fifteen per cent paid, which will be divided equally among the contestants whose essays are included.

SIoux CITY, Nov. 30 (AP)—S. S. Kugell, Sioux City, president of the Floyd Valley manufacturing company, was killed in an auto accident near Volga, S. D., this morning.

Maynard Leaves to Attend Student Federation Meeting

Proctor W. Maynard, A4 of Harvard; leaves today for Ann Arbor to attend the second annual conference of the National Student Federation of America, to be held Dec. 2, 3, and 4.

At this conference the federation will permanently organize and a constitution will be adopted. Last year, preliminary meetings were held in the south and in the east.

Some of the topics which the representatives of the various universities over the country will discuss at the conference are: the student and extra-curricular activities, the honor system and student government, athletics, fraternities, class attendance, nature of curriculum, and many others. When Proctor Maynard returns, an open forum is to be held and all students in the university may attend.

This Isn't Surprising
ERIE, Pa.—Cross-word puzzles sent an Erie man to the State Hospital for the insane at Warren. It was said his detention would not be for long, for his ailment was diagnosed in time to prevent complete nervous breakdown. He is the first "cross-word" patient the institution has had.

SPECIAL CAR FOR DORNBERGER'S
Victor Recording Orchestra
playing at CEDAR RAPIDS
DANCELAND
THURSDAY, DEC. 2

Special arrangements have been made with E. R. Ry. & Light Co. to run a special car out of Cedar Rapids at 12:30 on this night. This will give Iowa City people ample opportunity of dancing to one of the greatest Victor Recording Orchestras that have ever appeared in these parts.

Are You Hungry?
TODAY'S SPECIAL
Roast Turkey, Dressing, and Cranberry Sauce
25c
NOON NIGHT
Holman Cafeteria
124 East Washington

—STARTING—
FRIDAY — TOMORROW
GARDEN THEATRE
A World Entertaining Story of the World of Entertainers!
EVERYBODY'S ACTING
With the Season's Smartest Cast—
FORD STERLING
RAYMOND HITCHCOCK
LOUISE DRESSER — BETTY BRONSON
Last Times Today
Ahe Ace of Actors in the Ace of Screen Entertainment
Witty! Wise! Luxurious!
News ADOLPHE MENJOU Usual Prices
Comedy THE ACE OF CADES Garden Orchestra

CHAPTER LXIV
The murder trial of Mrs. Ruck kept the whole country on tiptoe throughout June and July of 1926.

But for Merry Locke the trial interesting only because of one person in it—young Anthony Gaines, the lawyer for the accused woman.

Merry kept every newspaper clipping that mentioned his name. She kept them as carefully as the proud wife of a prominent man might hoard newspaper clippings that mentioned his name.

She put them away in an extravagant handkerchief box with pink roses painted all across its satin top. A box that had been a gift from Bill Erskine, long ago, in the days when he showered presents upon her.

"What on earth are you saving all those clippings for?" Lillie Dale asked her one morning when she came into Merry's room to borrow a clean handkerchief.

Lillie never had enough clean things. She would forget to send her clothes to the laundry until a sudden lack of fresh linen reminded her of them.

She stood now, in a crumpled blue lawn dress, peering into the mass of paper that was in the box where she had expected to find Merry's handkerchiefs.

Then she swung around from the dresser and faced the girl.

"You're not crazy about that fellow, still, are you?" she said, her little bright eyes wide with wonder.

"Not after all these years?"

Merry looked back at her coldly and steadily. "There are plenty of clean handkerchiefs in my top drawer, Lillie," she answered, and Lillie took one and went without another word.

Merry went on dressing. It did not take her as long as it had, once upon a time. For she no longer wore that hick mask of make-up that Lillie had taught her to wear.

She had found out that it was bad for her skin, and now she used the tiniest bit of rouge and powder. Curiously enough, it was baby-powder that came in white tin boxes.

Merry loved the sweet, clean smell of it on her skin, although Lillie told her a dozen times a day, at least, that her nose was shiny.

She told her so that morning at breakfast.

"I don't care," Merry said, looking at her from over her coffee cup. "I'd rather have it shiny than all pasty with powder. I'm so sick of looking at made-up women that a shiny nose looks positively beautiful to me—I'm getting to the place where I wish I never had to step inside of that beauty shop of ours again, as long as I lived."

Lillie laid down her knife and fork with a clatter.

"That's quite an idea, Merry," she answered. "I've been thinking for a long time that I don't need you there. Almost anybody could do the work you do. I could hire a girl for five hours a day for very little money."

At first this was a blow to Merry. But after two or three days she made up her mind to leave the shop.

"You can give me back the thousand dollars I put into the shop, Lillie," she told Lillie Dale. "and I'll take a business course, I think."

After all, the beauty shop was a blind alley. It led nowhere.

"And if I'm going to be an old maid all my life, I may as well have a career," Merry said to herself.

Rent a Typewriter
NEW UNDERWOODS
—also—
CORONAS,
REMINGTONS
Special Rates to Students
WILLIAMS' Iowa Supply
On Clinton Street

STRAND THEATRE
Now Showing
A Faithful Picturization of One of the Four Best Sellers in Modern Literature.
GENE STRATTON PORTER'S "Laddie"
Crazy Cat Cartoon and Buster Brown
2 Reel Comedy
Latest Fox News
Henrietta Shippers
at The Robert Morton

Attend the First Basketball Game
in the New Field House!
St. Louis vs Iowa
Sat., Dec. 4, 7:35 p. m.
Year Ticket Coupon No. 6
General Admission, 75 cents

PASTIME THEATRE
Now Showing
Come and see the most brilliant character the screen's most lovable actor has ever made.
If you enjoy fine acting be sure and see
RICHARD BARTHELMESS
"THE AMATEUR GENTLEMAN"
"The Amateur Gentleman is a Professional Masterpiece."
THIS IS HIS LATEST AND BIGGEST HIT
—also showing—
Latest Pathe News - Fables
Special Musical Number
ELAINE BAIR will play on the Pastime Wonder Organ, the new song hit with beautiful colored slides "I Never Knew What the Moonlight Could Do?"
Then we have a knockout comedy featuring Charley Chase in "BROMO and JULIET"
—It's a Scream—Don't Fail to See It—
You don't only get good pictures at the Pastime Theatre but the best music in town.
Usual Prices Attend Matinees

Scientific Mating Can Stop Cancer?
MILWAUKEE, Nov. 30 (AP)—By scientific mating, based upon a knowledge of heredity and eugenics, men and women can eliminate cancer from the human species within two generations.

This prediction, the most startling of any given by scientists at the convention of the Radiological society of North America, here, was made by Dr. Maude Slye of the University of Chicago, and the only woman speaker at the convocation, in an address tonight.

The navy blue scarf picked up Sunday near the Garden Theatre was valued as a keepsake and of more value to owner than the one who now has it. Reward for return to Daily Iowan office.

FREE LESSONS
in making of crystalline lamp shades, telephone shillas, waste baskets and art work.
Today, Friday & Saturday
Day and Evening Classes
New braid, imported bead fringes, and all trimmings are priced according to kind.
Wire Frames 35c to $2.50
Karl's Paint Shop
6-8 South Dubuque

For Your Convenience
Neva Hungerford's Christmas Gifts at Student Supply Store
Across from Whet's No. 1

Better than QUININE for COLDS
KALIS' FLU CAPS
50¢ at your Druggist

Attend the First Basketball Game
in the New Field House!
St. Louis vs Iowa
Sat., Dec. 4, 7:35 p. m.
Year Ticket Coupon No. 6
General Admission, 75 cents

PASTIME THEATRE
Now Showing
Come and see the most brilliant character the screen's most lovable actor has ever made.
If you enjoy fine acting be sure and see
RICHARD BARTHELMESS
"THE AMATEUR GENTLEMAN"
"The Amateur Gentleman is a Professional Masterpiece."
THIS IS HIS LATEST AND BIGGEST HIT
—also showing—
Latest Pathe News - Fables
Special Musical Number
ELAINE BAIR will play on the Pastime Wonder Organ, the new song hit with beautiful colored slides "I Never Knew What the Moonlight Could Do?"
Then we have a knockout comedy featuring Charley Chase in "BROMO and JULIET"
—It's a Scream—Don't Fail to See It—
You don't only get good pictures at the Pastime Theatre but the best music in town.
Usual Prices Attend Matinees

TODAY and FRIDAY ENGLERT THEATRE
Love Making and Heart Breaking — A Comedy of Youth as You Like It!
WITH EVELYN BRENT LAWRENCE GRAY LOUISE BROOKS
A FRANK TUTTLE PRODUCTION
A Paramount Picture
And for Fun—Special Selected Comedy "The Humdinger"
World's Late News
—Englert Orchestra—
— Usual Prices —

A Complete Surprise Awaits You!
ENGLERT THEATRE
Saturday
A Surprise as Fine as the New Englert Itself!
THE MIGHTY BARTON ORGAN
Mr. George D. Bickford at the Console
You'll Be Astounded!
And on the screen another smashing war comedy! A story of after Armistice days!
TIN HATS
with Conrad Nagel Claire Windsor Bert Roach

Thursday, Deco
Bro Fraternity
Poloists
Tourn
Sigma Nu
Chi v
Sig
"Get Boice."
The two contend fraternity water
Delta Chi and Sig war crys as the engagement in t
will take place at men's gym.
Boice holds the
ing record by acc his team's six g
Upsilon and bot victory over Phi for, Sigma Nu at the ball nicely at accurate shot.
Sigma Nu, by
Alpha Epsilon, 3

Brown and Pennsylvania Split Honors on All-Eastern Team

Fraternity Water Poloists Finish Tournery Today

Sigma Nu Meets Delta Chi by Win Over Sig Alphas

"Get Boice." "Watch Shaffer." The two contenders for the interfraternity water polo championship, Delta Chi and Sigma Nu, voice these war cries as they enter the final engagement in the tournery, which will take place at 5:30 today in the men's gym.

Boice holds the tournament scoring record by accounting for four of his team's six goals against Delta Upsilon and both pointers in the victory over Phi Epsilon Pi. Shaffer, Sigma Nu ace, is fast, handles the ball nicely and is a clever and accurate shot.

Sigma Nu, by upsetting Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 3 to 1, last night in

Nelson Gets Place on College Humor Grid Honor Roll

College Humor, in its all-American honor roll, appearing in the current issue of that magazine, honors two University of Iowa players.

Joseph C. Godfrey, Jr., in his selection of tackles for his all-American team, names "Spike" Nelson first on his list of outstanding tackles. "Spike's" name heads those of such noteworthies as Wickhorst of the Navy, Johnson of Northwestern, Baer of Michigan, and Perry of Alabama.

"Brien" Young, consistent wingman on this year's Hawkeye team, is placed on the all-American movie team at the right end position. The movie team, is made up of players having names of famous screen stars. It is made up of: Walker, Amherst, and Young, Iowa, ends; Stewart, Harvard, and Joyce, Loyola, tackles; Nelson, Bates, and Lee, North Dakota, guards; Taylor, DePaw, center; O'Brien, Boston U., quarterback; Rogers, Penn., and Griffith, Northwestern, halfbacks; and Chaplin, Florida, fullback.

Each Land Pair on First String Choice of Critics

Coaches and Writers Vote in Picking Honor Teams

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Brown and Pennsylvania share major honors in the selection of all-eastern gridiron stars for 1926, according to consensus of coaches and newspaper critics, compiled by the Associated Press.

Each university placed two outstanding players on the first all-eastern team; Brown, with Roy Randall at quarterback and Captain Broda at end; Pennsylvania with Jack Butler at center and Charles Rogers at half.

Agree on Line Positions

The coaches found little difference of opinion on line positions. Harry Connaughton, giant Georgetown guard, polled the heaviest vote but was not far ahead of Frank Wickhorst, Navy tackle and Captain.

Vic Hanson, versatile Syracuse captain and Broda were almost unanimous choices for the wings. Buller had little opposition for the pivot position, the poll showed, but there was a sharp contest for the other tackle position with Sprague of Army barely gaining a lead over such stars as Cotran of Lafayette and Lassman of New York university. A wide difference of opinion prevailed in picking backfield men, although Randall was a strong favorite for quarterback.

Cincinnati Club Owners May Get Columbus Team

COLUMBUS, Dec. 1 (AP)—Officials and directors of the Cincinnati National League baseball club decided today to make a definite offer within a week to purchase the Columbus franchise in the American association.

The decision was reached here at a conference of Cincinnati officials with Joe E. Carr, president of the Columbus club, who owns the association team. The proposed purchase price was not made known.

Some time ago, it is known, Wilson wanted $200,000 for the franchise. Members of the Cincinnati delegation said the Columbus club, if purchased, will be used as a "farm" to develop youngsters and other players for the Cincinnati Reds.

Quad Plans Large Athletic Program

Announce Varied List of Winter, Spring Sports Events

The quadrangle sports calendar for the remainder of the school year is organized to include every man in the dormitory, if Richard H. Godlove, A3 of Wellman, director of quad athletics, succeeds with press-shed plans. With the basketball season opening tomorrow, the schedule of athletic tournaments at the quadrangle is complete to the middle of April with several additional contest pending as possibilities.

"There are a lot of fellows who think that they are either too busy or not good enough to make university teams who will participate in quadrangle sports," Godlove believes. "We want to see every man in the quad doing something in athletics, and the results of the recent football tournament indicate an increase of interest which should put our program over big."

The first quadrangle relays will be held this year, the card to include a wide range of field and track events. This will be an indoor meet.

Hold Boxing and Mat Meets

Boxing and wrestling tournaments are on the program, and awards will be given in various weights to provide competition for the greatest possible number of men.

Baseball is the major sport for the spring months, with an outdoor track meet and a spring tennis tournament being considered.

Announce Long Schedule

The schedule of athletic contests follows:

- Dec. 3.....Basketball season opens
- Dec. 18.....Quadrangle relays
- Jan. 7-10.....Boxing preliminaries
- Jan. 14.....Boxing semi-finals
- Jan. 21.....Boxing finals
- Feb. 4-5.....Wrestling preliminaries
- Feb. 11.....Wrestling semi-finals
- Feb. 18.....Wrestling finals
- Mar. 4.....Free throw tournament (basket ball)
- Mar. 12.....Swimming meet
- April 15.....Baseball tournament open

Navy Grid Heads Announce Schedule

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 1 (AP)—Navy's 1927 football schedule, nearly complete, was announced today as follows:

Oct. 8, Drake University at Annapolis.

Oct. 15, Notre Dame at Baltimore.

Oct. 22, Duke University at Annapolis.

Oct. 29, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Nov. 5, West Virginia Wesleyan at Annapolis.

Nov. 12, Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Nov. 19, Loyola at Annapolis.

Nov. 26, Army at New York.

Oct. 1, remains open.

Tank Artists Lay Plans for Annual Eel-Seal Review

New Natatorium Calls for Greater Show This Year

Plans for the Eel-Seal Review, the annual swimming demonstration given by the men's and women's swimming organizations of the campus, have been started, and intensively according to the committee in charge, consisting of Merlin I. Carter, Cm 3 of Des Moines; Harry R. Jacobs, M3 of Carnarvon; Robert H. Killbrow, D3 of Des Moines; and Dorothy E. Wilson, A4 of Greene.

Mildred Augustine, G of Ladora, will be in charge of diving, Allen Carpenter, A3 of Iowa City, in charge of stunts, and Loyal Kaufman, A4 of Spirit Lake will direct races for the women.

Date Not Yet Set

A definite date has not been decided upon as yet, but in all probability the Review will not be given until the second week in February. In past years it has generally been given in the early part of December, but due to the fact that the affair is to be given at the new field house with a seating capacity of five thousand, more elaborate plans necessitate extensive time and practice. The Review will be given on one night only this year.

Since the new natatorium is about three times as large as the present one, tentative plans provide for a "three ring circus" style, with different events taking place in three parts of the pool at the same time.

Eighty Stage Event

Approximately forty members of Seals club, the women's honorary swimming organization, will cooperate with the forty members of Dolphin fraternity to make the affair one of the most successful and original entertainments of the year and to show the world that Iowans can swim.

The Eel-Seal Review and the Iowan Regatta are the only demonstrations of any kind given on this campus jointly by the men and women.

Varsity Wallops Yearling Quintet in Cage Workout

Hawks Appear Powerful as Opening Game With St. Louis Approaches

With a shut-out defense and smashing offensive, Coach Sam Barry's varsity basketball machine delivered a severe drubbing to the frosh quintet in scrimmage practice yesterday. The first string has developed a loose defense through which the frosh could seldom penetrate. All five varsity men took part in the scoring, working the ball under the basket with comparative ease.

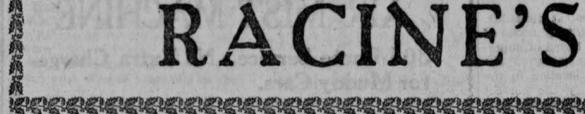

Practically the same starting line-up as has been used in earlier scrimmages was used by Coach Hogan at guards, Wilcox at center, and Twoopod and Van Deusen at guards, commenced play against the frosh. Phillips and Harrison took Twoopod's and Van Deusen's places during the second half of the contest.

Plunkitt and Fabian at forwards, Spaulding at center, and Kanau and Braverman at guards, started the game for the freshmen.

Coach Barry is drilling his squad strenuously in preparation for the meet with St. Louis next Saturday, which will initiate the floor in the new field house.

WHY BILL WROTE TO GLADYS AND NOT TO MABEL DURING CHRISTMAS VACATION

Mabel gave him a necktie that he would not be seen wearing at a dog fight—while Gladys selected a nice pipe for his Christmas gift from—

RACINE'S

A Complete Men's Furnishing Store "on Campus"

DOMINATING OVERCOAT VALUES

$35 $40 $45

Here you will find the right coat for all winter days. This applies to every Overcoat in every particular—fineness of style and quality of fabric, excellence of tailoring and elegance of finish.

College Shoes COASTS' College Clothes

Back Choices Harder

Rogers of Pennsylvania, Kirkeski, Lafayette captain, and Amos of Washington and Jefferson gained the first team halfback positions, as critics showed a disinclination to favor such stars as Noble of Yale and Stagle of Princeton because of their inactivity due to injuries, and to reject Wilson of Army because of his long varsity experience.

FIRST TEAM

- Hanson (Syracuse).....Left End
 - Wickhorst (Navy).....Left Tackle
 - Connaughton (Geo.).....Left Guard
 - Butler (Penn.).....Center
 - Carey (Cornell).....Right Guard
 - Sprague (Army).....Right Tackle
 - Broda (Brown).....Right End
 - Randall (Brown).....Quarter
 - Rogers (Penn.).....Left half
 - Kirkleski (Lafayette).....Right half
 - Amos (W. & J.).....Fullback
- SECOND TEAM
- Boru (Army).....Left End
 - Cotran (Lafayette).....Left Tackle
 - Sturhahn (Yale).....Left Guard
 - Davis (Dartmouth).....Center
 - Schmidt (Army).....Right Guard
 - Lassman (N. Y. U.).....Right Tackle
 - Hubbard (Geneva).....Right End
 - Dooley (Dartmouth).....Quarter
 - Single (Princeton).....Left half
 - Wilson (Army).....Right half
 - Shaughnessy (Col.).....Fullback
- Honorable mention was given to the following players:
- Ends—Thayer, Penn.; Archoska, Syracuse; McGrath, Georgetown; Timm, Colgate; Towle, Brown; Saltonstall, Harvard.
- Tackles—Eddy, Navy; Hako, Pennsylvania; Mankat, Colgate; Yoder, Carnegie Tech.; Kevorkian, Brown; Goady, Harvard; Richards, Yale; Guards—Smith, Brown; Davis, Princeton; Farber, Brown; Pauly, W. J.; Dumont, Colgate; McHenry, West Virginia; Lynn, Pittsburgh.
- Center—Daly, Army; Gamache, Harvard.
- Quarterbacks—Mehler, Colgate; Caulkins, Princeton; Connor, N. Y. U.; Harding, Army; Harpster, Carnegie Tech.
- Backs—Wilson, Lafayette; Donohue, Carnegie Tech.; Hamilton, Navy; Mischel and Lawrence, Brown; Murrell, Army; Noble, Yale; Carr, Syracuse; Cook, W. & J.; Welch, Pittsburgh; Nork, Georgetown.

Tiger Flowers Set for Title Battle

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—Tiger champion today finished training for the defense of his title against Mickey Walker, one time welter-weight titleholder, at the Coliseum, Friday night. The match will go ten rounds to a referee's decision.

OUR DELIVERY SERVICE

is for your convenience. We deliver anything anytime.

WHETSTONES
Three Stores

Known for Good Food

NEW BISMARCK HOTEL CHICAGO
ALL OUTSIDE ROOMS FROM $2.50 UP

Enns, Stange Coach Pirates

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 30 (AP)—Jewel Enns and Oscar Stange today signed contracts to coach the Pittsburgh National League baseball team next season. Enns has been with the Pirates as a player and coach since 1922.

ROOMS FOR RENT

- FOR RENT—TO GRADUATE student instructor or business man or women desirable single room or double with sleeping porch. Phone 775-W.
- FOR RENT—FURNISHED ROOM to graduate students or instructors. 1 Bloom Terrace.
- FOR RENT—ROOMS AND APARTMENTS, furnished or unfurnished. Phone 2352.
- FOR RENT—FURNISHED ROOM $10.00. Gentlemen preferred. Phone 749-W.
- FOR RENT—COZY SINGLE room for girl at 232 E. Bloomington.
- FOR RENT—DOUBLE ROOM. 420 South Dubuque. Phone 3509-W.
- ROOMS FOR RENT WITH GARAGE at 632 Brown. Phone 307.
- ROOMS FOR RENT—BOARD JOBS given. Phone 3515.
- WANTED ROOMMATE
- WANTED—A GIRL ROOMMATE. 315 So. Johnson.

Do you want to buy?

There is someone who wants to sell what you are seeking.

Do you want to sell?

Someone is wanting to buy what you have to sell.

Use Iowan Want Ads!

APARTMENT FOR RENT

FOR RENT—WELL FURNISHED 4 room apartment. Downstairs with private bath. Phone 1479-W.

FOR RENT—SIX ROOM APARTMENT with garage and sleeping porch. 309 E. Burlington.

FOR RENT—ATTRACTIVE apartments for four men. Phone 3515.

PROFESSIONALS

- PRIVATE DANCING LESSONS. Phone 3312 for appointment.
- EYES EXAMINED FREE. A. M. Greer, Optician.

HOUSEKEEPING ROOMS

LIGHT HOUSEKEEPING ROOMS—Phone 2417-W.

FOR RENT—GARAGE 211 Dav-empore St. Phone 3299.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—LADY'S MAHOGANY writing desk and chair. Call 1980-W between one and two.

FOR SALE—FULL BLOODED Persian kittens. 332 So. Governor St. or phone 2479.

WANTED

- WANTED—FURNITURE UPHOLSTERING and repairing. Good work. Price right. Phone 3040 meal time or evenings. J. P. Brysch.
- STUDENTS CLASS NOTES AND themes typed. Also mimeographing of all kinds. Mary V. Burns. Phone 1999-J or 1810-W.
- LATIN TEACHER WITH 15 years experience in South America will tutor. Latin or Spanish. Phone 3625.
- WANTED—THREE EXTRA men for part time at Maruth's.
- WANTED—POSITION BY EXPERIENCED COOK. Phone 3079-J.

LOST AND FOUND

- LOST—THE BARREL OF A Shaeffer Lifetime fountain pen. Return to the Daily Iowan office.
- LOST: DIONE WHITE GOLD wrist watch. Reward. Return to Daily Iowan office.
- LOST—A CREPE SCARF, NAVY blue. Finder leave at Iowan office. Reward.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

BEAUTY CULTURE

MRS. STONERS Beauty Culture including Neste Circuline Permanent Waves 110 1/2 E. College PHONE 1682

Blackstone Beauty Shoppe 123 So. Dubuque Phone 1299-J Experienced Operators. Eugene Permanent Waving. Specialist in women's and children's hair bobbing. MARCELING 75c

PHONE 1654

LET ME BE YOUR BEAUTIFULER Johnson County Bank Building

HAROLD BRANDENBURG Typewriting. Classnotes, Themes, Stories, Nov. 319 E. Bloomington Tel. 3189-W els, Theres

PROFESSIONAL

Dr. M. L. O'Brien DENTIST Successor to Dr. W. E. Gordon Office hours: 8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m. Evenings by Appointment Tel. 1728; Res. Tel. 1785 L. J.

LOLA CLARK MIGHELL, M.D. Diseases of Women Over Slavata's Store Clinton Street Hours 2 to 6 P.M.

INFIRMARY College of Dentistry Open for Clinical Service Beginning Sept. 20, 1926 Hours—10-12 a.m., 1-5 p.m.

MISCELLANEOUS

MONEY TO LOAN on improved business and residence properties Willard Insurance Agency Suite 4 Iowa City Savings Bank

MISCELLANEOUS

For Rent Cash Reasonable A 515 Acre Farm, 2 miles south of Cosgrove, Iowa. A. W. Ensminger Melrose Ave. Iowa City, Ia. PHONE 2063-W.

Home Food Shop ALL KINDS OF COOKED FOODS FRESH DAILY 225 North Linn Street

CARTER'S RENT-A-FORD 12 CARS Always Ready to Go Mileage Basis Tel. 2425

BRAN-DEES RENT-A-FORD Low Day Rates $3 Per Night PHONE 171

TAILORS

"RONGNER" French Dry Cleaning Merchant Tailor "As It Should Be" We Call For and Deliver 109 So. Clinton Tel. 22

Those thoughtful customers who send their garments to us regularly never have to say "I have nothing to wear." Keep your wardrobe ready for any occasion by frequent cleaning and pressing.

T. Dell Kelley The Reliable Cleaner Phone 17 211 East College

County Supervisors Deny Allegations Made in Nagle Petition

Chicken Champions Await Examination After Annual Show

Mrs. Clark Weeber, D. A. Wittig, C. Rittenmeyer, J. C. Speydel, E. A. Strub Win

Clark Weeber of Iowa City won first on a young hen, with a hen and pullet ranking first in the individual competition. The white leghorn cockerels belonging to Ward Wales of Pleasant Valley ranked first and second. His buff leghorns won three places, first for the hen, second for the cock bird and third for his pullets. McIlrath Wins Prizes Thomas McIlrath of Montezuma won first cockerels and first and second pullet with his white Plymouth rocks, first hen, first pullet, third cockerel and third cock bird on his barred Plymouth rocks. The silver laced wyandottes of H. A. Cracy of Tipton netted him first cockerel and second pullet on his barred Plymouth rocks. First and second places went to the pullets in the silver laced wyandotte class entered by W. S. Milder of West Branch. His hens in the same class won second third and fourth places, and his cockerel third place. Wyandotte Prize The white wyandottes of Arthur M. Hotz won first, fourth and fifth among pullets; first, second and third prizes on hens and third on cockerels. George Lyman of Estherville placed second with a white wyandotte pullet and first with a cockerel. In the same class, W. L. Zager of Estherville won third place on hens and second on cockerels. Charles Rittenmeyer of Iowa City placed first hen, first, first pullet, first cockerel and second cockerel with his blue Andalusians. John M. Grove of South English placed first, second and fifth with dark barred Plymouth rock pullets. I. C. Kiseler won second in this class with his cockerels and second with his cock bird. Rhode Island Red The blue ribbon cockerel and the second, third and fourth prizes for pullets were won by J. C. Seydel of Iowa City in the rose comb Rhode Island red competition. D. A. Wittig of Iowa City placed first pullet, and first and third cockerel in the Rhode Island red class. With his single comb Rhode Island reds, E. A. Strub won first on young hens, first on cock birds and first on pullets. William Bright of Iowa City placed second cock bird in the same class. A. E. Reeves of Tiffin placed second pullet and Mrs. E. Wenger of Monticello placed third cockerel. R. V. Curfman of Ladora owned the only black Minorcas shown. Best American Fowls Competition of the winning birds for supremacy in the general class showed that the best American fowls were the male single combed Rhode Island red owned by Mrs. E. Wengle and the female of the same class belonging to E. A. Strub. The rewards for the Mediterranean types went to R. V. Curfman for both male and female birds. Canary awards were made as follows: best song bird, Mrs. Elizabeth Morgan; best solid colored male canary, Mrs. William Slavata; best particularized male canary and also champion of the show, Mrs. A. M. Boyer; best solid color female, Mrs. Morgan.

REGAL SHOES
The Regal Direct University Service
On Display
By Bob Boeye
804 North Dubuque Street

Only Two Prisoners in Johnson County Bastille

The Johnson county jail is almost deserted at present, only two prisoners being incarcerated there. "Buck" McLaughlin, who was captured Nov. 12 by Deputy Jones, and Oscar Chance, who was taken Nov. 16, were both taken to Cambridge, Ill., Monday, in custody of the Cambridge sheriff to answer charges brought against them by the Illinois authorities. Carl Reese, wanted in Cedar Rapids for cashing worthless checks, was turned over to Cedar Rapids officials after being arrested by Johnson county authorities last Saturday night.

Supervisors Call Nagle Statements Misrepresentation

Chairman Sorry That Legislature Won't Hear Board

Charges of partisanship, inconsistency, and erroneous findings, which were made Tuesday against the Johnson county board of supervisors in a petition for an election recount filed by Lee Nagle, were vigorously denied yesterday by the board. The petition, which was filed by Mr. Nagle with the county auditor, complained that because of irregularities in the counting of ballots, Samuel D. Whiting was elected state representative from the forty-first district. The members of the board of supervisors, whose duty it was to check the ballots in the recent election, feel that they have been grossly misrepresented, according to R. P. Jones of Oxford, chairman of the board. Members of the board, who met yesterday are: George Ranshaw of

"Shop Early" Cry, Subject of Signs From Post Office

Secure Extra Help and Room for Holiday Parcel Post

"Do your Christmas shopping and mailing early," is the plea of the Iowa City postmaster and post office employees. Signs impressing this fact upon the minds of residents and students have been posted at different places over the city by Postmaster Charles Shrader, himself. The signs read: "Shop and mail now for Christmas. Wrap parcels securely. Address mail plainly—include street and number. Place your own name and address on all mail to prevent its going to the dead letter office. Mail may be marked "Not to be opened until Christmas. Help our boys have their Christmas dinner at home." As yet the Christmas parcel post rush has not started, and probably will not for another week. When it comes, however, the post office will be prepared to meet the bombardment of packages of all sizes, shapes and contents. An extra room located at 108 South Linn street has been secured for the handling of parcel post packages. The room will probably be occupied by the early part of next week. In addition to this extra accommodation the post office will have more help for delivery of packages.

"Gentlemen" Got Serious; Tied all Legal Tape to Jolly "King Alcohol"

Many a deal has been arranged with (old) "King Alcohol" as a party to the transaction, but perhaps the only one of these to be properly recorded in all due process of law is an old contract, recorded in the office of the Johnson county recorder on Jan. 2, 1865, between seven Iowa City gentlemen and "King Alcohol," so-styled party of the second part. Evidently, either the gentlemen who signed the "articles of agreement," or their wives, did not have a large amount of faith in the annual New Year's resolution "never to drink another drop." So they tied up their resolutions in legal red tape with dire penalties attached in case they "broke over."

Contract Waxen Eloquent "And now be it known, it is not the fear of excess that impels the party of the first part to enter into this vigorous agreement, but rather a hope that it may put a stop to an appetite that may grow (although we think ourselves safe) and dash to the earth the dearest wishes of fond friends, as well as the unfortunate person. Social degradation, mental destruction, and financial ruin stares the unfortunate tippler vessel of a stupendous whole, who are no stronger in resolution than millions who have passed before us."

"Dreaded Cry" Named "The reform in ourselves is not all we wish, or should wish,—we hope by our example and influence

(which we hope is not little) to reclaim many who have been tempted by the dreaded cry of the civilized world. Hoping to fet the active support of all persons knowing of this agreement of total abstinence, we subscribe ourselves hereto."

The names signed to the contract are: P. A. Smith, C. H. Coman, L. C. Pratt, J. C. Swan, W. H. Livermore, George A. Walters, and Bery E. Shipley.

Fire Damages Car of G. C. Knowlton

Fire yesterday morning caused slight damage to a Franklin touring car belonging to G. C. Knowlton, 417 E. Bloomington. The blaze is said to have started from a defect in the wiring system. The fire department was called as the blaze spread rapidly but quick work with the fire extinguisher had it under control when the fire truck arrived. Little damage was done except to the wiring system.

Use an Iowan Want Ad

Car Washing

Using the only Mechanical Car Washer in the City.

A CURTIS AIR MIST MACHINE

30 Minute Service. No Extra Charge for Muddy Cars.

MODERATE PRICES ALWAYS

Overland-Knight Sales Co.

317 E. Bloomington Phone 910 W

Frivol's Christmas Gift to You

Out Wed. Dec. 8 Two-Bits Don't Miss It

When Dreams Come True You May Find A Better Humorous Magazine Than Frivol

North Liberty; George E. Zenshek of Solon; John Carey of Lone Tree; Daniel J. Peters of Iowa City; and R. P. Jones of Oxford. Each member expressed friendship for both candidates and declared that he had no partisan feelings in the matter. When asked about the charges, Mr. Nagle made concerning inaccuracy, the members all denied them. Mr. Nagle had protested that the votes in the fifth ward, Iowa City, should not have been counted because persons were permitted to vote after the hour set for the closing of the polls. This objection was met by the board's declaration that if Mr. Nagle's protest had been allowed, a majority of 250 given to him in that ward would have been wiped out. In the fourth ward, no return complying with the law was filed with the board. Mr. Jones said the board's members, in an effort to ascertain the true results, sent for Evening!

and the Proper Footwear for Formals

—you will find here brilliant Evening slippers, smartly fashioned and moderately priced.

Silver Kid—Colored Pasley—Basket weave, silver cloth, and Patents. $7.50 Sparkling Buckles $2 to $5

Kruegers'

Buster Brown Store on College—Just Off Clinton.

A "Museum of Art"

—awaits your inspection here in our new first-floor—

Gift Furniture Display

A veritable "Art Museum" collection of charming Furniture Creations has been assembled here for you particular people who appreciate the unusual in your Christmas Gifts.

Gift Furniture

the gift that "Goes Home"

A Gift of Furniture will live in the lives of your loved ones. It brings an art-work of loveliness and usefulness into their Home life—to be enjoyed not only for the day but for years to come. You'll find Spanish Varguenos . . . Venitian Mirrors . . . Belgian Wall Tapestries . . . Washington Cabinets . . . Oliver Goldsmith Chairs . . . Governor Winthrop Desks. All beautiful, interesting, useful, and low priced!

Motor Truck Delivery

We'll deliver, or pack and ship Gift selections without expense to the donors.

JONES LUBERGER PRATT

Furniture And Rugs

221-223 Second Ave. CEDAR RAPIDS

Nick Kutsch will be a contributor to the Christmas number. We wish to announce that we will give free of charge One Secondhand Vanity Case (to girl) Package of Camels—slightly used—(to fellow) guessing which story Kutsch contributes.

Volume 26
E
Ou
Live Stor
Record
Internat
Oklahoma
Champi
Easte
[By The A CHICAGO, T
raucous call of the crack throughout ternational day as pure bred est bidders.
All records
grand champion
Hereford, was
A. and M. colleg
Hotel of Atlantic a pound. The pounds. It will close of the ex
zeni for the Ch
The grand ch
fifth Angus farm of John H
Hill, brought 55
were sold to the roof for use on
of last year's ex
the price range
$1.125 to $55, co
to $423 a year
grand champion,
a new record.
Seventy-seven including five li
at a general aver
ty-four car-loads
at a general aver
Notes Dan
The grand ch
hogs were fed an
Dame university
$14.50 a hundred
Hampshires aver
The highest pr
bull, paid T. A. was $600. The
by Easton and W
Among the cat
ion female in the
was W. S. Gay
Henry Marshall
Mo., took the res
Florence.
The University
the premier awa champion cattle c prize with Vim, a Canada won m sheep awards.
won the grand
sheep carcass div
The grand chan award was made ermore, Iowa, on while the reserve
iter's Marie, owne
Chicago.

Mexican E
Gives "I
Oil La
WASHINGTON
Mexican embass or into the whir
over Mexican lan
day which left st fields completely
it portends.
On its face, the
ment headed "Dis
ing the Mexican O
wipe out many of pufe which broug
can relations to deal deadlock on new laws to Ame
ing companies in the intention of erment to apply regulations when fective in Januar
so far as foreign cerned, without active enforcement
the Mexican coun
ing natural resou
Because of the l
of this supplement
lonatic correspon
officials would m
It took them by promptly subjecte
Whether it foresh
of the formal disc
from the crisis wh
sulted if the new tion had been en against American
not be learned.

Oskaloosa Churc
Have OSKALOOSA, I
Rev. Frank R. I
Hill, Me., has ac pulpit of the Fir
church here, to Frederick T. May
deceased a Galesbu
Mr. Hamilton will
the first week in