

THE WEATHER

Mostly cloudy Saturday and Sunday; probably snow Sunday; colder today, warmer Sunday

PICTURES

of Iowa's Basket Ball Prospects Who Will Battle St. Louis Tonight—on Page 6

ACQUIT HALL-MILLS DEFENDANTS

Court at Creston Frees Hall Howard of Murder Charge

Dismiss First Degree Case in Death of Pansy Turnbull

Two physicians from the university hospital at Iowa City, who were called to testify in the trial of Hall Howard as to an analysis of Pansy Turnbull's viscera, returned without being called to the witness stand.

BEDEFORD, Dec. 3.—Hall Howard, 15 years old, of Creston, was cleared in district court here today of a charge of first degree murder in connection with the death last August of Pansy Turnbull, 17-year-old Diagonal girl.

Son after Judge A. R. Maxwell sustained the defense motion for a directed verdict late this afternoon, the youth prepared to post a $5,000 bond to obtain his liberty for the first time since Aug. 23, when he and four other young men were held without bond on preliminary information charging murder.

The bond was required on a second indictment accusing Howard and Terrence Luton, 17, of St. Joseph, Mo., of an attempt to commit criminal assault.

Ask Freedom of Luton
The other three held on preliminary information were released. Luton also was jointly indicted with Howard on a charge of murder. James Locke, chief defense counsel said this evening that in view of today's verdict, he would immediately ask exonerations of Luton.

Whether the indictment charging assault will be pressed had not been announced by county attorney James Lucas early tonight.

In directing the verdict Judge Maxwell held that the state had failed to show Howard had attempted to mistreat Pansy, as charged, and that the testimony substantiated the defense theory of accidental death as much as the state's theory of murder.

One Able to Identify
Of the fifteen witnesses called by the prosecution since submission of evidence began yesterday, only one, Pearl Andrews of Diagonal, said that she could identify Howard as the man with whom Pansy was seen at a Clearfield carnival shortly before she was found in a dazed condition suffering from fracture of the skull. She died a few hours later.

The state alleged the injury was received when she was struck with a blunt instrument or when she jumped or was thrown from a moving car driven by Howard.

The state rested at 3:10 p. m. today after Judge Maxwell had ruled against submission of proposed state evidence covering Howard's questioning by three investigating officers. The court held that the evidence would be "absolutely incompetent," as the officers could not assure the court Howard was informed of his constitutional rights while being interrogated.

Wind on Atlantic Abates; Two Boats Aground in Storm

BOSTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—As the wintry gale that had lashed the north Atlantic for forty-eight hours moderated tonight, battered shipping along the coast line from New Foundland to Nantucket remained to bear witness to its fury.

Two large steamers were aground, one on Little Miquelon Island and the other in Sydney N. S., harbor, two disabled schooners were lying in Massachusetts Bay, and a third known motor boat, reported aground off Nauset last night had not been found.

The crew of the German steamer Totia, which grounded on Little Miquelon Island yesterday morning tonight were camped on the beach at White Salls, a fishing settlement, awaiting fair weather for an attempt to salvage the vessel.

Pep Fraternity to Reserve 500 Permanent Seats

According to an announcement made by Wayne Caward, A2 of Mason City, at the weekly meeting of Pi Epsilon Pi, university pep fraternity, a block of 500 seats has been obtained from the athletic department by the fraternity for a permanent cheering section for the basketball season.

Letter Men Name "Spike" Nelson Captain of 1927 Iowa Grid Team

Captain "Spike" Nelson

Ice Jam Wedges Hundred Steamers on Lake Michigan

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Dec. 3 (AP)—One hundred steamers held in the grip of river ice today stretched out in a single file around Neeshish Island from Mud Lake to Hay Lake in the worst tie-up of shipping in the history of the upper lakes.

Upbound steamers were adding themselves steadily to the line on the lower end of the fleet, there are 27 steamers and many small craft held fast by unyielding ice. Downward there are scores of boats between Hay Lake and Moon Island.

The railroad car ferry Sainte Marie, which was to have left St. Ignace last night had not left at noon today. She was short an engineer. The passenger steamer Huronic was worked through this morning by two tugs.

Geologist Will Speak at Sioux City Club Tuesday

Prof. A. O. Thomas, of the geology department will deliver an address before the Sioux City academy of fine arts and sciences, next Tuesday evening. His subject will be, "The Story of Past Life in Iowa." He will illustrate it with lantern slides.

State Tries to Find Companion of Olson

Believe Another Accompanied Youth on Night of Disappearance of Clara Olson; Earl Goes to Seneca to Investigate

BULLETIN
PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis., Dec. 3 (AP)—A conviction that the body of Clara Olson was "planted" for purposes of discovery on a hillside overlooking the home of her lover, Erdman Olson, and to direct suspicion towards him, was voiced today by Albert Olson, father of the missing 18 year old college boy, who was charged with the girl's murder.

PRairie Du Chien, Wis., Dec. 3.—On the trail of a report that a mysterious unknown man had been with Erdman Olson in his car shortly before the youth called for Clara Olson, and started the trip which ended in the shallow grave found yesterday on Battle Ridge, District Attorney J. S. Earl hurried out to this city toward Seneca this afternoon.

Seneca is the little town where on the night of Sept. 9, Erdman Olson appeared at a country dance. He danced with one, and then left. Earl believes he appeared at the dance to help establish an alibi. The rumor which Earl hurried out to trace was that an unidentified man remained in Olson's roadster parked in the shadows of the dance hall, while he was inside dancing.

Earl is also seeking the girl with whom Olson danced. The rapidity with which Erdman re-appeared at his own home, after he is declared to have called for the girl, leads Earl to think that the crime was carefully planned in advance, and that more than one person may have participated.

Father Renews Defense
Erdman's father, a straightforward farmer of 40, began today to renew the defense of his son and declared preposterous the theory that his boy had deposited the body on the hillside where it was found yesterday.

The boy knew, his parents said, that the wooded plot where the grave was discovered was constantly frequented by hunters and he knew that it was the scene at this season of extensive wood cutting.

Election Announced at I-Blanket Hop Last Night

The election of Emerson "Spike" Nelson to the captaincy of the 1927 grid team was officially announced last night at the I-Blanket Hop.

The election took place at the president's home following the annual football banquet and announcement of the winners of the "I" only the "I" men being allowed to vote.

"Spike" is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and was chosen as secretary of the junior class this fall. He has won two major letters in football and is also a member of the track team. He won a major letter in track last spring and was one of the best weight men in the university.

Nelson Star Tackle
Nelson is about the best tackle Iowa has had since the time of Duke Slater. He is a star both offensively and defensively. On the offense he rips the opponents line to pieces and he nips many opposing runners, before they have moved from their tracks.

This fall Nelson has found his name placed on many mythical elevens. He has been placed on many all-conference and all Big Ten teams and has even made many of the All-American teams.

"Spike's" first taste of Big Ten competition came last year when he started the Illinois game. The wonderful showing he made that day when he tackled Grange many times before the Illinois flash had even reached the line of scrimmage will long be remembered.

Since that day "Spike" has held down a regular tackle berth and win or lose he has always played a stellar game.

Makes Nine Consecutive Tackles
In an article which appeared in a late issue of the Big Ten Weekly, it stated that in the Illinois game this year that at one time "Spike" made nine consecutive tackles. There will be a large number of regulars back this year and "Spike" should have a team under his leadership next year that should go far toward a conference championship.

(TURN TO PAGE 2)

Twenty Men Receive Major Football "I's"

The following members of the Hawkeye football squad were awarded Major "I's" at the annual football banquet last night: Captain P. E. Smith, Waterloo; R. M. Brown, Cedar Rapids; D. T. Hines, Cedar Rapids; E. W. Nelson, Cherokee; H. H. Rice, Washington; N. A. Kutsch, Sioux City; F. M. Olson, Sioux City; E. R. Jessen, Austin, Minn.; E. Young, Cedar Rapids; C. D. Valmer, Sigourney; C. T. Byers, Denslow; P. W. Arndt, Davenport; L. A. Grimm, Wapello; R. B. Chatterton, Clinton; L. E. Skelley, Monticello; M. M. Schmidt, Moline; C. E. O'Neal, Pierre, S. D.; J. P. Yegge, Boone; F. J. Cuhel, Cedar Rapids; D. R. Smith, Des Moines.

Minor "I's" were given to: T. J. Bunn, Pierre, S. D.; E. H. Hogan, Osage; G. E. Van Voorst, Union Hill, Ill.; R. H. Moore, Clinton.

Chaplin Summons Attorneys in Brief Legal Consultation

Mrs. Chaplin's Attorney Hints at Million Dollar Settlement; Lita Charges Cruelty

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3 (AP)—The first conference between attorneys for Charlie Chaplin, film comedian, and his estranged wife, Lita Grey Chaplin, resulted in a "draw" the legal representatives of the separated pair announced at the close of their meeting today.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—Charles Spencer Chaplin, spurred to action by intimations that his estranged wife would demand a huge sum in settlement of their marital differences, gathered his attorneys about him in his Beverly Hills mansion late today for a conference to determine how much of the Chaplin wealth would have to be expended to keep the matter out of the courts.

With her former Lita Grey, who with her two children, left her home Tuesday and announced a day later that she would never return, will demand a property settlement in harmony with the income of the millionaire comedian, was no secret. Her attorney, George Beebe, already has mentioned sums in excess of a million dollars.

Meanwhile, the wife, whose place at the head of Chaplin's film cast was taken by Merna Kennedy when Miss Grey married the comedian in Mexico two years ago, reiterated her charges of cruelty. She added choice material for gossip in studio-land by declaring that her husband insulted guests she took to their home last Monday night.

Chaplin's version of the Monday night party, which told of undue rudeness, was categorically denied by his wife. Her guests were not drinking, she said, and did not make much noise, and arrived at 1 a. m.

Mrs. Chaplin, in seclusion at the home of her grandfather, indicated that she does not contemplate divorcing Chaplin, but intended instituting separate maintenance proceedings. This development served to complicate, somewhat, the persistent rumors in Hollywood that another orance was in the making.

Lita's Father Offers Daughter Assistance

WICHITA, Dec. 3 (AP)—Robert E. McMurray, an official of a printing concern here, father of Mrs. Charles Chaplin, in discussing the marital troubles in the movie comedian's family today declared his daughter "has a lot of sense, but she's young and Charlie may have spoiled her with luxury."

McMurray said Mrs. Chaplin would be 20 years old next April. McMurray and Lita's mother were divorced sixteen years ago. He said he saw his daughter last in 1923, and declared he was telegraphing her, offering assistance.

When Mrs. Chaplin was starting with the famous film comedian on a salary of $300 a week, McMurray said, her mother promptly proceeded to splurge with new automobiles and other luxuries out of question for a child. I do not have any doubt at all that she is responsible for all the troubles between them."

Banker Dies of Apoplexy
CHICAGO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Archibald Gilbert Loomis, banker and treasurer of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad died at his home here tonight of apoplexy. He leaves a widow, a daughter, Miss Madeline at home, and two sons, Stillman Loomis and Archibald H. Loomis in New York City.

Mrs. Frances Hall Wins Court Verdict

After a month's trial in a New Jersey court, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her brothers, Willie and Henry Stevens, were acquitted yesterday of murdering Mrs. Eleanor Mills. The photograph of Mrs. Hall was taken during the trial.

Shambaugh Lauds Local Research

Claims Distinct Type of Political Study is Found Here

Lauding the distinctive type of political research which has been developed at the University of Iowa, Prof. Benjamin F. Shambaugh, who delivered the second Baconian lecture in the chemistry auditorium last evening, declared that one need not go beyond the Iowa campus for illustrations of recent tendencies in political thought and research.

"For a quarter of a century students of government here have been working upon problems relating to the history, organization, methods, and workings of democratic institutions. Let us call it the Iowa type of research."

Professor Shambaugh outlined three features which characterize the Iowa research; the comprehensive charting of the area of study, the cooperative investigation, and the field work.

"The area of research charted is the commonwealth of Iowa and this charting makes for orderly progress in research, coordination of subject matter, and proper perspective in treatment.

"Investigations within the field have been carried on by a group of researchers cooperating under a centralized direction, thus eliminating duplication of effort.

"Finally the researchers go out into the field and observe first-hand the actual operation of government agencies. Thus every office and officer becomes an object of scientific observation.

"The fruits of these Iowa researches may be seen in such recent volumes as 'Statute Lawmaking in Iowa,' 'County Government,' and 'Administration in Iowa,' and in the changes of method or organization in which these publications have inspired."

Alcock Attends Convention

Dr. N. G. Alcock, professor of surgery at the university general hospital, left Thursday night to attend a convention of surgeons at Cincinnati, Ohio.

Auction Exhibits of International Live Stock Show

Few Owners Remain to Learn Fate of Pet Entrants

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Moist eyes were noticeable as cattle, fed and cared for by the farm boys and girls of the country were auctioned off at the international livestock exposition today.

Although most of the young people were busy preparing to leave for home, a few lingered to see how their pets fared.

The grand champion steer in the junior feeding contest, raised by 17 year old Ray Greathouse of Hinsboro, Ill., was bought by the Pennsylvania hotel, New York City for forty cents a pound. Although Crew's pride, a Hereford, never was put on the scales, his weight was approximated at 1,100 pounds.

Judging was completed today and awards distributed.

Gay Model Champion
The grand champion Galloway bull title went to Gay Model, entered by J. W. Larabee and sons of Earlville, Ill.

In the milking shorthorns Gleniside Daisy Belle of the Donald Woodward herd, Leroy, N. Y., was named grand champion after herd. Leroy, N. Y., was named grand champion after having been chosen senior champion.

Walter E. McCoy of Washington Court House, Ohio, won the grand champion award in the breeding spotted Poland China division.

The Angus calves of Stanley Pierce of Creston, Iowa, brought 16 1/2 cents a pound at the carload sale of feeder cattle.

Western Herefords Sold
The champion western section load of Hereford yearlings was sold by John Wallace of Parkman, Wyo., to Willer and Willer for $1.2 cents a pound.

"The exhibition has been termed by George Gordon Davis, famous cattle judge of Buenos Aires, who picked the grand champion steer of the show, the greatest of its kind he ever has seen.

Mr. Davis who came all the way from South America to aid in the judging, said that he thought the feature of the show was the carload lots of fat steers. The Hereford cattle exhibited were the finest in the world, he believed, and the shorthorn and Aberdeen Angus, breeds were as good as any in the world.

Breene in New York

Dr. Frank T. Breene, dean of the dental college, is in New York city where he is attending a meeting of the Dental Educational Council of America, as a representative of the American Association of Dental Schools. Dean Breene will return to Iowa City Sunday.

Alcock Attends Convention

Dr. N. G. Alcock, professor of surgery at the university general hospital, left Thursday night to attend a convention of surgeons at Cincinnati, Ohio.

Discover Source of False Bank Rumor

Overhearsers Misinterpret Wire Relating to Webster City National; Local Bank Gets $1,000,000 from Chicago

A father's telegram to his son here, concerning the First National bank of Webster City, was proved last night to be the cause of the rumors which have been afloat since Wednesday concerning the First National bank of Iowa City.

Because the student who started the rumor is innocent there will be no prosecution, it was declared. The person whose name was not given out last night, is a student at the university. He received a telegram early in the week from his father who told him to cease making out checks on the First National bank of Webster City. The wire stated that the bank was in financial straits.

The youth, reading the message to his chum, who comes from the same city was overheard by various persons, who evidently mistook the First National bank for that of the Iowa City institution.

Absolve Three of Mrs. Mills' Death

Mrs. Hall, Stevens Brothers Still Face Charge for Murder of Minister; Men Return to Prison, Ask for Bail

COURT HOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Dec. 3.—Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, were acquitted today of murdering Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills. The jury returned its verdict at 6:49 p. m. after more than five hours' deliberation.

Application for bail for Henry Stevens, Willie Stevens, and Henry Carpenter will be heard by Justice Charles W. Parker tomorrow at 10 a. m. Although acquitted on a charge of murdering Mrs. Mills the Stevens brothers and their cousin are under indictment on a charge of the murder of the Reverend Hall.

Vindication by Somerset Jury Pleases Mrs. Hall

"My brothers and I are very glad after four years of gossip and false accusations to have had this opportunity to face the situation in open court," said Mrs. Hall, in a statement issued through her counsel, Robert H. Nelson.

"We are glad to have personally gone on the witness stand and submitted ourselves to thorough examination, and to have obtained complete vindication through the verdict of a Somerset county jury.

"The testimony of the witnesses has been broadly distributed daily through the public press, and we believe the verdict will have full approval throughout not only New Jersey but the United States.

"We shall not be able personally to acknowledge the many kind letters we have received and we shall give this word of thanks to their writers. 'That is all,' added Mrs. Nelson, after he had distributed the statement. 'Mrs. Hall is through being a public character.'"

Doheny Attorneys Accuse Wilbur of Stopping Witness

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—The defense today drew Secretary of the Navy Wilbur into the Fall-Doheny criminal conspiracy trial.

They accused the secretary in open court of seeking to restrict the testimony of a retired naval officer and produced what they said was an official order to prove it.

Whether the document is to go before the jury was still undecided when court adjourned tonight, but Mr. Wilbur will be put on the witness stand tomorrow or Monday.

Discover Source of False Bank Rumor

Overhearsers Misinterpret Wire Relating to Webster City National; Local Bank Gets $1,000,000 from Chicago

the rumors which have been rife the last few days.

Gossips Say All is a Mistake
Shortly after the bank's offer of a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the persons responsible for the rumors, a story was circulated about town that the whole thing was a colossal mistake. The story was traced and was found to have a bearing on another First National bank in the state.

Officers of the R. O. T. C. and armed police guards were on hand when the first shipment of a half million dollars arrived early yesterday morning from Chicago's Federal Reserve.

Shortly afterward a large shipment of currency was received at the post office, and immediately transferred to the bank's vaults. This was followed by a third shipment of $250,000.

Examiners Say Bank is Sound
The bank's soundness of policy and financial integrity was stressed yesterday morning by national bank examiners after the periodical examination of the institution's books had been completed last Wednesday.

All Iowa City banks manifested their faith in the First National's integrity by refusing to accept deposits from persons who had withdrawn their accounts from that institution.

F. J. McClesney, president of the bank, refused to be interviewed other than to say that the bank will meet all demands.

John H. Blair of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank declared in a telephone call yesterday to bank officials, that the First National bank could have all the funds it wanted.

Reporter Causes Commotion

A commotion was caused in the court room when a newspaper reporter tried to leave the room after Judge Parker had ordered all doors closed.

"Bring that man here," commanded Judge Parker. The reporter tried to struggle free of the bailiffs who grabbed him and started to take him to the bench. After an explanation by the reporter, Judge Parker dismissed him with a reprimand.

The incident coming immediately after the verdict caused more excitement in the court room than did the announcements of the acquittals.

The names of Henry Stevens, Willie Stevens, and Mrs. Hall were called in succession and Frank Dunster, foreman of the jury, gave the answer "not guilty," after each of the names.

Judge Demands Silence
Before ordering the jurors brought in, Judge Parker warned the spectators not to give any demonstration and cautioned that there must be absolute silence.

When the first announcement was made, Lieut. Commander Arthur Carpenter, a cousin of Mrs. Hall who was sitting immediately behind her reached over and put his arm around her.

When she too was declared "not guilty" Mrs. Hall's smile faded to be replaced by a look of calm satisfaction.

Robert Nelson, a relative and member of counsel for the defense was the first to congratulate and kiss her. Then came Timothy Pfeiffer who was her attorney four years ago and who also had a part in the defense.

Mr. Pfeiffer next shook hands with Willie Stevens, whose face was wreathed in smiles, and with Henry Stevens, brother of the other two.

Judge Frank L. Cleary also shook hands warmly with Willie. Judge Cleary has sat with justice Charles W. Parker, of the supreme court, throughout the trial.

Disclaim Next Trial
Few persons here tonight believed that any of the defendants would be tried on the second indictment or that Henry De La Bruyere Carpenter, their cousin, would ever go to trial.

Charlotte Mills, daughter of the slain woman, and Mrs. Elsie Barnhardt, Mrs. Mills' sister, were present when the verdicts were returned. James Mills, the husband, was absent.

The jurors kept their own counsel when they disbanded after their long and close association. There was flat refusal from several jurors to indicate how the ballots stood and how many were taken. Juror John W. Young, of Middleburg, after the verdict was returned, attempted to settle with Gilbert A. Vandoren of Somerville, who two days ago swore that the members of the jury had committed improprieties.

Senator Simpson Unsuccessful
It was on these allegations that Senator Simpson based much of his unsuccessful arguments for a mistrial.

After being excused by the court, Young with several jurors went to the Colonial hotel owned by Vandoren, to get his clothes.

"You dirty skunk," shouted Young when he met Vandoren in the upper hall of the hotel, and struck at him. A reporter intervened and Young swung at him declaring "he's not going to tell lies about me." Young's grievances were composed without any blows being exchanged.

Today's Editorials (TURN TO PAGE 4)

The New Captain Canned Talks Advertising Is News Collegiate Politics Craftsmanship Counts

In The World Of Society

Phone 2829

Iowa City High School Holds Dancing Party
Iowa City high school students held a mixer in the school gymnasium last night. Chaperons for the dance were: Mr. and Mrs. William E. Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Nyle Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Stevens, Miss Katharine Meares, Miss Martha Moremond, Miss Aurelia O'Day and Miss Nellie Buckner.

Mooseheart Legion Sponsors Card Party
Two hundred people attended the card party sponsored by the women of the Mooseheart legion at Moose hall, Thursday night. Forty-two tables of progressive euchre were played.

Mrs. Evalyn Goss and H. S. Dalton won the prizes for high scores. Consolation prizes were given to Mrs. Byron Dalton and Lawrence N. Slaybaugh. The committee in charge served the refreshments.

Rundell Club Meeting Postponed Until Monday
Members of the Rundell club are requested to notice that the regular meeting and the children's party has been postponed until Monday, Dec. 20. The meeting will be held on that date at the home of Mrs. T. Dell Kelley, 416 South Summit street.

Juvenile Neighbors Meet
The regular meeting of the Juvenile Neighbors will be held this afternoon in Redman hall. All members are urged to attend.

Athena Literary Society
Members of the Athena Literary society will be entertained Monday afternoon, Dec. 6, at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. C. S. Meardon, 437 South Summit street. Mrs. J. E. Switzer will read a paper on "Horace Greeley."

Alpha Delta Pi
Dorothy Kane and Florence Wales are spending the week-end in Chicago.

Afternoon Varsity
Regular afternoon varsity will be held Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. Chaperons will be Mrs. Fannie Casady, and Mrs. Irving Tabor.

SALLY'S SALLIES

Women don't spend ALL their time buying things; they spend part of it taking them back.

Chaperon's Club Meets Tuesday
The Chaperon's club will meet next Tuesday at 3 p. m. at the Iowa Union. Hostesses will be Mrs. Elizabeth Kamman, Phi Omega Psi chaperon; Mrs. Fannie Casady, Phi Mu chaperon; and Mrs. Elizabeth Conrad, Kappa Alpha Theta chaperon.

DeMolay to Have Christmas Party
Plans have been completed for the DeMolay Christmas party which will be held at the City Park pavilion, Friday, Dec. 10. Special feature dancing will be added to the dancing program. Christmas colors will be carried out in the decorations. The committee in charge consists of Edward Lorak, William Grandrath, and Waldo Geiger.

Alpha Xi Delta
Lona Little is spending the week-end in Rock Island, Ill. Louise Ruth West left for Muscatine where she will stay until Sunday. Alpha Xi Delta will hold a Christmas luncheon this afternoon at their chapter house.

Give Miscellaneous Shower for Luave Matthes Last Evening
Luave Matthes was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower last evening at the home of Mrs. Guy Fink, 610 East Davenport street. Miss Matthes has set the date for her marriage to William Stutzman for Dec. 22. The evening was spent playing bridge.

Out of town guests were Mrs. A. Mentzer of Cedar Rapids, Mildred Posten of Lone Tree, and Ametta Lane of Fairbault, Minn.

Alma Held Attends Art Exhibition
Alma Held, of the graphic and plastic arts department, left yesterday for Chicago where she will visit the exhibition of American painting and sculpture at the Art institute.

Phi Mu
Mary Howe, a Zeta Tau Alpha from Iowa Wesleyan college, at Mount Pleasant, is a week-end guest of Ruby M. Combs, A2 of North English.

Georgia Held, A3 of Burlington; is confined to the house by illness.

Kappa Kappa Gamma
Jane Jarnigan, A3 of Storm Lake, and Dorothy Westfall, A2 of Mason City; are spending the week-end in Grinnell.

Delta Zeta
Mrs. Walter A. Jessup, Mrs. Arthur C. Trowbridge, Mrs. George F. Kay, Mrs. Edward C. Mable and Mrs. John M. Flak, patronesses of Delta Zeta will be entertained at a 12:30 o'clock luncheon today at the chapter house.

Pledges will entertain at a dancing party tonight at Youde's Inn. Music will be furnished by Fred Tilton's band. Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Patton and Mrs. Martha Parrette will chaperon.

Lions Club Will Hold Ball at Iowa Union on Dec. 10

"Enjoy and assist" is the motto of the Iowa City Lions club as they prepare for the annual charity ball to be held at the Iowa Union. The proceeds of the affair will be used to relieve the poor of Iowa City.

For the past five years the Lions club has sponsored an entertainment designed to provide funds to aid the needy families in Iowa City. Until last year this has taken the form of an annual ball, but last year a Welsh concert was substituted.

Over 400 couples attended the 1924 charity ball which was held in the men's gym. Added attractions are expected to double the attendance this year.

Last year twenty-six families received aid from the proceeds of the entertainment, the relief being in the form of groceries, clothing, coal, and rent. The Social Service bureau has charge of the relief work carried on by means of funds provided by the Lions club.

Tickets for the ball go on sale Wednesday, canvass being made by members of the club.

What Winter Brides Wear

Photos show what winter bridal gowns are like. Mrs. Thomas Patton Chesborough, nee Eleanor Davies, fashionable Washington bride, is at left; while at right Hope Hampton serves as model. The latter creation has white satin foundation, tight waist, wide circular skirt, Duchess lace and chiffon rousings.

Strange Unrest Grips Quad Men Who Devote Nights to Ghostly Vigils

By LESLIE FLOWERS
Woman has always been the weaker sex—and the more influential. It was the brawny arm of Adam, no doubt, that wrenched the fruit from the tree, but the delicate fingers of Eve moulded the apple pie which ended his career as a gardener.

So it is with every age, and the mysterious unrest at the quadrangle during the past week is indicative of the influence of modern woman.

The scene opens. A wild-eyed half dozen of Adam's descendants are distributed around a study table in a smoke filled room. Disheveled hair straggles down over furrowed brows, and grim determination or despair is registered on every countenance.

The ghostly vigil continues far into the night, and the midnight incandescents flicker sickly in the breathless atmosphere. Each move is the occasion of a deathly silence; every eye is glued immovably upon the heap in the center of the table. "Slam! We've made it!", gasped a sandy-haired youth, and the circle relaxed from the fearful tension into an outburst of unintelligible mutterings about "honors," "slams," and "grand slams." Shouts of

University Club Entertains at Tea
Thirty members attended the university club tea in the club rooms from 3:00 to 5:00 yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Erwin K. Mapes and Mrs. William J. Dennis were hostesses. Mrs. George F. Robeson and Mary Thompson presided at the tea tables.

Miss Catherine Mullin, instructor in zoology in the university, gave a talk about her research work in the university at Naples.

Yellow roses and yellow candles carried out the color scheme.

400 Years Ago
The Madonna of the Chair was painted Today
A Raphael with 22 karat gold-leaf frame and hand carving is a lasting gift.

NEVA HUNGERFORD'S Xmas Gifts across from Whet's No. 1

THAT CHRISTMAS LIST—

Greeting Cards will solve many of your problems. Come in and place your order now for personal engraved or printed cards for Christmas.

For a very reasonable extra charge we will engrave or print your name on any of our Christmas or New Year's cards.

University Seal Christmas Cards
From 5c Each, to 25c

Book Store
30 CLINTON ST.

Letter Men Name 'Spike' Nelson Captain

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1)

Twenty men were awarded their Varsity "T" and four received the minor "T" for their work on the gridiron this fall.

With the members of A. F. I. as hosts, the crowd at the annual I blanket hop last night danced to the music of Dexter's orchestra from Rockford, Ill. The miniature-I-blanket programs were designed by Ronald S. Ball, A4 of Iowa City.

Those who chaperoned the party were Prof. and Mrs. Clyde Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Yoder, Prof. and Mrs. Charles F. Ward, and Dean

Iowa Graduate Uncovers New York Liquor Conditions

An article by Bruce Gould, who was graduated from the University of Iowa in 1923, appears in the December number of McClure's magazine.

The article entitled, "Where New York is Getting It," is an account of bootlegging conditions in New York, where Mr. Gould now lives.

Mr. Gould was business manager of the Frivol in 1923. Since his graduation several of his short stories and articles have appeared in various publications.

Deserving Popularity

IOWA CITY'S MOST BEAUTIFUL LUNCHEONETTE AND GIFT SHOP

That's what is said about Iowa City's most beautiful luncheonette and gift shop—because the college atmosphere which is evident at the Hawk's Nest has become known. If you haven't been in lately better stop in. New decorations add a new Christmas spirit to the shop and an exclusive line of gifts makes it head quarters for early shoppers—and last but not least, quality food is served in a clean and wholesome manner.

Christmas Candy — Largest Line of Box Candy in Iowa City

THE Hawk's Nest
10 South Dubuque

Gifts of Sparkling JEWELRY Carry a Christmas Message

Lovely in design—this costume jewelry comes to solve many a gift problem. And that it is so moderately priced adds greatly to the advantage of selection now. There are countless pieces from which to choose so that practically every preference may be met.

Necklaces, Bracelets, Ear Rings, Bar Pins, Rings, Ornaments, Compacts

Many of the new crystal novelties are here as well as a great variety of pieces in enameled effects. There are so many styles and designs that only an actual inspection can convey how worth while this collection is.

$1.50 to $5

Hands & Son
JEWELERS

Man-power

Four millions of the best man-power of Europe perished in the Napoleonic conquests. Military conquest is non-creative, while industry is always creative.

In the last ten years one American manufacturer—the General Electric Company—has created machines having a man-power forty times as great as that of all the lives lost in the Napoleonic wars.

In the years to come, when the college men and women of today are at the helm of industry and of the home, it will be realized more and more that human energy is too valuable to be wasted where electricity can do the work better at lower cost.

GENERAL ELECTRIC
GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK

Saturday, De
Copper
Waterw
Kansas S Improv
Upper
By The A WASHINGTON
ing Improve
souri river, Se Ilan, Kansas, army and the development of manded immed waterway for Navigability
a great boon ing the high the senator sai added, have su duction of their cultural areas
lated.
"Rates in eff bushels of whe miles by lake $30, and on 1 for $60 to $70 railroad is $15 was told.
"The average farmer of shir Liverpool by w and New York bushel. By wa cost of 37.5 ce rail charge in 26.4 cents.
"We should system of wat tending from t
the Ohio, Miss rivers to the links with a laute waterwa
Nutting W
Irving;
Fore
Charles B. N
City, was elect ing institute I Kane, A4 of I president of t to represent I Nutting and C of Hawarden.
Other offic
Blackburn, A3
president; Nor Marion, secreta nister, A4 of C mann, Cms of John G. Baker,
nance director.
High Sch
Associ
at G
The staff of Iowa City hig attend the Iow association at 4. Sigma De fraternity, is a ing.
Bruce Bliven
New York Glob convention. A by Maltesser, humorous ma high school hu ma Delta Chi v best all-round Delegates to the Iowa City
Iam E. Beck,
len Ford, Dw
Young, Berni
Christianson, a Ill.
Weekly
of Lau Scan
"Laundry be sighed a wear weighed a D bag, and heav pile of similar bags, Santa C on us!"
"Even if sons Frown up enou home to colle ored suits or f still send their rinsed in moth er. That is t by the mail cl office as they of bags, week
"Thursday I bags into the c postmaster. C
"but on Frida
Students have up their solle their bags. S line for mothe so only those get their hom
Not only at five are the I but each sub drug store an sents a sight o that of the da Postmaster that between t and bags are Their return since they com
the week. TH more, since Lu of fresh cloth or maybe a ce favorite "ent Convention G
City $ Iowa City v richer than t calculation do count all of t been made in year 1926. It ey which has gates to conver Sioux City a of money spe
one day betw Moines figur takes the cons as the probab each conventi and assumed t attending conv for two days spent by each and the total

Capper Proposes Waterway Measure

Kansas Senator Urges Improvement for Upper Missouri

[By The Associated Press] WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Advocating improvement of the upper Missouri river, Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, today told a board of army engineers that the economic development of the middle-west demanded immediate use of the entire waterway for transportation.

Navigability of the river would be a great boon to agriculture by lifting the high cost of transportation, the senator said. The railroads, he added, have successfully opposed reduction of their rates and the agricultural areas are being depopulated.

"Rates in effect show that 100,000 bushels of wheat can be carried 1,000 miles by lake and ocean for $20 to $30, and on modern river barges for $60 to $70, while the cost by railroad is $150 to $200," the board was told.

"The average cost to the Kansas farmer of shipping his wheat to Liverpool by way of the great lakes and New York is 40.1 cents per bushel. By way of gulf ports, the cost of 37.5 cents and of this the rail charge in this country takes 28.4 cents.

"We should provide a connected system of water transportation extending from the upper reaches of the Ohio, Mississippi and Missouri rivers to the gulf of Mexico and linked with a Great Lakes to Atlantic waterway."

Nutting Will Head Irving; Kane Leads Forensic Council

Charles B. Nutting, A3 of Iowa City, was elected president of Irving institute last night. Max J. Kane, A4 of Iowa City, was chosen president of the forensic council, to represent Irving with Charles Nutting and George Anderson, J3 of Hawarden.

Other officers are James W. Blackburn, A3 of LeMars, vice president; Norman Waffle, A2 of Marion, secretary; Dwight M. Bannister, A4 of Ottumwa, correspondent; Chas. J. Davent, auditor; John G. Baker, A2 of Plymouth, finance director.

High School Press Association Meets at Grinnell Dec. 3

The staff of the Red and White, Iowa City high school paper, will attend the Iowa High School Press association at Grinnell, Dec. 3 and 4. Sigma Delta Chi, journalistic fraternity, is sponsoring the meeting.

Bruce Elven, former editor of the New York Globe, will speak at the convention. A cup will be awarded by Malteuser, the Grinnell college humorous magazine for the best high school humorous column. Sigma Delta Chi will give a cup to the best all-around high school paper.

Delegates to the convention from the Iowa City high school are: William E. Beck, Ruth Friederick, Ellen Ford, Dwight Potter, Lillian Young, Bernice Young, Agneta Christianson, and Florence Churchill.

Weekly Pile-Ups of Laundry Bags Scare Mail Clerks

"Laundry bags! Laundry bags!" sighed a weary postal clerk as he weighed a bulging khaki-colored bag, and heaved it high upon a pile of similar bags. "More laundry bags. Santa Claus hasn't anything on us!"

Even if sons and daughters have grown up enough to go away from home to college, and to wear tailored suits or imported frocks, they still send their laundry home to be rinsed in mother's faithful old washer. That is the conclusion drawn by the mail clerks at the city post office as they send out truck loads of bags, week after week.

"Thursday begins the stream of bags into the office here," said the postmaster, Charles C. Shrader, "but on Friday comes the deluge. Students have had time to gather up their soiled clothes and pack their bags. Saturday is the deadline for mother's Monday washing, so only those who live near can get theirs home in time."

Not only at the central post office are the laundry bags mailed, but each sub-office at Whetstone's drug store and Iowa Supply presents a sight every week similar to that of the day before Christmas.

Postmaster Shrader estimated that between three and four thousand bags are sent out every week. Their return is not so spasmodic, since they come in any time during the week. The bags often weigh more, since tucked away in the folds of fresh clothing a sack of apples, or maybe a cake, or perhaps some favorite "eatable" may be stored.

Convention Guests Enrich City $100,000 This Year

Iowa City is at least $100,000 richer than it was a year ago. This calculation does not take into account all of the money which has been made in the city during the year 1926. It counts only that money which has been spent by delegates to conventions here.

Stots City estimated the amount of money spent by one visitor in one day between $6 and $7. Des Moines figures are higher. If one takes the conservative figure of $5, as the probable amount spent by each convention visitor in one day, and assumed the number of people attending conventions to be 10,000, for two days each, the amount spent by each person would be $10 and the total expenditure $100,000.

Linn County Girl Healthiest

Judges were unable to decide whether (left) Alberta Hoppe, Linn county, Iowa, or (right) Jeanette Rushing, 14, Sunflower county, Mississippi, was "healthiest farm girl in U. S.," so prize in Chicago contest was divided between them. Karren Griffin (center), Oscar, Ky., was adjudged healthiest farm boy.

Woman Says Iowa Demands Farm Aid

Mrs. Hollowell Speaks Before Republican Women's Club

[By The Associated Press] CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Unless a republican congress and a republican administration answer affirmatively the demand of the middle west for farm relief legislation, Iowa, stalwart supporter of the party since the civil war, will repudiate republicanism and all its present policies, Mrs. T. P. Hollowell, republican national committeewoman from the Hawkeye state, told the Illinois republican women's club today.

"The women of Iowa's republican ranks are standing shoulder to shoulder with the men in demanding such relief," said Mrs. Hollowell. She is one of nine women from seven Mississippi valley states who brought to the Illinois republican women accounts of feminine political activities in their commonwealths.

"There is a deep-seated feeling in Iowa," the committeewoman reported, "that the republican party has been controlled by eastern commercial and industrial interests. For the past four years there has been growing suspicion and distrust of the policy of the republican party as to treatment of agricultural problems."

"Whether this distrust and suspicion is based on sound economic reasoning has nothing to do with the case. The principal thing is that such distrust exists and is stronger today than it has ever been and that some action should be taken by congress."

"When this does happen," said Mrs. Hollowell, "it may surprise eastern politicians who apparently have no conception of the middle west and the desires of the people who live there, but it will be no surprise to those who know the heart of Iowa."

Iowa Porker Hogs Honors

Barrow hog which won title of grand champion at International Livestock Show, in Chicago, is owned by Iowa State college, Ames. The animal weighs 450 pounds.

Hamlin Garland Wins Debate from Hesperia

Hamlin Garland forensic society defeated Hesperia last night in the semi-finals of the Women's debate tournament, taking the affirmative of the proposition, "Resolved, that the world has more to fear than hope from science." Prof. Alfred R. Root acted as judge.

The final debate will take place Tuesday between Hamlin Garland and Athens.

Elks Plan Program of Christmas Cheer

Will Distribute Food to Needy; Remember Sick Children

The Iowa City Elks plan an extensive program for brightening the homes of many poor folk during the Christmas season.

The welfare and charity committee, composed of John Ostiek, chairman; Roy Pohler, and F. B. Voltringer, proposes to have baskets of food distributed to the needy. On Christmas afternoon, about 1,600 children will be entertained at the lodge room.

The Elks will also send gifts to all children in the city's hospitals and Oakdale. For the past twenty-six years, in which there has been an order of Elks in Iowa City, a large Christmas tree has been erected on their lawn at the corner of Washington and Gilbert streets. This year, there will be two trees, on either side of the sidewalk, and both will be electrically lighted at night during the holidays.

ZETA TAU ALPHA
Christmas Bazaar and Candy Sale
Chapter House 431 E. Jefferson Saturday, Dec. 4 1-6 o'clock

AVIATION GASOLINE
We have the government contract for supplying the air mail planes with gasoline at Iowa City.
You can buy this same gasoline at our station for 3 cents per gallon more than regular gasoline.
WESTERN OIL CO.
220 S. Gilbert St. or Corner Gilbert & Market Sts. Iowa City, Iowa

Advertiser Applies Seashore's Nap Psychology to Barber Shop

Imagine the surprise of an authority on psychology seeing his very words on a psychological subject inside the covers of a little advertising booklet, advertising a barber shop.

That is the situation of Dean E. Seashore, head of the psychology department here. Some enterprising advertising man, looking around for a new idea in advertising a barber shop, came across an article written by Dean Seashore on the value of a short noon-time nap, hence the little booklet inviting patrons to come to a certain barber shop and "capitalize your shaving."

The title of the booklet is "On Napping at Noon Time." Dean Seashore is quoted on the benefits to be derived from a short nap at noon. It says in part, "A short nap at noon time is the prescription for good work." And the advertising man says the barber shop is the ideal place to have this prescription filled while having the daily shave.

Joint Program With Rhoterians Follows Meeting of Philos

The Philomathean literary society held its regular meeting last night in Philo hall. A business session was followed by a joint program with the Rhoterian literary society. Plans were made for an initiation and election to be held Sunday following a dinner at Youde's inn. The program was as follows: Music, Hershel Howard; open forum discussion on Mussolini started by C. L. Temple and H. Wilson; talk, W. G. Burlingame; reading, "I'm A Fool," W. Hanson; talk, W. McLarney.

Revoke Licenses of Insurance Firms

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 3 (AP)—Revocation of the Pennsylvania licenses of thirteen fraternal insurance organizations was announced today by Einar Barford, state insurance commissioner.

High expenditures for salaries, high per cent of lapses, excessive cost of management and failure to attend hearings on citations were among the reasons assigned for the revocations. The commissioner held that several companies were not subject to the Pennsylvania insurance laws.

TODAY — 10 A. M.
Trinity Parish House
College Street
BAZAAR
Among other Christmas novelties Marshall Field Wax Flowers will be on sale.
Supper—5:15-7:00 P. M., 50c

EVERYBODY
GET 'EM UP TONIGHT
For The First Game of The Season
The big game will start early and the best way to get a good seat is to eat downtown at Smith's Cafe and then hike right over ahead of the main crowd.
Back Up The Team!
SMITH'S CAFE

Beat The Crowd to The Christmas Shopping
IT may seem a little early, but in less than four weeks Christmas and its crowd of hurried shoppers will be upon us.
THEN you will be apt to find that choosing presents for the men of your family will be one of the hardest tasks of the holiday season.
LET us help you select the things that men most appreciate. We have the finest Hart, Schaffner & Marx Suits, Tuxedos and Overcoats and a great display of Men's Furnishings.
EVERY article bought in our store is new in style and high in quality—you can rely on this. The men know it and appreciate gifts bearing our name.
College Clothes COASTS' College Shoes

Line Europe
ry con-always turer—achines that of women home, energy can do
C
W YORK

The Daily Iowan

OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER
UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

Published every morning except Monday by Student Publications Incorporated, at 125-130 Iowa Avenue, Iowa City, Iowa.
Entered as second class matter at the post office at Iowa City, Iowa.
Subscription rates: by mail or carrier, $5.00 for 12 months; $4.00 for academic year. Single copies, 5 cents.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Charles H. Weller, chairman; Even M. MacEwen; Raymond B. Kittredge; Sidney G. Winters; John H. Powell; Marshall C. Watson; Earl E. Beman; Marion M. Rambo; Almas E. Hickerson.
Harry S. Bunker, General Manager.

TELEPHONES: Editorial Offices, 2829; Business Offices, 290, 291.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Elvin J. Tilton, Editor
Katherine Y. Macy, News Editor
Night News Editors
Almas E. Hickerson, Merrill S. Gaffney, Russell Wilson, Marvin Logan, Theodore Koop, Pier Adershof.
Ann E. Beman, Campus Editor
Jack Levy, City Editor
Donald A. McGuire, Sports Editor
Newell Jones, Assistant Sports Editor
Charles E. Nelson, Editorial Page Manager
Florence W. Tams, Society Editor
Albert S. Abel, Columnist

BUSINESS STAFF

John F. Webber, Business Manager
W. Harry Harper, Circulation Manager
Edwin B. Green, Classified Advertising Manager
Ernest H. Gardes, Advertising Assistant
Norville E. Davis, Advertising Assistant
James W. Blackburn, Advertising Assistant
Robert V. Siebert, Advertising Assistant
Frederic A. Schneller, Advertising Assistant
William E. Haggbeck, Advertising Assistant
George W. Olson, Advertising Assistant
Charles S. Gallaher, Accountant

Saturday, December 4, 1926

NIGHT NEWS EDITOR

Ted Koop

The New Captain

ONE of the most significant things about the election of Emerson W. "Spike" Nelson, A3 of Cherokee, as captain of the 1927 Old Gold gridiron combination is the type of man Nelson represents.

The new leader possesses a rare combination of qualities. Since his freshman year he has been a marked athlete and leader. He has scholastic as well as athletic ability which, coupled with an exceptional personality, make him one of Iowa's most popular men both on and off the gridiron.

The election of Nelson brings home again the encouraging fact that the day of the traditionally stupid college athlete is gone. It is seldom one finds an individual equally talented in athletics, in the classroom and in social circles, but the general trend today is away from the thick-skulled, bull-like athletes of yesterday.

Whatever may be the fate of football, the enemies of college sports can never advance weighty arguments as men of Nelson's type are being produced.

Canned Talks

DEVELOPMENT of movie colleges in which the professors appear to the students of the silver screen delivering their lectures by a machine for voice production is the latest fad in educational methods. E. R. Craft, executive vice-president of the Bell Telephone laboratories, states it is "not only possible but probably inevitable" that this system will attain to general use.

What is it that endears an instructor in the hearts of students if it is not his distinctive mannerisms, his occasional divergences from the set lectures, his philosophy of life, and his witty jokes which arise from timely associations? How impossible it would be for a professor dolled up in a fresh pressed suit, appearing on the screen, to keep the audience awake after a Friday night date or a Christmas feast and celebration!

The enthusiasts for this new method of procedure point out that the faculty members of such colleges would be "immortal," since their lectures could grind on indefinitely after death. The voice of the instructor may be preserved satisfactorily—but what about his dress? In a case of a woman instructor a few years difference in styles doubtless would make a comedy of her "canned talks,"—one which would cause a riot of laughter. If clothes go out of style so quickly, is it not possible that the lecture itself would become moth-eaten as rapidly, or faster?

Then, too, the lecture would be serious of necessity. Anything that might provoke laughter or applause would be out of place as the record would whirl on and the students would have to be all ears to hear all. Why live in residence here? Why go to class? In a short time they would sell records at the book stores, and you could let your imagination clothe the voice. What is a university for, if it does not promote personal contact between student and professor—the scholar profiting by the multiple experiences and long specialization of the professor, and the professor glimpsing new viewpoints from student suggestions and inquiry?

Advertising Is News

YEARS ago the brief announcement in boldface type: "John Jones sells good groceries," was called good advertising. No one spent much time trying to make a better appeal than that; there were no professional copy writers, magazines existed on cheap patent medicine ads, and the idea of color work in advertising was beyond conception.

That was but a short time ago; yet today conditions are radically different. Modern advertising has become a profession. Billions of dollars are spent each year and thousands of men and women are employed in this newest form of selling. An evidence of the tremendous scale on which advertising has been placed is found in the Saturday Evening Post. The receipts for advertising in this magazine average more than $1,000,000 each issue. The back page of a Sunday supplement to about twenty-five city newspapers sells for $10,000 an issue.

This financial importance of advertising is hard for the outsider to realize; nevertheless it is true and also of no little significance.

We naturally ask ourselves why modern advertising is so important, and the answer is that it is news. If advertising was not read, if it did not interest people, it would be worthless. Thus it fulfills two prime requisites of news and may be regarded as such, at least in the broad sense.

Today an ordinary publication is not balanced or successful without advertising. The most recent proof of this is found in the new United States Daily, a paper subsidized by a number of nationally prominent citizens. It began publication without advertising, but its columns presented a flatness and monotony that would discourage almost any prospective reader. So it was not long until the United States Daily fell into line and accepted advertising; it, too, found that advertising is necessary to a newspaper, not alone from the financial standpoint, but more especially because advertising has become a definite part of the newspaper. Advertising is news.

Collegiate Politics

EVEN as our political wars rage between Panhellenic and non-Panhellenic delegations, so do the "Greeks" and the "Barbs," or non-fraternity men, struggle for supremacy in class elections at Iowa State college, Ames.

How much hard feeling might be eliminated if students could be persuaded to vote for the man and not the organization in school elections. It isn't as though they were definite parties, like the republicans and democrats, with essentially different beliefs and ideas of government. It is merely a struggle for supremacy and personal glory.

Such contests show a deplorable lack of democracy among students in our modern universities. Because a man happens to be affiliated with a fraternal order, it does not signify that he would be a more capable class president than the man who, because of inclination or necessity, is a "barb."

When this absurd rivalry between the "Greeks" and "Barbs," or Panhellenic and non-Panhellenic orders is ended, we shall see a much better school spirit, and democracy will have a sporting chance to prevail.

Rah-Rah Boys

THE college cheer leader is the most standardized human in America, in the opinion of the Independent. The magazine paints the familiar picture of a corps of cheer leaders accomplishing each yell in the cut-and-dried fashion—at one moment they all run, then they all kneel, and of course they all leap into the air at the grand finish.

Some cheer leaders can make a crowd yell, and others cannot; sport fans instantly respond to the personality of one leader, and are unmoved by another.

Great cheer leaders are born, and are not "pulled" into the job. Not uncommonly, leaders have been chosen not because of ability to lift people off their seats, but because they have risen to prominence in other campus activities. They are pushed into the new job upon the theory that they have worked hard and deserve to shine in the reflected glory of greater stars.

Cheer leading has become a formal exercise. Noise-making will degenerate into a duty instead of a pleasure unless cheer leaders with a little spontaneity, abandon and fervor, lead the fans away from the routine "rah, rah, rah."

Craftsmanship Counts

THERE is no such thing as an immoral or a moral book. Books are badly written or well written. That is all.

Despite Oscar Wilde's fondness for embellishing platitudes with satire and passing them off as gems of wisdom, his dazzling brilliancy did not eclipse his logic when he made the above observation. Perhaps some of his own books are so well written that one can distinguish neither immorality nor morality among the amazing mazes of his cynicism, but as usual the man and his words may always be separated.

That distinction between morals and well-done books is important in this day of suppressed plays surreptitiously produced, smuggled novels, and magazines reputed to be a bit too fast for the censors. Readers are apt to be a bit misled by eternally seeking only plots of stories, and forget that the craftsmanship, the spirit behind the play, the careful workmanship in the book, and the manner in which any idea is presented makes all the difference in the world when it comes to judging between good and bad books.

Poems That Live

"As in the Midst of Battle—"

As in the midst of battle there is room
For thoughts of love, and in foul sin for mirth;

As gossips whisper of a trinket's worth
Spied by the death-bed's flickering candle-gloom;

As in the revivings of Caesar's tomb
The sweet herbs flourish on a little earth;

So in this great disaster of our birth
We can be happy, and forget our doom.

For morning, with a ray of tenderest joy
Gilding the iron heaven, hides the truth,
And evening gently woos us to employ
Our grief in idle catches. Such is youth;

Till from that summer's trance we wake, to find Despair before us, vanity behind.

—GEORGE SANTAYANA.

Official Daily Bulletin

The University of Iowa

Bulletin and announcements for the Official Daily Bulletin column must be in the office of the university editor, Prof. Charles H. Weller, room 101 Journalism building, by 4 o'clock in the afternoon to appear in the following morning's Daily Iowan.

VOLUME 1, No. 51 DECEMBER 4, 1926

FACULTY OFFICIAL NOTICES

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB

The Political Science club will meet at the home of Dean Robert E. Rhenow, 1033 Woodlawn, Monday night, Dec. 6, at eight o'clock. Mr. E. B. Reuter will read a paper on "The Relation of Biology and Sociology."

BRUCE E. MAHAN, secretary

CENTRAL INTERURBAN CLINICAL CLUB

The Central Interurban Clinical club will meet in Iowa City today as guests of the department of internal medicine. The hours between 9 and 12 in the morning will be spent at the general hospital; from 1:30 to 3 in the afternoon, in room 203, medical laboratories building; at 3, in the childrens hospital.

PHILOSOPHICAL CLUB

The Philosophical club will meet Tuesday evening, Dec. 7, at the home of Prof. George D. Stoddard, Lexington avenue (off River street) west side. Dean C. E. Seashore of the graduate college will read a paper on "The Present Crisis in the Junior College Program."

BETH WELLMAN, secretary

CHANGE IN TIME OF READINGS BY SPEECH STAFF

Please note that the time of the Sunday afternoon readings by members of the department of speech has been changed from 4:00 to 3:00.

SERIES OF READINGS BY SPEECH STAFF

Members of the department of speech will give a series of Sunday afternoon readings, at 3:30 at the Iowa Union. The first number of the series will be given Sunday, Dec. 5, when Prof. Charles H. Woolbert will read a cutting of a play, "My Ourselves," by Ludwig Fulda.

Mrs. Alice W. Mills will give the second hour on Dec. 12. She will read a group of modern poems.

HELENE BLATTNER

UNDERGRADUATE ACTIVITIES

FRATERNITY AND SORORITY SUPPER

The fraternity and sorosity supper at the Iowa Union Sunday evening, Dec. 5, will start promptly at 5:45 o'clock. This is made necessary because of the broadcasting through WSUL.

AFTERNOON VARSITY

Regular afternoon varsity will be sponsored by Woman's association next Saturday afternoon from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m.

HELENE SPRINGER, chairman

Y. W. C. A. MONEY DISCUSSION GROUP

There will be a meeting of the Y. W. C. A. money discussion group at Miss Summer's office in the liberal arts building at 4 p.m.

HILLEL CLUB

One of the most important meetings of the year will be held next Sunday afternoon in the liberal arts drawing room at 3 o'clock, at which time the proposed revision of the constitution will be considered, the program of activities outlined, and the new committees appointed.

EDWARD ROBINSON, president

INTER-PROFESSIONAL SORORITY COUNCIL

Inter-professional Sorosity council will hold its regular meeting and luncheon Saturday, Dec. 4, at the Iowa Union.

ADELAIDE BALLUFF, president

W. A. A.

All hockey training cards must be placed on W. A. A. desk in the drawing room before Monday.

THELMA BREKKE

DIXIE CLUB

The Dixie club will hold its monthly dinner Tuesday, Dec. 7, at Youde's Inn at 6 o'clock.

DE MOLAY MEETING

The regular meeting of the De Molay organization will hold Thursday, Dec. 16, at the Masonic temple. All members are urged to be present.

The Book-World

Views and Reviews of the Latest in Print

Wealth of Prose

THE OXFORD BOOK OF ENGLISH PROSE. Ed. by Arthur Quiller-Couch. The Oxford University Press, 1925. $3.75.

Those who are most conversant with the treasures of English prose literature may well question how any adequate sense of their extent and richness can be conveyed by a collection of short extracts from complete works. With a poetry collection the case is different, where the contents belong to the same literary form; and where frequently complete poems may be included. But in a prose anthology that is to be in any way representative, fragments from almost every form of prose literature must find a place. And how shall the rare essence of some work of literary art comprising one or more volumes be suggested by a meagre page or two? Yet that Sir Arthur Quiller-Couch has succeeded, beyond our most ardent hopes, in doing this will be conceded by the majority of those who examine his compilation.

A Book of Good Company

A few random glances within it will suffice to convince one. Happening to open this volume at pages headed "Joseph Conrad" I was immediately lost in the magic of "Youth" and was amazed at the ease with which the brief extracts from the story conjured up the well-remembered atmosphere of unquenchable, buoyant youth, never in all literature more marvelously portrayed. Then turning back, again at random, I found myself standing beside "Tom Finch" on a London deck, watching passengers board a bus-going packet ship. Presently we were joined by the waddling figure of "Salrey Gamp," come there to watch for poor "Merry Chuzzlewit." Truly a book wherein you may associate with many of the wisest and wittiest minds which have used our language as a vehicle for their thoughts.

An Aid to Taste

Beginning with John Trevisa (1326-1402) and ending with Rupert Brooke (1887-1914), it would seem that few of the greatest present masters, British or American, whose works have been deemed worthy to outlive their own little day have been overlooked. Doubtless there will be some to disagree with the choice of authors and selections, as tastes differ so widely, even in regard to works of unquestioned beauty and recognized merit. But since almost everyone will find many of his old favorites represented therein, the volume is sure of a welcome. It is in some ways a "short cut" for literary snappers, but will be found vastly useful to all students of literature. It will be best loved, however, by those most familiar with the masterpieces from which the selections have been made.

How often has one sighed in vain

Longing for time to reread some old favorite among books and authors!

Yet with but a few moments to spare it will be easy to recapture some of the original delight by turning to the selection in this volume from the author for whom we hunger. While by no means advocating the acquisition of "culture" in minute doses by the mere reading of extracts I do maintain that even literature taken in tabloid form is better than none at all. And the possession of such an anthology as this one can scarcely fail to inculcate but the hopelessly immature with a higher standard of taste and style. So that it is really indispensable to both possible and actual lovers of noble English prose.

No more fitting Epilogue with which to close the text could have been chosen than the quotation from the Philobiblon of Richard de Bury (1281-1345). A very complete Index of Authors, Titles and Sources occupies the last twenty-eight pages.

—Anne Wakely Jackson

New Books

University Library

Beer, The Matve Decade; Bellmann, Petenera's Daughter; Bosworth, Technique in Dramatic Art; Caldwell, Life of Sir Stenley Maude; Chesterton, The Incredible of Father Brown; Cline, Listen Moon; Coudenhove-Kalergi, Pan-Europe; Cox, Art, for Amateurs and Students; Crawford, Rekindling Camp Fires; Delaisi, The Inevitable War; De Nogales, Four Years Beneath the Crescent; DuBois, The Gift of the Black Folk.

Garnett, Samuel Butler and His Family Relations; Grondall, The Music of the Sphere; Hall, Inland Water Transport in Mesopotamia; Hill, The Danish Sound Dues and the Command of the Baltic; Hyamson, Palestine; Kitson, The Evolution of Harmony; Kitson, The Studies in Pagan Land; The Jew in Drama; Lincoln, The Big Mogul; Lorch, How the War Came; Mengersie, The First Friend.

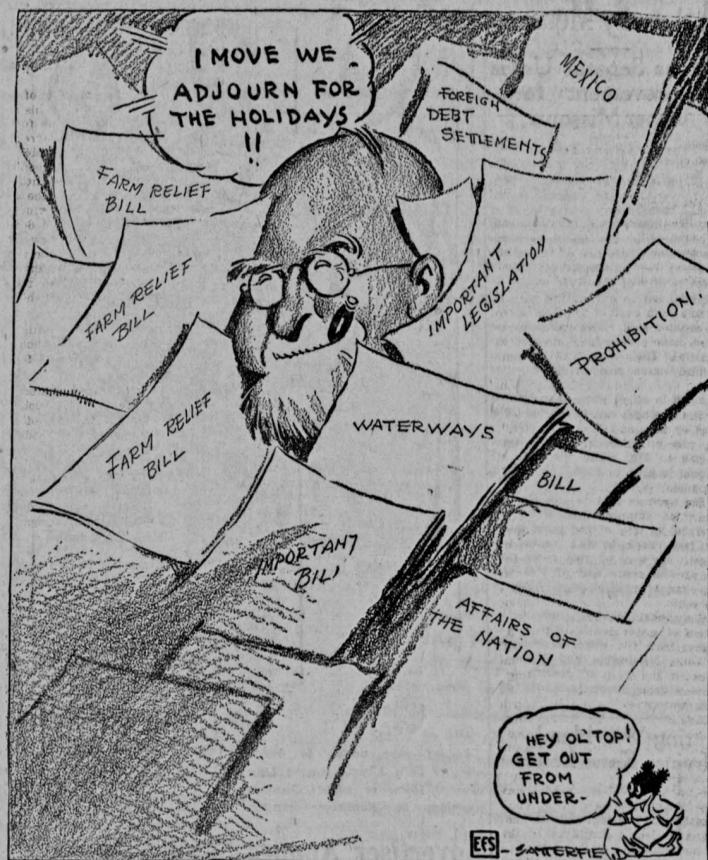

Moulton, World War Debt Settlements; Nelson, Robert Burns; Noyes, The War Period of American Finance, 1908-1925; Sakurai, Human Bullets; Shakespeare, The Falstaff Plays; Simon, Awakening Palestine; Trotter, The Making of Musicians; Wembridge, Other Peoples' Daughters; Wright, Three Plays of Plautus.

Policy Holders Ask Ruling

DES MOINES, Dec. 3 (AP)—A hearing is under way here on a petition by certain policy holders seeking a ruling by the federal court to prevent the Yeomen brotherhood from collecting increased assessments on certain classes of

THE HONORABLE CONGRESS IS NOW IN SESSION

By Satterfield

CHILLS and FEVER

The Christmas-cheer leader.

WE WONDER HOW AMBER BRUSH LIKED HER BOOTS.

It is of course a well established fact that there are only twenty-one days between now and Christmas but lots of folks with well-furnished cellars think there is only days between Christmas and New Years.

A Gamma Phi pledge says that she can't afford three dollars for a ticket to Gail Currier's concert, but she can stand under the windows and if she's good enough she can hear anyway.

KAY MACY, FLORENCE TAMS, AND ANNE BEMAN WISH TO ANNOUNCE THE ARRIVAL OF SIX GOLDFISH AT THE IOWAN OFFICE. A STRONG FAMILY RESEMBLANCE HAS BEEN NOTICED.

The Gopher Prairie Schooner Twenty Years Ago Today Dec. 3, 1906—The price of beer has been raised from three up to five cents a schooner. This is expected to have a pronounced effect on the holiday celebrations.

Mrs. Lulu Toothacre who has been visiting her sister, Miss Mame Mason, in California writes that the weather is always pleasant there and that enthusiastic crowds play croquet every day.

Ed Hinkle's horse ran away this morning and broke his arm; he was frightened by the "automobile" which Jim Gilroy recently bought. It is a kind of buggy that runs on gasoline.

Sicits are going to be very high this winter; Mrs. Winters, the popular dressmaker reports that the newer models are at least two inches above the ground.

The last item above reminds us why religion was stronger then than now. Men had to have powerful faith even to get married.

Lectures We Would Like to Hear: Allen Daidin—How It Feels to Be Ex-President of Everything; Charles Nunting—How to Sing; "God Save the King"; Mildred Becker—Chryslers and How to Lose Them; Eddie Fann—Can a Cannibal Can-

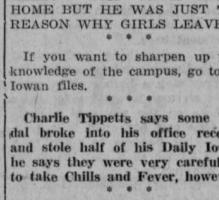

Proctor Maynard—How to Write the Official Bulletin and the last few freshman lectures.

They were at a church party—thirteen girls and thirteen boys. Twelve of the girls were very pretty, one was—well on the contrary. And they were drawing numbers, the boys were to see who would take the girls home; the very homely girl was numbered thirteen. One guy noticing this, turned to his neighbor, and said, "Do you get the joke?"

"My Gawd, I hope not," blurted the other. "I can get dates like that without drawing for them."

We wish to announce right here and now that we are very seriously displeased with the law library. We

Who's Who AT IOWA

Kenneth E. Griffen

Kenneth E. Griffen, office manager of the athletic department, here discusses some of the current student problems in connection with finances and athletics. The habit of writing bad checks on the part of the students is the cause of much unwarranted and serious trouble. The number of checks which the students write when they have insufficient funds in the bank is indeed surprising. Most of such cases are the cause of downright carelessness. Students do not realize that this habit gives them a bad reputation, but when they finally get into business for themselves they will find out that a practice of this kind hardly contributes to success. A man or woman that is mature enough to attend a university should have responsibility and intelligence to keep check stubs and to know just how they stand with their bank. When a check is returned because of insufficient funds it is very embarrassing for both the person that writes the check and the one to whom the check is written.

Mr. Griffen believes that the minor sports do not get the attention from the student that they deserve. "Every thing will be done this year to make these events attractive. The coaches are of very high caliber and cannot easily be bettered, but they and their teams need the support of the student body. When the games and events are attended by a large group of peppy students the team is bound to have a lot more of the "of" fight."

Midland Receives Excellent Rating

O'Brien, Critic, Says Local Periodical Among Best

The Midland, literary magazine edited and published by Prof. John Frederick and Prof. Frank L. Mott, of the department of English, has been rated for the thirteenth consecutive time as having 100 per cent distinctive stories by Edward J. O'Brien, eminent English critic of short stories. The Dial, The Forum, and The Midland were the only magazines receiving a rating of 100 per cent according to Mr. O'Brien's report in the Boston Transcript for Nov. 20.

The December number of the Midland is of particular interest to Iowa readers. E. Douglas Branch, formerly of the University of Iowa and author of "The Cowboy and His Interpreters," has a story appearing this month entitled "Mr. Wainscot Awaits His Lady."

James Hearst, son of the head of the Iowa Farm bureau, is the author of "The Reason for Stars," a poem, also in this month's issue. The Midland was founded in 1915 at Iowa City by a group of students under the direction of three faculty members. John T. Frederick has been its editor from the start. In 1917 it was moved to Moorhead, Minn., and from there to the home of Mr. Frederick at Glennie, Mich. The Midland gives no salaries nor realizes profits and does not pay for material published. It is maintained solely through the contributions of its readers and subscribers. The magazine has received marked recognition from such critics as O'Brien, and other publications as the Literary Digest, American Mercury, and the Chicago Post.

HE THOUGHT HE WAS THE REASON WHY GIRLS LEAVE HOME BUT HE WAS JUST THE REASON WHY GIRLS LEAVE.

If you want to sharpen up your knowledge of the campus, go to the Iowan files.

Listen my children and you shall hear
Of the midnight ride of Paul Revere;
Twas in the winter of seventy-five
The spirits of Christmas were much alive
When he woke up his nag from
And he led him out with a bunch of His customers plead as he passed the door.
He had sold his all; he could sell no more.

Early Grand Rapids style.

A bank is like a stocking; no matter how good it is, when a run gets started it is shot.

A. S. A.

Mr. Griffen believes that the minor sports do not get the attention from the student that they deserve. "Every thing will be done this year to make these events attractive. The coaches are of very high caliber and cannot easily be bettered, but they and their teams need the support of the student body. When the games and events are attended by a large group of peppy students the team is bound to have a lot more of the "of" fight."

As a whole, the Iowa students do show good sportsmanship at the athletic contests held here. There is always room for improvement, however. One of the places that the Iowa students might improve is at our home basketball games. It seems that when they do not like an official they take pains to let him know about it. This leaves a bad taste in the mouth of the visiting teams and makes the officials more apt to slightly favor the opposition. If the students will refrain from razzing the officials, I think that we can be sure of an even break. I am looking forward to a very successful basketball year and I hope that the students will show themselves to be good sports by accepting the officials' decisions with the proper respect.

"After Christmas," he continued, "there is going to be a change in the system of reserving seats at the basketball games. It will be arranged according to the same system that is now used for football contests. Those who wish to attend the games will present their "I" book coupons or pay a dollar for the major games or seventy-five cents for the minor games, at Wheel-stone's and will receive their tickets. I believe this system will be much better than the one which we have been using. The new field house is most likely to prove an attraction for larger attendance at games, which is most desirable. In the past year we have just about been breaking even on basketball

[TURN TO PAGE 5]

"The Petter"

By BEATRICE BURTON
Author of "Love Bound," "Her Man."

Copyrighted by Johnson Features, Inc., 1819 Broadway, New York.

CHAPTER LXVII

"Hello, Sweetiecum," he said, and flicked the ash from his cigar onto the floor beside the piano stool. "How's the Beautiful Doll tonight?" His eyes admired her.

The Beautiful Doll stared back at him calmly. "I couldn't be better," she answered solemnly. "Moms said you came to see me on business. What kind of business?"

She sat down on the old horse-hair sofa under the lamp. On the very edge of it, as if she meant to stay there only a minute or two.

But Les crossed the room and seated himself beside her.

"What kind of business?" he repeated, looking at her closely. "Well, pretty good business, I think. I have a job for you, if you want it."

Merry raised her eyebrows and waited.

He went on. "You know I told you I'd gone into the clothing business—women's clothes?"

"Yes," Merry nodded briefly.

"Well, Lillie Dale tells me that you've quit her. And I've been wondering if you wouldn't like to take a job with my firm up in Canada. Selling women's clothes. You could do it, you know, with your looks—girl, you've got 'em!"

His voice was tinged with a kind of reverence as he spoke of her beauty—the beauty that somehow was finer and more compelling than it had been years ago.

"You got the world beat on looks, kid," he said. "I was sitting very close to Merry now—so close that she could feel his breath on her cheek, and she drew away. "You could model clothes while you were selling 'em. You wouldn't have to go out on the road like I do. You could stay right there at the factory, and I'll bet you'd be a knock-out at the game."

Merry was just opening her lips to say "No," when he spoke again. "See, Baby, most of the buying is done by men," he explained.

"They come to the factory to look things over before they order. And you could see 'em. You could jolly 'em along, and sell 'em every time!"

A bright look came into Merry's face. It was a danger signal, but Lester Purcell did not know that.

He had known the old Merry Locke, who knew how to kiss and to "jolly" and to show a fellow a good time. But he did not know this one who sat beside him, with her green eyes burning in her lovely face, and her lips smiling. She looked to him.

"These birds who come to buy, come for a good time, too," he said, taking another puff at his cigar, and then dropping some more ashes down upon Merry's "body Brussels" carpet.

"They're mostly old married men who think they're painting the town red, if they take a good-looking girl like you out for dinner," he explained. "That's their idea of a thrill—and you sure could give it to 'em! You're a darn good sport, and a darn good looker too."

His words—his cheap and common words—sickened Merry.

And the thing he had said to her—that she was a good sport, a half-fellow-well-met for men buyers in a clothing house—sickened her still more.

She saw herself suddenly with Lester Purcell's eyes. As a jollier and a petter—a thriller. The kind of a girl that a man asks out for dinner, to drink with him, to entertain him. A jolly good sport! A pal—for traveling men!

Before she spoke, she looked for a long time at Les Purcell.

Once upon a time she had been a figure of romance to him. A girl clothed in the magic of First Love—that night when he had kissed her on a lonely country road under the shing stars.

How far she had come since that night, when a man had kissed her for the first time! How many kisses she had had—and how little any of them had meant! She had been "easy" and cheap and common.

And this was the end! This—to have Lester Purcell tell her just how "easy" and cheap and common he thought she was!

"You go!" she said quietly, between her teeth.

He made the mistake of laughing. She caught him by his shoulders, and drew him to his feet with the swift strength of a tigress.

Half laughing, half sobbing, she pushed him out of the room, beating on his chest with her little fists. Pushed him out and in the hall he got away from her and flung himself out of the house and down the front steps to the yellow taxicab that waited for him in the street.

Still shaking and quivering, Merry went back into the room that was filled with the smell of his cigar smoke.

On the floor lay the little flower he had had in his buttonhole. He had stepped on it when it fell from his coat.

Merry stooped and picked it up, looking at its broken, crushed petals. It made her think of herself—that small, crushed, soiled flower.

"That's me," she said.

CHAPTER LXVIII

Merry felt exactly as if she had had a bath in sticky, muddy water and never could be clean again.

What Les had said to her had left a smirch that is on all women who are not wholly good—half-way girls. Girls that are not exactly bad, and certainly not good.

"A good sport!" he had called her. The kind of girl who goes out with a man and shows him a good time. The kind of a girl whose kisses are easy and cheap.

"And yet the worst thing I've ever done in my life is to take a few drinks and let a few men make love to me," she said to herself, slowly undressing before the bedroom mirror.

It had not seemed wrong to her at the time. It had seemed harmless enough and thrilling, perhaps, to smoke a cigaret, to empty a glass of gin-gineral, to let Bill Erskine or Cobby Marsh or Derrick or George Leet kiss her.

And now as she looked back on it, she could see how much those things had sullied her—dirtyed her, cheapened her and made her common.

And yet, didn't all girls "pet" these days? That was what the women's pages of the papers said. So did the women's magazines. So did the moving pictures.

Still, something was wrong somewhere, Merry knew. Had she been too easy? Too good natured? "Too ready to 'let'?"

For only two men ever had wanted to marry her, pretty as she was. George Leet—poor old George, who was lucky to get anybody to marry him—and Tony Gaines.

Tony Gaines! Merry's breath caught at the thought of him. The thought that she would see him again on Wednesday, after all these years!

The next morning Lillie came with a Ford truck to take away her trunks and her few bits of furniture. She was going to share a flat with Trudie Aiken, the girl who had taken Merry's old job.

"I hate to see her go in a way," Merry said regretfully, as she watched Lillie walk down the street, when the truck had departed. She had liked Lillie, with her slang, her cheerfulness and her startling clothes. Lillie was always good company.

"I suppose I may as well rent her room right away," Moms added with a sigh. "I need the money. But I do hate the thought of having another stranger in the house."

But, after all, she did not have to rent Lillie's old room.

Merry went down to the drug store

RALPH GRAVES, OLIVE BORDEN, "THE COUNTRY BEYOND" A WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION

late in the afternoon for some glove cleaner. When she came back there were four trunks standing in the front hall.

The second she laid eyes on them she knew that they belonged to Cassie.

They were elegant and expensive wardrobe trunks with Cassie's initials painted on them in Harding blue—Cassie's favorite color.

A bag beaded with rosebuds on a Harding blue background lay on the hall table and from the kitchen came the sound of Cassie's voice, raised in anger and complaint.

She was talking so fast that Merry could not make out what she was saying. But Moms' reply came clearly enough.

"Well, I don't know where I'll put you, Cassie," she said. "Jimmy's going to bring the twins over here for a week while Derrick's away on a fishing trip. She just called up and said she'd be over after supper."

Merry opened the door and went into the kitchen.

Cassie was perched on one corner of the table, looking like anything but a neglected and ill-treated wife. What she did look like was a spoiled child. Her underlip was thrust in a pout, and her green eyes smoldered. One foot, in its silver-buckled, hand made slipper beat the floor in a swift tattoo.

Her black satin tube of a dress was the kind that simply cannot be bought for less than a hundred and fifty dollars. Her tiny satin turban was a work of art.

Everything about her, right down to the tips of her manicured fingers spelled m-o-n-e-y, and lots of it.

"Hello, Merry," she said sulkily, "do you want a room-mate? I've come home, again."

Merry nodded good naturedly. "Why, of course, I'd love to have you, Cassie," she answered without any hesitation.

(TO BE CONTINUED)

Applications for Roberts Scholarship Ready for Filing

Application forms for the annual Lydia C. Roberts graduate fellowship to Columbia university from the state of Iowa are available now at the office of President Walter A. Jessup. Signed applications for this fellowship have been awarded annually since 1921. Any person of the Caucasian race, of either sex, born in the state of Iowa, and in need of financial assistance to pursue advanced course of study may apply, provided he has graduated from a college or university in the state. The fellowship does not cover the advanced study of law, medicine, dentistry, theology, or veterinary medicine.

A person accepting this award must state his purpose to return to the state for a period of at least two years upon completion of his work at Columbia university, in New York.

A number of inquiries concerning the Lydia Roberts fellowship have been made at the office of the president, and it is expected that there will be many applications filed. The selection of the fellow is in the hands of the university council.

Who's Who at Iowa

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 4)

games but I expect to come out ahead this year.

"The off season we had in football this fall will hardly effect the 1927 ticket sales. Most people know that this season's defeats were due to the poor material that we had and to the inexperience of the men, which is practically the same thing. Next year's prospects appear much brighter. Even this fall the team displayed a good brand of football in the Illinois, Wisconsin, and Ohio games in spite of the fact that Iowa was defeated. The student body can be a great help in turning out good teams in the future, if every student will remain sold to the university, and will try to get all of the good men that he is acquainted with to come here to school. If every student would think of the university as his fraternity and would work through the summer to get these good high school athletes to come to Iowa, it would mean that we would always have a good team to put on the field."

Mr. Griffen is a graduate of the college of commerce. He was born in Atlanta, Iowa, in 1902, and attended grade school there. He received both his high school and college education in Iowa City. During his university career he was made a member of Sigma Delta Chi, honor

Shoots at Cousin; Gets Prison Term

REDFIELD, S. D., Dec. 3 (AP)—Ed Eby of Conde, 26 years old, today was sentenced to an indeterminate term of not more than ten years in the state prison at Sioux Falls, following conviction on a charge of assault with intent to kill. Eby was charged with shooting his cousin, Alice Hazen, 20 years old, at the George Watts farm, Aug. 6, last, while in a fit of anger.

PASTIME THEATRE

NOW SHOWING

One of the Best Pictures this Famous Star Has Made in a Long Time.

Be Sure and See

RICHARD BARTHELMESS

THE AMATEUR GENTLEMAN

He does some of his finest acting in this picture. He is a real actor.

—also showing—

Latest Pathe News
Those Funny Fables
Topics of the Day
Charley Chase Comedy
"BROMO AND JULIET"
It's a Very Good Comedy
Special Music for This Show

—also—

Elaine Bair featuring a new song hit, "It Must Be The Moonlight"

To What Extent Should Girls Be "Broad Minded"?

The Broad Minded Age in "BUTTERFLIES IN THE RAIN"

on the Giant Double Feature Program

STRAND — NOW SHOWING

Yes Sir! We Promise You A Complete Surprise! Oh! So Different! You'll Say So!

"The Golden Voiced Barton Organ!"

Mr. George D. Bickford—at the Console

First Times Today ENGLERT Times Today

and on the screen

The Laugh-Riot of Three Rollicking Rhinestones

TIN HATS

"Three American Doughboys and the watch on the Rhine!"

They got a lot of laughs out of their post-war job—and so will you when you see this merry-go-round of mirth! They're all there—the hard-boiled eggs with cracked shells, and the cuties who just dote on uniforms! You'll say it's funnier than any film in years!

WITH A CAST—A FEATURE ITSELF

CONRAD NAGEL
BERT ROACH CLAIRE WINDSOR

"Matinee's Every Day"

"Bick" at the Golden Voiced Barton
For Laughs—A Knockout Comedy LIGE CONLEY in "SOLID GOLD" World's Latest News Events
Matinees 40c
Nights 50c
Kids 10c

—Continuous Shows Today and Sunday!—

The largest selling quality pencil in the world.

VENUS

17 black legrees
3 copying

Superlative in quality, the world-famous

VENUS PENCILS

give best service and longest wear.

Plain ends, per doz. $1.00
Rubber ends, per doz. 1.20
at all dealers

American Lead Pencil Co.
220 Fifth Ave., N.Y.

THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH

SERMON TOMORROW

"Is The Gospel A Myth?"

Services: 8, 9:30, 10:45, and 5 P. M.

Eddie Flinn and Bob Sibert's

VARSIITY TONIGHT

11 DEXTER'S Piece Wisconsin Roof Orchestra 11

It's for you

Make it your book

Arrange For Your Picture AT ONCE

Junior pictures will not appear in The Greater Hawkeye unless arrangements are made before December 15.

Due to the fact that the Junior section of the book entails considerable work all Juniors must get their pictures taken as soon as possible.

Find Increase in Number of Junior Colleges in Iowa

A survey recently made by F. C. Ensign, professor of education at the University of Iowa, reveals rapid growth in the junior college movement within the state. "The movement," Professor Ensign says, "has been fostered by educators who believed that the American youth, after

Continuous Shows TODAY and SUNDAY

GARDEN THEATRE

Last Times Monday

YOU won't for the life of you be able to escape the hypnotic humanness of this one!

What A Cast!

Betty Bronson
Ford Sterling
Lawrence Gray
Dorothy Phillips
Raymond Hitchcock

A Special Selected Comedy Lupino Lane

—in—

"MOVIE LAND"

Kinograms — Late News
Garden Orchestra
— Usual Prices —

STRAND'S BIG BARGAIN SHOW WEEK-END!

COMMENCING TODAY

Two Brand New First Run First Class Feature Photoplays

TWO SHOWS FOR THE PRICE OF ONE

FIFTEEN REELS—REQUIRING 2 1-2 HOURS RUNNING TIME

WILLIAM FC presents

The COUNTRY BEYOND

JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD'S
Great Novel of Broadway and the North-west
OLIVE BORDEN
RALPH GRAVES
GERTRUDE ASTOR
J. FARRELL M'DONALD—FRED KOHLER
IRVING CUMMINGS Production.

LAURA LA PLANTE
JAMES KIRKWOOD

in a daring and sensational story of modern woman's "Broad-Minded" Age.

"BUTTERFLIES IN THE RAIN"

You'll Like This Innovation In Entertainment and You'll Sure Get Your Money's Worth! No Advances In Regular Admissions.

Henrietta Shippers in New Robert Morton Organ Numbers

Hawkeye Cagers Meet Billikens in Season's Opener Tonight

St. Louis Quintet Helps Iowa Open New Field House

Missouri Five Has Three New Men in Lineup

THE PROBABLE LINEUP
IOWA ST. LOUIS

Twoood	L.F.	L.F.	Strong
Van Dusen	R.F.	R.F.	Steinger
Wilcox	C.	C.	Wentler
Hogan (c)	R.G.	R.G.	Fitzgerald
McConnell	L.G.	L.G.	Casey

Officials: Referee, J. E. Travenick (Armour Institute); umpire, E. Jackson (Knox).

Captain Sam Barry's Hawk quintet are all set for the invasion of the St. Louis Billikens, who come to Iowa City today to open the Old Gold cage season. The game will initiate the University of Iowa's new $400,000 field house, said to be the largest in the country.

Captain Barry stressed offensive plays in Friday evening's drill. The Hawks were given an easy workout compared to the practices earlier in the week. The squad is in excellent condition for the St. Louis fray, which, with the Wabash, Notre Dame, and Marquette contests, is considered as a practice game in preparation for the Big Ten meets, the first of which comes January 8.

Two New Hawkeys
Two men on the Hawk squad will play their first game of college basketball tonight. Twoood, who captained the frosh squad last season, will start at forward, and has a driving offensive which is expected to pierce the St. Louis defense for a substantial number of counters.

Wilcox, at center, is another who will be initiated into collegiate cage work by tonight's game. Wilcox is but average in getting the tip-off at center, but is aggressive on the floor.

McConnell and Hogan, both veterans of former seasons, will start

Iowa Avenue Bridge for Pedestrian Cage Fans

All pedestrian fans going to the Iowa-St. Louis game tonight are requested to use the Iowa avenue bridge. Proceed through the quadrangle to the west entrance, and from there take the new board walk to the east entrance of the field house.

Automobiles will use Burlington street bridge, and Melrose avenue to the cinder road turning north opposite the west end of the new armory. Policemen will direct the parking.

Barry Uses Two Teams

Captain Barry will use two teams against the Billikens. His second string has a good percentage of seasoned players. Phillips, substitute forward of last season, was second in point of counters last season. He was used as pinch-hitter in last season's contests, and was sent in when the Hawks needed points. Coach Barry expects to reserve Phillips for the same work this season.

Adley, who is pivot for the second string, has great possibilities. He is quick on the jump at the toss up, but a little undeveloped on floor work.

"Pops" Harrison, spoken of by most sports writers as Iowa's most aggressive floor man, goes with Phillips at forward. They will exchange with Twoood and Van Dusen for part of the play.

Armstrong and Skelly will handle the guard positions for the second string. Dollarhide and Talbert will also probably have opportunity to work at forwards tonight.

Billikens Fairly Strong
The St. Louis aggregation have three new men in their lineup. They had one of the strongest quintets in the Missouri Valley conference last season.

"Why, if Theodore Roosevelt should appear suddenly in America today saying and doing what he did from 1904 to 1912 the various defense societies, security leagues, minute men of the republic and 100 per cent Americans would start a whipsawing campaign that his real name was 'Fedor Roosevelt,' and that he was sent here as agent of the bolsheviks."—William Allen White, famed Kansas publicist.

Veteran Cagers Ready for St. Louis Fray

LEFT, TOP TO BOTTOM: G. L. VAN DEUSEN, GORDON PHILLIPS AND C. H. MCCONNELL. CENTER: R. H. HOGAN, CAPTAIN ANG GUARD. RIGHT: LAWRENCE HARRISON AND HEAD COACH JUSTIN M. (SAM) BARRY.

These five lettermen from last year's championship quintet are back for basket ball competition at Iowa now. At least three of them will open against St. Louis tonight in the new field house. Captain Hogan and McConnell, last year's leader and an all-conference man, will start at the guard positions. Van Dusen will work at one forward while two graduates from the freshman team, Wilcox and Twoood, may work at center and forward, respectively. Harrison and Phillips are certain to see action, though. Harrison is an aggressive player who excels on defense, and Phillips is a "dead" shot who was used as a "minute man" by Coach Barry last year to pile up a few points and give the Hawkeyes a lead. Then he would shoot in Harrison and the Old Gold would present an impregnable defense.

Senior Women Land Four Positions on Honorary Varsity Hockey Team

First Team	Second Team
Millet	G. G.
Davis	L. F.
Roose	R. F.
Jackson	L. H.
Breuchert	C. H.
Starbuck	R. W.
Studer	L. W.
Towne	L. L.
Springer	C. F.
Weekes	R. R.
Schmitt	R. W.

troop, Iowa City, were given the remaining positions. The senior team, which won the class championship, seems to have been a "four horsewomen" affair, since the seniors placed no players on the second team. The freshmen, runners-up in the tourney, gathered five second team positions for a total of seven places on both teams. The juniors placed four players on the second team, and the sophomores were given the other two berths.

Howard Calls Mat Session

All candidates out for the varsity wrestling team are asked to report to Coach Mike Howard, Tuesday, Dec. 7, at 4:15 at the men's gym. Howard will at this time explain the changes in the wrestling rules for the coming season. These rules were drawn up at the recent Big Ten coaches meeting. It is important that every candidate be there so that they will be able to wrestle according to the new rules as soon as possible.

troop A, 118th Cavalry, has started practice on indoor target shooting under the direction of Lt. John Teidmann. All of last year's championship rifle team is here this year but Sgt. Arthur Baldwin. Lieutenant Teidmann believes that this year's team will surpass last year's championship squad which met with only two defeats in its interstate matches. Relying on the strength of this Lieutenant has sent official challenge to the American Rifleman, a monthly magazine. The challenge will be published in the next issue.

Rifle Team Expects to Win Supremacy Again This Year

Football and subjects related to it will be the dominant topic of conversation at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday noon. Coach Hart Ingversen, the Iowa team, the assistant coaches, and the Iowa City high school team will be guests. Luncheon will be served shortly after noon and the meeting will adjourn at 1:30 p. m.

J. H. Wilson Will Entertain Merchants

J. H. Wilson, Roland Smith, and L. C. Burdick will be hosts to the Merchant's Retail Bureau Monday evening at Mr. Wilson's home in Coralville. The merchants will discuss plans for decorations and other details relative to the holiday season.

U. High Cage Team Faces Stiff Card

Blue and White Coach Cuts Squad to Fourteen

With the start of basketball practice all University high fans are starting the annual indoor sport of doping out the season's prospect. Coach Sicken with an experienced team is facing probably the stiffest schedule which the school has ever carded.

Scrimmages with Sharon Center high, and several fraternity teams were held this week, to prepare for the coming season. A squad of twenty-five has been cut down to fourteen only four of whom are seniors. It includes: Dean Jones, Walter Johnson, Walter Rose, Rush Dennis, Ivan Blackmar, Richard Speirs, James Green, Fritz Louis, Edmund Starbuck, Max Messner, Stanley Hunter, Dudley Whiting, Virgil Bowers, and Jack Stover. Stover and Green will be ineligible for competition this semester, but will be primed for action for the last half year.

The most promising contenders for positions as they have shown up so far are Captain Jones and Dennis, forwards; Blackmar, center; and Rose and Johnson, guards. Bowers and Green may break into the line up. The schedule includes:

- Dec. 7, Alumni (here)
- Dec. 10, Mount Pleasant (here)
- Jan. 14, West Liberty (here)
- Jan. 21, Iowa City (here)
- Jan. 26, St. Patricks (here)
- Jan. 29, Englewood high of Chicago (here)
- Feb. 4, Iowa City (here)
- Feb. 11, Mount Vernon (here)
- Feb. 15, West Liberty (here)
- Feb. 19, Albionette (here)
- Feb. 25, Grant high of Cedar Rapids (here)
- Feb. 28, St. Patricks (here)
- Mar. 4, Mount Vernon (here)

C. of C. Gives Luncheon Monday for Football Men

Football and subjects related to it will be the dominant topic of conversation at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday noon. Coach Hart Ingversen, the Iowa team, the assistant coaches, and the Iowa City high school team will be guests.

At the Hospitals

Frank Brum, 913 Kimball avenue, was admitted to the university general hospital Thursday for surgical treatment. A son was born Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cautson, 630 South Johnson street, 122 Church street, is a patient at the university general hospital.

Frat Tankers Hold Preliminary Trials

Although only seven of the sixteen teams entered in the interfraternity swimming meet appeared for competition in the preliminary contests held yesterday afternoon, all events were hotly contested, good times were turned in, and a rousing final battle assured for this afternoon when the qualifying teams meet again in the men's gym pool.

Delta Chi, winners of the interfraternity water polo tourney just a day ago, came to the fore again by claiming best time in the medley relay. Swimming against time alone three watches caught them at 2:24 flat. Boice, Mullen and Kohl swam in the order named and took the back, breast, and crawl strokes respectively.

The teams qualifying for the finals are: 160 yard relay: Phi Delta Theta, Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Nu, and Sigma Phi Epsilon. Best time, Delta Tau Delta; 1:32 3/5. Medley Relay: Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Nu, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Delta Chi. Best time, Delta Chi, 2:24.

Frosh and Varsity Tank Teams Meet

Armbruster Matches Squads for Clash This Afternoon

Coach David A. Armbruster has arranged a swimming meet between the freshman and varsity squads to be held at the pool in the men's gym at 3:30 this afternoon. Men swimming fans may attend and will get some idea of the strength of the Hawkeye team. The team will go through the same events as in a regular swimming meet. A water polo game will be played immediately following the meet.

Freshman coach Ivan J. Klingaman feels very optimistic about this year's freshman squad. Some of the men have been turning in exceptionally good times and should give the varsity tight competition today.

While at the Mid-Western coaches conference in Chicago last week end, Coach Armbruster scheduled six conference meets for the year. The schedule as arranged at present is as follows:

- Jan. 15, Illinois at Iowa.
- Jan. 22, open.
- Feb. 5, Mid-Western A. A. U. Championships (tentative).
- Feb. 11, Iowa at Minnesota.
- Feb. 19, Northwestern at Iowa.
- Feb. 26, Iowa at Chicago.
- Mar. 11, Iowa at Wisconsin.
- Mar. 18, Michigan at Iowa.
- Mar. 25-26, Conference meet at Illinois.
- April 1-2, National collegiate meet and national polo championships at Iowa.

Thirty Aspirants Out for Red and White Cage Team

To Play Lone Tree in First Game Here December 13

Basket ball practice has been progressing well this week at the City high gymnasium with over thirty aspirants out for cage positions.

Since the moleskins, liberally garnished with mothballs, have been tucked away until farther year, Coach Henry Soucek has been laboring with his basketekers, endeavoring to get them in shape for their first battle with Lone Tree here Dec. 13. Drills in fundamentals, with scrimmages playing a major part, have occupied the time of the men since last Tuesday.

Four Letter Men Back

Coach Soucek has four letter men back to serve as a nucleus upon which to build his squad for the approaching season. Shley, captain and guard; McComas, center; Idema, forward; and Curry, reserve guard are the men upon whom the hopes of the Red and White will fall this winter.

Reinbart, flashy Centralia, Ill. athlete who played a star part on the gridiron all fall, is also out to bolster the local's cage prospects. Scrimmages will take place as soon as possible. Coach Soucek announced last night. The squad will be culled down to about sixteen or twenty men with whom he intends to devote his personal attention.

This year as an innovation, he intends to select five or six of the most promising freshmen and give them the benefit of his individual instruction.

While freshmen are not barred from interscholastic competition, they are usually not experienced enough to compete with their more advanced team mates. Notwithstanding, the Little Hawk guardian intends to watch over them there are other years coming.

Prospects Bright
Iowa City's cage session was not very successful last year but with six experienced men to build upon and many determined recruits added to the local's resources, the Red and White should display a winning brand of play.

The program planned for the coming year is not set-up. Some of the strongest teams in the state have been carded. The schedule: Dec. 17—Lone Tree here. Dec. 20—Mt. Vernon here. Dec. 30—Durant here. Jan. 7—Clinton here. Jan. 14—Mt. Vernon here. Jan. 21—University high here. Jan. 28—Grinnell here. Feb. 4—University high here. Feb. 11—Grinnell here. Feb. 18—Davenport here. Feb. 25—Clinton here.

Use Daily Iowan Want Ads for Results

J.C. Penney Co.
A NATION-WIDE INSTITUTION
DEPARTMENT STORES
118-120 East College, Iowa City, Ia.

For a Man

The Sort of Gifts He Would Buy for Himself

Gift Mufflers Of Fibre

A gift that is always welcome! And you sure have a large variety to select from here. All the newest colors in stripes, plaids and plains. And the knitted fibre silk insures long wear!
$1.49 to $2.98

Near East Relief

Next Sunday is Golden Rule Sunday. Contributions for Near East Relief, in accordance with the call of President Coolidge, will be received here all of next week. They will be forwarded to the Near East Relief Committee with our contribution.

Dress Shirts For Men

High count Percalés and other good cloths—
98c

Men's Slippers Durable and Comfortable

Leather tops, soles and heels. Priced low at $1.98

Men's Bath Robes Ideal Gifts

Cut full, good length, silk cord, big pockets—
$4.98 to $9.90

Our "4-for-1" Hose for Men

Our own brand. Well known from coast to coast. Strongly made with no loose threads. Of extra good quality mercerized lisle, including heel, toe and top. An exceptional value at—4 Pcs. $1.00

Silk Hose For Men

Silk and rayon mixed. Merc. lisle heel, toe and top.
79c

Oxfords of Style and Value For Men—Gun Metal Calf

Stout, durable gun metal calf, broad toe and medium sole. Fancy corded stitch trimming and fancy laces; Goodyear welts. Unusual value and style at our moderate price of—$4.98

BE THERE!

See Iowa's Basketball Team Off to A Flying Start on the 1926-27 Season —in the—
New Field House

St. Louis vs Iowa

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 4, 7:35 p. m.

General Admission, 75 cents; Children, 25 cents.
Year Ticket Coupon No. 6.

FOLLOW THESE DIRECTIONS

AUTOMOBILES

Use Burlington St. bridge. Proceed on Melrose avenue (up the hill to the left) and continue on Melrose until you reach cinder road turning north (to the right) opposite the west end of the New Armory. Policemen will direct parking.

PEDESTRIANS

Use Iowa Ave. bridge. Proceed through the Quadrangle to west entrance. A new board walk has been constructed to the east (main) entrance of the Field House.

HERE'S WHERE He'd Buy Gifts!

HE KNOWS this store for its quality; its service—and its values! It's his Store the year 'round—hence the logical store for gift purchasing.

Just a Few Suggestions

SHIRTS, $2 to $5
NECKWEAR, $1 to $3
HOSIERY, 75c to $2
MUFFLERS, $2 to $6
GLOVES, $2 to $7
SWEATERS, $5 to $15
PAJAMAS, $2 to $10

BREMER'S

THE STORE OF THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Saturday, Dec
Mic
Ex-Welte
Gets Cro
Furiou
Fans Boo,
When Re
Mick Round CHICAGO, De city crowd of 11 ned the histor for its political witness the effo er, former welle er, to win the pionship from The receipts motor Jim Mill $85,000 and $90, ing gate for 61
pale.
The demand great that all before the door was a complete ago's largest fl sport became le Cops
After the inc
the last fight c 150 police were preserve order ling the crowd.
Jackie Willis
hart, a pair of watches battle opener with W referee's varlet Walcott Lung negro middlewe Jack Elkhart o
the fourth rou eight round bou Elkhart was of three in the the fourth wa face with a left watches battle
Barnes, Me
Chuck Barnes
Texas, and Bab lahoma 165 po vicious rounds ory, a sharp, welled Barnes w chin in the bu his knases thie follow up his a George Godfre negro heavywei out over Cowbo 8th round of t bout was stopp protoge of Jack feet.
Benny Yange tender for the pionship elmb referee of the championsh
ROU
Walker drove Be To be ab must ad not get u o'clocks f swer the all by itse
But it wi to any cla a better v other fo ever seen will glide an ease t and leave consider Its iridun id gold v action wh ing fast a "jab'em c the roun
when yo

Council Fails to Act on Fire Equipment

Three Companies Submit Bids for Service; Discuss Installation of Four More Electric Traffic Signals

Iowa City's aldermen last night reached no decision concerning additional fire equipment for the town. Bids were submitted by American-La France company of New York, the Seagrave company, and the Graham-Boyer company of Indiana. The Seagrave city service truck bid was high with $9,000, while a bid received from the La France company was $6,500.

A bid was also received from the American-La France company covering the expense of ladders and brackets to be installed on the pumper truck at the city hall station.

Wants Name Removed

John Colbert whose name had been on a petition recently received by the city council and which condemned the building of the College street viaduct, requested that his name be removed from the list. W. S. Thomas, whose name also had been attached to the same petition, had his name withdrawn at a recent meeting.

A bid was received and placed on file, for four traffic signals from Prof. Arthur Ford, who installed the present signal on College and Dubuque streets. The cost of the signals when installed on four local corners would be $900. Without installation Mr. Ford's bid would come to $750.

The proposed corners for these signals are Washington and Linn, Washington and Dubuque, Washington and Clinton, and College and Clinton streets.

Ask Time Extension

John Aldous, local florist, appeared on behalf of fifteen downtown merchants who operate commercial trucks, requested a slight extension of the downtown parking time limit for these shopkeepers.

This request was asked solely for commercial trucks and not for private vehicles owned by these merchants.

Movement Started to Pave Stanwood Road Next Spring

Lincoln Highway Route Rests With Authority of New General Assembly

There is a rising movement in the southern half of Cedar county in an effort to secure the hard-surfacing of at least the Stanwood-Tipton road, No. 38, as well as the Lincoln highway, this coming year.

Under the six-year road program which was voted upon in the November election, the tax levy provided by the bond, will permit only the paving of No. 39 this year.

Route Uncertain

The exact location of the completed highway is unsettled. Many await the action of the state legislature on the present law concerning the control over roads. At present the county board of supervisors has authority, with the highway commission, on the location of the roads.

For several years there has been contention over the location of the Lincoln highway. The town of Mechanicsville has paved its street, over which the highway passes through it; and has fought strongly in an effort to have the road located permanently through town. This would necessitate crossing the North Western railroad twice, and would mean overhead crossings.

The highway commission prefers to run the road south of Mechanicsville. This would shorten the road about one-half miles and would extend almost in a straight line from Clarence to Lisbon. It would also eliminate all railroad crossings, excepting an overhead crossing at Lowden, between Clinton and Cedar Rapids.

Law to Aid Commission

There is hope that a new state law will give the state highway commission full authority in locating highways. There is strong feeling among the leading men in the county that the road will be put south of Mechanicsville.

Farmers' Smiles Vie with Frowns as Chickens Cackle, Sheep Bleat

Farmer Clovalthay groans and chuckles in the same breath. He curses the Coolidge administration when he reads the quotations on corn, but smiles as he receives his monthly cream check. For, while he mortgages the south eighty to buy his seed corn, he buys a new car, using fresh eggs as currency.

The value of cattle in Iowa is greater in the aggregate than for any other class of livestock, but for the value of horses, mules, and asses is only five million less. The census of 1915 shows that the greatest increase has been in dairy animals. However, in 1925 the value of all livestock and poultry in the state decreased, leaving a total value of $310,993,213.

Increase in Cattle

In 1925 Mr. Johnson County Farmer could look on his pasture and see 45,303 head of cattle stowing away the vitamins and fat producing elements which were to add to his income in beef and milk. This was over three times the population of urban pastures in 1915 when there were but 14,359 head. If Mr. Johnson County had their cash equivalent in his pocket, his income would be that of a millionaire, for he would have $1,436,800. He did actually sell most of this, for he sold $1,142,096 worth of beef.

While the automobile usurps the highway, Farmer Clovalthay still uses Dobbin to plow his corn and pull his hayrack. Ten thousand four hundred seventy-nine horses, mules, and asses one year old and over gnawed at their feed boxes in 1925. The number has decreased since 1915 when there were 121,053 head over two years of age. If a good auctioneer were to sell them, the "thundering herd" of 1925 would net their owners $597,371.

Hogs Worth $2,247,468

Like priceless ginseng roots buried in that muddy beam of Johnson County, the principal consumers of Iowa's corn crop snort and grunt in Farmer Clovalthay's back yard—music like that of Joan of Arc's "voices" to their proud possessors. If a silk purse could be made from a pig's ear, 115,634 coin carriers could be manufactured from the ears of the 57,867 pigs under six months of age who wallow in Johnson County mud ponds (Excluding those who wallow in the middle of Johnson county roads.) If Farmer Clovalthay and his neighbor, Otis Wheaton, owned all of the pigs in Johnson county from 1915 to 1925 they would both be millionaires, for they would net $2,247,468. This showed an increase over the 33,888 porkers in Johnson county in 1915, despite the fact that 1,908 of them succumbed to cholera.

Sheep Farm Profitable

It requires the skins of two sheep to make one sheepskin coat. In 1925 there were 4,172 prospective sheepskin coats gambling about the greens of Johnson County farms.

The 8,245 sheep netted 50,551 pounds. This was a big increase over the statistic taken in 1915 which showed that 4,302 ewes were worth $22,924.

In 1924 the hens on Johnson County farms cackled 21,935,076 times after laying 1,827,923 dozen eggs. In 1925 the hens were evidently more ambitious, for 360,954 hens laid 439,314 dozen eggs more than did the parasitic farm yard cluckers of 1915. Without a doubt, the introduction of electric lights in the chicken houses is proving a success. Pity the poor hen, but envy the farmer.

J. S. Dice Sues to Recover Back Rent

Wants Judgment for $1,065 of Tenant, Oliver Furst

A petition charging "negligent and careless" farming was filed in the office of the county clerk yesterday by Attorney W. H. Bailey for his client J. S. Dice against Oliver T. Furst and Myrtle Furst.

Dice stated in his petition that on Nov. 19, 1924, he leased his farm to Furst for a period of three years, commencing Mar. 1, 1925 and ending Mar. 1, 1928. And that two promissory notes of $150.00 each were made, one to fall due Sept. 1, 1926 and the other Jan. 1, 1927.

The petition also stated that the plaintiff, by the terms of the lease, was to have one-half of all the corn, hay, fruit, and all other crops in addition to the notes as rent of the place.

Dice is asking judgment to the amount of $1065 in addition to attorney's fees. The judgment includes the two notes and Dice's share of the crops raised on the farm.

Stork Brings 47 Babies to Local City in November

Ten more births were recorded on the books of County Clerk C. F. Benda for the month of November than for the same period last year. Forty-seven births were recorded for the past month.

The ratio between boys and girls is almost equal, twenty-five boys and twenty-two girls being recorded. The boys held a slight advantage last year also, there being thirty-one to twenty-six girls.

Not all the births recorded are of babies born to Iowa City parents. About a third are from outside the city.

Record Attendance of 2000 at Poultry Show

Sixteenth Annual Display of Johnson County Association Closes; Sale of Fowls Exceeds That of Other Years

By ELIZABETH AMLIE
With a record attendance of approximately 2,000 persons and the most sales of any exhibition in the history of the Johnson county poultry raisers' association, Iowa City's sixteenth annual poultry show closed yesterday afternoon.

More perfect birds were entered in the show this year than ever before, according to W. G. Kohl, judge of the contest.

"Fewer birds were disqualified," he said. "People are learning the different points desirable in poultry, and are working to develop them in their flocks. The show is valuable not only for sport and money, but is educational as well."

New features in the show this year were the canaries, pigeons, capons and white langshan chickens. The files show entries made by more poultry raisers throughout the state than ever before.

Set Twenty-five Canaries

Twenty-five canaries sang their way into new homes during the time they were on exhibition. They ranged in price from $5 to $10.

Virgil Kohl, Iowa City school boy, had the outstanding pigeon display of the show. He started raising pigeons two years ago and has added various breeds to his flock since then. His white powder pigeons, yellow dragoons, racing homers, Strassers, and Russian trumpeters won prizes in the exhibit.

Capons on Display

These pigeons are trained for racing by being taken away from home, a little farther each time, and left to find their way back. They always arrive home, Virgil said, and usually arrive before the car which carried them away returns.

The capons on display are lanky and young, weighing about eight pounds. When fully grown they will be twice as heavy. Their meat may be substituted for turkey without being detected, according to Mr. Kohl. They will mother young chickens.

The heaviest bird in the show, a rooster, weighed eleven pounds. The lightest were the feather-weight canaries. The bird valued most highly was held at $250.

The egg record for the show was held by a black Minorca hen who has produced 280 eggs a year.

"The show has been the best ever," said Arthur M. Holz, secretary of the Johnson county poultry association.

County Pays $32.40 as Bounty for Pests

Bounties amounting to $32.40 for the month of November were paid out by the county auditor for gophers and ground hogs. Seventy-seven gophers and 172 ground hogs were reported by the auditor to have been presented for collection on the bounties granted which amount to 15 cents per ground-hog, and 10 cents per gopher.

Wharton Opens Lunch Shop on Iowa Avenue Next Week

R. W. Wharton's lunch shop on Iowa avenue will open the latter part of next week. The building is nearly completed. The shop, located directly east of the Chop Suey restaurant, is being built on a lot owned by the Paris cleaners. Mr. Wharton has secured a five year lease on the ground.

Mr. Wharton owned and operated a shop similar to the one he is building here, in Kansas City, Mo.

Keota Holds Ayers, Bad Check Writer

Arthur Ayres of Iowa City was arrested yesterday afternoon in Keota when information was received there that Iowa City officials wanted him on bad check charges.

Ayres will be brought to Iowa City today by Constable Harry Chorst and will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace B. F. Carter.

Ayres is being held in the Keota jail until the arrival of the Iowa City constable.

Ayres' arrest on the bad check charge resulted from his giving a $3.00 check, which was found to be worthless to W. R. Soner of Iowa City. Ayres is alleged to have issued numerous other bad checks in Iowa City and vicinity.

November Permits for Building Show $3,675 Decrease

Building permits for November show a decrease of $3,575 spent for building compared to the same period last year, according to the records of C. A. Kutcher, building inspector. Eleven permits were issued totalling $17,800. For November last year fourteen permits were recorded involving a total of $21,475.

Garages lead the November list this year with a total of five. Three residences, one restaurant and two wood-sheds are being built.

Permits were issued for five residences last November as well as for five garages, one dry cleaning establishment, one filling station and several repair jobs.

THE GIFT SHOP

Just The Thing to Study in Outing Pajamas

Light Weight Pajamas for All Occasions	$1.50
	$2
	$2.50
	$3
	$3.50

Blanket Robes—$4.75 to $9.25
Silk Robes—$14.50 to $24.50

EPPEL'S CLOTHES SHOP

IOWA CITY, IOWA

THE INDIVIDUAL GIFT—A PHOTOGRAPH. JUNIORS—HAVE YOURS MADE NOW FROM YOUR HAWKEYE PICTURE

Worrying as to just what to give your friends? Why not a photograph—the one individual gift.

Juniors, come in now and have your picture taken—and then order a dozen or more framed, for Yuletide greetings to your friends.

LUSCOMBE STUDIO

Thirty-five Years in Iowa City
9 South Dubuque

Our 25th Blue Ribbon Sale

Choice Sirloin Steak per pound	14c	2 lbs. Pure Lard	19c
		With 50c Meat Purchase
Hamburger	10c	Fresh Cut	10c
Fresh Ground Pork Sausage	10c
Our Quality		Our Prices
The Best		The Lowest
Smoked sugar cured Picnic Hams per pound	15c

BUHLER BROS.

Iowa City's Leading Market
123 South Clinton

All Meats Government Inspected
Iowa City, Iowa

Just Two Weeks Left

in which to order your

Greater Hawkeye

Order yours now and save. All books ordered in this sales campaign will have the name engraved in gold on the front cover.

Get your own personal copy by ordering now. Help your favorite win that fur coat or a trip to Europe.

You'll order in the spring anyway.

Why Wait?

Volume 26
A
H Gain Str
as Com
Use T
Large C
Initiat
Field
IOWA
Two good Van Deusen
Wilcox
McConnell
Hogan (e)
In a loose three complet cagers defeat
tet last night opened the I initiated the house. A cro
the game.
Coach Barr
game with which piled u first few min good and Wil game of colle ed a baffling penetrated th with ease. W of the evenin goals through tering two po McConnell a seems of form ball safe in th repeatedly car the Iowa sco placed three basket.
Van Deusen hibited super night's contes points for O while under Hawk scoring members of t coaches.
During the first string w
Louis five reg goal and a sig ger was the s kens, getting free throw du
The entire l was removed minutes of the a 21-3 lead ov lips and Harri center, and Ar guards, took t
Although the ably slower t string, they s 28 to 7 score
Coach Barr
five at the st rod. They s er form. Loos and wild shot play. The sc up in the lo and Coach Ba Fitten men Hawks in the Wentker led Billkens in t registering tw Numerous p on both teams
the most C
Louis, was r in the second registered ele possible ninete ed a single p throw.
Coach Barr best form in utes of play.
again took th of the second a noticeable i ketball. Of Phillips and sible developm material. Ad other who w college basket with more exc
The summa Substitution
Two good, Phi
Addy for Wil
Connell; Arn
Blythe for Ha lips; Dollerhi for Armstrong
St. Louis; P
for Steinger; Field goals:
1. Van Deus
cox 5, Addy 1
1. Strong 1,
Wentker 2.
Free throw Deusen 2, He Connell 1, Ho
Referee, Tr
stitute; umpi Memori CHICAGO, story labor te the late Sa president of tion of Labor, by officials of International News disclos
At the same suggested to Labor leaders building.