Rienow Censures Press Reports of Des Moines Talk

Declares Accounts of Address Misrepresent Theme

Accounts of Dean Robert E. Rienow's speech before a Des Moines Parent-Teachers group, in which he is represented as picturing the university as a "social barnyard," where a lot of riff-raff gamblers and steal and loaf through a pleasure-mad existence, miss the main content of the speech, according to Dean Rienow. The subject of the speech was "Earning One's Way Through College."

"That is only one very small portion of my talk," said Dean Rienow, when he finally glanced at the newspaper account of his speech after looking up the weather reports which were placed inconspicuously at the bottom of the same page. "I said much nicer things about the university than that."

Commends Young Folks

"This is a wonderful age, and it is a marvel to me how in an age of autos, radio, electricity, etc., the young folks can remain so efficient and self-possessed," he continued. His contention is not that the student has lost all concept of right and wrong, but that the concepts of right and wrong have changed. "Not long ago people would seek the Bible for inspiration by opening it at random and acting upon the advice they found there," Dean Rienow remarked.

"Such a verse as 'He went out and hanged himself' might have been disregarded by a person looking through the Bible for advice to solve his problem, but verses with no more application were accepted as a guide for right and wrong at one time. The modern student could scarcely be convinced of the righteousness of solving a problem by such an unthinking process."

Youths Exhaust Emotions

"The chief problem," Dean Rienow continued, "seems to be that boys and girls burn themselves out too young. After experiencing all emotional thrills, they have little zest for living left."

There are many students on the campus who are earning all or part of their expenses, and they comprise that part of the student body which Dean Rienow dwelt upon most extensively.

Senate Approves Yenter's Election As Insurance Head

DES MOINES, Jan. 19 (AP)—Two executive appointments were disposed of today by the state senate. The next few days are expected to bring several more up for consideration. L. A. Andrew of Ottumwa, superintendent of banking, and Ray Yenter of Iowa City, superintendent of insurance, were approved by the senate after receiving favorable reports from committees appointed Tuesday to recommend action. Mr. Andrew's term will expire June 30, 1929, and that of Superintendent Yenter, June 30, next. The Yenter appointment was to fill the unexpired term of former Superintendent W. R. C. Kendrick.

The name of Henry Albert of Iowa City still is before the senate for confirmation, as state health commissioner. A committee to which this appointment had been referred had not reported when today's executive session was called. Action may be expected tomorrow. He said: "I am pleased with the confidence the governor has placed in me in appointing me for the remaining portion of the term of Commissioner of Insurance, and am likewise grateful to the senate for its prompt action in confirming the appointment."

"I have, during my short period in office, endeavored to give the public an honest and efficient administration, recognizing that the position of insurance commissioner in Iowa is a responsible one."

Mine Victims Located

WELCH, W. Va., Jan. 19 (AP)—The bodies of four miners, trapped in the Caples mine of the Central Pocahontas Coal Company early today by an explosion, were located by rescue workers tonight. Finding of the bodies accounted for all the men in the mine at the time of the blast.

Government May Publish Army-Navy War Records

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—Turning his attention to the historical side of the World War, the house military committee, was told today that a number of American school histories give erroneous and imaginary accounts of the part played by the American troops.

The statement was made by Lieut. Colonel Thomas J. Dickson, retired army chaplain, and afterwards the committee voted to call authors of American school histories for questioning. Dickson testified after Representative Andrew, republican, Massachusetts, had endorsed his resolution proposing publication of official army and navy war records.

Chaplin Must Pay Alimony to Spouse During Legal Tilt

Give Comedian Ninety Days to Answer Summons; Receivers Report Bank Accounts

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19 (AP)—Wm. K. Young, attorney for Lita Grey Chaplin, tonight declared he would ask for the arrest of Charles Chaplin if the $4,000 a month temporary alimony awarded in the pending divorce action is not paid when the comedian comes under this jurisdiction. The superior court here, Chaplin, who is in New York, has ninety days in which to answer the summons in his wife's action. Service of the summons by publication was begun this week. Chaplin automatically comes under the jurisdiction of the Los Angeles court in sixty days, however, he had an additional thirty days within which to answer the divorce complaint.

Discover Chaplin's Wealth

Young's announcement came on the heels of action by Superior Judge Walter P. Guerin in ordering the Chaplin Studios, Inc. to post surety bonds of $1,000,000 to protect the interests of Mrs. Chaplin pending an appeal by the Chaplin interests from the receivership appointed to handle the studio's properties. This high amount was fixed after the receivers reported to the court that Chaplin's accounts with both American and British banks approximated $1,000,000.

Sued by Government

Adding to Chaplin's legal woes, federal authorities announced that the actor must file a bond of approximately $1,000,000 within ten days as a result of the government's income tax liens for $1,073,721.

The report of the receivers revealed that bank books found in Chaplin's safe showed total bank balances in favor of the Charles Chaplin Film company of $540,272; the Regent Film company, Inc., $292,665; Charles Chaplin personal accounts, $74,547; Chaplin Studios, Inc., $5,587; a total of $913,072.

Prosecution Wins Advantage in Trial of Bank Officer

CLARINDA, Jan. 19 (AP)—The prosecution won a decided advantage in the trial of Albert A. Read, former vice president of the closed First National bank of Shenandoah, who is charged with breaking and entering the bank building with intent to commit robbery, when the defense was forced to begin its testimony late today. Judge H. J. Mantz overruled a motion for a directed verdict of not guilty.

No direct denial has been made that Read entered the bank by a basement window but the defense has sought to prove it was only a technical violation and that he took nothing but his old cancelled checks in a tin box.

N. S. Geung, who is assisting Paul Millstone, county attorney, pointed out in his arguments that "Elbert Read at no time said he took his own papers, but confessed that he had made a mistake and was up against it."

State's Rights Still Exist, Insists Judge

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 19 (AP)—Florida will have to keep its legal action involving racing in its own courts. This fact was disclosed today when it became known that federal Judge A. L. Andrews refused to consider a petition for an injunction against all county officers to restrain them from interfering with horse racing.

Lice of Egypt Rob U.S.-Reed

Increasing of Federal Offices is Plague Says Senator

[By The Associated Press] NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Asking for the elimination of "hordes of officials, tax gatherers, snoopers, and spies," who "swarm over the land like the lice of Egypt devouring the substance of the people," Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, tonight advocated a determined reversion to the constitutional principles of federated government and the re-establishment of human liberty as the high aim of political activity.

Speaking before the annual convention of the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers' association the senator said the time had come when American statesmen must begin to think of an American policy that "should first of all keep us free from intrigues, ambitions, hatreds, and wars of the old world."

Protect Individual

"Avoiding a militaristic policy," he continued, "we should nevertheless maintain a navy capable of defending our commerce on the seas and protecting our shores from assault."

"The sole business of government is the protection of individual rights," the senator declared. "Such was the doctrine of the fathers of the republic; such was the inspiration of the declaration of Independence; such was the object of the revolution."

"How have we kept the faith?" "With congress desiring to have its will regardless of the constitution and with the courts indulging the presumption that congress was defending the constitution, the charter of our liberties was ground as between two millstones."

Senator Reed reiterated his hostility to the League of Nations and the World Court and said that at the Washington arms conference the United States "surrendered the dominion of the seas then within our grasp."

Boost Number of State Legislature Bills to Forty-six

To Introduce Forty More Code Revision Measures Probably Sometime Today

[By The Associated Press] DES MOINES, Jan. 19.—The number of bills on file in the senate was boosted to fifty-six today with the introduction of thirty-nine code revision measures drawn up by Code Editor U. G. Whitney upon recommendation of Gov. Hammill, members of the supreme court and various state officials.

Present Forty Bills

More than forty code revision bills will be presented in the house probably tomorrow. This group of measures follows up the policy adopted in the 1924 session, of revising the code to some extent each regular session and avoiding the necessity in the future of a complete revision such as was had in the special session of three years ago.

The measures offered today include these objects: To restore the power of district court judges to issue liquor search warrants; prevent the setting aside of indictments because two members of a grand jury live in the same township; remove a technicality requiring a court to sustain a demurrer to an indictment when it fails to properly charge the alleged offense; to empower courts to levy a mulct tax for violations of injunctions in liquor cases; regardless of whether the injunctions are temporarily or permanent and to authorize judges to dictate the number of jurors to be called.

New Vote for Bond Issues

Senator Stoddard of Woodbury county introduced his bill proposing licensing and examination of barbers. The bill failed two years ago.

Representative Geo. M. Hopkins of Guthrie county placed on file for introduction tomorrow a bill providing that no bond issue shall be declared carried unless at least sixty-five per cent of the vote cast thereon are in favor thereof. All acts now contrary to this proposal are declared repealed by the bill.

National Iowa Night Features Unique Celebration of University's 80th Year

WSUI is making special plans for the broadcasting of the program by remote control from the Iowa Union. Mr. Menzer asserts that it will be possible to receive the program in all parts of the United States and southern Canada if weather conditions are favorable.

Poem to Feature

"The University theater is also preparing a treat in the form of a short dramatic sketch. Special music is being composed by Prof. Higbee, head of the department of music, for a poem written especially for the occasion by Prof. Edwin Ford Piper of the department." (TURN TO PAGE 4)

Hurl Barrage of Words in Nagle-Whiting Struggle

Republican Leads by 44 Votes; Delay Final Count

[By VINCENT HOYMAN] Charges of unfairness and partisanship were hurled back and forth as a result of late developments in the contest of Lee Nagle, republican, for the seat of Samuel D. Whiting, democrat, as forty-first district representative in the Iowa house of representatives, which revealed a gain of 44 votes for Nagle in a recount of the ballots.

Apparently turning the contest in favor of Mr. Nagle, slight changes in many of the precincts of the county wiped out Mr. Whiting's majority of one vote and gave a majority of 44 votes to Mr. Nagle.

Final decision in the question will not be given until a report on the counter charge of Mr. Whiting that voting in the fifth ward was illegal is made by the election contest committee to the state legislature. If the fifth ward is thrown out it means that the result would be reversed and Mr. Whiting elected by a majority of 230 votes.

Condemns Porter

Charging Claude R. Porter, attorney for Whiting, with attempting to gain a partisan advantage in striving to have the fifth ward vote thrown out, Mr. Nagle characterized the opposition as "unsportsmanlike and unpatriotic" in a statement issued yesterday.

"I confess," Mr. Nagle's statement reads, "that I am surprised that as brilliant a man as Claude Porter, one who knows the value of the franchise and has consistently urged the duty of exercising it, should attempt to find some technicality of the law by which the expressed will of more than 1,000 voters should be disregarded in order that he may gain a partisan advantage for his client."

"I want the 1,077 democratic and republican voters of the fifth ward," the statement continues, "to understand that Mr. Whiting is deliberately seeking to disfranchise them in order that he may hold the office to which he now knows he was not elected by the voters of Johnson county."

"The evidence shows that the fifth ward polling place was not large enough to accommodate the voters; that the voters had been standing in line all afternoon, and that thirty or forty were still in line at 7 p.m., and that these, and no others, were permitted to vote."

No Charge of Fraud

"There is no charge of any fraud or partnership on the part of any voter, but because those who were waiting at 7 p.m. were permitted to vote, he demands that their votes, as well as those of the more than 1,000 who had regularly voted before 7 p.m., shall be thrown out."

"Since the ward gave me a majority of 277 his motive is clearly shown. I think his action is unpatriotic and unpatriotic and is based solely on his desire to hold his seat in the house without regard to the demands of the voters of Johnson county." Mr. Nagle's statement concludes.

Nicaraguan Ruler Desires Friendly U. S. Cooperation

PUERTO CABESAS, Nicaragua, Jan. 19.—Dr. Juan Bautista Sacasa, liberal president, told a staff correspondent for The Associated Press, in an interview today that Nicaragua needs and desires, "a friendly and just alliance with, and the cooperation of, the United States," but "cannot agree to tutelage with injury to her dignity and sovereignty."

The liberal chief, whose government, recognized by Mexico, is opposing the Diaz conservative regime at Managua which has American recognition, expressed confidence of being able to carry his fight to a successful conclusion. He also denied again that the liberals have a pact with Mexico or have received military aid from the Mexican government.

"The financial policy—let's call it 'the dollar policy'—which has been perfectly defined in the recent political technique of the United States more than her greatest competitors ever could. The United States has unnecessarily made herself feared instead of being a promisor of protective."

Prof. Edwin F. Piper, of the English department read his own poems and lectured on modern American poetry at a meeting of the Des Moines Women's club yesterday.

America Arid Forever Says Viscount Astor

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—Viscount Astor of England, writing in The Forum, a non-partisan magazine of discussion expresses the opinion that the American people will not return to "the general use of intoxicants."

"Science and experience have proved," he says, "that these take the edge off efficiency, blunt ideals, and are always on the side of the flesh in its war against the spirit."

He reports a difference of opinion here geographically toward prohibition. There are "large tracts (mainly in the interior) where the law is welcomed and respected," and also communities (particularly large cities on the coast) where there is considerable drinking, although the total volume consumed is apparently "less than before the war."

Senate Defers Vote Seating of Smith

Unofficial Poll Shows 39 Support Oath Administration

[By The Associated Press] WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—With few of them doubting that the answer would be in the negative, senators today debated for five and a half hours whether Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, shall even temporarily have a seat among them and then deferred a vote until tomorrow.

Unofficial polls made late in the day by some leaders showed forty-six senators, mostly democrats, and republican insurgents, against seating Smith pending an investigation of his case, and thirty-nine senators, including three democrats and the republican old guard, for administering the oath of office immediately and investigating him afterwards.

"The polls took into account ten senators who are expected to be paired."

Negative Majority Small

This line up was closer than had been expected before Smith arrived here yesterday bearing credentials of appointment by Governor Small as the successor to the late Senator Wm. B. McKinley; it was claimed that the majority against seating him after the investigation would be much larger.

Leading the group of senators in opposition to Smith today stood Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, whom Smith faced at Chicago last July to assume full responsibility for the acceptance by the managers of his senatorial primary campaign of $150,000 from operators of public utilities over which the commerce commission, of which he was chairman, had control.

The acceptance of these contributions form the basis not only of the effort now being made to prevent Smith from taking a seat but of a renewed effort that will be made if he presents his credentials at the next session of congress to which he was elected last November after the disclosure before the Reed commission.

Qualifications are O. K. In presenting Smith's credentials, Densen declared that there is no regular order; that Smith complied with all of the qualifications set out in the constitution and should be seated and offered a resolution to this effect.

Senator Reed of Missouri then offered a substitute resolution providing that the oath of office be denied pending an investigation by the elections committee.

Later Senator Overman of North Carolina, ranking democrat on the judiciary committee, offered a substitute for the Reed resolution, proposing that the oath be administered to Smith without prejudice as to any charges that might be brought against him.

Guardsmen Lose Youth Adrift on Cake of Ice

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 19 (AP)—Police and coast guardsmen tonight had been unable to reach a youth adrift on an ice cake in Lake Erie.

Police, who sighted the youth waving frantically for help about a mile and a half from shore, were compelled to trail along the beach as a strong west wind carried the ice cake toward open water. They attempted to go to the aid of the boy in a boat, but ice along the shore, which had been melting during the day, prevented.

Inquest Jurors Submit Elrod's Dying Love Note

Poison Verdict Given Despite Report of "No Poison"

Describing the Elrod case as the "most unusual I had ever experienced," Dean Wilbur J. Teeters of the college of pharmacy, who tested the stomach of the dead Marshalltown youth, declared last night that he had absolutely no idea of the cause of Elrod's death.

The stomach, according to Dean Teeters, was absolutely empty. No trace of acids, alkaloids, corrosive metals, corrosive alkalis, or cyanides, could be found. According to Dean Teeters, practically every poison known to common usage can be grouped in these five classes.

As to the theory that the stomach might have been empty even though the youth died of poison, Dean Teeters said he had never heard of such a case. There was no evidence to show vomiting and even in such instances there are usually traces left in the stomach that show positive in definite tests.

[By The Associated Press]

MARSHALLTOWN, Jan. 19.—A dying love note in which Charles Elrod of Lowell, Neb., told his sweetheart of his forgivingness and assured her of his willingness to have contributed to his dying condition, constituted a dramatic finale here today to the evidence submitted to a coroner's jury inquiring into the young man's death, Jan. 9.

"Dear, I don't feel like I will get to give this letter to you. I hope you or no one else poisoned me as I dreamed you did. But if you have, I will forgive you with all my heart," Elrod wrote to Veda Bellefeuille, his 19 year old fiancee.

Then the letter trailed off into unfinished words and unreadable scrawls of his pen, marking the point at which death overtook him.

After receiving this evidence late today, the coroner's jury returned a verdict that Elrod had died from poisoning, administered by a person he jury could not name.

Sweetheart Near Breakdown Reading of the letter proved a shock to the girl, who exclaimed: "I can't stand any more," and appeared to be nearing a breakdown, but she had recovered before the verdict was returned and its reading found her in an ante room attempting to comfort her mother. She declined all invitations to make a statement, refusing also to comment on the case or coroner B. O. Tankersley.

The closing of the inquest ends action in the case for the present. Roy L. Peim, county attorney told the Associated Press tonight he would be occupied with other cases. (TURN TO PAGE 4)

Ban and Landis Marshall Forces in Diamond Split

CHICAGO, Jan. 19 (AP)—While outward calm prevailed today in the baseball controversy involving the ousting of Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, fires smoldered beneath the surface as Commissioner Landis and Ban Johnson, president of the American League, marshalled cohorts for the showdown meeting here Monday.

The meeting is expected to determine whether Johnson should be condemned for causing Speaker and Cobb to be dropped for "managerial inefficiency" or Commissioner Landis should be censured for publishing the charges against the idols of the diamond.

Commissioner Landis returned from the committee meetings in French Lick Springs, Ind., but declined to comment on any of Johnson's statements. He indicated he would have considerable to say when he confronts Johnson.

Incompetency, rather than crookedness, was given as the principal reason by Johnson for the expulsion from the American League of Speaker and Cobb.

What the American League board of directors will do toward supporting Johnson when they meet here Sunday, preliminary to Monday's session with Landis, is known only to themselves and they have given no expression.

Little Things That Count

THE athletic department should be commended on the attempts it made to please the crowds at the field house dedication last week. Spectators at the wrestling matches Saturday afternoon were given an explanation of the new rules governing the games before the meet with Wisconsin. Had not Referee Otopalik given his little talk, the fans would not have known "what it was all about," and would have gone away dissatisfied.

In the evening at the swimming meet announcement was made of the entries in each event just before it was held, and during the fancy diving the number of points scored by each man on each dive was shown on a placard. As a result the spectators had some idea of the divers' standing each time. In previous meets they looked on disinterestedly, applauding half-heartedly, but knowing nothing about the outcome until it was finally announced.

The bigger athletic program for Iowa absolutely requires seemingly insignificant improvements, and will profit greatly by them. A crowd likes nothing better than to know everything that is going on, no matter how small some of the details may seem to the officials in charge.

This Price Glory

EX-SERVICE men all over the country are applying to banks for loans on their United States bonus insurance certificates, as provided in the bonus law, and according to news reports they are being turned down in many cases.

Reasons for rejecting the loans seem to be that the bankers think that it is a profitless business and that they fear the government has not provided sufficiently to redeem the certificates if the ex-serviceman does not pay.

Congress voted several hundred million dollars to protect the veterans and to redeem the loans. There was then little good reason for attempting to force the making of these loans necessary upon the banks.

What an impractical and half-hearted scheme the government has worked out for these ex-servicemen! Why be forced to call on the banks? Why cannot the government provide some direct means of making these loans? The banks should be as unnecessary an element in the transaction as they are now an unwilling one.

Education by Participation

ALBERT A. MICHELSON, 74, was an indifferent teacher, as far as class room instruction was concerned, yet University of Chicago students flocked to him, worked hard for him, and thoroughly believed in him.

What was the secret of this man's success? Max Mason, president of the University of Chicago, wanted to know.

He began to observe Michelson's methods more closely.

His question was answered.

Each spring this "indifferent" teacher would select from among his sophomore class several who seemed to show promise. Taking them into his office, he would say to them, "These are my problems—and yours; this is your home; here are your desks. I look to you."

Given something to create and inspired by the association with a true scholar such as Mr. Michelson, the students were bound to achieve tangible results.

Having once convinced themselves that there was something for them to do, but for which they needed guidance and additional knowledge, they found out all that the text books could teach them, and of their own volition.

The average university student meets with far too much humdrum class work and far too little stimulation. From the first he will endeavor to escape. To the latter he will respond with enthusiasm.

Mr. Mason's advice to the group of representatives at the convention of the Association of American colleges was:

"Let your students be hevers of wood and drawers of water to some great teacher who has a great problem on his hands, and who will share that problem. Establish for them contacts with greatness—not with routine."

It's worth a try.

Elephantiasis

WHY the present passion for education? Figures show that the University of California has 17,101 full time students, and that Columbia, Illinois, and Minnesota top the 10,000 mark. Including part-time and summer students, Columbia has 20,504, and Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Chicago, Michigan, Ohio State, Harvard, Boston, Northwestern have more than 10,000 students.

When will this over-crowded condition be remedied? It is said that President Kinley of Illinois looks forward to the day when his school will have 40,000 students. When that day comes, true education will be a thing practically non-existent. If the attendants at such huge diploma mills do not carry dinner pails and punch time clocks, there will be no good reason why they should not do so.

We have crowded classrooms, overworked professors, and under-baked "students" at present. If the condition is allowed to become aggravated, a larger crop of nit-wits will be reaped.

Carrot-top

BECAUSE he had red hair George Kellberg was barred from the Yellow Cab company's force at Newark, N. J.

Kellberg had been warned by his friends that he could not become a taxi driver because of his red hair, but he was determined to give it a try and succeeded in passing the initial examination. The employment manager, seeing the word "auburn" about the color of his hair, requested that he take off his hat. He was told immediately that it would be impossible to hire him, hastening to explain that "his refusal to hire a red-haired man was no reflection upon the type," and further commenting that "red-headed men were above the average in intelligence."

The reason given by the company was the fact that red-headed men have been found to be too speedy and had a tendency to be reckless.

Play safe. Never ride in a taxi if the driver has red hair. He may be a Phi Beta Kappa, but he is likely to have more speed than control.

For Value Received

THE Woodrow Wilson foundation has offered two awards of $25,000 each for the best essays of 2,500 words on "What Woodrow Wilson Means to Me."

Now is the time for all young citizens to come to the aid of their country's history. The contest is open to both sexes between twenty and thirty-five and is made possible by a special gift of $50,000.

The idea is to put the war president's ideals before the youth of America. Let us hope that some cruel cynic doesn't tear down the beautiful, shiny halo which school children are taught to build around the leaders of the nation, as has been attempted recently in a life of Washington.

A wonderful idea, this contest, and if the essays are kind and flattering, Coolidge should be greatly encouraged to set a bright and shining example before the youth of the present generation so that his name will be written in letters of gold in the pages of history. Even the greatest of cynics should be willing to write a nice, cheery little essay for $25,000.

It is appropriate that the moving picture screen should be in front of the stage files.

With a lot of campaign managers it is not so much the principle of the thing; it's the money.

One who boasts of his past never boasts of all of it.

"Are you a college man?"
"No; these are papa's pants."

Poems That Live

The Blind Boy

O say what is that thing call'd Light,
Which I must ne'er enjoy;
What are the blessings of the sight,
O tell your poor blind boy!

You talk of wondrous things you see,
You say the sun shines bright;
I feel him warm, but how can he
Or make it day or night?

My day or night myself I make
When'er I sleep or play;
And could I ever keep awake
With me 'twere always day.

With heavy sighs I often hear
You mourn my hapless woe;
But sure with patience I can bear
A loss I ne'er can know.

Then let not what I cannot have
My cheer of mind destroy;
Whilst thus I sing, I am a king,
Although a poor blind boy.

—COLLEY CIBBER.

Bond or Free?

The Dancer's Cat. By C. A. Nicholson. The Bobbs-Merrill Co. 1926.

This is a powerful novel. Not that statement mere platitude. Even superficial readers, who seek only entertainment and amusement, can scarcely fail to be impressed by its intensity and power—the clash of English convention and lingering superstition, with Russian fatalism and mystic reserve.

A Reviewer Impressed!
Most jacket "blurbs" are exaggerations, but the one inside the jacket (picturing the dancer and her cat) that covers this book, is largely truthful. To quote from its last paragraph: "In 'The Dancer's Cat' there is something not wholly of this world or of the flesh, at times a breath of Eden, at times the whispering of the devil. You may not like it. You cannot leave it unimpressed. I think you will like it. But if you fail to appreciate its significance, the lack is in you."

The story is dramatic, exciting, swift-moving. Aside from the rather remarkable study of Russian character, what impresses me most are the social ideals voiced by the dancer. When interested in and desirous of helping some ex-soldier down on his luck, or some disgruntled bus-driver with communistic leanings, she does not hold them at arm's length and condescend. She invites them to her flat and talks the trouble out with them over the teacups. In telling Paul about one such encounter, she said (in her abbreviated English): "At tea I explained, workers of all sorts have rights. It is easy to explain at tea. Hatred of classes is poison, everywhere spread—not only by communists. Friendship is antidote. Understanding is antidote. How can we understand without personally knowing such Jones or Smithers?" Here is another, thought-provoking quotation: "Why were they not all at a peace conference? Jehovah, Mohammed, Buddha, Christ; the omnipotent thoughts of holy spirits instead of a lot of politicians, grinding their bloody axes, splitting the quivering lands; here, a morsel to Bulgaria to please Serbia; there, a bit of Austria for Italy; everywhere dismemberment; new partitions."

A New Trinity
In other words, the only sure way of putting down communism is for the rest of us to practice living as friends. In reflecting upon the hideous devices of war, Paul says: "What a time the Almighty must have had sorting out the prayers of all the nations asking for victory! It's horrid to think that we only ask as much forgiveness as we're prepared to give."
Perhaps a better trinity than the much-talked-of "Liberty, Equality, Fraternity" that exists upon our lips but not in our lives might be this one: "Humanity, Friendship, Freedom." For if freedom ever becomes a reality, it will have to be preceded by the other two. It can not come first.

There is more in this novel than the clash of alien races, than mystery and fatalism. It will repay reading. And incidentally, it may throw a little light upon that enigma—the Russian character.

Find Treasure in Junk
NEWARK, N. J.—Joseph and Frank Hyer, ironmongers in South Amboy, did the best stroke of business in their career when they purchased a rusty, old safe from a farmer for $2. Carting the heavy strongbox to their shop, the brothers forced open the doors and found a fortune in stocks, bonds, jewels and cash. The value of the contents was estimated at $75,000. Who owned the safe and its treasure is a mystery.

Frederick J. Lazell

Presenting Prof. Frederick J. Lazell, associate professor in the school of Journalism and president of the American Association of Teachers of Journalism.

Professor Lazell started his journalism work in England at the age of nine and has been engaged in this field ever since then. He was born in England, spent his boyhood in that country, and at the age of 18 came to this country.

He attended Ames, where he was editor-in-chief of the student paper, the Ames annual, the Bomb, and was assistant librarian the last two years of his school there. Through his work as assistant librarian he fostered a liking for books which has stayed with him all these years.

Professor Lazell graduated from Ames with the highest honors in his class. He taught school in Mitchell county for a time and then moved to Des Moines where he registered on the Des Moines Leader, morning paper, and the Des Moines News, evening paper. Accepting a position with the Cedar Rapids Republican, he served successively as telegraph editor and foreman of the composing room, city editor, managing editor, associate editor and editor-in-chief, covering a span of twenty-seven years of service with it.

"Well, finally I've got back my peace of mind."
"Peace is right. Is that all you had to start with?"

Journalism Progressing
Commenting on schools of journalism, Mr. Lazell says they are making more progress than many other collegiate departments. It was formerly believed that the best place to learn newspaper work was in the newspaper office. Charles Anderson Dana, who was editor of the New York Sun in 1880, made a speech at that time, saying the best place to learn newspaper work was in the newspaper office rather than in a journalism school.

City editors have found, however, that schools of journalism can turn out men who are competent to do acceptable work in reporting, copy reading and editorial writing. "Editors," Professor Lazell says, "are reaching out to good school of journalism." He said that he had letters in his desk asking for men and women graduates for positions. "The demand is so great for graduates," asserted Prof. Lazell, "that we can promise assurance that every graduate having a bachelor of arts degree and a certificate in journalism can get a position on a good newspaper. The degree gives the person a place on the paper and if he studies and works hard he will advance. He must not be afraid of work and must contribute new ideas. As for the starting salary of a journalist, it is as high as that of the graduates of other professional schools. His advancement in earning power will depend upon him."

University Club Membership Drive Nets 17 Pledges

The home economics department is the first one to report one hundred per cent in the securing of new members in the drive for University club. The record was established at the end of the first day and every eligible woman connected with the department is either a member or has signified her intention to join.

The persons who are eligible to membership include instructors, alumnae, graduate students, members of administration, if B.A. graduates from their accredited colleges, wives of administrators, and wives of instructors of the university. The campaign is being largely conducted by personal interviews. Seventeen women have already signified their intention of joining. Monday's list is: Marian Amberson, of the University schools; Pansy Hutchinson, Helen Woods and Florence Ross of the home economics department; Mrs. William O. Coast, Mrs. William H. Donovan, Mrs. John Cameron and Mrs. Nyle W. Jones, of Iowa City; Mrs. Esther Vegors, Nell Barry, Nell Whitcher, and Katherine Bailey of the public school faculty and Marian Streng of the physical education department.

Art Students Plan Annual "Follies"

Name Committee for "April Follies" Next Month

The eighth annual "April Follies," party beautiful of the art students of the university, will occur Saturday, April 23, at the Iowa Union. It was announced yesterday by Miss Catherine McCartney, head of the department of graphic and plastic arts.

"The idea for artists' parties originated in the 'Bal Masque,' celebrated each year by the art students of the Latin quarter of Paris," said Miss McCartney, in commenting on the "April Follies." "Now practically every art school in the country revels at least once a year in some sort of costume ball." The decorations for the party will be of a very elaborate nature and will be designed and executed by a committee of art students who will be chosen after examination week. Each attendant at the party is expected to design and make his own costume. It has been the custom to award prizes to the most original costumes.

The party is limited to art students, former art students, art teachers, and guests.

Mrs. W. C. Wilcox will speak this evening at the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. on "A Manly Man, from the Woman's Standpoint." Miss Anna Smith Coast, noted soprano will sing solos at the close of the program.

The work on the 1912 Hawkeye is beginning to resolve itself into definite form, and rapid progress is being made toward its final completion. The staff has outlined the work of the various departments, and the material will be prepared as quickly as possible, states Editor Warner.

A much larger book is promised this year, and the athletic, humorous, and alumni departments will be featured especially. Arlo Wilson, one of last year's star track men, and this year's squad captain is the athletic editor, and J. Clarkson Miller and R. F. Mitchell, together with many assistants, are in charge of the humorous section, and promise a rich treat for the fun-lovers. Mary Sanders, editor of the alumni department, will endeavor this year, to make this part of the annual of real value and interest to the old grads.

Hard fought matches marked the second day's round of the university wrestling tournament, yesterday, with Webb and Renshaw, middleweights, and Zastrow and Bryant, welters, as victors.

Tomorrow, the preliminaries in the heavyweight class, together with the semi-finals in as many other events as possible, will be run off. This morning in assembly, Judge Towner will speak, and letters will be presented to the following thirteen football men: Capt. Hyland, of the 1916 team; Capt. Murphy, of the 1911 team; O'Brien; Clemens; Weeks; Repass; Trickey; Alexander; Neldig;

Writer of Sea Tales To Address Club

William McFee Talks To Saturday Lunch Club January 22

William McFee, novelist, will speak before the Saturday lunch club at Youde's inn, Saturday at 12 o'clock.

James Huneiker, distinguished critic, in reviewing McFee's novel, "Casualties of the Sea," in the New York Times said: "It reads with actuality, for the author's sincerity is a form of his talent. He does not write for a popular audience, nor does he despise the public. He insists on telling his story in his own fashion, and, best of all, he has genuine power."

Mr. McFee's knowledge of the sea is based on a life of sailing and work in the engine room. He was born on his father's boat at sea in 1881. His grandfather was also a seaman. After McFee's birth, the family established itself north of London. He spent three years at McMuirland's engineering shops at Aldersgate. He started his sea life when he was twenty-four years old and has been chief engineer on several ship lines. Recently he has retired from the sea and lives at his home in the east. He writes magazine articles, short stories and novels.

Expect Debate on Proposal to Have Bank Investigation

Investigating Committee Asked by Campbell in Assembly

[By The Associated Press] DES MOINES, Jan. 19.—A resolution by Senator Ed Campbell of Ida county proposing appointing of a committee to investigate banking conditions in Iowa and the working of bank guaranty laws in other states is expected to bring the first debate tomorrow of the bank situation which is slated to demand so much attention from the present general assembly.

The Campbell resolution was introduced in the senate today and will not be submitted in the house until after the senate has acted upon it. This afternoon several senators expressed the belief that the resolution would find some rough going, inasmuch as numerous members already have looked over the guaranty laws of other states and are fairly well conversant with their efficacy and, in addition, are well posted on conditions in Iowa. Governor Hammill made reference to the guaranty laws of other states in his message to the assembly, declaring that any Iowa bank laws should be worked out to meet the particular needs of Iowa's problem. This too, is expected to figure somewhat in the decision on Senator Campbell's resolution.

Another factor is the customary dependence the senate and house place upon their standing committees to investigate all subjects under consideration and report their bills accordingly.

Three Bills Introduced
The appointment of such a committee too, might prove a difficult task for the presiding officers inasmuch as the public hearing proposed in Iowa and any other states concerned will lend unusual importance to the move.

There are many members, however who declare they have not reached a conclusion on the banking question and would be open to all authentic information that can be placed before them. These members undoubtedly will look with more favor on the resolution. The three bank bills framed by Senator Dean of Osceola county were introduced in the senate today.

Board to Guide Governor
He touches numerous phases of the banking situation, one of the outstanding proposals being to authorize the superintendent of banks to declare a moratorium for a bank that is in straightened circumstances, but which is not necessarily insolvent. This would avert the actual closing or liquidation of many banks, the author of the bill feels.

Reorganization of the state bank board also is proposed, with one member from each congressional district and one chosen at large. The board's majority recommendation would guide the governor in his appointment of a banking superintendent.

James Krall Dies of Sudden Stroke

Pioneer Iowan Leaves Wife, Six Boys, Six Girls

James Krall, 64 years old, died early yesterday morning at his home, 1246 East College street. He suffered a stroke two years ago, with a recurrence yesterday that caused his death.

Mr. Krall has lived in Iowa since he was a boy of six. He was born in Austria, Nov. 14, 1862; and, while still a child, his parents moved to Newport township. He lived there until twelve years ago, when he retired. He was married to Miss Lena Wonicke on Nov. 14, 1885.

Mr. Krall is survived by his wife, six sons, Fred, of Cedar Rapids; John, of Fairfax; Frank J., of Newport township; George, of Newport township; Otto, of Graham township; and James, of Plaudreau; and six daughters, Mrs. Joe Kasper, of Morse; Mrs. J. C. Esser, of Remsen; Mrs. Joe Schindler, of Cedar Rapids; Mrs. Agnes Kouba, of Iowa City; and Miss Mary and Miss Lydia, both at home.

Funeral services will be held here at St. Wenceslaus church at 9:30 a. m., Friday; and burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery in Newport township.

Coroner's Jury Gives Verdict of "Poison" Murder

Skinnay! Bring Yer Old Skates and Shovels Along

Two physicians who conducted a post mortem on the principal evidence today aside from the letter written by Elrod to Miss Bellefeuille. They said they believed Elrod's death due to some form of poison which might leave no trace in the viscera. There were no marks of violence on the body and the appearance of the vital organs, the testified, gave evidence of death from an unnatural cause. The physicians were Dr. W. W. Southwick, and Dr. J. J. Noonan.

Previously, a chemist's report stated no trace of poison had been found.

The theory that Elrod, who died almost penniless, might have succumbed to starvation also was discounted by evidence that he dined regularly the day of his death. Miss Bellefeuille has admitted writing the letters purporting to come from a rival lover and challenging Elrod to weigh his love for the girl with that of the fictitious suitor and decide which should claim her.

"We shall meet eventually, and when we do, only one of us will leave the spot on his feet," one of the letters, which the girl signed "Dexter Orton," said.

"All is Fair in Love"
Describing his feeling for Miss Bellefeuille, "Orton" asked: "Does your love for her equal mine? If not, stand aside and give me a chance."

The imaginary rival reminded Elrod that the latter would be away from the girl for long periods in the future and declared that "then it will be my turn; remember all is fair in love."

The young woman said she followed the plot of a magazine story in attempting to arouse the jealousy of Elrod through creating a fictitious rival.

Veda was on the witness stand at the inquest for a short time but her testimony threw little light upon the mystery. She declared she had never heard Elrod threaten to take his own life, that she had no knowledge that he had poison in his possession or was familiar with poisons and that she was not aware that Elrod paid heed to dreams or was superstitious. The girl wept throughout her testimony and was comforted by her father who sat beside her after her mother was taken from the room in a hysterical condition.

Attach no Suspicion
The coroner reassured her by stating that he had no thought of attracting suspicion to her through his questioning.

When Elrod went to his hotel room the night of his death he expected to have within 24 hours, the decision of the girl's parents upon his suit. After the body was found an examination was made locally, then the viscera was sent to the University of Iowa for further analysis. The chemists reported that no trace of poison was shown, attributing death to natural causes, so far as their examination revealed.

Elrod was an electrician and was said to have been a widower.

question," he says, "Mr. Nagle was always given the benefit of the doubt. In no case did the committee give Mr. Whiting a fair break."

"Pots should not call the kettle black," said Mr. Baldwin, in commenting upon Mr. Nagle's charges of partizanship. "Mr. Nagle charges partizanship on the part of Mr. Whiting's attorney in seeking to have the fifth ward thrown out, and yet he seeks to gain every possible advantage from the recount of each district."

"If the contest is to be fair and impartial, the legality of every vote must be tested, not excluding the fifth ward."

Mr. Baldwin charged unfairness in local press accounts of the contest during the past week. He also branded as false propaganda which he claimed has been circulated to give the effect that if the fifth ward were thrown out, the election of several city officials would be affected. The fact that all the city officials have taken office means that their election would not be affected, according to Mr. Baldwin.

The final report on the contest which was expected to be made to the house of representatives Friday, will probably not come for another week, as a result of a request by Mr. Porter, Whiting's attorney, for more time in which to prepare a brief citing the law on certain points involved in the fifth ward charges.

Evans Files Brief
The brief of Harold D. Evans, attorney for Nagle, defending charges against his client regarding the alleged illegal voting in the fifth ward had already been filed with the house committee.

Twelve ballots, divided almost evenly between the two men, were challenged in the recount by Whiting, who objected on the grounds that the ballots lacked the customary signatures of the election judges. Whiting was shown as a result of a recount of the absent voter's ballots, but these were thrown out and probably will not be ruled in as the gain is not enough to affect the outcome of the contest.

Court Favors Nagle
STATE HOUSE, DES MOINES, Jan. 19 (AP)—The setting of Lee Nagle, republican, as the state representative from Johnson county in place of Samuel D. Whiting, democrat, already temporarily seated, was forecast today in the Iowa house of representatives as a result of the completion of the labors of the contest committee appointed by Speaker L. V. Carter.

Before reporting the result of the canvass of the ballots to the house, the committee is awaiting the filing of a brief by Claude R. Porter, attorney for Whiting. The brief of H. D. Evans, attorney for Nagle, already is filed. Mr. Porter announced today his brief would be ready for submission Friday.

The contest hinges upon the validity of votes cast after the time of the closing of the polls in the Iowa City fifth ward.

Yearling Swimmers Meet Illinois Frosh in Wire Duel Today

Hawkeye Tankers in Fair Shape for First Competition

Illini Natators Strong in Breast Stroke and Sprints

Coach Ivan Klingaman's freshman swimmers will engage the University of Illinois yearlings in a telegraphic dual swimming meet this afternoon. The Hawkeye first year tankers have been working out since last fall and are in fair condition for their first intercollegiate competition.

Judging from reports coming from the Urbana natatorium, the Orange and Blue frosh are strong in the sprints and breast stroke events.

The Old Gold team will be strengthened by such stars as Crookham, and Peterson, dash men; Turbett and Nelson in the backstroke, and Greller in the 440-yard swim.

All of the regular events will be held with the exception of the fancy diving contest.

The Iowa entries: 200-yard relay; Turbett, Peterson, Crookham, and Nelson or Greller.

200-yard breast stroke; Cruise, Greller, or Storer.

50-yard dash; Peterson and Crookham.

150-yard back stroke; Turbett and Nelson.

440-yard swim; Greller, Teeters, Gilje, or Kautz.

100-yard dash; Peterson, Crookham, Wright, and Teeters.

300-yard medley relay; Turbett, Storer, and Greller or Teeters.

Labarba Favored to Win in Title Battle Friday

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—Wall street commission brokers, reporting active wagering on the outcome of the Fidel Labarba-Elky Clark bout for the world's flyweight championship Friday night, have made the little westerner a 2 to 1 favorite in the betting. Odds of 8 to 5 prevailed that Newsboy Brown of Sioux City, would defeat Frankie Genaro, of New York, former American champion.

Frosh Cage Fives Battle for Squad Laurels Tonight

The freshman basket ball squad, divided into several teams, is playing some fast games at the men's gym. Teams four and six are so far undefeated, each having won three games, and tonight they clash for supremacy of the frosh squad. Rickett and Carlson are the main cogs of team four, while team six has no individual stars, but a fast breaking offense and a tight defense. The game is expected to be close and the winner will be in doubt until the final whistle is blown.

The rest of the teams have shown some real form and are playing good basket ball, but are a little behind the leaders. Team one is giving the leaders plenty of competition. They were downed by four, 11 to 16, and by six, 9 to 7, in fast games that were not won until the final minutes of play.

Commission Fight Over Delaney-Jim Maloney Go, Looms

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—An obstacle to the Jack Delaney-Jim Maloney heavyweight bout arranged for Feb. 18, at Madison Square Garden, loomed today in the statement of James A. Farley, chairman of the state athletic commission, that Delaney should confine his activities to the 175-pound division, in which he holds the title.

Farley's opinion, while expressed as a personal view, may force an issue before the boxing board soon. The other members, George Brower and William Muldoon, are understood, however, to oppose any interference with the heavyweight program mapped out by Tex Rickard to produce a challenger for Gene Tunney.

Delaney, in fighting Maloney, probably would be ordered to make 175 pounds. This however, would be no handicap to the French Canadian, who normally makes that poundage.

St. Pat's Quintet Downs Marengo in Slow Game 35-8

Glasgow Leading Scorer With Twenty-one Points

Marengo high school cagers took a 35 to 8 defeat at the hands of the St. Patrick's five in the local team's gym last night. There was little doubt the final outcome after the first few minutes of play, Marengo making but two free throws during the entire first half while the Green and White five rang up 17 points. St. Patrick's short passing game was working to perfection and many of their shots were from directly under the basket. Kelleher dribbled through the Marengo team several times for close in tries.

Irish Start Strong

St. Patrick's started with a rush and garnered nine points in the first quarter, at the same time holding the visitors scoreless. McGivern, Marengo forward, made two free throws good in the second period for his team's only points during the first half.

Kelleher and Glasgow continued to run wild to widen the gap between the two teams. Marengo slipped in a basket in the third quarter and, with a free throw, managed to bring up the total to five while the Irish increased their score to 26.

St. Pat's substituted freely throughout the game and in the fourth quarter sent in a whole new team. Farrell, Roberts, Burns, Wallace, Mulhern. The second team held Marengo scoreless but did not have the offense of the regulars, who returned to the game and ran the score up to 35 before the game ended, while Marengo had to be content with another basket and free throw, a total of eight.

Sigma Nu Defeats Psi Omega. Sigma Nu, winner of the interfraternity basket ball championship two years ago, took a step toward another championship last night with a 21 to 4 victory over Psi Omega.

The Sigma Nu boys did not get started until the third period when they ran up fourteen points. The first period ended two all and the second period was 7-3 in favor of the North Dubuque boys.

Then Jesson and Sorenson sharpened their shooting eyes and, with some fast passing from their team mates, put the game on ice.

Psi Omega had a much smaller team than the Sigma Nu's and had the worst of a fairly rough game.

The lineup: Sigma Nu—McNabb and Sorenson, forwards; Jensen, center; Beatty, Mulrooney and Iten guards. Psi Omega—Idema and Schulte, forwards; Campbell and Jones, center; Fleigh and Braley, guards.

Alpha Chi Sigma 13; Theta Tau 10. Alpha Chi Sigma and Theta Tau put up a fast exhibition of basket ball in the second game last night, in which the chemists finally won out 13-10. Theta Tau held the advantage until the last few minutes when Shearer was put in the Alpha Chi Sigma lineup, with his team behind 10-5. He tied the score and put his team mates in a position to win.

Aldermen Frown on Fireman-Mayor Pay Raise

Statements of City Fathers Disclose Their Opposition

Feel New Quarters for Fire Fighters is Enough Now

By IDA MAE CONVERSE
Tomorrow night's special session of the city council will see no changes in the present salaries of Iowa City's mayor or firemen if statements made yesterday afternoon by various aldermen prove to be any indication of the way they will vote.

Alderman G. A. Kenderdine, promoter of the resolution to raise the firemen's salaries stated that no raise was necessary for the fire chief or his two assistants. Mr. Kenderdine said, however, that the pay that the drivers receive, is entirely too low.

The minimum salary now paid to any one in the department is $117.50, while the chief's salary of $150 is augmented with an additional $25 to cover the expenses of his own automobile while on city duty.

Will be Third Reading
The third reading of Alderman Kenderdine's resolution will be had tomorrow night.

Ruth A. Gallaher, alderman-at-large, said that when the vote is taken tomorrow night on the question of salaries she will vote negatively.

"The firemen need a raise," she said, "but I do not believe that this is the proper time to give it. The department's new dormitory has just been finished and I believe that that should be enough for the time being."

Alderman Charles McGuan also expressed himself as being against any further expenditure than was absolutely necessary. He, too, mentioned that the firemen's new quarters, which cost the city $3,000, were now completed, and they should be satisfied.

Greater Than Muscatine's
"The pay our firemen get is considerably greater than that of the Muscatine fire department," he said, "and I have a number of reasons to believe that the firemen's pay here averages as much or more than most towns in the state."

Alderman Charles Crain, though he was unable to be reached, is believed to be backing Alderman Kenderdine in his battle for higher salaries and better equipment.

Dr. John P. Mullin, alderman-at-large, who has been ill for some time, also could not be reached, but he voted against the resolution on the other two readings.

Stresses Financial View
Alderman Will J. Hayek voiced financial reasons for not having the raise.

"The state of the city's finances will not bear this further burden. The taxpayers should not have this additional expense put on them. And that is what it would mean."

When approached on the question of the mayor's salary all of the aldermen said "No" to the suggestion of a raise. This will not be considered because of the probability of a municipal court which would call for a police judge.

The opinion was practically unanimous that the mayor's salary was too low, but that the matter of a police judge should first be settled before the increase could be thought of.

Alderman McGuan, however, took a direct stand against any kind of a raise in the mayor's salary. When asked whether or not a more munificent salary would attract men of higher ability to this office he replied that he did not believe that it would.

Aldermen McGuan, Gallaher, and Kenderdine took this opportunity to declare their intentions of running for reelection to their present offices.

Alderman Hayek said that he had not yet decided, but he intimated that Alderman Mullin had already declared his intention of running again. Alderman Anderson could not be reached.

Otto Will Decide Contested Estate Settlement Today

Court Decides Against Examining Widow About Estate

Sarah Stillwell will not be examined as to her knowledge of the assets of the estate of her deceased husband, Byron Stillwell, according to the decision given by Judge Otto in district court yesterday afternoon.

The estate had been settled some time ago in the Johnson county district court, but settlement was contested by Arthur Stillwell, plaintiff in the case which was ended yesterday.

The application for the appointment of a receiver, filed by the Farmers' Loan and Trust company of Iowa City, was opposed by Charles Kelley, and other parties, in court yesterday. The matter is under advisement and Judge Otto will render a decision sometime today.

Motions to dismiss the cases in which Iowa City citizens are protesting parts of the 1927 paving program of Iowa City are also under advisement. J. H. Hunzinger and company, W. E. Snider, Thomas Roche, and Dr. F. H. P. Edwards, are the plaintiffs who are opposing Iowa City, each party being the plaintiff in a separate trial.

Quinine Pills Make Cause for Divorce

Local Husband Drinks Medicine in Coffee—Wife Angry

Fifteen quinine tablets in a cup of coffee are grounds for divorce with Mrs. Winifred Stronsky, of Iowa City, who claims, in papers filed in the county clerk's office, that her husband, A. J. Stronsky, was in the habit of taking his morning coffee with either ten or fifteen quinine pills in solution. Mrs. Stronsky cites other instances when her husband "walked the floor at night" mumbling to himself, tore up his clothing in a frenzy, made veiled threats of suicide, disturbed her peace of mind, and endangered her health and happiness.

She is suing for a divorce in the February term of court on cruel and inhuman treatment charges. Papers in the divorce suit were recently filed by her attorney C. B. Russell.

In her divorce petition, Mrs. Stronsky is asking for permanent alimony of $15 a week, and for $100.00 with which to pay costs of action and attorney fees.

The opinion was practically unanimous that the mayor's salary was too low, but that the matter of a police judge should first be settled before the increase could be thought of.

Alderman McGuan, however, took a direct stand against any kind of a raise in the mayor's salary. When asked whether or not a more munificent salary would attract men of higher ability to this office he replied that he did not believe that it would.

Elected Business Manager of Paper

Edward Chappell

Chappell Elected to Manage Press Citizen's Business

William Wade Steps to Vice-Presidency of Daily Paper

Mr. Edward A. Chappell, a recent purchaser of an interest in the Iowa City Press Citizen, at the annual meeting of the stockholders was elected a director of the company.

At a latter meeting of the board of directors he was honored by election as secretary to the company and business manager of the newspaper. Mr. Chappell succeeds Mr. William F. Wade as business manager.

Mr. Wade was advanced to the vice-presidency and re-elected treasurer and director of the company.

Mr. Merritt C. Spidel, publisher of the Press Citizen and president of the company, in announcing the promotions said the advancement of Wade and Chappell was in recognition of their loyalty, ability, and efficiency on the newspaper.

Mr. Chappell, who has been advertising manager of the Press Citizen for more than thirteen years is the new member in the company. Mr. Wade, having held a financial interest since he came here about six years ago.

Mr. Chappell in 1913 was employed in the advertising department of the Chicago Daily News of which the late Victor F. Lawson was publisher. Before this Mr. Chappell had acquired journalistic experience as editor of the Lake Forest Stentor, collegiate publication. He has been with

Lone Wolf Again Strikes at Dinner Hour; Loss Small

Woman Sees Robber's Back as He Flees From House

Iowa City's "Lone Wolf" prowler of sorority and fraternity houses has once again manifested himself with the field of operations this time being the Alpha Xi Delta sorority house, 404 E. Brown street.

During the dinner hour last night, the still unidentified man entered the house, through the front door, and took an undetermined amount of money, and several compact from clothing which had been left in the hallway.

No estimate could be made of the losses but they were not thought to be large.

The robbery was discovered by Lucille Morsch, A4 of Sioux City, when she went from the basement dining room to the first floor to investigate a draft that was apparently coming from the front door.

She arrived upstairs just in time to see a man, startled by her approach, run out the front door and disappear. She saw only his back and could give no description of his appearance.

The thief, apparently, had been there for but a short time for only the clothing on the first floor had been ransacked and nothing on the upper floors had been disturbed.

The advertising and editorial departments of the Press Citizen since the fall of 1913.

Mr. Chappell came to Iowa City in 1911 as head of the English department and debating coach of the Iowa City high school, following serving for several years on faculties of schools in Wisconsin. He was born on a farm near Muckwonago, Waukesha county, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Chappell, now of Greensboro, North Carolina. He is a graduate of Muckwonago high school, attended Wheaton college at Wheaton, Ill., and was graduated from Lake Forest college at Lake Forest, Ill., in 1909.

Charges Cruelty in Divorce Petition

Mrs. Edna Hemsted has filed papers petitioning for divorce from her husband, Frank Hemsted, charging cruel and inhuman treatment. Mrs. Hemsted also asks that she be granted temporary alimony of $100 and permanent alimony of $10 a week.

She seeks further a sum of $150 to settle her attorney fees and costs of bringing the divorce action. Her case is slated for the February term of the district court.

Watkins Reports Engineer Petition

Former City Engineer to Run on Democrat Ticket

Joseph C. Watkins, former city engineer, announced yesterday his candidacy for the office of city engineer at the spring elections. Mr. Watkins was city engineer from 1911 to 1915 and county engineer in 1925. He will run on the democratic ticket.

Mr. Watkins has worked for many years in Iowa City and vicinity. At the time when concrete sidewalks were being constructed here, he worked as assistant to the city engineer. As bridge contractor he constructed nearly all of the bridges on the Red Ball road north of Iowa City and west of primary road No. 7.

As manager of the Iowa Valley Engineering company, Mr. Watkins supervised the straightening of the English river across Johnson county and the paving of Marengo during 1920-22.

After leaving the office of county engineer in 1915, Mr. Watkins served as manager of the Central States Engineering company. For the past two years he has been doing general engineering work for the states of Illinois and Iowa.

Car Damaged by Fire

Fire did slight damage to the Studebaker car belonging to Jerry Plum, 1717 Iowa avenue yesterday morning. The fire department was called and the blaze was easily extinguished.

A backfire in the motor is thought to have been the cause.

FRATERNAL ORGANIZATIONS:

We wish to advise you of the double purpose of this circular letter in that we wish to thank you for the business that you have favored us with since the opening day in October and want you to know of the "Candy Contest" that we are putting on during the next eight weeks, January 21, 1927, to March 21, 1927.

The purpose of which will be to introduce our free delivery service in the houses that have not yet learned of the wonderful lunches that we are sending out and to create a better business with those that already phone daily for our food and fountain goods. Each week we are going to distribute $9.00 worth of Garrott's box candy among the three organizations favoring us with the largest amount of orders for seven days. This will continue over a period of eight weeks and at the end of the last week an additional prize, having a value of $15.00, will be given to the organization having given us the largest order business during the two months.

In order to get the ball rolling we will start the first week off several days early, beginning tomorrow. The first week will close on Saturday evening, January 29, at 12 o'clock, midnight. The three winners will receive their respective boxes of candy on Sunday morning to enjoy after the Sunday dinner.

The rules of the contest are few and simple in that all orders must be one dollar or more to count in the contest and that orders will be accepted until 11 o'clock at night and on Friday and Saturday until 1 o'clock. We will appreciate it if all organizations will put in their orders as early as possible, setting a delivery time, so as to give us plenty of time to get the orders out. Many organizations have a member appointed to receive and pay for all orders. Use one of your freshmen for this and we will appreciate it very much.

If your organization is interested in the contest call at the store and we will give you a menu to order from. Remember we make the best malted milks in Iowa City and we are the only place that puts out the delicious butter toasted sandwich. If you are not already a customer we are hoping that you will give our service and our quality of goods a trial.

Respectfully,
THE HAWK'S NEST
