Legionnaires Attack Optional R. O. T. C. Plan "American Girl" Fails as Paris Goal Nears

Call Supporters un-American and Servants of Reds

Reuter Withholds All Comments on Act for Present

A scathing denunciation of the proposal to make military training optional at the University of Iowa was made by members of the local American Legion post in interviews yesterday.

Characterizing as "dupes and unpaid servants in the hands of the Red element" the individuals who foster "propaganda" in opposition to R. O. T. C. Dr. Frank L. Love, Iowa City physician, state member of the Legion, led the attack on the movement which faculty members started when they introduced in their meeting Wednesday night, a motion to make military training optional at the university.

"This movement is fostered by the Red element who seem vastly superior mentally to the individuals who foster and propagate pacifism," Dr. Love said.

"You can scarcely call these people Reds," the Iowa City physician continued, "and you can not call them Americans for they are not white enough, so I will compromise and call them 'pinkies'."

Davis Puts Taboo on Oceanic Flight

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 13 (AP)—Future trans-oceanic air flights are useless and a wanton gamble of lives and money unless they have some definite scientific purpose, Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis believes.

The war secretary declared here today that ocean flights that have failed, have, to some extent, "created aviation antagonism in the public," but contended this should not hold sway. He said the United States has made a wonderful progress in flying.

William A. White Speaks Tonight

Members of Faculty Praise Prominent News Editor

William Allen White, considered by many authorities to be one of America's greatest figures in the world of journalism, will speak tonight in the natural science auditorium at 8 o'clock. Mr. White comes to Iowa City as the first speaker for the university lecture series open to all students. These addresses are arranged for by the senate board on university lectures, whose primary interest is to bring outstanding and interesting persons to Iowa City.

In speaking of William Allen White, who is editor of the Emporia Gazette, Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh, chairman of the senate board on university lectures, was highly enthusiastic. "Mr. White's editorial reputation is well known throughout America and Europe. He has great ability as a platform speaker, both in addressing a small group and a great audience."

Prof. Frederic J. Lazell, of the school of journalism, believes that William Allen White has achieved his greatest fame as an editorial writer. In reply to a question concerning tonight's lecture, Professor Lazell answered, "Probably during the last ten years, more of William Allen White's editorials have been reprinted in other papers than those of any other editor. As a speaker, he is forceful, picturesque, and at the same time delightfully human. I consider it a rare opportunity for the students of the university to hear him."

This time his co-defendant will be Harry F. Sinclair, who last Monday lost his fight in the United States Supreme Court to retain possession of Teapot Dome.

The case will go to trial Monday. In all, the government has summoned nearly 100 witnesses and the trial is expected to continue from three weeks to a month.

Labor Federation Berates Fascism

Convention Attempts to Bar Asiatics From Hawaii

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13 (AP)—Fascism was likened to communism and both were denounced as "repulsive to labor's conception of freedom, democracy and liberty," by President William Green of the American Federation of Labor today.

A resolution emanating from the Journeymen Tailors' union asking the convention to re-affirm its stand against fascism and to oppose fascist activity among Italian born workers in the United States, inspired President Green to voice the federation's sentiments.

So that the world might know, he said, trade unionism in America is just as much opposed to fascism as to communism. "Each is a dictator-ship; both are antipathetic to their freedom and control."

Fascism, in Italy, he added, has risen from the workers every liberty they had gained.

Daniel C. Murphy of San Francisco, introduced a resolution designed to stop the migration of Filipinos from their islands to Hawaii and hence to continental United States. The delegates voiced unanimous approval after a committee had recommended change of the word "Filipinos" to "Asiatics" making the resolution more general in scope.

Picked Up, Safe, Ruth Wires Hubby

PANAMA, Oct. 13 (AP)—Lyle Womack, husband of Ruth Elder, pilot of the "American Girl," tonight said that he had received a radiogram from the Dutch tanker, Barendrecht; "Picked up by the steamship Barendrecht, Ruth."

Womack, after an all-night vigil tonight appeared haggard and drawn but happy at the outcome of his wife's attempt to cross the Atlantic, although disappointed that she had failed. Womack radioed the ship in reply:

"With love, bravest girl in the world, am anxiously awaiting your return."

He said that if it would speed their reunion he would start immediately for New York, but he would await further word from his wife, who he thought might travel direct to the canal zone.

Giles Planned to Leave at Dawn

Machine in Readiness After Necessary Part Arrives

Capt. Frederick A. Giles, British pilot of the Hess Blue Bird "Wanda," Detroit's goodwill messenger from Detroit to New Zealand expected to leave at dawn this morning on the third leg of the flight.

Last Thursday while tuning up the motor in preparation to leave the Smith field a small fiber gear in the fuel feed pump was ground up which stopped the gasoline feed pipes. Immediately he wired a Des Moines supply office and found they did not carry that particular part.

He then wired Chicago but could not obtain it there. The next resort was to wire an airplane builder in New Jersey and have the gear sent here. The gear arrived yesterday morning and was installed by R. F. Eardon, mechanic at the air field.

The afternoon was spent in putting the ship through several trial flights. Mr. Giles planned to arise at five o'clock this morning to make final preparations for the journey. He will take a small supply of food with him as he plans not to stop until he gets to North Platte, Neb., unless something unforeseen happens. His next hop will be to Salt Lake City, and then to San Francisco.

Broken Oil Pipe Forces Plane Down After Flying Three Thousand Miles; Fire Destroys Wreckage at Sea

PARIS, Oct. 13 (AP)—Ruth Elder failed by a scant 800 miles of accomplishing the feat of being the first woman to cross the Atlantic by airplane.

She and her co-pilot, Captain George Haldeman, were forced down on the waters of the Atlantic by a broken oil pipe and tonight are safe and sound aboard the Dutch tanker, "Barendrecht," which rescued them. Their plane, "The American Girl," was estimated to have travelled 3,000 miles along its 3,800 mile journey.

The plane was destroyed by fire as the tanker was attempting to salvage it, the ship reported. The "Barendrecht" is enroute to the Azores, where she expects to land the aviator Saturday morning. The tanker in a relayed message gave her position as 43.34 north 21.9 west, about 325 miles north-north-east of the Azores.

Miss Elder Sends Message

The first news of the landing and rescue arrived here at 4:35 p.m., in a radio message Miss Elder sent to the Paris office of The Associated Press.

Most of Paris and almost all provincial France, however, went to bed tonight thinking the aviator and her pilot lost, since it was not announced by officials until after 6 p.m., that they were safe. About that time, Commandant Renvoise of Le Bourgneuf flying field received a message from Miss Elder.

News Relayed from New York

Most of the news printed in Paris tonight had been relayed back across the Atlantic from New York, where it had been sent by The Associated Press shortly before noon, eastern standard time. As far as direct word from the flyers is concerned, there were only the identical messages sent by Miss Elder to the Associated Press and Commandant Renvoise. The message read:

"Landed by S. S. Barendrecht with broken oil line. Both Haldeman and I okay.—Ruth Elder."

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—Mrs. Virginia Haldeman, wife of the pilot of "The American Girl," was "almost too happy to speak" today when she was told by The Associated Press that her husband and Ruth Elder had been rescued at sea, after a broken oil line had forced their plane down.

Bootlegger King to Need Strong Defense Potions

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 13 (AP)—George Remus, former "king of bootleggers," will be indicted for first degree murder for killing his wife, Mrs. Imogene Holmes Remus, when the Hamilton county grand jury makes a formal report tomorrow.

An announcement that the grand jury had completed its examination of witnesses and would return a murder indictment tomorrow was made from the office of County Prosecutor Charles P. Taft, late today.

It was one week ago today that Remus trailed his wife into Eden park while she was on her way to hear divorce proceedings against him, and shot her fatally because he believed she had robbed him of his fortune and wanted to divorce him to marry another man.

Twenty-four hours must elapse after the indictment is returned before his plea. A date for trial may then be set.

Journalists Plan Monthly Dinners

A dinner club, with the object of bringing students of journalism in contact with prominent newspapermen, was arranged yesterday afternoon at a meeting held by the Associated Students of Journalism.

The club will meet the first Wednesday of every month at which time the journalists will speak.

Other business of the association included the re-election of Russell Wilson, J. D. Des Moines, as president. Ralph Young, J. D. Laurel, was elected vice-president, and Esther Fuller, J. D. Mount Airy, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Commerce Classes Nominate Officers

Commerce students met yesterday afternoon in university hall and selected nominees for class officers. Senior candidates for president are Don Davidson, C. J. Cedar Rapids and Lee Flatley, C. J. Iowa City. The nominees for vice president are Cecil Bolinger, C. J. of Coleridge and Floyd Moore, C. J. of Guthrie Center. Ruth Corbin, C. J. of Moline, Ill. and Helen Moody, C. J. of Grundy Center, are the candidates for secretary-treasurer.

The junior class selected Hugo Ostberg, C. J. of Olds and Morris Laird, C. J. of Mason City as their candidates for president, Helen Meyer, C. J. of Webster City and Bert Boehm, C. J. of Oden for vice president, and nominated Elmer Gabel, C. J. of Muscatine and Katherine Smith, C. J. of Iowa City for secretary-treasurer.

A surge of feeling against the hold Delta Sigma Pi, professional commerce fraternity, has had on affairs in the college of commerce caused men who are affiliated with social fraternities but not with commerce organizations, to take sides with Alpha Kappa Psi, the other professional commerce fraternity, commerce students say.

Flatley, Bolinger, Ostberg, Gabel, Misses Corbin and Meyer are running on the Alpha Kappa Psi ticket and the rest are unaffiliated as far as professional fraternities are concerned.

Final election will be held today in university hall between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Talks by Metcalf, Cummings, Plum, Close Federated Clubs Convention

The second and final day for the meeting of the Iowa Federated women's clubs opened yesterday with an address by H. J. Metcalf, director of information, Iowa State college.

"Whether used legitimately or otherwise no one can deny the fact that publicity yields a mighty power for good or evil in every community," said Mr. Metcalf in his opening remarks.

"But I would deal with the kind of publicity that has for its objective a better home life in every Iowa home, the building of better communities, both rural and urban, and last but not least, of these, inspiring an attitude toward our public institutions and educational programs which will help rather than retard their progress."

Publicity Is Information

"My conception and understanding of the word publicity is 'information,' at least that is the word I keep in mind constantly in writing my story material for the press of Iowa. I would much prefer using the term, 'news writing,' and do use it as much as I can, but the word 'publicity' is shorter and therefore more desirable, in spite of the fact that it may give rise to misunderstanding."

"Constructive publicity has the power to make us do worthy and worthwhile things. It is a vitalizing factor in our everyday existence, on the farm as well as in the factory and in the home. Stories which tell of success, like a good moving picture, an inspiring sermon, have a powerful influence on the average man and woman who reads."

Newspapers Want the News

"In this conception of the word, newspapers may safely be credited with having an equal 'uplift' in a community with the church and the school. Newspapers want the news of your organization and are greatly concerned with 'notices' of events to come; what they are interested in is what happens at the meetings, and it seems to me that it is the duty of your publicity chairman, or whoever is delegated to look after this work, to see to it that the story is sent promptly to the newspapers at the earliest possible moment, and not two or three days after an event has happened."

"The history of the Iowa Federation of Women's clubs is full of constructive, worthwhile activities; it is full of human interest story material, just the kind of news stories that the press of this state are continually looking for; it only remains for your reporters and publicity chairman to seek it out, learn to write it properly and send it to the press."

Inspiration Has Done Much for Me

"Inspiration has done much for me; it will do much for you if you will cultivate it. The right kind of publicity must have inspirational power back of it."

Methods Not Always Important

"Well conceived and legitimate publicity has a dominant place in every modern business institution, which includes such movements as the Iowa Federation of Women's clubs, as well as the church, the school and other organizations of an educational character."

"Call it what you will—propaganda, news, advertising, press agenting, or publicity—the fact still remains that while a few mythical seekers after mouse traps may find their way to your door, the big business goes to the institution or organization that 'tells the world' where they are located, what they are doing, when they are doing it, why they are doing it; how they are doing it, and who they are."

Miss Cummings Speaks

"Train the child in the way he should go—not the way some other child should go, or in the way you want him to go, but the way he should go, and not let him come up but train him."—these were the opening words and the kernel of the address given by Margaret E. Cummings. The subject of her talk was "Parent Education Through Child Study."

"We have usually based our methods of child training on those of our parents," she continued. "What was developing through the last twenty centuries. These years show plainly the history of democratic evolution. It is necessary that we preserve the principles of democracy, but man should be taught that freedom of thought and action is an individual right. Then, if he takes advantage of this privilege he will contribute to the advancement of society."

Coolidge Confers on Army Budget

Recalls General From Inspection Trip to West

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13 (AP)—Major Gen. Charles F. Summerall, chief of staff of the army, has been recalled from his western inspection trip by President Coolidge for a conference on the budget program of the army for next year, it was explained here today on behalf of the president.

Everett Saunders, secretary to Mr. Coolidge, made this announcement tonight after a day of mystery over the sudden departure of General Summerall from the west for Washington.

Mr. Coolidge authorized the statement that he wished to confer with General Summerall about the budget program. Other than this, there was no comment on his behalf regarding the general's return.

The president has taken similar action in the past, members of his party recalling that during the campaign of 1924 he called Secretary Wilbur to Washington for a conference on navy plans just before the secretary was to make a speech in Denver.

General Summerall spoke while in the west about army housing facilities and this question is included in the budget plans for next year.

he went on, "because of the tendency of the student to carry as few hours of study as he can."

The advantages of self reliance and training which compulsory military work gives, is invaluable and to dispense with it at this time would be a grave mistake, among the consensus of opinion among the legion men.

Reuter Says Little

Edward B. Reuter, professor and head of the department of sociology, who introduced the motion before the faculty body, in an effort, it is said, to lighten the freshman's work, would make no comment last night on the opposition voiced by the Legion.

"We had anticipated this attitude on the part of the Legion," Professor Reuter said, "and I think it wiser to make no comment at this time."

English Department Journal Club Holds First Fall Meeting

The Journal club of the English department held its first meeting yesterday on the porch of the Iowa Union. There were thirty-eight present. Records show that this is a decided increase over last year's attendance.

Before the meeting a tea was given in order to allow the graduate students to become acquainted with the members of the faculty. A. H. Heusikfeld, instructor of English and chairman of the club, said that the present plans call for a social period before each meeting.

Prof. E. P. Kuhl, of the English department, reviewed some of the department's books and periodical contributions.

Contractors Bid on Paving Today

Council Meets Tonight to Discuss Work on Streets

Bids on 25,000 square yards of paving and 47,000 square feet of sidewalk construction will be let by the city council at its regular meeting tonight. The bidding will be opened at 2 o'clock this afternoon and the contracts awarded at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

This construction is part of this year's second paving program, which was voted by the council on Sept. 23. The paving is composed of short stretches on Dubuque, Lundell, Fairchild, River, Black Hawk, and Johnson streets, and on Jackson avenue, Morningside drive, Tempin road, and Benton street, east of the river.

The sidewalks are also in varied parts of the city but the construction centers chiefly in Chautauqua Heights and Sunnyside addition.

A large number of out-of-town bidders adding to the competition among local contractors are expected today.

Dutch Ship Saves Ruth Elder When Oil Pump Breaks

of flying and weather conditions showed that she had followed her husband's course with the closest attention.

"In one way," she said, "I felt they would make it, for thirteen was always George's lucky number. We were married on the thirteenth, and when he entered the army as a flyer in the war days, he was thirteenth in line for the physical tests. When I remembered that today was the thirteenth, I was more hopeful than ever."

"But just a thing like that never would carry anybody across an ocean. It was courage and ability and knowledge and careful preparations."

Mrs. Haldeman said her first act after making sure that the plane was safe was to send a telegram to Bill, her four-year-old son, at Lakeland, Fla. Then there was another dispatch to her husband and Miss Elder on the Dutch steamer Barendrecht, which picked them up.

Home Town in Jubilee

LAKELAND, Fla., Oct. 13 (AP)—The home town of Ruth Elder and George Haldeman out-did itself today in wild jubilee over news that the trans-Atlantic flyers had been picked up at sea.

It mattered not that "The American Girl" had failed to reach its destination and thus achieve for its fair young co-pilot her ambition to be the first woman to fly from New York to Paris.

Even while the enthusiastic crowds were at their wildest, plans were made for a more formal celebration at a mass meeting tonight at which J. J. Haldeman, George's father, was one of the speakers.

During the day, four-year-old Billy Haldeman, son of the flyer, spent his time building toy airplanes "like Daddy's." The child is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lufsey, his grand-parents, while Mrs. Haldeman is in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Elder Overjoyed

Depression and fear had given way to joy tonight in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elder at news of the safe rescue of their daughter.

The strain of the daring attempt of their adventurous daughter to span the Atlantic had weighed on the parents, and Mrs. Elder, who has been in feeble health, was forced to take to bed yesterday.

Since Ruth and her co-pilot, Capt. George Haldeman, nosed their plane, "The American Girl" into the air Tuesday afternoon, on the attempted flight to Paris, her father and mother have maintained their belief that she would come through safely.

Family Gathers to Await News

Their assurance was visibly mingled with worry, however, and neither slept last night. Brothers and sisters of Ruth, who was the baby girl of the family, gathered in the Elder home to await the news that seemed so long in coming.

Mr. Elder had borne the situation bravely, but this morning was on the point of giving up hope.

"I did my best to feel all right about it," he said, "but about 3 o'clock this morning when she was due in France, my heart began sinking and I told my wife that I thought our daughter was lost. Our joy is now unbounded."

Report Plane in Holland

LE BOURGET, France, Oct. 13 (AP)—The air of Le Bourget, heavy with fog, was electrified today when an astonishing report came that Ruth Elder had landed in Holland, a few miles from Rotterdam.

After the report of the safe landing in Holland gained circulation, another report, which was the correct version of the landing, although the spectators at Le Bourget did not know it, was heard that the plane had landed in the ocean, alongside the steamship Barendrecht, four days out of Rotterdam, bound for the Gulf of Mexico.

Former Grand Titan of K.K.K. Serves Sentence

Luverne, Ala., Oct. 13 (AP)—Cecil Davis of Birmingham, said to be former grand titan of the southern province of the Ku Klux Klan, was sentenced to five days in the county jail by Judge E. Gamble today for contempt of court in refusing to answer questions of the grand jury investigating masked violence in Crenshaw county.

The questions which Davis refused to answer were understood to relate to the membership of Ira Thompson, a witness in the flogging investigation in the Luverne Klavern of the Klan.

Davis told Judge Gamble that he refused to answer the questions because he had taken a prior oath obligating himself not to answer them.

James Esdale, grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Alabama, will be questioned tomorrow by the grand jury. This was learned today when the Klan head, returning to Birmingham, after a trip outside of the state, wired Attorney General Charles McCall that he had just learned of the summons for him and would present himself before the grand jury if he was wanted.

Chemists to Help Campaign Urging Metric Standards

The chemistry department of the University of Iowa has been asked to contribute to the fund which is being raised for the purpose of bringing before the people of the United States the advantages of the system of decimal weights and measures.

Fred A. Britten, senator from Illinois, will introduce the bill on the opening day of the new congress. Several states have petitioned congress through their legislatures for the metric standards for all people.

The All-American Standards council, several chambers of congress, and many industrial organizations are among those who are urging that this system be used.

American Legion Begins Campaign

Name Committees to Raise Funds for New Home

The American Legion has organized committees for the campaign that is to be started Tuesday morning at 8 a.m. and will continue until Wednesday at 7 p.m. This campaign is to aid in defraying the expenses of the new legion home to be built soon.

The legion committee chairmen will be: E. F. Rate, Prof. Percy Bordwell, E. L. O'Connor, Ralph White, Frank Zeitamel, Dr. A. W. Bennett, W. J. Barrow, E. B. Raymond, Wilbur Cannon, Jr., Lyman Burdick, W. B. Gipple, Charles Kenett, H. I. Jennings, Francis Boyle, Kenneth M. Dunlop, the Rev. Harry Longley, George Spencer, and George Frohwein.

The auxiliary committee chairmen will be: Mesdames W. A. Gay, Ida Yetter, George W. Ball, Lee Whittaker, R. B. Campbell, C. Kenett, P. J. Justin, L. E. Clark, and C. F. Ward.

All these committee chairmen and their committees, totaling some 200 in all, will meet at the chamber of commerce rooms, Monday at 6 p.m. They will have a "dutch treat" and the final instructions will be given out.

To instruct the public in the uses of the community building it is proposed to decorate the downtown store windows illustrating the following activities: cavalry company, ambulance company, chamber of commerce, boy scouts, girl scouts, auto shows, athletics, and the ladies' auxiliary department.

Yeters' will show a picture of the proposed building in their center window, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. The legion requests that the Iowa City merchants set out their American flags, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Becky

A Serial of the Price of Glory
by RAYNOR SELIG

What Has Happened So Far

Becky McCloskey, young and good looking trying to make her way alone in New York, finds herself without a position on New Year's Eve. Dan Scarlett, who lives by his wits, sees her huddled in a doorway, and persuades her to go to dinner with him. He kisses her. She slaps his face and threatens to brain him with a bottle. Scarlett sees Becky in a new light. She tells him she has no money and no prospects. Then she sings a little song for him. Scarlett realizes she has a beautiful voice and makes a bargain to finance her until she gets started if she will let him share in her profits. Becky goes to her room and prays the Lord to let her sing well, get enough to eat and help her to meet a man she has seen making purchases in the department store where she worked. Through Scarlett's influence she gets a chance to join a Broadway chorus. Scarlett upbraids her for not playing the game and induces her to go to a studio party given by Boris Abeland on the chance that she may meet the rich John Estabrook, her ideal. At the party Becky is thrust into a fountain with her clothes on and faints. Abeland angrily sends his guests away and has Becky taken care of. Months afterwards Becky meets Estabrook in the studio. She is rather disillusioned. She tells him she wishes he had never come. Estabrook finds himself interested in her and kisses her. She stands dazed before him and tells him she expected him to be different. Estabrook apologizes and Becky tells him what her ideas of real love are. Later she sings and Estabrook tells her she has a great voice and takes her home in his car. He tells her he loves her. Kisses her and she shows him she is in love with him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XI
Becky said "goodnight" to Estabrook in the taxi, and standing inside the door, watched the red tail-light vanish down the deserted street.

Her heart was pounding painfully, her mind was in too great a whirl to admit coherent thought. It seemed impossible that less than a year ago she had been a little shop-girl taken on for the Christmas rush, a little shop-girl who gazed adoringly but hopelessly at the tall, brown man who came to buy a gift with his mother.

If that had been true, was it possible that she, Becky McCloskey, had really been in that man's arms to-night? That she had told him she loved him? That, strangest of all, he had told her that he loved her? She felt bewildered, crushed by the splendor of the unbelievable truth.

Estabrook, the aristocrat — and Becky McCloskey of Charles street. It couldn't be true.

She ran quickly up the dark stairway, her heart pounding a rhythm for her feet. She wanted to be quiet, to be alone with her kitten and her doll, those silent, comprehending companions of her bitterest hours, to nurse with them, upon her too great good fortune.

Sometimes when food had been scarce and her body wearied almost beyond endurance, she had wondered whether virtue was worth the price to be paid for it. But now she knew. The answer had come. For this, and only for this, she had waited—that she might be chaste and beyond reproach for the man her heart had chosen.

"Thank God she was free, she thought as she climbed more slowly, the last flight of steps.

Then she paused.
Sitting on the landing of the fourth floor, his knees crossed and a cigarette dangling from the corner of his mouth, sat Dan Scarlett. Becky's heart seemed to stand still.

"How did you get in?" she demanded in a low voice.
"Walked in. Rang the bell of the lady underneath, who obligingly pushed on the clicker. After which I laid low for a few minutes, until she'd stopped looking around, and then came up. Simple as keeping track of your actions, Becky my girl. Simple as Simple Simon."

"You've been drinking, Dan Scarlett, or you wouldn't have dared do such a thing. How do you get that way, anyhow? You hop it. Quick." Scarlett demanded motionless.

"Got out, Dan. D'you hear? It's terrible late."

"I came to talk to you, my dear, and I'm going to do just that. Let's go to your room."

"No you don't," Becky whispered fiercely, barring Scarlett's way as he started up the hall.
"Oh yes I do. D'you want to have a scene out here in the hall? D'you want to get thrown out of the house? Nice story to tell your new boy friend tomorrow. . . . out of your house. Go and unlock your door."

Becky, trembling, fumbled for her key.
"Well you better say what you have to say quick, and get it over. And be quiet about it, please Dan." She turned the knob softly. "And what do you know about boy-friends of mine, anyway? You gone into the detective business, by any chance?"

"I have my own ways of finding things out, and they're good, and they're prompt," Scarlett replied, shutting the door and putting his back against it. "Pleasant little coffin you live in. This the best you can afford?"

"It's none of your business how I want to spend my money or save it, either. What did you want to say?"

"It's time you and I came to a show down, young lady. I've been playing patience with you for a year. Now I'm through. Did you make a hit with this whitsinnam—Estabrook?"

Becky made no answer, pressing her lips tight together.

"Silence means assent. Right?" Scarlett took the cigarette from his mouth and regarded the glowing tip.

"If you play this right," he said, "Everything'll be fine. You'll get your man, your little god, rather, and, with a little sense, you ought to get a couple of hundred thousand besides. He's rich as the devil. All I want is to settle my percentage, understand?"

Becky faced him with clenched hands. "Yes, I understand," she flung back. "And I say no, see? No with a capital N." Her voice softened. "Dan, try to get this. I'm awful crazy about him. I have been for a long time. You can't mix love and business Dan."

"You're crazy all right," Scarlett said evenly. He flung down the butt of the cigarette and crushed it venomously with his foot. "First you can't get backing because you don't like the stage door Johnnies. And now you love this Johnny too much. What do you expect him to do if he falls for you? Marry you?"

"Yes," said Becky.

"You're cuckoo for fair, Cinderella."

He's no-half baked college kid. He's a grown man, and a pretty easy one from what I hear. Men like him don't marry cheap little chorus girls. They consider they're doing 'em a favor by knowing 'em."

"That's a lie and you know it. I'm not an ordinary chorus girl. I'm good and decent, you know I am." Becky's voice, still low, was hoarse with anger and fright.

"Tell that to the man who owns one," Scarlett said with a laugh. "And wake up now. Don't wait until he kicks you."

"You've said too much," Becky, tense with rage, walked to the door. "Now go, and don't come near me again. See?"

"Who do you think you're giving orders to, kid?"

"To a—jailbird—a—" The sentence was never finished. Scarlett, his poker face still expressionless, struck her across the mouth.

"Now shut up and listen to me," he said sweetly.

Becky, her elbow crooked over her face, sobbed. "You wait until tomorrow. You wait until I tell Johnny you hit me. You see what'll happen to you."

"That's right. Tell him I hit you. Tell him I was in your room at four o'clock this morning. Then he'll know how good and pure little chorus girls are."

Becky lowered her elbow and put out a shaking hand. "Dan . . . please . . . you wouldn't let him believe—"

The sight of Scarlett's face flung her into a panic. "Dan, listen! I got a little money saved, not much but it's yours, anything I have's yours if you'll only let me alone." She clutched at his arm.

"And listen Dan, if he loves me really, if we ever get married, I'll get him to give you a—a— income or something. Only leave me alone. . . please, please leave me alone."

"I see you're still having pipe dreams," answered Scarlett. "But I guess after all he's the one to do the waking. This marriage stuff is the bunk, you'll find that out soon enough. And when you do—I'll be there."

"You'll go now though?"

"Yes, I'll go now. And I won't be around for a while. But remember this. I'll be watching you, so don't try any tricks." Scarlett put on his hat, opened the door, and, from the threshold said: "By the time he marries you I'll be dead and buried."

When he had gone Becky, flinging herself down beside the stupid rag doll, wept: "Oh God, let me forget what he said. Don't let it be so, God, please don't let it be so."

Custer Assesses Two This Week
Police court has been unusually quiet this week. Judge Custer has not been compelled to levy a fine or sentence an offender since last Monday.

Only two fines were assessed at that time. This was remarkable because of the large crowd in town for the football game last week-end.

have shaken America on the potential capacity of the average citizen. Truth and beauty are inseparably related.

Paintings Inspire Character

A general contemplation of fine paintings cannot fail to provide an inspiration which will result in the improvement of the character of the people. It is for this reason that the painter and the founder of art galleries rank high as public benefactors. They raise people to a spiritual level which they could not otherwise attain."

Referring to Mr. Carnegie as one of the great benefactors in this line, Mr. Coolidge held that the mutuality of interest which this employer had with his workmen was an example of the good to be derived from such association.

"While the ranks of unskilled labor have not yet come into their full enjoyment," he said, "their condition is greatly improved over what they have ever before received. The question for the determination of the American people is no longer whether they will be able to secure prosperity but rather what use they will make of their prosperity."

French Ambassador Present

An international atmosphere was given the exercises at which the president spoke this afternoon by the presence of Paul Claudet, new ambassador from France, the minister from Austria, Rumania and the Netherlands and the charge d'affaires from Belgium and Italy. On the platform also, in addition to members of the Mellon families, were Secretary Davis of the labor department and Mrs. Davis, Senator Reed and Representatives Porter, Morin and Campbell, all of Pennsylvania, Otto H. Kahn, the New York financier, and Mayor Kline, of Pittsburgh.

All Valedictorians

YORK, Pa., Oct. 13 (AP)—The only three children in the family of Dr. and Mrs. Julius H. Comroe—two brothers and a sister—have been valedictorians of their high school classes here within five years. Each was chosen for the honor from a class numbering 250 pupils or more. Bernard and Ruth Comroe graduated at 15 and Julius at 16.

An audience that filled every seat in the Englert theater, last night witnessed the first performance of "Ben Hur" to be given in Iowa City and came away from the spectacle completely captured by its powerful story and pleasing scenes.

There can be no argument that "Ben Hur" is one of the half-dozen masterpieces of the screen. To a strong plot has been added some exceptional acting, photography, and settings that combine to produce this result.

Ramon Novarro in the title role; Francis X. Bushman, former matinee idol of the silver screen, who plays "Messala"; Betty Bronson, who though appearing in but a few scenes as the Madonna, does some of the best work of her career; and Nigel de Bruin, as "Simonides," are outstanding in their roles.

Others in the cast whose work is decidedly meritorious are May McAvoy, Claire McDowell, and Carmel Myers.

The chariot race scene, which climaxes the picture, had the audience tense on the edges of their seats, while the great sea fight earlier in the film was little inferior in its dramatic power and ability to thrill.

A delightful feature is the use made of technicolor in some of the historic and Biblical scenes.

Textbooks Used in Chicago Schools Pro-British Says Ex-Congressman

CHICAGO, Oct. 13, (AP)—Former congressman John Gorman today told the board of education that every history text used in the Chicago schools with one exception is pro-British in its interpretations, and charged that William McAndrew, suspended superintendent of schools is aware of the fact and approves of the condition.

Mr. Gorman, who made an investigation of all history books at Mayor Thompson's request, appeared before the board at the trial of McAndrew on charges of insubordination and conduct unbecoming the office of superintendent. Mayor Thompson made a campaign pledge to oust Mr. McAndrew.

Gorman Protests
Mr. Gorman introduced history text excerpts over the protests of Mr. McAndrew's attorneys along with school records intended to show that the suspended superintendent had approved the use of all the texts criticized.

"The Boston Tea Party was the last straw," the colonies added insult to injury. "The capitol of Massachusetts was the scene of vulgar sedition." George Washington was a tyrant, a dictator, a despot and the step-father of his country. "The continental congress was a collection of pettifogging lawyers and mechanics," read Mr. Gorman from two history books by David Muzzey. The use of these particular books, he added, had been prohibited in several states.

Wants Patriotic Books
In all the texts he examined, said Mr. Gorman, he found only one, "The History of America," by Fish that was of a satisfactory patriotic nature. The other books distorted or omitted important facts, he charged.

Members of the board favorable to Mr. McAndrew wanted to know whether Mr. Gorman passed as "an expert." He retorted that he was "only a reviewer of histories." During the interchange, attorneys for Mr. McAndrew said they were in a hurry to get the present trial before the board finished "so this case can be taken into the circuit or superior courts."

The next session of the hearing will be held next Wednesday, Oct. 19 the board voted at the end of the session today.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Wins Interfraternity Cross Country Run

Liddle Finishes First in Field of 325 Entrants

Phi Kappa Second; Phi Kappa Rho Good Third

Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, placing five men among the first twenty-eight to finish, won the annual interfraternity cross country run held on Finkbine field yesterday. Their winning total was 77 points while Phi Kappa came in second with 87 and Phi Kappa Rho third with 91. The winning aggregation was composed of J. H. Terry, Harman Mitchell, Robert Peters, Augustus Killbrev and Edward Knepper.

Boyd N. Liddle of Davenport won first place in the field of 325 entrants having a two yard lead on A. E. Stanley who was second. Liddle ran under the colors of Sigma Alpha Epsilon which finished fourth in team total while Stanley competed for Theta Tau. The winner's time was 5:31.5 for the nine-tenths of a mile.

Bernard Sheridan, Phi Kappa, was third, William Parkins, Sigma Pi, fourth and J. H. Terry, Sigma Phi Epsilon fifth.

Result Not Official

Because of the huge field of entrants it was impossible to get a complete check on the eligibility of all the men who competed. However, the recheck will not affect the team winner or the first five place winners.

Some starting with cigarettes in their mouths, others with topcoats on and still others with slickers over them for protection, all of the large field of competitors finished but the last few men to stroll across the line were more than a half hour late for first place. After some two hundred or more of the Greek lettermen had come in the official scorers put away their books and called it a day.

After running some thirty yards or so the men began to scatter out and as the first men finished there were some who were fully a half mile behind, walking slowly with a cold wind from the north making their progress more difficult. One group of four started with their hands joined and they came in last the same way.

Place Winners

The first five men to finish and who were awarded medals are: Boyd N. Liddle, A1 of Davenport (Sigma Alpha Epsilon); A. E. Stanley, E1 of Cornell (Theta Tau); Bernard Sheridan, A1 of Iowa City (Phi Kappa); William Parkins, A4 of Des Moines (Sigma Phi); Harold J. Terry, J3 of Webster City (Sigma Phi Epsilon).

The next ten men to breast the tape were awarded ribbons. They are: L. A. Federal Men Find Whiskey in Manger

DES MOINES, Oct. 13 (AP)—Sam Bertling's horses in his barn near Worthington, stood guard over 155 gallons of aged whiskey, federal agents stated yesterday after a raid on his farm.

The kegs are alleged to have been found above the mangers. Nearly 100 gallons more were found in other hiding places on the farm.

Greek Royalty to Units with Danish

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 13 (AP)—Princess Irene, 23-year-old sister of former King George of Greece, is engaged to Prince Christian Schumburg-Lippe of Denmark, former King George announced last night before he left here for Bucharest, Rumania.

King George, in his announcement, said the two young people had been acquainted for many years. Prince Christian is a nephew of the king of Denmark.

Bulldog Captain Kicked Off Squad

DES MOINES, Oct. 13 (AP)—Capt. "Bill" Cook, regular full-back for Drake for the past two years, today obeyed the reputed injunction of Coach Ossie Solem to "get out and stay out" following a verbal clash over a play in practice yesterday. Cook absent himself from practice, and later declared he had nothing to say regarding the controversy. Neither did he indicate whether he would attempt to rejoin the squad. Cook's absence is expected to bring several changes in the Drake starting lineup against Pitt.

Friedman, Dooley Meet in Contest

Famous Quarterbacks Evenly Matched in Ability

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—One of those mythical meetings between great college quarterbacks of the past who never played on opposing teams became a reality today when Bernie Friedman of Michigan and Eddie Dooley of Dartmouth met in a forward passing duel on the deserted turf of the Polo grounds.

With the deadly accuracy of a thrown spear, the ball went hurtling down the field for 50 and 60 yards as the friendly rivals fought it out. Long range honors went to Dooley, but Friedman proved the better sharp-shooter.

Four persons, including the custodian of the park, looked on as these two passing stars "took the field."

In the fine art of pegging the ball at the precise spot in the air where it would fall lightly as thisledown into the arms of a racing runner, Friedman was adjudged the winner by vote of the "crowd."

"Let's try for distance, now Ben," Dooley suggested, leading the way down toward mid-field. Gripping the oval like a baseball he sent it sailing away for a total non-stop flight of 60 yards. Try as he did, Friedman could not quite clear the bar. And honors were considered even.

Drake Eleven to Meet California

DES MOINES, Oct. 13 (AP)—The Drake university football team will play the Golden Bears of the University of California, Southern Branch, in a postseason game in Los Angeles Nov. 26, it was revealed today when the Drake athletic council approved the contest. Consent of the Missouri Valley conference faculty representatives is expected to be given, it was said.

This is the second time in two years that an Iowa eleven has carried a game with the Southern Californians, Iowa State having administered a 19 to 0 trouncing to that team on a corresponding date last year.

Champion at Seven

EARL THOMAS

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (AP)—Earl Thomas, a towed-haired lad of seven, has won his first golf tournament. His stubby little arms whacked the ball around the course in 118 strokes.

Earl was victorious in the caddy tournament at the Edgemoor Golf Club. With his handicap of 40, he proudly bore away the prize, a driver.

Earl won the tourney on the putting green, with Chick Evans and other adult golfing lights in his gallery. His father is one of the club managers and Earl is quite a celebrity at the club. He is a bit shy when being interviewed, but admits with enthusiasm he likes to "thump" a golf ball. There is a slight lisp in his speech but no hitch in his golfing form.

He often makes a 160-yard tee shot. Golf clubs have been his playthings since babyhood.

The Bull Dogs topped off their hard work today with a long rehearsal of signals and fundamentals.

Fifth Mermaid Conquers Channel

DOVER, Eng., Oct. 14 (Friday) (AP)—The third woman to swim the English channel this month, Mrs. Ivy Gill of Sheffield, landed at Shespeare beach, near here at 12:20 a.m. today. The twenty-four year old girl, who is the fifth of her sex to accomplish the feat, started from Cape Gris-Nez, France, at 9:11 a.m. yesterday.

Her first words on touching the English shore were: "I can't stand." She was helped up the beach by her manager and trainer and then taken to a Dover bath house for a hot bath.

Mrs. Gill used a trudgeon stroke practically all the way. During the last hour, Fellowes Rotham, her trainer and himself a channel swimmer aspirant, swam alongside. All the boatmen who accompanied Mrs. Gill announced they are ready to sign affidavits on the authenticity of the swim.

Dr. Dorothy Cochrane Logan, London "mystery swimmer," conquered the channel this week, her time of 13 hours and 10 minutes bettering the record of 14 hours and 31 minutes held by Gertrude Ederle of New York, first woman to swim the channel. A week previous Miss Mercedes Gleitz, London typist, was credited with swimming the channel. Mrs. Clamington Corson (Mille Cade) of New York swam the channel in 1925.

Herb Joesting to Whet Appetite on Hoosier Varsity

Important Games in Big Ten Circles for Saturday

CHICAGO, Oct. 13, (AP)—A blond streak in the form of Herb Joesting, Minnesota's all-American full-back, tonight cast its shadow across the hopes of the Indiana varsity.

Joesting, whose versatility and speed on the gridiron took Minnesota from expected mediocrity to one of the outstanding scoring machines of the country in 1926, will be back in his old position when the whistle sends the Gophers and Hoosiers into battle on Jordan field, Bloomington, Saturday.

His injured leg, which has kept him from Minnesota's pre-conference games, is virtually healed and Coach Spears, during a secret workout at Lafayette, Ind., today decided to send Joesting into the game. The decision lowered Indiana's hopes of victory and pushed Minnesota stock above par.

Purdue vs. Chicago

Determined to atop the haughty Purdue eleven Saturday, Coach Alonzo A. Staggs is digging deep into his old trick bag for some of the plays he used to execute in the early ninties when he played at Yale. "The Old Wizard," added by better showings by his men, has constructed an entirely different style of offense, hinged considerably on the old cross-criss plays. The Boiler-makers, however, have perfected a few tricks also which were not needed to down Harvard last week.

Accompanied by 1,500 rooters and riding in three special trains, Northwestern's football warriors left tonight for Columbus where they will match their skill against Ohio State in one of the most important conference games of the week. Considerable doubt still exists whether "Tiv" Lewis, Purple fullback, will be able to play.

Ohio State spent its practice time today in polishing up its forward passing offense and defense and in training to block Northwestern plays. Leo Raskowski, tackle, was back in the lineup after a week's absence because of an arm injury. The Wisconsin Badgers, hopeful and eager, are set for the Michigan

The Bowling Golfers topped 830 pins and scored high team total for one game while the Quality Bakery rolled up 2538 points for the highest three game score for one team.

Ames Stages Final Practice for Illinois

AMES, Oct. 13, (AP)—A session with the tackling dummies and a dummy scrimmage against Illinois plays rounded out the preparation of Iowa State grid squad for Saturday's game at Urbana. Coach Workman and the Cyclone square were to entrain at 11 p.m., while the student body staged a pep session as a send-off.

The squad is in good physical trim, except for Fischer, regular guard, who may be kept out with an injured knee. Schlenker has been groomed to replace him. Otherwise the starting lineup will probably be the same that faced Simpson college here last week.

Two Jacks May Resume Contract

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—Despite the assertion in Salt Lake City today of Jack Dempsey that he "wouldn't consider" proposals for peace with his former manager, Jack Kearns, other developments indicated definite moves are under way to patch up the differences between the pair, looking toward the eventual resumption of Dempsey's management by Kearns.

Kearns, here, authorized the announcement by his associate, Teddy Hayes, that he had agreed to indefinite postponement, in Trenton, N.J., of an action to recover $333,333.33 from Dempsey under the terms of their former contract. According to Hayes, Kearns went to Trenton today with his lawyers to effect this postponement, but Arthur F. Driscoll of counsel for Dempsey, declared he "knew nothing" of this or any negotiations to settle the Kearns-Dempsey differences out of court.

Most boxing observers were skeptical of any arrangement which would put Dempsey again under the management of the man who plotted him to the championship but also were willing to admit that "stranger things have happened in the boxing racket." Hayes, however, asserted definite moves were under way, first to settle legal differences and then bring the two together, thus conforming a copy righted story published by The New York Daily News this morning.

According to Hayes, Dempsey wants further time to consider peace proposals. Kearns, Hayes said, plans to leave for the Pacific coast in about ten days to meet Dempsey.

Ingwersen Polishes Old Gold Eleven for Wabash Encounter

Injuries Hamper Iowa Gridmen in Final Scrimmage

Workouts Pointed for Coming Fray With Minnesotans

With the hospital list growing daily, Coach Burton A. Ingwersen sent his Hawkeye gridmen through their final dummy scrimmage yesterday afternoon in preparation for the battle Saturday with Coach Pete Vaughan's Wabash eleven here.

Lloyd Grimm, veteran Old Gold player, is the latest member of the squad who has been placed on the injured list. The husky flankman is suffering from an infection to his right elbow, the same ailment that has confined Ernest Jessen, veteran guard, and Oakley Carlsen, sophomore end, to the list of "temporary out of order." However, Carlsen reported in uniform yesterday after a day's lay off while Jessen has been used rather extensively the last week. It is believed that neither Carlsen or Grimm will see much action in the clash with Wabash Saturday, although they will see the game from the sidelines, and will be injected into the battle if necessity forces their substitution.

Use Aerial Attack

Most of the time yesterday was devoted to having two Old Gold teams using an aerial attack against freshmen aggregations. Coach Ingwersen does not plan to use much of an air attack against the Little Giants if it is possible that straight football will win the game. However, if the Hawks are unable to make much yardage by standard runs, an aerial attack will be put into play. As scouts for the Minnesota Gophers will be in the stands when the Old Gold battles the Wabash eleven, the local coaching staff has decided not to use the new plays.

Both varsity teams made good gains against the frosh through a scintillating aerial attack yesterday. Paul Armil, veteran back, who tossed six successful passes out of as many attempts in the battle with Ohio last Saturday, was heading the pigskin for the first team eleven yesterday, while Dennis Myers, sophomore fullback, and Howard Porter, another sophomore, were doing the throwing on the second team.

The first team varsity lined up yesterday with Brown, center; Westra and Roberts, guards; Jessen and Captain Nelson, tackles; Cuhel and Carlsen, ends; O'Neal, quarterback; Glassgow and Armil, halfbacks; and Schmidt, fullback. The second team was composed of: Chatterton, center; Fuhrman and Yegge, guards; Van Vest and Forward, tackles; Young and Cooley, ends; Lauer, quarterback; Porter and Myers, halfbacks, and Bunn, fullback.

Hawks Point for Gophers

Although Coach Ingwersen is not taking any chances of crossing the bridge before he comes to it by entirely disregarding the Wabash eleven, at every day's practice he sends his proteges against the plays that Minnesota has used in their previous games. After the varsity had proved to the coaches that they knew their onions on an aerial attack, they were put on the defense and the frosh were on the offensive. The frosh used the plays that the Little Giants used in their aerial attack against the Millikin college last Saturday. Various substitutions were made by the Hawkeye's coaching staff yesterday when the frosh had the ball. The veterans looked good on the defense as the yearlings only managed to complete passes at lengthy intervals.

Following the Hawkeye's defensive drill, Coach Ingwersen lined up the various teams and they ran off the new plays that the Old Gold will unleash on the Gopher eleven. Although the locals do not battle the "Swedes from the North" until a week from Saturday on the Gopher's Homecoming in Minneapolis, during the past week Coach Ingwersen and his staff have been sending the varsity against plays that the Gopher's have used so far this season.

Little Giants Strong

With a team composed of six men who have played on the same eleven for the past three years as the seasoned material, Coach Ingwersen is expecting a hard battle from Coach Vaughan's Wabash organization. The visitors are expected to use a Notre Dame style of play and are reputed to be one of the best teams that the Indiana school has turned out in many seasons.

Coach Vaughan has been pointing his men for their battle with the Hawks and has been drilling them in new plays and formations the past two weeks, according to Coach Ed Walker of the Hawks coaching staff, who scouted the game for the Iowans last Saturday. A large delegation of Wabash college rooters are expected to witness the game here Saturday. The Little Giants are scheduled to arrive in Iowa City some time Friday afternoon.

SOUTH DEVELOPS GOLFING BROTHERS

JACK CRENSHAW

A new set of golfing brothers has appeared in the sports firmament. They are Jack and Files Crenshaw of Montgomery, Ala., the latter having defeated his brother for the city championship. Meanwhile Will Gunn promises to add to the family laurels acquired by his brother, Watts.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 13 (AP)

The Crenshaw family has added another set of championship brothers to the field of golf. Files Crenshaw has just won the city title, but to gain his new laurels had to defeat his younger brother, Jack, who ever and anon looms in the finals of important tournaments to challenge the skill of the elder.

The two brothers were instrumental in organizing the University of Alabama's first golf team several years ago. During the time they played on the team not a single defeat was suffered, and Files and Jack each won the Southern Intercollegiate title in successive years.

Among the other famous golfing brothers in the south are Watts and Will Gunn, of Atlanta, and the three Oliver brothers of Valdosta, Ga. Watts is National Intercollegiate champion as well as the present Southern Intercollegiate titleholder, while Will has won several junior cups in Atlanta and made a better showing than his older brother in the recent state tournament.

The Oliver brothers have been members of the University of Georgia golf team and are consistent winners in South Georgia tourneys. The line will be without the services of Sangor, who was injured in the East Des Moines game, and it will be hard for the team to come up to its usual play when it lacks the aid of the veteran. Sangor, crippled with a bad right knee, had dreams of getting into this game but with his injury still too bad to permit him to scrimmage it is very likely that he will take things easy until Iowa City meets the Grinnell eleven next week.

Reports coming from the Clinton camp are to the effect that they are again represented by a goodly array of football men. They are fast and do not lack any weight.

In their recent game with the strong Grant high eleven from Cedar Rapids they were commented upon as being a team worthy of defeating the boys from the Linn county metropolis. The veterans from last year's team are all playing sensational ball and the new men are listed close to the work of the veterans.

Ough, Clinton Star

Jimmy Ough, who is playing his second year as an end, is playing a mighty good defensive and offensive game for Clinton. He is backed by a second Duke Slater by the name of Bush who has been doing some extra good ball carrying, his work being responsible for much of the yardage gained by the Clinton eleven. Another man who is going good for the boys from along the Mississippi is a brother of Bobby Kinnan, Iowa wingman. He is playing center and probably will put up as much fight as any man can do in a hard fray.

Clerk Issues License

County Clerk Walker J. Barrow issued a marriage license yesterday to Morris J. McKenna, legal age, of Graceville, Minn., and Helen F. Wilkinson, legal age, of Iowa City.

Knox's Warriors Plan to Defeat Clinton Eleven

Red and White Drills Hard for Coming Encounter

Coach Walter S. Knox has been driving his Red and White warriors through intensive work this week in preparation for the Clinton game there Saturday. It is the objective of the Little Hawks to repeat the defeat which they handed to the Clinton boys last year.

The workouts for the last week have been chiefly a review on old formations and the fundamentals of tackling and blocking. There has also been a few tricks inserted into the bag of plays, which will be used in an effort to get some good gains from the Clintonites.

The new formation that the Knoxmen will use is depending a great deal on the line and it is Coach Knox's hope that his men will be able to block the opponents in order that the play can be executed properly.

Iowa City Scouts

In the practice scrimmage against Coach Jack Skein's university high eleven Wednesday evening the Red and White lads showed that they were a fighting bunch and could be depended upon to hold the strong Clinton aggregation. With the Skeinmen having possession of the ball on the Iowa City high one yard line and four downs to go in order to make a touchdown the Knoxmen held and made the boys from the University high give them the ball on downs. This was not the only time when the Little Hawks showed strength but it was a continuation of just this kind of a game through the whole of the scrimmage session.

The forward pass game which has been such a great factor in the local lads playing will get plenty of use Saturday and with Captain Idema heading the pigskin to either G. Mumma or B. Horrabin it is sure to function with some amount of success. The insertion of George Mumma into the line up will insure Coach Knox of a good flank man who can be depended upon to bring down some of Idema's tosses.

The line will be without the services of Sangor, who was injured in the East Des Moines game, and it will be hard for the team to come up to its usual play when it lacks the aid of the veteran. Sangor, crippled with a bad right knee, had dreams of getting into this game but with his injury still too bad to permit him to scrimmage it is very likely that he will take things easy until Iowa City meets the Grinnell eleven next week.

Clerk Issues License

County Clerk Walker J. Barrow issued a marriage license yesterday to Morris J. McKenna, legal age, of Graceville, Minn., and Helen F. Wilkinson, legal age, of Iowa City.

Iowa Grid Notes

One of the season's ambitions of Ernest Jessen, Iowa tackle from Wausesa, Minn., is to play against the men from his native state in the Hawkeye-Gopher game next week. Jessen's infected hand is practically healed and he has been working in Vincent Schleuser's place in recent scrimmages.

The Minnesota won his "T" at guard last fall and in the Minnesota contest was one of the best men in the Iowa line. In high school games, Jessen played against Herb Joesting, now the Gopher captain and all-American fullback.

Burt Ingwersen's Hawkeye eleven meets another non-conference opponent here Saturday—the Wabash team from Crawfordsville, Ind. Since Ingwersen became head coach at Iowa in 1924, his teams have won ten of eleven games from non-conference teams, Southern California administered the sole defeat in that torrid game at Los Angeles two years ago. Victims have been Colorado Teachers, Southeast Teachers, (Okla.); North Dakota, Butler (Ind.), Wabash (Ind.), Carroll, (Wis.), Lawrence, (Wis.), Arkansas, St. Louis, (Mo.), and Monmouth (Ill.) Iowa's total points are 276; opponents, 43.

Tickets for the Illinois homecoming game at the University of Iowa are going fast, says K. E. Griffin, manager of ticket sales. The Ingwersen-Zuppke feud will be resumed on Iowa field November 5.

When Don Smith, the halfback who has gained the most ground for the Iowa team this fall, was a sophomore, he could not learn to drive forward even when impeded by tackler's arms. He did not shake off the fault as a junior. But now, in his final year, he twists and side-steps until the referee's whistle ends the play.

A stocky South Dakotan, Travis Bunn, will gain ground against Big Ten teams which Iowa plays this fall if he continues his present improvement. He won a minor letter last fall. A low runner, he does not forget that the easiest place to travel is through the holes opened by his forwards.

Lloyd Grimm, Wapello end on the Hawkeye squad, saw most of the Ohio State game from the side-lines, eclipsed by Oakley Carlsen of Clinton. He has a minor letter and will probably start the Wabash game since his rival is resting a bad arm. Grimm has a year of experience in Big Ten competition to his credit and will be hard to keep out of the remaining big games.

The forward passes of Paul Armil, Davenport athlete on the Iowa team, are straight ones which leave his hand with the boring motion of a rifle bullet. He rivals Bill Glassgow, Shennandoah, as the best passers on the squad.

Sanford Reaches Sioux City

U. High Hill and Dale Men Work Daily on Course

The members of University high cross country squad under coach M. F. Carpenter are going through their strides over the university course in spite of cold blasts. The men are preparing to meet either Washington high of Cedar Rapids or Dubuque high tomorrow on one of the latter home course.

The seven barriers have one victory to their credit in the defeat of Dubuque high last week. They are running the three miles in a little over 21 minutes.

Coach Carpenter is planning on entering his team in the University of Iowa high school meet which is to be held October 29. The squad is composed of: Captain Charles Van Epps, William Cozine, Herbert Dill, Homer Dill, Charles Stemmans, John Wilson, and Gerald Young.

Hawkeyes Open Against Gophers

The Iowa barriers were given a strenuous workout yesterday by Coach George T. Bresnahan. Spurred on by a chilled northwest breeze the hill and dale men finished a three and a half mile run in fine shape.

With the first cross-country dual meet only eight days away Coach Bresnahan is giving his men heavy workouts daily and watching all as plants closely. Since Minnesota is facing the problem of building up a comparatively new machine around one veteran, Iowa's material is likely to produce a team capable of giving the Gophers too much competition on Oct. 22, the day of the meet.

Coach Bresnahan has appointed F. B. Dopping, A3 of Waukon and B. E. Derry, A3 of Davenport to take charge of the speed drill. These two men have been showing up so well that either one of them may possibly be an entrant in the coming meet. Their leadership is expected to stimulate the development of speed.

Four men have recently started drill with the squad. J. H. Hoizworth, A1 of Harper; G. A. Roddy, S1 of Keokuk; G. Gress, A1 of Oak Park, Ill.; and Morton Weld, A2 of Marshalltown.

Byron H. Turner of Anita has been elected captain of the University of Iowa freshman cross country team for the first meet with the varsity reserves Oct. 22. The yearling squad will choose a new leader for each meet this fall.

Steel and Motors Lead Stock List in Rise of Prices

NEW YORK, Oct. 13, (P)—The stock market, after an early period of hesitancy, moved upward today under the leadership of General Motors and U. S. Steel. The rise was influenced largely by expectations of a sharp decrease in brokers' loans which were not fulfilled, however, as the Federal Reserve figures published after the close of the market showed a drop of only $945,000, and by reports that William C. Durant, well-known market operator, was again active on the upside. Call money held steady at 4 per cent. The day's business news was rather mixed in character. Directors of the Pullman company placed the new stock on a $4 annual basis, equivalent to $10 on the old issue, which paid $8 annually, and special dividend distributions also were made on National Candy and Pepsodylactic Brush. Relatively poor third quarter earnings were reported by the Eaton Axle and Gabriel Snubber companies. General Motors reported September sales of cars by dealers to consumers were 132,596 cars, as against 118,224 in September, 1926, and 158,619 in August of this year.

Short Covering Seen
Short covering operations were reported to have played a big part in the rise of nearly four points in U. S. Steel common, buying of which was influenced to some extent by the belief that the steel industry will experience marked improvement when the new Ford car gets into big production. General Motors, which is believed to have profited most by the suspension of Ford operations, advanced 2 1/2 points to 133, closing just below the top.

American Machine & Foundry, buying of which was based on the reported discovery of a new metalurgical process by the company, was the individual feature, soaring 2 1/2 points to a new record high at 149, or more than double the year's low.

Some mercantile stocks also recorded sharp gains, particularly Abraham & Straus, which soared nearly 15 points to a new high at 107, closing at 105, and R. H. Macy & Co., which jumped nearly eight points to a new peak at 215 1/2.

A number of specialties rose to new high records. The list includes American Home Products, American Sumatra Tobacco company and preferred, International Paper, Coty, Hollander & Sons, Rossia Insurance, and Radio Corporation, the demand for the last named being stimulated by unconfirmed reports that 1927 earnings may exceed $7 a share. On the other hand, Sinclair, Tidewater, Cuba Cane Sugar preferred, Butterfield company and U. S. Hoffman Machinery sank to new 1927 lows.

Foreign Interest Divided
Rafts advanced with the industrials although the gains were much smaller. Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, seldom traded in, jumped nine points on a few sales, but most of the others moved up only a point or so.

Speculative interest in the foreign exchange market was divided between the advance in Dutch guilders to new high around 40.15 cents in response to the raising of the Bank of Netherlands re-discount rate from 3 1/2 to 4 per cent, and the weakness of Spanish pesetas, which broke twenty points to around 17.32 cents. Sterling and franc exchange was slightly easier.

Winnipeg Reports Cause Prices of Wheat to Advance

CHICAGO, Oct. 13, (P)—With top grade of wheat scarce at Winnipeg, and reports that most wheat arriving there is of tough quality, wheat prices here advanced today. Export business totalling about 1,000,000 bushels chiefly of United States spring wheat, was noted.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm, 2 to 3c net higher; corn finished 1 1/2 to 1 3/4c down; oats 1/2 to 3/4c off, and provisions varying from 1/8c decline to a rise of 1/2c.

At first wheat advanced lower, chiefly as a result of advice that the weather in Canada was better for threshing, and that larger supplies of wheat from farms were looked for. Word of copious rains in Argentina tended also to favor the bear side. On the other hand, further reduction of estimates of yield in Australia appeared probable. Moreover, the fact developed that Canadian farmers had marketed only 1,573,000 bushels of wheat yesterday, compared with 4,052,000 bushels a year ago.

Premium obtainable today for delivery helped give strength to red winter wheat in Chicago, a full cent higher at 7 1/2c over December the wheat market as a whole in the late dealings. Casualty was current, too, that the major part of the Canadian crop will grade No. 3 or under, and that No. 3 is more or less of a drug on the market at present.

All deliveries of corn touched a new low-price record for the season. Bearish crop reports, especially from Iowa, attracted notice, weather conditions were favorable, and a government forecast said cattle feeding this winter is expected to be considerably less than last winter in the corn belt and in western states as well.

Oats averaged lower, sympathizing with corn. Most of the provision list was higher, owing to an advance.

Millions in New Offers Fail to Shake Bond Mart

NEW YORK, Oct. 13, (P)—Although the market for listed bonds met the competition of nearly $125,000,000 in new offerings today, prices continued to hold firm. Syndicates handling two major issues of foreign bonds, $30,000,000 State of Prussia 6's and $41,000,000 United States of Brazil 6 1/2's, reported prompt over-subscription, which was regarded in many circles as an added indication that the present period of easy money is not yet nearing its end.

News from Warsaw that the long expected loan to Poland had at last been arranged attracted considerable attention in bond quarters, and the refinancing program of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company, including a $60,000,000 issue of 5 per cent bonds, received its share of attention. Flotation of these securities, as well as a loan of $40,000,000 or more to the Rentenbank is expected some time next week.

Foreign obligations were irregular, Polish 8's moving up sharply, while several Italian and German bonds were easy on profit-taking. Brazilian 6 1/2's lost a point.

Rails and utilities continued to lead the domestic groups. New Jersey Central 5's and Pennsylvania 4 1/2's reached new peaks. Telephone issues were again in demand. Establishment of a new peak by General Motors acceptance 6's featured the industrial group. Loew 6's with warrants, gained more than 3 points to 106, but later lost half their gain.

Second Liberty 4 1/2's continued to rise and sold only a shade over par, duplicating their previous low for the year. Most of the federal government securities, however, were firm.

MEXICAN FIRING SQUAD AWAITING ORDER TO KILL

Remarkable photo of Mexican squad lined up and ready to fire, snapped just a moment before execution of General Alfredo Ruedo Quijano, commander of 26th Regiment (inset). Quijano, shown standing against wall and awaiting lethal death, presents striking picture—one of the rarest ever made. Execution took place outside Mexico City on October 6. Quijano went to death bravely and calmly, close-up being taken as he bade goodbye to his friends five minutes before falling with volley of bullets in him.

Men Toss Hats in Ring for Speaker

Johnson, Wolfe Seek 1928 Leadership of Assembly

DES MOINES, Oct. 13 (P)—Although the next regular session of the Iowa general assembly is more than a year distant, the matter of the speakership of the Iowa house of representatives is being discussed in many parts of the state.

The principal activity in this line is by house advocates of further extension of hard roads legislation and those who favor a state bond issue for paving primary roads. Proponents of such legislation already are rallying to the standard of Rep. J. H. Johnson of Marion county, who was house floor leader for the primary road control bill in the forty-second general assembly.

Johnson Candidate for Position

Mr. Johnson, who was a business visitor at the state house recently, declared he was an active candidate for the post and that the matter of his candidacy had already been the subject of an informal poll of house members. He would not discuss the result of this poll other than to state that the prospects were encouraging.

Carrier Present Speaker

Rep. J. H. Johnson and Rep. Theodore Martin are expected to lay claim to conservative support in the house in a speakership contest, while

Dakota Governor Gives Farm Talk

Bulow Asks Equality for Agriculture, Big Business

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 13 (P)—All the relief the farmer needs is a square deal and if the policy of our government will tolerate and adopt the constitutional pronouncement of equal rights for all and special rights to none, the farmer will need no further relief, Gov. William J. Bulow, South Dakota, told the Wisconsin farm congress today.

"The trouble with this nation so far as agriculture is concerned, is that big business is in the saddle and riding rough-shod," said the democratic governor of South Dakota.

Addressing the two day congress called by Governor Fred Zimmerman to discuss the problems of the farmer and suggest remedies, Governor Bulow reiterated his statement concerning the tariff made before an audience including President Coolidge some months ago.

"The value of farm products, he asserted, is fixed by a world market but he buys in a market where the prices are artificially fixed by reason of tariff legislation.

"If you want to put the wheat grower and the shoemaker on an equal basis, tear down the tariff wall and give them both the equal benefits of the world market," he said. "If the tariff wall is to be maintained, in my judgment, there is just one thing for the wheat grower to do—follow the example of the shoemaker, organize through, limit production and fix his price.

"I firmly believe tariff legislation is changed so that agriculture is not discriminated against, the only way that the farmer is going to get any relief is to federate the people of the agriculture producing states along lines similar to the various labor organizations in this country."

U High Meets Marengo Eleven in Today's Tilt

Skein's Footballers Display Scruppy Opposition

When Coach Jack Skein and his eleven gridiron warriors invade Marengo this afternoon to battle with the Marengo high school aggregation a thoroughly well seasoned team will take the field against the University high squad. The Marengo team, with scalps of four 1927 opponents already on their belt, is composed of several veterans who completed the 1926 slate without a defeat.

Coach Skein, however, is not so pessimistic as he was the fore part of the week as his team is again looking "fair if none too good." Emphasis on off-tackle plays and end runs as well as a pass attack has occupied the major moments of the U High mentor.

The team showed up well in scrimmage against Iowa City high on Wednesday afternoon scoring two touchdowns against the Little Hawk team. "The men display a good scrappy spirit," declared Coach Skein, "but the thing that they need most of all is experience."

Stover Injured

John Stover, regular tackle, is still suffering from an injured wrist received in the West Liberty tilt of two weeks ago but will be in the lineup when the starting whistle blows. Captain Virgil Bowers is also on the disabled list with a turned ankle but will start the game at his wing position.

Three substitutes are making a steady bid for first team berths and are driving the veterans hard. Ed Meyers, diminutive sub quarter; Harry Evans, fullback, and Walter Johnson, left end are making serious attempts for first team positions. Meyers made the only touchdown against West Liberty.

Only two contests after this one face the Skeinmen. Mt. Vernon will play here on October 21, and Grant

Tennis Tourney Begins Monday

Play in the women's fall tennis tournament will begin Monday, according to Ruth Kenefick, A2 of Eagle Grove, who has charge of tennis on the W. A. A. board. Women who wish to enter the tournament should sign up today on the bulletin board at the women's gymnasium.

The tournament will be played off homecoming morning. Miss Kenefick is the defending champion.

Sixteen women have already entered the singles competition and eight have entered the doubles. It has been decided to have a faculty and graduate section also, and entries for this are now being made.

Postal Inspectors Nab Land Thieves

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 13 (AP)—Investigation into what postal inspectors assert is one of the biggest land fraud cases in history extended to Minneapolis, Denver and Kansas City this afternoon and included inquiry into activities of suspects in alleged arson, bank wrecking and "wild horse" selling schemes of the past.

Chief Postal Inspector Coble, commenting upon the arrest Monday of five men, all Nebraskans, said they were the "small fry" in the case. The "higher ups," numbering about sixty are expected to be arrested as the inquiry develops, he added. The chief of the alleged land fraud ring, Coble said, is a nationally known politician.

Postal Inspectors Nab Land Thieves

Mr. Coble and Eugene Konecky, special officer credited with gaining knowledge which started the investigation, centered their efforts today upon the identity of two typewriters, one of which was found in an automobile at Ogallala when four of the five were arrested.

This machine, Coble believes, was used in typing out fake abstracts of title, and deeds. The other, he said, is also owned by one of the ring and was probably used for the same purpose.

OUR CROW

By PETE and JAWN

Howdy, friends and enemies. We're glad to see Ruth Elder made the flight. Congratulations, Ruthie. She's got real spunk, eh?

"Real Tough Stuff"

We read a press dispatch from Columbus, O., that said the "most hard boiled" football player on Ohio State's squad fainted from the sight of blood on his foot. Tuesday night. The kid we don't know who it was, because it didn't mention any name, was paring a corn. He pared to deep and the blood came. Exit the grid star. "Blood always does" that way," the griddle told "Doc" Duffee, team physician, after he was revived.

The player, it was said, has earned a reputation of being the "toughest" member of the squad, and has caused the team several penalties for rough playing.

Students Frown on Strict Examinations

MT. VERNON, Oct. 13—Favoring the honor system in examinations, many of the Cornell students are protesting the policed tests in their class rooms. They have voiced the suggestions that most of examination cheating is committed under the policed system.

Questionnaires filled out by 400 students for the ethics project group of the Cornell Christian association last spring, now tabulated, show that 288 students favored the examinations in which they are placed on their honor.

Just think, 435 years ago Wednesday, Christopher Columbus crossed the Atlantic ocean in a frail "tug" and discovered America. And just yesterday Ruth Elder crossed the Atlantic ocean from New York to Paris by an air route. "What a Whirl of a Difference A Few Years Will Make."

We read an article in an exchange yesterday that said Knute Rockne has an end he calls "Appendix" because someone is always taking him out.

One of the promising Olympic track stars says he may not participate in next year's games. He does not choose to run in 1928.

We were talking to the office stenog yesterday about the public golf course in Dubuque, which is called "Bunker Hill." Now she thinks the battle of Bunker Hill was a golf tournament. Quick Watson, the needle.

Headline in one of the exchange papers: "American Star Swimmers To Race at Bermuda." Probably just to show that they know their onions.

Which reminds us that 340 men ran in the interfraternity run yesterday afternoon. Its sure too bad for all of these pledges who must weather the cold and run nine-tenths of a mile.

Some started out with cigarettes in their mouth, others with topcoats on, and still others with hands joined. Do you know when they finished? Your right.

After some two hundred men had finished a pledge of one of the leading fraternities came in. His athletic manager seeing him stagger across the finish line hollered, "Are you here already." The poor pledge said "no," which remark caused the official to tell him to be sure to have plenty of cushions with him when the next pledge meeting comes around.

Inventor Visions New Air Flivver

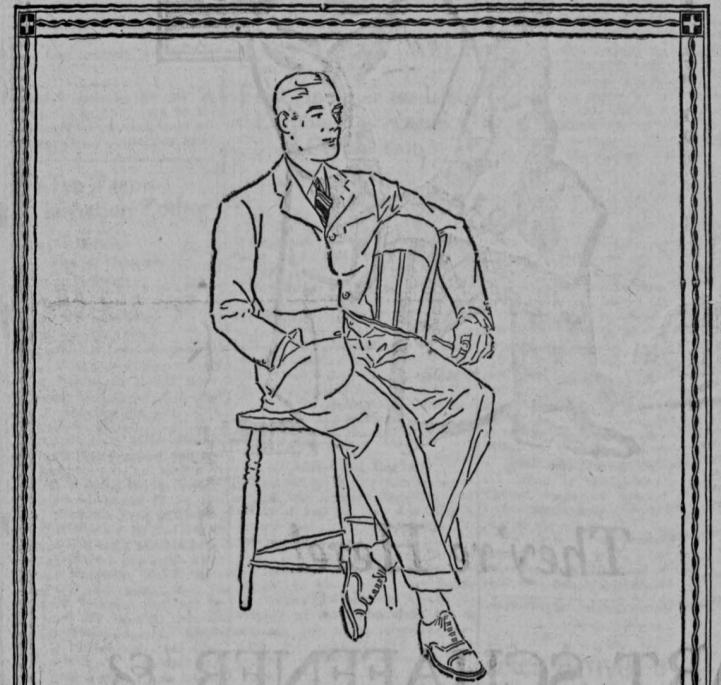

COCOA, Fla., Oct. 12 (AP)—Birds that soar in endless space and planes that have conquered the ocean may find an air rival in the ornithopter which George R. White is attempting to perfect.

On an isolated section of the Atlantic beach, White has been secretly testing his wing-flapping flying machine, which resembles a giant white crane, and witnesses support his assertion that it has been flown in short hops.

While disclaiming perfection for the ornithopter yet, White believes such machines eventually will be used as the most economical and practical method of short aerial travel. The present experimental model, he says, could be marketed profitably at $300.

The outstanding feature of the machine is the design, the principles of which follow to a great extent the wings of a feathered flier. The motive power is supplied with hands or legs, demanding minimum exertion, he explains, and no motor is used. He believes successful flights now depend almost solely upon his ability to control the machine.

McGuire Speaks Before Rotarians

Boy Scout Executive Tells of Work of Organization

"The Boy Scouts of today are the Rotarians of the future," asserted Paul R. McGuire, scout executive, in his speech to the members of the Rotary club yesterday noon. Mr. McGuire urged the club to help the Boy Scouts and told them something of the good accomplished by them in a community.

"One had come to me," said Mr. McGuire, "and said, 'Gee, I was sure a tough nut before I joined the scout's.'" In Mr. McGuire's opinion, the statement of that boy is sufficient reason for having a boy scout organization.

Mr. McGuire also told how 4,000 Boy Scouts helped in the first aid work after the recent tornado at St. Louis.

Two members of the Iowa City scouts, Joseph Doran and Dwight Hughes, also spoke. Joe told of his desire to be a scout and how it had helped him. Dwight gave a short talk on "Scout Habits."

Paul E. Belting, director of athletics in the university, also addressed the club on the subject of international peace—the sixth object of Rotary. Mr. Belting explained the attitude of Rotary in regard to international peace, and how the members could help attain it.

All members were urged to attend the luncheon next Thursday, Oct. 20, at which the members of the Mount Vernon-Lisbon club will be entertained.

The following guests were present: Paul S. Doyle of Chicago, guest of W. J. Harter; the Rev. Guy Findley, guest of L. R. Spencer; Robert Whites of Los Angeles, guest of Dr. W. R. Whittels; Joe Faasen, of Clarinda, guest of E. H. Lauer; Prof. W. F. Root, of the university history department, guest of Dean Paul Packer.

Freshman Laws Begin Club Work

The first year law clubs are now being formed according to reports from the office of Dean Henry Craig, of the college of law. These clubs are made up of students who argue cases on statements of fact presented by judges who preside over the oral arguments.

The organizations are petitioned for by first year laws, and at the present time practically all students have signed for membership.

There are ten clubs formed with approximately eight members in each. The groups are named after men who were prominent in the founding, and in the early activities of the present college of law. These men include Judges Austin Adams, Joseph M. Beck, Horace Deemer, John F. Dillon, James M. Love, Emlyn McClain, Samuel Miller, Silas Weaver, George G. Wright, and Chancellor William Gardner Hammond.

Under the present plans there will be three second year men who will operate the law clubs. One senior is assigned to each club who will assist the students in preparing their briefs.

This is the third year that the clubs have been organized. To students in the college of law they have proved very helpful. The trials are divided into different meetings. The preliminaries will be held some time before Christmas. Out of these come the semi-final arguments, and then the final arguments. The finals are usually held in Old Capitol and are presided over by Iowa supreme court justices who render the final decision.

Board Asks for Building Permit

Dr. Albright Petitions City Council for School Site

Tentative plans have been made for a new grade school to be erected on West Benton street on the old Hunter property, and application for a building permit was filed yesterday with C. A. Kutcher, city inspector.
