Market and Financial News

Lack Uniformity in Stocks; Bears "on" U. S. Steel

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—A lack of uniformity marked price movements in the stock market here today, after the stimulation inspired by the record-breaking earnings report of the General Motors corporation had run its course. Quotations on many issues which had moved up briskly in the morning, turned downward when profit-taking developed in various groups, and bear pressure against U. S. Steel.

Greene Cananea Copper, Houston Oil, and other speculative features, hastened the reactionary movement. Renewed buying toward the end of the session brought about some late rallies, but nevertheless a number of leading issues closed with net losses of one to three points or more.

New developments were of mixed character, the most significant being General Motor's big increase and U. S. Steel's moderately large loss in third-quarter earnings. The steel trade reviews were a little more optimistic in tone than in recent weeks, but September railway income continued to fall off from last year's figures, the first twenty-six roads to report showing a decrease of 5 1/2 per cent in operating income.

General Motors, opened about two points above yesterday's final figure, but almost immediately relinquished the initial gain. The stock closed with only a fractional net gain. U. S. Steel developed immediate heaviness, but rallied to 129, and then sank in the afternoon to close at 126 1/2, off 2 1/2.

The credit situation showed little change, call loans being plentiful all day at the renewal rate of 3 1/2 per cent.

Fluctuations in foreign exchanges were narrow, demand sterling holding steady around $4.86 9/16, and French francs close to 3.921 cents.

Condition of Easy Money Stimulates Firm Bond Prices

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—Firm prices in the bond market today were based on current easy money conditions and reluctance of holders to sell, rather than on any increase in demand. Traders continued to limit their commitments pending developments of a major character.

Meanwhile, prospective new issues continued to grow in volume. An issue of Province of Ontario 4 1/2's will be offered tomorrow by a New York syndicate, and offering is expected shortly of $30,000,000 Shell Union oil 5's. New issues already marketed this month total more than $700,000,000, some of which remains on dealers' shelves. Observers aver that the rush of new issues is beginning to draw ahead of the demand.

A mixed tone prevailed in the foreign group. French and German issues were firm, but trading was not particularly heavy.

Wheat, Corn Play Elevator; Iowa's Product Goes Down

CHICAGO, Oct. 26 (AP)—Wheat prices tended upward today, whereas corn underwent a lively tumble. Export demand for North American wheat broadened, with total purchasing figured at 1,000,000 bushels. Bearish private crop estimates on corn yield were being looked for in some quarters. Wheat closed unsettled, 1c to 1c net higher, corn 1 1/2c to 2c off, oats at 1c decline to 1c advance, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 50c.

In the corn market, March and May deliveries were heavily sold, and reached the lowest prices yet this season. Little was heard today about export demand for corn, but much about remarkably fine weather curing the crop and being likely to result in better quality.

Gilding the Lily

CONTRARY to student expectations, the improvements on the west slope of Old Capitol are to be finished before Homecoming. The project is actually to be completed a pace ahead of the millenium.

Rome was not built in a day. Let no one criticize, therefore, the length of time it has taken to build something so much more complicated than a mere Rome.

We agree that the addition of concrete abutments and limestone pillars is a vast improvement. Now Old Capitol has been jazzed into a modern building, and what is more desirable than modernity?

Iowa is to be congratulated on snapping out of the colonial touch which has made Old Capitol a nationally renowned structure. If some barn painter will live up to the coloring of Raphael's "Madonna," the world will be on the royal road to progress.

Do a Good Turn

"Do a good turn daily"—that is one of the clauses in the Boy Scout creed. When Boy Scouts from all over the state invade Iowa City next Saturday as guests of the athletic department at the Denver-Iowa football game, they will have this policy in their minds.

These scouts are future students of this university and the impressions we make will influence them. We should bear in mind that policy of the Boy Scouts and demonstrate to them that we too can do a good turn.

Many of us can remember the days we were associated with this universal group of boys. Let us go back to our Boy Scout days, join these youngsters, and revel with them.

Let us show them that we appreciate their endeavor to live up to the Boy Scout creed and do everything possible to make the visit to this great institution one never to be forgotten. We can instill in them a desire to become a member of this university through our courteous treatment.

Don't shun these lads in your haste, but forget your "high station" in life. Mingle with them and do a "good turn" by helping them in every possible way to enjoy their visit to the fullest extent.

While Thompson Fiddles

WITH gun fights and murders the presumed rule in Chicago, it would not be amiss for Mayor "Bill" Thompson, would-be fiddler while library books are burned, to turn his attention to real rather than fancied wrongs in the Windy City.

When Nero burned Rome, he was inspired by the conflagration to write bigger and better poetry to the music of the famous fiddle. "Big Bill" Thompson can not claim even this justification for his agitation against alleged pro-British books.

And then as if there were not enough litigation in Chicago courts today, David Muzzey, historian who has already weathered charges of being pro-south and what not, has instituted a $100,000 libel suit against the mayor's textbook expert, John J. Gorman, former congressman.

In the early days of Alexandria, Rome, and Byzantium, rulers could get away with destroying libraries. Today Mayor Thompson and his library commission firebrands are finding out that mayors are not rulers, and even Chicago is civilized.

Lindbergh's Return

COMPLETING a second stimulus for aviation, Lindbergh landed his plane at the New York air port this week. Officials of the Guggenheim fund, who sponsored the plan, say that the tour just completed eclipses the trans-Atlantic flight of last May.

On July 20, Lindbergh began the journey and set the date for his return to New York for Sunday, Oct. 23 at 2 p.m. Sunday at 1:59 p.m. the tour ended.

During this time "Lindy" has flown a distance of 22,350 miles and has visited eighty-three cities. Many persons thought Lindbergh lucky in his flight last May, but the methodical monotony with which he adhered to his arranged schedule is certainly indicative of the fact that it was precaution and carefulness, and not luck, which followed the "Lone Eagle."

Only one break in the entire schedule was recorded—that in Washington where fog caused Lindbergh to ignore his plans and continue his flight instead of landing at Seattle.

When questioned concerning his future, he expressed a desire for a short vacation. He spiked reports that he would enter the political field either as a candidate or as an appointee in the department of commerce.

It seems ungrateful that the United States, which gained immeasurably by the acts of Lindbergh, can not assure the flyer a position where he might be able to continue his study and experience in aviation. A non-political office in the war or navy department might be found, where the "Lone Eagle" could continue, with the world as the beneficiary.

A New Industry

IOWA CITY is to have a new industry—a powdered milk factory. The company will have a capitalization of $100,000. Outside money will be used to finance the concern and no stock will be sold in Iowa City.

While the enterprise is an entirely foreign one, it will benefit Iowa City indirectly. Johnson county with its rolling country is ideal for dairying. Much land that is not accessible to cultivation can easily be applied to grazing.

The factory will be able to take care of an enormous amount of milk per day. It will mean increased revenue for the farmer from this land that would otherwise yield comparatively little if any. The Iowa City merchant will in turn profit by a more prosperous farmer.

Then, too, Iowa City will receive a certain amount of advertising from the product that goes out from the local factory.

Proper Ventilation

MORE fresh air. That should be the slogan of the persons using the undergraduate study halls and the study hall auditorium.

These rooms are so poorly ventilated that the student cannot concentrate on his work or the lecture to which he is listening.

Not only does the foul air breed inattention but it is so conducive to slumber that the student finds himself drifting off to sleep.

Why not install a ventilating system that will keep the air fresh and pure?

If that does not succeed, why not turn the building into a rest room properly equipped with cots?

Musing on the fact that a Pullman ear has been named after Lindbergh, the Boone News-Republican is inclined to the belief that the famous aviator has achieved the final hour.

The joy of Christmas shopping will again be marred by worry over the price of the Thanksgiving turkey, says Ottinger in the Des Moines Tribune-Capital.

The Sioux City Journal comments that hairdressers continue to insist that the bob is doomed, but they haven't much proof to support the statement.

The Ottumwa Courier claims that every village has a few strong and silent men who are thinking up schemes to get the local postmaster's job.

An average man is one who thinks he is a typical American, though a little above the average, observes the Ottumwa Courier.

Hallow'en Mischief

(From The Clinton Herald)

Hallow'en, when it started way back in the midst of time, was the night when evil spirits were supposed to flock out of hiding places and roam the earth, marauding and destroying.

For many centuries we see the work of the evil spirits inherited and ably handled by Willie, Tom, Pat and the rest of the youthful "gang."

It illustrates how next to impossible it is to get a custom or superstition out of the human brain, once it gets there.

On the ancient agricultural calendar, Hallow'en was a sort of New Year's day. Harvest was over and the landlord called for his share of the crops raised by tenant farmers.

It was the custom for him to arrive late in the evening and make merry at such pastimes as cider drinking and apple bobbing. When the fun was over and the landlord got down to business, it was early morning of Nov. 1.

Probably this is why the first of the month is rent-paying day, instead of the fifteenth or any other date that would be just as logical.

Time was, when Hallow'en was less a night of devilry and more a night of hospitality, good fellowship, roaring fireplaces, good things to eat and drink, and delightful superstition such as walking down cellar stairs backward, carrying a candle and a mirror, in which "her" future husband's face might appear.

The world has not enough of hospitality and goodfellowship. Let's revive it, this Hallow'en, and make the night of witches and goblins jovial as well as prankful.

My Dear Son:
I am in Paris at present. However much the joys of foreign capitals allure me, I have a great longing to see you again. Because of business conditions, however, it does not seem likely that this shall come to pass. This revolution is less harmful than most and I desire that you will accept it, my dear Michael, as a token of regard from your affectionate parent,

End Words

The worm turns again. Here's a Detroit woman who divorced her husband for bobbing her hair. Nothing unusual in that, you say? The man was drunk. Nothing unusual in that either? Then how did it get in a newspaper, we ask. For you must know, American boobery, that the press prints nothing BUT the unusual. The editors say, "If a dog bites a man, that's not news. But if a man bites a dog, that is." And if you're afflicted with the Einstein urge you understand the relativity between dogs and bobbed hair. For what dog likes to have its hair bobbed without its permission? Morally, it's a question of ethics. But legally, it's a matter of scissors. The attorneys for the defense might argue that the scissors were dull—but then, possibly, so was the husband. Hence, the divorce. Decision for the dog.

A Review of "The Poor Nut"

By THEODORE F. KOOP

A presentation by university students of a comedy of college life is an interesting dramatic experiment, but grave dangers attend. With a theme full of satire on fraternities, athletics, faculty members, and the much talked of "standardized" students, it is difficult not to present an artificial scene. The actors might easily tend to make their roles seem more convincing by overplaying.

This was not the case, however, in "The Poor Nut," the second performance of which was given by the university theatre last night. On the contrary, fairly typical collegiate atmosphere was maintained to a high degree.

To Miss Helen Langworthy, director of the production, should go a special star in her crown for the superb manner in which the "mob" scene at the track meet was handled. Never has so large a group of extras in the university possessed the concerted, yet individual enthusiasm found here. They made the race really exciting through the voluble cheering and shifting attention point. Well timed, their actions left the impression of a much larger crowd.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor: It is quite interesting to note how soon the shop worn phrases "pacifist" comes to light when any one starts a program leading toward peace.

In the article on the R. O. T. C. reprinted from the Council Bluffs Nonpareil, Washington's statement that "preparedness is the best way to have peace" was used to prove the shallowness of Iowa youth. We might ask then why there have been so many wars since Washington's day. Such a statement might have fitted this country when it was an isolated country, but will hardly work today.

I believe we "pacifists" have about as much mentality as the editor who calls us "nincompoops" and other like names just because we differ from his opinion. One thing we were supposed to be taught in the grade school was to respect the other fellow's opinion even if we did not agree.

It'll be for compulsory military training when it is proved that preparedness has put an end to war. It never has. Now let's give friendliness a chance—spend as much on friendliness as we do on a steep battleship and watch the results.

Becky

A Serial of the Price of Glory
by RAYNOR SELIG

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR

Becky McCloskey, young and goodlooking, trying to make her way alone in New York, meets Dan Scarlett who lives by his wits. He makes love to her, but discovers she has ideals of her own. She sings for him and he realizes she has a beautiful voice and offers to finance her for a share in her profits. Becky has made an ideal of John Estabrook, a very rich young man of high social standing. Through Scarlett's influence she joins a Broadway chorus. He persuades her for not picking out a millionaire admirer and getting what she can out of him. At a studio party given by Boris Abelard, a close friend of Estabrook's, Becky is thrown into a fountain with her clothes on. She faints, and Abelard angrily sends his guests away and has her taken care of. Months afterward Becky meets Estabrook in the studio. She interests him and he kisses her. She stands dazed and tells him she expected him to be different. He apologizes. Estabrook hears her sing, tells her she has a wonderful voice, takes her to her shabby little room in his car and tells her he loves her. Becky shows she is in love with him. Scarlett urges her to get what she can out of Estabrook and not to delude herself with any idea that Estabrook will marry her. Becky greatly worried, confesses to Abelard, who has proven a devoted friend, that she loves Estabrook. Abelard realizing the social chasm between them tells her she must be mad. Later Estabrook tells Boris he is fond of Becky and Boris urges him to treat her gently. Scarlett casting in on a shady deal leaves town, but is kept informed of Becky's activities by a woman friend. Estabrook takes Becky to his home. She meets Nan, his sister, loved by Lord Travers, a young Englishman. The girls agree to be friends; the next day they meet by an accident, go to tea and Scarlett walks in and forces an introduction. Nan is fascinated by him. He takes her home and Becky meets with an accident which lays her up for ten days.

Violet whispered mysteriously. "I fixed it so we can stay. Its got to be private."

CHAPTER XXII

Becky did her best on the night of her return to the Revue, but while she skipped, kicked, and trilled out the luscious words of "She May be Mamma to Papa, But She'll Always be Baby to Me," a sharp sense of oppressive premonition weighed on her mind. She chose to lay it to weariness; her leg still ached intolerably, and she was relieved almost to the point of tears when the curtain fell for the last time and the shuffle of feet toward the exits was drowned by the rush backstage. The doctor's orders were to return to bed immediately after the show, and as Estabrook was busy displaying the charms of Broadway after dark to the visiting Lord Travers, she was hurrying out alone when someone caught hold of her arm. She turned impatiently to face Violet Vincent, her blonde hair tucked carelessly under a new straw hat of glistening jade green, her face so pale that the rouge on her cheeks stood out in brilliant daubs of orange. "What's matter?" Becky asked rather sulkily, for her old antagonism still persisted. "D'you want me?" "Yes I do," Violet replied. "I want to talk to you, Dolling. I've been trying to catch your eye all evening."

"Well, I guess your troubles will keep till tomorrow. I'm tired than a six day bicycle racer." "It's not my troubles," Violet said in a low, shaken voice, as she care-

Violet caught Becky's arm, and Becky, looking down, caught a glimpse of something like desperation in the girl's eyes. Abruptly her dislike gave way to an unwilling pity, and she said with a shrug: "All right, what is it?" The dressing room was almost empty, but Violet whispered mysteriously: "Not yet. I fixed it with the night man to let us stay for an hour after the place is cleared. It's got to be private."

Becky stared at her. "Haven't been drinking, have you dearie? This all sounds co-coo to me." But the lightness had gone out of her words; her premonitions had returned with a rush. The two women were silent, then, until Violet had completed her toilette. By that time the dressing room was deserted and Violet, having looked in the wings outside to make sure that they were alone, flung herself back into a chair and began with an air of great self-consciousness: "Becky, I know you never liked me, and I never wasted much love for you, either. But you'll have to admit that I warned you long ago to lay off this fellow Estabrook."

Becky, indignantly—"You mind your own business. What do you know about John Estabrook?" "Plenty," returned Violet in a shaken voice. "And plenty more about Dan Scarlett and Estabrook's sister." Becky dropped back into her chair, gasping, "Oh for heaven's sake, what's happened?" "Enough and more. Listen, Becky McCloskey, I never double-crossed any one in my life, believe it or not. But I'm fed up now. I've done Dan Scarlett's dirty work for too long. And now to be given the air for a pink faced nunny . . . it's too much, that's what it is . . . too damned much."

Becky rubbed the back of her hand across lips that were oddly dry. But—"I can't believe it, even of him," she protested. "What do you mean, you did plenty?" Again Violet cautiously looked about. "Remember when our own little star got beat up and robbed?" she asked, burning her bridges at last. Becky nodded dumbly. "Well, remember this guy Hildebrand, club-man, etcetera, and friend of your boy friend Estabrook, who got raked over the coals?" Again Becky nodded. (To be continued tomorrow)

Hawkeyes Work Against Denver Plays in Final Scrimmage

Records Fall as 25 Schools Enter Hill and Dale Run

University Host to 154 Prep Runners Here Saturday

With twenty-five schools and 154 athletes from three states already listed, all records for entries in the annual University of Iowa intercollegiate cross country run have been shattered, says Coach G. T. Bresnahan.

The youthful harriers will decide team and individual titles on the Hawkeye course Saturday morning. It is the sixth time the affair has been held.

Wisconsin is represented in the run for the first time with East Division high school of Milwaukee sending five men. Decatur is the Illinois entry.

The team championship won last fall will be defended by three runners from Fort Madison. Curtis, the star, was a member of the team which took the title last fall and which tied for honors with Dubuque in 1925. Dubuque has entered five men this year.

When nineteen schools sent 110 men to the meet last fall, the record, broken this year, was set.

Schools on the list, together with the number of men each has named are: Birmingham, 5; Burlington, 4; Dussart, 5; Decatur, Ill., 7; Dubuque, 5; Elkport, 2; Fort Madison, 3; Geneseo Consolidated (Buckingham), 6; Harvey, 3; Hillsboro, 4; Iowa City, 7; Kalona, 11; Kenwood Park, 6; Keokuk, 6; Knoxville, 3; Maquoketa, 6; East Division high school, Milwaukee, Wis., 5; Mount Union, 6; Ottumwa, 8; Seymour, 1; University High, 8; West Waterloo, 5; East Waterloo, 5; Webster, 1 and Washington, Cedar Rapids, 12.

The University of North Carolina is beginning its second year of an unlimited cut system. The faculty consider the system a success, and the record of grades shows the standing of students to be as high as in previous years and in some cases higher.

Pi Epsilon Pi to Rehearse Stunts for Homecoming

"Each one of the fifty men who are to form the nucleus of the cheering section on Homecoming, must be at Iowa field at 4:10 this afternoon," says Frederic A. Schneller, 33 of Mason City, president of Pi Epsilon Pi, national pep fraternity.

"Reserved seats will be given out at this time and everyone will be given his place in the block I to be formed at the half. Instructions as to the white outfits and special stunts will be announced at this time. This will be the only chance to secure these seats."

W. Johnson Signs As Newark Prexy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—Walter Johnson tonight signed the Newark club of the International league. Walter, veteran of the Washington Senators, who has been given his release at his own request, signed the contract shortly after he had announced in a radio talk that he was about ready to accept a post in the minor circuit.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—Walter Johnson, veteran Washington pitcher, announced over the radio tonight that he had "about decided to accept a managership in the International league," and that he was looking forward with pleasure to his new venture in the minor league.

While he did not mention any particular club in the league, Johnson, who has been given his unconditional release from the Senators, is believed to have decided to accept a contract offered him here yesterday by Paul Block, owner of the Newark team of the International league.

"I expect to stay in baseball," Johnson said. "I don't believe I could quit if I wanted to. My greatest regret, however, will be that I will have to leave Washington."

Ingwersen Sticks to New Line and Back Combine

Porter, Johnstone Are Probable Starters in Saturday's Tilt

Final hard kicks in preparation for the intersectional tilt with Denver were put in by the University of Iowa football squad yesterday as Coach Burton A. Ingwersen sent his charges through a long and hard scrimmage with the freshman eleven. The varsity was drilled mostly on defense against the freshmen who executed Denver plays brought back by Hawkeye scouts, but they also had an opportunity to show their offensive skill.

Coach Ingwersen continued to use a revamped lineup. Chatterton and Brown alternated at center while Grimm and Johnstone, a sophomore from Boone, were at the flank positions. Porter was again given the call over Schmidt at halfback while Lauer called signals the entire scrimmage.

Porter, Johnstone Look Good
Porter and Johnstone did exceptionally well against the frosh and it is probably that Coach Ingwersen will start them against Denver. Grimm will probably be used at the other end in place of Carlson for the former halfback has displayed good form in recent workouts.

Fearing the Denver passing attack which is heralded as the best one on the eastern slope of the Rockies, the Hawkeye mentors confined much of their attention to the Old Gold aerial defense. And if Denver does not have any more success with their passes than the yearlings did, the aerial game is not going to play a very prominent role in Saturday's encounter.

The varsity also looked good on offense. The chances made in the backfield seem to have given the team added pep and speed as Porter and Lauer are two of the fastest men on the squad. Porter is almost as good as Cuhel when it comes to running and he is fast at acquiring the habit of warding off would-be tacklers. His work this week stamps him as a coming star.

Bunn to Play
Travis Bunn, sometimes known as "Bullet" because of his hard hitting line tactics displayed his usual good form in the practice session. Bunn is sure to get a chance against the Colorado aggregation for his work this week has been first class. Bunn is built close to the ground and has more drive in his legs than any other backfield man on the squad.

Coach Ingwersen is also experimenting a great deal with the guard positions. Westra was out for practice yesterday after a short illness, but did not get into the scrimmage; Myers and Yegge getting the call. Myers is new at the job but shows promise of developing. Yegge, however, will probably get the call against Denver unless Westra gets back into condition.

"Blackie" O'Neal, regular quarterback was not out yesterday because of illness but will be in condition for the Denver fray. It is possible that Ike Skelley, regular signal barker last season, will get a chance against the Pioneers for he has seen considerable action this week and although he is still ten pounds underweight he has shown his old ability at open field running.

So few have been converts to the University of Wisconsin R. O. T. C. since the state legislature made military training optional, that the war department, in the interest of economy, has abolished the artillery unit.

Sororities at Northwestern university are stationing at least one woman to stand guard in the house during football games, that the robberies which occurred last Saturday might be prevented.

Michigan-Illinois Game Figures as "Aviation Battle"

CHICAGO, Oct. 26 (AP)—It looks as if the "Illini" will be deluged with footballs Saturday, when Illinois meets Michigan in their annual Big Ten classic.

Everyone knows the Wolverine eleven is being drilled in either kicking or passing the pigskin. Tonight the mentors had Oosterbaan, Miller and Rich punting while Gilbert and Geister worked long at place kicks. Those not kicking, were drilled at passing and breaking up passes, eyeing the "Illini's" short air attack.

The "Illini" were losing no time in preparing for the invasion, with Coach Zuppke spending his session drilling on his pet plays. The Minnesota-Wisconsin struggle has become a serious proposition for both elevens. The Badgers being determined that the Gophers won't find them as easy as they found Iowa last week. Coach Spears, however, has unfurled a bag of tricks in his campaign for another Big Ten victory, and is developing a series of new plays in hopes of surprising the Badgers.

The clash between Ohio State and Chicago, is developing into an important contest, with Ohio grimly preparing to avenge its two previous Big Ten defeats, while the Maroons seek to maintain their string of victories.

Purple, in preparation for the onslaught of Montana State, is brushing up on the fundamentals while Coach Phelan seeks to rebuild his line.

Indiana is all set to leave for its big intersectional battle with Harvard and goes east with high hopes of handling the "Big Three" entry its second Big Ten defeat of the current season.

The game between Northwestern and Missouri is looked upon as another ditch to gap as both teams prepare for duty. Hard practice has been the program all this week.

The visit of Denver to Iowa Saturday has the Hawkeyes somewhat up in the air over just what to expect, so Coach Ingwersen is preparing for anything or everything.

Skein Says Team Has Even Chance With W. Branch

Blue and White Coach Develops Defense for Passes

University high football team will invade West Branch Friday afternoon to grapple with the West Branch aggregation in the fourth game of the season on the Blue and White calendar. "An even chance," said Coach Jack Skein. "I am sending a better team out every time. Experience has been doing some good teaching."

Although the Skeinmen are still smarting from the 12-0 lashing handed them with the help of football "breaks" by Mount Vernon last Friday, the team spirit has gained a great deal. Along with the scrap that the men are willingly showing the experience which a comparatively green team has annexed is going to give West Branch no end of trouble.

Devotes Time to Passes
A defense for passes has taken up the greater share of the U. high mentor's time, although plenty of time has been put in on a forward pass system which will aid in the offense. The center of the line has strengthened noticeably and will have even a better chance to hold up against a line offense.

Skein is satisfied with his defense as in previous encounters opponents have made little gain via the center route. Ivan Blackmore, rangy end, shifts to defensive full, John Stover, and Dean Jones plays the guard positions on defense and Leo Stinacker holds down the pivot on offense.

Kay, Dennis Fast
Stover is the heaviest man on the squad, tipping the scales at 175. Jones is a six footer and is a bulwark on defense. Captain Virgil Bowers at right end is showing up the best that he has thus far this season while Ernest Ford, tackle, is coming back after his slump in the last contest.

In the backfield, Kay and Dennis,

Hunn Cops First as Harriers Get Hard Time Trial

Moulton, Brady Tie for Second; Next Dual Illinois

Running over the university three mile course, Leonard E. Hunn, captain of the Iowa cross country team, led his mates to the finish line in yesterday's time trials for the three miles. Captain Hunn's time was 16:10.

Close behind Hunn, Moulton and Brady finished in a tie for second, with Coffie coming in fourth. The rest of the harriers finished in the order named: McCammon, Wagner, Depping, Hakes, Claassen, and Welter.

At the two mile mark Hunn, Brady, and Moulton were running together, negotiating the first two miles in 10:19. But Captain Hunn soon forged to the front and finished several yards in advance of his mates.

Some of the freshmen hill and dale men, although given a slight start on the varsity, finished right in with them.

Tomorrow afternoon the varsity harriers will be given a time trial over the four mile course to be used in the dual with the Illinois cross country team, when it comes to Iowa City as a part of the Homecoming program. From this race, it can be learned what to expect of the Hawkeyes against the strong Illinois team Nov. 5.

Pioneers Drill for Marquette Hurdle

Syracuse Off for Nebraska

GRINNELL, Oct. 26 (AP)—Grinnell gridgers in practice tonight worked on a defense against Marquette plays, as stated by the yearlings. The varsity had little trouble in stopping the frosh charges.

The Pioneers entrain for Milwaukee tomorrow, stopping enroute at Chicago for a workout. The entire squad is free from injuries. Kiesel, guard, and Locke, back, have surmounted scholastic barriers, and may see action Saturday.

Syracuse university's football squad got away for Lincoln, Neb., tonight, for Saturday's battle with the Nebraska Cornhuskers. Coach Lew Andreas was uncertain whether Captain Barbuto would be able to start in the backfield. Barbuto has spent only thirty minutes in a football uniform since the Georgetown game a week ago. Twenty four players made the trip.

Barry Has First Cage Practice as Two Vets Return

Frosh of Last Year Given Chance to Make Varsity

Realizing that only two regulars are back from last year's cage team and four minor letter men, Coach Justin M. Barry has called his first practice of the year and is already dishing out lengthy drills. With the men reporting every evening and Coach Barry breaking away from his football duties four nights a week, it is in the plan of the Barrymen to be in good shape when the regular basketball schedule rolls around.

The sessions consist chiefly in getting an eye on the basket and acclimating the aspirants to the basketball habits. Although the real conditioning will not take effect immediately, it will be the intention of the men to get as much ready now as possible, in order to be prepared when the whistle blows for the opening game.

Two Good, Wilcox Back

The two regulars who have donned their suits are Captain Forrest F. Two good of Sioux City, who played forward on the Old Gold machine last year, and Francis L. Wilcox of Mayville, one of the mainstays on the team last year and chosen center on the second all conference basketball team. The minor lettermen who reported are: J. Vernon Auld of Saylor, last year's reserve center; L. Harrison, Iowa's diminutive forward, from Iowa City; and Fred Lawson of Burlington, guard.

Mac and Hogan Missed

Men coming up from last year's yearling squad are also out. Some of them are going to give the varsity aspirants a stiff fight to retain the positions they held last year. Of these men who have had a good deal of basketball experience, none have yet been under the fire of real varsity competition and are anxious to get into the spirited fray. Virgil David of Oskaloosa, Sander W. Fabian of Chicago, Ill., Doyal M. Plunkitt of Frankfort, Ind., and Heinie Braverman of Sioux City, are some of the likely candidates, but they too will be pushed by men who have yet to report for practice.

The loss of Charles H. McConnell, last year's all conference guard, Ralph D. Hogan, running mate of McConnell, and George Van Deussen will be seriously felt by the Iowa quintet. These three men were regulars on last year's team and were graduated, leaving their places to be filled by inexperienced members this year.

OUR CROW

Howdy, folks! Great weather, eh? We were going swimming yesterday but we couldn't find our suit. Maybe it's well we didn't.

Strange as it may seem, the new barefoot football squad is said to be giving the other teams cold feet.

We're wondering if we should or shouldn't. We're not going to mention anything for certain right now, but will let you in on the surprise or glad news within a day or two. So just sit tight.

There is certainly going to be some good high school football games played in the state this week. Although you can't tell because of the many upsets that have occurred thus far this season.

Cyclones Work for Kaggies

AMES, Oct. 26 (AP)—The Iowa State varsity ran through a short snappy scrimmage tonight. Coach Noel Workman expressed hope that Johnson, Cyclone end, who broke his shoulder in the Nebraska game, might be in shape for the contest at Drake, Nov. 5. The shoulder mended rapidly, and Johnson has worked out regularly with the squad.

Offensive practice for the Kansas Aggies game Saturday ended today, as Workman plans to devote the rest of the week to defensive drills.

Illini Homecomers to Witness Aerial Struggle Saturday

URBANA, Ill., Oct. 26 (Special)—Homecomers who crowd Illinois stadium Saturday for the Michigan game will look to the air expecting piskin pyrotechnics when the two unbeaten teams clash in another game of the famous Illinois-Michigan rivalry.

Michigan will be far tougher than Northwestern, that is conceded. The reversible Oosterbaan-Gilbert forward passing weapon works at either end and while the Michigan captain made All-American honors for two years chiefly because of his pass snugging ability, he has blossomed forth this year as a tosser of the aerials, and the Illini will have a full day guarding the wily veteran.

Against Northwestern, the Zuppme used the forward pass to count their touchdowns, Dwight Stuessy flinging passes commendably. To receive the passes Zup can use either of a half dozen ends in addition to his backs. The Illini had good experience in fighting the air game when the Wildcats tried desperately to complete passes in the waning minutes of play and Zuppke is polishing this defense.

Iowa Grid Notes

Charles L. Parsons, one of Iowa's pair of nine-letter men, now college sports editor of the Denver Post, has this to say about the Denver-Iowa football game Saturday:

"Denver's comeback has been lit the short of phenomenal after being humiliated in the first game of the season. The team has improved with each start and now has knocked off Wyoming, Colorado Aggies, and Colorado Mines.

Denver university catches Iowa in a good spot. The Hawkeys took an awful lacing from Minnesota, and with the Illinois Homecoming game Nov. 5, it is a cinch that the Iowa coaches will not key up their charges for Denver."

Iowa hopes to continue the season's precedent, which has been, that Big Ten teams are generally successful in inter-sectional games. Minnesota beat Oklahoma A. & M., Chicago beat Pennsylvania, Purdue beat Harvard, and Northwestern beat Utah. Chicago furnished the only black mark on the record when the Wildcats tried desperately to complete passes in the waning minutes of play and Zuppke is polishing this defense.

Drake Prepares to Invade Lawrence

DES MOINES, Oct. 26 (AP)—Admiring his charges that the selection of the personnel for the trip to Los Angeles Nov. 26, to play the University of California, Southern Branch, depends largely upon the showing the Bulldogs make against Kansas at Lawrence, Saturday, Coach Ossie Solem got considerable satisfaction from his proteges in their drill today.

Drake's preparations for the Jayhawk game will close with a light workout here tomorrow. More than two full teams will leave tomorrow night for Kansas City, where a practice is scheduled Friday afternoon.

Armbruster Plans Frosh Polo Team

The freshmen water polo team is being organized by Coach David Armbruster and next week competition between freshmen and varsity in this sport will begin. Armbruster says that there is some good material among the first year men, and they should give the varsity swimmers plenty of competition.

No actual play has yet been entered into by the polo candidates, but workouts have been devoted to essentials of the game such as passing, picking up the ball, and placing of shots.

Pipe paths lead to P.A.

YOU can take the long, circuitous route and come to P.A. by degrees, as you eventually will, or you can cut corners and start right with The National Joy Smoke. Open a tidy red tin of Prince Albert, drink in that rich, rare aroma, and you will decide on the quick route.

Your first taste of P.A. in a pipe will clinch the decision. What a smoke, honestly! Cool as a conference in the Dean's office. Sweet as getting back on unlimited cuts. Mild as tea, but with that tobacco body that satisfies your most deep-rooted smoke-hankering. No matter how fast you feed it, P.A. never bites your tongue or parches your throat. Just cool contentment and solid satisfaction with this long-burning favorite of experienced jimmy-pipers. Ream out the old pipe and give it a brand-new deal with good old P.A.—today.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tin and half-pound tin humidors, and round crystal-glass humidors with sponge moistener top. And always with every bit of love and care removed by the Prince Albert process.

That's Sports, Earl

There's a sports editor up at Cedar Rapids who has been harping ever since we have been interested in Iowa activities about the University of Iowa football team. He made some very unnecessary remarks about the coaching staff at Iowa last year and has started his same line of bunk again. He is a fellow journalist, true, but if he doesn't know what to say, why doesn't he leave things alone?

He's running a column, (just like this only his is a little better), and in Tuesday's sheet had the following to say:

"Coach Burton Ingwersen has gone back to the fundamentals of football, says an Iowa City dispatch, and yesterday sent the Hawkeye backfield through a hard afternoon's work in blocking and tackling. Another Iowa City yarn says: Anyone who saw the game at Minneapolis will tell you that the Iowa men don't know how to tackle. Instead of stopping the Gopher ball carriers, the men would grab the ball toter around the neck and then be carried three or four yards. What have the Hawks been doing since practice started Sept. 15?"

We're getting tired of that sort of sportsmanship. It was the same way last year when Minnesota trampled over the Hawkeyes 41 to 0 in the feature attraction of the 1926 Iowa Homecoming.

A sports fan up at Cedar Rapids thinks that he is going to put Hugh Fullerton out of a job as a forecaster of football scores. He says he doesn't know what to say, why doesn't he leave things alone? He had enough courage to predict the scores for the games this week. He predicted Denver to beat Iowa 18 to 3. There's one reason, according to our way of thinking, why he lost line of his predictions last week.

We might be wrong, though. Can't tell until Saturday night.

What Others Think, Earl

There's a sports editor up at Minneapolis, or St. Paul, to be exact, that can look at both sides of the question. He is none other than Dick Cullum of the Pioneer Press. He has the following to say about the Minnesota-Iowa massacre, if we may call it that:

"Through the immense Iowa line, Joesting ripped holes that left a streaming wake of clutching tacklers behind him and it was no puny line to gain against, as it proved conclusively enough when the other Minnesota backs tried it and found themselves stopped abruptly. They had to give the ball to Joesting when they wanted their yards and he, in a business-like manner, went out and got them."

Within a radius of ten miles of Iowa City alone there are 12,100 cows and 1,791 two-year-old heifers.

Contracts with the Buffalo Foundry and Machine company are prepared and awaiting the signature of H. J. Robbins, who is in charge of incorporation of the powdered milk company. Mr. Robbins is at present in Cleveland, and it is not known when he will arrive in Iowa City.
