Senate Passes Flood Relief Bill

Local Democrats Favor Smith in Precinct Caucuses

Two Wards Bind Delegations to Support Governor

Elect 62 Delegates to County Convention April 7

Iowa City democrats want Al Smith for president, if sentiment expressed in the precinct caucuses last night are a fair indication of local party feeling. Delegations from the first and fourth wards were instructed to vote solidly for the New York governor at the county convention April 7. Although the delegations from the other three wards were not specifically instructed, prevailing sentiment appeared favorable to Smith.

With the exception of the first and fourth ward caucuses all the meetings were marked by a smooth, efficient speed in the transaction of routine business and the absence of excitement. Several women attended the caucuses and some were named on the delegations. The number attending all the meetings was greater than usual, old politicians said.

Fourth Support Smith

In the fourth ward caucus, held at O'Leary's store, 110 S. Linn street spirited speeches preceded the election of delegates. A resolution for the unqualified support of Al Smith, introduced by J. S. Watson, was adopted unanimously, tend to p. c.

The first ward caucus, staged at the county court house, also developed into an extremely lively meeting. Each delegate chosen to attend the county convention was instructed to vote for Governor Smith and to further uphold his principals and policies.

Farm Bill Next on Senate Card

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—The McNary-Haugen farm relief bill was promised next consideration of the senate today by leaders upon disposition of the pending agricultural department appropriation bill.

Modified to meet many of the objections of President Coolidge, who vetoed the McNary-Haugen measure of last session, the bill nevertheless still is believed to be short of presidential sanction because of its resort eventually to the controversial equalization fee as a means of raising funds to market surplus crops.

The bill is expected to get before the senate late in the week or certainly by next Monday and several days are expected for consideration, but farm leaders are confident of another approval by the senate of the agriculture measure.

Singing Prisoners Disturb Neighbors

VISALIA, Cal., March 28 (AP)—A temporary injunction to restrain prisoners in the county jail here from singing and "making other noises" at night is asked in a suit filed against the county by Clara Johnston and Robert Johnston, who live near the jail.

Exchange Shows Slight Up Trend

Wall Street Normal as Stocks Keep Level Edge

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—The New York stock exchange toed up another 4,000,000 share session, the third in succession, but price fluctuations returned to a more orderly basis with the main thread again upward.

Radio moved back into the speculative spotlight by quickly rallying from a low of $161.50 to a new high record at $174.75, but slipped back at the close to $167.50, or $1.25 below last night's final quotation.

A round mid-day, the ticker had fallen nearly half an hour behind the market, making it almost impossible to trade against the tape, as there was no way of knowing whether stocks had been bought or sold until nearly an hour after the orders had been placed.

The day's sales totalled 4,079,600 shares, as against 4,762,400 in yesterday's turbulent trading.

While higher call money rates and the calling of about $25,000,000 in bank loans were a normal development with the approach of heavy quarterly settlements, Wall street was disturbed over suggestions that France was preparing to draw upon its credits here, estimates in some quarters as high as $700,000,000, and by the further exports of gold to other countries.

Chicago Leaders Get Bomb Letters

CHICAGO, March 28 (AP)—New warnings of bombings and other violence were passed out today, the second devoted to Chicago by the ticket heads of two of the strong republican factions engaged in a life and death battle leading to the state-wide primary April 10.

Meanwhile, investigation of the bombing of the homes of Charles S. Deneen, United States senator who is the titular head of one faction, and Judge John A. Swanson, candidate for state's attorney, was devoid of positive results.

Robert E. Crowe, candidate for reelection as state's attorney and co-leader with Mayor William Hale Thompson of a strong republican faction, announced he was having an offer of $65,000 reward for the bombers lithographed.

Herman J. Haenisch, Deneen ally running against Mayor Thompson for republican committeeman in the forty-sixth ward, today carried to George E. Q. Johnson, federal district attorney, an anonymous letter threatening to bomb his home and kidnap one of his children.

While disavowing any leadership in plans for a third ticket in the national political campaign this year, the conference agreed to give its support to such a movement if generally endorsed by other similar groups throughout the country.

Termining itself the "northwest conference of progressives," the meeting here declared its primary interest was in formulation of plans for a closer working arrangement between "the progressive movements in several states of the northwest."

Grand Jury Indicts Chicago Alderman

Former Park Official, Nine Others Face Liquor Charge

CHICAGO, March 28 (AP)—An alderman, a former Lincoln Park commissioner, and nine others were indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of operating a $5,000,000 alcohol ring which has been flooding Chicago and the middle west with liquor.

Titus Haffa, elected to the city council from the "Gold Coast" ward, the 43rd, provided bond and declared he was being persecuted by political enemies.

"I can't understand this charge," insisted the alderman, "I never sold a drop of liquor." He is running for committeeman of the 43rd ward on the Governor-Small-Mayor Thompson ticket.

The grand jury action followed months of investigation by prohibition agents who gradually worked their way into the confidence of the 43rd ward gang, tapping wires, at leading political meetings, opening "boozie joints," gambling establishments and stills to obtain the details of the gigantic ring.

Mussolini Wants Fascist Teaching of Italian Youth

ROME, March 28 (AP)—Premier Mussolini emphasized before his council of ministers today the importance of the induction into the regular Fascist party of 80,000 youths belonging to the Balilla and Avanguardisti organizations on Sunday. He declared it was a most important moment in the system of universal integral education and preparation for Italian manhood. He considered that this was one of the fundamental duties of the state.

The Fascist papers accept the premier's words as meaning that he is determined on the "Fascistization" of Italian youth, with the state controlling education.

Mussolini's remarks are taken by the press generally as constituting a reply to the criticism voiced by Pope Pius of the Fascist education of the youth of Italy.

The extreme Fascist paper L'Impero comments in plain language on the pope's new famous address to the Roman diocesan board and the national Catholic center party's rejoinder.

"Let us venerate religion and incline before the pontiff," says L'Impero, "but our sole discipline is that of Italians of the Fascist era, at Mussolini's order."

Davenport Man Scored 100 Percent in Two Big Guesses of Lifetime

DAVENPORT, March 28 (AP)—Ralph "Bunny" Hicks, local barber, formerly of Maquoketa, made a perfect score in the two big guesses of his life.

"I'm going to die at 2 o'clock today," he told his wife as they talked in their home here Monday morning. At 1 p.m., that day he suffered a stroke, and as the clock struck two, he expired.

"Bunny's" other big guess was recalled today when his wife revealed his death prediction. That one was back in 1912, when Woodrow Wilson first ran for the presidency. Hicks' barber shop, then at Maquoketa, was a hotbed of political talk.

Charles Nigg, who shared with "Bunny" the town's "Character" role, from his place behind the shop stove, hazarded: "I'll bet Wilson carries the nation by 350 electoral votes."

"Bunny" guessed otherwise, and they arranged a wager, the loser to hike to the Pacific ocean pushing a wheelbarrow.

Shortly after election day, Nigg headed down Maquoketa's main street, and out in the open spaces, behind a wheelbarrow, to attest "Bunny's" correctness.

As a gesture of good fellowship, "Bunny" hiked to Dewitt, the first day's march, with Nigg, and confessed that the twenty mile stretch was quite enough.

Nigg liked the experience so well that he became a confirmed barrow hiker, making two round trips from Maquoketa to the Pacific, and once urging a one-wheeled vehicle carry across the continent.

Whistle to Give Results of Drive for Theatre Unit

Student Teams Report Pledges at Union Luncheon

To the ears of those who listen this noon the whistle on the university heating plant No. 1, will tell the story of the number of $1,000 which have been pledged in the fifth annual Union drive. The 400 students who are working on the campaign will meet at the Union this noon for a luncheon at which time the capturing of the teams will report the work done by their teams.

Various reports from captains trickled into the office of R. H. Fitzgerald, director of the Union and the drive, yesterday. The largest of these was a report of $650 collected by one team, on the persons they had interviewed up to that time. However, no accurate report of the total amount thus far acquired will be available until after the meeting this noon.

The three-day drive, which began Tuesday evening with a dinner at Iowa Union, under the leadership of Abbie Anna McHenry, A4 of Denison, closes tomorrow at noon.

Entire Family Dies in Triple Murder

Mystery Slayer Shoots Three; Sets Fire to Corpses

NEWARK, N.Y., March 28 (AP)—An entire family—father, mother, and son—were slain early today as they lay in their beds. They were Frank S. Warren, 42 years old, his wife, Edith J., 42 years old, and their son, Jackson S., 13 years old.

The slayer then set fire to the bedroom occupied by the parents. When firemen arrived at 5:30 the flames had gained such headway that the bodies of the two were burned to a crisp.

X-rays showed that Warren and his wife had been killed by bullets from a 22 calibre automatic pistol which entered their left eyes and passed through their heads.

The boy, who was in his room above the heart inflicted by a wound of the same calibre. A pistol of the type used by the slayer and one empty cartridge were found in the covers of the boy's bed. Three of the seven cartridges were missing and the weapon had been discharged recently. Warren, friends said, possessed a pistol of the same type.

Coverman Arthur Bessemer, who conducted an inquest, returned a verdict of murder. Sheriff John L. Newman, of Wayne county, agreed with Bessemer that it would have been impossible for any of the three to have done the shooting.

Warren was interested in a number of businesses; insurance and real estate, two landscape gardening schools, a nursery and a news store. He was reputedly well to do.

Aviators Cruise Toward Record

Maintain Average of 75 Miles an Hour in Test

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla., March 28 (AP)—All well with the Haldeeman-Stinson endurance flight plane as it began its fifteenth hour over Jacksonville beach tonight. The monotonous hum of the monoplane came steadily to watchers below they reported at 9:47 p.m. eastern standard time, exactly fourteen hours after the take-off.

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla., March 28 (AP)—Lisurely cruising along a thirty mile strip of coast through June-like weather, Eddie Stinson and captain George Haldeeman tonight were flying evenly toward a projected new world's record for airplane endurance flight.

An average speed of 75 miles an hour had been maintained since the big Stinson-Detroit monoplane took the air this morning at 7:30 o'clock. Flight mechanics who went up to fly alongside at intervals today reported the monoplane's engines apparently were functioning perfectly and the craft was not straining under the load of gasoline. The plane carried 550 gallons, one hundred of which was stowed away in five-gallon cans in the after cockpit.

Although the fliers announced their intention of dropping messages in the empty cans as these were tossed overboard after the contents had been used, none came today. This was considered a good omen.

Coal Committee to Question Ford

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—Henry Ford is to be called before the senate soft coal investigation committee to ascertain whether his experience as a coal operator can produce any suggestions for alleviation of difficulties besetting that industry.

Decision to issue a subpoena for the automobile manufacturer was reached by Chairman Watson, when committee members requested that he be called after they had heard a witness picture conditions at Ford's West Virginia mines in direct contrast to others elsewhere.

Percy Tetlow, president of the West Virginia district of the United Mine Workers, told the committee that Ford mines are paying an average of $8 a day for eight hours work. At the same time he named the New River Export Coal company at Lookout, West Va., and a mine at Booneboro, West Va., owned by the Boone interests, as among a group of concerns paying as low as $2.55 a day for mine work.

Speedy Approval of Flood Measure Shocks Members

House to Substitute or Revise Bill Next Week

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—Mississippi flood control legislation was shot through the senate today by a vote of 70 to nothing with a speed that astonished everyone.

After only an hour and twenty-nine minutes consideration the compromise Jones bill was approved with a chorus of ayes and sent to the house where leaders hope to bring it or a substitute measure up early next week.

The senate vote came without warning after Chairman Jones of the commerce committee had explained the provisions of the $325,000,000 measure and had stated that it represented a coordination of the conflicting views of all senators from the states which suffer the greatest when the Mississippi overflows.

Robinson Suggests Vote

There had been a smattering of debate, several members questioning the Washington senator as he proceeded with his explanation. As he took his seat Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, laid aside a long prepared address and suggested a vote.

Only about a dozen senators were on the floor but they recovered their astonishment in time to join in the cry of "vote." Senator Curtis, of Kansas, the republican leader, assenting, nodded his head but before a roll call could be taken, Senators McKellar, of Tennessee, and Randall, of Louisiana, rushed forward with amendments.

A hurried conference of leaders was held in the center aisle. Assent was given to both proposals, each of minor nature, and the bell was rung for a final vote on the measure which, it is hoped, may prevent another catastrophe such as that of last spring when the Mississippi and a number of its tributaries overflowed, entailing the loss of more than 200 lives and property damage amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars.

Page boys scurried out of the chamber on the trail of absent senators who had not anticipated an immediate vote, some of whom believed that the message announcing a vote on the bill was a hoax. Before the roll call was completed, however, 70 had answered, while one senator, King, Democrat, Utah, announced that he would have voted against the bill but for the fact that a general pair with Senator Walsh, democrat of Montana, who was for the bill, prevented him from casting his ballot.

Quickness Dazes Body

Action came so swiftly that Senator Norris, republican of Nebraska, who had proposed an amendment, received permission to have it considered even after the result of the roll call had been announced. His proposal to change the title of the bill to name tributaries as within the scope of the measure was accepted.

Other senators with long prepared addresses sat dazed at the sudden action and even the oldest attaché of the senate could not recall that a measure of such far reaching importance, and one that ultimately will take at least half a billion dollars out of the federal treasury, had been put through with such swiftness.

Student Injured in Auto Accident

One student was injured and a Ford touring car was upset in an accident on the road from the Iowa avenue bridge to the quadrangle at 9:30 o'clock last night. The Ford, driven by Jay E. Houlihan, M1 of Mason City, was coming down the quadrangle hill when it was struck and overturned by a Willys-Knight driven by Charles D. Luke, E3 of Coln.

Mary Klemmer, A3 of Fairbault, Minn., who was riding in the Ford was taken to the university hospital, where her injuries, consisting of minor cuts and bruises, received medical attention. She was released shortly after.

The Willys-Knight did not stop after the accident, according to Martha Miskewy, A4 of Mason City, another occupant of the Ford. The reason for not stopping, as given by Luke, driver of the larger car, was first, he was excited, and second, he did not realize the seriousness of the accident, and later went back to where the Ford was overturned.

No persons other than Miss Klemmer were injured.

Bill and Jack were typical college boys—always broke. To make their expenses, they had their own running everything from a hamburger stand to a near-by factory—some how these plans never worked.

"Bill, we've got to sell something that is good and at bargain price."

"Jack, I've beat you to it."

"The same wonderful idea struck me the other day when I was looking at a hole in my sock, so I wrote the Superwear Hosiery Company of 104 First Avenue North, Minneapolis, Minn., who cater to college men's furnishings, and who are the largest advertisers in the country selling men's hosiery exclusively, direct and just received their complete selling outfit FREE, and Jack, it's a knockout! Every color, fabric, and fancy style a fellow could want! 33 different styles—and say—they also got a line of the snuggest men's silk rayon undergarments—one and two piece suits."

"Jack, I'll have every fellow on the campus outfitted with a supply of spring and summer socks and underwear!"

"Jack, send for it yourself, there's a room for several fellows on this campus with 3 069 men buyers. Write them today for their complete selling outfit."

Quad Year Book Nears Completion

Annual Will Contain Jokes, Pictures, Drawings

With each assistant editor making every effort to get assigned work in the "Quadrangle" year book for the men's dormitory, is nearing completion. Denniston D. Neal, A2 of Lake View, editor-in-chief, announced that the book will soon be ready for the press and has issued a call for quadrangle men to hand in all pictures and assigned material this week.

The annual is to consist of seventy-eight pages and will be divided into four main sections, which are devoted to quadrangle life, athletics, society, and humor. Scattered throughout the book will be pictures of the dormitory, original drawings by residents, and snapshots taken in rooms and about the building.

Deviating from the plan followed last year of having group pictures of all the residents, Neal plans to secure snapshots of every man and use them in panel form.

Roland Maack, A2 of Walcott, business manager, staged a subscription campaign early in the year, but intends to cover the dormitory again, to visit those who moved in at the beginning of the second semester. There will be no advertising in the book.

Election Worries Wife of Candidate

BERLIN, March 28 (AP)—The worries over the outcome of the election for mayor of the little town of Pfaeffinger in Wurtemberg are apparently getting on the nerves of the wives of the candidates for this post.

Frau Marie Fischer, whose husband is in the running for the mayoralty, could not stand the suspense and attempted suicide by jumping into the river Ammer. Luckily for her she was saved and the only result of her attempt to end life was a bad chill.

Agricultural Bill to Further Education

DES MOINES, March 28 (AP)—Agricultural education in Iowa will receive tremendous impetus if the George-Reed bill is passed by congress. C. M. Henry, member of the federal board for vocational training, Washington, D. C., told delegates to the regional meeting of vocational education workers here yesterday.

Under the George-Reed bill the state would receive about $98,500 for vocational education in addition to the $89,207 now received under the Smith-Hughes act for vocational agriculture.

Merry, head of the research department of Brown and company, manufacturers of paper pulp at Portland, Me., in his talk to a class in the college of commerce Tuesday.

Mr. Merry preceeded Prof. E. C. Mabie as head of the speech department in the university. He has been on a trip over the United States, especially in the south, studying business conditions.

Y.M.C.A. to Hold Annual Election

The Y.M.C.A. will hold its annual election of officers Tuesday, April 13, from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. at the Iowa Union. At that time the president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and students-at-large will be elected.

A nomination committee has submitted the names of Wendell Edwors, A3 of Stormy Lake, and Theodore M. Rehder, A2 of Lincoln, for president. The candidate that receives the lower number of votes will be automatically named vice president.

Cleason Beckwith, A2 of Corns, and James Olson, A2 of Marshalltown have been nominated for secretary. Edwin Davis, A2 of Iowa City, and Fred Scheller, A3 of Mason City, have been nominated for the position of secretary.

James Kezer, A2 of Stillwater, Okla., Jack Stanfield, L2 of Mason City, and Fred Webber, A2 of Fairfield, have been nominated for students-at-large. Two will be elected from these.

Unsparring Woodman Pays for Landmark

OMAHA, Neb., March 28 (AP)—The unsparring woodman who chopped down a walnut tree 100 years old has been dealt a legal and financial blow by the district court here. Ernest N. Manley, NaNshville, Neb., a farmer was granted an attachment of $5,000 against the Des Moines Sawmill company and E. O. Slike, manager. Manley charged that the company without his permission cut down a tree which was a landmark on his property for fifty years.

The tree was four feet wide at the base, 100 feet high and shaded the entire yard. He said it was valued at $2,500 but added it was "worth double that amount to me."

The attachment was obtained to seize logs and equipment of the company at Nashville.

"No Smoking" Placards Make Appearance in Three Buildings

That smoking in campus buildings is under the disapproval of the university authorities has been made evident by the appearance of "No Smoking" signs in three buildings, chemistry building, physics building, and university hall.

A survey of the buildings on the campus concerning this problem, shows that there is a wide variance of opinion regarding the smoking problem.

Set No Ruling
The college of pharmacy has banned smoking entirely from its halls, according to Dean Wilber J. Teeters. This action was taken several weeks ago.

The college of engineering has no set rules regarding to smoking in that building, but under the prevalent system, students refrain from smoking in the corridors until classes are dismissed. Dean C. C. Williams has the matter under consideration and plans to have the old and new student officers meet with several faculty members and set a definite standard concerning smoking.

Smoking in the liberal arts building, and natural science building has been so limited that no definite action has been taken regarding these buildings, according to opinions expressed by professors who instruct in these buildings.

A rule against smoking in the university hospital has been issued by medical authorities, but the students in the medical laboratories are allowed to smoke in their classrooms but do not smoke in the corridors.

Commerce Delays Action

No definite action has been taken by the college of commerce according to Dean C. A. Phillips. The matter is pending and will be announced within a couple of days.

The school of Journalism has no set rules regarding smoking, but students have been asked not to smoke in the corridors and the main news office of The Daily Iowan until after 4 p.m.

The college of law has, and has had for some time, a smoking room for its students, where students may study and smoke at the same time.

Illinois Operators Demand Reduction of Miner's Wages

CHICAGO, March 28 (AP)—The Illinois coal operators association has severed relationship with the united mine workers until the miners' organization agrees to a reduction in wages.

Determination to challenge the union's adherence to the Jacksonville agreement was approved by the association today, three days before the expiration of a temporary agreement between the operators and workers.

Individual operators were left free to negotiate with the union. But, declared W. J. Jenkins, St. Louis, new president, "comparatively few mines will operate after April 1."

Miles Speaks on Judging Devices

"New measurements in motor coordination," was the subject of the lecture given by Prof. Walter R. Miles of Stanford university Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the chemistry auditorium.

He described the new devices in testing and finding the motor capacities and correlating the different tests so as to place the individual according to his abilities.

Professor Miles illustrated his lecture here with a film of Dr. Robert Seashore, formerly of this university and now a national research fellow at Stanford university.

The first film showed right handedness and left handedness in writing. The second showed a set of apparatus ready for use in an industrial plant to test for the placement of employees.

"Professor Seashore's work demonstrates that it is going to be hard to determine a general rating for motor ability," said Professor Miles. "It is more by assuring an understanding of each factor such as speed, manipulation, and persistence."

Alter the Plans

THE city council has again refused the school board a permit to erect a school building in west Iowa City. At a special meeting of the council Tuesday night this action was taken; it was the second time the council had refused the permit.

The question has been before the council since Feb. 21. The first petition for the building was refused without apparent reason. Residents in the district in which the proposed building was to be erected have presented petitions, and a vote taken on the project at the general school election March 2 favored the erection of the building.

A city ordinance provides for the approval by the council of all schools erected in the residential district, but the state's attorney has declared that the council is powerless to refuse a permit if the building conforms to building regulations.

According to the state's attorney the council has only the above grounds on which to refuse the permit. If the residents of the district which the school is to serve want the building, as they do, and the building conforms to building regulations, the council can not rightfully refuse it. Not only have those in the district signified their desire for it, but the people in general are in favor of the project.

If the building plans do not conform to the regulations the council has a perfect right to refuse the permit. It would be well for the council to point out just where the plans do not conform to the regulations and thus give the school board a chance to alter the same to fill the requirements.

Another Arterial Highway

IOWA City has another arterial highway. At a special meeting of the city council United States highway No. 32 running from the east to the west limits of Iowa City has been made such.

At the same meeting the council failed to take any definite action on the proposed revision of the city budget which was slashed more than $2,000 to allow provision for signal towers. The project is still under consideration and will come up for settlement at a special meeting tonight.

By creating another arterial highway the council has acted favorably, but in so doing the need for stop and go signals of an adequate type becomes more and more essential. The council no doubt realizes that the project will necessitate favorable action on the proposed revision of the city budget to allow for these traffic signals and at the special session tonight should act accordingly.

A Business Head

HOW many fraternities and sororities in endeavoring to attain that high mental and social status so necessary to prominence and renown forget that all organizations must have some kind of commercial basis? They need the social butterflies, it's true—those who rate all house parties and formal dinners as essential. Without the bookworms and aspiring Phi Beta Kappas the grade average would sink to the depths and that is indeed unworthy. But just as important is the possession of someone with a sound business head who will keep the society on a firm financial basis.

Business houses are generous in the credit they extend and the unpaid grocery and meat bills they let run for some time. But it is in keeping with the ideals of honor, that every Greek letter society has somewhere in its ritual, to let debts and unpaid bills increase?

It's all well and good to let things slip and trust to time to get things untangled. Sometimes fate is not so generous and the gods do not deal so kindly. Who would think that even to discharge a cook who proved undesirable might bring a $1,000 lawsuit against an organization?

So in the mad rush of September pledging it might be well to look that shell-rimmed, anemic fellow over twice or three that tailored girl without rouge more consideration. They may have the foresight and business brains that will keep the bank balance from sliding on the rocks.

The American Coaches

ANY list of Olympic coaches which does not contain the names of either Harry Gill of Illinois, Steve Farrell of Michigan, George T. Bresnahan of Iowa or T. E. Jones of Wisconsin was certainly not selected on a basis of ability. Gill-coached athletes alone scored thirty points in the Olympiad held at Paris in 1924.

The fact that two athletic club coaches were added to round out the list, rather than selecting an official of the Western Conference, would indicate that accomplishments were not the main requisites for a berth on the aggregation.

Seldom, if ever, have athletic club coaches produced or created a star. Their usual task is to keep finished athletes in condition, who have already established some recognition on the collegiate tracks.

Never has a club coach created a Brooklyn, as has Bresnahan; a Reinke, as did Farrell; a Kinsey, as did Gill; nor even a McGinnis, as did Jones of the Wisconsin school.

A University Tradition

TWO weeks ago faculty members representing different university buildings met to discuss the smoking question on the campus. It was decided that they would ask the cooperation of the students in seeing that there was no smoking in the buildings.

To students it may seem absurd on first thought that such a restriction should be made. Men and women who enter a university are usually old enough to have minds of their own, and so decide for themselves what is right and wrong and stick to it. And it is true enough that the tobacco habit is no gross evil.

The world, however, still exists by appearances. If you went into a bank and saw the president lolling back in his chair, his feet on the desk, a black cigar in his mouth, and then looked around and noticed the cashier chewing a cigarette and the clerk lighting a pipe, would you respect the institution? Of course not. You might not condemn smoking, but it simply is not a good business policy to do everything at all times in any place.

So we can see how outsiders who have different viewpoints from ours might regard smoking in university buildings. The whole is judged by the individuals who represent that unit and we all want to be one of the strongest links in that chain.

It is one thing, however, to ask for cooperation and another to turn around and demand obedience without cause for such tyranny.

Some might find it hard to discriminate which looks worse—an occasional cigar in university corridors or huge white placards labeled "No Smoking."

Children may be disciplined by being asked to scrub the sidewalk where they have made mud pies and then spanked so they will not do it again, but a university generally aims to educate student minds beyond that point.

Editorial Notes

Why doesn't some statistician determine some facts of real practical value? For instance, it would be interesting to know how many millions of dollars could be saved each year in ballot paper if everyone who voted were required to give intelligent reasons for his political choices.

Three important problems seem to confront any given American administration: (1) to find out how the last administration managed to get in office, (2) to find out what, if anything, the last administration did, and (3) to fix the blame.

The Radio "Nerve Hour."
(University of Iowa professors have announced a plan to broadcast the sound of nerve currents of the human body.)—News item.

"Now, ladies and gentlemen, we are about to present the regular Tuesday night Nerve Hour. Kindly stand by and you will hear the symphony produced by the currents carrying the reactions of the human body to the brain, and vice versa. These nerve currents are being broadcast from the system of Luther Blogett by courtesy of the National Unnecessary Disturbances Corporation, makers of the world's best unnecessary disturbances. We are broadcasting on a spinal column of ever so many klyocycles.

"This is the first Nerve program in radio history. Don't misunderstand me. There have been nery programs, of course, before this. Many of them. But this is something different. Mr. Luther Blogett, whose body and brain will be used for this charming radio hour, is one of the most nervous men in the country and eminently fitted for this kind of a performance. Just think, folks, his nerves will be transmitted tonight over twenty-two radio stations into more than twenty million homes. Nothing quite as nery as that has ever been attempted. Kindly stand by.

"Mr. Blogett is nearly ready. He is not quite nervous enough yet and the boys are getting him prepared by tuning three pianos at one and the same time. His nerves are being shattered quite thoroughly. There! That awful noise like a man rattling around a tin roof on roller skates was Mr. Blogett's nerves reacting. His craniospinal system is all a-flutter. Hear those lovely tremors? Listen carefully now, folks. One of the boys is about to sneak up behind Mr. Blogett and blow a tin horn in his left ear. You will hear the reaction almost immediately. No, the studio wasn't struck by lightning. That terrific crash was produced by all of the performer's dorsal nerves cracking wide open.

Listen closely now! . . . We are now placing Mr. Blogett beside an open window in a cold draft. The next sound you hear will be his scatic nerve crashing to bits . . . Bang! . . . There it goes, folks!

"And now the closing experiment. We have blinded Mr. Blogett again and asked him to open his mouth. In just a second we will draw a file sharply across his teeth. Please stand by.

"Zigglevieshert-tz-tz-zim-zim-foe-y-y-y-y!"

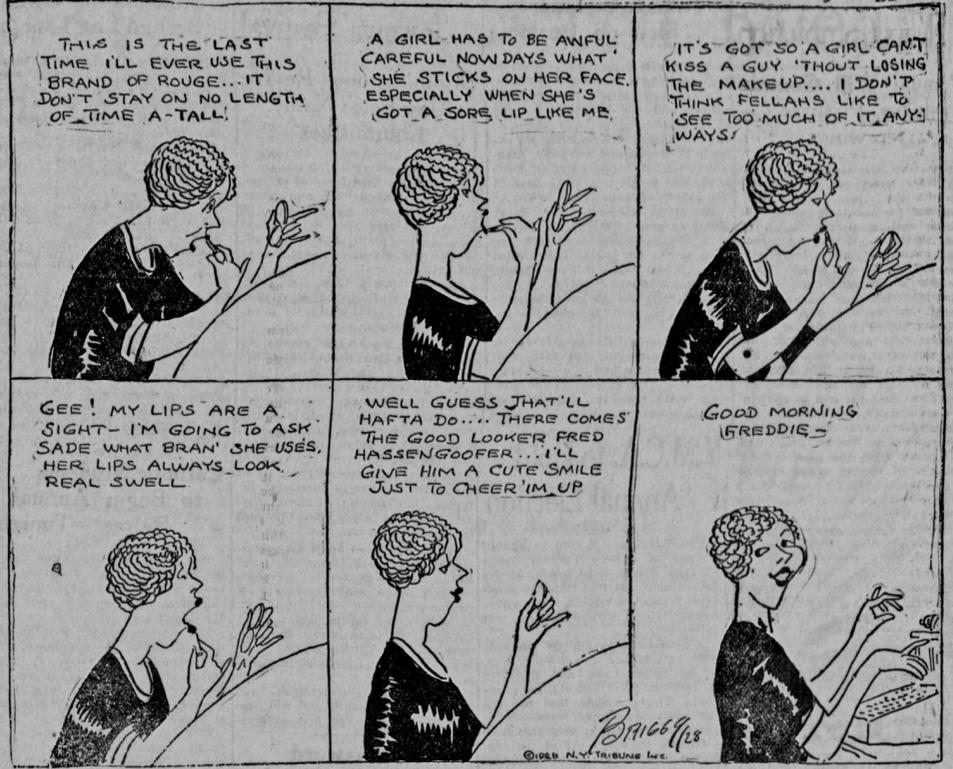

"That was his glossopharyngeal nerve. It blew up beautifully. We hope you have enjoyed the Nerve Hour, folks. Tomorrow night we will broadcast the reactions of a sensitive tooth to a mouthful of cracked ice. Thank you."

The above brainstrom appeared Tuesday, March 20, in the New York Sun. Could it be possible that some big town journalistic ear-scratchers are jibing with us?

TO ALL STUDENTS WHO EXPECT TO GRADUATE AT THE CLOSE OF THE SECOND SEMESTER, 1927-28—JUNE 4, 1928

Every student who expects to receive a degree, or certificate, at the University Convocation to be held June 4, 1928, should make his formal application, on a card provided for the purpose, at the Registrar's office on or before SATURDAY, MARCH 31, 1928.

It is of the utmost importance that each student concerned comply with this request immediately, for otherwise it is very likely that a student who may be in other respects qualified will not be recommended for graduation at the close of the present semester.

Making application for the degree, or certificate, involves the payment of the graduation fee ($15) at the time the application is made—the payment of this fee being a necessary part of the application. Call at the Registrar's office for the card. Respectfully, H. C. DORCAS.

An Editorial Duel

(Furnished to The Associated Press by The State Historical society of Iowa at Iowa City.)

Through the old sheets of newspaper files there still lingers the ghost of an editorial duel in which a "battle of vituperative language" was staged by the publishers of rival newspapers at Iowa City, at that time Iowa's capital.

The principals in the battle of vocabularies were William Crum, 22 year old editor of the Iowa City Standard, and Ver Plank Van Antwerp, editor of the Iowa Capitol Reporter. The action was laid in the early forties, when eastern Iowa was still frontier territory.

Crum upheld the views of William Henry Harrison and Henry Clay. He had vast admiration for the whig party, and no respect at all for the democratic editors in the Iowa territory.

Van Antwerp, dignified and serious, was a democrat of the old school. Educated at West Point and by courtesy called general, he became the official spokesman for the democratic party, then in control of the territory's political life.

Crum upheld the views of contemporary for their rivals started early. As Van Antwerp came to Iowa City, Crum declared that he was "much in the habit of making long-winded speeches, as frothy as small beer and as empty as his head."

Van Antwerp announced his arrival with a two-column statement setting forth his democratic faith, which Crum fell upon with glee and satire. He referred to the democratic editor as "My Lord Pomposity" and a "West Point dandy in gold spectacles."

Aroused, Van Antwerp made a similar reply and broadside was exchanged for broadside until his proud aloofness gave away before Crum's constant and wasplike attacks.

Charges that Van Antwerp had made a trade of lying became only an incident in the exchange, and many of their personal statements would be considered unprintable today.

In the heat of the controversy

Letter to The Editor

To the Editor:—Your editorial of March 27 entitled Vox Student is in error as far as election is concerned. The laws of Iowa are extremely liberal in the matter of absent voting. Section 718 b12 of the Code of Iowa (1927) make ample provision for the registration of absent voters by mail, and Chapter 44 of the Code is devoted to the subject of absent voting. The provisions of Chapter 44 are so liberal that no bona fide voter should be deprived of his right to vote by reason of absence from his legal residence on election day. Moreover Section 954 of this Chapter provides that:

"The affidavit upon the ballot envelope shall constitute a sufficient registration of the voter in precincts where registration is required."

Thus the absent voter need only make an application for a ballot within the time specified and by complying with the provisions for making and returning the ballot really registers and votes at the same time. Every protection is given to maintain the secrecy of the ballot when it is opened at the voting precinct of his legal residence.

Two Stolen Idols

By Frank L. Packard

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR

While their schooner is becalmed off Singapore, Captain Scarface Sweeney and Marlow, the mate, discover a bit of wreckage floating some distance from their ship. Investigation reveals that the "speck" is a fragile bark containing the body of a dead man. Captain Scarface recognizes the body as that of Tom Kingsley, an old friend and daring adventurer. Mute evidence on the corpse hints at foul play. Two small but very handsomely carved ivory idols are found in the victim's pocket. Scarface believes that these are no ordinary trinkets, and surmises that they have played a grim part in the mysterious tragedy. The captain determines to communicate with the dead man's brother, Robert Kingsley, once a sea-faring adventurer, now old and crippled, and living on a plantation in the South Sea Islands with his young son, young Bob, on whom he is practically dependent. News of Tom Kingsley's death reaches his brother together with the weapons and ivory images which were found on the body. A letter from a neighbor of Tom's is received by Robert Kingsley and his son. It details a night of horror at Tom's place—a night when Hsi Yan, an old enemy, was seen being carried, apparently in a dying condition, from a Chinese junk in the harbor to Tom Kingsley's. The letter tells of a warfare which followed, once the junk's crew gained admission to Tom's home. It also tells of Kingsley's disappearance and the simultaneous disappearance of his servant, Mindar Singh, an Eastern Indian. Hsi Yan is reported to be dead.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 6

The fury that had been smoldering in the older man burst suddenly into flame as Bob Kingsley put the letter aside.

"Well, you see!" he cried furiously. "It's that rat Hsi Yan that did it! A wave of scarlet spread over his face, and both clenched fists beat upon the table. "And me here like this! Damn my legs, and damn this chair! Tom murdered—and me doing nothing!"

"Hsi Yan is dead," said Bob Kingsley in a monotone. "And well for him he is!" rasped out the old man. "But there's the others! Maybe the authorities are after them—but I haven't got much faith in what'll happen. After a few months they'll get cold about it, and that'll be the end. But, anyway, it's not the Kingsley way to sit by and look on with one of us murdered! You understand, Bob, it's not the Kingsley way!"

Bob Kingsley got up from his chair, and laid both hands on his father's shoulders.

"No," he said in a low voice; "it's not the Kingsley way! I'll go. I'll take the schooner and go down there."

"And find 'em, lad!" said Robert Kingsley with fierce insistence. "No matter how long it takes or what it costs. If money's needed the plantation here can go. And even if I'm dead and gone before you get 'em, you'll still keep after 'em! You promise that, lad? You'll find 'em?"

"I'll find them," said Bob Kingsley with grim finality. Robert Kingsley's hands were trembling. He raised them suddenly above his head.

"You hear that, Tom," he whispered hoarsely. Bob Kingsley sat down again, and pulling the letter toward him, studied it for a moment while a puzzled frown gathered on his forehead.

You and I know that Uncle Tom must have got out through the secret passage," he said abruptly; "but this other point Crowley mentions about Hsi Yan's body being left behind when it was bound to establish the identity of the junk that put in at Kalawa that night, I don't understand any more than he does. As a matter of fact, there's a lot about the whole business that doesn't seem to fit together. Hsi Yan was obviously a very sick man. Apparently, he was even dying when he was carried ashore. If he went to Kalawa that night with the premeditated intention of attacking the house, why did he go ashore at all in his condition, and why was he there in the house with Uncle Tom for an hour before the attack began? That's not the way that ruffians usually behave. They would ordinarily have waited until it was dark enough so they wouldn't be seen, and late enough so that everybody would have been asleep, and then made a surprise attack. I'm not so sure that Hsi Yan, in a personal sense, had anything to do with it. On the contrary, I'm rather inclined to think it might all have come about in quite a different way. Like this, for instance: Hsi Yan knew he was a very sick man, and he landed at the first available place he found, which merely through chance, happened to be Uncle Tom's plantation at Kalawa. He died within an hour. The crew or some of them, returning, found their leader dead. They are an intensely fanatical lot, and steeped in the grossest ignorance. They put Hsi Yan's death down to Uncle Tom, by reason of the magic practiced by all 'Foreign Devils' upon those who are sick—and proceeded to take their revenge. Why not?"

Old Robert Kingsley began to laugh—not pleasantly; raucously, deep in his throat.

"That wouldn't account for 'em leaving the body of Hsi Yan behind, would it?" he demanded. "In the sense that the consequences which they probably thought they could evade anyhow, were secondary to flinging a sort of fanatical challenge at all of us, it would," Bob Kingsley replied soberly. "And it would certainly account for everything else."

"And so you think that maybe Hsi Yan wasn't at the bottom of it, then?" Robert Kingsley's eyes had narrowed, and his lips were tight again as he stared at his son. Bob Kingsley nodded.

"Not necessarily," he answered. "The story doesn't seem to—"

Robert Kingsley's fists were clenched again. "The story be damned!" he cried out fiercely. "Twas Hsi Yan the rat, that did it—as he swore he would by all his stinking ancestors! D'ye hear that, my lad? 'Twas what he swore he'd do, sooner or later! But he waited so long that I'd nigh forgotten it, as I dare say Tom had, too. And dead though Hsi Yan may be, I hope to God he burns where he belongs, but I ain't so sure he will for he had a cunning that would trick Satan himself!"

Bob Kingsley leaned tensely forward in his chair.

"I never heard of this before," he said in a puzzled way. "Twas known only to Tom and Scarface Sweeney and me," said Robert Kingsley gruffly; "and, being that it happened near thirty-five years ago and ten years before you were born, 'tain't strange you haven't heard of it, seeing it wasn't the kind of thing to talk about, and that we kept our mouths shut. And long before you were a kid old enough to understand anything, aye, and even long before you were born, we quit talking about it even amongst ourselves, and kind of wiped it of the slate and put Hsi Yan's threat down as a bit of bluff. We were fools on that count, the three of us—and Tom's paid for it."

"Tell me about it," said Bob Kingsley gravely. "Aye, I'll tell you!" said the old man grimly. "I can't tell you why his body was left there, but I'll tell you why Hsi Yan had himself carried ashore that night. It was so he could see Tom being murdered, and feast and gloat on it—just as he swore he would in that message he wrote Tom thirty-five years ago. It was handed to Tom one night over a bar in Singapore where we used to hang out a bit. A Chinaman had left it there for him—that's all any one knew about it. It was in a sealed envelope; and when Tom tore the envelope open he found a sheet of paper with just this one line written on it: 'Some day I, Hsi Yan, will come and watch you die.' That was all there was—nothing else."

Robert Kingsley was silent for a moment, staring straight ahead of him with hard, unseeing eyes. "Get me a drink!" he said suddenly. "It ain't good for the rheumatism, but it's good for what's worse tonight than all the bloody twisted joints that ever cursed a man. Give me a gin and tonic, son—a stiff one!"

Without a word, Bob Kingsley got up and crossed the room to where a large flat-top desk stood in the corner near the French windows. The drawers on one side had been metamorphosed into a sort of cupboard, and, opening this, he procured from within the necessary ingredients, mixed the drink, and returned it to his father.

The old man emptied the glass almost at a single gulp.

"Listen, lad!" he said. "Listen, and I'll tell you. But so's you'll understand, I'll begin with a fact or two about Hsi Yan that we didn't find out till afterwards ourselves. I don't know whereabouts in China he was born, nobody knew—and it's likely enough he didn't know himself. The missionaries pulled him out of some rotten dive or other in Canton when he was about ten or eleven, and started to educate him. He didn't take to the gospel atmosphere because I guess he was born without the makings of anything but a first-class criminal in him; but he was sharper than a two-edged knife, and even at that age he seemed to figure out that a bit of education was what was going to pull the strings that would put him in a class all by himself. He got more than a bit of education. They said he was little short of a prodigy of learning, and they patting themselves on the back for the wait they'd rescued from the gutters. At eighteen he had outdistanced his teachers in all the Latin and mathematics they had to offer, and if you could have spoken to him in the dark somewhere where you couldn't see the Mongol face of the little devil, you'd thought you were talking to a polished Englishman. Then he suddenly disappeared. Then stories began to circulate about filmflam games practiced on wealthy visiting Europeans by a high-caste Chinaman who had been educated in England. It worked for a while and netted a good few thousand pounds, until they began to tie up Hsi Yan with the 'Educated Chinaman'—and then Hsi Yan vanished. What he did between that time and when, as near as I can figure, he was about twenty-five, I don't know—that he put it in at devilry that was never unmasked, is certain, but it doesn't matter. From what I've said, I guess you can form a pretty fair idea of this Son of the Pit that I'm telling you about."

"Yes," said Bob Kingsley, laconically. (TO BE CONTINUED)

Abandon More Wheat; Price Rises Sharply

CHICAGO, March 28 (AP)—Authoritative reports that acreage abandonment in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio may be double the total heretofore predicted brought about sharply higher prices today for wheat. Buying toward the last was the most active seen in weeks, with July delivery of wheat touching a new high-price record for the season.

Wheat closed strong at 2c to 2 1/2c net advance, with corn 3/4c to 3/8c up, oats showing 1/4c to 1/2c gain. Corn and oats borrowed strength from wheat. Bids for corn to be shipped to the seaboard for export were close to a working basis. Weather conditions for oats seeding was unfavorable.

Bond Market Firm With Good Activity

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—Unusual activity and firmness characterized today's session of the bond market. This was in the face of a firmer undertone in the time money market accompanying actual increased in the rate for call loans. Buying was attributed to continued investment demand, while it is not unlikely that some of the profit being made in the current "bull" market in stocks is finding its way into high grade bonds.

Stock Sales Large, But More Orderly

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—Today's stock market continued in enormous volume, but the price movement was more orderly with a general trend to higher ground. Heavy profit-taking sales in some of the recent speculative favorites, which sold off 1 to 6 points, caused some irregularity.

Final questions disclosed a rather impressive number of net gains ranging from 1 to 10 points. Total sales crossed the 4,000,000 share mark for the third consecutive day, but were well below yesterday's record-breaking session.

Old Gold Nine Leaves for Spring Training Jaunt Tomorrow

Baseball Mentor to Pick Team for Dixie Trip Today

Sixteen Hawkeyes to Leave Tomorrow for St. Louis

With only two more practices left before the Hawkeye baseball squad entrains for the southern trip, the battle is still waging to determine who will fill out the roster for the jaunt.

Coach Otto Vogel will announce the personnel of the team to make the training trip this evening. Using the lineups of the recent games as a basis, thirteen of the sixteen players can be picked with a fair degree of certainty. The remaining three are a matter of conjecture.

There is not much doubt as to who will be the catchers. Clayton Thompson and Mace Brown seem to be choices for the receiving jobs. These two men have been working all spring and so far have been the class of the catchers.

Of the five pitchers who are scheduled to make up the staff on the southern round, four can be picked with a certainty. The three veterans from last year's nine, Francis Mulrone, David Corbin, and Forrest Twogood will be numbered among the elect. Virgil David, sophomore lefthander, is another who may be included. The leading candidates for the fifth berth are Paul Clark and Oakley Carlson, both right-handers.

Nelson on Third
The four infielders who have composed the inner defense for the last two days seem secure of holding down a bunk on the pullman leaving Friday night. This quartet includes Adolph Sals, first baseman, Kenneth Blackford, second baseman, Willis Glassgow, shortstop, and Carl Nelson, third baseman.

In the outfield, Capt. Herb Terry is a certainty in right. Henry Hentel has been used in center for nearly all of the outdoor practices and there is not much question that he will be moved out. William Gamble has been looking good in the left garden since he was converted into an outfielder. He looks like a safe bet for the tour.

Three in Doubt
With only three men needed to make up the squad of sixteen the possibilities slip down to four. These men are Tommie Rath, Ray Quirin, Mort Koser, and Max Allen. Rath, an outfielder, can be used as a pitcher if necessary. He has had but little experience but promises to develop in the future. Koser, another sophomore outfielder, must be given consideration. Quirin made the trip last year as an outfielder and he is making a determined bid again.

Looking good until last week, Allen went into a slump and has not been up to form since. It is about time for him to shake his jinx and get into his stride. In yesterday's practice game the yannigans shut out the varsity for six innings. Carlson pitched good ball and refused to be scored on. His mates slipped in three runs in the meanwhile. At this time Carlson was released for the afternoon and the next pitcher didn't fare so well. Amid a shower of hits the varsity greeted this rookie for five runs to take the afternoon's battle.

Teachers Respond to Call for Track

CEDAR FALLS, March 28 (AP)—Fifty candidates responded to Coach Art Dickinson's call for track activities at Iowa State Teachers college. The squad consists of six letter men and a bunch of good recruits. The principal difficulty of the coach will be to find material for the middle and long distance runs.

The veterans include Captain Luke, joint holder of the 220-yard hurdles record in the Iowa conference, Pedersen, shot put record holder, Cooper, holder of the javelin record, Bigges, holder of a high jump record, and Lynch and Kissinger, sprint and short distance men. Coach Dickinson will enter a squad in the Drake relays.

Beers Leaves for National Mat Meet; to Battle Friday

Leslie "Red" Beers, the pride of the wrestling team at the University of Iowa, will leave for Ames late this afternoon where Friday he will start competition in the National Collegiate A.A. wrestling meet to be held there Friday and Saturday. Beers, who copped the Big Ten conference title in the 158-pound class at Bloomington, Ind., last week, will be the only Hawkeye grappler to compete in the meet.

When Beers steps onto the mat at Ames, it will mark the last page in the history book for him as his three years of collegiate competition will then come to an end. During his three years of competition, Beers had met defeat only once in the Big Ten and that occurred in his first match. Since that time he has not lost a match in dual competition and only once has he bowed in tournament honors, that in the finals of the conference meet in 1927 when Donohue of Michigan scored a time advantage.

In addition to being Big Ten champion in the 158-pound class this year, Beers also won the title in the same class in the National A.A.U. meet held here two weeks ago. On July 4 and 5, Beers will wrestle in the final tryouts for the American Olympic team in the 158-pound division.

Soumien Retains Honors in Derby

SEVEN SPRINGS, N. M., March 28 (AP)—Leaders in the cross country run from Los Angeles to New York today were passed up in the 39 mile stretch from Los Lunas by Harry Rea of Long Beach, Calif., and Ed Gardner of Seattle, who finished the 25th lap in a dead heat. Their time was 5:31:30.

Ollie Wanttinen, New York; Frank Chavez, Pasadena and Guisto Umek took second, third and fourth places. They were followed in order by the three men who have become the pace setters in 392 miles already covered—Arne Souminen, Detroit; Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, Eng., and Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla.

Souminen, with a three hour lead in elapsed time over Gavuzzi, increased his advantage by six minutes today.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 28 (AP)—The New York Yankees took a beating today from the Buffalo Bisons of the International league. The Cardinals fielded errorlessly and concentrated an attack on Lisenbee in the sixth to score the runs necessary to win.

Cuhel to Seek Revenge for Loss at Texas at Kansas Relay Carnival

By LEVLAND SKELLEY
On your marks. Get set.

Bang. The relay is on. Three minutes and twenty-four seconds later the race is over. Iowa wins. Remarkably fast time, but what a long race it must have been to Captain Cuhel lying in his sick-bed in the St. Joseph's hospital in Fort Worth nervously awaiting the wire that would inform him of the outcome.

Taken to the hospital after having failed to shake off an attack of influenza, Captain "Bab" Cuhel, the ace of Iowa track stars, tells an interesting tale of his trip into the southland where he was doped to lead the nationally famed Iowa mile relay team to more glory in the Rice relays. Instead of this, however, fate decreed disappointment. The story is interesting.

Ill at Kansas City
After the workout the first day at Kansas City, Bab felt a slight chill and a dull ache, but thought nothing of what was to happen. Coach George T. Bresnahan bought a thermometer, but at that time "Bab" had no fever.

However, after dinner Wednesday night, the star runner's temperature jumped to above normal, and undoubtedly Bresnahan's pulse quickened perceptibly. Two wives were hastily dispatched. One to Dr. Walter Fieseler at Iowa City, and the other to El Reno asking that a physician and an ambulance meet the train.

Determined to Stay
Cuhel did not give up so easily, and he begged to be left on the train, thinking he would be greatly improved in the morning. The El Reno physician thought it would be all right for Cuhel to stay on the limited until the next day.

Morning saw no improvement, and as "Bab" says, "I knew then that I would not be able to run, and I was perfectly willing to go to the hospital. Coach and I went out to St. Joseph's which is the best in Fort Worth and I got every possible attention."

Imagine if you can, the thoughts that ran through Cuhel's head. His team going on. He sick in bed. But there was consolation in the fact that he was in almost constant touch with Bresnahan who called four or five times Thursday, inquiring about his captain and telling the news of the boys.

"Paging Mr. Cuhel"
Friday afternoon Cuhel ran and ran that mile relay from the lead-off man to his own role as the fastest anchor man in the country. Finally outside the room a voice of a messenger boy, "Bab, a message for Mr. Cuhel."

The nurse brought the wire to the Iowa captain who tore open the envelope. Iowa won. Cuhel's condition took a turn for the better. Time passed more quickly after the victory, and the telephone calls from the coach and the team did much to dissipate the disappointment of not being able to run.

"Of course," "Bab" admitted, "I would have been nice to have won both days, but I figure the boys did pretty well. One thing I never will forget is the way I was treated while I was ill. And we will get even with the Texas Aggies at the Kansas Relays."

Center-Field Gate Provides Best Entrance for Baseball Candidates

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—The centerfield gate is proving a good entry way for young baseball players in the major leagues.

Fred Schulte, former Waterloo, Mississippi Valley player, bought by the St. Louis Browns at a reported price of $100,000 and Lloyd Waner, who cost the Pittsburgh Pirates only a small amount for carfare, were the sensational youngsters of the American and National leagues last year.

Schulte from Waterloo
Schulte was incapacitated when he came out second best in an encounter with an outfield wall, but in the sixty games he played he demonstrated that he was worth whatever price was paid for him.

The Junior Waner went through the season at an amazing clip, batting .355, leading the league in number of one-base hits and tying with Rogers Hornsby for the leadership in run-scoring.

Now comes Eddie Morgan with a promise to be the star of the freshman class this year. Morgan will play centerfield for the Cleveland Indians, not so well as did Tris

Speaker, but well enough for a young fellow who was born the year "Spoke" started his baseball career as a member of the team of the Fort Worth Polytechnic institute.

Morgan, College Product
Morgan, a college product, has had only one year in professional ball, but he took full advantage of his opportunities at New Orleans to bat .355, his attack running heavily to extra bases. He stole twenty-three bases. Morgan was a catcher at Tulane university, but he was fast enough to play a great half-back on the Green football team and win all-conference recognition on the basketball quintet.

The new crop of outfielders is unusually good this year. "Pud" Purdy, who doubles in professional football has all but made his position certain with the Cincinnati Reds and John Leonard Martin, perhaps the fastest runner in either league, has made such an impression in the Cardinal camp that regular St. Louis outfielders of other years are uneasy as the "Rabbit" dashes by.

Howard Conceded Bout as Opponent Becomes Injured

Old Gold Mat Coach Wins Second Tilt in Two Days

JEFFERSON, March 28 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—After thirty-six minutes of wrestling, Mike Howard, coach of Iowa grapplers, was conceded the bout with Earl Wampler here tonight. The Hawkeye mentor applied an arm scissors with such pressure that the ligaments in Wampler's arm were torn loose.

Dr. J. K. Johnson, after an examination of the injured matman, forbade the continuance of the match, and Howard won by default.

Fails to Pin Wampler
Wampler was not pinned to the canvas, but conceded the first fall and was unable to continue after the rest period.

The match was staged in the armory here, with some 400 spectators gathered for the contest. As Howard had tossed Van Nice at Newton Tuesday, the victor of the local contest was to be considered the unofficial heavyweight king of Iowa.

See Taylor of Des Moines refereed the bout. Claude Huffman of Scranton was the promoter of the tilt.

In the first preliminary, Young Anderson of Scranton and Paul Wright of Jefferson boxed three rounds in a no-decision encounter. In the second contest, Bud Vedar tossed Tiger Breese of Jefferson twice in ten minutes.

Walrod Wins
In the third prelim, Walrod of Eagle Grove mastered Peters of Coon Rapids in two and a half minutes. Jones of Coon Rapids was the victor in the fourth melee when he tossed Davis of Scranton in sixteen minutes of grappling.

Tiger Breese won the semi-windup by a technical foul over Billy McCoy of Sioux Rapids in the third round.

Paul Easterling, an added starter with the Detroit Tigers, has fought his way into the inner circle and will play many games.

Doug Teitt, ready to do his bit for the Boston Red Sox if given a chance, is right fielder rather than a centerfielder specialist, but that will mean little to a man who has so much pep that his Nashville manager, Jimmy Hamilton, declared he could beat the third baseman to the bench.

Alpha Sigs, Phi Gams Win Tilts

Alpha Sigma Phi downed Theta Tau to the score of 6 to 1 in a rather dull and uninteresting game last night at the field house when section B, winners of the light weight class, put the skids under section D and nosed them out by a score of 17-15.

Captain Simpson, for B, starred, caging four field goals and sinking four free throws for twelve of his teammates' seventeen points. Condon of the D heavyweights, winners of the heavyweight division, was the outstanding player for the losers, with Kepp lending him able assistance.

The game was featured with close guarding although very few fouls were called. Long shots were attempted by both teams, with B hitting the hoop more accurately.

Playing the game in three fifteen minute periods, section B led at the end of the first stanza 9-3. The lead was increased two points in the second period when it ended 13-10.

W. L. Evans was coach for B while section D played under the leadership of Anderson, who was also captain for his team.

Ingwersen Drives Gridiron Candidates in Spring Practice

Hawkeye Mentor Drills Wilcox for Quarterback Post

Game Scheduled for Saturday Afternoon on Iowa Field

A lively scrimmage was the big feature on yesterday's football program. Taking advantage of the cool temperature which was almost ideal for football, Coach Burton A. Ingwersen sent his men through a hard workout.

There were thirty men out for drill and all of them participated in the scrimmage. In the backfield Mayes McClain was doing his stuff at full-back. Wilcox called the signals, and the other two positions were alternated between the Jenavold brothers, Cummings, Rogge, Leeka, Hauge and Affre.

Westra, Fuhrman Report

Westra and Fuhrman were the most prominent linemen on the offensive while a big blonde boy, Magnusson, stopped nearly everything that came his way. He was a power on defense, making a big majority of the tackles.

Matt Kelsch, a reserve center from last year, has been shifted to an end where he is showing rather well. Another old man to report was Lauer who played considerably last fall when not hampered by injuries.

Leeka Speedy

Coach Ingwersen seemed pleased over the running of Leeka and Cummings who recently reported after a busy season on the freshman basketball team. Leeka is a rangy kid with plenty of weight and speed to make a good ball carrier. Cummings has a clever change of pace in the open field, and is blessed with an accurate throwing arm.

Plans are still being made to have a game on Saturday between two evenly matched teams.

Brooklyn Blanks Braves

MEAMI, Fla., March 28 (AP)—Dezy Vance and Jess Petty were in mid-season form today and Brooklyn blanked the Boston Braves 9 to 0, the Reds' getting only two singles. Vance pitched four innings and gave up one hit, Petty finished and allowed the same number.

DES MOINES, March 28 (AP)—Jok Kelly, Des Moines boxing promoter, has signed Mike Mandell of St. Paul, contender for the light heavyweight crown, and Kenneth Hunt of Des Moines, for a ten-round windup of a card arranged for the local coliseum, April 10.

150,000 Acres Open for Homesteaders

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—More than 150,000 acres of public land in western states are open to settlement, Secretary Work of the interior department announced yesterday on the basis of reclassification of the lands by the geological survey.

More than 45,000 acres in California were made available under the enlarged homestead act and subject to entry as homesteads of 320 acres or less under the reclassification. Nearly 45,000 acres in Montana and South Dakota were classified under the stock raising homestead law and designated for entry in tracts of 640 acres or less.

Minus 1927 Handicaps, Hendricks Points Reds Legs for First Division

ORLANDO, Fla., March 28 (AP)—Manager Jack Hendricks thinks his Cincinnati Reds should finish one-two-three in the National league and he would not be surprised to see the Red Legs right at the top.

"We have a much better club than most people give us credit for," he said. "With very little change this is the same club that was good enough to finish second in the National league, and with things as they are now, I don't see how we can fail to do better than we did last year when we wound up at the top of the second division.

Critz Out 40 Games

"Critz and Ford were out of approximately 40 games each in the first part of the season and it's no wonder we got a bad start. Kelly was not himself then. He told me when he reported that he might have to leave at any time as his appendix was troubling him. He had to have an operation in May.

"Our outfield will be made up of fast players who can hit and throw. What more can you ask of an outfielder?"

JACK HENDRICKS

Pitching O.K.

"The pitching should be all right. We have brought over some good pitchers, fellows the other clubs would be glad to have, from last year and some of these good looking youngsters will come through. They can't help it.

"Some of the 'experts' have counted us out, but I am convinced they have figured too soon. I can compare my ball club with those that have been conceded places in the first division and not give the Reds any the worst of it. Of course, I won't, for it's no part of my business to pick flaws in the other clubs.

"However, I am very well satisfied with our prospects. We have had great weather to get in shape, we have the best spring training camp in the south, and from here everything looks pretty good to us."

College Mat Body to Vote on Change of Wrestling Rules

Would Eliminate 158-Pound Class; Falls Decide Duals

Elimination of one class and substitution of two other weights, enlarging of the mat area, and alterations in scoring for both dual meets and team championships are the chief proposed rule changes which will be considered by the National Collegiate A.A. Wrestling rules committee at Ames Thursday evening.

Authority for this statement is Ernest G. Schroeder of the University of Iowa department of physical education for men, the advisory member of the five-man committee.

To Eliminate 158-Pound Class

One of the most radical of the changes which was recommended last December for final decision is that the 158-pound class be abolished, and that in its place the 155-pound and 165-pound weights be added. If this is passed the wrestling team will carry eight men. Western conference coaches, who met in Bloomington, Ind., last week, oppose the recommendation, said Schroeder.

The recommendation to enlarge the mat area from 16 by 16 feet to 24 by 24 will be voted upon by the officials. It will be surprising if this is acted upon favorably, according to the Iowa man.

Falls to Decide Meet

That a fall only should decide a match in a dual meet, and that bouts without falls be declared draws with no points awarded was discussed by the conference coaches. It will be brought up for decision before the rules body. The plan calls for five points to be awarded to the winning team for each fall. Such a rule change would improve meets by encouraging the wrestlers to strive for falls, and would eliminate the decision bouts now sometimes unsatisfactory.

Lomski Ends Drill for Skeyra Match

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—Leo Lomski, who bounced Tommy Loughran off the floor twice one night in an effort to win the light heavyweight championship, completed training today for his ten-round match with Joe Skeyra, of Dayton, in Madison Square Garden Friday night. The two foremost contenders for the 175-pound crown will work only lightly the remainder of the week.

Loughran has agreed to meet Friday's winner in an open air show early this summer.

Golfers Continue Drills on Course

Although the regular squad is going through its usual quota of workouts on Finkbine golf links, the number reporting each day has been considerably cut down due to the inclemency of the weather. The false start of spring brought out an unusually large number of golf enthusiasts, but the sudden change in temperature has cooled the ardor of most of them.

Tunney to Travel

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 28 (AP)—Gene Tunney, world heavyweight champion, probably will accept a royal invitation to Spain in 1929 and incidentally stage an exhibition bout for King Alfonso, he announced here today.

Allison, Second Place Winner in Big Ten, Leaves Track Star Forced to Quit Because of Finances

Iowa's chances for sweeping the high hurdles at the conference outdoor meet were considerable dimmed with the loss of Joe Allison. A3 of Davenport, to the squad. Allison has left school because of financial difficulty.

Allison is ranked next to Captain Cuhel in the high and is a valuable man in the Iowas. He captured the high hurdles at the Illinois relays in 1927 and raced to a second place in the Big Ten championships this winter.

The track team was forced back to the field house for a workout yesterday after enjoying nearly a week of sunshine on Iowa field.

University High Basketball Five Played Schedule With Three Leaders

Maybe you have heard about the ship without a captain and the boat without a sail, but have you ever heard about the basketball team with three captains?

The unusual distinction of claiming a quintet with a regular captain and two former captains in action in every game probably belongs to University High alone.

Ivan Blackmere, leader of the Blue and White squad through a successful season and named by the Des Moines Register as a center on the mythical all-state team, was assisted by two teammates who experienced a year of captaincy on the same squad.

Rush Dennis, regular guard on the U. High squad was elected to lead during the 1925-26 season and Dean Jones took over the pilot position the following year. Both men finished their records with creditable showing.

Jones played a consistent game at forward during his basketball experience and while not showing the flash of the rangy Blackmere, exhibited some strategy that proved a constant menace to the best of U. High rivals. Dennis assumed the role of general on defense and although not given the chance to display the offensive arts he frequently added to the tally board through consistency, coolness, and ability.

Weismuller Wins

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 28 (AP)—Flashing across the finish line well in the van of his opponents in the 100-yard free style race, John Weismuller, representing the I.A.C. broke the Milwaukee athletic club tank record at the Central A.A.U. meet here tonight. Weismuller holds the world record of 51 in this event.

Woodmen Receive State Honor Cup for Year's Work

Korns Makes Award at Dinner at Youde's Inn

Ninety-five members of the Iowa City Modern Woodmen camp and several visiting Woodmen, together with a large delegation of the Royal Neighbors of America, the auxiliary organization, attended a dinner at Youde's inn at 7:30 p.m. yesterday.

The event was a presentation of the Iowa state honor cup, which was given to the local camp by Director F. C. Korns of Des Moines, in behalf of the national order. The cup was won by the local lodge for unusually great activity during the last year.

G. A. Kenderdine acted as toastmaster.

Loftus Gives Address

William Loftus, mayor of Cedar Rapids, gave a ten minute talk on the work the Woodmen are doing, especially in regard to the tuberculosis sanatorium at Woodman, Colo. G. C. Keith, another of the Cedar Rapids delegates, also gave a talk. He is an officer in the Cedar Rapids camp which was in second place in the state contest.

Director Korns, former banker of the society, and now a member of the national board of directors, gave the main address of the evening. His theme was, "What Are We Here For?"

Close Relations Exist

Illustrating his talk by many examples of actual work the society is doing, and showing how every member is closely connected with the work. Director Korns talked for nearly an hour.

Although a college graduate himself, Mr. Korns is not convinced that only college men are best. He employs many non-college men and finds that they can make good in the work.

"The thing that counts," he declared, "is devotion to duty."

Local Camp Old One

Pointing out the utility of man's attempting to perpetuate his name by having it engraved on granite tombstones which crumble in the weather, Mr. Korns asserted that the one way in which a man would be remembered is through the hearts of his fellow men.

The Iowa City lodge, O. K. Camp, No. 189, was organized forty-two years ago. Charles C. Shrader has been clerk of the camp for one year more than a quarter of a century, and William Weber has been banker for nineteen years.

The award which was received last night was won in competition with 895 camps in Iowa.

Girl Scouts Tell Lions of Routine

A troop of Iowa City Girl Scouts explained the work of their organization at the weekly luncheon of the Lions club yesterday noon at Red Hall inn.

With Geneva Millet, Iowa City Girl Scout director, and Marion Maresh as leaders, the seven scouts sang songs and repeated their oath. Josephine Burrell of troop No. 5 gave a speech on Girl Scout life, work and ideals.

Howard R. Estes, of Washington, D. C., staff associate of the organization, spoke on the work of the American Child Health association in striving for better milk.

Orville Simmons, assistant director of the university department of physical education and Forest Olson, were voted into the club membership.

Announcement was made by President George Nagle of the inter-club attendance contest to be participated in by the Lions and other service clubs. Secretary George Frohwein announced the Lions International broadcast for the blind, to be given by the National Broadcasting company April 28, at 10 p.m.

Mrs. E. D. Starbuck, Esther MacDowell Swisher and Zita Fuhrman will leave this morning for Indianapolis to attend the music convention being held there.

Johnson County to Get New Schools

1928 Building Plans May Be Largest in Ten Years

Prospects for the most extensive county building program in ten years will be realized if motions for new schools in various parts of the county are approved at the elections to be held in the next few weeks.

The building of four one-room school houses, two in Union township and two in Sharon township, is almost a certainty. The election in district number eight, Sharon township will be March 31, in district number nine, Sharon township, April 3, and in districts two and seven, Union township, about April 10.

Solon will vote upon the proposition that a $20,000 addition be built to their present school, adding a gymnasium and giving additional space. The election is scheduled for April 16.

THIRN will hold its second election upon the proposal that a $25,000 bond issue for the erection of a new school be made. The first election, which was held late in January and at which the issue was passed, was declared invalid. The new election will be held April 14.

Construction approved by the voters will be started as soon as school is dismissed this spring. The schools will probably be ready for use at the opening of the fall term.

Phantom Burglar Eludes Lookout of Local Officers

Despite a sharp lookout maintained by local police, no traces of the man who has been burglarizing the district around S. Capitol and S. Madison streets has been found. None of the persons in the households which were entered were able to give a description of the man.

The burglar has confined his activities to this district, working in the early morning hours. The first report of the prowler's doings was turned in last Friday at 1:50 a.m. after Mrs. William J. Fay, 610 S. Capitol street had been awakened by noises in a room adjoining her bedroom.

The residence of C. C. Zager, 423 S. Capitol street was the next place entered but the burglar was frightened away. He was later discovered in the act of prying open a window at the residence of Albert Burger, 525 S. Capitol street. Mrs. Sarah Conklin, 519 S. Madison, reported a loss of $5 after the burglar's visit.

A bulletin issued by her physician, Dr. J. E. Hays, was the most favorable made public since the aged patient suffered a relapse on Sunday. She has been in the hospital since December when she was stricken with influenza.

Lauer Gives Rotary Talk

E. H. Lauer, director of the extension division, will attend a meeting of the Des Moines Rotary club tonight, where he will speak.

Word has been received from Mrs. S. B. Osborn of Osborn's dress shop, who was called to Independence Monday, because of the critical illness of her mother, that her mother's condition is improved.

Keokuk Captures Two First Places in Declam Contest

Gwendolyn Nagle Gets Second Place for City High

Keokuk high school captured two first places and one second place in the pre-district declamatory contest held yesterday in the Iowa City high school auditorium at 8 p.m.

The contestants came from Washington, Keokuk, West Liberty, Wheatland, Mt. Vernon, Grand Mount and Iowa City.

The contest was divided into three sections: oratorical, dramatic and humorous. In the oratorical group, William Brown of Keokuk speaking on "The Constitution," was awarded first, Donald Riedel of Wheatland giving "The Unknown Speaker" came second. Dennis Harrington of West Liberty delivering "Prince of Peace," was the third contestant in this division.

Contest Close

In the second group, the dramatic selections, John Wollenweber of Keokuk delivering "The Bishop's Candlesticks," ranked first and Gwendolyn Nagle of Iowa City came second with the selection, "The Money Spider." In this group the judges found it hard to make a decision because of the almost equal ranking of all three contestants, Esther Hall of Grand Mount speaking "Thru" was given honorable mention.

Jeanette Kkarel of Washington took first in the humorous division with a selection entitled "Ol, Such a Family," and Clayton Boyd of Keokuk took second with the selection, "The Debating Society." The third contestant in this division was Richard Baker of Mount Vernon giving "Plurys' Debating Club."

Judges for the contest were: Supt. Arthur Deamer of Washington high school, Cedar Rapids; Miss Bonita Schmidt, instructor of public speaking at Coe college, and Superintendent Vergon of Marion.

The winners of this contest will participate in the district contest to be held in Toledo within the next two weeks.

Other features of the program last night were songs sung by members of the junior high classes and a piano solo "Deux Polonaises" (Chopin) played by Esther Belle Moore.

The work is in Monroe township on the 10 4-10 miles of road between Curtis and the Amara colonies. Eight companies filed bids for the bridges.

The Clear Lake Construction company of Clear Lake was the lowest bidder for the grading of the same road. Their figure of $38,965 won them the contract.
