

Iowa Democrats Support Smith

Johnson County Gives Al Smith Convention Vote

Democrats Unanimous in Instruction of 26 State Delegates

Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York was unanimously selected by the Johnson county democrats in convention here yesterday as the man they will support for the democratic nomination for president of the United States.

Twenty-six delegates were selected and strictly bound to vote for Smith in the state convention at Des Moines. The motions which bound the delegates were to the effect that state delegates of both the local congressional district and the state delegates at large were to be instructed for Smith and that the local delegation should do everything possible to bring about such an instruction.

Not a single vote opposed either of the motions.

The delegation was also instructed to vote as a unit on all measures in the state convention.

Business Transaction

Harmony and rapid transaction of business marked the convention. F. R. Olsen, chairman of the Johnson county central committee, called the meeting to order and G. A. Kenderdine was named temporary chairman. He later was elected permanent chairman.

Throughout the meeting constant charges of graft on the part of republican party leaders were heard. In the keynote speech of Kenderdine, both state and national republican officials were denounced.

Kenderdine stressed the fact that Smith comes from the ranks of the common people, and has never been accused of crookedness in his public work.

Ridicule G. O. P.

E. L. O'Connor ridiculed the "G. O. P." terming it as "Great Old Party," and giving a brief history of the corruption which he alleged exists in the republican circles.

O'Connor, especially lauded Senator Borah, who, he said, was at least honest, regardless of the political measures he stands for.

Bruce Mahan, who gave a short but vigorous talk, declared that this is the great year of opportunity for democrats.

Samuel D. Whiting took the floor for a few minutes speech in which he denounced not only the national work of the republicans, but the state of corruption and stealing. He pointed to the loss of his office in the legislature two years ago and how the republican governor of Iowa disregarded the views of the majority of the Johnson County Bar association to appoint a republican judge in place of a democrat.

A committee consisting of Whiting, John Sheets, and C. C. Ries was appointed on credentials.

Five wards in Iowa City and thirteen precincts of Johnson county were represented at the convention, the committee reported.

Selection of the twenty-six delegates to represent Johnson county at the state convention was made by the committee composed of: LeRoy Mercer, Philp Michael, A. J. Hogan, W. J. McDonald, Mrs. John Reynolds and Charles Slavata.

After the delegates were named and the list put up to the convention for approval, the only voiced suggestion that there might be an opposition to Smith for the endorsement was made. T. E. Murphy suggested that the work of endorsing a man for the delegation to vote for be finished before the delegates were approved as there might be some on the list who would not be willing to work for the man selected by the convention.

Determine Vote

W. J. Baldwin made a motion to the effect that the delegation vote as a body, the majority to determine what the vote was to be. The motion passed with no vote of dissent.

Dr. F. C. Titzell offered a resolution to the body, which provided that the delegation from Johnson county vote solidly for Smith. After passing this motion another was brought before the house to the effect that the chairman of the delegation be given power to fill any vacancies occurring among the delegates on the day of the state convention. This was also passed with no opposition.

Before adjourning the convention rose and stood a few moments in silent tribute to those democrats who have died since the previous convention.

Those who were selected yesterday to represent Johnson county at Des Moines April 20 were:

W. J. McDonald, Bruce Mahan, J. J. Hanlon, W. J. O'Connell, G. A. Kenderdine, M. S. Swisher, J. M. Otto, Charles Slavata, Charles Chant, Joseph Kanak, J. S. Watson, F. G. Vilkinger, Harry Shulman, LeRoy Mercer, Harry Durest, Mrs. Ed Hogan, Ingalis Swisher, Charles Hacke, Phillip Michael, F. J. Krall, John McCollister, Preston Koss, Mrs. Blon Hunter, Mrs. George Kolda, Dr. F. C. Titzell and C. K. Kold.

Drives Fire Truck, But Not for Movie

STONINGTON, Conn., April 7 (AP)—Residents of this town thought they were witnessing the filming of a movie comedy today when a fire engine driven by a man clad only in pajamas roared through the central streets pursued by half a dozen uniformed men on motorcycles.

They thought differently, however, when, as the fire engine slowed to a halt in heavy traffic, one of the uniformed men jumped from his machine onto the fire engine, clambered up in the driver's seat and clasped handcuffs on the driver.

It developed that the pajama clad driver was an inmate of a state insane asylum at Norwich and had run off with the hospital's fire truck.

Detectives Save Rich Chicagoan From Kidnapers

Capture Gang Famed for Operations in Detroit

CHICAGO, April 7 (AP)—Kidnaped a week ago and held for $100,000 ransom, Thomas Gaynor, rich automobile dealer and hotel owner, was rescued today by five squads of Chicago detectives who captured four of the alleged kidnapers.

The detectives, armed with machine guns and shot guns, began their dramatic expedition at midnight, when five automobile loads of them roared away towards the northwest.

Their work had not been completed, said Michael Hughes, commissioner of police, and he would not hamper their efforts by revealing details of the thrilling release of Mr. Gaynor, the capture of the kidnapers or the identities of the men.

Kidnaped Jake Adler

"We rescued Gaynor. He's alive and well. We got the gang. They're that Detroit mob that has been working so successfully for more than a year. Its the same mob that kidnaped Jake Adler and two of his men and held them until they paid $10,000. I think they're the same gang that grabbed Milton Held, too, and didn't lay him down until his friends came through with $15,000. That's all I can tell you so we haven't cleaned up the case."

That Gaynor was a prisoner was revealed last Tuesday when two men approached his partner, James McCormick, with a demand for $100,000 ransom and the threat that McCormick would be "taken for a ride" if he notified the police.

$10,000 Ransom

McCormick arranged for the men to return yesterday for the money, he held out for a lower figure, and offered $10,000. The bills were marked and, despite the death threat, he had secreted a dozen detectives in the automobile sales room.

The men refused the money, hurried out and sped away in an automobile. The detectives followed for miles and then, fearing an escape, overtook the automobile and arrested the two men.

The detectives also brought back to Chicago three and a half tons of them reported stolen ten days ago and said to have been used by the kidnapers.

SEWARD, Alaska, April 7 (AP)—Capt. George H. Wilkins was silent at Point Barrow today, indicating to radio operators here that his projected flight to Spitzbergen had not yet begun.

Seward enjoyed ideal weather and it was thought conditions had improved also at Point Barrow.

All army and navy short wave radio stations in Alaska and a number of amateurs in the Pacific northwest have been keeping a day and night vigil for word of Wilkins' expected take-off.

Conduct Funeral of E. E. Buck Tomorrow

The funeral for Elmer E. Buck, 67 years old, who died Friday afternoon, will be held at the Hohenshuh mortuary tomorrow at 2 p. m. He will be buried in Oakland cemetery.

Mr. Buck was a pioneer in Johnson county, spending his early life on a farm in West Lucas township. Retiring from the farm twenty-five years ago, Mr. Buck moved to Iowa City.

Easter Parade to Meet Heavy Snow in Midwest States

Floods Add Havoc to Districts Near Mississippi

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 7 (AP)—A rushing race of water was in Arkansas tonight between the Mississippi's tributaries and the ponderous old river itself, and planters along the streams, were hoping that the smaller rivers could empty their surplus into the Mississippi before it attained such heights that it would refuse the muddy offering.

Near-flood stages predicted on the Mississippi, would block the mouths of the Arkansas and White, rivers men said, and force those rivers over lowlands in southeast Arkansas, to add to damage already done in central Arkansas.

The White had reached its crest, 31.3 feet, at Batesville today but was still rising farther south. Low lands around Batesville were under water and roads were impassable. A score of families have been driven from their homes and more were prepared to leave.

OMAHA, April 7 (AP)—While eastern and central Nebraska was bringing to order the confusion wrought by Friday's snow storm, farmers and agricultural authorities hailed the precipitation as worth "millions of dollars," to crops.

Estimates of power, telephone and telegraph companies place the damage a more than $300,000.

Hundreds of gangs of workers were restoring communication today which completely isolated Omaha early Friday morning. The Western Union Telegraph company reported partially restored service while the telephone company announced that full service probably would be restored tomorrow.

Press associations were working on irregular basis while the Nebraska Power company was reconstructing fallen wires.

Family of Eight Die in Texas Fire

Officers Investigate Possibility of Murders

CISCO, Tex., April 7 (AP)—A family of eight was wiped out today in a fire that changed their farm home to a funeral pyre.

The bodies of Boss Jackson, his wife, and six young daughters, were taken from the charred ruins by officers who started an investigation to determine whether they had been slain before the fire was set to the residence.

Neighbors, who discovered the Jackson home in flames about midnight, said the family had resided in the community for fifteen years, that it was in moderate circumstances and had no enemies so far as known.

One unusual fact neighbors pointed out was that Jackson's body was found in a room with two of the children, while Mrs. Jackson's body was in another room with four other children. Jackson and his wife usually slept in the same room, neighbors said.

The six girls in the family ranged in age from twins 1 year old, to a daughter 12 years old.

Sheriff John S. Hart of Eastland county, whose examination of one of the burned victims led him to believe her throat had been cut, said he preferred not to discuss the murder theory.

Flickinger Edits Classical Journal With Kansas Man

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 7 (AP)—R. J. Bonner, University of Chicago, was elected president of the classical association of the middle-west and south here today.

Frank J. Miller, University of Chicago, who retired as editor of the Classical Journal after twenty years service was succeeded by Prof. Roy C. Flickinger, University of Iowa, and Arthur T. Walker, University of Kansas, as associate editors.

Other officers chosen include W. L. Carr, University of Michigan, secretary-treasurer.

Rabbit Comes on Snow Shoes With Easter Eggs for Iowa City Children

Easter blew into Iowa City last night in the wake of a whistling, growling wind, and was preceded by a heavy snowfall.

The Easter Rabbit was forced to use Santa Claus' old furs, the ones that shrank when Old Santa tried to get the suit out of them. The bunny tried many times with his carts of colored eggs to start across the snowy blocks of Iowa City, but was forced to turn back and hawl out his old snow shoes to make the trip. These snow shoes hadn't been used for years.

He succeeded in getting around to the farthest nooks of the city, and today merry little children bend with glee over the "nest that bunny left." There are pink eggs, red, green, purple, and blue ones. There are chocolate rabbits, sugared chickens, imitation ducks and candy eggs in these nests.

Mothers says "Happy Easter!" to Dad, and Dad says the same to Mother. Every one's friends say "Easter Greetings!" and makes every one feel like living. Aren't people in Iowa City just as happy in the snow as they would have been if the sun were shining its brightest?

Mothers, sisters and aunts are having a good time watching the little children even if they themselves can't wear their new spring bonnets, or display spring styles beneath a real Easter sun. Daddies and brothers are having just as good a time with "kid brother" even if new suits will not show off in winter like this.

Do clothes have to make Easter? They can't this year, and even if they could they are not essential to the Easter spirit.

In every church of the city, every creed is in some way celebrating the resurrection of the World's Saviour. "He has risen from the dead. Alleluia!" resounds in very church choir.

John F. Webber, Father of S.U.I. Students, Slain

Murderer Surrenders; Charges Misuse of Legacy

OTTUMWA, April 7 (AP)—John F. Webber, 53 years old, prominent Ottumwa banker and former state senator, was shot and fatally injured at the door of his home here tonight by J. Everett Lewis, 31 years old, of Agency, near here, who told police he believed the banker was misappropriating a legacy left by Lewis' grandmother.

Lewis, who has confessed to the slaying, according to police, appeared at the Webber home about 6:30 o'clock tonight, summoned the banker outside the door, and after a dispute which ended in Lewis accusing Webber of being a "crook," shot the victim once through the head. He died about two hours later in a hospital.

Argues Over Estate

Lewis, who saw overseas service during the World war with the 51st and 52nd infantry, told officers at the county jail, where he is being held, that during the argument over the estate, Mr. Webber threatened to strike him. Lewis drew a .32 caliber revolver, and Webber turned to enter the house, but was ordered to halt.

Lewis called Webber a coward, and as the latter raised his hands, Lewis shot him.

The bullet passed through Webber's head, entering the right temple and emerging below the left temple. He staggered back and slumped at the feet of his wife, who had opened the door upon hearing the disturbance.

Lewis went to a nearby grocery store and called Police Chief J. E. Beeman, who sent officers to arrest him and bring him to jail.

Two Sons on Vacation

Until recently Mr. Webber was president of the Ottumwa National bank, being succeeded in January by J. H. Anderson. He was a former state senator, and one of the largest land owners in this section of Iowa.

Besides his widow, two sons, Bailey and John, Jr., both students at the University of Iowa, survive.

The sons were visiting home on Easter vacation tonight, but were away at the time of the slaying.

Lewis told police his grandmother, Mrs. Eliza Lewis, died in 1911, and left no will for her estate. His father was one of nine children. Money from the estate was deposited in the Ottumwa National bank.

He said he believed Webber had been "shorting" the estate, and went to see the banker tonight to protest.

Lewis has been living with his sister, Mrs. L. O. Cremer, at Agency.

Mr. Webber was a graduate of the University of Iowa, having received his degree in the college of law in 1899. John F. Webber, Jr., his elder son, is a freshman in the law school, and Bailey Webber is a first year liberal arts student.

Mississippi Defeats Iowa Team, 8 to 5

Snow Drifts on Lincoln Highway

CEDAR RAPIDS, April 7 (AP)—Hundreds of motorists were stalled three miles west of here on the Lincoln highway today by snow drifts which were piled several feet deep by a 50-mile an hour wind.

A large crew of farmers with teams of horses worked valiantly throughout the day, and by tonight had cleared up the worst traffic tie-up ever seen on a paved road in this section.

A worse tie-up is recalled here, but that was in the mud road days, when more than a thousand motorists were stuck in the mud near here while returning from the Iowa-Minnesota football game at Iowa City.

Non-Stop Flight Season Begins

Costes, Lebriz Leave Tokyo on 2,500 Mile Hop

TOKYO, April 8 (Sunday) (AP)—The French aviators, Costes and Lebriz, hopped off at 7:25 this morning on an attempted non-stop flight to Hanoi, capital of French Indo-China.

The distance from Tokyo to Hanoi is approximately 2,500 miles. An air line between the two cities would take the aviators southwestward the full length of the Japanese archipelago, across the East China sea and down the east coast of China, to the French colony. Less than half of the flight should be over water.

BALDONNEL, April 7 (AP)—On a mere matter of Col. James C. Fitzmaurice's life insurance, seemed to hang tonight the chances for a take-off either later tonight or tomorrow of the German plane "Bremen," with its German-Irish crew on a non-stop flight to America attempt.

The weather was auspicious for the flight's beginning early today, but became unfavorable after noon, and by nightfall, it appeared that the insurance matter, an entirely new hitch in their plans, might prevent taking off even if there should be a turn for the better.

Lloyds will not open for business following upon the Easter holidays until Monday morning and until then it did not look tonight as if Colonel Fitzmaurice would find anyone willing to help him keep his promise to the Irish Free State government to provide for the future of his wife and child before attempting the flight.

One race track "bookie" offered to help and was willing to give a policy worth 2,000 pounds for 400, but even he withdrew his offer after mature consideration, explaining that it looked as if he were laying odds of 2,000 to 400 against the success of the flight and he did not like to do that where human life was involved.

Peekskill Honors Depew at Funeral

NEW YORK, April 7 (AP)—Accompanied by the tributes of a nation, the body of Chauncey Mitchell Depew was taken back today to his native village of Peekskill in the highlands of the Hudson.

In a great, white Mausoleum in the rolling hills outside the village, the casket was hidden from a world in which over a period of almost 34 years he had risen from country boy to the combined distinction of statesman, railroad executive, humorist and philosopher.

The quiet countryside and speeding New York joined to extend final honors. Old residents of Peekskill who knew Mr. Depew as a youth, and children to whom his name is legend, crowded the streets of the village. They stood with bare heads as the funeral cortege arrived under police escort from New York where thousands earlier had assembled for services in St. Thomas' Episcopal church in fifth avenue.

Members of the village board of trustees met the procession at the Peekskill village line and escorted it to historic Hillside cemetery two miles from Peekskill's main street where Mr. Depew was born. A platoon of cadets from Peekskill military academy from which he was graduated, formed a cordon through which the body was carried to the mausoleum.

Mulroney Batted Out of Box in Sixth Frame of Tilt

STARKVILLE, Miss., April 7 (AP)—Scoring six runs in the sixth inning when the Iowa defense cracked, Mississippi A. and M. registered an 8 to 5 triumph over the Old Gold baseball team today. It was the second loss on their annual spring tour.

Singles by Blackford, Nelson and Glasgow gave Iowa its first tally in the initial inning. That margin appeared sufficient until the sixth frame when the locals bombarded Mulroney from the hill and scored twice on David, his pitching successor.

Iowa came back in the seventh when Terry drove in two runs. Blackford's twobagger in the ninth counted two more but the margin against them stood.

Corbin or Two good will be Coach Otto Vogel's pitching selection against Washington university at St. Louis Monday where the Old Gold closes its southern invasion.

The box score:

Many to Attend Lowden Banquet

Alumni, Friends Come From Chicago and Cities in Iowa

Messages of acceptance to invitations for the banquet in honor of Frank O. Lowden here April 18 are being rapidly received by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, which is sponsoring the affair.

Several graduates of the university have already made reservations. Judge Michael L. McKinley, '95 of the Cook county superior court, and Harry Eugene Kelly, '92, Chicago attorney, will represent the former coming to Iowa City with Governor Lowden.

H. O. Weaver of Wapello a personal friend of the guest of honor, is planning to attend, as is Harvey Ingham, '80 editor of the Des Moines Register and national honorary president of Sigma Delta Chi.

Two Cedar Rapids residents have accepted invitations. They are John Grimm, '89, attorney, and Verne Marshall, editor of the Gazette-Republican. President Raymond Hughes of Iowa State college at Ames will also be among the guests.

Many Iowa City men who have received invitations have made reservations for the dinner. In addition to the out of town guests who have already accepted, many more alumni, state officials, newspapermen, and friends of Governor Lowden are expected to reply within the next week.

Mildred Filter Dies at Sister's Home

Funeral services for Mildred Filter, 32 years old, will be held at 1:30 o'clock today. Burial will be at Sprindale.

Miss Filter died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fred Messner, 308 N. Gilbert street, at 8:15 p. m. Friday. She had lived here and at Chicago.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Messner of Iowa City, and Mrs. Edith Kelly of Milwaukee, Wis.; and three brothers, E. Warren Filter of Los Angeles, and William and Viggo Filter of Anamosa.

Instructions Give 533 Delegates to Meredith's Ninety

State Convention to Meet April 20 in Des Moines

DES MOINES, April 7 (AP)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York gained the favor of Iowa democrats, in county conventions today, over the Hawkeye state "favorite son" of the "progressive drags," Edwin T. Meredith, former secretary of agriculture.

Governor Smith had a commanding lead over Meredith in instructed delegates to the state convention here April 20, when reports were compiled from ninety of the ninety-nine counties, which have 1,245 of the 1,322 delegates to the state convention.

Five of the counties reported, having fifty-two delegates, had to postpone their conventions because of impassable roads following last night's storms. Two counties, Polk and Woodbury, put the selection of delegates up to the state convention by choosing two sets of delegates, one for Smith! the other for Meredith. Reports from the other nine counties were delayed by wire trouble.

The delegate score in the ninety counties heard from, counting instructions or indorsements only for the candidates named, follows:

Smith, 533; Meredith, 90; uninstructed, 489; contested, $1; choice postponed, 52; total 1,245.

Smith was given sufficient instructions in six of the eleven congressional districts to assure him of the twelve district delegates to the national convention from those districts. This majority indicated also that when it comes to seating the contesting delegations from Polk and Woodbury counties, the Smith delegates, having the majority in six of the nine districts deciding the contests, will seat the Smith delegates from those two counties.

Seating Smith's supporters in Polk and Woodbury would give Smith the delegates from the seventh and eleventh districts as there are sufficient Smith instructions in counties other than Polk in the seventh and Woodbury in the eleventh to carry the district caucuses for the New York governor.

Under the customary democratic practice of binding its delegations under the unit rule, Smith by winning a majority of the district delegates and having the four delegates at large in sight through controlling the state convention would be assured of the solid vote of Iowa's twenty-six delegates in the Houston national convention.

Miss Myrtle Johnston of London is acclaimed by English critics as a real find. In addition to her literary talent, she is graced with her share of beauty and charm.

Galli-Curci Sings at Cedar Rapids

In the single session that the famous singer, Amelita Galli-Curci will sing at the new Shrine Temple, Cedar Rapids on Thursday, April 19 was absent from this country, she conquered four new worlds by her musical powers.

Formerly a triumph abroad brought a singer to triumph in America. Madame Galli-Curci's greatest triumph was reached here in America, and made Great Britain, Ireland, Australia, New Zealand, and other lands impatient to hear the voice that had conquered America.

Previous to the sensational Galli-Curci debut in Chicago in 1916, she had made conquests of Italy, Russia, Spain, South and Central America, and Cuba. She had intended to visit America for a short time, but eight consecutive seasons were passed here before she could leave for Europe.

Abroad, as in America her homeland, Galli-Curci carries a proof of the musical understanding of our country. The verdict of Americans on her voice was confirmed by all the foreign lands which she has visited.

Washington Bright on Easter Sunday

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—Official Washington has completed its plans for a quiet Easter, but horticultural Washington has flared out in a riotous mass of color to delight the 35,000 visitors here for the holiday.

Thousands of visitors and many officials will gather in the churches of the city for the religious rituals. The President Coolidge plans to attend the First Congregational church to hear its pastor the Rev. Jason Noble Pierce. He probably will be accompanied only by Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, of Boston, white house guests, as Mrs. Coolidge will spend her Easter at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, at Northampton, Mass.

The first of the many religious services of the capital will take place with the sunrise on the slopes of the great amphitheatre of Walter Reed hospital, where the gleaming white of nurses' uniforms will form a "living cross" at the outdoor service which has become the regular opening of Easter worship in Washington.

Viewing with the churches will be the unusually brilliant floral display of Washington's many parks. Around the great half circles of Potomac basin the 2,000 Japanese cherry trees are heavy with bursting blossoms.

On Monday the Easter celebration will come to its official end with the annual egg rolling on the white house lawn. Last year over 30,000 children attended.

Iowa State Press Association Meets Here April 21, 22

Round Tables, Talks to Feature Annual Convention

The Iowa College Press association will convene in Iowa City for its twelfth annual session, Friday and Saturday, April 21 and 22.

The program was announced yesterday in detail for the first time, Friday morning will be devoted to routine business, including registration at Old Capitol. Luncheon will be held at Iowa Union at noon.

Prof. Frank L. Mott, head of the school of journalism, will open the afternoon meeting with an address of welcome. "Improving news stories and headlines" is the title of Prof. Frederick J. Lazzell's speech, which will follow Professor Mott's address of welcome.

Turner to Speak

Ralph Turner, assistant general manager of the United Press and former correspondent at Tokio, London and Mexico City will give the chief address of Friday afternoon. This will be followed by round table discussions for editors, circulation managers and sports writers.

A convention dinner will be held at Iowa Union Friday. The chief speaker has not been announced as yet, but several members of the convention will respond to toasts. Theodore F. Koop, J4 of Monticello, will be toastmaster.

Sigma Delta Chi to Entertain

Immediately following the dinner, Sigma Delta Chi, journalistic fraternity will entertain at a dance in Iowa Union.

Saturday speakers will include Clifford DePuy, of the DePuy Publications, Des Moines, and Wayne Weishaar, dramatic editor of the Des Moines Register. Sherman J. McNally, '23, editorial writer on the Waterloo Evening Courier has also been obtained.

H. E. Taylor, editor of the Trier Star-Clipper, which won a prize for being the best weekly newspaper in the United States, will address the convention Saturday afternoon. Round tables for news writers, business managers, columnists and feature writers will complete the program.

The final business of the convention will be the announcement of contest winners and the election of officers. Theta Sigma Phi, journalistic sorority, will entertain at a tea as the final feature.

Blayne McCurry of Grinnell College is the president of the Iowa College Press association.

Teachers in Iowa Seek to Abolish Annual Convention

DES MOINES, April 7 (AP)—The three day convention of the Iowa state teachers association, held in Des Moines each November, will be abolished if the association accepts the reorganization report of its special committee.

The report will be submitted to the annual meeting this fall for acceptance or rejection. Referenda taken by Midland Schools, the association publication, and at district meetings, indicate that the sentiment for the change is evenly divided among the members.

According to the proposed revision the program finances of the association will be used for the seven district meetings instead of for the central state meeting. These meetings are to be changed to fall.

The annual state meeting will continue here but will be limited only to the representative assembly.

SOUND AUCTION BRIDGE

HAND NO. 41

THE PLAY

South is the dealer. What is the proper bidding and play?

Record the bids that each player should make, assuming that he does not see any of the other hands. These hands must not be bid or played "Double Dummy," i. e., as though all four hands were exposed.

NOTE—In recording the Auction, or the play use "S" for Spades, "H" for Hearts, "D" for Diamonds, and "C" for Clubs. Use "N.T." for No Trump, "DBL" for double, "RED BL" for redouble.

Yesterday's Hand as Played by Mr. Whitehead

HAND NO. 40

THE PLAY

Trick 1. West's opening lead of the Deuce of Hearts shows East four Hearts in West's hand and therefore two in South's hand.

Trick 2. East insures making bid King of Spades by forcing Dummy to trump the second lead of Hearts to prevent the lead of Spades twice through his King.

Trick 3. South overtakes the Jack of Spades in hopes of dropping the King on an immediate second round.

Trick 4. East sets the contract at once by leading the Ace of Clubs. (Copyright, 1927, Republic Syndicate)

The Easter Season

THE calendar shows many red letter days throughout the year, but no other holiday has the emotional significance of Easter. A season of hope and rebirth, Easter comes at a time when spring begins to repair the ravages of winter. Blades of grass show green beneath the year's last flurries of snow, and sap brings the first buds to the trees.

While devout church members gather to commemorate the suffering and resurrection of Christ, all nature seems to awaken and promise the earth another season of life and growth.

Iowa City has entered into the spirit of the Easter admirably. All the churches have joined in sponsoring Holy week services based on the universal love of Christ. At such a time it is gratifying to see minor differences in creed forgotten while everyone joins in a week of meditation and worship.

Another Easter day will soon be ended, yet the spirit of Easter . . . the hope, love and gratitude which the season engenders, will last forever in the hearts of those for whom Easter is more than a mere fashion parade.

A Temperamental Actress

PRIMA DONNAS, those opera singers with extensive avoirdupois, have always reserved the right to be temperamental. Their managers and the public expect a sudden tantrum over the least disturbance. It is almost a custom of the opera to announce the "indisposition" of the star.

Not so with the legitimate stage. The Actors' Equity association takes care that actors and actresses remove their temperaments before entering into contracts to take part in a production. The association acts as a court to hear and pass sentence on all its members who fail to carry out their contracts.

Thus Jeanne Eagles, whose defiance of contracts during the last few weeks has been almost unprecedented, now finds herself banished from the stage for a year and a half. The actress who starred in "Rain," and who has been playing this season in "Her Cardboard Lover," failed to appear when the play was to open in Milwaukee and St. Louis, and the engagements had to be cancelled. The producers complained, the equity council heard the case, with the resulting sentence.

The theatre is run on the same principles of business as any other profession. There can be no "monkey business;" acting is not child's play. The equity association, while a virtual labor union of the theatre, insures fair play for both actors and the public.

The Habit of Hand Kissing

FOR centuries the old-world courtesies and demonstrations of politeness have characterized the Latin countries. Italy, in particular has been most effusive. With her connect gestures of the arms, the kissing of hands, and spontaneous handshaking.

But all these niceties will soon be gone, for the ubiquitous fascisti have relegated it to limbo along with the Roman holidays for which Italy has been noted for more than a thousand years. It is much more dignified and healthy, the fascisti have discovered to reply to a greeting with the formal fascisti salute. Kissing of the hands is quaint and old-fashioned, but the dictatorial regime hopes that that antiquated custom will die out because it is unhygienic, and is going to take steps to stamp it out of the formalities of the Italian race.

We never enjoy what we have until we see others being deprived of their birthrights. "The land of the free and the home of the brave" is such a far cry from this dictatorial oppression that it angers us to think that a large nation can be so under the thumb of a "power behind the throne." Even though we have never possessed the hand-kissing, we have been pleased by it, and hate to see it arbitrarily banished from the Italian race. Italy sits quietly by and obeys, but should anyone dare to suggest that our old American habit of hearty handshaking should be abolished, there would be another revolution. It is good to live in the "land of the free and the home of the brave."

Murder!

WHEN the District Attorneys' association meets in Philadelphia next week, the hit-and-run-driver question will be discussed, not in the light in which it is being now regarded, but rather as a charge of murder which should be treated as such.

If the contemplated plans of the association go through, hit-and-run drivers who are apprehended will face the much more serious charge of "second degree murder" rather than "leaving the scene of an accident" or "failing to administer first aid." After a few prosecutions have been made, and penitentiary sentences given, it is safe to assume that the number of hit-and-run offenses will soon be considerably reduced. It will be altogether too dangerous to run away when the doors of the penitentiary will have been made to open more easily.

The Associated Press Wins

WHEN April showers turned into a winter snowstorm that isolated Omaha Friday, telegraph wires were of course put out of operation. It was early in the morning when the last Associated Press item was carried over the regular leased wires into the offices of Omaha's two newspapers.

Radio station WOW at Omaha appealed to other stations to communicate with press association and have them radiocast news reports for Omaha afternoon newspapers. WHO, Des Moines station, invited the Des Moines bureau of the Associated Press to make use of its station in broadcasting news to the isolated city.

News from the Nebraska metropolis was not yet to be had, but finally KDAP at Kansas City caught WOW, and received the first details of Omaha's situation. At about the same time, the night telegraph operator in the Des Moines Associated Press bureau, turned on his radio, and obtained short dispatches.

Thus the Associated Press was able to give a complete story of the storm at Omaha and was also able to furnish information of the outside world to the newspapers of that city. It is but another instance of the Associated Press "getting through."

There has been a lot of talk about who is the "meanest man in the world." It is our opinion that no one deserves that name more than the man who proposed that the Lynnfield (Mass.) council appropriate $256 for nineteen more town street lights to discourage petters. Worst of all, the council concurred.

As long as Iowans today are saying "Merry Christmas" instead of "Happy Easter," there ought not to be any opposition to the hundred million dollar road bond proposition.

Canada has the largest captive buffalo herd in the world. Now we know why so many Americans visit that country.—Milwaukee Journal.

Robinson Goes to the Woodshed

Scene—The senate. Time—The zero hour appointed by Walsh of Montana to give Robinson of Indiana the speaking that was coming to him for his reckless political statements on the oil scandal. On the democratic side—senators rallied to the support of Walsh, intent on his words and ready to help if he needed help. On the republican side—deserted benches, with reckless Robinson sitting almost alone to face a gladiator who had been thoroughly aroused.

This setting is illuminating. Days ago, Robinson, taking his cue from some injudicious remarks by the youthful Nye of North Dakota, started this thing by charging that the real oil conspiracy was formed in the closing days of the Wilson administration. He had nothing to go on except that there had been oil legislation and men, after they left the cabinet, had accepted employment with oil companies, as Charles Evans Hughes, of his own party, did after leaving Coolidge's cabinet. But he made the most of it and tried so to word his talk that the public would be led to draw inferences which he, himself, did not dare draw even under the sheltering immunity of senatorial privilege. Robinson was making a campaign fight, pure and simple. And it was a republican campaign fight.

If there was anything to what Robinson said, it was just the material that his colleagues on his own side of the senate were needing. Then why were they not there when Walsh called for an accounting? The explanation is clear. They knew that Robinson had been talking just what Walsh said he was talking—"piffle."

Walsh had the facts on his side and, more than that, a spirit of public service which Robinson doesn't know. For, recounting his part in recovering for the government oil worth $1,000,000,000, he said:

"Had a great corporation recovered lands of such value which had been fraudulently disposed of by the directors, and I had been the attorney, the court would have allowed a fee which would make me richer than I ever shall be, or hope to be or would desire to be."

There is some measure of the Walsh service and some measure of the man. No wonder other republican senators deserted the reckless youth from Indiana and let him take his strapping alone.

Chills and Fever

Gentle reader and the rest of you huskies, listen! Words do not, cannot, will not fall me in this crucial test. I have been challenged to answer one of eight questions hatched in the mind of R.S.L. It is a duel to the death. If he thinks that by a stiff exam he can perform one more elimination in the race for conductors, he is—well, to put it mildly—mistaken.

I shall come forward gracefully and make myself clear before boarding the next auto out of town for Marshalltown, where I hope to release myself from the sight of R.S.L. To tell the truth, I stayed here because I thought he was leaving. Question 1. Who is Jollope? I might take this opportunity to say that I am not here to answer the foolish inquiries made by the students of their relatives. Although SOME may be credited with performing miracles, I maintain that I am no Mr. Fixit. How should I know who or where or why his cousin Jollope is?

To re-introduce myself, I am Silent John, eminent AMERICAN savant, clairvoyant, and all the other big words. Chills begged me, before he left for parts unknown, to write a poor column so people would appreciate him when he got back. This one ought to satisfy him.

Question 2. What, if anything, brought him, (her)—(not he, she)—to prominence? It is clearly seen that R.S.L. is just feeling around to see if Jollope is a him, her, or just a new kind of Coca Cola. My answer is definitely—NO.

Question 3. What is a conductor? I might say that a conductor is one who conducts—but I won't. R.S.L. expected something like that, and I wouldn't attempt to satisfy him for the world, or for two worlds.

Question 4. Are you normal? Your honor the reader! I appeal to your better (if you have any better) judgment! Think of it, ladies and Gentlemen! Am I normal? Preposterous! Of course not. Otherwise, why would I be sitting here watching a race between this silly typewriter and the aforementioned automobile.

Here is an old wheeze—"Automobile—Auto from the Greek, ought to be—mobile from the French, movable. And, gentle reader and healthy brethren, the two together mean this—something that ought to move, but frequently doesn't—past Kappa Sig point or the Pi Phi college girls' association, better known as the Associated Female Students of the Liberal Arts College.

I swear that is my one and only wheeze. (Editor's note: Thank Gawd!)

Question 5. Was Salome headstrong? Now I ask you, was she? Leaving aside that part of the discussion, it must be said in her favor that she had enough other good points to overbalance any strength in her head—or in her feet, for that matter. Believing as I do, I have no reason to think that I have been reincarnated from a man of her day and age. Therefore, I cannot truly say that I knew her. Next!

(That reminds me. Barber shop—first thing I land in Marshalltown!) Jollope? Jollope? Let me see now? could that? be one of those things—jollopes . . . ??? . . . that plays the tunes at the tail end of the circus parades? No . . . ? . . . yes . . . ? . . .

Question 6. Are you prejudiced? Before answering that one I would like to know just what a prejudice is. I cannot tell you whether or not I am prejudiced until I have seen my doctor, and if he has another name for it, how am I to know the difference? Even my best friends won't tell me.

(Later. A result of a conference with the janitor.) Me. Am I prejudiced? Him: Huh? Me: (Again) Am I prejudiced? Him: Huh? (Falls into stupor, known by some as cupid) Enters, female tylist—Her: (shifting gum—as well as teeth)—Lemme see your tongue. What is a conductor? Was Salome headstrong? Who is Jollope? Or Jollope? (Fadeout—passout.)

That, gentle scanner, was impressionism.

Question 7. Who called the Alpha Delt house at 3 a.m. yesterday? Answer. That wasn't yesterday, that was day before yesterday. But it reminds me of a dirty trick played on one of the more prominent girls' boarding houses a week or so ago. Someone called up the house and told them there was a fire across the street.

The result, when the phantom photographer got back to the office was a beautiful silhouette. That thing was NOT printed and WHY?

And who else would want to call the Alpha Delt at 3 a.m.?

Question 7. What is an Easter egg? Do you know any? Of course, R.S.L. with his master brain would save that one for the last. I could explain best by passing this question to the original Chiz: "Which came first, the chicken or the egg, and was the first egg an Easter egg? With its appendages, I maintain that the last question is original. I know of only one egg this Easter, and he's cracked."

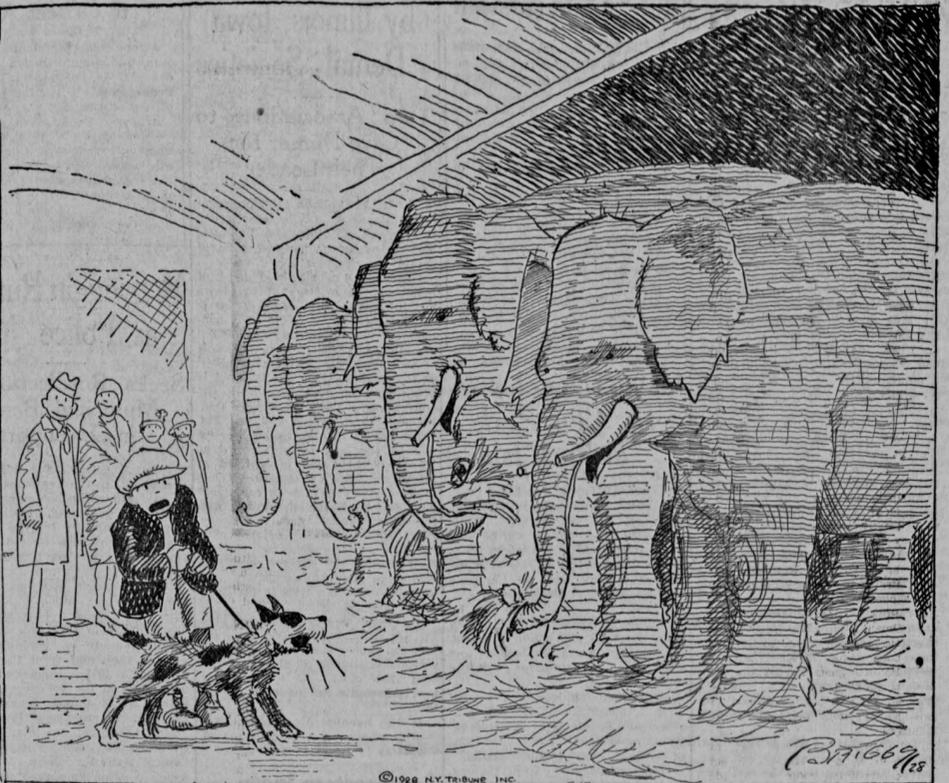

Did I pass, Ralph?

Dear audience, and the rest of you guys that aren't asleep yet! He said I did; I did get one of the answers right. It was the one about the Easter egg. He passed me because I didn't say anything about Pat and Mike.

A Yankee at Large

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
LONDON—I recently fulfilled an old ambition of mine and paid a visit to the Balkan state of Ruritania, land of intrigue and of romance. There in the quaint old capital city of Strelsau, I had the honor of lunching with a party of world famous people.

First of these was the Princess Flavia, a gracious and queenly beauty, much beloved by the Ruritanians, and with good reason. Then there were Rudolf Rassen-dyll, the Englishman, of fiery spirit and equally fiery head of hair, who for a time was able to hoax the world and wear the Ruritanian crown, because of his remarkable likeness to the king; gruff but lovable old Colonel Sapt, grizzled watch-dog of the throne, who throughout the lunch pulled fiercely at his moustache, while a little smile twitched at the corners of his mouth, in recognition of the fact that the Princess Flavia and Rassen-dyll were obviously in love; Black Michael, Duke of Strelsau, a villain if ever there was one; and Rupert of Hentzau, a "debonair knave" but, one must admit, a very likeable chap for all of that.

That is to say, I lunched at Heath Farm, Walton-on-the-Hill, some 20 miles from London, with Anthony Hope, that great romanticist who created "The Prisoner of Zenda" and "Rupert of Hentzau." And a Princess Flavia was there, too, though in real life they call her Lady Anthony Hope Hawkins — a Titian haired American beauty who is one of the most charming and most admired hostesses in England.

Sir Anthony Hope Hawkins and his wife are, as they put it, rusticated. They have temporarily deserted their town house for their country home, high upon Walton Heath. Within a few steps of their old-world residence, with its sweeping gardens, one can step out onto an open space from which a view of many miles of wonderful English country-side may be had. The house itself has been fitted by the hand of romance—a low, rambling structure, filled with antique furniture, and warmed by blazing logs and peat in open fireplaces.

In one wing is the study of the novelist, and here he dreams and writes, though at the moment he has nothing in the fiction line on his mind. He recently completed his memoirs, however, and incidentally these deal liberally with the America he knew in the Delmonica days. Sir Anthony is 64 years of age, but his cheery laugh is that of a boy of 21, and the fire of youth lingers in his eyes. I asked him if he intended to write more novels.

"One hopes so," he smiled. "But romances come easier when one is young." Sir Anthony believes that the younger generation of writers are, on the whole, not producing the literature of the Rudyard Kiplings and the Arnold Bennetts. Most of the novels of today are sex stories and the plots are laid in their eyes is temporary.

The Hungarians of New Buda

(Furnished to The Associated Press by The State Historical Society of Iowa at Iowa City)

For years missing from the map of Iowa, the Hungarian colony of New Buda in Decatur county, established soon after Hungary's ill-fated revolution against Austria in 1848, was an interesting and picturesque settlement of foreigners. All that now remains of the settlement is the name of a township.

The leader of the Iowa colony was Count Ladislaus Ujhazy, a representative of one of the oldest and wealthiest families of the Hungarian nobility, and an intimate and devoted friend of Louis Kossuth, the noted Hungarian patriot for whom Kossuth county in northern Iowa is named.

Count Ujhazy was about 60 years old when the failure of the Hungarian revolution forced the leaders of the movement to flee for their lives. Late in 1849 a group met in London under his leadership and planned to emigrate to America. The exiles, men of gentle birth who belonged to the old Magyar stock, were not of Hungarian peasant type, as are immigrants of later years who have flocked to the mines and factories of America.

Ujhazy and his friends met a cordial reception in America, and a few weeks after their arrival the count had an interview with President Taylor, who advised him to select land in Iowa. Ujhazy and his party traveled by rail to Burlington, and from there by stage and wagon westward to the newly organized and yet unsectioned county of Decatur.

Near Missouri Border
The tract of land which Count Ujhazy selected was in the southern part of the county less than six miles from the Missouri border. It was slightly rolling, gentle prairie, with belts of woodland along the streams. The nearest postoffice and trading point was Princeton, Missouri, twenty miles to the south. Des Moines, a hundred miles south was little more than a village in 1850.

In honor of the old Magyar capital of Hungary, Ujhazy named his settlement New Buda. His dream was to establish an extensive community in which the political life would be that of free, loyal American citizens, and the social life that of Magyar land owners.

Ujhazy rode for miles over the Iowa prairie, choosing sites for public buildings and fixing the boundaries of the New Buda of his hopes. On his own portion of land he built a huge log castle, by far the largest and most imposing building in the county at the time.

Two years after its establishment, New Buda was granted a postoffice, the first one in the county, and Count Ujhazy, the former Governor of Conorn, Hungary, was appointed postmaster.

Accustomed to the life of Hungarian noblemen, Ujhazy and his companions found it difficult to acclimate themselves to conditions of western farm life in the fifties. To cut the forests was contrary to the count's conception of the dignity of a land owner, and consequently the trees on his land remained untouched.

People Hospitable
At his log castle was maintained the same lavish hospitality and, as far as possible, the manner of living to which Ujhazy had been accustomed in Hungary. His house was open to army officers, officials of various rank, and others whose refinement and education made them congenial company. Horses were provided for his guests who were warmly welcomed as long as they chose to remain. Good breeding was the only requirement for his guests.

An important factor in persuading the refugees to select Iowa as a home was the assurance that they would be able to obtain land from the government on favorable terms. A resolution was introduced in congress to appropriate lands for the Hungarians, but no action was taken.

In January, 1855, President Pierce issued an order reserving from sale

the land occupied by the exiles, and in 1858 congress passed an act extending to the settlers on the reserve land the privilege of security title upon payment of $1.25 an acre, and charging no interest for the time they already occupied the land.

Before this legislation in their favor was enacted, a number of the New Buda settlers found the Iowa winters too severe for the successful raising of grapes, the branch of horticulture with which they were most familiar. Accordingly, in 1853 Count Ujhazy and many of his original party removed to San Antonio, Texas, where another colony was started.

Count Ujhazy's wife bravely shared his exile, but she died a short time after reaching Iowa. Five of his twelve children came to America, and the count was known as a kindly father.

George Pomtus, who is remembered for his promotion scheme for the colony was among the younger refugees at New Buda. He prepared a map of the "City of New Buda," showing Boehm university, Kossuth Platz, and College Square, together with libraries, parks and avenues with foreign names. Although the site of the splendor was virgin prairie and New Buda was only a rural postoffice, the promoter's manner and speech were so convincing that he sold his city lots in St. Louis and Hoboken and induced several families to move to Decatur county in search of the fabulous "City of New Buda."

As a permanent settlement, however, New Buda was not a success. The exiles as a rule were impractical and lacked the qualities necessary for developing a new country. They were statesmen and scholars, but not pioneer farmers; and their crude attempts at agriculture were sources of amusement to their American neighbors.

The population, perhaps never more than 75, was gradually shifting, and finally even those who had acquired title to their land moved to town or to other farming localities. The postoffice was discontinued years ago, and now the civil township of New Buda alone perpetuates the name of the colony.

The Book World

General Sherman was not above passing a delicate compliment when the occasion was appropriate. In his "Kit Carson: The Happy Warrior of the Old West" (Houghton Mifflin Company) Stanley Vestal quotes the general as saying: "Red Skins think Kit Carson twice as big a man as me. Why, his integrity is simply perfect! They know it, and they would believe him and trust him any day before me."

"Like all newspaper men," says Jack Bertha, author of the new novel, "Cotton," to be published April 12 by Houghton Mifflin company, "I do my best work when I am writing against time and under terrific pressure. I have the unfortunate habit of postponing a thing until it must be done at top speed and I find that the best results for me are obtained in this way. I do all my writing at night and am so situated as to live in a house where this is possible."

Coleman Cox, whose "Straight Talk" will be published April 12 by Houghton Mifflin company, is one of the few writers who do not regard golf as one of their chief recreations. "I believe I can get just as much out-door exercise pushing my lawn-mower," says Mr. Cox. "Golf is wonderful for 'houseplants' that have no gardens and lawns, but I look upon time as being the most valuable thing in the world and I try to use every minute of it to advantage. I have never played a game of golf and never expect to. I became fed up on cow-pasture many years ago."

In January, 1855, President Pierce issued an order reserving from sale

Athletics Capture Philadelphia Championships for Third Year

Mackmen Take Fourth Struggle From Nationals

Grove Whiffs Nine in Five Frames; Haas Roles Homer

PHILADELPHIA, April 7 (AP)—The Athletics captured the city baseball championship for the third straight year by defeating the Phillies today, 6 to 1. The victory gave the Americans four victories in five games. A sixth contest will conclude the series on Monday.

Lefly Grove pitched five innings and rolled up nine strike outs. The Phillies' lone run was made off Grove in the fourth inning on a single, a pass, a passed ball and a sacrifice fly.

George Haas rapped out a home run, his third of the week, scoring French ahead of him.

The score: Philadelphia (N) 000 100 000—1 6 2 Philadelphia (A) 000 202 20x—6 9 0 Ferguson, Baecht, Sweetland and Wilson and Schutte; Grove, Rommel and Cochrane.

Yanks Drop Another

NEW YORK, April 7 (AP)—No longer pitted against class O, opposition, the New York Yankees resumed their losing ways today, bowing to the Brooklyn Dodgers in an exhibition game at the Yankee stadium, 12 to 5. A crowd of 20,000 saw the game.

Jess Petty mowed down the Yankees as fast as they came to the plate during his five innings on the mound. One hit, a single by Combs, first man to face Petty, was all the Yankees could get off the crack left-hander's puzzling delivery.

A triple by Ruth in the eighth featured a four-run rally by the champions.

The score: Brooklyn (N) 115 101 003—12 16 2 New York (A) 000 000 140—5 8 3 Petty, Clark and Hargreaves; Hoyt, Pipgras, Shealey and Grabowski.

Reds Blank Cleveland

CINCINNATI, April 7 (AP)—Luque and Jablonowski held the Cleveland Indians to one hit while the Reds scored six runs, primarily on home runs by Kelly and Critz to win a five inning exhibition game today 6 to 0.

The game was called because of rain as the sixth inning opened. The Reds did their heavy hitting in the opening inning when Reshen walked, Purdy singled and Kelly swalloped the ball to the flapjole. Critz' home run to deep center also scored Walker who reached first on Burns' fumble.

The score: Cleveland (A) 000 000—0 5 4 Cincinnati (N) 500 10—6 5 1 Shaute, Brown and Atry; Luque, Jablonowski and Hargrave.

Braves Trounce Toledo

TOLEDO, O., April 7 (AP)—The Boston Braves hit both Huntzinger and Ryan hard here today and the National leaguers pounded out a 12 to 3 victory over the Toledo American association champions in the first of a two-game exhibition series.

Lester Bell led the Boston outfit on the attack with four hits, one a homer, in as many times at bat.

The score: Boston (N) 304 000 500—12 17 3 Toledo (AA) 200 000 100—3 9 2 R. Smith, Genewich and Taylor; Urban; Huntzinger, Ryan and O'Neil.

Senators Defeat Giants

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—Given some good pitching for a change, the Washington Senators romped through to an easy 6 to 1 victory over the New York Giants today. The Senators' triumph ended a 13-game winning streak piled up by McGraw's aggregation and avenged in part, at least, the six straight defeats Washington had suffered at the hands of the Giants.

The Giants got only two hits off Fred Marberry. The Senators pounded three Giant hurlers for 11 hits, six of them doubles.

The score: New York (N) 000 001 000—1 2 1 Wash. (A) 010 410 00x—6 11 2 Benton, Barnes, Fitzsimmons and Hogan; Marberry and Tate.

Memphis Trips Pirates

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 7 (AP)—Two singles and three bases on balls of Spencer and Adams' error gave Memphis of the Southern Association a 6 to 5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in an exhibition game here today.

Grantham, Pittsburgh first sacker, hit a home run and a double.

The score: Pittsburgh (N) 012 110 000—5 9 2 Memphis (SA) 000 003 003—6 10 2 Brame, Spencer and Smith; Hemsley; Walker and Berger, Barrett.

Wilbur Maintains Need of Building Program for Navy

OMAHA, April 7 (AP)—In two speeches here today Secretary Wilbur defended the navy against thrusts of "organized propaganda" and maintained his contention of the need for an American naval building program.

He spoke tonight before the American legion post, asserting that no reasonable man or nation can doubt America's sincere purpose to limit naval armament. Earlier in the day he told the chamber of commerce that a "peaceful, neutral" navy was essential to the prosperity of every citizen because of its continuance of uninterrupted overseas commerce.

Howard Wrestles Nolan at Newton Monday Evening

Mike Howard, university wrestling coach, will face Cecil Nolan of Newton in his third match in as many weeks Monday night. The bout will be held in Newton, and will help to clear up the middle in the heavyweight mat sport.

The winner will be conceded the championship of Iowa in the class. "The match will be fought according to Police Gazette rules, the winner taking the best two falls out of three, in a period of two hours. In the preliminaries a Newton veterinary, Perry Stow, former Iowa State grappler, will meet Harry Stanford, also of Newton. Al Wieland, Des Moines policeman, and "Slick" Jesnick of Newton will tangle in the other prelim.

Brown Approves Sites for Track, Baseball Contests

Sixteen Centers for Diamond Sport Selected

DES MOINES, April 7 (AP)—Sites for eleven of the twelve district high school track meets and for thirteen of the sixteen high school baseball tournaments to be held in various sections of Iowa this spring were announced today by George A. Brown, secretary of the Iowa High School Athletic association.

The eleven track meets, together with one other for which the site has not yet been selected, will be held May 19. Winners of first, second and third places in the district meets will be eligible to compete in the final meet, which will be held at Ames May 26.

Approximately 200 teams will take part in the sixteenth district baseball tournaments, which will be held May 11 and 12.

Sites for the district track tournaments May 19 as announced by Secretary Brown are: Cherokee, Mason City, Marshalltown, Davenport, Sidney, Valley Junction, Estherville, Oskaalosa, Creston, Fairfield and Council Bluffs.

Towns awarded baseball tournaments are: Oakville, Wilton Junction, Marion, Dike, Rudd, Dows, New Sharon, Truro, Adel, Lohrville, Ayrshire, Mapleton and Oakland, Sioux Center, Clearfield and Monona may be awarded tournaments but these selections are not definite.

With Heavy Hitting Outfield, Cubs Have Few Weak Spots--McCarthy

KANSAS CITY, April 7 (AP)—Only two positions on the Chicago Cubs' squad are worrying Manager Joe McCarthy who believes his outfield to be the best hitting corps of outer gardeners in the land, his pitching staff an "up and coming" team, and his catching department "no cause for worry."

"It is hard to say just what the Cubs will do in pennant competition," the Chicago Nationals' pilot said, "but if present appearances are of any consequence, we should be at the top."

Pittsburgh Strong "I expect Pittsburgh to be the hardest club in the league to beat, with New York and St. Louis also standing in the way of the championship. Brooklyn should be a better club this year, and the same goes for Cincinnati. The race should be even closer than that of last season."

Reverting to his own team, the iron-handed but well-liked leader of Chicago's northsiders said second and third base have caused him the most trouble, but these now have been pretty well filled from the outstanding material on hand.

Maguire on Second "Freddy Maguire and Norman McMillan, both newcomers, have shown good work at second, while Elmer Foter and John Butler, the latter also a recent addition, make it hard to choose between them for the 'hot corner.' I consider all able to 'cover second and third with credit.'"

The other infield posts he has made up his mind about. Elwood English, 20 years old, is "a fixture at short," and Charley Grimm a "certainty at first," McCarthy said.

Besides believing his outfield, "the country's best hitters" the Cubs' pilot declares it also is good defensively.

"The addition of Kiki Cuyler from the Pirates gives us a good ball player who is a powerful batter. He possesses a strong arm and is fast. I look for Hazen to make the coming season an outstanding one for the Cubs."

Good Outfield "With Stephenson and Hack Wilson in left and center, and such extra strength as Cliff Heathcote and Earl Webb, is it any wonder that I say it is the greatest of hitting outfields?"

"The pitching staff looks good to me. It is young—only two men are over 30—and is coming along all the time. The oldesters of the corps, Art Nehf, and Harold Carlson, are not through by any means. Perce Malone, gotten from Minneapolis, is a young fellow who should make good. The veterans, Root, Jones, Blake and Osborne, are showing fine in training."

"As for the catching department—with 'Gabby' Hartnett in there, and Miguel Gonzales to relieve him, the backstopping causes me no worry."

Frosh Swimmers Unable to Place in Chicago Tank Tilt

Liddle Fails by Inches to Qualify in 500 Yard Event

Coach Dave Armbruster and his two freshman swim stars returned from the National Indoor A. A. U. swimming championships at Chicago late Friday evening. Harvey Lloyed of Louisville, Ky., and Boyd Liddle of Davenport, who amused themselves breaking records at the Mid-West A. A. U. meet here two weeks ago were the men who competed at the national affair.

Lloyed competed in the 300 yard medley swim and in the 150 yard backstroke. In the medley swim the Kentucky flash bested his previous record by eleven seconds but failed to qualify for the finals. The event was won by Walter Lauffer, formerly of the Cincinnati Y. M. C. A. team. Lloyed also competed in the backstroke but failed to finish among the winners.

Liddle took part in four contests: the 100 yard free style, the 220 free style, the 500 yard free style and the low board diving event. The Davenport natator failed by inches to qualify in the heat of the distance swim won by Johnny Weismuller, former Olympic competitor. The Iowa starter hit his race too fast, and tired noticeably toward the end. Zorilla of the New York A. C. just barely nosed him out at the finish.

One of the outstanding features of the meet was the work of Walter Spence of Brooklyn Y. M. C. A. in the 300 yard medley swim. The New Yorker swam the 100 yard backstroke event in 1:04.2, breaking the world's record by three and a fifth seconds.

Lloyd, one of the greatest freshman swimmers to enroll here, will start training immediately for the Olympic trials which will be held at Detroit early in the summer.

Cash Prizes of $2,100 Awarded Floats at Relays

DES MOINES, April 7 (Special)—Cash prizes of $2,000 will be awarded to bands, floats and uniformed marching delegations in the parade to be held here, April 28, in connection with the 19th annual Drake University relay carnival, authorities in charge of the great western classic said today.

For the first time, a spring festival will be added to the program of events for the relay carnival, and it is expected that this project will make the Drake meet truly statewide in character and interest.

County chairmen have been selected throughout Iowa who will interest bands and marching bodies in their communities to participate in the festival parade, and to secure floats that will compete for prizes.

Iowa's most representative college girl will preside as queen of the relay carnival and festival, with a large court made up of college and high school girls, who will be guests of the management of the relay carnival. The queen and her attendants will ride on special floats in the parade, which is expected to be the most spectacular event of its kind ever held in Iowa.

Streets of Des Moines will be cleared for the procession, which starts at 9 a. m., April 28, and the line of march will extend throughout the business district.

Tex Looks to Future

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 7 (AP)—The winner of the Tunney-Heeny heavyweight championship bout this summer will fight under the promotion of Tex Rickard in 1929, if a title match is staged at all next year, the New York boxing promoter announced here today.

Gophers to Play Golf

MINNEAPOLIS, April 7 (AP)—The University of Minnesota announced today that it would be represented in Western conference golf competition this spring. One dual meet with Iowa has been arranged and others are in the making. Lester Bolstad, of Minneapolis, former national public links champion, is a candidate for the Gopher team.

Local Shooters Lead in Majority of Meet Contests

Scott, Cedar Rapids, Gets Possible in Match Ten

In the second day of the state indoor rifle and pistol meet, local shooters are still leading in a majority of the events. Most of the out-of-town contestants will fire today, as the shoot has been continued until ten o'clock tonight. Members of the Moulton and Davenport teams will finish their score early this morning.

Not all members of the various teams must fire the same day because all must shoot under the same conditions. Yesterday thirty contestants had registered, and at least that many more are expected today.

Mumma in Charge Col. Morton C. Mumma is in charge of the meet, with Capt. Will Hayek of the National Guard assisting.

In match two, the R.O.T.C. rifle team with a total of 726 is still leading. The Davenport Civilian will fire in this event this morning. Westernburg of the Davenporters has scored a 182 which equals the best of the leaders.

Capt. Hayek is leading in match four, an individual prone rifle match for men in the service with a 58. He also leads in match five which is a standing match for men in the service with a 67.

E. Heikkinen of Cedar Rapids leads the shooters in match eight with a 94, a 95, and a 97. He is followed by V. E. Hornstein of Moulton who has a 94 and a 93. Match eight is an individual rifle match for civilians.

Haggerty Ties

In match nine, Haggerty jumped into a tie for first with Wilson at 88 points each. It is standing re-entry match. Visitors carried off honors in match ten which is a novelty re-entry match. A. Scott of Cedar Rapids fired a possible. C.

W. Sutliff of Marion is second with 26, followed by E. R. Waffle of Cedar Rapids with 25 and E. Heikkinen, also of Cedar Rapids who scored 19.

Sutliff also copped first honors for the day in match eleven when he fired a perfect score in the prone position, and an 86 standing. C. A. Barnes of Davenport team also fired a perfect prone target, and a 71 standing.

Hayek Leads

Capt. Hayek leads the members of the National Guard pistol team with a 195 out of a possible 200. Corporal Baldwin has 181.

Emil Jens of Cedar Rapids fired a 196 in the individual timed pistol match. I. G. McQueen of Moulton is second with 194. V. E. Hornstein is in third position with 193.

Kentucky Team Wins National Basketball Crown at Chicago

Canton Subdued by Mountaineers in Final Tilt, 15-10

Ashland Five Capture Title Without Single Personal Foul

CHICAGO, April 7 (AP)—Ashland, Ky., tonight won the high school basketball championship of the United States, defeating Canton, Ill., 15 to 10, in the finals of the University of Chicago's national interscholastic tournament.

The game was essentially defensive from start to finish, both teams playing cautious basketball, with Ashland maintaining a tight defense that forced the Illinois champions

Kentucky Governor Encourages Cagers

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 7 (AP)—Governor Flem D. Sampson today asked the Associated Press to transmit the following to the Ashland high school basketball team battling in the semi-finals of the national tournament at Chicago.

"Every Kentuckian has his eyes upon you in the game this afternoon and we are all cheering and praying for your victory. May you place the banner of Old Kentucky at the head of the nation's high school basketball parade."

The governor also asked that the following word be given to the boys of Carr Creek, who went down in defeat last night. "You fought the battle well. We are proud of you. A royal welcome awaits you in Kentucky."

to toss wild shots from midfloor. The Kentucky champions scored only four field goals, but took advantage of Canton's fouls to score seven points from the free throw line.

Ashland Sets Record

In winning the Ashland team set what is said to be a tournament record, falling to make a single foul. It was a great game of clean guarding on the part of the southerners, who matched the Canton team with its own style of play—a five-man defense and slow breaking offense.

Lead at Half

Ashland took a lead of 3 to 0 at the quarter and held a 7 to 4 advantage at the half. Canton failed to score in the third quarter while the Kentuckians ran up their score to 10.

North Dakota Gets Third

Third place in the tournament went to Grand Forks, N. D., who defeated Vienna, Ga., 27 to 25 in the play off for third place. Wheeling, W. Va., took the consolation flight, winning from Naugatuck, Conn., 29 to 28 in the final game.

Seven schools placed men on the tournament teams selected by the newspaper men. Ellis Johnson of the Ashland team was unanimous choice for guard position and was given captaincy of the first five. Shelby Stamper of Carr Creek, Ky., and Wendell Horne of Vienna drew the forward positions with Theodore Raines of Vienna at center and Russell Cardosi of Canton at the other guard.

Two Ashland Players on Second

The second team is composed of Darby of Ashland and Duchene of Grand Forks at forwards; Hugert of Bristol, center, and Smith of Alexandria and Phipps of Ashland at guards.

The following is the honorable mention list, all of whom received at least one vote:

Forwards—Bramhall, Oak Park, Ill.; Jerome, Tulsa, Okla.; Eddy, Canton, Ill.; Strother, Ashland, Ky.; Schnell, Canton.

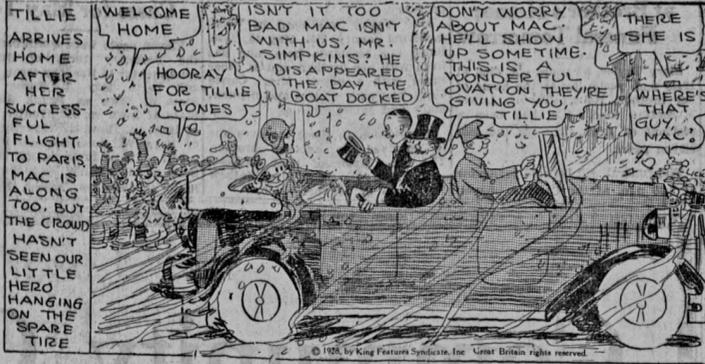

Centers—Hatman, Tulsa, Okla.; Dixon, Stivers of Dayton; Barber, Alexandria, La.

Guards—Willis, Tulsa; G. Walters, Vienna; Coleman, Canton; Payne, Stivers; Clinton, Grand Forks, N. D.

TILLIE THE TOILER

Cue Champions Biggest Experience Came as Home Town Pool Frodigy

CHICAGO, April 7 (AP)—Down state in Monmouth, Ill., some twelve years ago, it was quite a joke for the town idlers of the principal pool emporium to rib up a game between any stranger who would stand for it and a good looking local lad.

As the game got under way, the youngster would appear awkward with the cue. But soon, he was shooting with a masterful touch and he always left the stranger dumfounded and out of pocket any sum he may have been careless enough to wager on the match.

Idlers Lench

The Monmouth pool sharks usually roared with laughter and they told the kid he was a wonder with the cue and should go far.

So he has. That was Ralph Greenleaf, now of New York. He is 28 years old, national pocket billiard champion, and has won the title eight times in the last eleven years. He was only 17 years old when he won the crown for the first time.

But of all the honors that have come his way, Greenleaf says he has never received as big a thrill as in those Monmouth days when he took strangers for a pool table ride.

Town Wonder

He was the town's sensation at rotation, call shot, bottle pool, or what have you. When he won his first championship, he was hailed as the "Boy Wonder," and glory trailed him as he walked down the old home town streets.

Greenleaf has yet to lose a tournament, although he has lost his title several times in subsequent challenge matches.

Ralph Greenleaf
Together with Frank Taberski of Schenectady, N. Y., 1927 champion; Erwin Rudolph of Chicago and Pasquale Natale of Baltimore, Greenleaf will compete in the world's pocket billiard tournament in October in Chicago.

Trio of Duels on Card at Kansas Relay Carnival

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 7 (Special)—At least three important duels which began in the Texas and Rice relays late in March are to be continued at the Sixth Annual Kansas Relays here, April 21.

The teams concerned include Texas A. & M. and the University of Kansas in the 440 and 880 yard relays; the University of Iowa and Texas A. & M. in the one mile relay; and in the college class Oklahoma Baptist University and Kansas State Teachers of Pittsburg in the 880 yard relay, the mile relay and the medley relay.

At the Texas relays Texas A. & M. and Kansas tied in the 440 yard relay for first, and in the Rice relays the teams tied again, but that time for second place. In the 880 yard relay the Texans won both times, while Kansas was taking a third or fourth. Grady, Kansas star dash man, was not at his best in the south, but since has undergone a tonsil operation and may be in better shape for the Kansas relays.

The crack Iowa mile relay team, minus Cuhel, won the event at Texas relays with Texas A. & M. second, but on the next day at the Rice games the Texas A. & M. team upset dope and finished first just ahead of Iowa. Iowa will be at the Kansas games in most all events but will be concentrating, no doubt, on the mile relay in which it holds the record for the Kansas meet at 3 minutes 20 seconds.

Cubs Maul Blues

KANSAS CITY, April 7 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs, who recently won five exhibition games from the Pittsburgh Pirates in the west, trounced the Kansas City team of the American association, 9 to 4, today. Led by Kiki Cuyler, who hit safely three times, the Cubs pounded two pitchers for twelve hits.

U.S. Wins First Round of Davis Trophy Matches

Tilden and Jones Team Defeat Mexicans in Five Sets

MEXICO CITY, April 7 (AP)—The United States won the first round Davis competition with Mexico today by adding a doubles victory to two straight singles conquests yesterday.

Big Bill Tilden and Arnold Jones defeated the Mexican team of Robert G. Kinsey and Alfonso Unda in a set duel, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Today's victory gave the United States a decisive margin in the series scheduled for five matches if necessary. Two remaining singles matches will be played as exhibitions tomorrow.

In the first singles play yesterday, Tilden defeated Kinsey and John Hennessy outclassed Ricardo Tapia.

Tilden and Jones were forced to battle for every advantage in downing the Mexican doubles team in the deciding match.

The splendid placements of Kinsey and Unda, both of whom were in top form, won Mexico the second set despite the determined stand of Tilden and Jones. The Mexican pair gave everything they had in that set, however, and could never regain the advantage thereafter.

U.S. Olympic Crew Likely First, Britain Second, Says Berlin Coach

BERLIN, Germany April 7 (AP)—America has the best chance of carrying off Olympic honors in rowing at Amsterdam, Great Britain the next best and Germany third.

That's how Tom Sullivan of New Zealand, veteran trainer and coach of the Berlin Rowing club and once-time world's champion sculler, sizes up the situation. He has been in the coaching business thirty years.

"I expect the German boys to give a good account of themselves," said Sullivan, who is coaching some of the most promising German oarsmen. "They have just a sporting chance, with the odds in favor of the Americans and the British."

Sullivan came to Berlin in 1911 as coach of the Berliner Ruder club, was interned at Rubeleben during the war, later became coach in Amsterdam, but in 1925, in response to insistent demands from his former pupils, returned to Berlin. His authority is unquestioned and the young men whom he trains look upon their "grand old man" of 57 years, with touching affection.

Every morning at six, Sullivan puts the candidates for the Olympic games through the paces on an indoor "tub," as he calls it. They are for the most part students at the university, the college of commerce of the institute of technology. Sullivan tries above all to instill the idea of sport in his young men.

"The Germans take athletics as yet as seriously as they do their scientific researches," he said. "I want them to get more of the spirit of play, of sport for sport's sake, and I am succeeding in this."

With thirty-nine races won during the last two years, the Berliner Ruder club under Sullivan stands a fair chance to win out in the all-German finals to be held at Hannover, July 8. Sullivan is putting special energy into the eights. He has strong opponents, however, in the eight of Cologne, which last year carried off first honors nationally.

Meyence hopes to send its four with oarsman to Amsterdam as the all-German choice.

Purple, Irish Sign Contract

EVANSTON, Ill., April 7 (AP)—Northwestern and Notre Dame universities have signed a three-year football contract starting in the fall of 1929. The first two games will be played here and the last at South-bend. The last time the two teams met was in 1926.

Badger Stars Ineligible

MADISON, Wis., April 7 (AP)—For violating Big Ten conference rules in playing summer baseball, three veterans of the University of Wisconsin's baseball team have been ruled ineligible. They are Mike Murphy, first baseman; Capt. Earl Burbridge, outfielder; and Stan Clausen, pitcher.

Bunioners Battle Sleet and Snow

McLEAN, Texas, April 7 (AP)—Battling sleet and snow all the way, the parade of athletes in the cross-country foot-race were led over a 38.8 mile lap from Groom to McLean today by Phillip Granville, Canadian, who negotiated the storm-swept course in 5:29:48, and who ranks fifth in the long trail from Los Angeles, with elapsed time of 2:39:44:09.

The rigors of the blizzard forced three contestants out of the running and caused some to lag far behind. Among those who were unable to finish before nightfall were Arne Souminen, the Detroit Finn, who leads the field in elapsed time.

John Salo, Passaic, N. J., and Olli Wanttinen, New York, both of whom are in the first ten leaders, finished in a dead heat for second place in 6:37. Others who finished in order were Pat De Marr, Los Angeles; Fred Kamler, Miami, Fla.; John Stone, Marion, Ind.; Mike Joyce, Cleveland, and Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla.

The field of contestants was reduced to eighty-five by the dropping out of Billy Busch, Boston; James White, Duluth, and Frank Chavez, Pasadena, Calif.

Trap Men Begin Practice Shooting

The first of a series of practice shoots for the members of the Iowa City gun club will be held this afternoon at 1 o'clock. The shoot will be held on the course, three and a half miles south of town, providing weather conditions are satisfactory.

It is believed that about thirty-five members will be present at the first meet of the year. The first registered shoot is billed for May 20.

If the roads are passable, two crack trap-shooters from Kalona, and four from Solon will augment the Iowa City representation.

Brown's Stop Cards

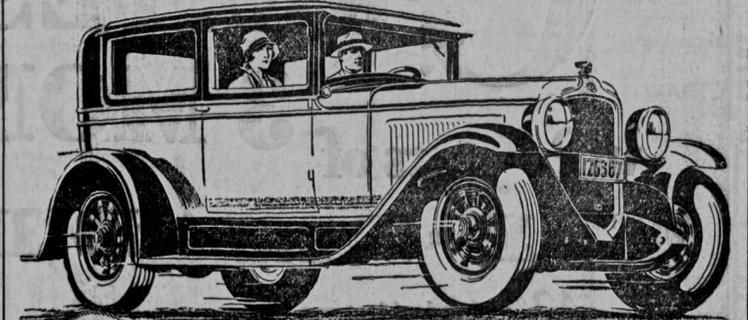

ST. LOUIS, April 7 (AP)—In the face of a driving snow and cold weather, the St. Louis Browns nipped the Cardinals for a dozen hits and took a 7 to 1 victory in the first of the two-game city series here today.

Bronson, Brownie keystone guard, opened the scoring with a home run in the third inning, driving in O'Rourke ahead of him.

Sickness Ends 60 Year Masquerade

Woman Worked With Men on Section in Disguise

By VIRGIL L. LEWIS
Mary Miller, an ordinary 18-year-old Chicago girl, was thrown out upon the world alone—to make a living for herself.

That world looked big, cold, and unfeeling to her. She couldn't get a job. She couldn't hold a job. She was poorly paid. Men molested her. Life looked discouraging.

Disgusted with being a woman, she wished that she had been born a man. Men could get jobs. Men could keep jobs. Men were paid several times what a woman is paid.

Why couldn't she become a man? She decided to try. She did—and succeeded for 60 eventful years.

Pneumonia Uncovers Story
A recent attack of pneumonia and a body weakened by seventy-eight years of hard life in the circus ring, on the railroad section gang, on the farm, and in streets of large cities, brought the romantic life of George Miller to a close here Friday.

Hugh Buck, Hardin township trustee, discovered her ill in a granary on the Rudolph Horn farm two miles west of Windham, and, against her wishes, called a doctor, and her secret was discovered.

With Barnum and Bailey
When the girl left her home and became a man—she joined the Barnum and Bailey circus, and it was here that the start of the romantic life was begun.

She soon became a skilled trapeze performer and also a clown. She associated with men, going into the gambling dens, saloons, and pool halls with them.

"I've never been drunk," she says, "I have stood at the bar and lifted many mugs of beer to my lips, and I have joined in parties of wine-drinking—but I have kept control of myself, always."

Disgusted With Men
She tells of going into the worst dives of New York and Chicago, of watching men gamble their money away while families starved at home, of seeing them dragged intoxicated and crazy from saloons.

She went under the name "George" instead of her christened name, Mary.

She was born of a Scotch mother and a German father in Berlin, and was brought to this country when three years old. Here she lived a normal life until she was 15 years old when the change was made and the long and adventurous career started.

At the age of 78 she is well preserved and her slight body bears few traces of the hard life she has lived.

Has Never Shaved
She has never had a razor on her face. Her voice is high like an ordinary woman's, although it is now slightly husky from years of life in the open and from constant exposure.

Her hair has always been cut like a man's and since entering the masculine role, she has never worn a dress.

She has not envied other women, she says, instead rather pitying them for the hard life they lead.

"I have lived the life of a man—an easy life," she declares proudly.

Was Abroad Three Years
While with the circus she went abroad three years, playing in all parts of Europe and living as a member of the group.

Both her shoulder bones were broken once in a fall from a trapeze on which she performed while with the circus.

She played in towns in Germany near her birthplace but never made an attempt to locate relatives. She has none that she knows of now.

Life with the circus soon tired her and she decided to seek another occupation. Accordingly she quit the life under the big top and took a job as section laborer on the Great Western railroad at Waterloo.

For three years she worked with the section crew, day after day, winter and summer, never failing to keep up her end of the work. She was never ill, the recent attack of pneumonia being the first time that she has been forced to her bed.

Was Watchman at Amama
For several years "George" acted as nightwatchman at Amama, carrying a gun and driving hoboes from the town nearly every night. Often fights were necessary and hand to hand encounters were frequent. Tough characters beating their way on the railroads held no terror for the frail, brave woman who had been trained in the circus companies to care for herself.

She has carried a gun many years and has had many close calls while on the circus tours and in large cities.

"Many times I have had a gun pulled on me," she relates. "But I have always beat them to the draw."

Smokes Corncob Pipe
She smokes a corncob pipe. She declares that she has no time for cigarettes and despises men who smoke them.

She has had little schooling but talks intelligently of present day matters and of her past life.

She does not know what a verb is, nor can she define an infinitive, but she can tell of life on two continents with an inside knowledge.

of her life in the role she has enjoyed life in.

Apparently she is without money and will have to become an inmate of the county home as no trace of property or money has been found. Authorities searched the granary room where she has been living, hoping to find some hoard, but were unsuccessful.

She refused to live in the house with the family for whom she has worked the last four years, choosing rather to make her home in a granary, in which she was found.

Wildcat Troop Ties in Roundup With Raccoons

Flying Eagle Patrol Second in Contest for Trophies

The Wildcats of troop 9 and the Raccoons of troop 10 are tied for first place in the patrol division of the Boy Scout roundup contest sponsored by Paul R. McGuire, scout executive. Each patrol has a total of 100 points and the score made by each was 100 per cent in the last month.

The Flying Eagle patrol of troop 9 was second with 98 points, the Raccoons of troop 14, third with 93 points, and the Beavers of troop 8 fourth with 79 points. Other patrols placed as follows: Flying Eagles of 33, fifth with 57; Eagle patrol and Fox patrol of troop 33, sixth with 56 points each; Bear patrol of troop 33, made 53 points, and Rattle snake patrol of troop 10 made 43 points.

Troop 10 Leads for March
Troop 10 of St. Patrick's high school was in first place in the troop competition, for last month, having an average of 33.3 points for each member. Troop 14 of the Methodist church was in second place, having 32.7 points for each man.

The Methodist troop has taken first lead in the work for April, having already made 190 points. Troop 33 of Washington is second with 180 points, and troop 8 of Iowa City is third with 140 points. These were the results announced after the board of review meeting last Wednesday night.

In the first month's competition, Kalona and Washington troops were the only ones to qualify. Every one of the troops in the contest rated 100 per cent in the troop competition, and it was work done by individual members that determined the standings of the teams.

Jessup, Hands Give Cups
The patrols are working to win the Harold Hands, cup, and the best troop will get a cup presented by President Walter A. Jessup.

The contest lasts three months, beginning March 5 and running through to May 25. The board of review meets every Wednesday night to judge the results sent in by commanders. The highest point of efficiency maintained all through the contest will determine the winner of the patrol trophy, McGuire said last night.

City Briefs

To Gravel Lone Tree Road
More than fifteen trucks have started hauling gravel on the Iowa City-Lone Tree road. Weather has hindered work so far but as soon as the pits can be put in shape and gravel supplied as needed the crew will be able to handle at least twenty carloads a day.

Two Birth Certificates Filed
Two birth certificates were filed at the county clerk's office yesterday. They were: a son, Frank Albert to Clyde and Marie Newton, March 10; a son, Henry Joseph to Henry and Cecelia Schaapveld, March 8.

Hotz, Mahoney Get License
Only one marriage license was issued at the county clerk's office yesterday. It went to Ralph J. Hotz, 26 years old, of Iowa City, and Margaret Esther Mahoney, 24 years old, also of Iowa City.

Quit Claim Deed Filed
A quit claim deed was filed with the county recorder yesterday. The deed was from the county of Johnson to School District No. 8 of Sharon township for a valuable consideration. The tract of land is thirteen rods long and two rods wide. It is in section 27, township 78.

Building Permits in City Increase

Building permits issued to Iowa City firms in February show an increase of nearly $7,000 over those of the previous month. Associated Press reports show.

Seven permits issued for Iowa City projects during February brought a total valuation of $17,100. The five issued in January totaled $10,800.

These permits do not include improvements in connection with the university as no state permits are issued for these.

Labor conditions over the state have shown a marked improvement over the last month, the reports show. Only two groups of industries—leather products and tobacco and cigars—showed a loss of employment in March as compared with February. Gains were interpreted by A. L. Urick, commissioner of the state bureau of labor as indicating a general recovery in conditions and the first sign of the opening up of spring activity.

Building permits in Iowa during February showed a gain of eighty-three permits issued and $1,301,895 in valuation over January, but the two-month period of January and February showed a loss of ninety-seven permits and a gain of $565,269 in valuation of improvements over the same period of 1927.

Judge R. G. Popham Returns to Marengo

Judge R. G. Popham left yesterday afternoon for Marengo. Monday he will start the April term of court there, and is not expected to return to Iowa City until September when the September term of court begins.

Judge H. D. Evans will preside at the Johnson county court house the rest of the February term and at whatever business that may arise. He is returning this week-end from Marengo where he has been holding court.

Sudden Snowstorm Kills Many Robins

More than one robin went to bird heaven yesterday. The little redbreasts came a bit too soon to the northern lands, and the blizzard which swept Iowa City yesterday caused the death to many of them.

Kind hearted Iowa Cityans scattered crumbs in places where the robins settled but sometimes the birds were so stiff with cold that they did not make attempts to reach the offered food.

If the unusual weather continues, it would be necessary for all the persons in Iowa City to take an interest in the spring birds and remember them with a few crumbs. In this way many little songsters would be saved.

Mayor Suspends Captain Mahnke

Investigates Charges of Policeman's
Intoxication

August G. "Gus" Mahnke, 812 E. Davenport, night captain of police, has been suspended from the force for thirty days without pay, pending investigation by the mayor and the police and fire commission.

He is reported to be guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer in uniform.

The order for suspension was served on Captain Mahnke at 9 p.m. Friday by Chief C. F. Benda. It was prepared and signed by Mayor J. J. Carroll after a report had reached the station saying that the officer had shown himself on Washington street between Clinton and Dubuque streets while under the influence of liquor.

Investigation of the charges will be made by the Iowa City police and fire commission together with Mayor Carroll in an effort to determine Mahnke's status. If the charges are held, he may be suspended permanently, but will have the right to appeal for a hearing before the police and fire commission later.

Mahnke has been night captain of the police force nearly five years, and has been on the force eight years.

Frank Conklin Dies; Hold Funeral Monday

Funeral service for Frank Robert Conklin, 27 years old, of Moline, Ill., who died at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mildred Conklin, 126 N. Gilbert street, at 12:15 a.m. yesterday, will be held at 10 a.m. Monday.

The Rev. Elbert J. Smith of the Baptist church will be in charge and burial will be in the St. Joseph's cemetery. The service will be held at the home at 126 N. Gilbert street.

Conklin is survived by his widow, his mother, a brother, L. J. Conklin, and two sisters, Mrs. A. G. Miller and Mrs. O. J. Roberts, all of Iowa City.

Hospitality's Dividends
RAPID CITY, S. D.—Tourists will spend $15,000,000 in the Black Hills this summer, in large part as a result of President Coolidge's vacation here last summer, rail officials estimate.

Mary Taylor Dies at Brother's Home; Funeral Tomorrow

Mary Taylor, 81 years old, died at 12:45 p.m. yesterday at the home of her brother, Robert Taylor, Lower Muscatine road. She had been a resident of Iowa City for the last eleven years.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. at the Oathout chapel.
