

Swisher Bandits Get Sentence

Swift Justice Metes Out Arrest, Trial, and Conviction in One Day; Two Get Life, One Twenty Years

Officials Arrest Trio at Belle Plaine With $2,000 Loot; Two Confess Part in Palo Bank Robbery March 30

The three bandits, Jerry Nepovin, 22 years old, Joe Hadrava, 22 years old, and Wilfred Perron, 27 years old, who robbed the Swisher Trust and Savings bank Tuesday were arrested, tried and convicted yesterday.

Hadrava and Nepovin received life sentences when they were tried in the district court in Cedar Rapids, and Perron, who was brought to Iowa City for trial before Judge Harold D. Evans, was sentenced to twenty years at hard labor in the state penitentiary at Fort Madison.

At midnight Wednesday the three youths were apprehended, near Belle Plaine. With them was found the box containing their loot, the $2,000 in currency taken from the bank at the time of the robbery, last Tuesday. About $15 was confessed due to the fact that the robbers had abandoned their Marmon car in the woods south of Cedar Rapids to avoid suspicion and had purchased a small sedan in Cedar Rapids.

By Wednesday night the news of the robbery had spread through the state and officials were warned to be on the watch for the bandits.

About nineteen miles west of Cedar Rapids, the trio stopped to get gas for the car, and were suspected by the service station attendant, who notified the officials at Belle Plaine that he thought the bandits were headed that way. The officials flagged the car and the men gave themselves up.

Confess Former Robbery

When questioned, Hadrava and Nepovin confessed that they had both been implicated in the robbery of the Palo Savings bank, March 30. After this they had escaped to Canada. There they came into contact with Perron. The money secured in the robbery of the Palo bank was spent in Winnipeg, Canada, where the two men lived for a few weeks.

Then they decided to come back to Iowa and brought with them the French-Canadian Perron. According to their confession, the men came back with the intention of giving themselves up to justice, but were tempted to rob another bank and decided on that at Swisher.

After leaving the bank, the men said, they had attempted to evade police investigation and dodged traps set for them by officials. They spent Tuesday night in a stone quarry near Ottis.

The small sedan had been purchased by the Canadian whom the other two had sent to Cedar Rapids after deciding that the Marmon would incite suspicion. Both the cars were purchased from the same man in Cedar Rapids and who was held for investigation after the men were caught.

Head for Dallas, Texas

When arrested the robbers were headed for Dallas, Texas.

Perron was brought to Iowa City yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Smith and lodged in the county jail until late in the afternoon when his trial was held. He waived legal advice and the reading of the information and requested that the court act immediately. Judge Evans then pronounced the sentence of twenty years at hard labor in the state penitentiary.

He will be taken to Fort Madison today.

Three Trans-Atlantic Flyers Arrive in Chicago; Big Bill Welcomes Them

CHICAGO, May 10 (AP)—Three trans-Atlantic flyers fighting murky weather and strong head winds arrived here from Cleveland this evening to be greeted by 5,000 persons who waited in a drizzling rain, impatient and nervous over a delay of an hour which the flyers experienced.

The Junker ship, F-13, a sister to the Bremen which finally landed at Greenly Island after their hop off from Ireland, also carried two companions of the famous trio. The welcome of the crowd here was enthusiastic and fervent, but it took a 71 year old woman from Peoria, Illinois, to upset the plans of the official greeters including Mayor Thompson and his committee.

Mrs. Elizabeth Koehl Blum, an aunt of Capt. Hermann Koehl, flew

here to greet the famous pilot this afternoon. After the flyers had piled into an official car decorated with the flags of the United States, Germany and the Irish Free State, Captain Koehl espied his aunt and motioned to her. She waved excitedly and drove toward the aviators' car and Captain Koehl leaped into a seat beside her. Major James Fitzmaurice whispered to Baron von Huensfeldt and they left their decorated automobile to pile into the seat with Mrs. Blum and their companion. They then proceeded to the Stevens hotel, leaving the official car empty except for decorations.

Left Cleveland

The Junker plane left Cleveland this afternoon at 1:52 o'clock. Passing near Waterville, O., it encountered strong winds and rainstorm. Arriving over Chicago, they proceeded to the Checker Board field, the old headquarters of the airmail

Morningside Student Council in Quandary

SIoux CITY, May 10 (AP)—The student council at Morningside college here was in a quandary tonight when it was found that two candidates for president of the student body in today's election received the same number of votes. Stewart Refuses Public Statement About Resignation

Executive Promises to Consider Pleas of Stockholders

CHICAGO, May 10 (AP)—Col. Robert W. Stewart does not care to inform the public, for the time being at least, as to whether he will comply with John D. Rockefeller's request that he resign as chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil company of Indiana.

"The proceedings pending at Washington make it untimely for me to make any statement to the public at this time, much as I might desire to do."

Presents Testimony

The district attorney at Washington today presented to the grand jury a transcript of Col. Stewart's testimony before the senate committee and it was believed this was the proceeding to which he referred.

Phi Beta Kappa to Elect Monday

Ruckmick Discusses Proposal to Enter High School

The selection of candidates for Phi Beta Kappa will in all probability take place Monday afternoon at 4:10 o'clock, when a special meeting will be held in room 104 liberal arts by the local chapter.

The election this year has been delayed due to the difficulty in securing the grades from the registrar's office.

Ruckmick's Report on Meet.
Prof. C. H. Ruckmick of the psychology department who attended the district conference at Des Moines, May 2, reports that the tentative plan for encouraging scholarship in high schools which was proposed by the national committee was discussed.

Each delegate was called upon to make a statement as to the advisability of Phi Beta Kappa entering the field of secondary schools.

It was suggested that leadership medals as well as scholarship medals were to be offered. Preference was expressed for a scholarship award to a smaller number of schools instead of granting 18,000 medals.

Actors to Give Play for Mothers

Two Casts Help in Presentation of Fairy Drama

A fairy tale drama based on the story of the Brothers Grimm, "Snow White, and the Seven Dwarfs," by Jessie Braham White will be given twice Saturday afternoon for the convenience of visiting mothers. One cast will present the play at 1:30 p.m. and another cast at 3:30 p.m.

The large cast of twenty-five players from the acting and dramatic production classes is being directed by Erma Taylor, G of Snider, Tex. The costumes for the play are being designed by Miss Helen Langworthy of the speech department. No sets will be made for the production but it will be given before black and gray curtains.

In the plot of the play exaggeration of character and fancy make it both amusing and whimsical. It is the familiar story of the fairy princess with "lips as red as blood and hair as black as ebony," who is almost killed by a wicked stepmother but saved by seven dwarfs.

It was produced by Winthrop Ames at the Little Theatre in New York in October in 1921. It was also given by the university theatre during the past summer school session. Thursday night four one-acts were given by members of the dramatic

As a grand finale refreshments were served in the diner.

A Code for Parents

MANY persons shuddered over the story of the boy who killed all seven members of his family because his father would not allow him to use the automobile. And we wonder if the act was an inherent quality of anger or if, perhaps, it was in some degree due to the way in which the boy was reared.

Again we hear of a boy in a country school striking a teacher with a broom stick and being upheld for the deed by his parents.

We cannot say the mistakes of boys and girls can always be blamed on the mother and father, but at least we must admit that the job of parenthood is a big one. The hand that guides them when they are young and offers advice at that great questioning age is often responsible for what follows.

The Ames Parent-Teacher council has drawn up a code for parents which seems to be truly an ideal worth striving for. It is:

- "As a parent:
- "I am honest in little things and big;
- "I will obey the law in the home and outside;
- "I try to be calm and self-possessed;
- "I endeavor to be fair and consider all sides of a question;
- "In other words, my partner and I, with our children, are endeavoring to live honestly, wholesomely and within our means, in service to our community, and to God."

Movie Colleges

MOST students have long been disgusted with the ridiculous portrayals of college life on the movie screen. The news that the American College Press association has offered its assistance to producers in more accurate presentation of college activities, should be received with joy and thanksgiving by the libeled students.

Movie directors can not seem to realize that the "rah-rah Siwash" type of career has passed completely out, if it ever did exist. Somehow campus cut-ups and collegiate co-eds hurling great gobs of sex appeal, can't be found around the modern institutions.

In the movie, the football hero invariably falls in love with the president's daughter. Apparently the two activities are the only two in which either sex is allowed to participate.

According to cinema views, college students simply cannot be human beings. They must be a cross between the wild man, the strong man, and the clown. As soon as a director produces a film depicting the freaks as ordinary mortals, what a rush there will be to see the show, at least by students.

Reforming Newspapers

WHENEVER any reformer can find nothing else to criticize, he undertakes to tell what is wrong with the newspapers. More authorities can point-out the proper method of running news dispensing sources, than perhaps any other business. Mental giants who never saw the inside of a news room can relate on a moment's provocation how to make the press as pure as certain highly advertised brands of soap.

Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador to the United States, is the latest to attack journalism. Addressing the delegates of the American Peace society, under whose auspices a conference is being held this week, he said that the press has much to do with the constant encouragement of war.

The attitude of the daily press so far as news values are concerned inevitably means "flaming headlines" to announce the remotest possibility of war, was the substance of his talk.

How many persons realize that a newspaper is a business institution conducted to interest the great mass of people. It is not bloodthirsty ogre, nor yet a philanthropic gel. It hopes to make a reasonable profit and pay its employees something that resembles a salary.

In order to do this, it has to maintain the constant interest of its body of readers. Items that have the greatest appeal to the majority are the ones that receive the most display.

In one division of his talk, Sir Esme himself says, "There is more joy on earth over two sinners who break each others' heads, than over ninety and eight just men who keep peace."

Since readers want action in the news, and insist upon having it, who can blame the journals for giving it to them. And the majority of the people will find no fault with the reader because he likes something stirring with his toast and coffee.

Idealizing Great Men

STRANGE as it may be, some countries honor and revere their statesmen and their heroes and heroines, refusing to listen to any slander hinted at their characters.

The British were highly incensed at the portrayal of the execution of Edith Cavell in "Dawn."

Now a sensation parallel to this is breaking out in Paris over the French picture, "The Red Sultan." The descendants of the Sultan living in that city are bitterly opposing this characterization which they declare is defamatory to the dead man.

In America, on the other hand, we clamor for anything that may throw a light on some blot in the dim and distant past of a renowned man.

"The Life of George Washington," "The President's Daughter" and other books have been put on the list of best sellers.

Is it because we are yet too young a nation to sift out thoughtfully the gold and treasure it? Children seldom appreciate what people do for them. Or are we truly a race of cynics who believe that all ideals must be made into more gruesome realities before civilization can progress?

A Man Without a Country

THE times are not favorable for ex-royalty, or ex-royalty regardless of rank. These persons always harbor delusions of greatness. They always have the suspicion that their countries are calling for them. They, and the little coterie around them, are naturally led into plotting against the peace and tranquillity of their lands.

Ex-Crown Prince Carol of Rumania is no exception. England found that his presence there is objectionable. The grounds are that he endangers the relations of Britain with a friendly nation. Carol would like to come to the United States, but immediately this government lets it be known there will be no plotting done if he comes here.

It cannot be contended that Rumania is well governed but there is no hope that it would be better governed if Carol were to return. He turned his back upon the throne and by his actions gave evidence that he preferred a more or less dissolute life in Paris to the duties of governing his nation. Even the peasants, now in revolt, do not want Carol, if their leaders are to be believed.

It is in disordered nations like Rumania that dictators arise and thrive. The regey cannot exhibit the strong hand that marks the one-man government. The conditions today must be bad, else thousands of peasants would not leave their farms for the long, arduous march to the capital.

But we need not fear that Carol will carry on any successful plots should he visit America. We are too far removed from the scene of Rumanian difficulties. An ex-royalty prince seeking to return to the throne must be within haling distance Carol's moves here would be watched. Even if the government paid him only slight attention, newspaper reporters would tell the world what he was doing from day to day.

There ought to be something done about this ex-royalty business. Ex-kings, princes, counts, barons and lesser fry are cluttering up countries in Europe that want nothing so much as an opportunity to get along peacefully. They are a nuisance. So long as they live a few misguided persons will ascribe to them royal rank and prerogatives. Perhaps after they are gone, their sons and their sons' sons will endeavor to keep up the delusion. Most of them can cherish no real hope of ever regaining power.

Oil Gushes Again

THE resignation of Col. Robert H. Stewart from the chairmanship of the Standard Oil company of Indiana comes as an interesting sidelight of the whole naval oil reserve scandal. It indicates that John D. Rockefeller, jr., a heavy stockholder in the organization, disapproved of Stewart's connection with the Continental Trading company transaction.

Stewart testified before the senate Teapot Dome committee last winter that he would resign if the board of directors so wished. Signs of disagreement between Rockefeller and Stewart were noted during the former's testimony, when Rockefeller said that he wished Stewart had answered the questions which the investigators put to him. As a result of Stewart's resignation, Rockefeller is winning the applause of many who have sought to clean up the whole Teapot Dome affair.

Perhaps this is the first step toward an understanding of the scandal. At least it may be a sign that the public, even large corporations, will not countenance the perpetration of such methods of graft and corruption. History may be able to untangle a web of intrigue which has grown up around Teapot Dome, and future generations may be able to get the correct perspective. It is such things as the Stewart incident which will help make the situation clear.

Chills and Fever

A certain Dr. Leo E. Travis of the Psychopathic Hospital had a little dog. Its fleece, coat, or what have you, may have been as white as snow. But as it was skinned when our story begins, and since all dogs are alike under the skin we will not speculate on the shade of texture of its one time coat.

No, it is not necessary to play the board of trade to get skinned. This dog was an honor to dogdom. It was skinned in the interest of science, in short of psychology.

Then one day when psychologists had traced its nerve currents to heaven knows where, and had grown fond of said canine—as who wouldn't of any one of anything that had sacrificed its skin to progress—it became necessary to dispose of Fido.

Dr. Travis phoned Buildings and Grounds. Buildings answered the phone. "Hello," shouted he.

"Hello, yourself," mumbled Dr. Travis.

"To what do I owe the pleasure of this interruption?" growled Buildings.

"It's a dog," said Dr. Travis (wittily) "a very dead dog. Please call at the psychopathic hospital and dispose of the animal."

"Hot dog," chirped Buildings, "be right over. Ta! Ta! Doc."

All went well. Several hours collapsed when suddenly the telephone receiver in Dr. Travis' office did a Highland Fling. One fierce invective shot from the telephone and splintered the door.

"Well, well," said Dr. Travis as he advanced all too inadequately shielded by a psychopathic glossary. "I hope they have the wrong number." He braced himself—

"Hello,"

"This is Dr. Platt. Christmas comes but once a year and what in the devil do you mean by leaving a dead dog in front of my office?"

"Why, why," I called Buildings & Grounds, and Buildings said they would dispose of it. Sorry. Some one will be right over."

Dr. Travis turned from the telephone and addressed his assistant Leo Fagan. "I'm going after Fido,"

"Now, let me go," urged Leo. "I always had a kindly feeling toward that little dog."

"Goodbye," said Dr. Travis. "I'm going after it," thundered Leo.

"You're not!"

"I am!"

"So Leo went after the dog—over hill, over date till he came to Dr. Platt's office.

"There was the dog, as dead as could be expected. But Ah! it was not alone. "Kidnappers," swore Leo under his breath. "I will surround them." So he did. And as he closed upon them he demanded, "Get the torrid zone out of here! Whose dog do you think this is?"

"We think it's our dog," chorused the startled medics cowed by the majesty of Leo's fierce demeanor.

"Think again," snapped Leo, and prepared to take possession of the dog.

"It is too ours," screamed the medics. "Mama, Papa, President Jessup, that bad Leo Fagan stole our doggie!"

Then the denouement strode in, in the person of Dr. Leo E. Travis. "Say do you think you are taking voice lessons," he respectively inquired.

"Make him bring back our doggie," pleaded the medics.

"Leo, come hither," commanded the new Solomon come to judgment. "We'll soon settle this."

Leo came and the dog was placed in the midst.

"Watch me," said Dr. Travis. Then on his knees he addressed the canine—

"Bow, wow, wow."

"How, wow, art thou?"

"Then wonder of wonders the dog replied—

"I'm the little medics dog."

"Bow, wow, wow."

"So much for that," said Dr. Travis, and pulling his hat jauntily over his left ear he broke up the party.

This is a tale told by a columnist, full of sound and fury, signifying the true meaning of that ancient expression, "They treated him like a dog."

Isn't it just a little early for dog days? Psyche.

Chill:

Women have been ignorant ever since Iowa had a music school. But even a woman ought to know men wear belts and suspenders to keep their shirt tails in.

Frederick Voices Disapproval of O'Neill's Play, 'Strange Interlude'

"The Strange Interlude," by Eugene O'Neill now playing in New York City and recently awarded the Pulitzer prize for 1927 is scientifically unsound and sensationalizes its material in an indefinite way, is the opinion of John Towner Frederick, editor of the Midland, after seeing the play in New York. "I liked it least of the four O'Neill plays I have seen," Professor Frederick remarked as he discussed this new experiment in play writing which begins at 5:30 in the afternoon with a recess for dinner and then continues until 11:30 that evening. "Everyone stayed throughout the performance but didn't seem particularly enthusiastic in their applause."

Asides Are Unsuccessful
Professor Frederick found the experiment in the great length of the play and the new device of each character revealing his true thoughts in an aside after his main speech interesting if not successful. He did feel that the asides robbed the actors of much of their business and that 90 per cent of the thought in them could have been conveyed by skillful acting.

"The acting was as good as could be expected with the characters having to remain expressionless during half of the play while another character delivered an aside—the tempo of the play was very slow because of these pauses in action."

"The scientific assumptions of heredity used in the plot are not up-to-date in my opinion and the play is at times dramatically inconsistent," he said. "One part is especially unconvincing, as acted, where the young wife sacrifices her child at the demand of her mother-in-law."

Settings Are Unimpressive
The stage setting is described by Professor Frederick as neither fish nor fowl, being neither entirely realistic nor impressionistic. "There was no atmosphere created by the

Second Semester Final Examinations Will Commence Thursday, May 24

1927-1928 SECOND SEMESTER EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

The Program Committee of the Colleges of Liberal Arts, Education and Commerce, and the Graduate College, at a meeting held 1928, authorized the following examination schedule within the period Thursday, May 24, 8 a.m. to Thursday May 31, 4 p.m., 1928. The regular program of class work will be suspended, and the following semester-examination program substituted for it. Classes will meet for examination in the rooms in which they have been regularly meeting (with the partial exceptions noted below in the cases of the examinations in freshman English and first-year and second-year French).

The Committee directs the attention of both students and instructors and professors to the regulation that there is to be no deviation, in the case of any examination, from this schedule,—except as authorized by the Committee on the student's written petition filed in ample time, supported by the recommendation of the department concerned,—to provide relief from an excessive number of examinations within a single day. Deviation for the purpose of getting through earlier will not be permitted.

Classes (except in freshman English and first-year and second-year French—see N.B. below) whose first meetings occur:

- Monday at 8, meet for examination Thursday May 24 10-12.
- Monday at 9, meet for examination Thursday May 24 8-10.
- Tuesday 10, meet for examination Monday May 28 8-10.
- Monday at 11, meet for examination Thursday May 31 2-4.
- Monday at 1 p.m.—examination Friday, May 25, 8-10 a.m.
- Monday at 2 p.m.—examination Saturday, May 26, 8-10 a.m.
- Monday at 3 p.m.—examination Saturday, May 26, 10-12 a.m.
- Tuesday at 8, meet for examination Friday May 25 2-4.
- Tuesday 9, meet for examination Thursday May 31 8-10.
- Tuesday 10, meet for examination Tuesday May 29 8-10.
- Tuesday 11, meet for examination Monday May 28 2-4.
- Tuesday at 1, meet for examination Tuesday May 29 2-4.
- Tuesday at 2, meet for examination Thursday May 24 2-4.
- Tuesday at 3, meet for examination Tuesday May 29 10-12.

The first meeting of a class means the first lecture or recitation period in courses having both lectures and recitations, and laboratory periods; or, in courses involving only laboratory work, the first clock hour of the first weekly meeting. For example, chemistry 2b meets for lectures T Th at 11 o'clock. The first meeting, consequently, occurs Tuesday at 11 o'clock, and the class will meet for examination Monday, May 28, 2-4, according to the foregoing table. Again, physics 12b meets twice each week, T, F, for a three-clock hour laboratory exercise, 1-4 o'clock. The period for the examination is, therefore, Tuesday, May 29, 2-4 o'clock.

N.B. All sections of freshman English will meet simultaneously in the rooms in which they have been regularly meeting throughout the semester. All sections of French (2) and all sections of French (4) will meet simultaneously in the rooms specified below Friday, May 25, 10-12:

- French 1: Sections A, B, C, D, E, F, G, LA Auditorium.
- French 3: Sections A and D, LA 309. Section B, LA 4.
- Sections H, I, LA 225.
- Sections K and L, LA 203.
- Section M, LA 294.
- Section G, LA 16.
- Section E, LA 118.
- Section F, LA 224.
- Section G, LA 194.

The variations from the general plan, as to French (2) and (4) are due to the circumstance that a control experiment is being carried on in the teaching of these classes, involving the necessity that the same examination, in each of these groups, be given in all sections on the same day and at the same hour.

"Odd" classes, whose first or only weekly meetings occur on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, or Saturday; or which meet "as arranged," will be assigned for examination at either one or another of the following three periods, as announced to each such class by the instructor in charge of the class:

- Friday, May 25, 10-12.
- Monday, May 25, 10-12.
- Thursday, May 31, 10-12.

It should be borne in mind that there is possibility of announcing two or more "odd" classes for any one or more of these three periods available for "odd" classes. Therefore, in connection with any such announcement it would doubtless be well for the instructor making the announcement to ascertain whether any member of his class is already under appointment for examination in some other class for the proposed period. To be sure, it is possible to have examinations in more than one class at any one of these times,—if no student is a member of more than one of these classes. Since very few students in French (2) and (4) will also be in "odd" classes, it is possible for certain "odd" classes to be accommodated during the period provided for these classes in French, subject to the precaution suggested in the second sentence of this paragraph.

According to one clause in the formal faculty action providing for a special semester examination program, "the instructor may use the examination period as he sees fit provided he holds the class for the full period. He may have an oral or a written examination, or both, or neither. He may continue regular work or he may use the time for review, or for any phase of his work which may seem to him desirable at that time."

PROGRAM COMMITTEE, H. C. DORCAS, secretary.

O. J. Campbell, Waterloo (bases.)
Time and place—3:30 p.m., Iowa Field.
Broadcast—Station WSUI, 475.9 meters.

Even without the services of their second baseman, the Wolverines are respected by the Hawks. With Corrigan, an outfielder and basketball star on the middle-bag the Fishermen trounced the Badgers 9 to 1 early this week.

Morse, who had been coveting about second for the visitors, was found to have had three years of competition and declared ineligible. He competed against the Hawkeyes in the ten inning battle at Ann Arbor on April 21.

Beat the Wolverines

The situation today is almost the direct counter part of the Iowa-Michigan game of last year. At that time the Wolverines had a string of five consecutive victories and needed the Hawks' scalp to win the conference title. The Old Gold nine won, 4 to 3. Today the Michigan team has five straight conference wins to its credit, and needs the encounter today to remain in the lead, as the Hawks have won four out of their five.

The Wolverines have bowled over Northwestern, Iowa, Purdue, Indiana and Wisconsin. In these games, Coach Fisher's team made 59 hits and 43 runs for a team batting strength of .324. The versatile Bernie Oosterbaan, Weintraub, Lange, and Nebelung are the heavy hitters for the invaders.

Iowa enters the game fortified with confidence after beating Wisconsin, Northwestern, Indiana, and Minnesota in succession. The Hawk's batting strength is .273 with Thompson, Terry, Blackford, and Sahs, well over the .420 mark, and Glassgow hitting .353.

Beat the Wolverines

It's probable that either Twogood or Mulroney will be on the mound for the Hawkeyes. Mulroney won recognition last year as one of the best hurlers in the Big Ten, and was chosen on the mythical conference team. Twogood's latest endeavor was a three-hit game over the then second place Hoosiers here last Saturday.

Facing the Hawkeyes will be either Asbeck or McAfee. Both are powerful hitters in addition to their work on the mound. Asbeck is credited with a win over Iowa and a 7 to 1 decision over Indiana this season. McAfee has shut out victorials over Purdue and Indiana since the opening of the year.

Immediately after the game the invaders will leave for Urbana where they will engage the Illini in a double header tomorrow. The first Illinois-Michigan game was rained out at Ann Arbor the last week in April.

Cardinals Trade Former Manager

ST. LOUIS, May 10 (AP)—Catcher Bob O'Farrell of the St. Louis Cardinals has been traded to the New York Giants for George W. Harper, 36 year old outfielder, it was announced here late today by Sam Breadon, president of the Cardinals.

O'Farrell was manager of the Cardinals last year, succeeding Rogers Hornsby.

The trade came out of a clear sky and quite equals in its suddenness, the two outstanding exchanges of the last year and a half, the first of which was Hornsby traded to the Giants two months and a half after he had managed the Cardinals to their world series conquest of 1926, and the second of which found Hornsby traded to Boston.

There have been no indications that O'Farrell was on the market and the deal came at a time when he was the only experienced catcher on the Red Birds' staff. The Cardinal club possesses only two other catchers, both of whom are young and playing their first season in big league baseball.

O'Farrell has been popular with fellow players and also with the executive heads of the club.

Loos hits in the vicinity of .350, and Weintraub is not far behind. Both were members of the 1927 Michigan team which was eliminated from the conference race by Iowa in a late May game.

Payne Cuts Down Lead of Gavuzzi

WAUSEON, O., May 10 (AP)—John Salo of Passaic, N. J., continued his steady climb in his effort to overtake Peter Gavuzzi and Andy Payne when he ran away from the field to lead the transcontinental hoofers into Ohio. Salo stepped the 44.9 miles between Butler, Ind., and this point in 5:59:59. His elapsed time for the 2,624.6 miles from Los Angeles is 459:53.22.

Payne of Claremore, Okla., and Louis Perella, Albany, N. Y., and Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., sprinted into town in a dead heat for second place in 6:58.1.

Payne cut more than two hours from the advantage of Gavuzzi of England, who is leading the caravan. Payne's elapsed time is 424:09:41, Perella's 488:43:25 and Granville's 467:42:18.

An ulcerated tooth bothered Gavuzzi today and he finished in twenty-second place in 9:22:15. His elapsed time is 430:24:21.

Mike Joyce of Cleveland and John Cronick of Saskatoon tied for fifth place today, in 7:21:24. Joyce's elapsed time is 481:52:13 and Cronick's 494:34:48.

Boston Ekes Out Win Over Cincy

CINCINNATI, May 10 (AP)—In a ten inning battle for runs, Boston eked out a 7 to 6 victory over the Cincinnati Reds today.

The Braves reached Carl Mays, tenth inning relief pitcher, for four hits, one of them a double and broke a ten inning 3 to 3 tie by scoring four runs.

A single and two doubles in Cincinnati's half of the tenth scored two runs and drove Delaney to the showers. Allen's single off Robertson gave the Reds another score, but Robertson held two batters to pop flies and struck out Dressen to leave the Reds one run short of again deadlocking the game.

Gentlemen:

I've done a lot of pipe smoking. There's hardly a brand or a blend that I haven't tried out at some time or other.

But speaking of smoking tobacco that brings real enjoyment, and never changes, I want to say that there is just one tobacco that gives me real enjoyment in my pipe—Edgeworth. I have used Edgeworth Ready Rubbed and Plug Slice for over five years, in all climates and under all conditions, and I find it always the same. It is always mellow and moist, and its genuine flavor lasts. There is no bite or parch in Edgeworth, and the quality, whether you buy it in small or large quantities, is always perfect.

Thanks to the manufacturers for their wonderful product, and I hope that Edgeworth can always be obtainable by the undersigned.

Winner of Thirteen Out of Seventeen Races, Baird to Try Out for Olympics

Characterized as being one of the most dependable point gatherers for the University of Iowa track team the last two years is none other than George H. Baird of Mason City, star quarter-miler who has won thirteen of seventeen races, including two western conference championships.

Baird will be one of the Hawkeyes entrants in tryouts for the American Olympic team, and providing the sandy haired flash lives up to his showings in the past, it will be a different problem to keep him in America this summer.

Holds Conference Mark

Baird, who holds the Big Ten indoor quarter-mile record, will compete in the 400 meter race in the sectional trials at the local track, June 23, and probably will run in the finals at New Haven, Conn., July 4. The 400-meter distance is some three yards short of a 440 yard race, although this should not handicap the Iowa star to an extent.

Eight consecutive victories in dual meets, both indoor and outdoor, are jotted down behind Baird, while the races in which he did not break the tape were trial heats at championship meets, together with the lone exception at the triangular meet between Iowa, Wisconsin, and Minnesota at Minneapolis last week.

The rugged athlete first came into prominence as a champion at the Western conference outdoor meet last spring. On a soggy track in a driving rain he won the 440 yard championship in :49 1-10. The indoor record was made March 10 when he led a fast field in the Big Ten meet, finishing in 50:10, seven-tenths of a second faster than the mark which has stood since 1917.

Ran on Relay

As third runner on Iowa's star mile relay team, Baird has turned in excellent races. He has helped his team win twice at the conference indoor meet, and the Illinois relays, and once at the Drake, Kansas, and Texas games.

Baird uses the sprinter's style in running the quarter, and has developed an unusually fast start, carries the pace for some 150 yards, relaxes for a short distance, and finishes with a tremendous drive.

In Olympic trials, he is expected to approach the Midwestern A. A. U. record of 48 1-10 for 400 meets, set by Eric Wilson, who represented the Old Gold machine on the 1924 Olympic team.

High School Weight Men Enter Javelin Throw, Broad Jump

Seventy-two athletes, representing fifteen high schools, are entered in the postal broad jump and javelin throw contest sponsored by the athletic department of the university.

Under the supervision of a school official, the athletes will make their best marks on their own athletic field between May 21 and 26. The results will be sent to the officials here and the best ten in each event will be awarded a medal.

Special awards will be given to athletes jumping over 20 feet in throwing the javelin more than 120 feet. The contest has been approved by the Iowa high school athletic association.

The entries, with the number of boys named are: Grundy Center, 12; Osceola, 8; East Des Moines, 8; Taylor, 8; Riceville, 7; Bloomfield, 6; Davenport, 5; Van Meter, 4; Colfax, 3; Jefferson, 3; Creston, 2; Guthrie Center, 2; Grinnell, 2; Farragut, 1; and Knoxville, 1.

Babe's Seventh Homer in Sixth Brings Victory

Ruth Obtains Hit With Two on Bases to Defeat Indians

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP)—Babe Ruth's seventh home run of the season with two on base in the sixth inning, enabled the Yankees to defeat the Cleveland Indians, 4 to 2, here today to even the series at one game each. Willis Hudlin had given the Yankees only two hits up to the sixth when Combs and Koenig opened with singles. Ruth then found the range of the left field grandstand, giving the Yankees the runs which eventually won.

Mumma Forced Out of Track Tilt

Iowa City high hopes for taking the triangular track meet to be held here Saturday took a sudden slump yesterday when it was announced that George Mumma, star hurdler and high jumper of the Knoxmen, would be out of the lineup.

Mumma, better known to the Little Hawk fans as "Mike," is confined at a local hospital with an infected hip. The veteran athlete suffered the injury some time ago but the serious infection did not develop until this week. When he started last Saturday in the Grinnell meet he was only slightly bothered by the infection.

Doped to Win
The loss of Mumma will be keenly felt by the Red and White team as he was doped to win the low hurdles and to be one of the finishers in the high jump this week. In addition he has been the anchor man on Coach Walter S. Knox's mile relay team.

With Mumma out, the burden of capturing both hurdle races rests upon the shoulders of Eugene Clearman, whose specialty is the high sticks. Clearman has shown possibilities in the high jump, placing in the Cedar Falls meet early in the season, and may be the hero of the day for the Hawkeyes.

Sprinters Weak Section
Sprinting has been the weak section of the I. C. H. S. machine all season but a shift in the lineup by Coach Knox is expected to strengthen the city high athletes in the dashes. Claron Campbell will be shifted to the short races, while his place in the quarter mile will be filled by Robert Kittridge, who formerly was one of the sprinters. In addition to Campbell, Coach Knox expects to use Alvin Huntzinger for the short races.

The rest of the Red and White lineup will be much the same, save that more athletes will compete than in the previous meets. Burnell Horrabin will undoubtedly meet strong competition in the weight events but is expected to add several points to the total of the Knoxmen.

Entry List
The complete Iowa City high entry list is:
100-yard dash: Robert Kittridge and Claron Campbell.
220-yard dash: same entrants.
440-yard dash: Eugene Clearman and Kittridge.
Half mile: Burton Brown, Kenneth Hamilton, and Frank Clark.
Mile: Eugene Lewis and Charles Dalton.
High jump: Clearman.
Shot put: Burnell Horrabin.
Discus: Albert Vestermark and Horrabin.
Javelin: Horrabin and Boeck.

Chemists Win, 18-6

Alpha Chi Sigma pounded the ball hard in a baseball game last night when they defeated Phi Delta Chi 18 to 6. Dudgeon was on the mound for the victors while DeWitt was on the receivers end. Whitting hurled for Phi Delta Chi while Ruggnitz was behind the plate. Jack DeWitt led the offensive attack for the victors, pounding the ball four times, two of which were home runs.

Michigan's Pitcher

Fred Ashbeck, one of the best and certainly the biggest pitcher in the conference, will probably work against Iowa here Friday afternoon. Ashbeck is a 215-pounder who stands 6 feet 5 inches tall. He is credited with two victories this season—over Iowa, 7 to 6 in ten innings, and Northwestern, 7 to 1.

Hall Enters Six in Davenport Tilt

American Legion to Hold Boxing Tourney

Five prominent University of Iowa boxers will be injected into the American Legion amateur boxing tournament at the Coliseum in Davenport Monday night, according to word received by Roscoe Hall, boxing instructor here. Hall sent in an application for six men and yesterday afternoon the Davenport management sanctioned the Iowa entrants.

Included on the list of Hawkeye boxers that will compete in the finals of the card are Ernie Iwal of Honolulu, Hawaii; Alberta Meneses of Havana, Cuba; Don Tibbetts of Sioux Falls, S. D.; Carl Nystrom of Calmar; Moco Casey of Ames; and Ray Englehart of Davenport.

All Iowans are Champs

All of the Iowa boxers are champions in their respective weights, whether university, quadrangle, or fraternity. Hall was anxious to test the skill of his proteges and as a result he sent an application to Matchmaker C. J. Henighan of Davenport. Over forty boxers will compete in the affair, and the first bouts in the tournament will start tonight.

Winners in each class will then be scheduled to clash with the Chicago Tribune and New York Times tournament winners in the final card to be held for May 17. The champions will receive a trip to the Pacific coast with all expenses paid, as the tournament is strictly an amateur classic.

Iwal Fights as Flyweight

Iwal will battle in the flyweight class. He was runner-up in the all university tournament here this year. Meneses, who won the bantamweight at Culver Military school last year, and copped the quadrangle and university championships at this year, will struggle in the same class Monday night. Tibbetts, quadrangle champion in the 135 pound division, will seek laurels in that weight. Nystrom, quadrangle and university titleholder in the 158 pound class, will battle in the middleweight class. Casey, who is the only boxer not enrolled in the school this year, was all university champion a year ago when he defeated Mayes McLain, star fullback candidate from Pryor, Okla., in the finals. Casey has been working out lately and is expecting to round into the same shape as he was in the past. He will mix in the heavyweight class.

Englehart, who will be at home in Davenport, will tangle in the light-heavy weight division. Englehart battled to a draw with Matt Kelsch of Dubuque for the inter-fraternity title this year.

Visitors Lead in British Open Golf in Second Day

SANDWICH, Eng., May 10 (AP)—The Americans marched to the front in the British open golf championship today and at the halfway, four of the first five players are from South and North America. The best the British can offer for their title is a tie for fourth place.

Jose Jurado, the diminutive Argentine who seems to fairly throw his body at a golf ball, enters the second thirty-six holes of the test leading the field. Just as he did in the qualifying rounds, the little Buenos Aires pro today reeled off a strutting 71, and assumed command of the mid-way situation with a total of 145.

He was three strokes in front of Gene Sarazen and Walter Hagen, tied for second place with scores of 148. Sarazen, after a great 72 yesterday, fell to 76 today, while Hagen improved his previous 75 with a 73. Bill Melhorn and Archie Compston, low British scorers, were tied for fourth place with counts of 149. Jim Barnes, who virtually shot himself out of the competition with an 81 yesterday, staged a comeback today by scoring a sensational 73, but his 154 total places him nine strokes behind.

The reserves of the Illinois varsity baseball team were defeated recently by Butler by a score of 6 to 8.

Giants Increase Grasp on First Place With Win

Bunch Hits Early in Game to Subdue Pirates, 5-4

PITTSBURGH, May 10 (AP)—The Giants bunched hits of Kremer early in today's game for five runs, and defeated the Pirates, 5 to 4. The victory was the second for the Giants in three games and made the New York team's position in the lead more secure.

Fitzsimmons scattered the Pirates' nine blows, and pulled successfully through Pittsburgh rallies in the last two innings with a net damage of only one run.

St. Mary's Takes Easy Victory, 25-15

St. Mary's upset the dope to win an unexpected victory over the alumni by a 25 to 15 count. The alumni played an erratic game and had many fouls called on its players for roughness. An inexperienced team, St. Mary's showed the effect of strenuous practice. Team work was good and they outplayed the larger alumni hoopsters throughout. The first period ended with the Supleppmen leading 7 to 3. Keeping the lead throughout the second quarter, St. Mary's led by a score of 16 to 7 as the half ended. The alumni spurted in the third and led at the end by 13 to 11. St. Mary's led by O'Brien, who found himself at the beginning of the last period, came back with a shower of baskets to end the game 25 to 15.

J. Grim, at right guard, was undoubtedly the most dependable player or of the Supleppmen. His floor work and guarding was consistent. Lumsden led the scoring column with eight points to his credit. Murray and Belger played well for the alumni. Moravec was ejected from the game by means of personal fouls. All of the Alumni, with the exception of McDonald, played rough games.

Geologist Speaks to Rotarians on Ancient Animals

Visiting Members Talk to Club; Many Guests Come

The state of Iowa and its environs was the home of many gigantic animals during the great glacial period according to Prof. Abram O. Thomas of the geology department, who spoke before the members of the Iowa City Rotary club yesterday noon at the Jefferson hotel.

Tells of Horse Migration

The home of the horse is America, the university geologist claimed. A migration to Europe hundreds of years ago took the horse to that continent. Then when a land condition or some other force caused the disappearance of the animal on this continent it was necessary to bring the horse back in a state of domestication.

An Opportunity for College Graduates in the "Best Paid Hard Work in the World"

WHAT are you going to do after graduation? If you have not decided—or if you have made a snap decision—just read over the rest of this. It presents the case for life insurance as a career. It is worth thinking about. The choice of a career is important. Life insurance is most desirable and satisfactory as a permanent calling.

That is the story of one who began at the bottom and reached the top without the help of a college education. The advantages are with you graduate from college.

Future
And there is so much room for ability and energy. Life insurance, in volume of business, is one of the three leading businesses in this country; and yet it is only in its youth because the possible application of insurance is expanding all the time.

Satisfaction
But all the pay and all the advancement possible are not going to wholly satisfy the intelligent college graduate. Life insurance offers further satisfaction. It is one of the great factors in the modern world making for security, peace of mind, increase of confidence, and the building up of credit for individuals, businesses and institutions.

The life insurance agent is indispensable to the conduct of modern affairs, and in a particularly satisfactory way. He is an active force in increasing the sum of human happiness, prosperity and security.

Your Company
Now is the time to consider what you are going to do after graduation. If you are ambitious, willing to work hard, and are interested to know about a life insurance career, you owe it to yourself to examine the opportunities afforded by the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company. It is a national institution with a country-wide service, of great financial strength,—one of the large companies of the world.

Ask your questions of us before making final decision.

REASONS WHY

- Life insurance is founded on high ideals.
- It is capable of yielding a good income and the satisfaction of accomplishment.
- It offers opportunities for real leadership.
- It brings you in close association with business and business men.
- It requires you to become familiar with business methods, law and finance.
- It is a field for workers, not shirkers.
- It is an alluring and practical calling for men of dynamic energy.

Advancement
In the second place, advancement depends entirely on your own effort and ability. This is no fairy-tale of success. It is the sober and proved fact. The Vice-President of a great life insurance company who began his career as an agent has this to say to seniors who are about to graduate from college:
"If you love work and desire to pursue an honorable, useful and lucrative mission in life, this is the business for you to take up. Life insurance salesman offers a fine field for the energies of the splendid young men in our colleges."
"That this is true is demonstrated by those college men who have taken up life insurance, for they have shown that the college man is fit for this kind of a job and that the job also is fit for the college man."
"The work of the life insurance salesman is distinguished by independence and opportunity for directing his own activities. It gives all possible opportunity for individual initiative and a chance to make an ample income at an age when most fellows are struggling on a wage pittance."

Al Smith Denies Expenditures to Gain Nomination

California Expenses Reasonable, Says Commissioner

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith testified today before the special senate campaign funds committee that he had not turned a hand or spent a dollar to obtain the democratic presidential nomination, explaining that he had let the whole matter in the hands of friends, who it subsequently was disclosed have contributed $103,310 to his cause, out of which $92,900 has been spent.

These figures were presented to Washington by George R. Van Namee, a member of the New York public service commission, who is directing the campaign on behalf of the New York government.

He was questioned very closely about the expenditure of $41,500 in California, where Smith recently defeated Senator Reed of Missouri and Walsh of Montana, in the presidential primary.

Explaining that he never had heard of any charges of corruption leveled against the Smith forces in California by the Los Angeles Express, Van Namee said that considering the contacts in California and the number of voting precincts in the state—8,750—he did not regard the California outlay as large.

Smith Takes Stand
Governor Smith was on the stand only a little more than half an hour and made free reply to all of the questions propounded by the four senators—Stevier of Oregon, chairman and McClure of South Dakota, republicans; and Barkley of Kentucky, and Bratton of New Mexico, democrats.

Governor Smith assured the senators that he had no intention of conducting any campaign; knew of no arrangements for taking care of any deficit that might exist after the Houston convention; had made no promises of patronage in return for support of his candidacy and knew of no arrangement or agreement whereby his own delegates might shift to another candidate or the delegates of other candidates might throw their support to him in the balloting next month in the democratic convention.

Flood Bill Ready for Coolidge Pen

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—The signing of the Mississippi river flood control bill by President Coolidge is all that remains to enact it into law. Congressional action on the subject was completed Wednesday with senate adoption of the conference report reconciling differences with the house.

Similar approval had been given by the house yesterday. The measure will go to the white house in a day or two and proponents of the legislation expect the president to sign it forthwith. Although some provisions remain unsatisfactory to him, he considers it the best measure obtainable at the present congress.

For three hours the senate heard the Mississippi problem discussed today in its broad aspects, with practically no attention paid to the conference report under consideration. Upon its first passage, the bill had held attention on the floor for less than two hours. Preliminary to the unanimous vote in its favor.

U.S. Chamber of Commerce Members Review Farm Bill

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—The problem of farm relief held the attention of today's session of the chamber of commerce of the United States with the business men generally agreeing that the McNary-Haugen bill, now on the last lap of its legislative journey through congress, was not the panacea to restore agriculture to prosperity.

Dwight B. Heard, publisher of the Arizona Republican, at Phoenix, who headed the chamber's advisory agriculture committee, declared in an address before the agriculture section of the organization that his group after an investigation of the problem could not recommend the measure or any other legislative remedy now before congress. He proposed that a federal farm board be created by the president to study the needs of agriculture and then make a comprehensive report to congress to secure adequate legislation.

Roads Association Asks for Building Plank in Platform

DES MOINES, May 10 (AP)—May 10 (AP)—The platform committees of both major political parties are to be asked this year to endorse increased appropriations for federal aid for building of roads, and to approve a system of highways throughout the nation, by the United States good roads association, which will hold its annual convention here May 28 to June 1.

The executive council of the association today announced appointment of committees to go to Kansas City June 12, and to Houston June 29, to urge increased appropriations for federal aid for building of roads, and to approve a system of highways throughout the nation, by the United States good roads association, which will hold its annual convention here May 28 to June 1.

French luxury taxes are unfair, industrial associations aver, because they are levied on such necessities as soap, toothpaste and household linen.

Seashore Tests Reveal Similarity of Music Sense in Blacks, Whites

That there exists no significant differences in the basic sensory musical capacities of whites and negroes is revealed by application of a series of tests devised by Dean Carl E. Seashore of the department of psychology.

The tests, known as the Seashore measures of musical talent, were given to some 3,500 negroes in graded schools and colleges in three southern states by Guy B. Johnson of the University of North Carolina.

Six talents are measured by the Seashore tests—sense of pitch, time, intensity, consonance, rhythm, and tonal memory.

School Boards Use Wide Discretion in Suspending Students

DES MOINES, May 10 (AP)—School boards have wide discretion in fixing types of misconduct for which suspension or expulsion of students is the penalty, Prof. J. H. Hutchinson of the college of education, Drake university, has found from an extensive study of the public school law.

In a series of articles on the subject, Prof. Hutchinson finds it is a settled fact that neither the courts nor other tribunals will reverse a discretionary act of a school board unless it can be proved that the board abused its discretion granted by law, except in cases where it is clearly shown that malice or prejudice prompted the decision of the board.
