Car Strikers Turn Street Into Battle Ground "City of Cleveland" Soars on After Feat

Day's Casualty List Contains Two Dead

New Orleans' Thoroughfare Scene of Bitter Struggle Between Union, Non-Union Workers; Mob Beyond Control

NEW ORLEANS, July 5 (AP)—Historical Canal street was turned into a battle ground today as striking street car men and their sympathizers fought it out with non-union workers and police.

The day's casualties showed two dead union men, one union man shot through the shoulder and hundreds of bruised, maimed, and injured from both sides from the shower of brickbats. Clubs and gun fights were precipitated by attempts of the New Orleans Public Service, incorporated, to operate street cars.

Starting early today with the launching of the first street car from the Canal street barn, mob fury rose rapidly until 2,000 men and women were engaged in attacks on the street cars. Finally the crowd captured the third and last street car to put out from the barn, chased the non-union and policeman guards off, tore the car to pieces and burned it down to the trucks in front of the Louisville & Nashville passenger station.

Judge Terms 60 Des Moines U. Diplomas Legal

Warns Board Against Interference With Students' Rights

DES MOINES, July 5 (AP)—Sixty 1929 graduates of Des Moines university, Baptist fundamentalist institution, today learned that their "injunction" diplomas "are legal."

The judge who enabled them to obtain their certificates of graduation by issuing a restraining order to prevent Pres. H. C. Wayman from keeping the school closed, following the rock-and-egg riots of May 11, so termed the diplomas.

He also warned the board of trustees that he would cite it for contempt of court if it interfered any further at which he might believe to be interference with the rights of the students or general operation of the school.

Shankland Makes Ruling

District Judge Frank S. Shankland made the ruling during a hearing on a plea by attorneys for the students to prevent the trustees from interfering with them or casting reflection upon the merit of their credits and diplomas.

The board recently declared the "injunction" diplomas "null and void" on the argument that they had no warrant in legal or academic practice. Miss Edith M. Rehman, board secretary, was ordered to inform all students that the diplomas they received from President Wayman and the faculty would be exchanged for "proper legal certificates or diplomas."

But Judge Shankland saw things differently. He not only told the trustees the Wayman certificates were legal but ordered them to send no more letters to students casting doubt on the value of the credits issued them.

Overrules Evans' Motion

Judge Shankland also overruled the motion of Don Evans, attorney for the trustees, to strike the students' appeal for an injunction from the records.

It was also learned at the hearing the board has informed six graduates and 12 undergraduates that it has evidence that they participated in the riots of May 11, which resulted in the order to close the school and subsequent injunction reopening it. The board suggested that the students appear to answer the charges, failure of which would result in withholding their names from the school records.

Iowa's Fatalities on July Fourth Number Eleven

Auto Accidents Take Biggest Toll; Fire, Drowning Next

(By The Associated Press)

Iowa's death toll from accidents growing out of the observance of Independence day mounted tonight to 11. Six persons were dead as the result of automobile accidents, two were fatally burned, and one man was mysteriously shot.

The dead are:

Auto victims: Anna Funk, 68 years old, Peterson; Mrs. Peter Leichman, Britt; Clarence Patera, 17 years old, Wellman; Lester Mettelle, Corwith; Fan Chi Kung, Ames; Della Rohr, 25 years old, Manning.

Drowned: George S. Royle, 22 years old, Cedar Rapids; Bert Sabin, 44 years old, Watkins.

Fatally burned: Bernice Bong, 3 years old, Cherokee; Margaret George, 4 years old, Chariton.

Shot to death: Peter Hanson, 36 years old, Osweil.

Six Die in Car Wrecks

The fatal auto accidents occurred on the way to or from celebrations Thursday or Friday. Miss Pank was killed at Peterson Thursday night when hit by a car driven by R. B. Carris of Marcus, who was exonerated by coroner's jury.

As a result of Mrs. Leichman's death in an auto collision near Britt early Friday, Kenneth Crook and George Steul, both of Algona, occupants of the other car, were held for investigation.

An auto containing Patera and two friends who were returning from a celebration at Wellman, went into a ditch, and Patera died in an Iowa City hospital about midnight Thursday. Mettelle died at Algona Friday from injuries received when his car collided with one driven by William Stoddard of Luverne near St. Benedict.

Clothes Catch Fire

Fan Chi Kung, a student at Iowa State college and district president of Cosmopolitan club, died Friday as a result of internal injuries caused by the overturning of his car. Miss Rohr's automobile skidded on loose gravel and overturned.

The little George girl was playing with fireworks at Chariton Thursday night when her dress caught fire. Her father rolled her in the grass to extinguish the flames, but burns were so severe that she died Friday morning.

Bernice Bong died Friday at Alta, after having been burned when her clothing was set afire from a firecracker.

Two Meg Drown

Royle was drowned at Cedar Rapids following a dive into shallow water. He alighted on his head and was paralyzed. Sabin's death occurred in an effort to save Arnes Burman, 14 years old, at Watkins. He caught the girl and started to carry her to shore when he suddenly sank. The girl clung to the bank until help came.

The mysterious shooting of Hanson which occurred near Waterloo Thursday night while he was returning with his family from a celebration, was being investigated Friday. Hanson's widow said he had been drinking and shot himself, but officers were somewhat inclined to doubt the story. Hanson's daughter was questioned.

Pilots Better Old Record for Refueling Plane in Sustained Flight; Attempt to Stay in Air 200 Hours

CLEVELAND, O., July 6 (Saturday) (AP)—A new world's record for refueled flights was unofficially attained at 12:10:52 a.m. (eastern standard time) today by pilots Roy Mitchell and Byron K. Newcomb, who took off in the blue monoplane, City of Cleveland at 6:38:51 a week ago last night. They continued their monotonous course above the Cleveland airport.

As the hour of the new record was reached, a bombardment of fireworks was released above the field as a salute to the flyers. A crowd approaching 50,000 cheered and the brilliant lighting of the field was increased by flares and skyrockets sent up in salute to the airmen.

3,000 Feet in Air

The flyers were soaring 3,000 feet above the darkness when the celebration broke out. They gave no sign when the time was reached that they felt any elation. Whistles were blown and lights were turned on the city's buildings when word went out that the record had been broken.

Newcomb and Mitchell, however, have their goal set at 200 hours or more and are not expected down after setting the new record. Each notes they have dropped has told of the satisfaction with the working of their plane.

Face Many Obstacles

They still had obstacles to overcome tonight, but compared with their battle with last night's electrical storm and the fog of last Tuesday which made refueling a hazardous task, they seemed minor. The failure of the hand gasoline pump to work consistently, unless the tank is more than half full of fuel made refueling necessary more frequently.

The new refueling plane, hurriedly purchased and fitted with an extra gas tank after the old one, the "Flying Milkwagon," was wrecked in last night's storm, made the twenty-third successful contact this afternoon under the guidance of pilot E. E. Busham.

Nearly Deafened

Newcomb and Mitchell, although nearly deafened and fatigued by the long grind and last night's battle with the storm, were reported looking "good" by Eddie Stinson, Detroit pilot who went up in the refueling plane and recovered from last night's ordeal. They have been taking turns of six hours each at sleeping, he said, and their being accustomed to the roar of the Wright Whirlwind motor, enabled them to rest peacefully.

Occasionally the pilot at the control does off but for the most part they have found each other on the alert, Newcomb said.

Pathfinder Pilots Plan Take Off for Rome Early Today

OLD ORCHARD, Me., July 5 (AP)—The monoplane "Pathfinder" was flown from Scarborough airport, six miles from here, to Old Orchard Beach late today in anticipation of a take-off for Rome early tomorrow morning.

Lewis A. Yancey, navigator, said he had received reports of favorable flying conditions over the ocean from Dr. James H. Kimball, New York weather forecaster.

Yancey said a take-off attempt would be abandoned early tomorrow if it was found the beach was too rough or that unfavorable cross winds endangered the start.

California Pilots Grow Optimistic Over New Record

CULVER CITY, Cal., July 5 (AP)—Flying conditions for the "Angelinos" look on brighter here today as the biplane sailed on toward the half-way mark in its drive for a new endurance refueling record.

The fog menace disappeared gradually before a bright sun on the fourth day in the air for the plane's pilots, L. W. Mendell and R. B. Reinhart.

After a morning refueling, the flyers dropped a message which indicated the first optimism they have shown since the record attempt began Tuesday. It read: "Everything running fine. Motor smooth. Last night was easy and we got the first rest we've had yet. Think we can beat the record by a good margin."

Twenty-Eight Die in Europe Tornado

LONDON, July 5 (AP)—Twenty-eight persons were killed and hundreds injured by a tornado and hail storms which swept through central Europe last night and early today, causing widespread damage throughout Czechoslovakia, Austria, Yugoslavia, Germany and Switzerland.

Growing crops were destroyed and many homes ruined in some districts. Telephone and telegraph wires were destroyed and communications interrupted, hampering tabulation of the total casualties and damages.

The storms, which started in Germany in the form of violent hail storms, tore down through Bohemia and Moravia. Then swinging westward they turned into Austria, raking the republic north, south, east and west. The disturbance divided, one section sweeping down south through Yugoslavia and another continuing westward into Switzerland.

The wind reached a velocity reported to be 100 miles an hour in Austria where it interrupted shipping on lakes and in the Danube and maintained an average of 75 miles an hour.

Near Nuremberg, Germany, the storm was especially violent. One peasant was killed, thousands of windows were smashed by hail, crops were damaged and many homes partly destroyed.

Freak Tricks of Wind

Seven persons were killed in Bohemia and Moravia, ten more in Austria and ten in Yugoslavia.

Hundreds were injured along the path of the storms by falling walls, uprooted trees and flying debris.

A number of freak accidents marked their passage. In the village of Ohrozn, Moravia, the first wrecked the cemetery and exposed the coffins in the ground. At Pardubice, Bohemia, a passenger alighting from a train was blown under the wheels of a coach and was killed when the train started.

Farm Board Will Convene July 15

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—The federal farm board created by congress to stabilize the agricultural industry has been called by President Hoover to hold its first meeting, Monday, July 15.

Although only six of the board's nine members have been announced, appointments have been tendered for the other posts and the president expects acceptance in time for the board to start functioning by the middle of the month. He hopes to announce the complete personnel after his return from the week-end trip to his Virginia fishing camp.

Although the location of the first meeting was not named, it was generally assumed in interested circles that the board would gather at the white house before noon, Monday. President Hoover is to motor to Baltimore later to review the parade of the Rainbow division. He is expected to welcome the farm board to its task and emphasize to the members the importance attached by him to its work.

The three members still to be named are to represent the dairy and wheat industries and possibly banking and finance, although there is some doubt about the latter selection.

The president has said that a man versed in major financial operations would be named to the board to give the benefit of his experience in handling the $500,000,000 to be made available to the board.

Robber Holds Up 3 Bank Employees

ORANGE CITY, July 5 (AP)—Locking three employees in a vault, a masked robber obtained between $5,000 and $6,000 from the Orange City National bank. An accomplice in an automobile bearing South Dakota license plates waited outside, and the pair escaped, driving eastward.

The bank employees released themselves through a second door in the vault, and within three minutes Sheriff Hugh Symonst formed a posse to search for the robbers. No trace of them had been found to night.

B. L. Barks, bank president, was forced to enter the vault with John Roghair, Jr., assistant cashier, and Leonard Melles, bookkeeper.

Firemen Quell Third Outbreak

MILL VALLEY, Cal., July 5 (AP)—The latest flare-up of the fire that threatened this mountainside community with destruction was under control today. Residents who helped fight this conflagration rested, but were ready to defend themselves and their property against new possible outbreaks. Hot weather has made such outbreaks difficult to control due to the dry condition of grass and timbers.

E. B. Gardner, chief fire warden, announced that providing the wind remains favorable, all danger is over. According to a late count, 130 homes were burned, with an estimated loss of more than $1,250,000.

The new threat of destruction came late yesterday when a two-mile wind whipped smoldering embers near the Cascade dam into a blaze. The fire within a few minutes was rushing down Cascade canyon threatening scores of homes. More than 20 of the hundreds of fire fighters were burned more or less seriously. Working quickly, sight-seers and volunteers directed by the regular firemen directed tons of water from the Cascade reservoir by six engines on the fire at a dozen points. Within a few hours it was under control. Today crews began work beating out embers and extinguishing burning stumps. This will require several days.

Grinnell Boy Killed, Father in Hospital; Car Lands in Ditch

GRINNELL, July 5 (AP)—Bobby Olds, 6 years old, was killed, and his father, Eldern Olds of Grinnell, is in a hospital with a fractured skull and leg injury as the result of an accident late today on highway No. 142 near here.

The accident occurred on a bridge approach over Bear creek. The road was slippery with rain, and the driver lost control. The car overturned into a water-filled ditch.

Lightning Kills Ball Player During Game

ST. LOUIS, July 5 (AP)—Emmett Nichols, 18 years old, was killed, and William Resecartz, 18 years old, was seriously injured this afternoon when they were struck by lightning while playing baseball in Lemp's park during a thunder storm.

The boys were standing together in an outfield position away from the other players when they were struck. Both were badly burned. Nichols, knocked unconscious, died a short time later.

Oklahoma Attorney Charges Prohibition Agent With Murder

TECUMSEH, Okla., July 5 (AP)—First degree murder charges against W. W. Thomason, federal prohibition officer, Jeff Harris, Tom Little and John Williams, who participated in a liquor raid near here yesterday which resulted in the death of one man and the wounding of another, were filed late today by Randall Pitman, county attorney.

James Harris, 35 years old, a farmer, was killed, and his brother-in-law, Oscar Lowery, was wounded by the raiders as they were searching Harris' farm for liquor. Jeff Harris was held in the county jail here, while the three other men have not been arrested, Pitman said. The county attorney said he understood Thomason was the only one of the quartet who is an enforcement officer. It was reported at first that Jeff Harris was a federal prohibition agent, but prohibition officials in Washington said Harris did not have a federal commission.

Scholars Gather in Oxford to Observe 25th Rhodes Scholarship Anniversary

OXFORD, Eng., July 5 (AP)—A great gathering of scholars from the United States, the British empire and Germany today assembled in the new Rhodes house to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the famous Rhodes scholarships to Oxford university.

The Princes of Wales, former Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, and many prominent persons were present at a dinner in honor of the occasion to night.

Baldwin, who is one of the Rhodes trustees, made the important announcement that for the first time since the German exclusion during the war, German scholars again would be admitted as Rhodes scholars. He said that the trustees, subject to the consent of the university authorities, would establish two German scholarships annually obtainable for two years only. This would enable four German scholars to be constantly in residence at Oxford.

Poincare Forces Score in Debate on Ratification

PARIS, July 5 (AP)—The Poincare government scored a signal victory today over the much advertised offensive of the opposition parties after the chamber of deputies had played through the new parliamentary farce of "the who gets slapped," with variations on the American debt settlement to enliven the performance.

The premier stood firm tonight, and students of French politics thought it would continue until it was ready to put through ratification of the Mellon-Berengier deal accord in his own way and at his own time, before Aug. 1.

But upon the question whether the face of Prefect of Police Chappie had, or had not been slapped, hung Poincare's fate for a time today, for the opposition parties used it to cover an attack on the government which they were not willing to overthrow on the direct debts issue.

Deputy Maurice Dormann, mutilated war veteran, was selected by the opposition forces to make a diversion on the debt discussion. He was to interpellate Minister of Interior Tardieu and the entire government on whether Prefect of Police Chappie had been slapped in a demonstration of war veterans at the Arc De Triomphe three weeks ago Sunday.

Tardieu had issued a formal denial that Chappie's face had been slapped and Dormann thereby considered himself insulted as a war veteran and demanded a retraction.

This apparently trivial incident had been chosen by the opposition as a chance to bring down the Poincare cabinet without running the risk before the country of overthrowing the government on the issue of refusal to ratify the Mellon-Berengier accord.

Premier Poincare and M. Tardieu succeeded in convincing Dormann that he was being used as a pawn in a game of internal politics directed against the government, and the war veteran finally withdrew his interpellations.

Former Prohibition Agent Arrested for Operation of Still

GRINNELL, July 5 (AP)—Fred Tretler, former federal prohibition officer, was arrested here today by state officers on a warrant charging him with owning and operating three stills found on a farm near Dubuque.

According to officers, Mattie Lester, tenant of the farm, said that Tretler owned the stills, unknown to him, and that Tretler had let him live on the farm without paying rent. The warrant for Tretler's arrest was issued on information sworn to by Lester.

Hundreds Clamor to Hear Evidence in Livingston Trial

CHICAGO, July 5 (AP)—Extra court balliffs were called today to subdue a crowd as evidence in the sensational trial of Ann Livingston's $70,000 breach of promise suit against Franklin Harding, came to an end.

The crowd, its appetite whetted by the testimony presented during the last two days, battered at the doors of the courtroom on opening of the afternoon session. For several moments, riot threatened. Hundreds of disappointed persons were waiting in the halls of the court building when the witness left the stand.

Miss Livingston went back on the stand to elaborate on her denial of the testimony given by Mrs. Victoria C. Heath of Omaha, Wednesday. Mrs. Heath had attacked the plaintiff's girlhood reputation. Miss Livingston denied ever seeing her.

The bulk of the testimony during the afternoon session was technical and concerned the legality of the prenuptial contract, which Harding contends Miss Livingston refused to sign.

Prince of Wales in Attendance at Banquet

OXFORD, Eng., July 5 (AP)—A great gathering of scholars from the United States, the British empire and Germany today assembled in the new Rhodes house to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the famous Rhodes scholarships to Oxford university.

New Tribunal Promises to Consider Best Interests of 6-Year Old Slayer

Lad, Parents, Counsel to Attend Hearing at Frankfort

PAINTSVILLE, Ky., July 5 (AP)—The case of Carl Newton Mahan today officially went before a new tribunal which promises to consider the best interests of the six-year-old slayer in determining what shall be done with him.

Mrs. Emma Hunt, director of the Kentucky children's bureau, came here today and received from County Judge John W. Butcher, the papers paroling Carl to the bureau. She and her secretary, Mrs. Charlotte Hampton, then conferred with the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mahan, and their associate counsel, M. O. Wheeler.

As a result of the conference it was decided that the boy, his parents and his counsel will attend a hearing before the bureau's board of directors at Frankfort next week.

The bureau, under the law, may place the boy in a state institution, leave him with his parents, subject to general supervision, or make other provision for him.

Carl killed his playmate, Cecil Van Hoese, 8 years old, in May. He was first tried and sentenced to 15 years in the state house of reform. This action was set aside by a higher court, and the delinquency order followed several weeks later.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Reception Held for Pi Lambda Theta Delegates

Visiting delegates to the national convention of Pi Lambda Theta, educational sorority, were entertained at an informal reception held in the University club rooms at the Iowa Union last night at 8 p.m. The faculty of the education college were hosts and hostesses. Others guests included members of the faculty of the liberal arts college, and visiting professors on the staff during the summer.

Entertainment for the evening consisted of a group of solos by Mrs. Ruth Harris Olson of the school of music, accompanied by Francis M. Camp, director of the teachers' appointment committee. Refreshments were served at the close of the party.

A formal banquet on the sun porch of the Iowa Union will be held this evening, approximately 100 persons attending. Bessie Pierce of the history department is in charge of the arrangements for the event.

Zeta Tau Alpha to Entertain Visiting Alumnae at Luncheon

Honoring alumnae who are in the city during the summer, members of the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority will entertain at an informal luncheon today at 12:15. The party will be held in the private dining room of Iowa Union. Summer flowers will provide decorations for the long table at which the guests will be seated.

Fifteen members of the sorority will be present at the luncheon. Alumnae who will attend are Beth Wellman, associate professor of child welfare; Idell S. Pyle of the child welfare station; Mrs. Ralph House of Iowa City; Harriett J. Dickey, G of S of San Antonio, Tex., and Orvetta Wissler of Oakdale.

Sylvia W. Holthues Marries at Spencer

Sylvia W. Holthues, daughter of Mrs. Anna Holthues of Peteresen, and Clement T. Hanson of Davenport, were married at a quiet ceremony at Spencer July 2.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Iowa and is president of the Tri-City chapter of the Kappa Delta sorority. She has been teaching home economics at Rock Island, Ill., for the last two years.

Mr. Hanson is also a graduate of the university, and is affiliated with the Phi Kappa social fraternity and the Alpha Kappa Psi commercial fraternity. At present he is connected with the Fred Hinrichsen Advertising Agency at Davenport, where the couple will make their home.

Annual Fourth of July Picnic at Hastings Home

In accordance with an annual custom, 20 relatives and friends gathered Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hastings, Black Diamond road, to celebrate the Fourth of July with a picnic dinner. Games of cards were played in the evening. Mrs. John Blakesley of Cedar Rapids was an out-of-town guest.

SOCIAL REGISTERITE STARTS CRUISE

Mrs. Leonard Outwaite, with her feline mascot, sails for Europe with her husband aboard their 90-foot auxiliary yacht "Kinkajou." They expect the trip to take them 25 days. The craft is 70 tons or 30 gross tons less than the flagship used by Christopher Columbus.

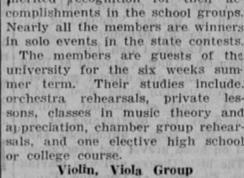

"All-Iowa" High School Orchestra Appears Again

The second regular all-Iowa high school orchestra concert given at Iowa Union last night, was attended by 600 persons. The program was under the direction of Lee M. Lockhart, director of music in the Pittsburgh, Pa., schools.

Hundreds Hear First Symphony by Beethoven

The program consisted of "Fidelio," by Sibelius, and "First Symphony," by Beethoven. The crowd applauded the efforts of the high school stars from 26 orchestras.

Shows Anne Desert

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh detoured from his regular route on the way from Albuquerque, N. M., to Winslow today to show his bride the pointed desert. The couple consequently arrived here at 5 p.m., an hour later than was expected. The flyer is making an inspection of the Transcontinental Air Transport lines, for which he is technical adviser.

Police Connect Evangelista Axe Slaying With "Hex" Black Magic

Police to-night believed they had established a connection between the axe slaying of Bonnie Evangelista, religious fanatic, his wife and four children Wednesday, and a series of similar crimes committed recently in the vicinity of York, Pa., and known as the "Hex" murders. Behind all of the slayings is a background of black magic and religious and occult beliefs, officers say.

Will Question Two in Connection With Murder

DETROIT, July 5 (AP)—Police to-night believed they had established a connection between the axe slaying of Bonnie Evangelista, religious fanatic, his wife and four children Wednesday, and a series of similar crimes committed recently in the vicinity of York, Pa., and known as the "Hex" murders. Behind all of the slayings is a background of black magic and religious and occult beliefs, officers say.

Ames Professor to Join Manufacturers of Livestock Feed

AMES, July 5 (AP)—John N. Evard, professor of animal husbandry and chief of swine, sheep and cattle investigation at Iowa State college for the last 20 years, resigned today to take up duties as vice president in charge of research in cattle, sheep, and swine for Allied mills, livestock feed manufacturers.

Sandino Visits Mexican Tombs

MEXICO CITY, July 5 (AP)—Special dispatches from Vera Cruz today said that General Augustino Sandino, leader of the Nicaraguan rebels who fought United States marines, visited the tombs of the Mexicans who died fighting the American occupying forces in 1914. The visit was made on the Fourth of July and General Sandino placed a bunch of flowers on each grave.

Canada Reports Giant Amphibian at Great Whale

OTTAWA, Ont., July 5 (AP)—Bad weather was believed to have forced down, at Great Whale, today the giant amphibian plane, "Untin" Bowler, enroute to Berlin from Chicago.

Fog Forces Chicago Pilots to Land Again Friday

Canadian government wireless operators at Port Burwell, on the Hudson straits, picked up a message from the plane this morning which indicated that the ship was landing. The message was barely decipherable.

Great Whale is 250 miles north of Rupert House, where the plane is believed to have landed yesterday in its flight from Lake Remi. Poor visibility, messages indicated, forced the "Untin" Bowler down at Rupert House, which is a trading post on the northeast outlet of James Bay, half way between Lake Remi and Great Whale.

That the plane was in the air this morning was made certain by government wireless operators who received loud signals from the amphibian's radio set. These were received, the operators believe, while the plane was enroute to Great Whale.

From Great Whale the "Untin" Bowler's route is mapped across the wilds of northern Canada to Greenland via Point Chidley on the northernmost point of Labrador. Rain and fog were reported in this region today.

Henderson Outlines 3 Labor Policies

LONDON, July 5 (AP)—Three of the principal issues in foreign policy which the labor government must meet were outlined in the house of commons today by Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson.

Disarmament conversations with the United States were briefly disposed of with an exchange of cordial good wishes and thanks between Sir Austen Chamberlain, former conservative foreign minister and his labor successor. On behalf of the conservative opposition, Sir Austen said:

"I believe myself we can best contribute by refraining from public discussion at this stage in matters which must be treated privately in the first instance if they are to produce full results. I, therefore, confine myself to wishing from the bottom of my heart success to the task."

Henderson committed himself no further in the matter than by thanking Sir Austen for his generosity in dealing with the subject.

Democrats Intend to Change Tariff Proviso of House

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—The democratic national committee announced today that democrats and progressives in the senate intend an entire transformation of the flexible tariff provision embodied in the house bill.

Declaring the democratic program to be a restoration of the non-partisan character of the tariff commission, the statement asserted that "under the measure as it passed the house the tariff commission is to be changed from its present complexion, which by statutory regulation compels that three members of the tariff board shall be of the majority party and two of the minority party."

Smoot's New Plan May Solve Sugar Tariff Controversy

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—Lower tariff rates for sugar than those provided in the house bill would be provided under a new sliding scale drafted by Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee.

In making the announcement today, after completing the tentative draft, Senator Smoot declined to amplify. The plan probably will be made public next week before the entire finance committee which is studying the tariff measure passed by the house.

Stultz Reported Intoxicated

Toxicologist Reports to Authorities of Analysis

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—Nassau county authorities reported today that Wilber "Bill" Stultz, transatlantic pilot, was intoxicated when he took off on the crazy stunt flight in which he and two passengers fell to death at Roosevelt field Monday.

The announcement was based on a report of Dr. Alexander O. Goetler, New York city toxicologist, who chemically analyzed the airman's vital organs, and was made public immediately before the officials declared their intentions of cleaning out speakeasies. County authorities and officials of Roosevelt field were in conference in an effort to determine where rested the responsibility for the tragedy.

Hondas Mayberry Kills Sweetheart, Takes Own Life

KEWANEE, Mo., July 5 (AP)—Letters revealing marriage plans for last June 20 and her father's objections were offered at an inquest held today by Coroner P. S. Chiles into the fatal shooting of Miss Irma Hendershott, 16 year old high school student, by Honas Mayberry, of Hammond, Ind., yesterday.

The youth turned the weapon on himself before the girl's father could send a charge from a shotgun into his body.

Mayberry went to the Hendershott home a week ago, the coroner said, and asked her father, William Hendershott, to permit their marriage. The youth left after Hendershott objected.

Moody Approves in Part Condemnation of President's Wife

AUSTIN, Tex., July 5 (AP)—Governor Moody today approved in part and disapproved in part the concurrent resolution passed by the Texas legislature condemning Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the president of the United States, for entertaining the wife of a Negro congressman at a white house tea.

"Any part of this resolution which may be reasonably construed as a personal criticism of the wife of the president of the United States of America, does not have my approval and I decline to have any part in it," he said in a statement filed with the document.

Prohibition Agents Involved in Recent Looting of Whiskey

CHICAGO, July 5 (AP)—Looting of $200,000 of pre-war whiskey from the Sibley warehouse may be traced to warehouse employees in conspiracy with bootleggers, government officials said today.

The officials, who asked that the names be withheld, declared Prohibition Administrator E. C. Yelverly's inquiry has failed to involve prohibition agents, inspectors, or other government employees.

The inquiry, under way since last fall, has shown that 482 barrels were tampered with. Whisky was replaced with colored water.

Engineers' Strike Vote Deals With Mileage for Extras

CHICAGO, July 5 (AP)—A strike vote being taken among the locomotive engineers of three western railway systems involves questions of representation and mileage for extra engineers, and a wage increase is not at issue, said R. E. Edrington, assistant general engineer of the international brotherhood of locomotive engineers in a statement today.

Edrington pointed out that an Associated Press dispatch July 2, quoted him erroneously in crediting the strike vote in a two year wage controversy between the locomotive engineers and the railroads of the United States and Canada.

Lightning Kills Farmer Taken Into Cabinet

MACEDONIA, July 5 (AP)—W. C. Milice, 50 years old, farmer who lived near here, was killed by lightning today during a thunder shower. A son was plowing corn, and when he approached a fence against which his father had been standing, he found the latter dead. His clothes were partly burned.

ATHENS, July 5 (AP)—Andrew Michalakopoulos, former premier of Greece, was taken today to the cabinet of Eleutherios Venizelos as the president of the council of ministers and head of the foreign department today. He will act for M. Venizelos when the latter is absent.

Commander Byrd Seeks Citizenship for Radio Operator

CHICAGO, July 5 (AP)—Permission to obtain final citizenship papers by radio was asked today in a radio gram from Com. Richard E. Byrd, applying for his radio operator, Carl O. Petersen.

The message was sent to United States District Clerk Charles M. Bates.

Commander Byrd, who is with his expedition which is near the south pole, suggested he might administer the oath of allegiance to Petersen as an officer of the United States navy. He explained Petersen is seeking a commission as a reserve officer in the United States air corps where he is now serving as a sergeant.

The request was referred to the chief of the naturalization service here, Fred Schlotfeldt, who in turn asked Washington for instructions.

Taxation, Revenue Committee Meets

DES MOINES, July 5 (AP)—The joint legislative committee on taxation and revenue convened here today for the first time since its creation by the forty-third Iowa general assembly for purposes of organization and outline of work.

New Group Organizes, Outlines Problems for Report

The committee is empowered by the legislature to make a study of taxation and revenue problems and report to the next regular or special session of the legislature.

One of the aims of the committee is to find some other means of raising state revenue other than by a direct state tax levy on property.

Membership of the committee includes Sen. C. P. Clark, Cedar Rapids, chairman; Representative Fred C. Lovrin, Humboldt, vice chairman; Senators George W. Patterson, Burlington, and C. L. Rieby, Stanwood, and Representatives Harry M. Greene, Axtell, and John F. Kline, Bloomfield, Democrat.

The committee went first to the office of Governor Hammill where they met Louis H. Cook, associate editor of the Iowa Homestead. He was introduced by Governor Hammill as one member of the new state tax commission. Cook is the only member of the commission thus appointed. The two others, including one democrat, will be named later, the governor said.

Following the meeting in which only the general tax situation was discussed, the conferees adjourned to meet during the afternoon with the taxation committee of the Iowa farm bureau federation.

Chairman Clark issued a statement in which he said the committee was fully organized to begin its fact finding work.

"Any part of this resolution which may be reasonably construed as a personal criticism of the wife of the president of the United States of America, does not have my approval and I decline to have any part in it," he said in a statement filed with the document.

The resolution had his hearty approval, insofar as it condemns customs that bring the two races into contact, upon the same social basis, he said.

Modernizing Starts With the Interior of the Home

MARKED CHANGES POSSIBLE IN THE AVERAGE HOUSE

Interior Decorating One Phase of Effort

The Home Modernizing Movement is calculated to improve the home both inside and out. Remodeling may be necessary in many cases where the exterior of the residence still bears the stamp of the architecture of 20 years ago. Yet modernizing rather than the more limited remodeling is the aim of this campaign. Modernization is an all embracing word. Your home may have the modern lines that are now in vogue yet contain many accessories that are out of date or the home may be lacking in those conveniences that have recently come into such generally accepted use.

Livability of Home Depends on Modernization
Home modernizing really starts with the interior of the home. It is here that the home life functions and it is only right that the home be equipped with the newly devised equipment that makes living so worth while.

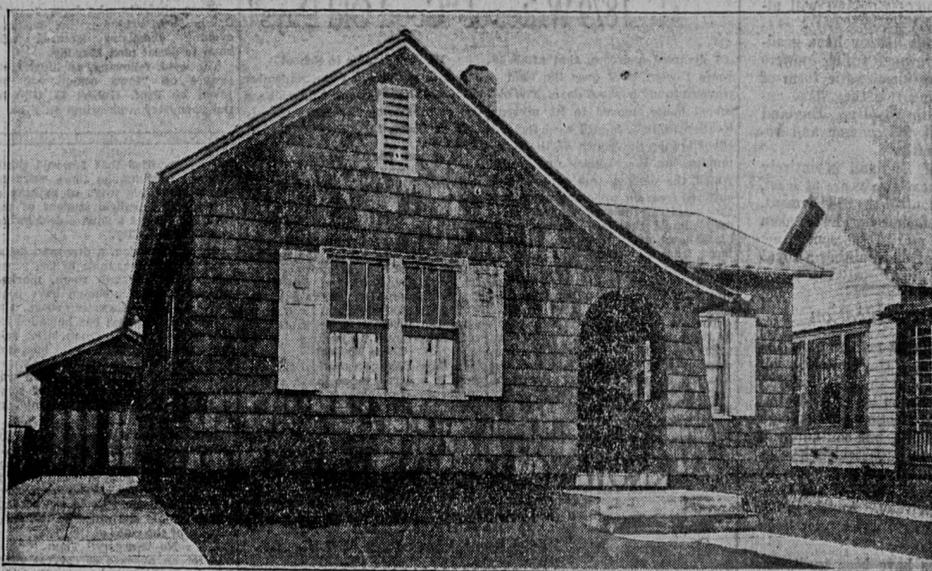

Even though the exterior lines of the dwelling be smartly up to date, now is the time to thoughtfully consider the interior to see if you are receiving full satisfaction from it. Marked changes are possible in the average house. The layout of the rooms is often inconvenient and unsatisfactory. Certain rooms may need enlarging or alterations. A lack of closets is a handicap to the housekeeper. The stairs to the upper floor may be inaccessible or narrow.

Styles Change in Furnishings
Consider also the furnishings of the home. Styles change in furniture and the parlor set of fifteen years ago is now out of date. Carpets, covering the entire floor, were necessary in the days of soft wood but nowadays have been discarded in favor of rugs. Chinese or Oriental rugs may be beyond the limits of the family purse, but domestic rugs of similar pattern and most artistic are available today.

The arrangement of the furniture is new. Years ago the chairs and tables were placed along the walls with stiff formality, but now they are scattered around the rooms in a studied disarray. A cozy, homely atmosphere is secured which is not possible with the more formal arrangement.

New home accessories are constantly being placed on the market. While the average home can purchase furniture at infrequent intervals, new effects can be secured by frequent changes of lamp shades, curtains and drapes, table covers, cushions and the like. It is possible to keep abreast of the times with these moderate priced accessories which make the home always bright and fresh.

New Types of Wall Decorations
Changes in wall decorations are also another angle of home modernizing. Lately canvass covered walls, painted with several coats of flat paint, have been popular. The standard wall paper, however, comes out each year with new designs and color effects and will always remain in vogue.

Many newly constructed homes use no wall covering, the plaster being tinted and finished in a rough yet striking texture.

Plastic paints with which effects in modified texture can be achieved give a finish half way between the smooth plaster and the very rough textured effects. The resulting finish has been described as combining the restraint of the untextured painted walls with the distinction of hard worked plaster. It is universally suitable for the decoration of side walls.

More than 40,000 cubic yards of dirt had to be moved around in the construction of a new million dollar airport.

You would have to hire a fastidious person to live in this old-times. Yet when modernized its owners were the envy of the neighborhood. Look above and see what happened!

Modernized Cottage Becomes Smart Looking Bungalow

Sweeping Lines Enhance Beauty of Dwelling

After contrasting the two houses shown to the left, doubting Thomases who believe that they are not the same are invited to cast an eagle eye at the house next door, found at the right in each picture.

That the house next door is the same is plainly evident by the group of three windows, and the gable end. The points of contact are evident and prove that these before and after illustrations show what modernization means to the exterior lines of a house.

Once a Lowly Cottage

The smart-looking bungalow at the top of the page was once the lowly cottage shown below it. The sweeping roof lines and arched entrance reveal the spirit of today—a far cry from the ginger-bread adorned architecture of the early nineties.

When the owner of the cottage decided to invest in modernization he instructed the contractor, first of all, to get rid of the old fashioned front porch with its ugly trimming. In its place he devised a plain little entry way covered by an extension of the roof which sweeps down in a fascinating curve. An arched entrance with a shingled column supports the extremity of the roof.

Stained Shingles Used
The plain clapboarding of the old structure has been superceded by shingle siding which adds so much to the honey intimate atmosphere of this bungalow. Incidentally stained shingles, stucco, or brick veneer are popular sidings for small houses and permit effective color schemes.

A ventilator with horizontal louvers allows the entrance of air into the attic, insuring a draft in hot summer weather so that heated air will not accumulate and warm the rooms below.

The large fixed bay window that lighted the front room of the house was torn away when the building was modernized. A broad opening filled with two sliding windows now occupies the place. Quaintly paneled wooden shutters flank each window opening at the front. Shutters of this type are usually distinctive and aid in setting the house apart from its neighbors.

Interior Also Modern
The interior of the house is as modern as its exterior. The various rooms of the bungalow have been made up-to-date and every convenience that will add to the comfort and convenience of the occupants is found.

Like most old houses soft wood floors had been used in each room. These floors were relaid with hard wood and waxed to bring out their rich effects.

Electrical outlets are found in each room so that floor lamps can be used without cords reaching to the center cluster of hanging lights as was necessary before modernization. The fixtures of the center cluster of lights

Electrical Outlets Necessary

Many Electrical Accessories Used Today

Electrical outlets are much in demand in the modern home. The increased use of electricity and the many varied types of accessories makes an abundance of outlets necessary.

The older houses contained few if any outlets, a cord running from the center cluster being necessary if the housewife needed additional service.

The newest houses contain two or three outlets in the mopboard, each room being so equipped. Often the center cluster of lights in the living room is not used because of the vogue for floor lamps. The appearance of the center cluster adds or detracts from the decorative effect of the room and the cluster should be kept up to date. Changes in design are frequent and the cluster must be renewed occasionally if the room be modern.

Each room of the house has electrical accessories peculiar to it. Outlets are always necessary if full service is to be secured.

Floor lamps are found in many rooms of the house. In the bedroom will be used electric warming pads, heaters and bed lamps. The dining room needs outlets for electric cooking fixtures, such as toasters, waffle-irons, grills and percolators, since many housewives prepare some dishes at the table.

In the kitchen outlets waist-high are convenient and may be used when electrically is used for cooking. Many housewives iron in the kitchen and outlets must be available for this service.

Air Travel Grows
Every traffic office of the Standard Airlines, incorporated, reports a substantial increase in the Standard Airlines passenger list. Forty-eight per cent more tickets were purchased in the local offices of the Los Angeles division in the last two weeks of May than in the same territory.

The Daily Iowan's Platform For a Greater Iowa City

1. Make Iowa City the best home city in the state.
2. Put the airport under municipal control as soon as possible.
3. Lessen number of automobile accidents and increase safety for pedestrians.
4. Pave Dubuque and Clinton streets in the business district.

Do You Believe in Signs?

THE other day a man broke a mirror and for some time he was greatly depressed over the prospect of seven years bad luck. In a day or so he was called in by the boss and given a raise in salary. Some friends invited him to go on a yachting trip. Then some relative died and left him a sum of money.

A few years ago in the month of October an expectant mother was being taken to a maternity hospital. It was in the dead of night. On the way to the hospital a black cat was seen to dart across the street just in front of the taxi. When the baby was born it didn't have a hair lip, neither was it bow-legged nor knock-kneed. Until this day that child has grown in a most normal manner, all black cats to the contrary.

An old gentian who is an authority in natural history, made a startling statement recently. He said that the new 17 year locusts, now appearing in certain areas, have the letter W traced on their backs. He pointed out that this letter stands for the word "war." Therefore the world is due to have a great war in a very short time.

It hardly seems necessary to say that a certain figure on the backs of 17 year locusts can have but little relation to the political relations that lead nations into war. And what virtue might there be in a frightened black kitten, which would bring disaster or misfortune to the people who happen to cross the path of the aforesaid pussy.

Are there not enough problems to perplex us without bothering our heads about these old superstitions. It may even be true that the worry over some "unlucky sign" will induce such a mental condition that the individual is much more apt to fall into the error that is called bad luck. Ask the psychologist about it.

Unless we are able to overcome the spell of a number 13, or a two dollar bill, or a broken mirror, why should we claim so much for our twentieth century civilization? Why not admit that we are still on the same level with those tribesmen who carry a rabbit's foot to ward off all manner of plagues and evil spirits?

Making Perfect Machines

CLARENCE CHAMBERLIN'S flight in which he demonstrated his "fool proof" plane is another instance showing that progress in aviation tends to be evolution rather than revolution. Pilot Chamberlin stated that the "principle of almost perfect synchronization of control" made his latest flight possible. If commercial aviation is made practical, it will come through perfecting devices already known to aviators, not through startling new inventions.

Howard Mings, in his article "Five Years More of Flying" printed in a current number of the Saturday Evening Post, brings out this same idea. Within the last five years a tremendous development has been under way. Improvements in the use of all-metal construction, wheel brakes, radio, navigational instruments are making flying craft safer and more economical.

The public is interested to a phenomenal degree in aviation. People are investing great sums in it. They are more than willing to believe any prophecy in regard to the future of flying. Perhaps some hopes are too optimistic, or perhaps we have not foreseen the future of aviation fully enough.

At any rate, men like Chamberlin are doing the type of work that means progress. Stunt flying is giving place to providing machines that the public is demanding in which safety is emphasized. Less attention to stunt flights which too often end disastrously and which achieve nothing and more attention to improvement of craft will create a confidence in aviation without which commercial flying can never be widespread.

English Royalty

ON JULY 1 British subjects welcomed back to Buckingham palace their king. It was a gala occasion. After months of illness when the entire kingdom mourned the possible loss of a loved majesty, the English people again saw their king.

Illness had made the king a bit thinner and worn looking, but he stood erect and saluted his subjects.

This is another manifestation that England loves its king and queen and the royal family. True, they should. Has this family not lived for England? England will always have its royalty.

Countries throughout history have gradually forced their crowned ruling powers to give way to a more democratic form of government. By doing this they have entirely done away with royalty. England alone has maintained the glamor and romance of the royal family.

The government of England is entirely liberal, and for the next two years at least, the labor party will control the government. Other countries once monarchies have taken over the government and at the same time have lost the beauty of maintaining a royal house.

Religion Plus Education

IT IS usually the ignorant man who has the strongest prejudices. He conceives an idea, right or wrong, and then proceeds to put up his shutters. He builds around himself a fence of self-satisfaction high enough to keep his neighbors out, but containing a knot-hole, of course, through which he can observe and criticize others. He assumes an air of bull-doggishness to ward off any trespassers of his smug privacy. Anything not strictly in accordance with his views, he thrusts aside, unanalyzed.

For years churches have been guilty of somewhat the same attitude. Narrow religious beliefs taught to them as children have made adults intolerant. Judgment of denominations has been based not upon attitudes of right and wrong, but upon petty little differences in ritual. Mechanical details have superseded the sentiment of which the details should be the outward signs.

Friends of the drawing room, the athletic club, or the work-day world bristle with antagonism or withdrawal in reticence at the mere suggestion of a discussion of religion. Education has always been tolerant. Churches, too, can appreciate that there is more than one way of arriving at a given conclusion. A thing that is talked about is never so serious as that which we hush and refuse to discuss.

The University of Iowa with its opportunity to foster religious education is to be congratulated on its recent success. That a renewal of support was guaranteed by Rockefeller is a sure indication of the progress of the school of religion. It is to be hoped that through its means of religious education the three churches, Jewish, Catholic, and Protestant will establish a basis for Christian thinking, and that they will minimize denominational prejudice.

Persistent Carelessness

MORNING papers recently carried the story of a man and his two children who were fatally burned when the father attempted to light a fire with kerosene. That story is a well known one to the reading public. How many times a year do the various newspapers of the country carry that self-same tragedy, each one differing only in the names of the victims?

Everyone knows that kerosene is a highly inflammable liquid and when brought into contact with fire, something is pretty apt to happen. In the case mentioned above, the father, in beginning preparations for the breakfast of his four motherless children, attempted to light a wood fire. Failing to get it started at once, he reached for the can which he supposed contained kerosene. Another case of improper labeling—the can held gasoline. The inevitable explosion occurred.

Two of the children were standing near "watching daddy start a fire." Now, because of the father's carelessness and haste, only their little charred bodies remain. The father himself is in a hospital in such a critical condition that little hope is held for his recovery. His two remaining children are alone to face the onslaughts of a frequently merciless world.

As time goes on the old saying holds true, "there's one born every minute." Our daily papers bring us tragic object lessons by countless scores throughout the years, but they are printed for a stubborn public, unwilling to learn from the sad experience of the other fellow.

Wait Until August

THE Jones resolution, which would have paved the way for transfer of prohibition enforcement to the department of justice, was quickly shelved by republican leaders when senate wets interfered. These latter insisted that a congressional airing of the prohibition shootings be tacked on the resolution. As the situation now rests, nothing will be done about law enforcement until the senate reconvenes late in August.

Senator Brookhart remarks that it is time to "stop all this slush about murders and force senators to help enforce the law," while Senator Copeland, New York, a wet, denounces shooting by prohibition agents and declares that the "fanatical attitude" of dry enforcement is undoing the law.

This wrangling will continue without definite solution. Rum running will go on with a bigger business than ever before; innocent persons will be killed, dry agents will shoot to kill, and the eighteenth amendment will remain a law only in part.

To stamp out such an evil, it is necessary to get at the root of the trouble. As long as Americans retain a taste for liquor that long will prohibition violations continue. As long as there is a market for alcohol it will be made and sold. Obviously, then, the thirst for hooch will have to be treated. Wisconsin thinks she can solve the problem with legislation, legalizing the use of liquor for medicinal purposes. This, of course, is but another way of satisfying the taste of its citizens.

Alumnus Who Came Back to First Commencement in 50 Years Since 1879 Writes of "Good Old Days"

I dreamed a dream, that after 50 years I went back over the road I traveled in my boyhood days. The old school house, moved to its present location in 1865, is still used for the education of the youth of the community, but the "Linden grove" for which the district was named, had suffered from the woodman's axe, and the beautiful linden trees with the wild plums, the wild cherries, the black haws, and crabapples, had suffered from the effect of advancing civilization. The prairie chickens, with their cackle and clatter of wings on frosty mornings, along with the coyote and deer, had all disappeared.

The old school house has its place in the annals of history, as at one time, about 1868 or 1869, being presided over by Dr. John Minthorn, as teacher, an uncle of our President, Hoover, who, after the death of his parents, was taken by him to Oregon.

Walked Tracks to School

And in my dream I can remember the many times I counted the railroad ties from Downey to Iowa City to save 45 cents, the price of the railroad fare.

I dreamed that I was again at McLean's academy at Iowa City, where Professor Mathews, Miss Bluer and Jennie Shrader (Mrs. J. Wilson) were the instructors. Time has not effaced the memory of this.

Then I dreamed that in 1876 I went to Iowa City to attend the medical department of the University of Iowa. Dr. Peck, Dr. Robertson, Dr. Clapp, Dr. Middleton, Dr. Farnworth, Dr. Hobby, Dr. Heinrich, and Dr. Shrader were the instructors or professors, with Billy Green as janitor.

In those days the medical students were in bad repute; so much so that on meeting an old acquaintance of my academy days, she expressed her

KNOW YOUR UNIVERSITY

Papa, Mama, Little Johnny, All on Deck for Summer; Not "Rabbit" Hat, but Briefcase

Figures prove that 1,441 students are registered in the graduate college this year in contrast to 1,387 last year. And figures do not lie—save when absolutely necessary. In this case their validity is vouched for by the registrar's office.

So the summer bachelor passes. His wife, and in several cases his family demonstrate a craving for higher education. The summer session party was almost devoid of stags. While several hundred pensive women sat on dances, several hundred perhaps equally pensive men rocked Johnny to sleep or treated the family to ice cream cones.

Of the summer session types only the summer bachelor is on the wane. The brief case type flourishes. Scarcely one class free from those curious phenomena who carry more in a leather portfolio than anyone ever thought of sticking in a wardrobe trunk.

An observer witnessed this diversified content in one case; one statistics book, one history of American education, one something—thought to be a condensed edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, four pencils, one fountain pen, a leather note book and a box of cough drops. The observer states his firm conviction that the man with the capacious case is Santa Claus, working for an M.A., incognito.

School teachers come. School teachers go. But, coming or going, they land in summer school. Of the 1,022 persons enrolled in the college of liberal arts few can boast that they never cried, "Jimmie, deposit that chewing gum in the wastepaper basket at once," or balanced a lead pencil over the right ear, or lifted eyebrows in a pedagogical stare.

High school superintendents may be noted in overwhelming majority at the education library. They have more dignity and usually less hair than their fellow students. Theirs is the distressing habit of pulling "A's."

Young intellectuals with spectacles, stooped shoulders, an air of detachment, and a way of winking out of reveries to query, "Eh, what, sir?" to their professors, have diminished this year. In their stead have come the youthful Menckentines whose daily program consists solely of looking skeptical. These persons may be recognized by the nonchalant flap of their shoe strings and ears, and by the line of grim humor about their lips.

A few mothers are matching their wits with their youngsters.

The remnants of the year session remain in the persons of the occasional flapper who couldn't quite make the sorority average, and the young man who passed only six of the eight hours required for the Freshman who would be a sophomore. These may be recognized by vociferous protests at 7 o'clock classes and the length of assignments.

Librarians assert, however, that summer session students of whatever type, and for whatever reason, are hard workers. And that's that!

self as horrified that I would think of such a thing, as there were so many honorable ways of making a living. The medical student of the '70's did not get a square deal in the game at Iowa City.

On one occasion, a drayman delivered a load of express to the president's (Dr. Pickard) room, marked "Books," when it should have been delivered to the dissecting room. Upon opening the first box he called for the police. The drayman, after talking one look at the opened box, hollered "Murder," and refused to move farther. Old Billy Green was sent for and with the help of some of the medical students, the mistake was corrected.

We sometimes had to wait for months for our dissecting material. In my dream I can see a lot more that would not look good in print, but if it ever becomes possible for me to have a heart to heart talk to the medical class, I could add much to the early history of the class of the '70's.

No "Surgey" Then
After an absence of several years I began to think that my medical education had been sadly neglected. I can't remember of seeing one capital operation during my entire college course, nor one case of appendicitis. It was the pre-appendicitis period, but it was the peritonitis, typhilitis, perityphilitis period, when we were taught that one attack would most likely be followed by another.

I often wonder what Professor Peck would think were he permitted to see some of his old students of the '70's entering the abdomen with that confidence and assurance of success which has developed through the teaching and practice of aseptic surgery. They would sometimes wash their hands and remove their coats before commencing their work. Pardoned me, do not think for one moment that I would cast a slur on their memory, nor lessen the brilliancy of the light they reflected upon their class of the '70's. It is only my purpose to make a resume of the past. Only by recognizing our past mistakes, can we deal with the future.

Medical Tower Great

As I stated before, after being out for a few years and having seen some of our California hospitals, I still thought old Iowa was a back number, but since my recent visit I have changed my mind. The hospital, our hospital, I am proud to say, as every member of Old Gold should be, is the acme of perfection. While not the largest and having a few mistakes in architecture, it is a model of modern efficiency, and that old diploma of the state of Iowa that hangs on the wall of my den, like its owner, has done its work.

It granted me the right to practice medicine and surgery, and I took the oath of Hippocrates like all of our old professors before me. I can not remember it all but some of it runs like this: "To reckon him who taught this art, equally dear to me as my parents." And the memory of each individual professor that was photographed upon my brain in the '70's still takes precedence over that which transpired in later years, and if those old professors were living today, with all of the advancement that has taken place since their time they would still be shining lights of the profession.

Family Doctor Obsolete
There is one thing that the ravages of time has left in the discard—the so-called old family doctor, who spent the night holding the hand of his patient, or as Oliver Wendell Holmes pictured him, carrying water from the spring to bathe him, or cheering him with encouraging words. Alas, the doctor now sleeps in his downy bed and gives his orders to the trained nurse who can do it much better.

And now I wish to thank you all for the kind words, and sweet smiles that I received in the Old Capitol building when I registered and received my badge, and realize what I lost in my absence of the other 49 years that I have missed.

—Dr. P. K. Watters, (Retired), Class of 1879.

Chills and Fever

Rainy Day "Thought"

An acquaintance came up to me in the confidential way in which one approaches a bootlegger and told me this column was entirely to "wet."

I told him he wasn't the first to accuse it of being all wet. He meant it in the prohibition sense, though. And that's a thought.

How can one help it in the Iowa City climate? Why, just yesterday somebody was brooding about rainy days, and had to be reminded that but for rain we wouldn't have any place to swim. I didn't mean Iowa, just you see the young fellow above, just falling in (not militarily, but better than to say he dived, considering the form). Without precipitation from on high he could not enjoy his little plunge.

And what would we do for milk if it weren't for Jupiter Pluvius? There wouldn't be enough to go around. It's fully 90 per cent H₂O as it comes from the cow.

I DON'T DRINK, NOT EVEN COFFEE, EXCEPT WHEN I AM AT A BANQUET AND DON'T WANT TO FALL ASLEEP DURING THE TOAST PROGRAM.

Which reminds me that the verb stagger probably was derived from after effects of stag parties.

I live in a world of a wonderful dream
Where everything's beautiful and true love supreme
A love that is glorious, glorious to feel!
A love that's not common but wholly ideal;
A love that gives and never asks;
A love that lightens life's weary tasks;
A love that wears not just for today,
But a love that comes, and comes to stay.

X X X X
I live in a world of grim reality
Where facts are as plain as plain can be;
Where love is common and insincere
Where man holds nothing sacred or dear;
A sordid, cheapened world of sham
Where real love is last in the dollar jam;
A world where love means sex and sin,
A world where true love is not let in.

—Julien of Old Dubuque.

Oklahomans Don't Know Oil
It seems a student from Oklahoma and his 3-year-old son went to Cedar Rapids July 4. On their return the boy was in tears. He'd been promised a chance to "see da rabbits." So papa took him out to the city park or someplace, and he was satisfied.

Wonder how many students failed to "see da rabbits" in class yesterday?

—Aunt I. Dote.

They say some guys "drink like a horse." After seeing some of them afterwards, I'd say it was more like a jackass.

Kenneth Doherty, Detroit, Sets American Mark for Decathlon

California Club Sets Records in 2 Relay Events

New York A. C.'s Trim Mark for Mile Relay

DENVER UNIVERSITY STADIUM, July 5 (AP)—The forty-first running of the National A. A. U. track and field games came to a close here today with the Los Angeles Athletic club taking the relay championships and Kenneth Doherty of the Cadillac Athletic club of Detroit, Mich., retaining the decathlon championship with 7784.68 points, a new American record.

The Los Angeles club's 440-yard team of Milton Maurer, Charley Paddock, Maurice Guyer and Frank Wykoff, created a new world's record for that event on a track with two turns, the time being 41-9-10 seconds.

Win Half-Mile

A new A. A. U. meet record of one minute, 26-4-10 seconds for the half mile relay was set by the Los Angeles team, the personnel of which was the same as that in the 440.

The old record of one minute 27-4-10 seconds, held by the New York Athletic club, had stood since 1921.

The New York A. C.'s one mile quartet clipped 6-10 seconds from the former A. A. U. mark of 3 minutes 17-6-10 seconds, made in 1926 by the Illinois A. C. In the winning team were Jackson Scholz, Johnny Kerr, Howard Jones and Frank Kubel.

Doherty's decathlon point total was the highest ever made in this country. The highest total previously scored was 7574.42, made in 1927 at Lincoln, Neb., by Falk Eklins, of the University of Nebraska.

Charles Drops to Third

Doherty had trailed Wilson Charles, Haskell Indian, for the first half of the decathlon, but Charles, suffering with an ankle injury, received in the high jump, could not maintain the gruelling pace in the afternoon and dropped to third position in the final standing.

V. Kennedy, Warrensburg, Mo., Teachers College, was second with 7362.003 points and Charles had 7240.025.

100-meters run—11.1 seconds; broad jump 6.65 meters; shot put 11.37 meters; high jump 1.81 meters; 400 meters run 54 seconds; 110 meters high hurdles 16.1 seconds; discus throw, 38.23 meters; pole vault 3.53 meters; javelin throw, 56.42 meters; the 1,500 meters run, 5 minutes, 48 seconds.

Herman Brix of the Los Angeles club, set a new world's record in the eight pound shot, throwing the ball 67 feet 11 inches in the medal event.

Make Salt Marsh into Airport

REDONDO BEACH—As the result of a movement said to have been inspired by Postmaster C. J. Funk, a movement is on foot here to acquire the territory known as the salt lake tract close to the ocean front as a municipal airport. The tract comprises 17 acres and is rectangular in shape.

Golfers at Westbury, L. I., are attempting to enjoy a nearby aviation field because of planes landing on the course.

Big Tennis Upset

Young Wilmer Allison, born of Texas, and Johnny Van Ryn, top of East Orange, N.J., started the tennis world by their entirely unexpected victory over Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, French stars, in the doubles at Wimbledon, England. The young Americans won by scores of 7-5, 8-6, 3-6, and 8-6.

California Helens Battle for Title in British Singles

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 5 (AP)—Conquering Helen Jacobs by scores of 6-1, 6-2 in Wimbledon's first all American final in women's singles, Helen Wills won her third straight British championship today.

These two American girls who live in the same California city traveled more than 5,000 miles to enter the Wimbledon tournament, played their way through opposite halves of the draw without losing a set and met in a title match which was no more exciting or doubtful than if it had been played on a club court in Berkeley instead of on the most famous patch of tennis turf in the world with 15,000 persons looking on.

Berkeleyans Unequal

It was Miss Wills' match all the way after the opening game which Miss Jacobs took on her strong service. The challenger never had the lead again nor did she ever appear to threaten, but against the genius of Miss Wills' racket her strong right arm and unequalled court strategy the sturdy Miss Jacobs fought a good fight.

Not content with her one-sided success in singles, Miss Wills took the court later with Frank Hunter and reached the finals in mixed doubles by a victory at 6-8, 6-2, 6-3 over Miss "Bobbie" Heine and N. G. Farquharson, a South African combination.

Wills-Hunter in Doubles

In one of the championship battles scheduled for tomorrow Miss Wills and Hunter will oppose a powerful English team comprising Joan Fry and J. C. Collins.

The all-French singles final between Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra is down for settlement tomorrow, while the Anglo-American battle for the doubles championship between Gregory and I. G. Collins and Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn promises to be a big feature match of the program with interest running high among British fans.

Spit-ball Expert Faces Mac's Nine

Mac's Sport Shop will face a spit-ball expert Sunday at the city park when they meet the Prophets, the legion ball club. E. Smith of the visitors, boasts of several wins and credits them to his control of a spit-ball.

It is probable that Joe Welsh will again be in uniform for Mac's, and if he is, he will be on the hill with either Hathaway or McKenna to receive his delivery. Jackie is scheduled to catch for the Prophets' outfit and will receive one of three pitchers. Although E. Smith is carded for first choice with two alternates on hand to aid in the twirling for the visitors.

King George Meets Group of Ministers—MacDonald Present

LONDON, July 5 (AP)—King George held a council this morning at Buckingham palace with several ministers of the labor cabinet in attendance.

The Duke of Norfolk, hereditary marshal of the British nobility, who recently celebrated his twenty-first birthday, was presented to his majesty and took the oath of allegiance as earl marshal of England.

Lord Parmoor, lord president of the council, had an audience with the king before the council met. Premier Ramsay MacDonald tonight drove straight from Downing street for a half hour's audience.

This and That in Sports

Current Comment By "Stan"

Helen Wills and Helen Jacobs, both from Berkeley, Cal., needn't have traveled over the ocean to battle for the women's championship in tennis. The two Helens, playing in two different wings of the tournament, each gained the finals. The mighty serves and well placed returns of Helen Wills were too much for Miss Jacobs and she fell before the champ in straight sets yesterday.

Helen played a great game to win. Although she seemed to put her utmost in every serve, she won with apparent ease. It was, undoubtedly, one of the easiest matches of the entire tourney for her.

No one can call Hack Wilson a dirty whatyoumaycallit and get away with it. Right in the middle of the Cincinnati Reds and Chicago Cubs game Hack stood all of the stinging verbal battle that he could and then he just had to go over to the shadows of the Red's bench and take a couple of cracks at Ray Kcp, the instigator of all the trouble.

Hack was eliminated from the afternoon's play for the act but nevertheless the Cubs have stated that they will stand up for Hack if need be. The Cubs are noted for their clean brand of ball and good sportsmanship but they passed on this one. "Entirely justifiable," they say.

Only two games were played in the two major leagues yesterday. However these were two real contests. In neither game was the winner able to pile up more than a one point lead.

Chuck Klein saved the day for the Phillies. It was the ninth inning and the score was tied. It is a long story and sounds very much like a review of one of Horatio Alger Jr.'s famous dime novels. But, to make a long story terminate in a hurry, Chuck put the Carl pitcher's fast ball out into the outfield for a four sacker. It won the game for the Philadelphia outfit and netted Klein his twentieth homer.

The Cleveland Indians and the White Sox played the other major tilt yesterday. The Indians cleaned the House 11-0. Although the Sox gathered 20 hits to Cleveland's 12, they could not bunch the safeties enough to put in the needed counters.

Summer Golf Play Begins; 11 Pair to Tee Off at 1 Today

The qualifying round for the summer session university golf tournament held at Finkbine field, will be played today starting at 1 o'clock. Each man will have a playing partner. It is requested that the entrants be on the first tee at the proper starting time.

Twenty-two entries have been received and will tee off today, but six of those turning in the highest scores will be eliminated. The 16 players left will begin the play-off for the championship next week.

Following is a list of the pairings for the qualifying round and the starting time for each pair:

Gordon, Weldon End Year With National Titles

The winning of two National A. A. U. championships by University of Iowa athletes has climaxed the 1929 track and field season for Hawkeye men, and their competition in the sport has ended until next winter.

Edward Gordon's victory in the broad jump Thursday was his seventh consecutive win of the year. By taking the Drake relays, Western conference, National Collegiate and National A. A. U. titles, he proved himself the country's most consistent 1929 jumper. He also won the event in the Michigan, Illinois, and Minnesota dual meets.

Although several inches below his early June form, Gordon leaped 23 feet, 24 1-4 inches at Denver to edge out Martin of the Olympic A. C., San Francisco, by a couple of inches. In third place was Edward Haam, 1928 A. A. U. champion, Olympic titleholder, and possessor of the world's record of 25 feet, 11 1-8 inches.

The Iowan member of the 1928 Olympic team, averaged about 23 feet, 6 inches in his season's victories. His best leap, 24 feet, 9 1-4 inches, was made to win the N. C. A. A. title. A leg injury kept him out of the event in all of the indoor meets.

L. D. Weldon, winner of the junior javelin throw, is the first University of Iowa athlete ever to hold a National A. A. U. individual record. He hurled the shaft 198 feet, 4 1-8 inches, breaking the mark of 196 feet set three years ago by C. B. Hines of the Chicago A. A.

Philadelphia Noses Out St. Louis Cardinals by 10-9 Count

Chuck Klein Gets Homer in Ninth to Break Tie of 9-9

Phillies Have Tough Time Taking Tilt; Many Hits

PHILADELPHIA, July 5 (AP)—Haines tried to slip a fast ball past Chuck Klein, first Philadelphia batter in the ninth inning. But Klein sent the sphere over the right field barrier for his twentieth home run of the season, and the Phillies nosed out the Cardinals 10 to 9. It was the tenth straight defeat for the league champions, and left them only three games ahead of the fifth-place Brooklyn team.

The game was free hitting affair, punctuated frequently by homers. Chick Hafey of the Cardinals, got his twentieth, while Bottomley got his sixteenth and Whitney of the Phils, his sixth. Haines went the route for the Cards, but the Philadelphia pitching was divided among "Sam" Dailey, Des Moines recruit, Phil Collins and the veteran Bob McGraw, with McGraw winning.

Blows With Fist Fair Return for Tongue Thrusts

CHICAGO, July 5 (AP)—Hack Wilson, Cub outfielder, was justified in attacking Ray Kolp of the Cincinnati Reds during yesterday afternoon's baseball game and the Cubs will back him to the limit if necessary, President William L. Veck said tonight.

"We caution our players against unfairly tactics on the playing field, but in Wilson's case, it was an exception," Veck said. "Kolp called him vile names and Hack just couldn't stand them and he jumped off the field and went into the Cincinnati dugout to top it. Any man would have done the same thing."

"Wilson, like the rest of the baseball players, takes plenty of insults but there is a limit to what any gentleman and a conscientious ball player and has enough red blood in him to resist vile insults such as Kolp hurled at him yesterday."

Application Blanks for Grid Tickets to be Sent Aug. 1

Some 17,000 application blanks for University of Iowa football tickets will be mailed from the department of athletics Aug. 1. It was announced Friday by Charles S. Gallier, business manager.

The application material will go to about 11,000 Hawkeye alumni throughout the middle west, and to other persons who previously have ordered football tickets by mail, Gallier said.

Reserved seats in the new stadium will be sold only for the two Western conference first team games—Illinois, Homecoming, Oct. 19, and Minnesota, Dad's Day, Nov. 9. For the Carroll, Monmouth, and Illinois reserves contests, general admission seats will be available at the gate.

Orders will be filled in the order received, as has been the case in recent years, and tickets will be mailed to purchasers after Aug. 15. The price of each stadium seat for the Illinois and Minnesota games is three dollars. An unlimited number of tickets may be ordered by each applicant.

The number of alumni and other Iowa fans to be circularized is the greatest in history, exceeding the record of last year by more than 1,000 persons.

Collins 2; left on bases, St. Louis 3, Philadelphia 5; double plays, Thevenow, Thompson to Hurst; Haines, Gelbert to Bottomley; winning pitcher, McGraw.

Blackburne's Bad Boy

By QUIN HALL
Independence day and Art Shires, the Chicago White Sox first sacker, who has done something toward gathering the reputation of a "bad boy," have fireworks in common. Didn't he appear on the playing field at Comiskey park in Chicago one day wearing a red crusher hat? That episode started heated words and led up to a reported club house battle. It finally simmered down with this base ball "Bad Boy" doing a job of bench warming.

Undoubtedly Shires is a character. He probably isn't in a class with those old timers, "Rube" Waddell or "Bugs" Raymond. It is likely that he doesn't measure up to "Babe" Ruth when the "Bam" really wants to be a bad boy.

Shires impresses one as being so full of life and fun that he just can't stop himself. He wants to win ball games and he burns up with enthusiasm when he is out there on the diamond. But he is getting a reputation as a bad boy whether he deserves it or not—and so he's probably the most talked of fellow on the Sox team.

"Where's Shires, the bad boy?" we asked Manager Russell Blackburne in the Sox club house at Chicago recently. It was a hot day. The fellows were draped around trying to keep cool before the game. A fellow in a blue shirt was tilted back in a chair with his feet sprawled up against the lockers. He was smoking a cigar. At the call of "Art," the fellow unwound and came over. We were face to face with baseball's bad boy and he looked like a big, good natured kid. We talked with him a minute and went back into conference with Blackburne.

As we were pulling anchor, Shires unwound again and followed us over to the door. "Lena's been keeping me on the bench and, believe me, it's a lesson." (Lena is Blackburne). "If he ever lets me up off those planks I'll be good. I've proven I can be a bad boy and now I want to prove I'm a ball player."

Another view. They tell the story that the day he joined the Sox last fall he hit plenty. After the game, he came back to the clubhouse and hurled his glove and cap with great force against the wall. "So THIS is the American league, eh" he chortled. "I'll bat 1,500 against this pitching." Just a youngster fulla pep!

Shires may be hard to manage—this "tremendous Texan"—but he'll have to do something besides wear a red hat to prove he's a bad boy. And he's likely to prove he's a great ball player before he proves he's a real bad boy!

The administration says that its principal has a hard time floating loans with which to raise the ready cash needed for the upkeep of his vast landed estates. Furthermore, it asserts, these estates are not the sole property of the former emperor, but belong jointly to him and numerous relatives.

While $3,600,000 is a tidy bit of cash, it has proved inadequate as a working fund for the landed estates. Economists have said that the wooded portions of the Hohenzollern possessions have increased in value of late years, but the administrators assert that from experience they know that farms and forests can not be considered profitable investments under present day conditions in Germany.

City Bastille Has Talkative Occupant

Amen!
Only one man was in the city jail last night, and "Mike" Welch was his name. He was arrested downtown in an alleged intoxicated condition by Police Officers Wesley Sedivec and Joe Dolzal. The mutterings of the man sounded as if there were a full house in the house-gow.

Amen was the favorite word, and Mike said it repeatedly. In between the holy words, his frequent incoherent phrases echoed through the cells and sounded like a rent revival evening. But alas, the amens and static tones were from one man.

Hall Does Unexpected; Ball, Seligson in Semifinals

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 5 (AP)—Fritz Mercur, Bethlehem, Pa., the highest ranking tennis player now in the United States, joined the list of mighty who have fallen in the national clay court singles championship tournament here when he was defeated today by J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., 7-5, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Hall Serves 'Em Up

Hall, who won through a superior service and driving game, entered the semi-final round. While he was upsetting Mercur, who is the country's seventh ranking player, Emmett Pare of Chicago, western champion, was creating something of a surprise himself by defeating Herbert Dotman of New York city to enter the semi-finals. Pare won 7-5, 7-5, 6-2.

Rain, Darkness Halt Play

Rain drove the other two quarter-final matches off the courts before they got well under way, but play was resumed later. The players did not have time to end the matches before darkness set in, however, Berkeley Bell, Austin, Tex., had two sets on Julius Seligson, New York city, in one of the two matches, while Bryant M. Grant, Atlanta, Ga., led Keith Goldhill, Santa Barbara, Cal., two to one.

Coggeshall-Brown in Doubles

Two quarter-final matches in the doubles were postponed until tomorrow because of the rain. One will be between D. K. Murray and Clifford Sutter, both of New Orleans, and Bell and Louis Halhelmer, of Chicago. The other will be between Wray Brown, St. Louis, and Harris Coggeshall, Des Moines, Ia., and Goldhill and Ellsworth Vines, Pasadena, Cal.

As a result of his victory, Bell will meet the winner of the Hall-Seligson match in the semi-finals tomorrow afternoon.

DULL DAYS AHEAD IN SPORTS

New Faces Appeared on the Sports Calendar after the round of June championships.

Miss Gladman won the first women's intercollegiate tennis meet, Bell took the men's and Davenport captained the winning Columbia shell.

By GLENN ALLAN (Associated Press Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—The summer holiday is here promising a rest for the sports followers after a hectic month of June.

The calendar is bare of excitement except for the prospect of a heavyweight championship fight in September and the perennial thriller of the world series a month later. A brace of minor fights fills the interstices.

The last week of June set a new record for crowded arenas and swollen sports pages. No less than four champions were dethroned and a ring favorite beaten.

Columbia rowed splendidly to an almost unexpected victory in the Peasekeepsie regatta, an event which set an all time record for freak occurrences. The race was rowed after dark and in winter so rough that four of the nine boats sank.

Kaiser Wilhelm Land Poor, Says Berlin Manager

BERLIN, July 5 (AP)—Assertions that Wilhelm Hohenzollern, former emperor of Germany, is the richest individual of the nation, as made by several recent magazine writers here, are denied by the Hohenzollern family administration in Berlin.

Instead of topping the list of rich men among citizens of the republic, the administration says that its principal has a hard time floating loans with which to raise the ready cash needed for the upkeep of his vast landed estates. Furthermore, it asserts, these estates are not the sole property of the former emperor, but belong jointly to him and numerous relatives.

National Chamber of Commerce Takes Active Interest in Agricultural Problems

Upham of Department of Finance Visits Friends Here

By ANTOINETTE E. SPEIDEL
"An experiment in business democracy" is the way the United States chamber of commerce at Washington, D. C. is epitomized by Cyril B. Upham, a member of the staff of the department of finance of the organization.

Present Outlook Good
"The outlook at the present time is good," he asserted. "The chamber of commerce is not a lobbying organization in the ordinary sense of the word. It gives the business opinion in a dignified way by interpreting it. This fact is appreciated by the legislators."

Employs 300 Persons
The chamber of commerce office is situated near the white house. Three hundred persons are employed there. William Butterworth of the John Deere company of Moline, Ill., is president of the organization. He was re-elected at the annual session last April. Walter Cherry of Cedar Rapids is a member of the national board of directors.

Mr. Upham graduated from Morningside college at Sioux City before entering the University of Iowa, where he received his master of arts and his doctor of philosophy degree in political science in 1918. The following year he taught political science. After serving in the war for a year he went to New York city where he was connected with the foreign department of the National City bank there, for four years. While a member of the staff of the finance department of the chamber of commerce at Washington, he took work at the George Washington university and received his LL.D. from there.

At Iowa he became affiliated with northwest quarter, section 21, township 80, range 8.

Holiday Brings Cases to Court

Kneuppl, Two Others Pay Fines; One Dismissed

As an aftermath of the Fourth of July four cases of widely varying nature were on the local police court docket yesterday. One case was settled without court action, and parties of the other three were fined.

Raymond T. Kneuppl of Davenport, who was arrested at the Delta Delta sorority house Thursday night when he attacked C. M. White, believing him to be W. Waldo Weber, was fined on two charges. Kneuppl was alleged to have gone to the house in an intoxicated condition and announced that he was "after Weber."

Kneuppl was fined a total of $18.90 on charges of disturbing the peace and intoxication. The amount included costs. The fine was lightened when witness introduced at court showed that an unidentified companion of Kneuppl's was the instigator of the brawl.

Four men were arraigned before Judge Charles L. Zager for breaking a glass sign at the Hands Jewelry company on E. Washington street. They were dismissed and the affair settled when the breakage was declared to have been accidental. The men were W. J. Noss, R. W. Glasgow, James Connelly, and T. J. Mulhern.

Wallace M. Roberts appeared in the afternoon session of police court charged with disturbing the peace by the use of improper language. He was alleged to have created a disturbance after a quarrel with another man.

Clarence Jacobs was fined $1 and costs for cutting a corner with his auto.

Four Local Elks Travel En Route to Lodge Reunion

Four Iowa Cityvans are traveling enroute to the 65 grand lodge reunion of the B.P.O.E. at Los Angeles next week. Delegates, their wives, and friends from all over the eastern part of the country met at Chicago where they boarded a convention special train, and started on a itinerary which will carry them through northern United States, Canada, the west coast, and back through the south.

Those making the trip from Iowa City are, Henry Louis, chairman of the transportation committee of the Iowa state association of Elks, Mrs. Louis, George H. Frohwein, and John J. Scheetz. The Iowa delegation gathered at different points in Iowa and joined the special train at St. Paul.

They left St. Paul a week ago yesterday after a short drive through Minnesota's 10,000 lake region. From there, they crossed the Dakotas and Canada into the heart of the Canadian Rockies. Arriving Thursday at Vancouver they traveled by steamer down Puget Sound to Victoria, B. C., and continued to Seattle.

Portland was the next stop. After a drive up the Columbia river highway, they returned to the train and left for San Francisco, for a day's stop. Los Angeles was the next port of the convention.

On the return trip, they will drive over the famous Apache trail and experience a little of old Mexico, stopping at El Paso, with a side trip to Juarez.

The whole journey will require 17 days. They will return Monday, July 15.
