TWO DIE IN CARROLL PLANE CRASH

M'Donald Will Sail for U. S. September 28

Believe Only One Point Yet to Be Settled on Parity

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Official announcement this evening that Ramsay MacDonald, prime minister of Great Britain, would sail on Sept. 28 for the United States to visit President Hoover, was hailed here as definite evidence that the two governments virtually had reached an agreement on naval armaments.

Well informed circles indicated that a question involving three cruisers of the eight inch gun class is the only point on which full accord has not been reached.

The developments came swiftly after a late afternoon conference between Mr. MacDonald and Charles G. Dawes, American ambassador. Just prior to this conference announcement had been made that the United States answer to the latest British proposals had been received in London. It was assumed that General Dawes carried this answer to No. 10 Downing street when he called on the premier.

The two were closed for an hour. The official date for Mr. MacDonald's sailing was announced immediately after the ambassador had departed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — Definite progress toward an early Anglo-American agreement on naval limitations was seen in Washington tonight as a result of Premier MacDonald's decision to visit the United States early next month.

Word from London on the premier's intentions gave rise to reports that the two nations were on the verge of an accord. The only official information, however, was a statement by Secretary Stimson that the last note sent by Washington to Ambassador Dawes was of such a character that it could have caused MacDonald to be confident that there would be an agreement.

The secretary of state said the announcement of MacDonald's coming meant "we are at least hopeful of an agreement."

During the day Secretary Stimson had two conferences with Mr. Hoover, calling at the white house immediately after the president reached his desk in the morning, and consulting the chief executive again after formal word had been given that the British prime minister would sail for the United States on the Berengaria Sept. 28.

Mr. MacDonald is expected to reach Washington on either Oct. 3 or 4. While arrangements for his reception are incomplete, the expectation is that Secretary Stimson, as the personal representative of President Hoover, will meet the premier at New York and accompany him to Washington.

The chief executive is expected to welcome the British statesman at the Union station and to accompany him either to the white house or the British embassy, the place depending upon the pleasure of Mr. MacDonald. There has been a suggestion that the premier would be the guest of the British ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, during part of his week's stay here and the guest of President Hoover during the other part.

Coast Guard Boats Seek Missing Sand Tow With Crew of 29

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Coast guard boats from six stations on Lake Michigan tonight put out, manned by full emergency crews, to seek the missing sand carrier Andaste which was 60 hours over due in Chicago at 8 o'clock with her crew of 29 and a cargo of 1,900 tons of sand out of Grand Haven, Mich.

All today airplanes scouted the lake for traces of the ship or of any wreckage which Tuesday night's storm may have washed up on the Indiana Sand dunes. No trace of the ship was reported.

The Andaste lacking wireless is unable to communicate with ships or ports. Hope that the vessel may have changed its course to avoid the storm and await a change in weather before proceeding to Chicago waned when time for it to appear, counting a reasonable delay passed.

American Publishers to Build 26 Stations Throughout Country

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Press Wireless, incorporated, a company organized by a group of American publishers, applied to the radio commission today for permission to construct 26 stations throughout the country.

The stations would use 20 frequencies set aside by the radio commission on June 20 for the American press for point to point communication within this country. At that time the commission ruled that the construction permits would be issued to the corporation, the organization of which already had been approved by the commission.

British Pilot Sets New World's Speed Mark of 357.7 Per CALSHOT, England, Sept. 12 (AP)—The world's air speed record was raised today to 357.7 miles an hour by Squadron Leader Orlebar, captain of the British Schneider cup team. This is 1.9 more miles per hour than he flew when he set a world's record Tuesday.

Orlebar made his attempt today in the "Thunderbolt," the super-Marine Rolls-Royce S-6 in which he made his record Tuesday. This is the same craft with which Flying Officer Waghorn won the Schneider cup trophy for Great Britain last Saturday.

Banker Shows Sorrow in Cell

Waggoner Weeps When Wife Visits Him

NEWCASTLE, Wyo., Sept. 12 (AP)—C. D. Waggoner wept in his jail cell here today when his wife came to see him. It was a dramatic scene when the banker who admitted defrauding six New York banks of a half a million dollars for the benefit of his own depositors was greeted by the comely, motherly woman whose eyes were swollen from sleepless nights.

"Honey," the wife cried, "this is terrible."

After the first embrace, Waggoner asked, "Where is Delos?" Delos is his son.

Son Hopes to Help

"He stayed in Denver, honey, thinking he could do you more good there," Mrs. Waggoner replied.

Not until then did Waggoner break down. The stoic calm which he maintained since his arrest near here Tuesday night snapped and tears flooded his eyes.

"It's too bad, honey," his wife sobbed. "If Delos had known you wanted him so badly he would have come. He will come anyway if you want him and need him."

After the visit in the cell Mrs. Waggoner remarked to Sheriff Howel: "Oh, why did he do it? He's always been a good husband, a fine man who commanded the respect of everyone. He must have been out of his mind if he did all the terrible things the newspapers say about him. I can't believe it."

First Meeting Since Leaving

It was the first meeting of Waggoner and his wife since he put her on the train at Lincoln, Neb., last week, sending her to Denver.

The jail in which the accused banker is housed pending his removal to New York to face federal charges growing out of his manipulation has been the scene of many stirring events in the days of the Diamond "Slim" Lewis, notorious old west.

frontier murderer, was dragged from the same cell Waggoner now occupies and was hanged from a railroad bridge by a masked mob.

Notorious gunmen have languished behind its bars, many to go to the gallows. Forty years ago justice was swift and sure, and cattle rustlers laughed at the law only from within protected cells.

Airplane Passenger Killed in Accident

HARRONFIELD, N. J., Sept. 12 (AP)—One was killed and another seriously injured late today in an airplane crash near the Reidell airfield at Locustwood, Delaware township.

Agnew P. Smith, 38 years old, of Merchantville, N. J., a passenger, died two hours after the accident. Louis Holman, 21 years old, also of Merchantville, the pilot, suffered a compound fracture of the left leg and lacerations.

Vets of '60's Disapprove of Joint Reunion

Reject Resolution for Soldiers of North to Meet South

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 12 (AP)—Gray-haired men, who as lads in the '60's battled with those of the south who served under the flag of the confederacy, surged to their feet today and shouted their opposition to the proposed reunion of the soldiers of the north and south. The sixty-third national encampment of the grand army of the republic "disapproved" and rejected a resolution favoring such a joint encampment.

Edwin J. Foster, of Worchester, Mass., was elected commander in chief to succeed John Reese of Broken Bow, Neb. The encampment selected Cincinnati, O., for next year's meeting.

The reunion plan, which has the support of President Hoover and the governors of 31 states, brought forth spirited debate from the aged man who at times threw the city hall auditorium where they were meeting into a bedlam as they shouted for the privilege of speaking.

"They were wrong back in 1861," Frank O. Cole of New Jersey, in a voice which broke at times, said. "And when they admit they were wrong, and not until then will we join with them."

"Let them fold up their battle flags, the flag we fought against and carried Old Glory against to victory. When they put those flags in museums then we will believe they want reunion."

Among other resolutions which the delegates tabled on recommendation of the resolutions committee was one which would have put the organization on record as favoring enforcement of the Volstead act and opposing modification. There was no discussion of the resolution. The committee termed it "political in nature."

Coroner Adjourns Hearing Few Days in Shooting Case

KEOKUK, Sept. 12 (AP)—In the hope of adding additional testimony to its record through the recovery of Mrs. David A. Kay wounded in the thigh in a shooting fray in which her husband was killed, a coroner's inquest here late today adjourned its hearing until next Monday.

Kay died from wounds caused by four bullets fired into his body. Testimony before the jury today revealed that he had for 20 years been paying premiums on an endowment insurance policy on which he was about to receive payment. A brother of Kay told the jury that the deceased had told him of marital trouble existing between the husband and wife.

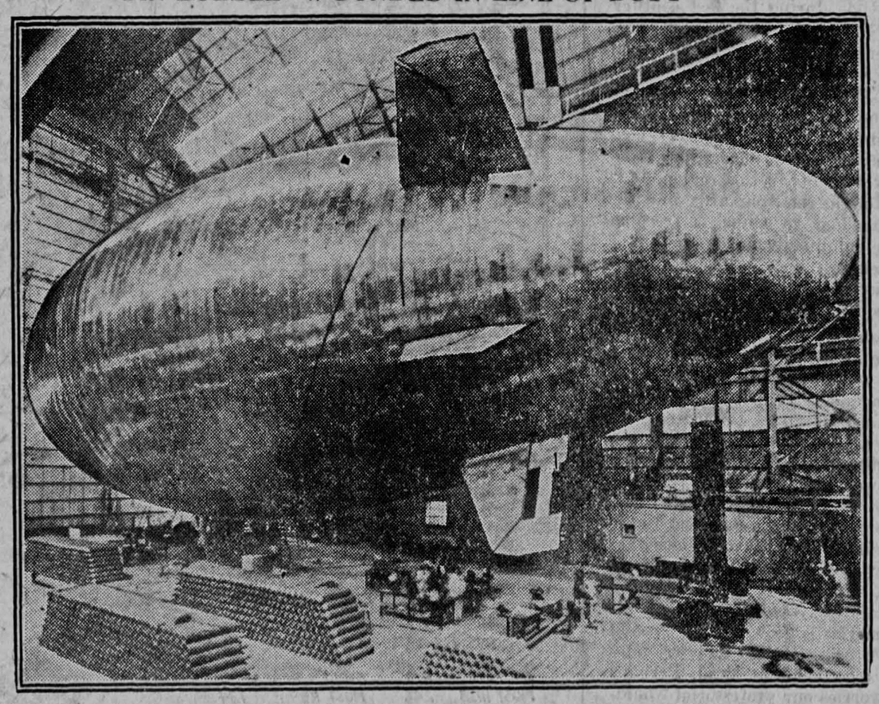
ARREST 19 IN RAID

DES MOINES, Sept. 12 (AP)—Nineteen persons were arrested by city, state, and federal prohibition officers at 14 places in a series of liquor raids here between 2 and 4:45 p.m., today. The victims of the raids included 15 men and four women. Officers said that only a small quantity of liquor was seized.

ASK INJUNCTIONS

FT. DODGE, Sept. 12 (AP)—Permanent injunctions against nine alleged dry law violators were asked today by Webster county on the basis of evidence secured in recent raids by federal prohibition agents.

"TIN BUBBLE" WOUNDED IN LINE OF DUTY



The ZMC-2, the world's first successful all-metal dirigible, pulled up "lame" at Lakehurst, N. J., after its flight from Detroit. Two bullet holes were found in the ship's huge metal gas chamber that were allowing the precious helium to escape.

Car Strike in New Outbreak

New Orleans Authorities Seek Agreement

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 12 (AP)—the New Orleans street car strike took its second wind today and entered the tenth week, while officials sought to piece together the loose ends of the settlement controversy.

The striking conductors and motormen rejected by a vote of 1,009 to 87, the settlement agreement drafted by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and A. B. Paterson, vice-president of the New Orleans public service at a conference in New York. The agreement also was approved by W. D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes.

At Indianapolis Mr. Green said the rejection of the agreement was due to a "misunderstanding" and from Seattle came word that Mr. Mahon regarded the negative vote of the car men as a "serious mistake" and that he would seek to have the vote reconsidered.

Locally the actual strike temporarily was lost sight of today when acting Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley demanded an investigation into the throwing of tear gas bombs by police and deputy marshals last night when a crowd had gathered around a dynamited car. Walmsely said he was in the crowd which was orderly and peaceful, and that he would have been arrested if some one had not told the deputy marshal he was the acting mayor.

BUY FURNITURE COMPANY

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Simmons company, manufacturers of beds and steel furniture, today announced purchase of the Berkey Gay Furniture company of Grand Rapids, Mich. The purchase price was not announced.

All-Metal Dirigible in Initial Flight to Lakehurst

LAKEHURST, N. J., Sept. 12 (AP)—A metallic stranger wounded in the line of duty was tucked under the covers of the naval air hangar here today—an odd bedfellow for the majestic Los Angeles and the two baby blimps of the United States navy's lighter-than-air craft.

It was the ZMC-2, the world's first successful all-metal dirigible, which arrived from Detroit and is due to have a permanent bed in the hangar after another test flight when it may be formally accepted by the navy for use in training student flyers.

The "Tin Bubble's" 550-mile flight from Detroit in charge of Capt. William Kepner, of the U. S. army, was so uneventful that its crew of three was unaware of two bullet holes in the ship's huge metal gas chamber that were allowing the precious helium to escape.

Members of the ground crew that brought the ship to earth discovered the bullet holes as they were walking the craft into the hangar. From the angle at which the bullet entered the metal bag and passed out through the other side, Captain Kepner expressed the belief that the shot had been fired while the blimp was passing low over a mountain, probably somewhere in Pennsylvania.

Rags were stuffed in the holes to prevent further gas leakage, pending permanent repairs.

The craft averaged slightly more than 40 miles an hour on its flight, despite the fact that it bucked strong headwinds most of the way.

Dime Store Bay Rum Intoxicating Liquor, County Jury Decides

DES MOINES, Sept. 12 (AP)—The bay rum sold in F. W. Woolworth stores was declared an intoxicating liquor, fit for beverage purposes by a jury of six persons here tonight. The jury was sitting in the condemnation proceedings of 3,000 bottles of the liquid seized in raids on local Woolworth stores last May.

Attorney Riley, defense counsel, announced that the case would be carried to the Iowa supreme court for final decision. The Polk county attorney's office said it would use the decision as a basis for securing an injunction against the handling of bay rum in Des Moines stores.

Federal prohibition officers, it is said, were present during the three days of testifying, indicating that the legality of bay rum sales might be brought into question in federal courts.

The defense maintained throughout the trial that no one but a person with a perverted taste could drink the liquid. One state witness testified that he had found it agreeable as a drink and had suffered no extremely unpleasant after effects.

Day in Washington

Debate on the tariff was begun in the senate.

A senate subcommittee began investigation of charges of interference by American shipbuilders at the Geneve naval limitations conference.

Premier MacDonald's decision to visit the United States early next month was viewed as indicative of early Anglo-American naval limitation agreement.

Brokers loans increased for the fourth consecutive week.

Tariff Contest Gets Underway

Simmons Makes 12,000 Word Speech

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Two participants of legislative classes of a quarter of a century ago, one now 75 and the other 67, resumed their familiar stands in the senate today in conflict over the tariff.

The elder, Senator Furnifold M. Simmons, of North Carolina, belabored the "indefensible bill." His 12,000 word speech was made as senior democrat on the finance committee, republicans of which revised the house measure.

After listening two hours, Senator Reed Smoot of Utah answered as chairman of that committee. He said the attack of Simmons and all others had been heard before.

Simmons for the first time in his public career read his speech, going through it with the aid of a clerk. He asked the senate to excuse this because of his physical condition.

Smoot took cognizance of many objections to the bill made by the North Carlina veteran, who was chairman of the financial committee in the Wilson administration. He contended Simmons was fallacious in claiming the proposed tariff would add billions of dollars to the consumers' costs.

Before the senate meeting ended, the tariff debate was well on its way. Senator George of Georgia took up the democratic case against the bill and argued for its modification.

Unlike Simmons, who asked that he not be interrupted, Smoot was questioned frequently during the reading of his prepared speech by democrats. Senator Tydings of Maryland asked whether the president favored the bill.

"I haven't asked him but I think he will sign it," Smoot replied.

Three Police Officers Arrested on Charges of Operating Graft

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12 (AP)—Three of nine police officers sought on indictments accusing them of operating a graft ring to "shake down" bootlegers were arrested today, and with three others apprehended Tuesday, were arraigned in superior court and released on $10,000 bail each.

The arrest disclosed that federal officers who were known to have the names of 62 policemen in connection with the same charges had started investigation of several cancelled checks of $2,250 each, believed to have been given a perfumery manufacturer for shipments of hundred of gallons of denatured alcohol.

The federal agents withheld all names, but said the alcohol permit of the manufacturers previously had been under scrutiny.

The three officers who surrendered today were Detective Lieutenants Robert Evans and M. H. Ledbetter and Patrolman Oscar Peterson. Those arrested yesterday were Sergeants Harry M. Hill and Leonard S. Sale and Patrolman Thomas B. Washburn. They were ordered to plead next Monday.

RAPIDS REJECTS ISSUE

CEDAR RAPIDS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Voters here today defeated a proposition calling for the issuance of $180,000 in bonds to construct a municipal airport. The vote was 1,998 for, and 2,370 against.

Bobby Hangs One on California as He Bids Farewell

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12 (AP)—A chunky, well knit young man asked this last question as his train pulled away from the Pacific coast: "Who polished the Golden Gate?"

There wasn't a ready answer in the crowd so, for the second time this year, Georgia put something over on California.

Bobby Jones, who plays golf, laid the stymie that stumped the usual western "retort courteous" today. Georgia Tech's football team that larruped California's Bears last New Year's day accounted for the first coup.

Jones, still greatest of fairway fanciers and as big in defeat as in victory, bid goodbye to the Pacific coast today with the hope of returning soon. He left his national amateur crown on the twisting Pebble Beach course, but "made a lot of new friends—did Hollywood—and saw the Pacific ocean." Loss of his title is the least of his worries.

Duce Revamps Ruling Group

Mussolini Relieves Self of Many Posts

ROME, Sept. 12 (AP)—The duce today shook up his government in the most vigorous fascist ministerial reorganization since July, 1928, relieving himself of most of the posts which he then assumed. Instead of eight cabinet officers, Signor Mussolini will now hold only one, the portfolio of the all-important ministry of the interior, but continues of course to be premier.

MUSSOLINI

The revamped cabinet is noteworthy for the fact that three of the famous quadrumvirate who led the historic march on Rome, Oct. 29, 1922, have now achieved full ministerial rank. Gen. Italop Balo becomes minister of aviation in the new government, Michele Bianchi, minister of public works, and General De Bono, minister for the colonies.

The duce divested himself of these three portfolios among the seven he relinquished today.

After the 1928 reorganization he held six portfolios, those of foreign affairs, the interior, war, aviation, corporations and marine. Afterwards he assumed those of the colonies and of public works, which gave him eight out of 13 votes in the cabinet council.

42nd Ward Politics Hold Attention of Police in Slaying

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Forty-second ward politics and the street carnival racket held the attention of police today in the investigation of the killing of Charles S. Brown whose bullet torn body was thrown from a speeding, curtained automobile on the south side of the city.

The death of Brown, a precinct worker for Alderman Dorsey S. Crowe, followed by 10 days that of Henry (Hoops-a-Daisy) Connors who was shot and killed in a north Clark street restaurant. Connors was a worker for Richard R. Prendergast, Crowe's opponent at the polls last spring.

The election in the forty-second ward was marked by slugging, attempts at intimidation and free for all fights, and police believe the bitterness engendered then may have resulted in the slaying of Connors and the subsequent death of Brown.

Lightning Shatters Council Bluffs Home

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Lightning early today struck and almost demolished the home of C. H. Travis, terrified the family and ripped at the house with a noise that aroused neighbors six blocks away.

Every window was shattered, part of the roof torn off, the back of the house demolished, plaster shaken from the walls of every room, and fire broke out in three places. Neither Mr. Travis nor his wife, daughter Bertha, 18 years old, and son George, 14 years old, were hurt.

George's bed was turned upside down and a hole knocked in the floor. He saved himself from falling into the dining room below his bedroom by clutching at some rafters.

THE WEATHER

IOWA—Partly cloudy Friday; Saturday probably showers; not much change in temperature.

Pilot of Ship, Girl Burn to Death in Fall

Third Occupant Suffers Injuries as Plane Turns Over

CARROLL, Sept. 12 (AP)—Tommy Craig, Des Moines pilot, and Miss Faith West of Farlin, were burned to death when a plane in which they were flying crashed and caught fire near the airport here.

Another passenger, James Farrell of Jefferson, was thrown from the plane and was injured.

Farrell was brought to a hospital here in a dazed condition. It is believed he will recover.

As the plane took off it struck a pylon marking the boundaries of the racing course for planes participating in the airport dedication ceremonies. It turned over and burst into flames as it struck the ground.

The bodies of Craig and Miss Were so badly burned that identifications was difficult.

Craig was affiliated with the St. Louis Aircraft corporation a few years ago. In 1927 he was employed by the International Airplane factory at Long Beach, Cal. He resigned there and opened a flying school at Blytheville, Ark. Recently he returned to Des Moines and joined the Yellow Cab Airways, incorporated.

The plane he was flying was owned by A. R. Kruger.

Senate Starts Naval Inquiry With Prelims

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—A senate committee began a preliminary private inquiry today into the charges of interference at the 1927 Geneva naval limitations conference by American shipbuilding preparatory to beginning public hearings next week.

Senator Shortridge, republican, California, was named chairman of a sub-committee of the naval committee which is to conduct the investigation ordered yesterday by unanimous vote of the senate. Other members of the sub-committee appointed by Chairman Hale included Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic leader, and Senator Allen, republican, Kansas.

Examine Witnesses

They will examine the prospective list of witnesses and issue subpoenas for those to be called for examination in public next week. Chairman Shortridge said it was certain that William B. Shearer, who calls himself a naval expert and who filed suit against three shipbuilding corporations for services he alleges he rendered in their behalf at the Geneva fiasco, will be an early witness.

Both Shortridge and Robinson want to have summoned the officers of Lehem Shipbuilding corporation, the American Brown Boveri Electric corporation, and the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock corporation.

May Summon Navy Heads

The committee members made it clear that if there is any necessity the high command of the navy will be summoned.

In public interviews Shearer has said that he received some secret data from the navy prior to attending the Geneva parley.

"We are going to get the truth of this matter," said Shortridge. "We are going to the bottom."

The committee already has sent for and received a certified copy of the court complaint filed by Shearer against the shipbuilding corporations in which he alleges they still owe him more than $300,000 for his services at Geneva.

Officials Decide No Inquest Necessary in Death of O. J. Kvale

FERGUS FALLS, Minn., Sept. 12 (AP)—County officials, after reopening an investigation into the death of Congressman O. J. Kvale, who died Tuesday night when his cottage near Battle Lake burned, decided late today that no inquest would be held.

Scrutinizing depositions which they took from witnesses in the neighborhood of the Kvale cottage, County Attorney John L. Townly, Jr., Sheriff O. J. Tweten and Coroner J. G. Bigen were convinced that the death of Mr. Kvale was accidental.

The investigation was reopened when it was learned that there had been a disagreement between Mr. Kvale and a tenant on his farm. The congressman, the depositions revealed, apparently had made arrangements with a third party to move on to the farm Sept. 27 in place of the present tenant.

Hobo King, Dying at University Hospital, Re-lives Roving Life

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

James "Speed" Murphy, 66 years old, self-styled king of the middle-western hoboes, has been lying seriously ill in the university hospital for nearly three weeks, it was learned yesterday. For more than three years this "knight of the road" has been suffering from internal injuries sustained in a bus accident in Amarillo, Tex.

At the time of the accident, "Speed" says he weighed 235 pounds, but today as he lies dying on his cot, with his friends many miles away, his once strong and active body is fast wasting away. He now weighs less than 110 pounds. Murphy has no living relatives.

Spirit Defies Body's Decay

However, the "king" possesses an undying spirit. Although he has been told by many physicians that his condition is serious, he spends all his waking hours planning on ways to spend his time when he is "able to be on the road again." His pale lips yesterday declared he would be out of bed and on his way to Omaha by Sunday, but his sallow eyes, sunken with worry and pain, spoke differently.

"I have lived for the day when I can operate a college for hoboes, said Murphy sighing. "I want to teach them the ways of the road, how to ride the freights and all," he continued.

Poor old "Speed" is the kind of hobo one seldom finds. Instead of having the "all for myself" attitude, he has gone through life bearing in mind that there are always men of his kind who need help. For that same reason he had maintained "soup kitchens" on the road and played host to many of his wandering friends. He also boasts of operating the only road ambulance in the world, for aid to ill or injured hoboes.

Murphy is by no means a regular "bum." Several years ago a hobo convention met in Omaha and "Speed" was elected president of the organization. He takes pride in relating how he was asked at that time to write for a syndicate of newspapers. He "covered" the convention and enjoys chatting about the events of those once happy days.

Once an Actor

In his heyday he claims to have appeared in several midwestern theaters. Although his sad, hollow face would suggest anything but that of a comedian, one could imagine from his congenial manner that he might have once earned an encore behind the footlights.

Murphy was brought here from Manchester where friends found him in a critical condition. He says that he was on his way to Omaha to realize his dreams of the "Hobo university."

For Sport's Sake?

ON THE sports pages of The Daily Iowan yesterday appeared a feature labelled "What Price Amateurs." Another heading read "Gold or Glory."

The entire feature seems a defense of the Amateur Athletic union. The scribe proves conclusively enough that there has been no positive guilt in the practice of the majority of officials.

Yet there has been what may be called a negative guilt. The A.U.U. is termed "as august and straitlaced a body as the typical college faculty." That is just the trouble. Rigid restrictions have made it impossible for some amateurs who love the sport to make track, tennis, or swimming their chief activity.

Practice and training demand time as well as trips to meets during season. A man—or woman—spends much time keeping in trim. Were he an author, in love with literature, the public would not deny him the right to some return for his work. Could he not make of his best talents the basis for a profession in which he could be wrapped up, body, mind and heart?

Artists of other sorts are paid and well paid. They serve to entertain the public, just as athletes do. Is it just to expect these youths to devote their best years to work that hardly nets them traveling expenses? Even sprinters and "racketeers" must live.

There is much to be said on the other side. Many supposed athletes have received pay from wealthy promoters of clubs and other sources to maintain them, in secrecy. But they could well reason that no other way was open to them, no honest means of picking up a little needed money.

If a man can write, his knowledge of the sport he excels in makes him an expert. Because some abuse the loophole here by selling their names to be used over the work of ghost writers, no one can write. Selling sports goods is not allowed.

The recent outburst of Charley Paddock and the decision of Helen Meany and Martha Norelius to turn "pro" have brought this matter to our attention again. But Ray Barbuti and Joie Ray noted it before in track. And nearly every year officials quibble with Big Bill Tilden. Vincent Richards' own story of his fight to support a family, with three avenues blocked by zealous A.A.U. men, raised the issue two years ago.

Whatever the solution, it cannot be denied that A.A.U. officials, like "our Puritan forefathers," have made a vice of virtue by forcing men who would prefer to be amateurs out of sports, into professional sports, or into disgrace.

The Daily Iowan proposes no remedy, merely wishing to indicate that here is a situation that breeds hypocrites in sport. Change is needed in our system of conducting athletics.

We're Wrong Again

UNCLE SAM'S Carribean policy is all wrong. We have it on no less authority than that of Prof. Herbert I. Priestly of the University of California, who declared as much at a recent session of the final conference of the ninth session of the Institute of Politics at Williamstown. Being a college professor, Dr. Priestly must know whereof he speaks, because college professors, particularly of the type which likes to give the government political advice, know more things than any other class of citizens, especially more things that ain't so."

In speaking on our Carribean policy Professor Priestly is quoted by the Associated Press as declaring:

"In pursuit of this policy we have not stopped short of a single contradiction, but have hastened by force or our own momentum into denial of the right of weak and unorganized peoples to remove their usurpers and tyrannies by that very process of revolution to which we owe our national birth. Not content with this, we have used our armed forces to pull down and set up governments which we judge to merit the action."

All of which is of course just too bad. It is not to be denied that Uncle Sam has occasionally intervened to save the lives and property of Americans and other innocent bystanders when there was trouble in Latin-America. On these occasions he has always restored order, an action which was as beneficial to the natives as to the foreigners living within the disturbed area. Professor Priestly would have us believe, to deny the right of weak and unorganized peoples to overthrow tyrants, but generally to make civilization secure and protect the "weak and unorganized peoples" native and foreign alike from organized banditry and similar Latin-American inconveniences. To compare the average Carribean revolution with its pillage and outrage to the struggle of the American colonists to throw off a foreign yoke should be a little beneath the dignity and patriotism, even of a college professor.

Professor Priestly is quoted as referring to our relations with the Carribean nations as a "career of imperialism." This is a familiar cry and smacks somewhat of European publicity. At least it is a phrase which the European commercial and political interests like to use when they contemplate the growing trade between the United States and Latin-America. Imperialism is usually associated with conquest in the mind of the average layman. Of course in the intellect of a college professor it may connote something different. But there has never been a time during the last century when Uncle Sam could not, by conquest, have taken over all the territory in the Carribean country without any loss of life or expenditure in any way comparable with the expense we incurred in the World war. Yet during that time the United States, by conquest, has taken not a foot of territory from the native governments in this region. It is true that we fought the Spaniards, and the result was freedom to Cuba, a freedom which we gave voluntarily. Porto Rico came to us, but the change from Spanish to American rule was certainly nothing short of a godsend to the natives.

If Uncle Sam has been pursuing a career of imperialism he has been very inefficient. Otherwise he would own all the islands of the Carribeans and most of the territory on the surrounding mainland. Imagine how different the political status of the Carribean region might have been if a first class European power had been occupying our strategic position during the last century.

It occurs to us that Uncle Sam has been a failure as an imperialist. We believe that even Dr. Priestly could have done better in the role if he had been asked to do the job in an imperial way. Our peaceful trade with Latin-America is growing steadily and rapidly. Increasing trade and friendly feeling always go hand in hand. Perhaps that is what worries our professorial would-be guiders of the nation. They have branded Uncle Sam as an imperialist but he refuses to don a dunceeap and sit in a corner of the school room. And even the bad little Latin-Americans wouldn't throw paper wads at him if he did.

You Can Lose and Win

TEN YEARS ago, newspaper cartoons the world over had some drawings showing the plight of Germany, conquered vicitm of the recently concluded World war. Things looked black beyond the Rhine. Few were confident to predict a comeback there.

Today Germany leads the world in many respects. Pictured in war propaganda as autocratic and militaristic, she has become a republic and is now minding her own affairs in a military way. Her industrial and scientific experts were not long in regaining former supremacy.

Germany dug in with earnest intent. The results are appearing with frequency now. Did you read about the Bremen; the Graf Zeppelin? Were you aware that Germany is ahead of the greedy allied victors who threatened to ruin her with reparations demands at Versailles?

While the victors quarreled over their spoils Germany was quietly rebuilding. Commercial aviation is only one aspect of her development. The war taught Germany a lesson.

The moral, if there is any, seems to be that to lose in world conflict is apparently safest. The conquered aren't too busy fighting over their plunder, and their struggle against odds is an inspiration to fight harder.

Being defeated in international battle isn't such a bad racket after all, if you are wise enough to surrender before your territory has been ravaged by enemy armies.

A NEW YORKER AT LARGE

Christmas Diamonds Are in Town; Ride Lathes as Workers Sing Rigoletto Aria

By DEMING SEYMOUR

NEW YORK, Sept. 12—The Christmas diamonds are in town.

On the top floor of a Fifth avenue building a row of diamond workers sit at their lathes and benches, chanting in unison an aria from Rigoletto.

Its strains rise and fall above the hum of the machines, dropped by this workman or that one as he bends closer to his task and taken up by others across the room. More diamond polishers are at work on a floor below, and when the singing above them flags they lift their voices and send the melody back.

They are Dutch and Belgian, these voices, and they sing all day. On the hour, somebody starts a cucooing like that of a clock, and others take it up until the man at the saws, in an adjoining room, ends it with a deep bass bellow.

FINDING THE GLEAMS

The Christmas diamonds are in town.

Rough diamonds they are, and big ones. They come from South Africa by way of Antwerp in paper packets, looking like dull octahedrons of glass.

An expert studies each stone and with a fine pen inks the lines which indicate how it shall be cut. For all his skill and geometric reckoning, the four-karat rough diamond in his fingers will make only two one-karat diamonds when it has been sawed and faceted and polished.

When the diamond has been marked for cutting, it goes to the sawing room, where two men can cut enough stones to keep 30 polishers busy.

The saws are fragil machines, and the blades are paper-thin bronze discs, hardly three inches across, edged with diamond dust—the only thing that will cut a diamond is a diamond.

The sawer walks from saw to saw, edging each blade with diamond dust from a roller in his hand and keeping his ear attuned. The tiniest false ring from one saw sends him hurrying to it to keep the blade from striking a flaw and shattering the stone.

The saws whirl on. It takes from a day to a week for a saw to cut through a rough stone.

The cut stone goes to a polisher, who works at a whirling cast iron plate like a phonograph disc, putting on the stone the 58 faces which most diamonds have. The stones get red hot as the iron face of the disc rubs against them, and the frictional hum of the grinding throws its countermelody against the chorus of the singing workmen.

FROM LATHE TO JEWEL BOX

The Christmas diamonds are here.

When they have been cut and faced and polished, so that they gleam like concentrated sunlight through an April rain, they go into another room to be weighed and listed and sent out to jewelers.

By mid-November they will be appearing in show windows, most of them in rings and brooches and pendants.

For Christmas is the biggest season in the diamond trade—more diamonds go into Christmas gifts than into engagement rings.

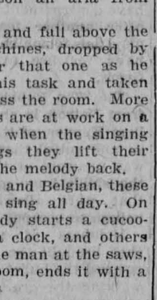
Twelve stories above Fifth avenue the Christmas diamonds are on their way to market, riding the lathes to the melodies of Verdi.

AWARD CONTRACT

DAVENPORT, Sept. 11 (AP)—J. H. Bendixen, vice president of the Bettendorft company, today announced the company had been awarded a contract for building gondola cars and trucks for the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific railroad amounting to $1,500,000. This, it is expected, will keep the plant running full time until February.

MEN WHO FLY
The Air Mail

After years of flying over the mountain divisions with the transcontinental air mail, Hugh Barker, veteran Boeing pilot, is rated as one of the coolest pilots of the air mail. Day after day Barker flies a Boeing tri-motored transport, with mail and express and passengers, between Salt Lake City and Reno, Nevada, a distance of 440 miles by air. This flight Barker makes in 4 hours and 10 minutes, contrasted with 15 hours by train. One speed record was 441 miles between Reno and Salt Lake City in 188 minutes.



Reno is at an altitude of 4,500 feet, and the next stop, Elko, 5,060 feet. Between these two places are ranges of mountains with maximum elevations of 8,000 to 10,000 feet, although by following the passes, an altitude of 7,000 to 8,000 feet is safe for flying.

East from Elko, there are a few mountains, after which the line crosses Salt Lake desert and enters Salt Lake City at an elevation of 4,400. At Salt Lake City three feeder lines connect with the transcontinental, Western Air Express, from Los Angeles, the Varney Line from Pasco, Wash., serving the northwest, and National Park Airways, traversing Idaho and Montana.

That is the type of country Barker has been flying over to get considerable of his 4,500 hours in the air, though he has flown all the transcontinental divisions. Many a good story about hard flights with weather over Secret pass and the Ruby range can be told by Barker.

During the war Barker taught cadets to fly, later barnstorming over the west, and then joined the air mail.

University to Radio Courses

Plan to Broadcast Two Class Recitations

Lectures, recitations, and general discussion, all of the speaking proceedings of the classroom in two University of Iowa courses, will be broadcast by station WSUI beginning Sept. 23, it was announced Thursday.

Prof. Sam B. Sloan's course in the English novel and Prof. Charles C. Wylie's general astronomy course are the ones which will be thrown open to the radio audience.

The station will broadcast the astronomy course Monday, Wednesday and Friday, at 11 a.m., and the novel class Tuesday and Thursday at the same time. Each of the periods will continue for 50 minutes.

Microphones at central points about each classroom will pick up every word said during the class period. The plan was used for the first time here during the summer session's second term, when a course in short story, offered by Prof. Frank L. Mott, went on the air.

By registering with the extension division, it will be possible for listeners to receive regular university credit for completion of work in either course. Long distance students will receive supplementary material, and will do their reading and writing as if they actually were present in the classroom.

In the English novel work, students will consider the writings of leading eighteenth and nineteenth century authors. The astronomy course is non-mathematical, and designed to give a general knowledge of the subject.

Street "Grapevine" Stirs Up Securities

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Wall street wireless requires no apparatus.

A first class rumor, preferably an old one that has been used many times, can be dusted off and put on display by a brokerage house and it will be all over the financial district inside of an hour.

Recently the stock of a large utility management company rose rapidly on the strength of systematically circulated "grapevine" rumors regarding new contracts. An officer of the company was asked for a statement and he said:

"The reports are completely groundless. I happen to know that two or three large holders of stock decided to sell and they trotted out these rumors to insure themselves a higher price."

"Holy War" Looms Between Aimee and Voliva of Zion City

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Sept. 11—The start of a 'holy war' between Wilbur Glenn Voliva of Zion City and Aimee Semple McPherson of Los Angeles has been heralded. Announcement was made that Aimee has established a permanent branch of her "four-square gospel" church in Waukegan, virtually at the threshold of the Voliva domain.

Early in the summer the Aimee scouts were active in the region, and one of them, Essie B. Locy, told a startled audience in Waukegan that "hell is just a few miles from here." She tactfully refrained from mentioning the direction. But she did challenge Voliva to a debate on the question whether the earth is round like an orange or round like a pancake, Voliva supporting the pancake hypothesis.

He wouldn't be trapped into a controversy then, however, and apparently he won't be now. For just before starting for Colorado the other day he announced his purpose to ignore Aimee, and added a confession that he had a tendency to "talk too much."

Now, it is said, Aimee's chief field marshal, Sister Locy, is embarked on a serious campaign to "deliver the poor Zionites from the bondage of Voliva."

"All that Voliva offers these pious, earnest people," she said, 'is a flat earth. He owns everything in Zion and the people are his feudal serfs. He fixes their wages, but he doesn't feed their souls."

She is conducting meetings every night, with extra ones on Sunday, and she is quoted as charging that the Voliva agents have a system of spying on the Zionites who slip over to Waukegan to hear the "four-square" message.

Hospital Association Trustees Meet Here for Business Session

Gang of Three Pleads Guilty

Bank Bandits Face 3 Separate Charges

LAMAR, Col., Sept. 12 (AP)—Pleading guilty to first degree murder, bank robbery and kidnaping, three members of the gang that held up the First National bank here in May, 1928, today threw themselves upon the mercy of the court. Their trial was set for Oct. 1. Under Colorado law the jury or judge must assess the penalty, death not being compulsory.

Ralph Fleagle, George J. Abshire and Howard Royston were the prisoners who entered the pleas. They were arrested as a result of a nationwide search. One of their gang, Jake Fleagle, still is at large.

Four men were killed in connection with the holdup in which the robbers stole $200,000 and kidnaped three men, two of whom later were put to death.

While the prisoners were being arraigned word came from authorities that the state would not ask for the death penalty for Ralph Fleagle, because it was his confession that enabled officers to fix the blame for the holdup and clear seven other suspects that had been arrested in a nationwide hunt.

Officers stationed extra guards in the court room to prevent any demonstration but the small crowd which gathered showed no resentment toward the prisoners, and appeared to be drawn solely by curiosity.

Department Approves Plans for New Free Bridge Across River

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Approval of the plans for the Iowa Nebraska Amortized Free Bridge Co., for construction of a bridge across the Missouri between Sioux City and South Sioux City, Neb. was announced today at the war department.

The action culminates a long fight between factions over the site of the structure. Application of the company for a permit to build the bridge was approved by Assistant Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, and Brigadier General Deakyne, acting chief of engineers, after a third set of plans had been submitted.

As approved, the bridge will extend from Jones street in Sioux City to Davis street in South Sioux City and will have five truss spans each 433 feet long. The structure will have a horizontal clearance of 413 feet, 7 inches and a vertical clearance of 52 1-2 feet at high water and 42 8-10 feet at low water between the spans.

Engineers who made a study of the plans decided that the proposed structure would not interfere unreasonably with navigation.

School Opens Doors for Students' Cows

STILLWATER, Okla., Sept. 12 (AP)—Even cows may go to college now.

Each student will be permitted to bring two bovines to Oklahoma A. and M. college this year. It is part of a plan to aid self-supporting youngsters.

All cows in attendance will be fed at cost by the school. A student self-help farm is to provide employment for 40 or 50 boys.

There also will be a tile and pottery factory and a broom factory for student work.

Women's Club Will Landscape Plot South of Legion Hall

Garden Section of Organization Will Use Native Plants and Shrubs in Work

Grounds south of the American legion community building on the east side of Gilbert street between College and Burlington streets will no longer be an unsightly spot in the community. Rather the site will be landscaped and made into an attractive surroundings for the community center.

Native plants and shrubs will be used as far as possible in the landscaping.

The project is being undertaken by the garden section of the Iowa City Women's club. It was discussed at a meeting at the legion building yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Carl E. Seashore introduced discussion of the project by telling what has been accomplished so far in developing plans. The event was a fall flower tea and was the opening meeting of the fall season.

The committee which is to work on the project is composed of Mrs. Roscoe H. Volland, general chairman, Mrs. W .L. Bywater, chairman of program committee, Mrs. Irving King, Mrs. H. C. Dorcas, Mrs. Thomas Wagner, and Mrs. W. E. Spence, members of the executive board.

Mrs. Volland has been delegated to consult landscaping architects at Ames in regard to the project. Definite plans will be presented at the October meeting of the Garden club.

Members attending the tea yesterday brought displays of flowers now blooming in their gardens. The exhibits included roses, shasta daisies, wild asters, dahlias, zinnias, gladioli, and China asters.

Bowls of shasta daisies and wild asters were used to decorate the tea table. Green and yellow tapers were used to complete the color scheme of yellow, green and blue.

Mrs. W. A. Gay was in charge of tea arrangements.

League of Nations Discusses Aiding of Aggression Victims

GENEVA, Sept. 12 (AP)—The oft debated proposal giving financial help to that nation which is the victim of aggression in warfare, occupied the disarmament committee of the League of Nations this afternoon.

It was generally agreed that financial aid given under these circumstances would prove a strong deterrent to war. The speakers acknowledged, however, that success of the plan would depend almost wholly upon adoption of some general scheme for limitation of armaments.

Great Britain and Germany supported the idea wholeheartedly. Portugal, Holland, and Denmark approved the spirit of the proposal, but each advanced some conditional suggestions regarding the manner in which the scheme might be operated.

The proposal to discourage war by giving economic aid to a nation which is attacked or menaced, came to the disarmament committee in the form of a resolution drafted by the finance committee of the league. The scheme provides for the formation of a loan fund supported by nations which subscribe to the plan and from which the victim government might be granted credits.

Hitch-Hiking Sisters Bound for Los Angeles Visit City

Along No. 32 where it swings up the hill and past the university hospital, oblivious to the trifling, irritating drizzle that had just begun to take possession of highway and lawns, two girls walked yesterday at high noon. Both wore sweat-shirts. The feminine touch was in evidence, however, in the form of fragile blue butterflies painted here and there across the fronts. Their trousers, too, were white with blue stripes down the outside, and they wore tennis sunshades, and carried a neat, black bag between them.

They were sisters, Jeanne and Grace Sartwell of Brainard, Minn. Their goal is the mecca of all beautiful girls—Los Angeles, and they had come by yesterday noon, 1,500 miles in a little less than five days and on a little more than $7.

Jeanne said their best record was 389 miles in 10 1-2 hours, which, she admits, isn't as good as the Graf Zeppelin—but considerably cheaper. So far they have bought but five meals and two healthier looking girls you never saw.

As to their method of locomotion, it is hit and miss—or Mr. and Miss in their car, or what have you? Generally Jeanne and Grace simply swing along the highway and trust to somebody's good judgment to pick them up. However, when one of them gets tired, they break a match to see who will hail the next five cars.

At night they plant themselves for a small sum in a tourist's park on the outskirts of someplace, where they take a good night's rest, preparatory for tomorrow's 300 miles.

Kuevers Find European Gets Much Out of Simple Life Led

"It is surprising how much the European gets out of life, unfortunately simple as his existence is compelled to be."

This characteristic and the surprising leisureliness of the European were two outstanding differences from Americans, that struck Prof. and Mrs. Rudolph A. Kuever on their recent tour of France, Switzerland, German, Holland and England.

Professor and Mrs. Kuever left for Europe July 7, spending the first two weeks travel in France with Dean and Mrs. William F. Russell of Columbia university. Dean Russell was at one time head of the college of education here in Iowa City.

A great part of their trip was done by motor, particularly through the Black Forest, England, about Normandy with Dean and Mrs. Russell, through the Shakespeare country, the Dickens country, to Windsor castle, Hampden court and the Tower of London.

Professor Kuever took the opportunity, also, to visit the university at Beren, capital of Switzerland. "They have one of the best in the world where pharmacy is concerned," he interposed. He visited also the University of Zurich, the University of Frankfurt, and, among others, the far-sung Heidleberg. There they dined at the famous Heidleberg Inn—"shades of the 'Studen Prince'," said Mr. Kuever, "an old, old place dating fro mthe swashbucking days of the fourteenth century."

The Continental European, and in some cases the Englishman, according to Professor Kuever, eats five meals a day—"taking ample time before and after and during each, and sometimes even shutting up shop if he is that kind of a European—the kind who has a shop." This, Professor Kuever explained, is simply another example of the slow, opportunityless existence the people of Europe, for the most part, are leading. He enjoyed Europe, as Europe, but he likes the States as home, and is glad to be back again amongst the bustle and hurry of American people.

Assistant Cashier Gives Testimony in Embezzlement Case

OTTUMWA, Sept. 12 (AP)—Mrs. Ethel Thomas Harwood, assistant cashier of the Farmers and Merchants Savings bank of Eldon, testifying today in the case in which W. E. Hill, former cashier, is on trial for embezzlement, identified a number of entries in the bank's journals which she characterized as false.

It is the state's contention that Hill made false entries in the journals to cover up shortages.

Later, on cross examination, Mrs. Harwood admitted that others besides Hill had access to the books and records of the bank and that a bank examiner had not checked the accounts until some time after the accused cashier had been discharged by the board of directors. She admitted she could not identify the entries in question as having been made by Hill.

Announce Supporting Card for Loughran-Sharkey Go Sept. 26

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Madison Square Garden corporation tonight announced the supporting card for the Tommy Loughran-Jack Sharkey 15-round heavyweight bout at the Yankee stadium on Sept. 26.

Jim Maloney of Boston will meet Armand Emanuel of the Pacific coast in the semi-final of ten rounds. Another bout of the same distance will bring together Tom Heeney, Gene Tunney's victim of last summer, and George Hoffman, the former amateur.

Professor Bartow Back From Meeting

Prof. Edward Bartow returned to Iowa City yesterday morning from the annual meeting of the American Chemical society, which has been held in Minneapolis this week. At one of the breakfasts held during the conference, 21 Iowans, all members of the staff or alumni of the University of Iowa, were present.

Mrs. Bartow, who accompanied Professor Bartow to Minneapolis, dropped off at Urbana, Ill., on the way home and will not return to Iowa City until later.

Included among the members attending the conference from Iowa City were Professors L. C. Raiford, Jacob Cornog, Kenneth Ray, William G. Eversole, G. H. Coleman, P. A. Bond and J. N. Pearce of the department of chemistry.

Deputy Sheriff in Search for Slayer of Section Worker

DES MOINES, Sept. 12 (AP)—Deputy sheriffs tonight were attempting to locate the slayer of Tom Poulos, 55 years old, section worker, found dead near his shack at Clive early today.

According to the theory advanced following the finding of the laborer's body in a pool of blood an unknown man is held responsible for the crime.

A pistol bullet extracted from the brain of the dead man by Dr. William Carpenter, Polk county coroner, was thought to be from a .32 calibre self-loading weapon although officials stated that exact identification could not be established.

The unidentified man was reported to have appeared at Clive last night signifying that he was intending to spend the night with Poulos.

Dr. Carpenter reported that when the body was found at 7 a.m. a short distance from the box car house. Poulos had been dead approximately ten hours. The body was discovered by John Holtry, section foreman, who had gone to the dead man's shack after Poulos had not reported for work.

Grain Corporation Will Be Completed Within Next Week

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Organization of the $20,000,000 farmer-owned grain marketing corporation, to operate under the terms of the new federal farm law, will be completed in the next week or ten days, it was said today at a meeting of the American Farm Bureau federation here.

With the committee of sixteen grain leaders sitting as its board of directors and with headquarters probably in Chicago, the corporation will establish sales agencies in principal grain centers of this and other countries and will operate on lines similar to those of the Canadian wheat pool, it was said.

Articles of incorporation were drawn up here recently by a subcommittee of three, headed by William H. Settle of Indiana. They are now being studied by the farm board's council, George Farrand.

Pilgrim Chapter to Meet Saturday

Members of the Pilgrim chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will meet at the home of E. Belle Durant, 917 Bowery street, Saturday at 2 p.m.

Shrine to Give Dinner Today

Will Honor Worthy High Priestess at Inn

In honor of Mary E. Bartlett of Nelsonville, O., supreme worthy high priestess of the Order of the White Shrine, a luncheon will be given at Youde's inn at 12:30 today.

Thirty guests including officers and past officers of the local organization, Bethlehem Shrine, No. 8, will be included in the courtesy. They will be seated at a single large table centered with bouquets of pink and lavender asters. Nut cups and table appointments will carry out the color scheme of pink and lavender.

The committee in charge of the arrangements are Mrs. Lois Carson, chairman, Mrs. Charlotte Meardon, and Janet Owen.

A reception will be held at the American legion community building at 6 o'clock. Among those in the receiving line will be Mrs. Bartlett, Mrs. Wade Russell, worthy high priestess of the Bethlehem Shrine, No. 8, and past officers of the local group.

Following the reception a banquet will be given at 6:30 honoring Mrs. Bartlett and Rose Reid of Washington, Ia., deputy for the supreme worthy high priestess for the state of Iowa.

The Bethlehem Shrine drill team will give a drill after the banquet. A ceremonial will be held at the Masonic temple at 8 o'clock.

Members from Washington, Ia., Cedar Rapids, Rock Island and Muscatine are expected to attend.

Mrs. Bartlett, who is the supreme worthy high priestess, is the highest officer in the Order of the White Shrine in the United States. She also has authority over shrine organizations in Canada and Scotland. She is here to inspect the ceremonial of the local shrine.

State Rests Case in Mrs. Pantages' Trial

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12 (AP)—After presenting testimony that Mrs. Lois Pantages, wife of the theatrical magnate, was intoxicated and disorderly at the time her motor car crashed into another machine here on June 16, the state rested today in the trial of the wife of the theatrical magnate on a charge of second degree murder growing out of the accident.

The prosecution without calling Mrs. Teruko Rokumoto, widow of Juro Rokumoto, a Japanese, with whose murder the defendant is charged, rested its case.

Black Fog of Pessimism Sends Values Down

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—A black fog of pessimism crept into important speculative circles today, and leading shares were heavily liquidated on the stock market. Scores of stocks closed from 3 to 15 points lower. Selling was in such volume that the day's total transactions again crossed the 5,000,000 share mark.

The heaviness of the market was generally attributed to the uncertainties of the credit situation.

A less gloomy aspect of the loan compilation was the disclosure that New York banks, which had been forced to increase their federal reserve borrowings to tide the market over the turn of the month, had been able to call $86,000,000 and pay off much of their borrowings.

The reserve condition statements showed that holdings of acceptances brought in the open market had been increased about $40,000,0000, to a total slightly larger than that for the like period of last year. This, and an increase of about $10,000,000 in government securities, however, were more than offset by a decline of about $74,000,000 in rediscounting, and the reserve ratio improved slightly.

The Bank of England again made no change in its discount rate, and this influenced a brief bullish demonstration during the morning.

Lack of support for such leaders as U. S. Steel was particularly discouraging. Steel common sold off about 7 points, and rallied only 1½ points from its low. Such issues as American Can, American Telephone, Anaconda, American Water Works, Atchison, Chesapeake and Ohio, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, General Electric and Norfolk and Western, lost from 3 to 6 points. Westinghouse tumbled about 12, but reduced its loss to 8 at the close. Johns Manville lost 7 points, Commercial Solvents 8½, and Auburn Auto 15.

The market opened with a burst of strength, and pools hurled up some of the volatile issues in violent fashion as the market began to sag in an effort to stay the tide.

Radio was heavily bought for a time, rising to a new high for the present stock at 114⅜, but it closed at 108½, off more than a point. Heavy trading developed in the oils, but Standard of New Jersey encountered realizing on its sharp advance of yesterday, closing off a couple of points.

Foreign exchanges were mixed. Sterling Cables sagged to their low level of the year, $4.8411-16, and French francs and Spanish pesetas were under pressure. Other continental currencies, however, were generally firm.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Cash wheat market was strong and prices sharply higher. Actual sales showed gains of 2 to 4c over previous prices. Trading basis ½c to 1½c higher on winter and spring grades. No. 2 red sold 8¼ to 9c under December price. No. 2 hard sold 10 under and No. 2 northern 10½ under. Bids to the country were advanced ½ to 1c for September shipment. Booked to arrive 5,000 bushel. Cancellations 70,850 bushel and deliveries on September contracts 134,000 bushel. Seaboard did not report any important export business, but said Argentine offerings were quoted much higher.

Corn demand was fairly active while prices were about unchanged compared with previous sales. Trading basis ruled ½c firmer with No. 1 and No. 2 grades mainly ½c to ⅝c under the September price. Shipping sales 35,000 bushel, new crop. Cancellations 4,500 bushel and deliveries 3,000 bushel.

Oats ruled steady to ½c higher. Trading basis practically unchanged, except for lightweights which sold ½c lower. Shipping sales 25,000 bushel. Country offerings to arrive small.

BLUE BLOOD AND RED

By Robert Terry Shannon

What has gone before:

Eddie Regan, once a member of a New York gang, has broken away and gone to Virginia, where he befriends Penfield Paradine, who dies and leaves all his possessions to Eddie. Eddie had been in love with Bernice Veressi, "gang girl," but all thought of her is lost when he meets and falls in love with Marian Thorndike. Marian is engaged to Tom Freeman. Freeman and Eddie dislike each other and Eddie, discouraged, goes to Richmond, where he meets Mike Arno, a former member of the gang, who tries to persuade him to return to New York and Bernice. Eddie however, returns to his farm and telephones Marian, asking her if he may call. Freeman overhears the conversation and a fight ensues, in which Eddie knocks Freeman out and takes him to Marian's home. Freeman is revived and tells Eddie he wants to be friends and they shake hands on the bargain. Marian's father objects to Eddie as a suitor for Marian, but Marian overrules his objections and Eddie is invited to their home for dinner.

Now go on with the story:

CHAPTER XXXV.

The begining of the dinner, shortly after his arrival at the Thorndike home, made him acutely conscious of his lack of social experence. In truth, the meal and the table service were simple. What did give the event distinction was the quiet air of good breeding that was so utterly unlike the roistering table manners of his old companions. Too, he did not know whether Marian's parents expected him to be bright and entertaining or whether he should say as little as possible. But Marian, sitting beside him, managed to keep him at ease as best she could.

From the first she sensed his uncertainty. There were several topics available, however, and she asked him how he was getting along with his timber cutting. On this subject he could talk agreeably; and without any self-consciousness, he spoke of the lore of the woods, of tools, axes, saw, wedges, and, in general the undependability of Negro labor.

When the meal was finished Marian and her mother disappeared and Eddie faced the necessity of going into the library and smoking a cigar with the elderly gentleman who, despite his hospitality seemed charged with a hidden antagonism.

The winning of Marian—as far as the girl herself was concerned—was the longest of shots. Eddie might hope, he might dream—even in the secrecy of dark night hours he might, conceivably, pray—but it was like wishing for the moon. A radiance descended and covered him with glamorous light, but the moon was still beyond his reach.

Two men had opposed him. One, a rival, had possessed every natural advantage, but had gone down, knocked out. Without vanity, Eddie realized he had little more to fear from Tom Freeman.

The second man was Marian's father. To get past Mr. Thorndike would be infinitely more difficult.

They lit cigars—Eddie would have preferred a cigarette—and sat down comfortably. Eddie looked carefully at the older man, seeking some physical evidence of kinship to Marian. But the girl, he decided, was more her mother's daughter—only in something about the eyes did Marian resemble her father. Yet, mentally, daughter and father shared, obscurely a forth-right mentality. Mr. Thorndike's face was of the intellectual type and slightly cold.

"I've wanted to have a talk with you, Mr. Regan," he said, quietly. "Marian has told me a little about you."

Eddie, eager to make a good impression, was unable to think of any brilliant reply. Merely, he said, "Yeh?" inquiringly. Instantly, he realized, he had sounded gutter-bred.

"Naturally, I'm interested in you, Mr. Regan," her father said. "I'm interested in all of Marian's friends—but I am particularly interested in you because I understand you fought with Tom Freeman. That's true, isn't it?"

"If Miss Marian said so," he said, feeling himself tighten, "it's true."

"Marian didn't need to tell me—I gathered the facts when I saw both of you the other night. Furthermore, I'm certain she would object violently if she knew how frankly I intend to talk to you, Mr. Regan. You see, she is our only daughter, and her mother and I are vitally concerned with her friendships. I'll be honest with you—the fact that I knew you were, in some degree, Penfield Paradine's ward rather prejudiced me against you."

Eddie felt as though he were walking on eggs. He wanted, desperately to say the right thing. In his love-stricken eyes Marian's father possessed a dignity, an authority that was almost hallowed.

"I heard about the feud between you and Mr. Paradine—but I didn't have any part in it," he said, earnestly. "Mr. Paradine was awfully good to me, and I thought—and still think—he was a mighty fine man. But I'm not going to carry for a minute any feud he had."

In justice to the dying gentleman who had given him shelter and bequeathed him a home, Eddie Regan felt he must, at whatever risk, say at least this much. Mr Thorndike, apparently, agreed with a nod of his head.

"I understand," he said. "I was merely explaining my impression of you in the beginning, Mr. Regan. When I learned that you had fought with Tom Freeman—over Marian, I supposse—that impression deepened and I had a pronounced dislike for you. You'll forgive me, won't you, for telling you these things while you are my guest? I only want to make the situation clear. My only interest in you, even now, is through Marian. She likes you and: you are important to me."

Eddie, with knitted brow, waited for what was coming next. Anything he might say, at the monent, would be futile.

"My tendency, I admit, is to be antagonistic," the older man swept on. "But I want, also, to be fair if the doors of this house are to be open to you—and they have been opened—I want to know something about you. I want to know who you are and where you came from, for the one thing."

This was not a blow—it was the cold, swift thrust of a sword. Eddie winced inwardly, but he managed to conceal the pang. To cringe was impossible.

"I'm nobody, and I came from no place," he said steadily. "Without going into details, Mr. Thorndike, I think that answers your question."

The other looked at him with unwavering eye. "It does, perfectly. Also, your answer has the merit of great honesty. Another thing I want to know—again without details, if you prefer—is there anything about you, or in your record, that would make any friendship between you and Marian impossible if it were known? Do you understand what I mean?"

Eddie's mind was now on edge with alertness. Was there, indeed, any stain on his life that barred him from a girl like Marian Thorndike? Looking back, he envisioned his spoted path. He tried to be honest. There were black marks that burned him with an inward shame. He had lived the life of his environment—but he had, he hoped, escaped in time without indelible stigma. The saving fact was that he had confessed his past to Marian—the one person most truly concerned—and she had given him absolution.

"No man," he said seriously, "is fit for a girl like your daughter, Mr. Thorndike. That's a general statement—but I'm not trying to put anything over on her. If I felt that there was anything about me that would degrade her I'd go away and never see her again. You can believe that or not—but my word of honor goes with it."

Mr. Thorndike was silent for a space of minutes. Finally, he said: "I suppose I'll have to be satisfied with that. I wouldn't have talked to you in this way if her happiness were not so tremendously vital to her mother and to me. I want you to know that the most precious object on earth to us is Marian, and that I would go to any length to insure her against catastrophe in the form of the wrong man. I'm not going to make empty threats, Mr. Regan; you have given me, I suppose, whatever assurances were possible. I'm going to let you come here occasionally — I'm going to accept you for what you seem to be and at face value; at the same time I'm going to give you a warning." Here he paused. Then—

"If by the slightest token you betray in any way the trust that is imposed upon you, I will settle with you myself in such a manner that you will never again blight any girl's life. And now, sir, let's make this the end of such conversation between us."

Eddie spent the balance of the evening alone with Marian, but a restraint was upon him. He could not rid his mind of the velvet gloved menace of her father. It was not a matter, he could discuss with her—he couldn't tell her that he had been put, virtually, upon parole.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

There was no doubt in his mind, either, as to what Mr. Thorndike would do to him if the old man ever got convinced that his daughter was getting the worst of it any way. Probably — almost certainly — he would shoot Eddie.

The old boy, despite the measured dignity of his speech, was as hard-boiled as any killer on earth. The matter involved was not only family pride but, immeasurably greater, it involved an almost fanatic love for his daughter.

No, Eddie knew he could not discuss this with Marian. The pall upon his spirits was plainly visible.

"What did you and father talk about after dinner?"

"Oh, we just talked."

She did not press him further. He went home that night, not knowing whether he had gained or lost ground. True, he had crashed the doors of the Thorndike home, but he was still on sufferance, on quicksand. Marian, herself, no longer seemed to regard him as an unusual and fascinating specimen. Now that he was accepted into the home, he had a feeling that she looked at him casually. He was just one more young man. Even though they were alone in the house and on the veranda when he was leaving, nothing of the old palpitating spell between them was recreated,

"I'll call you up before long," he said.

"Please do, sometime," she returned, indefinitely.

Somehow it was flat. She had previously urged him, it seemed, with a kind of desperation to make something of his life—to elevate himself above the laborers of the field. On that well-remembered night it had appeared that only his faltering status as a man had stood between them.

The mystic call of youth to youth had vibrated around them; she had admitted tremulously his love-making effect upon her; had he embodied something more than physical appeal she might have melted into his arms upon his invitation. They had been that near to the culmination of love, but the delicious madness of that night had vanished.

It was as though their lips had never clung warmly together—as though she had never implored him to shoulder his way up to a plane where she could respect him as an outstanding man among men. She smiled and their hands clasped as she bade him goodnight, but no electric current flowed.

With the coming of another day, Eddie returned to the interminable labor of the farm. With a kind of a passion that was an alchemic result of thwarted romance he threw himself violently upon his tasks. Exhaustion followed, the days and night revolved in an alternation of sleep.

He ate, he tried to read; and succeeded only in losing a few pounds of weight. What he really was trying to do, was to kill time until a decent interval should elapse before he tried to see Marian again. Sunday came and he lay long in his bed, trying to decide whether or not he would be welcome if he telephoned and suggested an evening call.

Strange muffled sounds occurred downstairs and almost immediately old Tobe came up and into his room, his black face stamped with a kind of eager surprise.

"Git up, Mister Regan! Dar's a strange lady downstairs, an' she's demanding powerful strong to see you." Eddie sat up abruptly in bed.

"Who is she?"

"Don't know, suh. One of dem jitney drivers fetched her from the station. She's done brung her valises."

Eddie dressed rapidly. A sinister foreboding gnawed at the back of his mind—but there must be some mistake! Whoever the lady was, it was probable she had been stupidly brought to the wrong house. Chances were, she was a servant from the city coming to work for someone of the more prosperous country families.

He went downstairs and as he turned into the living room he thought his nostrils detected the faintest perfume. There rose up before him from her chair, a slim, modish figure of a birl, her dark luminous eyes aglow!

"Eddie! . . ."

He was paralyzed beyond action, beyond speech. Clinging arms went around him and there was a starved hunger in the pressure of the elastic body that was, suddenly, so soft and alive against him. He looked down into the flushed, joyous, olive face of Bernice Veressi.

The carmine lips of Bernice Veressi stained toward Eddie' mouth.

She enveloped him in a cloud of eagerness—an aura of feminity and fragrance.

Warm, vigorously intense, her lips burned gladly against his mouth.

He was stunned with surprise—it was like a dream.

The physical evidence of her presence gave undisputed reality to what was scarcely more, logically considered, than a vison.

If during the passing months, Bernice Verrisi had been on his mind at all, her image had been so faint and indistinct that practically she had been no more than the wraith of a memory.

But now, in an instant, her personality assailed him with electric actuality.

Geologists Return From Field Conference in Western States

Dean Kay and Professors of University Attend Survey Under Auspices of Kansas Society

Dean George F. Kay, head of the geology department, returned Thursday from a field conference in the Black Hills, S. D., eastern Wyoming, and Colorado. This was the third annual conference to be held under the auspices of the Kansas Geological society, and was directed by the University of Iowa department of geology. Prof. J. J. Runner, Prof. A. O. Thomas and several graduate students of the department accompanied Dean Kay.

The conference opened at Rapid City, S. D., Sept. 2, and continued until today. About 150 geologists participated in the conference, the majority of whom are connected with the leading oil companies of Kansas, Texas and Oklahoma, the Universities of Yale, Columbia, Chicago, South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado, and Wichita, and the state geological surveys of Nebraska, Oklahoma, Colorado, Montana, Wyoming, South Dakota and Iowa.

Field conferences have been held the last three years, under the auspices of the Kansas geological society. The territory selected has special features which are of interest to geologists employed in the oil fields and those connected with colleges and universities. Two years ago the conference was held in Iowa, under the direction of Dean Kay. Last year the field visited was Arkansas and Missouri.

This year the department of geology was invited to assume responsibility for the conference. Dean Kay was appointed director and Professor Runner and Professor Thomas were selected as leaders.

"The conference was unusually successful," Dean Kay said. "The only unsatisfactory feature was the disagreeable weather during the latter part of the trip." At Rapid City, three inches of snow fell, making the roads almost impassable.

While in South Dakota, the party visited the Homsteake mine, at Lead. This mine is one of the most famous gold mines in the world. A part of the mine visited was 2,000 feet below the surface.

Wheat Market Swirls Upward

Drought in Argentina Causes Upturn

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Assertions that virtually half of the 1929 prospective Argentine wheat crop has been swept away by drought sent the wheat market whirling upward again today. For the first time this season, No. 2 red winter wheat available to be used at once sold here at a premium over the price of similar wheat deliverable any time during the current month. After today's upturn in values, however, had gone to about 5c a bushel higher than figures current 48 hours ago, a rush of selling to realize profits led to a sharp setback.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ½c to ⅞c above yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅝c to 1c down, oats unchanged to ½c off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

Brisk European buying of Chicago future deliveries of wheat, together with improved transatlantic demand for wheat shipments from North America went hand in hand today with reports that the Argentine wheat crop is going back fast and that chances of recuperation are rapidly disappearing. Even with copius rains by Sept. 20, conservative estimates today put the maximum yields of Argentine wheat at not more than two-thirds of last year's output. Advices at hand said that for the last seven weeks there has been only 0.3 inch rainfall in Argentine wheat territory and that a severe lack of subsoil moisture has now become an important crop factor.

Rains over a part of the corn belt tended to ease the corn market down after prices had equalled the season high price record. Oats sagged with corn but not until September and May oats had reached a new top level for the season.

After a strong opening the corn market became sluggish and but for the pronounced strength in wheat would probably have shown a heavy tone. The cash market was steady, with moderate country sales and a fair demand.

Rains were quite heavy in the west with unsettled conditions forecast. Corn receipts in Chicago today were 148 cars compared with 136 a week ago and 120 a year ago. Today's shipments were light but for the week there has been a fair out movement. Commission trade was pretty well divided.

Provisions were responsive to upturns in the value of hogs.

Grain Notes

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Argentine wheat and consequent crop prospects are obscuring every other market factor at the moment and their unfavorable character are evidently disturbing the placid confidence of European buyers," Thomson-McKinnon said today. "An advance of 40 cents in two days in the Buenos Aires flax market suggest what might happen in wheat if they do not get general rains throughout September. In the meantime, our winter wheat movement has dropped a very small proportion, spring wheat farmers are not selling, and the cash situation is showing distinct improvement. Believe all be arish factors are known and discounted and that sharp breaks following possible rains in Argentina will afford good buying opportunities."

A. M. Clement of Clement, Curtis and company says: "The detailed report of Canadian government states that estimates of yield were based upon total acreage sown.

"Whenever there is a heavy abandonment, as in case of stubbled wheat in Canada this year, estimates of yield per acre on basis of planted acreage tend to run too high because many correspondents estimate yields of harvested fields. Final revisions are more likely to be under rather than over the September estimate based upon planted area."

Corn bulls are disappointed at the market's action, and commission houses that have been the largest buyers for several weeks past, have been conspicuous sellers for several days. The crop in the 11 big states including Oklahoma and Texas, aggregates 1,749,000,000 bushels, a reduction of 212,000,000 bushels last month and a loss of 368,000,000 bushels from last year but only 191,000,000 bushels from the five year average. Iowa is short 55,000,000 bushels from last year, Kansas 84,000,000 bushels, while Texas has lost nearly 18,000,000 bushels, but has an average crop.

Germany's embargo on United States barley has been lifted, according to a cable from Bremen.

Phillies Defeat League Leading Cubs 7-1 in Second of Series

Bruins Now Need But 3 More Games

Pirates Lose to Increase Chicago's Lead in National League

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP) — The Phillies defeated the Cubs 7 to 1 in the second game of the series here today, but the Bruins nevertheless reduced from four to three the victories they need to clinch the pennant as the Giants again defeated the Pirates. Chuck Klein and Hack Wilson hit a home run apiece, remaining tied for the league lead, now with 39 homers.

SPORT KINGS TRUMP QUEEN

It is always interesting to compare the relative ability of first flight women and men players in sports—particularly in those two great games—golf and tennis.

In golf women face the handicap of strength when pitted against men players of equal ranking. It takes power to send the little white pellet to or beyond the 250-yard marker, despite the cry of the experts that only timeing and technique are needed. And it is this lack of distance on the long shots that marks the difference in top ranking women and men golfers.

A few years ago Glenna Collett, America's golf queen, played an interesting match against Cyril Tolley, British amateur star, in which the latter allowed her a stroke on the even holes. It was too much of a handicap for Tolley to overcome. Miss Collett winning at the home hole. As a matter of fact Miss Collett could have won that match with only six strokes handicap for on three of the handicap holes she did not need the allowance. It is estimated that a handicap of six bisques—strokes to be taken wherever the beneficiaries elect—constitute the difference in first flight women and men golfers.

This disparity between men and women is even greater on the tennis court. This has been shown time and time again by the ease with which ranking men players have defeated women stars. Some years ago, when Mlle Lenglen was at the crest of her wizardry, she played an unofficial match with Big Bill Tilden. Bill toyed with Suzanne, purposely letting her win the first two points of each game, and then putting on the pressure to win in straight sets, 6-0, 6-0.

Our own Helen Wills, marvelous player that she is, wouldn't have the ghost of a chance against any one of the male players ranked in the first twenty. Her win, some time ago, over Fritz Mercur, can be recorded as a gallant gesture. The age of chivalry is not yet dead.

Truly our Sport Kings trump the Queens!

Prospects Point to Another Big Year for Jones' Trojans

Former Hawk Mentor Has Abundance of Good Material at Southern California

By VICTOR G. SIDLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 12 (AP)—Preliminary football propects at the University of Southern California would indicate that its gridiron fates for 1929 again are resting in a "horn of plenty."

Coach Howard Jones, former University of Iowa mentor, has an abundance of good material to equalize the loss of five of last year's veterans. From the sophomore crop of 1928 he expects to develop his backfield prospects. He has big holes to fill with the loss of Don Williams, sensational quarterback and Lloyd Thomas, half back.

Graduation also shook the entire left side of the line. Jones has indicated he will rebuild it by shifting Francis Tappaan, star right end for two seasons, to left end; Capt. Nate Barrager is slated to be changed over to left guard from center; George Dye, 234 pound Alabama linesman may take Barrager's post. The left tackle position seems to be a toss up between Cecil Hoff, understudy of Jesse Hibbs, all-American and Bob Hall, a 215 pounder from Dallas, Tex.

On the right side, Jesse Shaw and Bob Gowder, varsity subs of 1928, loom strongest for right guard. Frank Anthony may put his 200 pounds at right tackle and Tony Steponovich seems the best bet for right end.

The backfield seems not a hard problem for Jones to solve. He has Russ Saunders, versatile plunger and regarded as highly as Williams at quarterback, with Marshall Duffield, 18-year-old veteran, a capable understudy.

The schedule for Southern California, however, tempers the enthusiasm of its backers. Seven conference games and intersectional contest with Notre Dame at Chicago and Carnegie Tech here, combined to set up a difficult program for the Trojans to wade through successfully. Just to make the lineup a bit tougher, the conference games with Stanford and California come on successive Saturdays and a quick mid-season jaunt must be made to Chicago to meet Knute Rockne's forces.

Medal Honors to Helen Hicks

Gotham Miss Turns in Par 81 at Chicago

By PAUL R. MICKELSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—New York's 18-year-old golfing prodigy, Helen Hicks, ended her first important invasion of the middlewest gloriously today. She won the derby, a new 72 hole medal play classic for women, by a decisive margin of 14 strokes.

Shoots 320 Total

The husky, broad shouldered New York girl, who amazed the golf world by her brilliant performances down south last winter, shot exactly par for her four rounds on the tricky Flossmoor country club to gain her one-sided triumph, adding an 81 today to previous cards of 78-78-83 for a handsome 320 total.

Her closest rival, Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, finalist in the 1928 national championship, jumped from fourth to second place by shooting a 79, the lowest score turned in by today's field, for a 334 total.

Sioux City Woman Fourth

Maureen Orcutt of White Beeches, N. Y., present Metropolitan champion, ranked third with Mrs. Lee Mida of Chicago with 336 strokes. Mrs. Dorothy Klotz Pardue, Sioux City, was next with 340, while Mrs. Gregg Lifur of Los Angeles was three strokes behind her.

Griffith Stops German in 4th

Haymann Falls Victim in Short Order

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Tuffy Griffith, two-fisted slugger from Sioux City, Ia., did his bit toward checking the current foreign menace in American heavyweight circles tonight by stopping Dr. Ludwig Haymann who had begun his American round of their ten round bout at Madison Square garden. The end came after 2 minutes and 35 seconds of fighting in the fourth round.

Haymann, who holds the heavyweight title of Germany, never had a chance with the hard hitting Griffiths. Tuffy floored his man for a nine count in the first minute of the fourth round. Haymann got up and went right back down. Up he came again to take another crushing right flush on the chin and the referee called a halt.

Griffiths gave away 15 pounds to his foreign opponent. He weighed 184 to Haymann's 199.

The Sioux City heavyweight tore into Haymann at the opening gong and never ceased firing until he had him down and out. Haymann caught several hard rights in the very first round and from then on was on the run and did not land a single telling blow.

It was a crushing defeat for Haymann nwho had begun his American invasion with two impressive knockouts. And it was a well-earned victory for the Iowa clouter who was knocked out by Jimmy Braddock in his first New York bout last winter.

Griffith flashed a two-fisted attack that simply bewildered Haymann. Tuffy worked his right for the first two rounds and then shifted to a left hook in the third session.

When the fourth round opened Haymann came out looking for some of the same and ran into a right that planted him on his back in the middle of the ring. From then on it finished and it was just a matter made no difference. Haymann was of waiting for the finish.

KING TUT WINS

NAVIN FIELD, DETROIT, Sept. 12 (AP)—King Tut of Minneapolis, one of the challengers for the world's lightweight championship, won the referee's decision over Billy Petrolle of Fargo, N. D., after ten bruising rounds, fought in a sprinkling rain in the Detroit American league baseball park, tonight. Tut, making an aggressive fight won the ten rounds by his headlong rushes.

John Van Ryn Extends Tilden in U. S. Play

Sole Briton Loses to Doeg in Straight Set Match

By TED VOSBURGH
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—For a few tense moments this afternoon, Big Bill Tilden, gray of face, dripping with perspiration, and obviously worried, stood face to face with defeat in the quarter-final round of the national single championship tournament, on the winning of which he has set his heart.

Worn from chasing the well-placed shots of young Johnny Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J., Tilden found himself trailing at two games to five in the third set after having won the first set at 7-5 and lost the second at 2-6 as the former Princeton tennis captain drove home his earnest challenge.

Tilden Faces Doeg Today

Then with the fighting heart of the great champion he always has been, Big Bill rose to the occasion, brought his wavering arm under control, took the set at 9-7 and went on to out-play and finally master his youthful adversary by scores of 7-5, 2-6, 9-7, 6-2.

Another formidable young American challenger must be met and beaten tomorrow if Tilden is to enter the final round or play for the title. Johnny Doeg, young giant from Stanford university, crushed Henry Wilfred "Bunny" Austin of England by 6-4, 6-4, 6-3 in another of the quarter-finals.

Mercur Whips Allison

In the lower half Fritz Mercur, the polished product of Lehigh university came through at 8-6, 10-8, 6-4, against Wilmer Allison, the hard Tilden's partner Francis T. Hunter, of New Rochelle, N. Y., downed Richard N. Williams, II, of Philadelphia the old ex-champion, in a third straight set engagement, 6-0, 6-3, 6-4.

Tigers Offset Red Sox 2 to 1 in 2nd Game of Series at Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Detroit defeated the Red Sox 2 to 1 in the second game of their series today behind the sterling pitching of Arthur Herring, 23 year old recruit.

Detroit	000 010 010—2 9 3
Boston	001 000 000—1 8 2

Batteries—Herring and Hayworth; Morris and Heving.

Cincinnati Shades Brooklyn by 3 to 2 Count, Two Straight

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12 (AP)—Cincinnati shaded Brooklyn by 3 to 2 here today, making it two straight in the series. Eppa Rixey pitched against Dazzy Vance, giving but five hits.

Brooklyn	101 000 000—2 5 2
Cincinnati	100 200 00*—3 12 0

Batteries—A. Moore, Vance and Deberry; Rixey and Sukeforth.

John Boyles Breaks Wrist

City High Loses Second Halfback in Week

With only eight days to whip his pigskin talent into condition for the first battle of the season with West Liberty a week from tomorrow, Coach George Wells of Iowa City high, was confronted yesterday with the second serious casualty of the season, and week. Johnny Boyles, a junior candidate for halfback, broke his wrist during a short tackle practice.

Boyles was first or second sub in the backfield last year, and gave promise of being a valuable gridder for the Little Hawk line-up this season. His injury is serious, and will keep him off the lot for at least a month. Eldon Fry, who suffered the other bust-up of the year, breaking his collar bone Tuesday, is due for a five-weeks' layoff, Coach Wells fears.

The first cut in the large squad of 70 aspirants, which has been at work since the initial practice session, will be made this afternoon by Coach Wells and Assistant Coaches E. R. Cannon and Irwin Keeler.

Big Six

By The Associated Press

The Big Six batting averages took the downward path yesterday except in the case of Al Simmons. Hits were few and far between with Simmons the only player who was able to get a pair. These two in four times at bat raised his mark one point to .367, only two points behind his teammate and rival, Jimmy Foxx. Ruth and Hornsby went hitless for the day while O'Doul, Herman and Foxx got but one blow apiece. The Babe and the Rajah lost three points apiece in the averages.

The standing:

	G.	AB	R.	H.	Pct.
O'Doul, Phillies	136	558	130	221	.396
Herman, Robins	132	516	96	199	.386
Hornsby, Cubs	139	541	138	202	.373
Foxx, A's	137	483	114	178	.369
Simmons, A's	130	532	103	195	.367
Ruth, Yankees	116	429	109	148	.345

K. C.'s Elect Elmer Giblin New President

60 Knights Assemble at Annual Meeting; Choose Officers

Elmer Giblin will head Marquette council No. 842, Knights of Columbus, for the coming year. He was elected grand knight of the Iowa City lodge last night when 60 knights assembled at the Jefferson hotel for their annual election.

James V. O'Meara was chosen deputy knight and William J. Holland is the new chancelor. Other officers selected last night are recorder, Leo J. Haman; treasurer, Paul Mattes; advocate, William F. Murphy; warden, Frank L. Englert.

Inside guard is Gus Pusateri, while the outer guards will be Richard Lee and Paul Tobin. Edward Riley was chosen trustee to serve for a three year term.

Mr. Giblin will become official delegate to the Iowa K. of C. convention for 1930, which will be held in Iowa City about May 20. Past Grank Knight Otto F. Neuzil will be the other delegate. Alternates are J. M. Bradley and George Kohler. Ex-officio members who will attend the convention, although not elected last night, are District Deputy Clem Boyle and State Treasurer James Gatens, and Past State Deputy C. C. Ries.

A supper-banquet was held following the election and the coming convention was discussed.

The new officers will be installed early in October by Deputy Boyle.

City Pioneer Resident Dies at Hospital

Death claimed another pioneer city resident yesterday when Mrs. Anna Hauser, 72 years old, 936 Bloomington street, died at a local hospital. She had been ill about two months.

Funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Hohenschuh mortuary with the Rev. W. C. Keeler in charge. The body may be viewed at the home until noon tomorrow.

Mrs. Hauser was born in Iowa City and educated in the schools here, living in the city all her life. She was affiliated with the fraternal banker's reserve society.

Relatives in Iowa City are her husband, Charles, two brothers, Charles and Joseph Stiner, and a sister, Frances Stiner. She also is survived by five daughters, and one other brother.

Pioneer Dies After Illness of Two Weeks

Anna Klein, Old Burkley Place, a lifelong resident of this county, died at a local hospital shortly after 3 p.m. yesterday from intestinal influenza after an illness of two weeks. The funeral will be tomorrow at 9 a.m. from St. Mary's church with the Rev. Msgr. A. J. Schulte officiating. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Miss Klein was born on a farm near Oakdale, the youngest of a family of nine, and received her early education in the local schools. Seventeen years ago she went to New York to study beauty culture and installed a beauty parlor in the Johnson County bank building upon her return, one of the first in the city.

She has been affiliated with St. Mary's church all her life and has been especially devoted to her church. Miss Klein is known locally as a beneficiary of all classes and even to many strangers.

She is a member of the Children of Mary sodality.

Surviving her are a sister, Mrs. Margaret Baschnagel, 5 Muscatine avenue, four brothers, Gustav and Peter of Tiffin, and George and Joseph of North Liberty, and two other sisters in Albany, Minn., and Guernsey, O.

The body was removed to the McGovern funeral home and later taken the Baschnagel home where it will lie until time for the funeral.

Henry Lumpa Dies Yesterday

Henry Lumpa, 74 years old, lifelong county resident, died at 2:30 p.m. yesterday at a local hospital. Funeral service will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Fairview Presbyterian church, eight miles northeast of here, with the Rev. A. C. Proehl, pastor of the local Zion Lutheran church, officiating.

Mr. Lumpa was born in Johnson county Feb. 12, 1855, and has lived within the county all his life. He never married. Surviving him are one brother, John, R.F.D. 8, and one brother and sister of West Liberty.

The body will lie at the Beckman funeral home until Saturday morning.

Funeral Services for Mrs. Smith Tomorrow

Funeral service for Mrs. Anna Smith, Woodlawn apartments, will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Oathout chapel with the Rev. Harry S. Longley officiating. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

She died Wednesday at the home of her son, Prof. Walter Leon, in Woodlawn apartments, after an eight-year residence in Iowa City.

FIRST PANDA YIELDS ITS SKIN

Military Instructor Moves Family Here

Capt. and Mrs. Roy V. Rickard and two children, have moved to Iowa City and are living at 716 N. Van Buren street. Captain Rickard will be an instructor in the basic section of the R.O.T.C. next year.

He comes from Ft. Benning, Ga., and has been instructor with the national guard of Kansas and has seen foreign service in Panama. The home of the family has been in Augusta, Wis.

Bolivia, Paraguay Resume Relations

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — Bolivia and Paraguay today agreed to resume diplomatic relations after a lapse since last December when war threatened to intrude itself between the two countries as a result of a boundary dispute.

With the sine die adjournment of the commission of inquiry and conciliation considering the controversy but one day off, the Paraguayan members today deposited with the commission their government's ratification of the conciliation formula agreed to Monday by Bolivia.

Chairman Legge Explains Federal Farm Board Loans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — Taking notice of statements of members of the senate on the manner in which the federal farm board is making loans, Chairman Alexander Legge said today he would be glad to go before any senate committee and give an explanation.

With the exception of some small loans authorized for facilities, Legge said, the board had agreed only to loans supplemental to those already made by the Federal Intermediate banks.

"Otherwise," he continued, "we would not have been able to make loans to help the farmers with this year's crop because the board does not have the facilities to investigate the applications. Cooperative associations that qualify for loans from the intermediate credit banks, are qualified to receive the supplemental loans from the farm board."

Des Moines Soldier Gets Service Cross

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 12 (AP)—Frank Williams of Des Moines, who was an officer with the 168th infantry, 232nd division, in France, was awarded the distinguished service cross for extraordinary heroism in action, the war department announced today.

Williams, now a major in the reserves, was cited for bravery near Chateau Thierry in July, 1918, when he cared for wounded soldiers for practically three days without shelter, food, or sleep in an area swept by enemy machine gun fire.

Jury to Decide Case of Alleged Murderer

DES MOINES, Sept. 12 (AP)—The case of Manuel Aguilar, Fort Des Moines soldier, charged with the fatal stabbing of Albert Webster, another soldier, on the night of July 29, was in the hands of a Polk county district court jury at an early hour tonight.

Aguilar is charged with murder in the second degree.

Great Britain Makes New Move to Resume Russian Relations

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Great Britain today made a new move toward the resumption of diplomatic relations with Russia. A note proposing that conversations begun several months ago should be taken up again was dispatched through the Norwegian embassy.

The negotiations have been at a standstill since Aug. 1. The barrier consisted of Russia's insistence that ambassadors should be sent to each capital before questions in dispute between the two governments were taken up, Arthur Henderson, foreign secretary, told the Russian ambassador to Paris, M. Dovgalevsky, at that time that diuatic services could not be resumed on that basis.

CELEBRATE ROAD OPENING

DES MOINES, Sept. 12 (AP) — Good roads boosters of central and southern Iowa joined today to celebrate the formal opening of the all paved Jefferson highway from Des Moines to the southern boundary of the state. A motor caravan made a round trip from Des Moines to Lamoni, on the southern boundary line, to celebrate the event. The opening of the pavement provides a hard surfaced road from Des Moines to Kansas City.

Bank Joins in Corporation of 35 Institutions

Iowa-Des Moines Bank Affiliates With Huge Northwest Group

DES MOINES, Sept. 12 (AP)—Affiliation of the merged Iowa-Des Moines National Bank & Trust company with 35 other leading banks and trust companies in the Northwest bank corporation group, was announced tonight by Clyde E. Brenton, president.

Addition of the Des Moines bank to the bank corporation group probably brings into the combination the second largest financial institution of the entire list.

The Iowa-Des Moines National Bank & Trust company is a recent consolidation of the Iowa National bank, the Des Moines National bank and the Des Moines Savings Bank & Trust company. Negotiations for affiliation with Northwest Bank corporation were started here while the local consolidation was yet in the process of approval by stockholders.

Resources $320,170,257

Combined resources of the affiliated banks in the group now are in excess of $320,170,257, with combined deposits of $276,257,968, J. C. Thomson, vice president and general manager of the Northwest Bank corporation, who represented the bank corporation in the transaction here today, said.

The larger banks and trust companies now associated in the Northwest Bank corporation group include the Northwestern National bank, Minneapolis, with resources of more than $92,000,000; the Iowa-Des Moines National Bank & Trust company, with more than $42,000,000 in resources; the First & American National bank, Duluth, with resources of aproximately $40,000,000; the United States National bank and the United States Trust company of Omaha, with resources of more than $23,000,000; the Minnesota Loan & Trust company, Minneapolis, with resources of more than $22,000,000, and numerous other banks located at Mason City, Fargo, N. D.; Lacrosse, Wis.; Sioux City; Sioux Falls, S. D., and South St. Paul, Minn.

Included in the financial affiliation of Northwest Bank corporation also are the three investment organizations, the Minnesota company, the First National Duluth company, Duluth, and Cattle Feeders Loan company, Omaha.

Brenton Vice-President

Brenton, head of the Des Moines unit, declared the new development in which his bank figured today would bring to the community the united strength and support and facilities of the affiliated banks, as well as the combined ability and experience of a large group of men who have successfully conducted leading banks in the northwest for many years. Under the affiliation he also will become vice president and member of the executive committee of Northwest Bank corporation. Eleven directors of the Iowa-Des Moines National Bank & Trust company will become directors in Northwest Bank corporation.

The affiliation will become effective through exchange of stock of the local bank for stock in Bank corporation.

Friday the 13th Holds No Terrors for City Fathers

The city council apparently is not of a superstitious nature. It will hold an adjourned meeting tonight, Friday the thirteenth, at 8 o'clock at the city hall. At this time, objections to proposed paving will be heard.

The proposed paving is for Harrison, Ronalds, Bowery, Rider, Court Moss streets and Ferson avenue.

All But Nine Miles of Marengo Detour Ready for Travel

Paving on U. S. highway No. 32 between Iowa City and Marengo is open now with the exception of a stretch of about nine miles long running into Marengo. The detour around this paving is 15 miles in length due to the necessity of finding sufficiently wide roads to carry the heavy traffic.

There are no detours in this county, according to the report of the state highway commission, but persons traveling either north or south on No. 161 will find detours. North of Cedar Rapids there is a detour from Marion to the Jones county line and south there is a 16-mile detour in Washington county and others in Lee and Henry counties.

Potential water power in Ozark streams of south Missouri is estimated at 600,000 horse power.

C. of C. Will Start Meeting

Fall Sessions of Group Will Soon Begin

Fall meetings of the local chamber of commerce will start soon, according to reports given out at the chamber of commerce office, and speakers for the Oct. 7 meeting have already been announced. This will not be the first meeting, however, plans call for meetings Sept. 23 and 30, although the first date may be dropped.

Capt. Rudolph J. Tersch, Minneapolis fire captain on leave of absence to the Iowa insurance bureau, will speak at the first October meeting. This will be held during fire-prevention week and his talk will emphasize the fire prevention idea.

Mr. Tersch is not new to Iowa City persons as he recently inspected the local fire departments and endorsed the movement which resulted in the combination of the two local fire stations. He was also an advocate of the two platoon fire system as suggested by Fire Chief Herman Amish, which was adopted here following his visit.

The second speaker already selected will address the chamber of commerce on Oct. 7 also. He is F. F. Rogers, local insurance man. Mr. Rogers addressed the chamber over three years ago and according to Secretary D. W. Crum, is well remembered as an extremely forceful and deliberate speaker.

Myers Speaks to Rotary Club About Food Preservation

C. H. Myers addressed the members of the Rotary club at the regular luncheon yesterday at the Jefferson hotel on "Food preservations."

Mr. Myers began to relate how very little at ancient times the caveman thougnt on the subject of food. He next brought out Pasteur's discovery that micro-organisms were the cause of decay and ended his address with explaining what two groups of micro-organisms cause decay.

Guests at the luncheon included Hubert L. Olin, guest of Prof. Edward Bartow; Arthur J. Cox, guest of Rotarian W. Hal Stewart, and E. E. Hanchett, a Rotarian from Council Bluffs.

Commissioner Will Hear Applications

Applications of the Pickwick Greyhound bus lines to operate passenger motor carriers in Johnson, Scott, Muscatine, Iowa, Jasper, Poweshiek, and Polk counties, will be heard by the state railway commission at the Jefferson hotel Tuesday at 9 a.m.

A rehearing will be given the application of the Iowa Railway and Light corporation of Cedar Rapids, in operating motor passenger carriers.
